Bhakti Sudhīra Goswāmī: So we see in Śrīla Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura and Śrīla Bhaktisiddhānta Saraswatī Ṭhākura some different applications in the practical field of Kṛṣṇa consciousness theory.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What is that difference?

Bhakti Sudhīra Goswāmī: Well, Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura, he's in the gṛhastha āśrama, and it seems that in his songs and writings, he says: gṛhe thāko, vane thāko, sadā 'hari' bole' ḍāko. [Śrī Nāma, 2, from Gītāvalī]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: This is Narottama Ṭhākura's song gṛhe thāko, vane thāko.

Bhakti Sudhīra Goswāmī: Narottama, he says, gṛhe vā vanete thāke, 'hā gaurāṅga' bo'le ḍāke. [Sāvaraṇa-śrī-gaura-mahima, 4, from Prārthanā] Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura?

Bhakti Sudhīra Goswāmī: Gṛhe thāko, vane thāko.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Je-dina gṛhe, bhajana dekhi, gṛhete goloka bhāya.

Bhakti Sudhīra Goswāmī: So he seems to be, he's saying either, "Whether you're a householder or, it is the same." But it seems that he's...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Cultivation of kṛṣṇānuśīlana, that is what is necessary. Wherever you be that does not matter, sthāne sthitāḥ śruti-gatāṁ [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.14.3], wherever you be that is not of much concern. But be attentive towards Kṛṣṇa and do for Him as much as possible.

Bhakti Sudhīra Goswāmī: But he seems to be giving encouragement to the householders especially.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Ha, ha. That was a question for a long time in the Mission. They came to ask me after the departure of Guru Mahārāja. When Vasudeva Prabhu came there was a dissolution. He wanted to encourage that Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura's line.

"Don't have an artificial life, go and marry and be householder and do sincerely your service towards Kṛṣṇa." In this way he began to preach.

So many of our Godbrothers came to me. "What do you say?"

I told, Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura came to prepare the ground, and for the weak minded people, and that is constitutional method.

And Prabhupāda came as revolutionary. He organised missionary activity and strong minded persons he invited, who will be ready to take the risk, sarva-dharmām parityajya [Bhagavad-gītā, 18.66]. If there is any defect they're ready to suffer for that. For a strong minded person as much as they can command they will begin with that, with boldness. This is one thing.

And second thing that he made arrangement for Vaiṣṇava sevā. Vaiṣṇava sevā is very important thing to get the service of Kṛṣṇa. Here he arranged in such a way that the beginners they may have chance of serving the senior Vaiṣṇava. They will be engaged in higher services, and the newcomers they may help them in their ordinary supply of life necessities. The newcomers are washing the cloth of the sannyāsīns of higher. They're cooking food there, and preparing bedding for the higher class of Vaiṣṇava. So they're getting the service of the Vaiṣṇava, and they're also serving in higher ways the Vaiṣṇava. So in this way the hierarchy. That was created. One generally in gṛhastha āśrama one should not take, or in the secluded life, bābājī's secluded life, they do not take any service from any other. In gṛhastha life they take service from ordinary persons that may not have any liking for Vaiṣṇava creed. But here the beginners have come to get chance for the service of Kṛṣṇa and they get the facility of Vaiṣṇava sevā, mutual arrangement. They're also helping them, they're also helping them. Like Napoleonic Chair, you know Napoleonic Chair?

Devotees: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In a circular way in a marshy land they're standing for a long time. No rest they can take, all standing. Then they wanted to take rest, at least by sitting in a chair. In a circular way the soldiers were arranged and were asked to take seat. So everyone was, on his lap he carried one, and he also got another lap to take seat. In this circular way all could take a seat.

So by mutual arrangement of help of service they will march towards the goal. So the tyāgī, sannyāsīs, and those that are very eager to attain the goal and they're ready to take some risk as it is mentioned in Bhāgavatam.

tal labhyate duḥkhavad anyataḥ sukhaṁ, kālena sarvatra gabhīra-raṁhasā

["Persons who are actually intelligent and philosophically inclined should endeavour only for that purposeful end which is not obtainable even by wandering from the topmost planet (Brahmāloka) down to the lowest planet (Pātāla). As far as happiness derived from sense enjoyment is concerned, it can be obtained automatically in course of time, just as in course of time we obtain miseries even though we do not desire them."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.5.18]

No risk no gain. The stereotype moving in this way. You must take some leap and maybe damaged, still he must take risk to come out of the vicious circle. So, yatra kva vābhadram abhūd amuṣya kiṁ.

yatra kva vābhadram abhūd amuṣya kiṁ, ko vārtha āpto 'bhajatāṁ sva-dharmataḥ]

["One who has forsaken his material occupations to engage in the devotional service of the Lord may sometimes fall down while in an immature stage, yet there is no danger of his being unsuccessful. On the other hand, a non devotee, though fully engaged in occupational duties, does not gain anything."]

[Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.5.17]

If taking greater risk one jumps into the Kṛṣṇa bhajan life, but he cannot stand, he falls, but what is the loss there? Because for the time being he's centred, as much time he could spend for service of Kṛṣṇa and His devotees, that is something. And without taking risk what he would have done, what is the value of that? So,

sarva-dharmān parityajya, mām ekaṁ śaraṇaṁ vraja
ahaṁ tvāṁ sarva-pāpebhyo, mokṣayiṣyāmi mā śucaḥ

["Totally abandoning all kinds of religion, surrender exclusively unto Me. I will liberate you from all kinds of sins, so do not despair.] [Bhagavad-gītā, 18.66]

Takes the, to draw the attention of Kṛṣṇa, he has taken so much risk for His service. But everyone must be sincere, not any diplomacy in the movement, not any self cheating temperament. If sincere then, may not be qualified but sincere, he will take risk to go further. Then if he cannot go, he falls, Kṛṣṇa will look after him. That is the line of action.

And another, to be a gṛhastha. "Oh, I cannot do exclusive service, it's not possible for me. I shall try an easier life and as much as I can do Kṛṣṇa bhakti I shall try, must be satisfied with that." That is another temperament.

Our Guru Mahārāja came with that force, that those that are bold enough to march towards Kṛṣṇa at the risk of their prospect, 'yes you come.' In this way he called for, and tried his best to engage them in various activities. In the press, in the platform, in the exhibition ground, in different ways he wanted to give them experience to march on towards Kṛṣṇa, cultivation of Kṛṣṇa, kṛṣṇānuśīlana. Anyhow to utilise ones own self for the service of Kṛṣṇa, and that is possible under the direction, to work under the direction of a proper devotee. That is what is very, very, very rarely found. The proper direction in the line of Kṛṣṇa bhakti. That is not very easily found. So very special persons that are in the plane of Kṛṣṇa bhakti who can understand what is real devotion, or what is not real, under the directions of such persons to work. That is a very rare thing to be found. And sukṛti also may be gathered.

As Swāmī Mahārāja did, "Distribute the books, anyhow utilise your energy for the service of Kṛṣṇa and acquire some sukṛti if not devotion proper, anyhow engage yourself."

In this way with much boldness our Guru Mahārāja made a campaign, a totalitarian fight against māyā.

Once I visited one advocate in the court of Krishnanaga.

He asked me, "Swāmījī, we are ashamed when you red clad sannyāsīns come to the court. But you do not feel any shame, that these religious persons you will have to come to court to sue for the case, and sometimes amongst yourselves the fighting...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Antaraṅga means inner most, the satisfaction of the inner most hankering, of serving one another in the highest sentimental form. So that attitude is indispensable in a servant. Things may be approached with the spirit of exploitation. And the opposite is to leave everything with the spirit of indifference and renunciation, and to become single. And the third form of life will be to associate with everything with the spirit of service. And that service generally of two kinds. In the beginning respectable, and in the highest quarter it is very friendly, familiar, and unreserved giving and taking of the inner most senses, sentiments, in mādhurya rasa.

In other rasa also, in vātsalya rasa, Yaśodā is whipping the Son. And if anyone wants to do that, audaciously by imitating Yaśodā, he wants to whip the Gopāla Vigraha or something, that will be too much audacity and ignoring the whole thing. When one is in the level of Yaśodā, in the intense affection towards Kṛṣṇa, she can whip.

And from ordinary position he will go to imitate Yaśodā. "I can whip Gopāla." And that will be suicidal, self frustrationist, self deceptive. In other way, a form of atheism. This is all mental concoction. Ultimately it will come from there. "I tried so long but I found nothing to be extraordinarily ecstatic." Atheism. The offence will take me down, hurled down.

A research scholar with great strain he has found out such truth. A blunt headed man if he goes to do that, and he cannot follow the steps one by one regularly, he will go to make experiment and ultimately come back, "No, this is all false."

Some dīkṣā function I've got. So I may stop here.

[04:47 - 04:57 ?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: With greater respect Mahā-Purāṇa, but Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam is considered as Mahā-Purāṇa. More respectable.

[05:17 - 06:14 ?]

In Bhāgavatam there are ten high symptoms of Purāṇa, in others only six.

[06:23 - 11:00 ?]

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: So Mahā-Purāṇa is just Bhāgavatam?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Bhāgavatam only.

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: Only Bhāgavatam.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Because the twelve points are satisfied only there. First four points, four points first, then analysed it comes to twelve. First four points is this. Śruti, Veda, and revealed truth does not care for any reasoning. "Do this." Like a guardian, that is Veda. The temperament of the Vedic instruction is like a guardian. "Do this." No question of showing any reason, because it is not necessary in that plane of life. No doubt, no suspicion, can enter into that plane. As the sincere affection of the father to the son, so no questioning can enter in that temperament. Śruti is only commanding, "Do this." This is Śruti.

And Smṛti, mildly, like sister, Smṛti, appealing tone, in daily practices of our life, that is translated, that truth of the Veda is translated there, represented there, and that is distributed to us, that is in Smṛti.

These are mahājana Smṛti, our every day practices have been guided by the, just as the father instructs his daughter, "Distribute such food to my son." And she's doing that. Smṛti bugni [?]

And the Purāṇa is like a friend. "Oh. Such man did in such a way and he has got this good result. If you do then you'll also expect to have that benefit." In this way like a friend Purāṇa comes to help us. By showing so many stories, relating, and so many historical reference, Purāṇa comes to influence us to do particular thing, like a friend, Purāṇa.

And there is another, kavya [?] this epic. That is also, comes to sweetly represent it to the husband, good things. "Don't do this. That will not be beneficial for us." In a sweet way she represents to the husband some sort of advice.

Then another side, and another standpoint. Śruti, Smṛti, Purāṇa, and that is tantra. Tantra means do any practice in such way that it will be finished in no time, with this policy.

yat karoṣi yad aśnāsi, yaj juhoṣi dadāsi yat
yat tapasyasi kaunteya, tat kuruṣva mad arpaṇam

[Bhagavad-gītā, 9.27]

Then you'll get relief from that thing very soon. Just as a patient, his favourite dish is particular to salt, or some sweet. Otherwise if you cannot do without that, you take that, but mix it with this medicine, then the difficulty will go away. So tantra is like that. In which we have got our affinity, do it, but mixing with such understanding, some Godly connection, some Divine connection applied to it and then do it. And you'll be very easily and shortly relieved of that. That is tantra.

But the Veda is the root of all, and that is also coming, this is called, prastarnapraya [?] the points of departure, three points of departure. Veda, that the command of the father, Veda is like the father commanding the child, children, "Do this." And that is then coming down points of departure. One Smṛti, another Purāṅa, friendly, and another sisterly, Smṛti. Smṛti and Purāṅa and nyāya, Vedānta, yukti.

And in Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam we find all of them, it is, harteti [?] Smṛti like Veda it command sometimes, and like the departure about the logical side, tarka. Yukti means logical Vedānta. Śaṅkara, then Jaimini's pūrvva-mīmāṁsā. All these ṣaḍ-darśana, these six schools of philosophy, as found in India, six schools of philosophical representation. Nyāya means logic, then Vedānta of Vyāsadeva, that also, all represented in a logical way, that is, nyāya. In Bhāgavatam the, nyāya is there, the Śruti is there, the Purāṅa like the friendly advice is there. And also the tantrics, they're to do it in such a way that you'll get relief from that very soon, that tantric pantra, that is also there.

So all the possible evidences are given in Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, and this is Mahā-Purāṇa. No other Purāṇa, no other śāstra is so much authentic as Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam. So Jīva Goswāmī, he selected Bhāgavatam as the only pramāṇa which can help us to God realisation. And why he accepted Śrīmad- Bhāgavatam he gave explanation for that. In the beginning he counted ten kinds of evidences.
Dāsa raguman pramana _____ [?] And he eliminated them one by one, showing some defect in them. And ultimately he has taken only śruti, or apta [?] pramāṇa. Śruti means that which comes as revealed from the beginning of the world, from Kṛṣṇa to Brahmā. Through Brahmā, through the creator of the world, the knowledge that is extended here through the creator of this world, that is śruti.

And apta, means those mahājana, those that come down from higher sphere to help the people here, their words also we can take as evidence. And all empirical attempts to know the truth spiritual, that is all defective and that must be cancelled. In this way Jīva Goswāmī has approached in his first part of Bhāgavata-sandarbha where he has considered the question of epistemology. Which should be the real evidence, we should accept, epistemology, he has cancelled. At first he counted ten kinds of evidences and then cancelled one by one, showing the defects, and he has only accepted two, śruti as well as, mahājana barga [?] apta barka [?]

Bhrama, pramāda, karaṇāpāṭava, vipralipsā. These are the test. Bhrama means commission, we commit something wrong. Then pramāda means omission, we can't detect many things, that is also a defect, pramāda. Karaṇāpāṭava, the defect in the instruments through which we examine the truth, that is also a cause to our conclusion, can cause defect in our conclusion, karaṇāpāṭava. The instrument of imperfection, karaṇāpāṭava. Bhrama, pramāda, karaṇāpāṭava, vipralipsā. Prejudice, we're prejudice in such a way that we can't see the truth. We cannot be impartial, and so we cannot detect the fact, it is neglected, we're so prepossessed by some prejudice. That is vipralipsā. These four things are enemy to our right conclusion.

So these tests were put to other pramāṇas and all failed, only śruti and, apta barka [?] These two pramāṇas stand, stood. In this way he has proved in his book of epistemology in Bhāgavata, Tattva- sandarbha. The ontological enquiry, Tattva-sandarbha means ontological enquiry, analysis. And there he has meant most all others are defective, only Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam gives us the satisfaction of the highest evidence about the enquiry of the Supreme Entity, Transcendental.

So there we find, and he's a great Paṇḍit, six titles he has got, including Vaiṣṇava philosophy also, Vaiṣṇava Darśana. And he said that twelve points there are special in Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam. And in other Purāṇa they can have only six. So six more special points in favour of Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, so Śrīmad- Bhāgavatam, what he will say that will be the highest standard of truth. And Jīva Goswāmī also said the four kinds of approaches towards the truth. Śruti, Smṛti, nyāya, and tantra. And Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam is said,

Bhāgavata-sandarbha, most authentic, in the whole of Gauḍīya Sampradāya.

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: Is there any special significance to the Kūrma-Purāṇa?

[26:32 - 27:57 ?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: There are six parts in Bhāgavata-sandarbha of Jīva Goswāmī Prabhu. The first part, he has shown analysis of all kinds of possible evidences. What will be bona fide evidence, what should be considered as bona fide evidence, proof, logic. Then, in the second theme, next with,

[vadanti tat tattva-vidas, tattvaṁ yaj jñānam advayam] brahmeti paramātmeti, bhagavān iti śabdyate

["Learned transcendentalists who know the Absolute Truth call this non-dual substance Brahman, Paramātmā or Bhagavān."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.2.11]

The three conceptions of the Ultimate Entity, of the Absolute. In the first he's dealt with Bhāgavan. Bhāgavata-sandarbha name, he really, he has dealt with what is Brahman. And in the second, paramātmeti, Paramātmā and jīvātmā, relative, there he has dealt with what is the nature of jīva soul. That is dealt in the third part. And in the fourth he has dealt with Kṛṣṇa, the highest development of the theistic Absolute. And then fifth he has dealt with the means to the end, cancelling this knowledge, or yoga, and any other karma, eliminating everything. Only devotion may be accepted as means to end, he has proved. And in the fourth what is the, prayojana, the fulfilment of life, that is only love of Kṛṣṇa and nothing else. Neither liberation, nor any other achievement, but only love of Kṛṣṇa, that is the fulfilment of our life. In this way he has made progress. And if one is well read in that book he will be invincible in the whole world, to establish what is Kṛṣṇa, what is devotion, how it is.

Like Hegel, For Itself, and By Itself, and Die to Live. _____ [?] Hegel.

Coming to the effect, and not that the effect can control the cause.

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: I still don't get the significance of the Kūrma-Purāṇa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Eh?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Kūrma-Purāṇa. What's the significance of the Kūrma-Purāṇa?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That the kind of knowledge that is emanating from the incarnation of the Lord as Kūrma, that is Kūrma-Purāṇa. The ten Avatāra's you know, Matsya, Kūrma, Varāha, Nṛsiṁgha, in this way. And They came and They gave Their particular advice, special advice, and mainly that is the basis of that instruction. That is known as Kūrma-Purāṇa. Then Nṛsiṁgha-Purāṇa, Varāha-Purāṇa, Matsya-Purāṇa, in that figure the Lord has given such instruction and that has been recorded to certain extent and in His Name that book is going on. Nṛsiṁgha-Purāṇa is also, Nṛsiṁgha Deva is saying, His advises that came from Him and that is mainly the guiding principle there. In this way the name has been.

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: So the Kūrma-Purāṇa is considered sattvic śāstra.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Sattvic Purāṇa, I shall show you, there is a book, Gauḍīya Kaṇṭhahāra, the śloka's are all quoted there. You can show him. There it is mentioned the classification of Purāṇa, sattvic, rajasic, tamasic.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Guru Mahārāja. When Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu was speaking in the grammar, everything in Kṛṣṇa sambanda, that is His līlā. So Jīva Goswāmī's Hari-Nāmāmṛta-Vyākaraṇa, is that the same līlā? Is that an extension of that līlā?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That nāmābhāsa has been explained there, nāmābhāsa.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yes, nāmābhāsa. Some differences there then.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Why? The difference is, this is remote and that is direct. Paramahaṁsa, in the highest stage, one sees everything connected with Kṛṣṇa. But in the lower stage these special things are recommended to help him for Kṛṣṇa consciousness. More distant. But when one realises to the highest point, then anything and everything will excite him about Kṛṣṇa consciousness, nothing beyond.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: So on the basis of nāmābhāsa that is more distant, not so distinct.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Not distinct, more distant. _____ [?] Everywhere one can find Kṛṣṇa's presence, that is remote. And that is not to be traced everywhere, and this is, nāmābhāsa, we nearer approach, in that way.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: But Mahāprabhu's approach was direct. When Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu gave in Kṛṣṇa sambanda that was direct.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He showed that anything and everything has connection with Kṛṣṇa. Without His support, His connection, nothing can remain. Whatever it may be, it must have some connection with Him, and we are to trace that.

"Wherever there is any scholar here in Navadwīpa, I challenge them, let them come and refute Me. I say that everything is connected with Kṛṣṇa. Let the professors of the atheistic school come and convince Me that without Kṛṣṇa these things can remain. Nothing can remain. From every thread we can go ultimately to the prime cause, we shall have to go." He has given connection to anything and everything here. "That is My general instruction. Let it be challenged by any scholar of the world." That was His fame.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: And in the case of Jīva, Hari-Nāmāmṛta-Vyākaraṇa, a slightly different conception in the case of Hari-Nāmāmṛta-Vyākaraṇa?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hari-Nāmāmṛta-Vyākaraṇa a little nearer approach, nāmābhāsa. From nāmābhāsa, if you can get nāmābhāsa, anyhow. It is not sure that all readers of this Hari-Nāmāmṛta- Vyākaraṇa they will have nāmābhāsa. In the case of nāmābhāsa, no surety, certainty, no guarantee is given, the nāmābhāsa must be, but it may come, it may come. Otherwise everyone taking the Name he must have been liberated, mukti, but they do not get mukti. So committing nāmābhāsa then sometimes we find that nāmābhāsa can help us to emancipation. But it is His will, not only in every time taking the Name the nāmābhāsa will come, it is not guaranteed.

Bhakti Kana Giri Mahārāja: Guru Mahārāja. Nāmābhāsa, Śrīla Prabhupāda has described it as not pure chanting of the Holy Name. What is the negative quality there?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Negative quality is that he's trying to get the passport, not the visa. By passport he can go to the last limit of the country. But without visa he cannot have admission into another land. So by nāmābhāsa one can get the passport to go anywhere and everywhere, which may not be the right for all.

Suppose in the frontier, if one has got special certificate he can go to visit the frontier. Otherwise how the military arrangement is there, all the people may not be allowed there to notice that. Do you follow? Am I clear? You are living, suppose in West Germany, but West Germany may not give all the subjects of West Germany, to go and have inspection of the border of East Germany, because there may be some military arrangement and ordinary men should not know that. Do you see? But special ticket is given to particular persons who are reliable, they may go and inspect the frontier, where military arrangement is made. Not to all, but to some, some tickets may be allowed, they can go to inspect the border land, not all, it is like that.

By nāmābhāsa you can go to the extremity of this material world, extremity, to the frontier line, and not to cross. To cross that means to encroach the other land, enter into the other land. That is Vaikuṇṭha. That only through service, through visa we can enter into another land. What is the meaning of the visa? The visa is a certificate which will be given to you that you are not, not only no danger, but you have some contribution for the interest of that country where you want to enter, then the visa will be allowed. So when service, that we want to do, give something to the other part, then we may be allowed to enter, otherwise not. That is bhakti, dedication, service.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: _____ [?] may be nāmābhāsa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Nāmābhāsa _____ [?] Mainly nāma-aparādha and rarely nāmābhāsa. And śuddha-nāma, that means we must have some dedicating tendency, fine dedicating concern, unadulterated dedicating tendency we must have for sevonmukhe. Then we can get admission into that finer land where every member is to serve and not to enjoy. That is the temperament, whatever the outer expression.

To our eye we may think that they're also enjoying one another. But it is not the fact. They're meeting only in the plane of dedication, service. Even the union of the husband and wife, there is also no enjoying mood, also serving. If we can conceive that then we can conceive what is Vṛndāvana. All serving mood. Without that none can enter into that plane. Generally we see that the husband enjoys the wife, but wife has also got some sort of enjoyment, thereby, but maybe less. Aggressive and passive, but fully there no spirit of enjoyment. Just as the wife she may not have aggressive purpose, but still she gets some enjoyment.

So it is possible to feel satisfaction by our passive and serving attitude. But the spirit of service must remain there, otherwise no entrance is possible in that plane. So similar, not same, aprākṛta, prakṛta vāt - just like mundane, but it is not mundane, just the opposite. So this is the highest conception of Vṛndāvana. Like mundane, but not mundane, but just the opposite, of serving, it is possible.

Just the same thing that union of the men and women, one with a prostitute, that is condemned very much. But when in married life...

83.04.01.B_83.04.02.A

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is, wholesale sacrifice to the, for Itself. Everything for Him. Whatever is being done, for Him. That the basic principle must be satisfied, that everything for Him. Otherwise no entrance, no existence possible there. This fundamental principle must be satisfied to have entrance there. That for Himself. Even the birds and beasts in Vṛndāvana, they also unite whatever they do, everything for the satisfaction of Kṛṣṇa. Otherwise no entrance, no existence is possible for any monkey, or bird, or beast, or anything, or even the worms also. Whatever thing, all dedicated to the greatest extent, fullest extent, towards centre, towards Kṛṣṇa. Then that will be Vṛndāvana. Gaura Haribol. Otherwise that will be like mundane world.

...that is also, kāya-mano-vākya. So kāya-mano-vākya in it's maximum stage, in it's free and normal stage, it will have to come to Kṛṣṇa. Otherwise it won't be the perfect form of dedication.

kāmais tais tair hṛta-jñānāḥ, prapadyante 'nya-devatāḥ
[taṁ taṁ niyamam āsthāya, prakṛtyā niyatāḥ svayā]

["Persons whose good intelligence has been spoiled by illicit desires for exploitation and renunciation or other duplicitous pursuits, worship other godly personalities such as the Sun-god and the many demigods. Being enslaved by their instinct, they adopt the corresponding rules and regulations of fasting and other tenets accordingly."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 7.20]

One may engage his thought, word and deed, for country, for Kālī sevā, for Śiva, other demigods, but that won't be considered as perfect dedication, kāya-mano-vākya. When the rein is fully taken away it must have to go to Kṛṣṇa conception, it can't be satisfied anywhere. The fullest emancipation, svarūpeśa, self determination to the fullest extent, it will have to come to Kṛṣṇa consciousness. Otherwise some sort of limitation there cannot but be.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Rūpa Goswāmī says jīvan-mukta sa uchata.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Though he's seen to live here, still he's liberated. Because he's engaging all his energy towards the service of Kṛṣṇa, satisfaction of Kṛṣṇa and Guru, he should be considered as living liberated. Jīvan-mukta, when liberated though living in the flesh and blood, but soul is already liberated. And when the body will fall down, the soul will go there, in the same layer, same plane.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: In Caitanya-Bhāgavata, that about Nityānanda Prabhu, in the world of dedication, jay dhubi bhaya [?] "Who goes there in that ocean?" So that is above kāya-mano-vākya sevā?

bhakti-rasa-sagara jay dhubi bhaya se nityānanda baddhuk.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He wants that achievement, jay dhubi bhaya in future. He wants to dive deep into the ocean of love, and Vṛndāvana. Let him come and begin his life with the instruction of Nityānanda. Let him begin here, who has got the highest aspiration of being merged in the Divine Love in Vṛndāvana. Let him come and begin, take admission from Nityānanda. That is the purport. He will have that surety, if he comes and takes admission from Nityānanda, he's sure to get such achievement of the highest type. He'll be able to merge in the ocean of Divine Love. No misguidance in the way. No possibility of any kidnapping in the way, straight. If he takes care, if he gets the ticket of the company of Nityānanda, the company will surely take him there.

Bhakti Kanan Giri Mahārāja: Would jñāna-nāma be an example of nāmābhāsa?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Nāmābhāsa - Ajāmila is a case of nāmābhāsa. Nāmābhāsa means four kinds, sānketyaṁ, parihāsya, stobha, helanam.

[sāṅketyaṁ pārihāsyaṁ vā, stobhaṁ helanam eva vā
vaikuṇṭha-nāma-grahaṇam aśeṣāgha-haraṁ viduḥ]

["One who chants the Holy Name of the Lord is immediately freed from the reactions of unlimited sins, even if he chants indirectly - sānketyaṁ (to indicating something else as in the case of Ajāmila who called for his son by the Name of Nārāyaṇa), jokingly - parihāsya, for musical entertainment - stobha (to use the Name with some other intention; Jīva Goswāmī has taken advantage of this in his book of Sanskrit grammar, the Harināmāmṛta-vyākarana; when one is playing the mṛdaṅga drum, using the Names Gaura Nitāi, Gaura Nitāi to represent different drumbeats), or even neglectfully - hela (when we are rising from bed in the morning sometimes, we may neglectfully say Hare Kṛṣṇa; in this way we may cast off our indolence). This is accepted by all the learned scholars of the scriptures."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 6.2.14]

In these four conditions if we take the Name, that generally comes nāmābhāsa. Not Nāma real but nāmābhāsa. Ābhasa means some likeness, ābhasa means likeness to Nāma. Near about the pure Name, not Name proper, but just in the vicinity of the pure Name. That is ābhasa. So when one can commit nāmābhāsa then he gets release from this mundane affinity. But he waits to enter into the other final land of devotion. In the abscissa, withdrawn from the negative side, but no entrance in the positive world, in the marginal position, no man's land, buffer state, that is, Virajā, Brahmaloka.

Bhakti Kanan Giri Mahārāja: Then how does one get pure chanting?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Pure chanting is with the influence of the sādhu, if he can understand the purity and the eligibility and desirability in the serving life of Kṛṣṇa. For Himself. Die to live. If he wants a life of dedication, sacrifice his individual interest first, if for the central government then he can enter, to catch the idea that we're all representatives of the centre. We have got no local interest, we must not care for that, we are all representatives of the centre. With this idea we shall live, for the satisfaction of the centre. We're all soldiers dedicating our life for the cause of the centre. We've got no other individual aims in our life but to fight for the centre, work for the centre. If one can catch such disposition of mind, then he'll be given recognition as a central man, man of central interest. Universal facility he will enjoy, and that is very tasteful and of high noble order. That sort of life.

Bhakti Kanan Giri Mahārāja: Lord Caitanya came to distribute freely the Holy Name, but still it is required first that service must be there?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Try to understand Kṛṣṇa, the sound aspect. The sound aspect of the Absolute representation is extended to you. Take it as a thread to march towards the centre. But mind, you will have to give up your own selfish end of life, and to accept the universal goodness as your own. With this idea you can make progress. But if you take the Name, go on taking the Name, but you don't sacrifice, you don't budge an inch from your selfish position, then it will be fruitless. That is only the exercise of the tongue, and the sound won't be within. It will be the dead sound, the cultivation of dead sound. The sound if it once will awaken, the sound will awaken and show it's spiritual characteristic. To whom? Who's very eagerly sacrificing himself to catch it. And who wants that, "Whatever I shall get out of the sound I shall utilise it for my selfish, mean purpose," the Vaikuṇṭha sound won't come. He won't come to serve you. But if you want to serve Him, then He will accept you. And you'll find that you're getting the connection of the real Name. That is conscious Name, spiritual Name, Name is spiritual, mainly.

A book is given to you, but if you've got some idea, some sort of progress, some sort of inclination, you can read and get the meaning out of that. Otherwise those letters are nothing, even though it is extended to your eyesight. So many letters, so many things written in the letter, but if we do not know how to read the meaning, then it is only some colour to you, all physical. But you must enter into some training, into the meaning of the words and understand the purpose, then that letter and that book is much to you. Otherwise to an ordinary illiterate man a letter or a book has no value. But who has got education, to him, a letter comes, a telegram comes, and that fetches value. But illiterate, no value, only outer part is shown. He can't read. So he can't understand the sound. The sound divine he can't understand, what is within. But who has got such affinity, education, understanding, then we can see many things and by being encouraged we can go further and further.

Bhakti Kanan Giri Mahārāja: In the Dālāler Gītā by Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura he says that Lord Nityānanda, He is distributing the pure Holy Name simply for the price of one's faith. So that faith, that is shown by service?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Faith is the plenary, the foundation of service. If you've got faith in something then you utilise your energy for that thing. Otherwise why will you invest your energy there. First faith, and then you will invest your energy, and as much energy you'll invest, you'll make progress. Here faith means in a general sense, not in particular, things here. The faith in the Absolute, that He's self sufficient, He's by Himself, He's for Himself. Faith in that. And we're all His subordinates. We're not everyone of us a separate god, that we shall enjoy our own property. It is false, this is māyā. We must save ourselves from this mania. But we're a member in the universal world. With this understanding we shall have new instruction and we shall practically follow the path. And then gradually we shall find we can have communication with the central office, and we can have progress there, and we can enjoy the facility of being connected with central life. That is immortal and also very fresh, unending, eternal, ecstasy giving life.

So Goswāmī Mahārāja is very weak, eh?

Devotees: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Any doctor should be called for? Any medicine has been given by Govinda Mahārāja?

Bhakti Kanan Giri Mahārāja: Yes. Govinda Mahārāja has given him some medicine.

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: Mahārāja. I don't want to sound like broken record. Going back to Caitanya- caritāmṛta, Caitanya Mahāprabhu when He travelled through the south He picked up two books, Brahmā-saṁhita, Kṛṣṇa-karnāmṛta.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Kūrma-Purāṇa.

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: No. Kūrma-Purāṇa He heard but He did not pick up.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He heard. But He took up, He brought with Him Brahmā-saṁhita and Kṛṣṇa- karnāmṛta, two books He took with Him from the south.

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: But from one brāhmaṇa in one temple in South India He heard the Kūrma-Purāṇa and was very...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Not He heard. One brāhmaṇa in whose house He was a guest one day, he was a devotee of Rāmacandra. And he was fasting and anyhow managed to supply some food to Śrī Caitanya Deva as his guest. Caitanya Deva found he did not take anything and inquired why he's fasting and he's moaning, in a moaning mood.

Then he told that, "I hear that Sītā Devī was stolen forcibly by Rāvaṇa. I can't tolerate this thought. I want to die rather than think of such disastrous incident."

Then Mahāprabhu told him that, "You don't, think otherwise. Sītā Devī She's wholesale spiritual and this material power cannot touch Her, can't see Her. So what is the question of touching, forcibly. So don't think in that way."

But anyhow that brāhmaṇa took that consolation half hearted.

So when Mahāprabhu went further, in a place, in a temple, He heard that Kūrma-Purāṇa is being read there. And in that the chaste ladies' stories came in, and Sītā Devī's story was also written there, in a nutshell. And there it is mentioned when Rāvaṇa came to touch Her, Sītā Devī She took shelter in the care of fire. The god of fire he gave shelter to Sītā Devī in disguise, and a Māyā Sītā was produced to Rāvaṇa, and Rāvaṇa took Her.

And when again after the war and fighting finished in Laṅkā, then that Māyā Sītā, that was taken there. And Rāmacandra asked that whether She's chaste. "I want to test Her chastity. So

She must be thrown into the fire, and if She does not die then I shall think that She's chaste and I shall accept Her."

And it was done, though Hanumān and others they're very much mortified to the extreme. It was done, and at that time that fire god, he took the imitation Sītā and gave up the real Sītā to Rāmacandra.

This story is mentioned in that way in Kūrma-Purāṇa.

Mahāprabhu heard, and Mahāprabhu told something like that to that brāhmaṇa, that real Sītā was not taken by Rāvaṇa. So for His corroboration of His statement, He asked the priest in the temple: "You give Me that old page and instead you write a new page and put it there." So He begged the old page from there, from that book.

Indian books in ancient times were not bound together, they're all loose. So that old loose page He begged from that temple agent and He took it. After crossing two hundred miles perhaps, He came to show that page to brāhmaṇa to do away with his misgivings.

And when that brāhmaṇa got that old page, "Oh it is mentioned in the Purāṇa." He was fully satisfied that Rāvaṇa could not take Her, and he was very much pleased with Mahāprabhu. And he told that: "The other day when You were my guest I could not whole heartedly feed You, I have ignored. But now You are to stay a few days in my home and I want to serve You. You have such a great affinity for me, love for me, that You have again come two hundred miles to do away with my pain, the pain of my heart. You are no other but You are Rāmacandra Himself. You appreciated my grief so deep that You have again come here. You are none but Rāmacandra, the Lord of my heart. And another new thing I want to say that I already, before this I used to take the Name of Rāmacandra, always. But from Your association the Name of Kṛṣṇa, that came to me and I can't leave that Name, Kṛṣṇa, so You are Kṛṣṇa Himself."

In this way the statement mentioned there. The Kūrma-Purāṇa it was mentioned about Sītā, that the real Sītā was not caught by Rāvaṇa, but imitation Sītā he took. Corroborating the fact Mahāprabhu represented to the brāhmaṇa of the Rāmānuja sampradāya.

["All the Vedas and Purāṇas constantly warn against considering divine or non material substance to fall within the category of material nature."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 9.195]

The spiritual things are not at the disposal of mundane power, it is spiritual, spiritual. The higher things can come to the lower, but lower things cannot go up and enter into the higher. Transcendental things can come in this mundane world, but this gross cannot enter into subtle. Subtle can enter. Earth cannot enter into ether, but ether can enter into earth.

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: It is similar to the, in the Bhāgavatam, tenth canto, the Kālayavana, trying to catch Kṛṣṇa, but cannot catch.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Kālayavana. Yes. Playfully He managed to take him, enticed him. Kṛṣṇa knew that Kālayavana, the day of his death had come and he will have to die in a particular way.

Everything was known, and He was instrumental to that. Playfully He moved in his front in such a way that Kālayavana he's just going to catch, just going to catch, in this way. As Mucukunda, that cave, carried him to that cave and there He just hid Himself. And Kālayavana when he entered the cave he found that Mucukunda is lying there in a big figure. He was in Satya-yuga and in a big body, he's lying there sleeping, after this place, and this Kālayavana will break his sleep. And whoever will break his sleep he will cast a glance, fire glance to him, and he'll be reduced to ashes. All this was known to Kṛṣṇa. He playfully enticed him to that cave, entered the cave and hid Himself.

And Kālayavana thought He's sleeping there. "Oh You're to deceive me, You're lying here covering Your body." So he gave a kick and Mucukunda he awakened.

"You have awakened me from my rest." And his fire look he cast on Kālayavana and he was reduced to ashes and Kṛṣṇa came out.

Jarāsandha was, when fight going on with Kṛṣṇa and Jārasandha, Balarāma wanted to kill him by His club. But Kṛṣṇa pointed, "No, he will be killed by Bhīma, You don't attempt." And Balarāma avoided.

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: During the chase, Kālayavana is chasing, Swāmī Mahārāja commented that Kālayavana could not catch Kṛṣṇa because he was too covered with contamination, or with false ego, or something like this.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Of course. Seeing also, we cannot see.

["Unable to comprehend My super-excellent divine form of human features, ignorant men blaspheme Me - the Supreme Lord of all beings - by considering Me a mere human being."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 9.11]

When He comes down in this mundane world, so many persons have a look, but they cannot understand Him. Rather like so many hate Him, the haters are also there, avajānanti, avajñā, he does not care. Look to Him with a hateful look, cast glance to Him. Such also is possible, avajānanti māṁ. But if He wills everything can be done. That is exceptional. But the general case is such. Without right eye we cannot see and appreciate Him, though He may be in our midst.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...for the beginners it will be very much harmful. In respect of the popular opinion in the name of propaganda, ignoring the rules of the śāstra and Vaiṣṇava and the superior agents.

Devotee: Guru Mahārāja. Because of fear of customs I had to leave my daṇḍa in South America. Shall I make another one, new one?

Śrīla Govinda Mahārāja: Why you left it there?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Is it difficult to carry that in the plane or in the ship? The daṇḍam, is it difficult to carry out?

Devotee: Sometimes they even go with a drill through it in some countries to see if there's something inside the poles.

Śrīla Govinda Mahārāja: _____ [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then many daṇḍam necessary for one preacher. He will go from this country to that country, to ABCD, everywhere one daṇḍam should be kept separate for his use. Because it may not be carried smoothly through the planes or ships.

Śrīla Govinda Mahārāja: _____ [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is intolerable. The daṇḍa, when they examine in that way. Daṇḍa is considered to be puruṣottraya, Puruṣa-Avatāra. Kāraṇārṇavaśāyī, Garbhodakaśāyī, Kṣīrodakaśāyī. The authority represented in the connection of this mundane world. Three functions of Viṣṇu, as Nārāyaṇa. One as the Master of the whole of creation. Another of every brahmāṇḍa. Another every soul, in charge.

_____ [?]

We're to preach without daṇḍa, or we are to keep a separate daṇḍa in different countries, provinces, for our propaganda. Or many daṇḍa and no daṇḍa. Or not to take any daṇḍa. Without taking the robe of a sannyāsī one may preach. The alternative will be to keep separate daṇḍa in every place of preaching. And the third, if we carry the daṇḍa to tolerate the ill-treatment over daṇḍa. That is intolerable, that is not possible. That the daṇḍa will be broken and pierced through to find out whether any smuggling object is there, it is intolerable. So many daṇḍas in many places and to go there and take that daṇḍam that is somewhat easy. Kāyavyūha, with the sanction of the higher authorities. Ānukūlyasya saṅkalpaḥ, or to preach without any daṇḍam. So what is the necessity of carrying daṇḍam then for preaching? Is it to get him, if a sannyāsī goes there with daṇḍam if he goes to address the public, religious public, is it very favourable for preaching? Or very impressive? Why should we carry daṇḍam?

Bhakti Sudhīra Goswāmī: In India only does anyone know what a daṇḍa means.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But how they can take the Śrī Mūrti, the Vigraha, Arcā-Mūrti? If they cannot respect daṇḍa, then how can they respect this Arcā-Mūrti?

Bhakti Sudhīra Goswāmī: When I went to America last time with the Arcā-Mūrti, the customs people also were examining the Mūrti and broke the Mūrti.

Śrīla Govinda Mahārāja: Then, what did you do?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then you are to tolerate.

Bhakti Sudhīra Goswāmī: I put it back together again.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Adulteration and cheating is so much cent per cent so none can get release from checking. Perhaps smuggling also going on in red cloth, being abused. So Mūrti should not be carried. One should learn how to prepare Mūrti, and in his own province he will prepare. And the Mūrti will be pierced through and will be found what is within. Have they not got some machine, x-ray, that can find out what is within the Mūrti? They can find out by x-ray machine? What is within the living body, if one has swallowed some gold, how do they detect? Do they pierce the belly?

Devotee: No.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then how do they understand, find out? Some light and this ray or scientific research, some x-ray, some light may be put on the, it may be found what is in the belly. So what is within the Mūrti or daṇḍa they can detect with the help of that machine?

Bhakti Sudhīra Goswāmī: But the x-ray does not detect everything.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then in particular plane there is x-ray it is fixed then you are to avail of that plane to save such piercing in the body of the Mūrti and daṇḍam. But what about human beings? There are many who swallow some gold.

Devotee: Gold may be detected, but not some chemicals. They swallow them. X-rays won't detect them.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But how they will find that?

Devotee: No. So far there's no way.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So hopeless, in that case. So a combined objection must be filed to the authorities. "Only for these things the checking system is necessary. They should do by the help of the scientific instruments, not by piercing through."

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...sentiment of the theistic public.

Bhakti Sudhīra Goswāmī: When Śrīla Bhaktisiddhānta Saraswatī Ṭhākura was accompanied in Vṛndāvana by some associates who were dressed in western attire, what was his idea?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: His idea was that the outward dress is not disqualification for inner spiritual realisation. We may accept the outer fashion of the westerners in order to infuse real spiritual understanding into them. We shall take such risk. And the spiritual standard should not be thought less efficient that they cannot conquer the western scientific sections, nations. They should try to convert those that are with this dress.

When Vana Mahārāja went to England with daṇḍam but came back without daṇḍam, he left it there. But that was not welcomed here. He has gone there to establish the position of daṇḍam and the Śrī Vigraha. But they can't understand. They think that the difference between idolatry and Śrī Mūrti worshipping, that should be preached there. To make them understand the difference between Arcā Mūrti and the idol. The ordinary bombastic and the daṇḍam we are to preach, we are to create field for the respect of Them and not to give away and to accept the...

Especially in the jungle propaganda. In special high case it may be tolerated that without daṇḍa you may work. But for the beginners then it will be ridiculous to accept daṇḍa and to belittle daṇḍa in this way.

Śrīla Govinda Mahārāja: Only paramahaṁsa Vaiṣṇava can.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Only in the stage of paramahaṁsa he may keep the daṇḍam in a particular place and he can move freely. After serving daṇḍam for some time he may take leave, put the daṇḍam in a particular respectful place and then he can move without daṇḍam. At least after some twelve years or some years of time, he will carry with respect and then he may put it somewhere. And especially in the case of emergencies, when he's very sick, or any other position temporary he may give up daṇḍam. Otherwise he'll keep with him daṇḍam and he'll try to push into the country the respect of daṇḍam. And thereby many things will come into question. "Why should we respect this bombastic? Why should we respect the Mūrti, this earthen or this mineral doll?" These hard questions will come into the field and they must be solved. Otherwise this will be, patch-up, patch-up work, patchwork.

We must go thorough, our progress must be thorough. We're going to attack the enemies' country and we shall conquer and take possession thoroughly. Otherwise in any place I'll be in danger of being murdered, if the conquest is no thorough. Enemies' land, the land of māyā is enemies' land. We must move here very carefully. We may be attacked from every possible way. We should be careful about that and move.

"That my spiritual conviction I shall spread, and I won't allow anything to enter into that and molest that thought."

The enemy camp should not be allowed to enter into our plane. We must remain intact in our plane. Standing there we shall attack them and devastation we shall create in the enemy camp.

So many oppositions will come, we're to face, we're to create opposition.

"This is this. What you think, this is not right."

The elephant may be more powerful, but that does not mean that I shall give salute to the elephant.

What you say is not practicable, but you must enter the enemies' country like so many in disguise. And then wherever we shall find favourable to us we shall begin fighting. You want that policy? To enter into the country of the enemy in disguise, suitably? And we shall try to create our position anywhere. That is guerilla war. You prefer guerilla war?

Bhakti Sudhīra Goswāmī: Sometimes it is necessary.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ha, ha. And the specially trained persons can accept that rarely.

Bhakti Kanan Giri Mahārāja: Śrīla Prabhupāda he said to go in like a needle and come out like a plough.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And that also, not at the cost of the respect of the Deity and the daṇḍam etc. Some degree, there should be some degree.

Bhakti Sudhīra Goswāmī: I went to preach in Russia, so when I would enter the country...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The special batch, guerilla, they will have another dress, they should have another dress. Why the daṇḍam will be necessary? Why the Vigraha should be taken there in the beginning? Special batch may be selected for such fight. Then when some ground is gained you can take there daṇḍam and you can take there Śrī Mūrti. Otherwise only to dishonour Them, the emblem of the Divinity, we shall push Them first, why? Gain some ground, and then we can put our Śrī Mūrti, and the holy emblems.

In the beginning the flag will be taken to be dishonoured, no. You go and create some position, then you can take your flag. Not to be dishonoured very soon, very easily. Why the flag will be taken first?

We're to keep honour of the Divinity. Not to be looted, exploited by others. That will bring a reaction within me and weaken us.

When there is danger of Śrī Mūrti being attacked then they put It underground. They may put into the forest and fly away, keeping in some safe position. Naca vai seva moi galapo laiya _____ [?]

Fled away, because he's coming, the Muslims will come and break It, dishonour. So by concealing the Vigraha somewhere they fled. And here also when there was some attack, the apprehension of some attack over this Śrī Mūrti of Mahāprabhu they put underground, unknown place.

"That Mahāprabhu is not God, he's worshipping of His Deity that can't be allowed here."

The Navadwīpa tantric scholars they raised some objection to the worshipping of the Mūrti of Mahāprabhu. At that time It was concealed underground so that It may not be dishonoured.

So in the beginning we won't take things of respect to the enemy camp. We shall go, take the risk. Iconoclast, the Muslims are iconoclast. Icon worshipper and iconoclast. Idol breaker. We shall go, we shall take the philosophy, and the process of understanding step by step, have to preach the thought. Cultural fight is the fine fight, and conclusive fight. Valuable fight is cultural fight.

Once, the Sikhs when they entered America they shaved their hairs and beards, then they grow. When they entered there they began to grow again. And they come back with their beard and hair. But when they want to take admission, suppose perhaps there is some law, or something, that without shaving they cannot enter, something like that I heard.

Rabindranatha Tagore was once opposed from entering America, though he got Nobel Prize before that. 1910 or 1911 he got Nobel Prize. After that he was going to America. For his long beard perhaps, he was not being allowed. Then some advised him to take special permission, informing that he's, that Rabindranatha, has got Nobel Prize. But he did not do, he waited in the ship and wanted to come back from there without landing. Then anyhow the information went to the authority and they allowed him to get down there, we're told. That world known man, world famous.

We should try to sacrifice us, and not to sacrifice Guru, Vaiṣṇava, Deity, and other respectable things representing Divinity. We may risk our own self for the service and to create some position favourable. And then we shall invite others to inspect my conduct. The propaganda must be real and solid. Only outwardly to show the success, that hollow success, what meaning is there? Substantial progress should be made, a cultural conquest, a bona fide progress. And to dishonour Them who we honour, that is something suicidal. Then more or less from the background we think that They're material.

Suppose if you found to take Swāmī Mahārāja to one particular province very risky, that his life may be at stake, will you allow him to go there? Then about Śrī Mūrti, Vigraha? We venture? Then we have got less faith in Śrī Mūrti as it should have been. Daṇḍam also, theoretically you think that there is connection of the Kāraṇārṇavaśāyī, Puruṣa-Avatāra, all these things. But not so much from the core of our heart. Molestation of the daṇḍam, how can you tolerate? We must search our own heart. With how much sincere respect and devotion we treat all these. This transformation must be wholesale, not lip deep, shallow, transformation of the inner self. We must be sincere to the cause. Cent per cent we shall try.

There was an exhibition in Kurukṣetra. That Kṛṣṇa has come from Dwārakā, and from Vṛndāvana also the Nanda Mahārāja, Yaśodā, and the gopīs, they have also gone there in Kurukṣetra on the occasion of the holy bath at the time of solar eclipse. At that time Prabhupāda, our Guru Mahārāja, ordered arrangement of an exhibition in dolls to show that incident. That from Dwārakā Kṛṣṇa has come with His party. And gopīs from Vṛndāvana they have come. So many gods they have also come at that meeting place.

Here, Vana Mahārāja, he was given responsibility to arrange for that exhibition. And Vana Mahārāja was dressing the Mūrtis. The Mūrtis were made of, earthen Mūrtis, gopīs, and Vana Mahārāja was dressing them. And he was dressing the Mūrtis with cloth and necessary garments, and to fix them he was using some pins, fixing pins. Here the cloth he put, and put a pin to fix the cloth.

Then it pained my heart. We're to show, see with respect these Mūrtis, though they're earthen Mūrtis of the gopīs. But still we're to see with some reverence and respect. But their body is being pierced with pins to fix the dress. I had some pain I felt, though I was a newcomer. Then I put it to the higher authority.

I asked Vana Mahārāja, "Why do you enter the pin within the body, for which we should have some respect and devotion?"

He answered me, "Oh, do you think that the gopīs are in this mundane figure?" In this way.

But I'm not satisfied with that answer. I put it to the higher authority. They supported me, that it should not have been done. That body was, the pin was fixed, rather the, some gum should have been used to fix the dress on the body, or something. That should have been used and the cloth may be attached there, a little bit fixed, and not by entering the pin, nail. Vana Mahārāja was nailing the cloth with the body, some iron pin.

We shall try to maintain our position always in the plane of devotion giving respect to anything and everything, and not to tolerate disrespect of that sentiment, to that sort of conception. We shall go away from your, unable to fight and demolish them, we shall be off. But we cannot be a careless onlooker where molestation will go. If it is possible for me to stop, I shall try hard to stop molestation. If not I shall go away. And not standing I shall look at all those blaspheme.

bhakatibinoda, na' sambhase ta're, thake sada mauna dhori'

[Prarthana Lalasamayi, Prayer of Eager Longing, 7.6]

No power, what can I do? But for the king, if he's a devotee, if any disturbance then he must cut his head. It is recommended in the śāstra. [Gauḍīya Kaṇṭhahāra, 17.84] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.74.40]

Hare Kṛṣṇa. What do you think, Akṣayānanda Mahārāja? When a sannyāsī is taking daṇḍam in the plane and whether anything hidden here in the daṇḍam, the custom officers come and pierce and molest the daṇḍam in various ways, and then give it up. Then are we to tolerate this dishonour to daṇḍam silently?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: No.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What should we do? Should we not carry daṇḍam, or should we keep several daṇḍam in any and every province? One daṇḍam in one zone, then we won't have to carry? The kāyavyūha, or no daṇḍam we shall carry when preaching in the international way? What should we do? And the Vigraha also, we're taking from here and custom officers will come and pierce through to see, examine what gold and other valuable articles are hidden under it. And we'll have to tolerate all these things helplessly? What to do? Will we allow? Otherwise what can we do?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: We shall have to tolerate to a certain degree. Aranya Mahārāja did not take his daṇḍa to London for that reason.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So it is better to have them prepared in that province independently. You may learn things how to construct, and then going there collect materials and prepare Śrī Mūrti there to avoid this molestation. And if we have cast shadow in our own temperament, our own heart, then that will be a poison to the affair. The insult of the Vaiṣṇava and Mūrti and daṇḍa whom we worship, and I'm to tolerate from my faith the molestation, insult of those things. How can we be sincere to our own self, true to our own self, own faith?

Bhakti Sudhīra Goswāmī: If the preacher, if he's revolving between, if he's preaching in two major places, say he's preaching in India and preaching in London, then perhaps he can keep one daṇḍa in India, one daṇḍa in London.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is to be considered, that is rather tolerable than this molestation.

When we were in Madras there was tridaṇḍi; though tridaṇḍi of ancient type, they do not travel by the train or bus, because of that daṇḍa. One of the tridaṇḍi of Rāmānuja sampradāya came to ask me, "Why do you carry this tridaṇḍa in the train and the bus?"

I answered, "Why? Is there any provision?"

He was eager to follow us, but the society did not allow that. But I told him, he came to know, "Is there any śāstric quotation which can help me to take daṇḍa in the bus or train?"

I told him, tat paratvena nirmalam.

[sarvopādhi-vinirmuktaṁ, tat paratvena nirmalam
hṛṣīkena hṛṣīkeśa-sevanaṁ bhaktir ucyate]

["Pure devotion is engaging all the senses in service to the Supreme Lord Kṛṣṇa who is the Master of the senses. In such service, one is totally free from all relative conceptions of material self interest (upādhis), with senses purely engaged in the service of Kṛṣṇa."] [Nārada Pañcarātra]

The purity of our purpose, we hold that. And we try our best to keep the respect of the daṇḍa, it may not be molested in any way. Then, "What is your custom?"

He said, "No, we can't take it in bus or in train."

Then, "That was because train and bus was not created at that time. But can you take it by boat when crossing the river?"

He said, "Yes, we can do that."

And the boat was created first in your time so that was allowed and these buses and trains that is new creation. So the ordinary people are putting objection to it." In this way I replied to him. Tat paratvena nirmalam, the object is pure, so we get, and we see perhaps it may not be dishonoured, tridaṇḍa, we try to keep up the respect.

Bhakti Sudhīra Goswāmī: Mahārāja, you know the paras on a daṇḍa? What does that represent?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: It represents that by that paras it is, a part of a circle, an arc form. That is meant to be used for cutting the anārtha, of to whom we preach. The emblem of cutting, paras means for cedana, for cutting, meant for cutting the reparation of the anārtha he sees in the soul, emblem of that.

Devotee: Like Paraśurāma?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Paraśurāma.

Bhakti Sudhīra Goswāmī: And there's jīva daṇḍa, when was this added?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I'm here to serve You. The Lord who is here in the relativity of the mundane world in small and bigger group.

Bhakti Sudhīra Goswāmī: But this jīva daṇḍa was added by Rāmānuja sect or Gauḍīya Vaiṣṇava?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Perhaps by Rāmānuja, I don't know fully, but I think it was there.

Bhakti Sudhīra Goswāmī: ...must have created quite a stir when Śrīla Bhaktisiddhānta Saraswatī Ṭhākura began...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Introduced it here in Bengal, yes.

Bhakti Sudhīra Goswāmī: Yes. In Vṛndāvana also.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. The red cloth also. Though Mahāprabhu and His colleagues had red cloth. Still Sanātana Goswāmī in the presence of Mahāprabhu he took the white dress of niṣkiñcana, that's the Guru of the sannyāsīs, something like that. Dictator of the preachers, by giving instructions in the form of śāstra. First the code and then the code keeper. So they were engaged in preparing the code, spiritual. And in white cloth, not necessary to advertise them as preachers. They're only engaged for their own benefit, not so much, only by the showing their ideal to the public as much help they can give. But wandering here and there and preaching, that is generally the function of the sannyāsīs.

So Prabhupāda created another batch under them, they have given the directions in the śāstra and to carry out them to translate them into action. The next lower batch sannyāsīs. They're beyond varṇāśrama, and within varṇāśrama the highest section is sannyāsī, they're expected to travel through the length and breadth of the country and to preach the previous doctrines to the people. And that was created by Prabhupāda under the direction of those śāstra makers, Goswāmīs. For whom this religious uniform was not necessary, this red uniform, the preachers uniform. They're niṣkiñcana, they did not want anything. But they only prepared the religious code.

Bhakti Sudhīra Goswāmī: So by the example of Your Divine Grace you're also showing that you're wearing this dress to the very end of your life.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Our Guru Mahārāja also did. Almost everyone whom he gave red dress, they up till their last breath keep up that.

Only, Kṛṣṇa Dāsa Bābājī, he was a brahmacārī, he took that, last days, did not mean himself as a preacher, so he took that, after the departure of Guru Mahārāja.

And Vana Mahārāja, whimsical, he took for some time, again rejected that, again took the red robe.

And Vasudeva Prabhu he wanted to introduce that white cloth. And some of the members of the Bagh Bazaar they take that white cloth, including the last Ācārya, Auḍalomī Mahārāja. I'm told he used white cloth.

They preferred, crossing Prabhupāda, they preferred to accept the idea of this cloth. They thought Prabhupāda's idea was a temporary one for the time being. And what Rūpa and Sanātana, in the presence of Mahāprabhu accepted this, that should be the real dress of the Gauḍīya Vaiṣṇava.

But Mahāprabhu also maintained to the last time that red cloth. And also this Paramānanda Purī, Īśvara Purī, all the Godbrothers of the Guru of Mahāprabhu, here in healthy connection with Mahāprabhu, they used to wear red cloth, sannyāsīs.

And the Western preachers of the Christian school, they generally use gown, is it not? Clergy?

Bhakti Sudhīra Goswāmī: Yes. Black gown.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Black gown. What is their name, Christian preachers? Bishops?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...in this way he has described that connection with Rūpa Goswāmī. _____ [?] And _____ [?] presentation is also there. A good scholar he was.

Aranya Mahārāja: I heard also when, at that time when he was taking the to/ of Mahāprabhu, or maybe when he was seven years old he composed some verse, right on the spot.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. _____ [?]

I belong to Nārāyaṇa. Even not that of Nṛsiṁhadeva. Whatever you can get, you devote it for the service of Nārāyaṇa, and not for you. Don't use money for you. Money is Lakṣmī Devī. And I'm to look after the welfare of everything, whatever I find, because they're all property of Kṛṣṇa. My duty to look after them. This is serving. Kṛṣṇa dāsa. Divine service means this. Such free position, that is serving for freedom. The conception of freedom proper is there. Gaura Haribol.

Devotees: _____ [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nārāyaṇa. That means I'm Nārāyaṇa. I've got so much money under my care. I'm master of money. Gaura Haribol. These are all dangerous situations. We're to work out freedom from that sort of ignorant idea, and all the paraphernalia. Free. We must try to be free of these situations of the environment. They're proposing this māyā. Māyā means misunderstanding. _____ [?]

"You're my master. You're Lord Śiva. I'm your mistress. I'm eager to serve you. You remain with me. You're my master." The last snare of māyā. "You are Śiva, and I'm your consort." And the jīva, when gets emancipation from the misunderstanding world, then she comes, Māyā Devī comes with folded palms. "Why do you leave me? I shall serve you. _____ [?] You remain here with me. [10:42 - 11:25 ?] Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Kṛṣṇa.

When did Akṣayānanda Mahārāja come?

Aranya Mahārāja: Last night, about nine o'clock.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He alone?

Aranya Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You don't know of the quota?

Aranya Mahārāja: He didn't inform me. We spoke only short - briefly.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Gaura Haribol. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol.

Devotee: Guru Mahārāja. I have one question. I was trying to understand this verse.

bhaktāvatāram bhaktākyaṁ namāmi bhakta-śaktikam

["I offer my obeisances unto the Supreme Lord, Kṛṣṇa, who is non different from His features as a devotee, devotional incarnation, devotional manifestation, pure devotee, and devotional energy."]

[Śrī Pañca-tattva Praṇāma]

But I found it a little difficult to understand who is the bhakta-rūpa, and bhakta-svarūpa, and bhakta- avatāra. I couldn't really understand that.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Bhakta-avatāra is Advaita Prabhu, Who came here in advance and prayed that Mahāprabhu should come here. He's the cause of attracting Mahāprabhu here in this plane. Bhakta-avatāra. Avatāra, that is descent. Avatāra means coming down, avatāram. From high place, to come down, that is avatāram. Avatāra means Who comes from the high level to lower level. And bhakta-avatāra, the cause of the descent of the whole section, whole party, in advance came Advaita Prabhu. And He began to pray for...

...bhaktākyaṁ, bhakta-rūpaṁ. One is Śrīvāsa, another He Himself come in the disguise of bhakta. And bhakta-śakti is Gadādhara Paṇḍita. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi.

...-fold expressions of Kṛṣṇa, different. One bhakta, bhakta-rūpaṁ, Śrīvāsa as bhakta. Bhaktākyaṁ kṛṣṇaṁ, Mahāprabhu Himself. Bhakta-svarūpaṁ, the second representation is Nityānanda Prabhu. And bhakta-avatāra, Who is the cause of the descent of the whole group, the pioneer bhakta, devotee, is Advaita Prabhu. And bhakta-śakti is potency, who helps to supply the real satisfaction, the real attendance of the needs of the Lord, bhakta-śakti, he's Gadādhara Paṇḍita, kāyavyūha. He's extending Himself in these five-fold forms He came down here in this lower plane of prapañca from the higher division, divine position. From divine to mundane. His descent is like this. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

bhaktāvatāram bhaktākyaṁ namāmi bhakta-śaktikam

We show our obeisance to all, the whole group, who have come together in different forms to distribute the highest nectar to the ordinary public at large here. The most gracious group of the divine plane.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Nitāi Gaura.

Devotee: Also we have one question from the last book, in the section on the Bṛhat-Bhāgavatāmṛta, when you speak about Uddhava. I think you said that Uddhava he has some connection with sākhya and also with vātsalya. But we wanted to make sure that was correct. Is that correct?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hmm. Sākhya, vātsalya, as well as mādhurya, some connection. Through confidence, Kṛṣṇa had in Uddhava, He sent as a messenger towards Vṛndāvana to connect not only with the devotees of vātsalya rasa, Nanda-Yaśodā, but also to the gopīs that served in mādhurya rasa. Uddhava connected with them also. And carried the news of Kṛṣṇa, His words, towards them. And took their contribution towards Kṛṣṇa. In Vṛndāvana, the Subal etc, connected with mādhurya rasa. And here in Dvārakā Uddhava enjoyed the confidence of having connection with the mādhurya rasa, as it is possible from that level. But he was appointed messenger to Vṛndāvana, even to give His news to the gopīs of mādhurya rasa, as much as possible. And he was astounded to find the degree of dedication of the gopīs towards the service of Kṛṣṇa. Uddhava, he's the witness. He stands the test how high the gopīs of Vṛndāvana - what sort of intense dedication they had. Uddhava is the witness. He says that, "I want, I aspire after a birth of the creeper in Vṛndāvana so that naturally the feet dust of these divine damsels may touch my head." This statement of Uddhava is showing the high level of the divine love of the gopīs, what sort of high.

Vidagdha Mādhava: Guru Mahārāja. When Sītā Devī was captured by Rāvaṇa, and Lord Rāma was in the forest, and as in His līlā He was feeling some separation from Sītā Devī. But we're not tracing out that sort of mādhurya rasa in Rāma līlā.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hmm. Mādhurya rasa, that is limited to Sītā Devī only. And not to be aspired after anyone in Rāma līlā. Only reserved for Sītā Devī. And that is also of some lower degree than we can have in Vṛndāvana. The rasa in Dvārakā is superior to that of Ayodhyā. And in Vṛndāvana that is superior to Dvārakā. In this way the development goes. The risk, the sacrifice, is of more intense and higher degree, going up. Sītā Devī's affection is general, especially She has no partner. But in Dvārakā we find many, distributed amongst many. It is difficult to maintain affection towards the husband when there are many wives. Only when they're very intense it is possible to maintain the dignity of service.

And in Vṛndāvana it is more risky, at the risk of the society, and even the religious principle. And ignoring everything they're only conscious of the service of Kṛṣṇa, the Absolute, and nothing else, with all risk. Not the sense of duty, but free enjoyment of Kṛṣṇa. And they throw themselves into fire, of any risk for the satisfaction of Kṛṣṇa, without any prospect. All risk, no gain. With this idea they throw themselves into the satisfaction of the sweet will of Kṛṣṇa, not knowing anything else. They've given up all sorts of prospects, either in this world, or worlds afterwards, that is moral, spiritual, everything, so risk. Because it is only for the Absolute Truth they're the best gainer. It is dirt in anywhere else then they're gone forever. And only because it is so much risk only for the Absolute Truth they're the best gainers. So risk, and without expectation of any sort of gain. All prospects eliminated, ever conceived. And that is beauty, because in the case of the Absolute.

So like unconditional suicidal squadron, up to anything. The sacrifice for the country of the suicidal squadron is considered to be the highest. They're like that. All risk, no gain. But because it's with the Absolute Truth they're the highest gainers.

O grant me the fortune to be born as a blade of grass in Vṛndāvana, so that I may take the dust of those great souls upon my head."]

[Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.47.61]

The scriptures also searching from far away such thing. It is so rare, so valuable, the holy books also they're searching this point from far, far away. They've not yet crossed the threshold of the area proper.

From far away they say, "Oh. This side, go this side."

...not single offender like me my Lord. Parihāre 'pi lajjā me. I'm ashamed to take them before You and to get it forgiven. Even to point out them before You that I'm so heinous, such an offender. I feel ashamed myself to recollect my own bad deeds. I myself feel ashamed. Parihāre 'pi lajjā me. I shall take them to You and pray for their forgiveness, but I myself feel shame. Such a class of sinner I am. Kiṁ bruve puruṣottama. What more I shall say to You my Lord? I'm such a sinner."

[mat-tulyo nāsti pāpātmā, nāparādhī ca kaścana, parihāre 'pi lajjā me, kiṁ bruve puruṣottama]

["There is no parallel to my sinful, criminal life. Everything that can be conceived of as bad is found in me. O Supreme Lord, I am even ashamed to come before You to petition, 'please forgive my offences.' What more can I say than this?"] [Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, 1.2.154]

This is the nature of the high disciples, high devotees. They think themselves so unfit for such, what is the way, what is our destination. Progress towards this side, negative side, to the farthest length of the negative side. Our place is there. Smallest of the smallest. The meanest of the meanest. Ah Govinda. Meanest of the mean.

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol.

Where to live, caste our glance, our look? So what to do? Our goal is this. How to reach to that goal, sincerely? Self abnegation to the extreme. This is the measurement. Meanest of the mean. To realise that, to realise our proper position there. The meanest of the mean. Is it possible at all? It is imaginary quantity. So what purification we may aspire after? Self abnegation, analyse, analyse, and throw off.

All egoistic, all assertive. 'I am something. I am someone. I have something to be proud of.' These are to eliminated, eliminated, eliminated, to the finish. It is not easy thing. To become big, it is easy, because it is all false, black marketing. 'I'm a big man. From this position, from this standpoint, from such standpoint I'm something.' It is very easy.

But, 'I'm nothing,' to accept this creed in its true colour, true nature, it is very difficult. 'That I'm none.' Then the reality of necessity will occur in me for help. Otherwise, 'I can help so many. Why should I be a beggar?' It's very difficult.

...then I was disappointed. It is not possible to be humbler than a blade of grass, to be more tolerant than a tree. Amāninā mānadena. Give honour to everyone, but don't desire, aspire after honour. In this attitude you take the Name of the Lord, Kṛṣṇa. Then your desire will be fulfilled."

You're to take the Name of Kṛṣṇa with such attitude. You're more humble than a blade of grass. And more tolerant than a tree. When the tree is being cut down, the tree is giving shadow to the cutter. If you don't give any water into the root, it won't beg for water from anyone. 'You give some water. I'm in drought, I'm dying, thirsty.' Won't say. And when cut down, still he's giving shadow. Such forbearance. Taror api sahiṣṇunā. And amāninā mānadena. Don't want respect, any position from anyone. But at the same time you're to give honour to everyone, his due. That means you're exclusively pointed towards your aim. And eliminated everything from your aspiration. You're (engaged extremely?) towards the object of your person. In this way you'll take the Name of Kṛṣṇa. And you'll find His help at once, in no time.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Same question always.

Vidagdha Mādhava: Well, I hope not. This is a question I've asked once or twice, but I'm asking it for the full explanation. We're encouraging everyone to chant Hare Kṛṣṇa mantra. Yet we're seeing now there's one quote in Padma-Purāṇa that's saying without proper initiation the mantra received is without effect. So is it that those without proper connection, they're not getting any benefit from chanting the mantra?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What does he say?

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: _____ [?]

sampradāya vihīnā ye mantrās te niṣiphalā matāḥ

["If someone receives a mantra from a guru who doesn't come in a bona fide sampradāya that mantra will have no potency and will be fruitless. Hence in the age of Kali there will arise four founders of sampradāyas, namely Śrī, Brahmā, Rudra and Sanaka. These four Vaiṣṇavas are the sanctifiers of the earth. Their four respective sampradāyas will arise from the Supreme Personality of Godhead in Utkal (Orissa)."]

[Padma-Purāṇa]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Only solid progress is not possible, proper progress. It may be something like, puṇya, to acquire merit, like good activity, and suddenly, abruptly, it may become or may not, nāmābhāsa, and that giving mukti. Up to nāmābhāsa, up to mukti, it may be, or may not, that Name, nāmākṣara. Just as the seed without the potency within it, imitation is like that, without the seed. The medicine is there, apparently, but the potency of the medicine is absent. It will be like that. But at most it may produce what is nāmābhāsa.

One thing, is the Name proper, Name means it is not material, it is not under the jurisdiction of the concocted area, misunderstood area. It must not have root there, in the false imitation, the root must not be there. The root, the Name proper must have to become, to have its connection with the Infinite proper. One thing. And the next thing, it must be treated properly, that is sevonmukhe, serving attitude. Not exploiting mood, nor indifferent mood. Serving attitude must be there. And the seed must be proper seed, bona fide. Two things necessary, everywhere.

Sādhu-saṅga, that is also bona fide. We're to differentiate it from the sham, from the apparent, that is from māyāic conception, which is not so. That is the treachery, the hypocrisy, we're to avoid. Imitation side which is not proper and is going in the name of proper, that is dangerous, we're to avoid that. We're to come in connection with the truth, with the reality, and to deal also really, and not any facsimile, any imitation way. Our dealing will be sincere, true, and we must come in touch with the truth, then the truthful result we may expect. Truth is independent, it is not subservient to anything else. We shall have to come in connection with the truth, anyhow. How to get that connection, that is difficult thing, and that is by sukṛti and sādhu- saṅga.

So we're to understand the very basic principle of the thing, the fundamental. Then, if you can understand that, all other questions will be solved, you can deduce from that. If we have a general view in our hand, the particular cases may be dealt according to that. The general fundamental law, we must come to be acquainted with, what is what. Bhaktyā sañjātayā [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.3.31], bhakti can produce bhakti, not, never māyā can produce bhakti. Reality can give reality, and not any misrepresentation of reality can give reality, deliver reality in any way. You're to understand that. It is very simple and fundamental thing. Others will be deduced from that conception.

We're in the midst of misconception, and misconception of any nature cannot give us relief from misconception. Some positive thing must have to come for our rescue.

So you do not understand the basic principle, so similar and same questions come.

Vidagdha Mādhava: I think I understand what your saying now.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Always similar questions come. Assimilation is necessary, to hear and to assimilate that, to hear properly, and hear with assimilation. Only mere repetition of sensation is not experience. Experience is not repetition of sensation, congregation of sensation. But when assimilation, then principle on the background, and it receives in a particular way, and puts in a particular way, then it becomes experience. Only repetition of sensation cannot be said as experience. Experience means something, some other principle handles those sensations in such a way, and it adjusts in such a way, then the sensations, then they become experience, knowledge. The cluster of sensations is not experience. So rending the ear is not hearing. The inner man must be there, to attend it, and to assimilate, and to group it, adjust it, in proper place, it will keep them. And at the time they will get from that particular position. All what we hear jumbled together, without any discrimination, that is no knowledge. That cannot improve our condition.

Here Hegel says, or Kant, Hegel. Not this Locke and Hume. The inner sensation is nothing. The recipient must be inside, and he will accept them properly, and adjust them in their proper way. Then it will become knowledge, or experience. The inner man must be there to attain. So hearing, seeing, everywhere, it's the inner man, who receives the sensations, and adjusts them in such a way that he can use them properly in the future. And that is knowledge.

In Bhagavad-gītā we find assimilation unique. So many things of different types, they're adjusted in such a way, it is unique thing, Bhagavad-gītā. Karma, vikarma, jñāna, yoga, many things, devotion, many things are properly adjusted. Not in any other book we find where everything has been adjusted in such a way, with the exception of Bhāgavatam.

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: Mahārāja. Does that refer to the three types of rati? Sādhāraṇīa rati? Is that more or less the same thing?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Sādhāraṇī. Special. Yes. Sādhāraṇī, general, common, and then specific, specified. General attraction towards God, then attraction will take form of particular rasa, śānta, dāsya, sākhya, vātsalya, mādhurya. And there are also sub divisions, asālana, viśeṣa. Sādhāraṇī of viśeṣa, vaiśiṣṭya, developed condition. Sādhāraṇī general, and then particularised. When particular rasa, aim in that rasa, so many groups, divided into many departments, and to be specialised in one department, specialist.

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: That is samañjasā?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Samañjasā. _____ [?] Harmonised, many in one, organised. All accommodating, all adjusting. Our Guru Mahārāja utilised one, "Religion is proper adjustment." Adjustment to the extreme, general adjustment, then particularised, and it goes to the extreme. Divided into different departments, like government.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Dayal Nitāi. Dayal Nitāi.

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: Mahārāja. Someone may ask, in the Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam we find that the gopīs of Vṛndāvana, at one point when they were very, very, eager to have darśana of Kṛṣṇa, they were unable because their husbands kept them within their houses. At that time some of them left their bodies. So someone may ask, they're eternal associates of Kṛṣṇa, how is it possible that they left behind these supposed, seemingly, bodies?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is a show, that aspect. The real aspect of the gopī's relationship with Kṛṣṇa and the other aspect a show. _____ [?] Just as here we represent a thing which is not here, in a picture. In a picture I may show the Himālaya here, but it is not real Himālaya. So in the case of the gopīs, that husband life, that life is like a picture. _____ [?] It has been written by Dāsa Goswāmī, just as a doll made by the wood, a wooden doll _____ [?] means wood. _____ [?] A particular type of bird which can cry aloud _____ [?] Something like show. It is arranged by Yogamāyā. That sort of theatrical stage is built to enhance the attraction towards Kṛṣṇa. It is to the extreme, attraction to the extreme, for the gopīs, it is already extreme, again to enhance that, this policy has been adopted by Yogamāyā. That there is outer demand on them, some design, outer demand, it won't allow them to be united with Kṛṣṇa, some concocted demand. The wholesale cover is like that, this parakīya bhāva. Local demand, something, and attraction for the universal life, the real attraction. And the local is futile, just putting some demand on them, but can't do anything ultimately, they're futile. But it has been managed to enhance their quality of love.

Just as a boy he may be offered. "Do you like the lap of your mother, or this doll?" A doll is given to the boy. "Take this doll, but you won't go to the lap of your mother. What do you want?"

"I want to dismiss the doll and go to the," - to a particular temptation on the opposite side, to enhance.

A real clever boy likes, "No I don't want the doll. I want the food. I want mother's lap, affection, not doll."

So some test is given and to judge the quality and increase the affinity, even dismissing these demands of moral, religious, and social, status. But this unknowingly flowing towards Kṛṣṇa, spontaneous, unknowingly, unconscious flow towards Kṛṣṇa. To prove that, this test put before them.

There was an instance that German Kaiser, his mother was a British lady, royal family of Britain. The Kaiser who was the cause of the first great war [against] Germany, he went to his maternal house. And there with his cousin, some boys fighting, and some strike came on Kaiser's nose and blood oozing, falling down. And Kaiser is supposed to have told, "Let the British blood fly away from my body." He was so German in his ego. "Let the British blood fly all away." So let all our subtle, including even this body, which has come from such society, let it go _____ [?] I'm a German."

I'm Kṛṣṇa's, _____ [?] I can't leave Kṛṣṇa at any cost. Whatever belongs to you, you think, you keep it, I shall go. That sort of spirit, selection, unity and oneness. That has been shown to us in different types, different types of Kṛṣṇa attraction. Kṛṣṇa attracts the whole universe, everything, all the atoms are attracted by Him. But there is differentiation, distinction. All atoms are not equally attracted. The attraction on the whole is sweet, but there is differentiation in the sweetness, the degree. All not of the same type, gradation is there. And it goes up to such a mark that it denies the very existence of them. So much attraction feels within, ignores his own existence, his own ego. Such is possible, such attraction is possible. The very gist is being attracted, the form eliminated. Just as when one is swimming and feels danger, one gives away the dress, and with naked body one wants to swim, something like that.

The māyāvādīs come here, wants to intrude into. nosoramano naham ramani dumu capesala kinjani [?]

Unconscious of their physical existence, they feel attracted towards Kṛṣṇa, the māyāvādī comes.

"Oh there you see? All forms are jñāna, and they're one in substance."

But when it again comes out, in different motives, it is going, entering and coming out, entering and coming out, the līlā continues.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Nitāi. Nitāi.

And that is in the highest stage, highest intensity, in Rādhārāṇī. She surpasses all in that sort of attraction and feeling. And in the highest stage of unity becomes Mahāprabhu. And that hint is given in the last śloka of Rāya Rāmānanda.

[" 'Alas, before We met there was an initial attachment between Us brought about by an exchange of glances. In this way attachment evolved. That attachment has gradually grown, and there is no limit to it. Now that attachment has become a natural sequence between Ourselves. It is not that it is due to Kṛṣṇa, the enjoyer, nor is it due to Me, for I am the enjoyed. It is not like that. This attachment was made possible by mutual meeting. This mutual exchange of attraction is known as manobhava, or Cupid. Kṛṣṇa's mind and My mind have merged together. Now, during this time of separation, it is very difficult to explain these loving affairs. My dear friend, though Kṛṣṇa might have forgotten all these things, you can understand and bring this message to Him. But during Our first meeting there was no messenger between Us, nor did I request anyone to see Him. Indeed, Cupid's five arrows were Our via media. Now, during this separation, that attraction has increased to another ecstatic state. My dear friend, please act as a messenger on My behalf, because if one is in love with a beautiful person, this is the consequence.'] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, 8.194]

That was composed by Rāmānanda himself. And in the last stage that was delivered when inquired by Mahāprabhu. "Any further development in the līlā?"

Then Rāmānanda told, "I have got one thing in my mind. But I don't know whether You will relish it or not. I have composed one poem to that effect. You hear it."

When he was delivering that poem of his own, Mahāprabhu put His hand on his face. "No further." Hitting him. Combined, both combined, forgets everything, madly seeking after Himself, in the mood of the potency. And Mahāprabhu was caught red handed there. He opposed. "No, not to give vent to this idea now."

Rāmānanda could not stand, fainted, fell unconscious on the ground.
Mahāprabhu touched him by His magical hand and again brought him to consciousness.
Rāmānanda found the sannyāsī is sitting there, indifferent.
Then the sannyāsī told, "Am I allowed to go now, to take leave of you?"
Mechanically - "Yes. You may take leave."
Mahāprabhu went. Rāmānanda struck dumb, sat there, long time.

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: Mahārāja. Maybe about three or four years ago I asked you about my Guru Mahārāja's identity, according to your (particular bicha?) what you thought his particular identity may be in the spiritual world. You gave a general analysis. So I also wanted to ask you, I don't know if you will answer, but I also wanted to ask you the same thing about Kṛṣṇa Dāsa Bābājī Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Kṛṣṇa Dāsa Bābājī Mahārāja, he openly had discourse with me.

"I know everything, I hear, but my particular attraction towards sākhya rasa, I like it most, friendly. I have heard all these things, of different stages, different qualities, but my special liking is in sākhya rasa." He told.

But our Swāmī Mahārāja, whatever I found from his letter. And the letter I found when he was going towards America for propaganda, he has given his own internal aspiration.

"Help me to finish my duty here as ordered by my Gurudeva, Rādhārāṇī, Who is very favourite to You, to help me discharge all my duties given to me by Him. He's Your very most favourite. And after that we shall have our natural pastimes in Vṛndāvana."

In such and such way, as he has expressed, from there I traced that he's there. In his natural service, he relishes that sort of service. That is my finding from that letter. Before this I did not have any clue in any talk with him. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Of course I have not gone through the portion where he has translated the mādhurya rasa affairs in Bhāgavatam. But still this was sufficient for me to guess, to understand his innate aspiration, in that line.

As from common, as it was told, sādhāraṇī, general attraction. Then assimilation in different departments. General recruitment, and then examination by the specialists, and particular departments are given to particular persons. He will shine in that, after general recruitment. General test and then special test.

Gaura Hari. Nitāi Gaura. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

That may not be in our life. There are many if they attended for this they might have been successful. It is my opinion. But they did not care at all for that. This Kuñja Bābu, he founded the Maṭha there, in the beginning, Māyāpur Tīrtha Mahārāja. But he did not care to get, acquire that land. Kṛṣṇa told before His departure, "Left by Me, My capital Dvārakā will be inundated by the ocean, the ocean will devour, swallow the place where I had My capital Dvārakā. Place of My pastimes, that will be, that will come under the ocean, the ocean will devour."

But He could not do a similar thing in Vṛndāvana. In Vṛndāvana also those particular places of pastimes were you know forgotten. This Vajra tried his best, only with help some, his best to discover, then again that ignored, undercover. Then by the order of Mahāprabhu, Rūpa, Sanātana, they tried their utmost to bring them again, out to our consciousness. Lupta-tīrtha-uddhāra. Mahāprabhu ordered Sanātana Goswāmī four things.

[Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Antya-līlā, 4.80]

"Bhakti śāstra pracār, the pure devotional scriptures, collect and publish. And the tīrtha, the places of holy pastimes, you bring them to the notice of the people. And Śrī Mūrti, lupta-tīrtha-uddhāra, and to preach the worshipping of the Śrī Mūrti in a proper way. And to prepare bhakti śāstra. Bhakti sadācāra, how one should practice in a formal way. According to devotional standard, how one should live, form his life, and his daily routine, how, bhakti sadācāra."

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol. Mahāprabhu Gaurāṅga Sundara.

Aranya Mahārāja: When we we're just in Vṛndāvana, we also noted that many of the places of pilgrimage that were established by the Goswāmīs were again becoming dilapidated, or becoming hidden. And so much misinformation is going - about what is this, what is that.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ha, ha. The adhokṣaja realm. It will be always above our possession. And because it is of higher order, we aspire after that. But that never be taken under our nature, or utilisation, or practices, or possession. He's so, His nature is so, adhokṣaja, unaccountable. He won't come under and rules and regulations. Only He's under the higher laws of love. The Infinite cannot be forced to come under any regulation. We must not forget that.

Still, by negative approach, surrender. "We're fallen. Without Your help we can't stand." Appealing tone. Sometimes He comes to contact, but He's independent. Higher appeals also, sometimes take Him within this. But on the whole His very nature is of that type. Unmanageable, from this plane, but quite naturally. We're calculating people, we want something concrete within our palm. But the nature of the existence of that substance is not at all of that type. Super subjective, your highest intelligence, acquisition, hankering, aspiration, hardly reach Him. So how much possession? You're to measure the extent of your possession over Him.

Only from far away we may see. "Oh. He seems to be come within our knowledge." Talking and mixing with Gurudeva, that higher Vaiṣṇava, we may have, should be satisfied with such look. And suddenly may appear in your level, and whenever you're giving more attention, He disappears. That is His nature. Suddenly at His whim, at His whim, He may come and appear in your level, but whenever any attention you fix towards Him, it's finished. Ha, ha. Not to come in any regulation, under any regulation. If you like to try any connection with Him you may do, otherwise you are to do in your own way, go on your own. Adhokṣaja. Yato bhaktir adhokṣaje.

ahaituky apratihatā, yayātmā suprasīdati]

["The supreme occupation (dharma) for all humanity is that by which men can attain to loving devotional service unto the transcendental Lord. Such devotional service must be unmotivated and uninterrupted to completely satisfy the self."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.2.6]

When we consider finally all these which we can bring under our regulation, they're all trash, no value. I want to inquire after something which is unapproachable, unknown, unknowable, higher thing. Then we may be allowed to go on that path, with that risk. With that risk you're to go. Yato bhaktir adhokṣaje.

Yaśodā, who once found her supremacy over Him in such a way that she's punishing, whipping. Then that very Yaśodā, whole life shedding tears and crying. "How can I go on with my very existence without You my boy?" But no response.

The gopīs, who had given everything, at every cost they wanted, they were also apparently seen to live the whole life disappointed. Crying, wailing, in this way. But that very crying has got a great value. That separation of Him, that fetches also a great value. That is not of ordinary value. That is also concrete thing - separation for Him. And there's degree of separation. And in the market the valuation is according to the intensity of the thing. Separation is also valuable. To aspire after a good thing, that is also valuable. And to get under possession a bad thing, that is undesirable. And to aspire after a good thing that is desirable. That is our capital, the desire for the good is our capital.

Men of such type they hate anything that can be kept in possession here. "No. That is to be dismissed. I want to be vacant. I want to only aspire after the highest thing. It may be imagination, still, my food will be that, aspiration for the highest. That is my food. That is my everything. I shall go on life after life with aspiration for the highest. And not caring for anything which can be easily got in my possession. 'I can be master.' I hate to be a master."

āśliṣya vā pāda-ratāṁ pinaṣṭu mām, [adarśanān marma-hatāṁ karotu vā yathā tathā vā vidadhātu lampaṭo, mat-prāna-nāthas tu sa eva nāparaḥ]

["Kṛṣṇa may embrace me in love or trample me under His feet. He may break my heart by hiding Himself from me. Let that debauchee do whatever He likes, but He will always be the only Lord of my life."] [Śikṣāṣṭakam, 8]

Anyhow to remain in connection with that. That is its own reward. Virtue is its own reward. I'm on the path, I'm in the trying mood, that is enough, such value. And any way I'm treated by Him, still I aspire after nothing but Him. Such value. I can't tolerate that I'm not one of His. However neglected position I may have to remain in, but I can't tolerate the idea that I have no connection with Him. From my side, the highest aspiration for Him, that is my want. I cannot think myself so great that to have in possession that highest good. That audacity I must not indulge in, any way, in any slightest connection. On the other hand I dismiss all other aspirations, whatever it may offer to me. That ideal. Āśliṣya vā pāda-ratāṁ pinaṣṭu mām, adarśanān marma. Any way connection, any way, slightest connection, however long in the future it may be, does not matter. But I'm not going to contact with anything else, alternate proposal.

He's superior. Why should He come under my direction? It must be māyā. It must be an erroneous implant I'm suffering. I want a thing of my position, can have command over that highest thing. Then that is all concoction, naturally. In my position, a slightest, any connection, I must be satisfied with that. And that will be true. 'And Infinite will come under my guidance?' I'm a finite. What is this? This is madness. The least possible connection, but with the highest. I aspire after that. That is valuable to me. Then I'm normal of the highest type.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Nitāi Gaura Hari bol. Goal, ideal, is Caitanyadeva. But His life is horrible to us. So much madly hankering after Kṛṣṇa, ignoring His whole physical aspect. What is that? Why? How to take, accept His ideal? We're rather afraid of going in His connection, so mad separation pangs there. So outwardly such sacrifice, then the treasure inward. Who will come to risk so much? Ha, ha.

Kṛṣṇa bhakti is so risky, who will care to adore the ideal of the gopīs? But Uddhava and some other devotees, they say, Śukadeva, then we think, 'Oh, that then it may be.' We cannot give respect in the middle man. And they say, in their gradation, 'they're the highest.' Otherwise, where's the place of the gopīs in ordinary intellectual section? Nothing. 'Who are they? What is their position?' Then they say that,

"Brahmā is not My favourite, nor Mahādeva, nor Saṅkarṣaṇa, nor Lakṣmī Devī. Even not Myself as you are My loving friend Uddhava."

And that Uddhava says, "Oh. I aspire after a birth of a creeper here. The feet dust of those great sacrifice divinity may fall on my head."

Without these steps, how I can know what is their noble position. Of those that are very fortunate in any way, in the course of their roaming in this universe got some favour from those sādhus, they can appreciate. I do not want anything, we don't want anything. But we want Vṛndāvana, I want.

go-pati-tanayā-kuñje, gopa-vadhūṭī-vitaṁ brahma

[Padyāvalī, 98] & [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 19.98]

Who will believe this, that that Para Brahma is in Vṛndāvana, and He's making friends with these ordinary people? Who will come to believe, that He's carrying the shoes of Nanda on His head? Who will come to believe this? Such a madman's where to be found that he'll come to believe that the Highest Entity is carrying the shoes of Nanda on His head? What's this?

Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari.

Devotee: They say that we're all crazy _____ [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Crazy, to the ordinary is a relative term. Someone said Einstein to be crazy, Newton to be crazy.
"We do not get full bellied food, and they're showing this luxury and doing some researches, atom bomb and all these things. We don't get food, belly full. These are all luxuries. What is the necessity? Give us food, we're hungry, this is concrete. And that is all abstract, exercise of your intelligence, all luxury."
The demand of flesh, we're under so much intense trouble to meet the demand of our flesh. All unnecessary business. They're all mad.

yā niśā sarva-bhūtānāṁ, tasyāṁ jāgarti saṁyamī
yasyāṁ jāgrati bhūtāni, sā niśā paśyato muneḥ

enjoyment is night for the self-realised person who is completely indifferent to such pursuits. The realised souls, indifferent to the mundane, are ever joyful in the divine ecstatic plane, while the general mass is infatuated by fleeting mundane fancies devoid of spiritual joy."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 2.69]

Day to one is night to another. That is their position, under necessity.
Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari.
What is valuable to one that is nothing to another, according to the necessity.
Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

The robber told to Alexander, "What necessity you had for conquering all these countries, and troubling so many men, and killing so many? For satisfaction of your whim? What more than that there? So much trouble to so many countries, so many human beings, and other's devastation. Only your whim to satisfy, the fodder of your whim? You're a great general, to establish you."

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari.

[tat te karma pravakṣyāmi, yaj jñātvā mokṣyase 'śubhāt]

["Even very learned men are baffled in ascertaining the nature of action and inaction. Some cannot comprehend action, while others cannot comprehend inaction. Hence, I shall now teach you about such action and inaction, knowing which you will attain liberation from the evil world."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 4.16]

The great scholars they're perplexed to know what is good and what is bad. What we shall get and what we shall dismiss. Ha, ha. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Kavayo 'py atra mohitāḥ. The great scholars they fail to understand what is their real necessity. This is a perplexed jungle. Different types of consciousness.

jalajā nava lakṣāni, sthāvarā lakṣa viṁśati [kṛmayo rudra-saṅkhyakāḥ, pakṣiṇām daśa lakṣaṇam
triṁsal lakṣāni paśavaḥ, catur lakṣāṇi mānuṣaḥ]

[In the laws of Manu, it is written: "There are 900,000 kinds of aquatics, 2,000,000 kinds of trees and plants, 1,100,000 kinds of insects and reptiles, 1,000,000 kinds of birds, 3,000,000 kinds of four-legged beasts, and 400,000 kinds of human species."] [Viṣṇu-Purāṇa]

So many souls of equal position with us. Manu says these trees, out of their own karma, are under such hopeless position today. They've got similar feeling for pain and pleasure like us; not of less standard. But they're in such position, and it is their own karma, none to blame. Such is the fun going on in this world outside. We're living in the environment which is so afflicted with serious misconception, misunderstanding, misguidance, misbehaviour, how we are. How to ascertain what is good, what is bad, what should I aspire after, and what we should reject? Innumerable alternatives are thronged in a crowd, coming to influence over me. So, this area covered by illusion, influenced by misunderstanding, is of so different, diverse type.

Then what about Infinite, Vaikuṇṭha? This finite world is so diverse in its characteristic. And Infinite - with what attitude we should approach that adhokṣaja? In any way we're to accept any alliance, whatever less fruitful, or less giving, less gain. Whatever it may be we shall try to have connection with that perfect thing of our internal, innate aspiration. Slightest connection. We're helpless, we're hopeless, in the midst of disappointment, in danger to the extreme. We're to rely on our free will, our capacity of selection for our own good, but it's so helpless. Our guide is so helpless, then what danger we're in, we're getting witnesses all around.

So how? A real Guru is important who can guide us to our real way. Guidance is the most important thing at present for us, proper guidance. Forces of different nature, we're being drawn towards them, attracted towards them. We're in the midst of that. Proper guidance is the most valuable. How valuable is Gurudeva's guidance. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol.

Dhyeyaṁ sadā paribhava-ghnam. After mentioning Who is the incarnation of Kali-yuga, Yuga-Avatāra, Bhāgavata suddenly begins the song in praise of that great Yuga-Avatāra.

dhyeyaṁ sadā paribhava-ghnam abhīṣṭa-dohaṁ tīrthāspadaṁ śiva-viriñci-nutaṁ śaraṇyam bhṛtyārti-haṁ praṇata-pāla bhavābdhi-potaṁ
vande mahā-puruṣa te caraṇāravindam

["O guardian of the surrendered, O great personality (the Supreme Personality of Godhead Himself, who enacts His divine pastimes as a pure devotee - mahā-bhāgavata), You alone are the reality to be constantly meditated upon by the pure souls. You are the destroyer of the soul's illusion, You are the divine wish-fulfilling tree, the refuge of all devotees. Worshippable by Śiva and Viriñci (Sadāśiva in the form of Śrī Advaita Ācārya, and Brahmā in the form of Haridāsa Ṭhākura), You are the shelter of all and everything, and You are the dispeller of Your devotees' suffering which originates in offences to the Holy Name (nāma-aparādha). You are the only boat for crossing the ocean of this material world of suffering. I do worship Your holy lotus feet."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.5.33]

tyaktvā su-dustyaja-surepsita-rājya-lakṣmīṁ dharmiṣṭha arya-vacasā yad agād araṇyam māyā-mṛgaṁ dayitayepsitam anvadhāvad
vande mahā-puruṣa te caraṇāravindam

["O Supreme Lord, You gave up the goddess of fortune and Her great opulence, which is most difficult to abandon, and is sought after even by the gods. In order to perfectly establish the principles of religion, You left for the forest to honour the brāhmaṇa's curse. To deliver the sinful souls who chase illusory pleasures, You search after them and award them Your devotional service. At the same time, You are engaged in search of Yourself, in search for Śrī Kṛṣṇa: Reality the Beautiful."]

[Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.5.34]

With a grand temperament the Bhāgavata has come to sing in praise of that guide in Kali-yuga. This occurs just after...

kṛṣṇa-varṇaṁ tviṣā 'kṛṣṇaṁ sāṅgopāṅgāstra-pārṣadam
yajñaiḥ saṅkīrtana-prāyair yajanti hi sumedhasaḥ

["In the age of Kali, intelligent persons perform congregational chanting to worship the incarnation of Godhead who constantly sings the Names of Kṛṣṇa. Although His complexion is not blackish, He is Kṛṣṇa Himself. He is accompanied by His associates, servants, weapons and confidential companions."]

[Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.5.32] & [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Ādi-līlā, 3.52]

In a covered, disguised way, only giving hints Who is the Avatāra of Kali-yuga. Kṛṣṇa-varṇaṁ. Who is always describing about Kṛṣṇa. Or, Who has got on His lips the words 'Kṛṣṇa Kṛṣṇa Kṛṣṇa' always. Or, Who is Kṛṣṇa Himself, but by His lustre He looks yellow. But really, if we can look with deep attention, we shall find that hidden under that yellow lustre there is the blue body.

Kṛṣṇa-varṇaṁ tviṣā 'kṛṣṇaṁ sāṅgopāṅgāstra-pārṣadam. With His own paraphernalia He has come.

Yajñaiḥ saṅkīrtana-prāyair. And service is continuing under the cover of saṅkīrtana. Only with the help of the sound in a mass prayer, and processional way. That will be His real symptom. With the masses He'll go on chanting divine sounds. Through that symptom we shall try to understand Him. He's a channaḥ Avatāra, because in Kali-yuga He'll come in disguise. So the hint is given in this way, not very clearly. Channaḥ kalau, tri-yuga. Prahlāda Mahārāja says.

dharmaṁ mahā-puruṣa pāsi yugānuvṛttaś, channaḥ kalau yad abhavas tri-yugo 'tha sa tvam]

[Prahlāda Mahārāja said: "In this way, my Lord, You appear in various incarnations as a human being, an animal, a great saint, a demigod, a fish, or a tortoise, thus maintaining the entire creation in different planetary systems and killing the demoniac principles. According to the age, O my Lord, You protect the principles of religion. In the age of Kali, however, You (as Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu playing the part of a devotee) remain hidden to the common people, and do not assert Yourself as the Supreme Personality of Godhead, and therefore You are known as Tri-yuga, or the Lord who appears in only three yugas."]

[Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 7.9.38]

The Yuga-Avatāra in Kali is in disguise. So some describe You by the name of tri-yuga, You appear in only three yugas, not Kali. But those that know that in disguise Kali-yuga comes, they only understand the fact, why this tri-yuga has been added in Your Name. Channaḥ kalau.

yajñaiḥ saṅkīrtana-prāyair yajanti hi sumedhasaḥ

And such group is worshipped by the special intellectual section. Intellectual means divinely intellectual. Sumedhasaḥ. Who has got good guidance. Su means good, sumedhasaḥ, the inner suggestion is good. They, are generally attracted by such affairs, that with the Name of the Supreme, and with guide in a group, taking the Name of Kṛṣṇa. And He's blue within, but by lustre He seems to be yellow. That Avatāra. Extraordinary personality, uncommon merit, that way He'll come, and just only in a very - riddle. What is riddle?

Devotees: Puzzle. Enigma.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Puzzle. In a puzzling way, describing in this way these things, the Bhāgavata comes out to chant the nobility, the greatness of that Avatāra. Dhyeyaṁ sadā paribhava-ghnam abhīṣṭa. And very sublime and grave way comes to praise Him, and sung in this śloka. Kali-yuga Avatāra. And traces that Who came as Rāmacandra, Who came as Kṛṣṇa, He's here. We're to look with that temperament.

Dhyeyaṁ sadā paribhava-ghnam abhīṣṭa-dohaṁ. The real fulfilment He has come to deliver to you. For you, He's drawing the sweetest juice from above. You meditate on Him only. Sadā paribhava-ghnam abhīṣṭa-dohaṁ. All your troubles will be finished there. Such juice He's drawing from upper world for you. Abhīṣṭa-dohaṁ.

Tīrthāspadaṁ. And He'll be the agent of supplying purity to all the tīrthas, by His touch, by His saṅkīrtana. By His drawing the highest things of fulfilment, and connect with all the holy places.

Śiva-viriñci-nutaṁ. And such hight type of things will come, take here, that even Śiva and Brahmā, they will also be puzzled to find the nature of His noble gift, and will begin to praise after Him. They will eagerly aspire to take shelter under His feet. Śaraṇyam.

Bhṛtyārti-haṁ. And all that will come to serve Him, their inner wants will be removed, satisfactorily. Bhṛtyārti-haṁ. Their praise, their inner necessity, that will be fulfilled.

Praṇata-pāla bhavābdhi-potaṁ. And who will come to take shelter under Him, submissive, totally submit to Him, they will be taken charge by Him. And they will be protected, given protection, and the supply in their life. Bhavābdhi-potaṁ. And in this position where the mortality coming and going, coming and going, this change undesirable, none wants to live in this area. A great ship will come for them and take them within the ship and take away from this unpleasant position. Bhavābdhi-potaṁ.

Vande mahā-puruṣa te caraṇāravindam. Let me fall at His feet, of this great personage, Who will come with such high nectar...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja:

tyaktvā su-dustyaja-surepsita-rājya-lakṣmīṁ [dharmiṣṭha arya-vacasā yad agād araṇyam māyā-mṛgaṁ dayitayepsitam anvadhāvad, vande mahā-puruṣa te caraṇāravindam]

["O Supreme Lord, You gave up the goddess of fortune and Her great opulence, which is most difficult to abandon, and is sought after even by the gods. In order to perfectly establish the principles of religion, You left for the forest to honour the brāhmaṇa's curse. To deliver the sinful souls who chase illusory pleasures, You search after them and award them Your devotional service. At the same time, You are engaged in search of Yourself, in search for Śrī Kṛṣṇa: Reality the Beautiful."]

[Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.5.34]

Viśvanātha Cakravartī has given, that generally it seems it applies to Rāmacandra. He left His kingdom and went with Sītā Devī to the forest to discharge religious duty, designed by His father.

But it is also true in the case of Mahāprabhu. Viśvanātha Cakravartī Ṭhākura has drawn the internal meanings and applied it in the case of Mahāprabhu. Tyaktvā su-dustyaja-surepsita-rājya-lakṣmīṁ. The imperial prosperity He left, su-dustyaja, which is hard to abandon. That generally we find this in the case of Rāmacandra.

But Cakravartī Ṭhākura says, surepsita-rājya-lakṣmīṁ. The valuable devotional company of Viṣṇu Priyā, rājya-lakṣmīṁ, not a materially big thing, but Viṣṇu Priyā's throne in her heart for Mahāprabhu, that is more than any imperial standard. He had to leave that. Surepsita-rājya-lakṣmīṁ. What standard of sacrifice in service is never found amongst the big society of the gods. That they had to go up and He left that, ignored, He had to ignore that sort of serving, loving attitude of Viṣṇu Priyā for the public welfare. Surepsita-rājya- lakṣmīṁ.

Dharmiṣṭha arya-vacasā yad agād araṇyam. Here He has taken one curse of a brāhmaṇa who told that, "What You do, all taste about Kṛṣṇa līlā, I want to participate, but doors are closed."

Mahāprabhu when He used to taste the Vraja līlā of Kṛṣṇa, did behind closed doors at deep night.

But a brāhmaṇa, he took only milk and nothing else, so he thought himself a very qualified religious standard person. "I must have entrance, I do not eat anything but only milk; why should I not be allowed?"

Mahāprabhu replied, "Milk drinking is no qualification for entering into Kṛṣṇa consciousness."

"Then I curse You. You will lose your family life!"

"Yes." Mahāprabhu took it. Arya-vacasā yad. Then He accepted that and took sannyāsa accepting the curse of the brāhmaṇa became sannyāsī. Arya-vacasā yad agād araṇyam.

Māyā-mṛgaṁ dayitayepsitam anvadhāvad. And He pursued, run after those māyā-mṛgaṁ, that are misguided by Māyā-Devī, He pursued that crowd. And at the same time, dayitayepsitam, what was in the very inner aspiration of His sweetheart Rādhārāṇī. Here Kṛṣṇa He took to the mood of Rādhārāṇī, epsitam, desirable of Rādhārāṇī, the deep searching for Kṛṣṇa's service, loving service. He practised in the mood of Rādhārāṇī the searching, how to search after Himself, Kṛṣṇa. For these two causes He left His worldly life, apparently. First for the welfare of the public, and the next twelve years only in the mood of Rādhārāṇī searching after His own inner sweetness, He played, showed to the world. This is the meaning of those two stanzas given just after mentioning Kali-yuga Avatāra then these stanzas given in Bhāgavatam.

Gaura Hari bol. Here I stop today.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...not concoction, not a false tale. A portion of the iron chain was converted into...

Gaura Hari bol! Gaura Hari bol! Gaura Hari bol!

...Rabindranath _____ [?], he wrote this poem in Bengali.

yad ana hari adan agadin sanatana keve sei vrindavana karan krsna nama [?]

...rather the brāhmaṇa approached and began such occasion, at last, ye dani hari adani mani ye mana hani takani magi ani nata sevi ata badi mani ye vrndavana [?]

Rabindranatha has taken a poem, from Bhakta-mālā, the incident is mentioned there in that book.

It is also mentioned, once Agbar went to visit Sanātana, and he had mind, "If they want I shall give some help to these scholarly sādhus. Those who do not want anything from the public, always engaged in the śāstric study and writing. Though they come from the royal family of Maharastra, brāhmaṇa royal family of Maharastra, but now their in self imposed poverty, and begging and cultivating scripture and writing books. If any money necessary."

We're told in Bhakta-mālā. He came to see that ārātrika, in the evening the ārātrika was going on, and from far away Agbar, with his own paraphernalia came to see the ārātrika. And found this guinea, the golden coins are being - like rain they're falling on all sides.

"What shall I give here? The opulence is there."

Akbar, and his grandson, Aurangzeb, he demolished the greater portion of the temple, Govinda Mandeer, and also polluted Madana-mohana and the Deity already removed, first to Karmavana, that Indian state, Bharatapur state. Karmavana in under the management of Bharatapur state, Dijart [?]. And there also some apprehension of being polluted, It was taken to Jaipur next under Mahārāja Amansing [?], that state. The Deities were removed. And that Deity is still remaining in Jaipur, Govindaji, that original Deity, Vigraha is in Jaipur. And next installation we find in Vṛndāvana.

Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Nitāi Gaura Hari.

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: Mahārāja, this is Bhugarva Goswāmī's Deity?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Bhugarva Goswāmī and Lokanātha, they were in, known as Rādhā-Vinoda or some...

Devotee: Rādhā-Vinoda.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Rādhāramaṇa, Gopāla-Bhaṭṭa. Rādhā-Vinoda, Lokanātha, and Bhugarva. And Govinda is Rūpa Goswāmī. Madan-mohan, Sanātana Goswāmī. And Madhu Paṇḍita was one, his Gopīnātha, Rādhā-Gopīnātha. Rādhā-Dāmodara by Jīva Goswāmī. And Śyāma-sundara by Śyāmānanda Prabhu. These are the old Deities that are installed by the old prophets. And [Raghunātha] Dāsa Goswāmī is Giridhari.

Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: Is Rādhā-Vinoda moved to Jaipur also?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes.

Aranya Mahārāja: What is the reason that the Deities have gone to Jaipur?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Apprehension of the attack from Aurangzeb, the grandson of Akbar. Jahangir, great grandson of Akbar. Akbar, Jahangir, Shah Jahan, Aurangzeb. Akbar, Jahangir then Shah Jahan, then Aurangzeb, fourth from Akbar. Akbar's father was Humayun, and his father was Babur who was the founder of Mughal Empire in India, that Babur. He was contemporary to Sandaram Singh, the grandfather of Patarb Singh who fought single-handed with Akbar, that great Mohammedan king in India. For twenty-five years continuous fighting, from a cottage. It may be told like that. He had no, not a place to keep his head, sometimes from under the trees, sometimes in the caves, sometimes in some other house of his subject. In this way he fought for twenty-five years, Patarb Singh. Hare Kṛṣṇa. And Man Singh and others they left him and joined Akbar. But still he was indomitable fighter. Continuous fight for twenty five years recklessly.

We're told in history that England and France they were in fighting mood for one hundred years. And we find in Markachandi [?], devasura maha yuddham pura madya satam pura [?]

A hundred years continuous fighting between the gods and the demons.

devasura maha yuddham pura madya satam pura, mayisay sura nama adi pi deva nama capa randhari [?]

The Mahiṣāsura was the leader of the demons, demonic party, and the other hand Indra Puranda, he was the leader of the god party. Fighting went on for one hundred years continuously.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari bol! Gaura Hari bol! Gaura Hari bol!

Nitāi Gaura Hari bol! Nitāi Gaura Hari bol! Nitāi Gaura Hari bol!

Devotee: Can you tell us something about the life of Narottama Dāsa Ṭhākura.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Narottama Ṭhākura, when Mahāprabhu went to Rāmakeli after sannyāsa, on His way to Vṛndāvana, it is told that the opposite side, there was a river nearby, just on the opposite side Mahāprabhu pronounced the word, "Narottama, Narottama, Narottama."

But the party could not understand. "Why He's taking the name of Narottama here?"

This is the first incident.

Then there was a big kāyastha zamīndār on what is known as Keturi just on the other side of the banks of Padma River, the big branch of this Ganges. And the small branch is this _____ [?] and the big branch goes by the name of Padma. And just on the other side of the Padma there was Keturi where there was a big zamīndār family. Narottama was a son, a kāyastha family, and Narottama was the son of his family, his elder brother was Kṛṣṇa Candra. Almost a big zamīndār, or small king, in this way there.

He was brought up naturally inclination towards Mahāprabhu and Kṛṣṇa, Rādhā-Govinda, Vṛndāvana, all this. He did not marry. From his young age he was given to this side. And gradually found his friend in Śrīnivāsa Ācārya, and afterwards Śyāmānanda. In his younger age it is told that he came to see Navadwīpa Dhāma, and the circumambulation of different parts of Navadwīpa, Narottama and Śrīnivāsa, they practically began.

Before this, Jīva Goswāmī was shown the different parts of Navadwīpa Dhāma by Nityanānda Prabhu. And the second attend we find that Īśan, who was the old servant of Mahāprabhu's house, he showed Narottama and Śrīnivāsa all the nine islands, pastimes of Mahāprabhu's place.

Then, going up and given to such life exclusively. Then he met Narottama and Śyāmānanda, lived there for some time, and Narottama Ṭhākura he tried hard and got initiation from Lokanātha Goswāmī.

Lokanātha Goswāmī's original house was in Bengal, Yaso District. He went to Vṛndāvaṇa and lived a life of a sannyāsī. And his speciality was this, that he did not like to mix with anybody. His apprehension was that to talk with a man, that means the break in the continuous memory of Kṛṣṇa, so he did not like to meet anybody. So much so, that he even did not store any water, a glass, any scanty water also, because if any guest comes and asks for some water he cannot deny, "that I won't give you any drinking water." So, his water pots were all empty. Ha, ha, ha. In such a strict way he used to keep up his continuous devotional life without any gap. And he did not like to accept anyone as his disciple, he was determined, won't mix with anybody.

But Narottama Ṭhākura anyhow when he found that, "I must have my initiation from this noble man please." But he knew that he has almost promised that, "I won't accept any disciple, what for?"

Śrīnivāsa Ācārya, he got initiation from Gopāl Bhaṭṭa. Śyāmānanda, he got initiation, there is a story behind, from Jīva Goswāmī, he gave. And Narottama's inclination towards Lokanātha Goswāmī. But how to get that? He tried to find out where in early morning he goes to pass his stools. Then he detected the place and began to cleanse that place in a fine way.

So after a few days it caught the attention of Lokanātha Goswāmī. "Who is cleansing this place? I come to pass stools in this place and who knows it and who comes and is cleansing this place, purifying?"

Then he detected one day and caught this Narottama. "Why you have come to do this without my permission on your own?"

Narottama fell flat, crying at his feet. "I want your blessings, your grace. Without that my life is useless. You please be kind on me. I am a wretched man and so and so, come from Bengal. You must be pleased with me in this way."

Lokanātha Goswāmī was defeated and at last he gave initiation to that single person Narottama. And Narottama, in his turn, he came and afterwards we are told that he inundated the whole of the Northern Bengal and the whole of Manipura came under his control, under his grace. He gave initiation right and left.

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: Northern Bengal?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Northern India, and specially Eastern, Assam and Manipura, wholesale Manipura, including the King of Manipura, all disciples of Narottama Ṭhākura.

It is similar, Gaura Kiśora Dāsa Goswāmī, he had no disciple. We're told our Guru Mahārāja is the single. But Guru Mahārāja preached and gave it to many, many, many thousands.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari bol! Gaura Hari bol! Nitāi Gaura Hari bol! Nitāi, Nitāi, Nitāi.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja is caught tight, eh?

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: Yes, he's editing.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: By special engagement.

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: ...to understand, say when the madhyama-adhikarī, or maybe even kaniṣṭha-adhikarī accepts disciples, śiṣyas, then to what degree is he responsible for the removal of the śiṣya's karma, or does he have to accept a certain portion? How is that understood?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: A man who begins business with a small capital, it is better that he should have connection with a higher capitalist, then he can go on well in his business.

Nitāi. Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa. As long as one is not wholesale established in Kṛṣṇa consciousness, he must have some connection with superior aim, then he'll be safe.

maya ye kuliya jaya saranaja jaya sadhu guru krpa vina madhuki rupai [?]

We're to fight face to face with māyā. It is very difficult to control māyā. Only with help from higher agency should be our last resource, resort. Mama māyā duratyayā mām eva ye prapadyante.

[daivī hy eṣā guṇamayī, mama māyā duratyayā / mām eva ye prapadyante, māyām etāṁ taranti te]

Only His connection can dread māyā. Daivī hy eṣā guṇamayī. It has got its backing from the higher quarter, this māyā. So individually if you attempt to cross the māyā, to keep her down, it is impossible. You must have some higher connection. And with the help of that connection māyā will withdraw when she will see that you have got backing of the higher potency, or higher state. Then she will withdraw, otherwise not. Individually you cannot fight and gain victory over māyā. It is not possible.

Daivī hy eṣā guṇamayī, mama māyā duratyayā. It is crossable, almost impossible to cross this illusion, illusory circle, play. Only when you're backed by proper angle of vision, then only it is possible. Otherwise you're within this conception and wherever you go you're within the boundary of māyā, little intense or less intense, but it is māyā. But whenever you really come in touch of the plane above māyā, from there, you can fight against māyā and māyā will withdraw. Daivī hy eṣā guṇamayī, mama māyā duratyayā. Individual attempt is almost to meet failure, duratyayā.

Mām eva ye prapadyante. "When you surrender to Me. Māyām etāṁ taranti te. "Who will surrender to Me, and you'll be insured of My help, then you'll be able to cross māyā."

Beyond māyā, some shelter beyond māyā from where you'll fight. A little space is necessary from where he will begin and continue his fight. So positive attainment, so sādhu, śāstra, help comes from above. And our attitude to accept that help on our part is necessary, from the inner plane of our heart we want to go out of māyā. Local interest, māyā means local interest. It is very difficult to get out of local interest. Proper universal interest, what it is, we do not know at all, no conception of universal interest clear to us at present. Local, that is extended, more extended, more extended, but it is all extended, local. In that way, āroha-panthā, in the empirical method, to get out of the local conception is impossible.

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: Mahārāja. It's apparent and seems very clear that some persons who accept the śiṣya, who maybe perhaps are not ready, or they might even be ready, they have to undergo some physical difficulty or suffering because of accepting those disciples. What is the cause? That is because of karma isn't it?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I don't follow you. Some of lower level is seen to accept disciples?

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But they are?

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: Afterwards there is some physical difficulties...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Physical difficulties are not to be considered.

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: Not to be considered?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Physical difficulties not to be considered. And physical success is also not to be considered of much value. The large number of śiṣya, so the Guru will be greater, ha, no position there.

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: No, I mean like, for example, a person accepts many, like my Guru Mahārāja he said, "I'm suffering some physical difficulty because of the pāpas of my śiṣyas. The sins of my disciples are causing me this suffering." So how is that explained? _____ [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: _____ [?]

Voluntarily he has accepted the responsibility of spiritual life of so many. But he's finding that their improvement is not satisfactory, so some disturbance at his heart.

"I have taken their charge, but I'm not able to give them desirable improvement in the spiritual life."

So that is good symptom, para-duḥkha dukhī, the Vaiṣṇava, they have not got their own trouble, but they're troubled for others. Sanātana Goswāmī, his praṇāma mantra, [Ragunātha] Dāsa Goswāmī writes, vairāgya-yug bhakti-rasaṁ prayatnair, apāyayam mām anabhipsum andham

kṛpāmbudhir yaḥ para-duḥkha-dukhī, [sanātanaṁ taṁ prabhum āśrayāmi]

["I surrender unto Śrī Sanātana Goswāmī, the Ācārya of sambandha-jñāna. He is an ocean of mercy and is always unhappy to see the sufferings of others. Although I was blind, in the darkness of ignorance, he gave me the light of transcendental knowledge. He taught me the real meaning of detachment and made me drink the highest nectarine rasa of divine love."] [Vilāpa-kuṣumāñjali, 6]

He has not got his own misery, mental trouble. But their mental trouble is this, that they see the pain of the others and that is difficult to tolerate. Para-duḥkha-dukhī. Sympathetic to the misery of others. This is a qualification of the Vaiṣṇava who lives in madhyama-adhikāra. They've got no trouble of their own, but they're troubled by the pain of others, that they cannot ignore, from madhyama-adhikāra.

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: So that is not karma from the śiṣya?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Not, yes, karma śiṣya, and he will have to assimilated, to digest some responsibility of the bad activity, undesirable activity of the śiṣya. He has got some responsibility to manage by instruction. "You do this, you do this."

When a doctor has accepted a patient, and the patient is under pain, the doctor feels some trouble in his mind. "I have taken the charge of this patient and I can't remove his difficulty."

Something, voluntary responsibility.

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: But it's not, um _____ [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: There is different types, of different stages. Some begins thoroughly on behalf of the high. "I have no responsibility, as much as I can I'm doing." Does not take so much responsibility. "The responsibility is above. I'm doing my duty." With this openness of mind he may treat his disciples. Rather, "If He wills it will be good any moment."

Free doctor, and family doctor. Family doctor cannot shake off the responsibility. And a doctor from outside he may say, "If you like you can engage another doctor." Not so much earnest for the patient. "I'm not perfect. I cannot make him pure immediately. It is His will. I can give my quota."

From the beginning with this attitude he may approach the patient, the disciple. The question of attitude, how much responsibility is taken. Hare Kṛṣṇa. A particular case of different type.

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: So according to the Guru's degree of acceptance, accordingly there will be a different type of suffering, or different degrees of suffering?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is also, how much committed, that much reaction. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: Mahārāja. What about the attachment which develops between the Guru and the disciple? He becomes attached to the disciple in the sense he wants the disciple to be freed or liberated, he wants the disciple to advance. So there is some attachment, not physical...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That depends on the stages of realisation of the disciple. Exclusive devotion must come from a disciple towards Guru. Yathā deve tathā gurau.

yasya deve parā bhaktir, yathā deve tathā gurau / tasyaite kathitā hy arthāḥ, prakāśante mahātmanaḥ

["The key to success in spiritual life is unflinching devotion to both the spiritual master and Kṛṣṇa. To those great souls who have full faith in both Kṛṣṇa and the spiritual master, the inner meaning of the scriptures is fully revealed."] [Śvetāśvatara-Upaniṣad, 6.23]

His representative. I'm in search after divinity, and wherever I find the connection I must try to concentrate all my energy towards that centre. And that is the key to success, because the other party is all conscious. According to my attention the response will come to such degree.

Everywhere there is centre, nowhere circumference. In every point there may be centre. To Prahlāda, everywhere there is centre.

"Is your God in this pillar?"

"Yes. He's here."

And when demolished He came out.

83.04.23.A_83.04.24.A

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...He puts His foot step after step. And the Vṛndāvana, the plane, is feeling the ecstasy, the joy of ramana sukha, vṛndāranyaṁ sva-pada-ramanaṁ.

[barhāpīḍaṁ naṭa-bara-vapuḥ karnayoḥ karnikāraṁ bibrad vāsaḥ kanaka-kapiśam vaijayantīn ca mālām randhrān venoradhara-sudhayā purayan gopavṛndair vṛndāranyaṁ sva-pada-ramanaṁ prāviśad gīta-kīrtiḥ]

["While the gopīs were describing the sweet vibration of Kṛṣṇa's flute, they also remembered their pastimes with Him; thus their minds became enchanted, and they were unable to describe completely the beautiful vibrations. While discussing the transcendental vibration, they remembered also how Kṛṣṇa dressed, decorated with a peacock feather on His head, just like a dancing actor, and with blue flowers pushed over His ear. His garment glowed yellow-gold, and He was garlanded with a vaijayantī garland made of tulasī, kuṇḍa, mandāra, parījāta, and lotus flowers. Dressed in such an attractive way, Kṛṣṇa filled up the holes of His flute with the nectar emanating from His lips. So they remembered Him, entering the forest of Vṛndāvana, whose soil experiences the pleasure of consorthood upon being embraced by the touch of Kṛṣṇa's lotus feet."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.21.5]

The highest form of ecstasy which we find, by the touch of the foot of Śrī Kṛṣṇa, the land is feeling fulfilled in it's satisfaction of heart, as if he has got so much pleasure, joy, happiness, forgets himself. So every touch is like that.

Opulence, no want, and no calculation, desirable things very ample. Infinite. All accommodating. We're told of that goal of our life. So first thing we must have to leave the, however it may be, the charm for this gross world, and must be ready to make journey towards that. And the second, there are so many proposals from so many religious conceptions. After this in eternal life you get this kind of heaven, this kind of heaven, that these things will be allowed you, for your good livelihood. And there is a comparison, and in that comparison we shall have to select that Kṛṣṇa conception, the Vṛndāvana conception.

That is the supreme most, that is the duty of ISKCON to prove to the world. The Supreme most destination and fulfilment of life is only to be found in Vṛndāvana. It is unparalleled. You're to understand this and make your journey towards that without caring for any loss or gain in this plane of our life. This is what ISKCON wants to say, Swāmī Mahārāja wanted to say, and Mahāprabhu wanted to say. Śrīmad- Bhāgavatam, the last treatise of Vyāsadeva wanted to say.

The land of divine love, we're inhabitant of the land of divine love. Highest fulfilment of life we can only have there. So, all of you who want to help your own self, sincerely, necessarily you'll have to come to hear us. We're trying our best to make you all understand that the Kṛṣṇa conception of Godhead, that is the highest attainment of all existence, what so ever.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari.
Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol.
Are you in the service or business?
Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari.

Hearing from me, but are you able to gather something? To get something?

Devotee: A lot.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Much. Of course it is admirable, because my lecture is generally very steep.

Devotee: Of high type.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. You are attracted by what aspect of Kṛṣṇa Consciousness? ISKCON. You have joined ISKCON attracted by what aspect of it's preaching? Can you say? Kṛṣṇa consciousness. But it was in Gujarat, the Vallabhi sampradāya _____ [?] They also deal with Kṛṣṇa consciousness. But it is up to date, and that is in old fashion. Kṛṣṇa consciousness was known to India before ISKCON. But from ISKCON, you have got the up to date nature of preaching. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari bol. Are you satisfied with your present life? What you have understood, how to continue the life? What sort of life we live. First vegetarian, then next, that Kṛṣṇa is the only Supreme Lord, all are subordinate. Then how to attain Him.

Devotee: Chant sixteen rounds.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Taking through the sound divine and how one should take the name. The name Vaikuṇṭha, the name divine, and the name mundane. The ten offences, avoiding that. What is the nature of the divine name taking? Sevonmukhe, serving, with serving attitude. That is the very life of spiritual existence, serving. Here, we're filled up fully with the energy of exploitation. Without exploitation we cannot maintain our existence here.

["Those who are devoid of hands are prey for those who have hands; those devoid of legs are prey for the four-legged. The weak are the subsistence of the strong, and the general rule holds that one living being is food for another."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.13.47]

The handed animal they're living on the flesh of non handed. Ahastāni sahastānāṁ, apadāni catuṣpadām. And the four legged animals they're living on the non legged animals. And the big is devouring the small. So a man's living means lākhs of animals he's devouring, using as his food. Either vegetable or non vegetable. So without exploitation none can live here. And exploitation means it has its reaction. To every action there is equal and opposite reaction. We're disturbing the existence of the environment to maintain this body, mind, and the reaction must come to me. I shall have to go down, and they will come to exploit me.

[mām upetya tu kaunteya, punar janma na vidyate]

[Bhagavad-gītā, 8.16]

So going up and down, up and down. How to get out of the tendency of this exploitation?

By renunciation, Śaṅkara, Buddha, they say about, recommend about renunciation, wholesale renunciation. And thereby the soul is reduced to some zero, as we are in our deep sleep. In deep sleep we have no existence, we don't feel anything of our existence. They say here is the limit of life. We can meet successfully a life of exploitation only with the life of renunciation.

But the third school, Vaiṣṇava, they say no, renunciation is no solution, real solution is in service. We are, our soul is real unit of service. And the mind has come to become a member of the world of exploitation. The mind, this ego, must be dissolved, and the inner soul we shall be able to find, through help of the saints, that there is the seed of serving unit. That wherever we shall be, we shall not exploit, but we shall render services. It is possible in the plane of soul and that is service as duty, considered as duty, we shall be in Vaikuṇṭha, in the Nārāyaṇa-loka hemisphere, lower half.

And the full globe, Goloka means solid circle. In the fullest conception of the Absolute existence, there the loving service. All unit, serving unit, different gradation. And their remuneration is also according to that, but all serving unit, and there spontaneous, automatic service. Everyone is depositing money in the bank but no cheque, to take money from the bank. All directed towards Kṛṣṇa, but without any expectation from Him. So automatically they get the remuneration that their tendency to serve is gradually improved. Service and the reaction, improvement of serving nature. In this way it is going on there. Our loving service, sacrifice for the environment, and the centre is Kṛṣṇa, Reality the Beautiful. Satyam śivam sundaram. The truth. Then it is above mortality, śivam, but to enjoy and then, sundaram, all capturing sweetness, harmony.

In a nutshell this is so, and Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam announces this truth. The last book of Vedavyāsa who has given all different types of religious conceptions in India, and Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu has given that in toto. Come and take through the sound cultivation. Vaikuṇṭha Nama, but the Name must be Vaikuṇṭha, must be infinite character, otherwise only the sound has no value. A homoeopathic globule, it must be judged with the potency, and not the figure outside. So the Name Kṛṣṇa that must be surcharged with real spirit within, and not the sound only, which can be produced by the lips, and by a machine also. The sound, there must be present the very gist, the very life. So it is necessary to take it from Gurudeva. Otherwise we can hear from here, there, and everywhere, Kṛṣṇa, Kṛṣṇa, what is the necessity of hearing it from Gurudeva? Because that sound is surcharged with some particular potency which is in the consciousness of Śrī Gurudeva, in heart of Śrī Gurudeva. And we're to cultivate that, and that will sprout and fulfil my demand of all my heart.

In this way the sound cultivation, the name, the sound, nāmākṣara, the physical aspect of the sound, and the internal gist of the sound, which is represented in the sound, this is māyā, which the ear can grasp. But our heart, the śrāddha, the soul can grasp. Souls food must be there, not only ears food, some music, or some harsh words, Kṛṣṇa, not that. It is within and that must be developed by our serving attitude, in connection with a proper saint whose soul influence may come, enter into my heart, and rouse my soul consciousness to that type, which is fit for that type.

This is underlying this Nāma bhajan, Nāma saṅkīrtana in Kali-yuga especially, congregational, offensive for offensive. From different forces from the environment, from the four walls are coming to influence me, but I create saṅkīrtana, that will attack the force of the environment. Congregational chanting to attack, offensive for offensive. Go on with loud sound of the Lord, otherwise all things may be stopped. This will bring the best benefit for us all.

These industrial things, research laboratory, all these things, these things, mundane body, the whole world will be crushed and vanish in the infinite one day. So this civilisation and it's paraphernalia, all not only useless, but it is harmful, for every soul. It is not fruitful or distributing welfare for any perception. All māyā. The whole world, the whole universe will vanish. The scientists also admit that. Again it may come, again it may go. This is pralaya and sisti, it is going continuous. And the soul is eternal factor within us, and we're there. Our proper self is there in the soul, not in the mind which also changes, the body also changes, but soul is eternal factor. And there is another eternal plane where the soul is really a member of that plane.

Anyhow, misguided, we have come here, fallen souls. Fallen means, who has come to search for their specific pleasure, satisfaction. Either pleasure for his own, or for a particular group, extended selfishness. Country lover, or society lover, or nation lover, that is all for extended selfishness. All these things must be left and we merge in the soul's original harmony. For that the whole energy, because only in human form is it possible to do something. But if I die, next moment I may be posted somewhere else, where I may not have any connection with the Kṛṣṇa consciousness. I may be a tree, I may be a beast, I may be an insect. It is not sure that after this human life, where I shall be posted, it's uncertain. So this human life as long as I live, I must try to utilise to it's best, without caring for any other interest.

ahaṁ tvāṁ sarva-pāpebhyo, mokṣayiṣyāmi mā śucaḥ

["Totally abandoning all kinds of religion, surrender exclusively unto Me. I will liberate you from all kinds of sins, so do not despair."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 18.66]

That clarion call. "Give up everything. You are wholesale Mine. You come to Me. I shall look after you."

Bāl Gaṅgādhar Tilak, he has written in his commentary, in this śloka, there the last, "The Lord has served nectar on a golden plate."

"Wherever you are posted it does not matter, you immediately leave your duty and join Me. I shall look after you."

Devotee: How can we surrender to Kṛṣṇa?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is possible only with the help of scripture, especially living scripture, that is living sādhu, saint, agent, who can guide me well to that. So Guru means that divine agent, where we can place our confidence that he will guide us there, safely, that is Guru. It is not a fashion, but a necessary demand of the craving soul. Craving soul's first demand is Gurudeva, the guide who will take me there. For so many things to disturb me of different types, they will try, "Oh come to me, come to me, come to me." So many things in the world of experience. But avoiding all, to follow him. And of course by judging, not blind following, but conscious following. Dismissing everything by judging, this is bad, this is bad. And faith will develop and he will know his own, the soil of it's own nature, intuitively. Without calculation there is intuition, which even defeats the human calculation. So many animals and birds are there, that they can understand which the human scientific brain cannot do. That intuitive knowledge, that will help him, faith.

[pārtha naiveha nāmutra, vināśas tasya vidyate]

one, because a person who performs virtuous actions never becomes ill-fated."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 6.40]

Those that are well meaning, wants to, 'God helps those that help themselves,' who are sincere, want to help him, from that side, that is not a dead matter, all conscious, all knowing, omniscient. Help will come from that side to guide us.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Gaura prabhu prema vilasa bhaumo niskincana bhaktivinoda nama [?] Kovistito bhakti kutira na kustir sutradi _____ [?]

Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura constructed a small building in Purī _____ [?] and the name was given bhakti kuṭīra. Perhaps that ISKCON has taken - there a marble tablet fixed in the wall, on the front of that mandeer. The śloka composed by Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura about his home.

Gaura prabhu prema vilasa bhaumo [?] This is the place where Mahāprabhu showed His pastimes of Divine love. This is the land where for a long time Mahāprabhu displayed Himself here, union in separation with Kṛṣṇa, inundated this place, with that śloka.

Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura tried his best for this. One day he went to the shores of the sea and began to roll there. "Oh my Lord, none will come to respond to my appeal. _____ [?]
All in deaf ears. So I have failed in my attempt to try to get the people to take Your Name. Now I find that now please order me, the rest of my life I shall pass only taking Your Holy Name. Please give me such order."

_____ [?] The golden sand bed, rolling, he told like this, sincerely. Generally when the time comes to get away from this world, for the great men, they at last find such disappointment. "I feel that what I wanted to do, I could not do. Now nearly my duties finished, please take me up, recall me."

Badrinārāyaṇa: Did he go to Kurukṣetra after that Mahārāja, Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura? After Jagannātha Purī, he went to Kurukṣetra?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Last he went to Vṛndāvana, and Kurukṣetra also. And coming from Kurukṣetra, we heard from Guru Mahārāja, he stressed his opinion.

"That, I thought that I should live in my later days in Vṛndāvana. But now I find that Kuruksetra is the highest place. Because the degree of separation is very high there. There is Kṛṣṇa, there is the gopīs, getting, they have got, but they can't meet, and get, so separation in the highest intense degree."

Vision is there with both parties there but still they can't mix, they cannot give and take. So at that time, the āśraya vigraha, the serving party, for long time they're in separation, they're eager to serve, and the object of their service is also at the front, but still they're not getting the chance to serve. The highest separation feeling is there. And when the āśraya vigraha, the higher servitors, they're in that position, the greatest pangs they're feeling, at that time their service is most. Do you follow?

At the time of war the contractors they can make much money. According to the necessity, dire necessity. Thy necessity is greater than mine. That Sidney, he has become immortal, because in the war-field the dearth of water, no water available. Mostly the wounded soldiers are complaining they're thirsty, but anyhow one glass of water came for Sidney. He was a volunteer soldier, and he was a big scholar. He wanted soldier, the wounded, one glass anyhow came to him, and another soldier, side by, "I want water."

He patiently handed over the water towards him, "Thy necessity is greater than mine. Your wound is greater, blood passing from you, you take." The value of water, price of water according to the degree of necessity.

So at that time Rādhārāṇī and other gopīs, They're at the highest condition of separation pangs.

"There is our Lord, and we can't approach Him, for long aspired service, we can't."

That the zenith of their aim of separation, but that need, we shall try to ease there, thereby we shall be given to gain. In short time we shall gain very much by their benediction. The least service at that time will fetch the greatest remuneration from our masters. If we can serve them, anyhow we can, or supply any water or anything, any service. So Kurukṣetra is the place of highest vipralambha, separation. There we must, at the time of Their need, we must go to serve there.

"So Kurukṣetra I have selected, and I shall construct a cottage in Kurukṣetra near that great place and I shall pass my days there."

But Mahāprabhu's will was otherwise, when he was about to start that side.

"Oh where are you going? My birthplace is unknown, and you're to discover them, you're to discover the service, you're to do. So you must not go to Vṛndāvana, or Kurukṣetra. You must remain here and discover My birthplace with the devotees. You do that."

He retired, again he took the service, in Kṛṣṇanaga. _____ [?] Kṛṣṇanaga he took again, entered into the service and began to investigate the old documents, maps, other papers, and consult the old books, how it has been related about the place. In this way he tried to find. And also he got some vision, he aspired after some vision, some mysterious vision where it was at that time. And two types, Navadwīpa side, and from Godrum, from the books he could trace, suddenly light, and there the saṅkīrtana going on. Next morning he went there and tried to find location under some palm tree, in a vision he traced...

Badrināràyaṇa: Did Jagannātha Dāsa Bābājī - he helped...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Jagannātha Dāsa Bābājī, he was too much old, and one Behari Dāsa Bābājī he carried Jagannātha Dāsa Bābājī in a basket. He went to see the place of Mahāprabhu's advent, and suddenly he went, "Oh, just get me down." And he told, "Here you begin to dig." The Kāzī came and broke the mṛdaṅga and that was here. So we're told that that place was dug, and the pieces of mṛdaṅga, broken parts, were found there, that was nearby Śrīvāsa Aṅgan.

Devotee: And that Lal Bahadur Shastri, the prime minister, Swāmī Mahārāja he gave him one Śrīmad- Bhāgavatam, his translation, and he very much appreciated.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He was a religious minded man, so called, a follower of Gandhi. He was a very strict man. One yogī he used to mix with Indira Gandhi, and taking the advantage of that he used to do much to, he should not go to try to influence the government, different departments, because he considered himself to be a favourite of Indira. And Indira she _____ [?]

And he resentfully did not care to pay the rent, and none could approach to him to collect the rent, for that. I asked him to vacate that house but he willingly he did not. And he ordered, take all his things and throw them on the street, that was done. Then that yogī, what is his name? That yogī was forced to give something, a very strict man, Lal Bahadur.

...different forms of āsanas, and so many things.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol.

Anyhow Indira Gandhi supports to certain extent, different religious conceptions and encouraged them very much.

The communists, they're dead against any conception of religion. Death of Indian civilisation and culture. They want to convert the Indian culture into Russian atheistic conception, most deplorable life. There not even the jurisdiction of senses, physical senses, nothing beyond. And wants to be, that are forcing, to push this populace opinion to anyone and everyone, injection, trying to, hopeless, the poorest conception of or humanising [?] of ideal. Poor in culture, the poorest. [???]

Plain living, high thinking, generally this is recommended to the simple folk. Plain living and high thinking is there, humanity is there, rationality is there.

Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol.

Devotee: Nimāi Prabhu was telling us that the communists, some of them liked Caitanya. But they only liked Caitanya because they think that He was a revolutionary also.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The first revolution, that was found here in India, especially Bengal, was started by Caitanya, revolution. And also civil disobedience, to the Kāzī.

The government representative, he announced that, "No saṅkīrtana will be held here. This is my ruling."

But Māhaprabhu did not care for that. He organised a big saṅkīrtana party and conducted it to the quarter of Kāzī. With this civil disobedience to the government order. That was first started by Caitanya, and revolutionary in every way.

The brāhmaṅas, they're very much particular about the caste distinction. But Māhaprabhu did not care for that. Any caste may be, even outside Hindu, even Muslims, if they come prepared with sincere regard for Kṛṣṇa, they should be taken in. Whereas so called brāhmaṅas, if they do not have proper conception of Kṛṣṇa consciousness, they must be left.

And social construction also revolutionary was inaugurated by Caitanya Deva, and in political field also. He first started this civil disobedience, without any weapon, to go against the order of the government. For these two things, they say regarding Caitanya, He's the father of all revolution. First revolution and civil disobedience to the government order.

So I _____ [?] "And we don't like His Kṛṣṇa consciousness."

Badrinārāyaṇa: They can't understand that.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: "Can't understand that." That is a mild statement. "We want to uproot it. That was His malady, madness. We can't accommodate it."

[14:35 - 15:00 ?]

Devotee: [Reading from Śrīla Prabhupāda-līlāmṛta, Volume 1, page 67] "Anyone who wants to, may remain, otherwise they may go Śrī Śeṣaśāyī Viṣṇu."

Devotee: [Reading from Śrīla Prabhupāda-līlāmṛta, Volume 1, page 65] "Abhay arrived in Mathurā by train from Allahabad and approached Kosi by rikshaw. The countryside was full of charm for Abhay. Instead of factories and large buildings there were mostly forests, and aside from the main paved road on which he travelled there were only dirt roads and soft sandy lanes. As a Vaiṣṇava, Abhay felt sensations an ordinary man could not. Now and then he sighted a peacock in the trees _____ [?]

Bhaktisiddhānta Saraswatī Ṭhākura stayed in the evening for the last time and would be leading the parikramā party the next day. So there was the choice of going on the parikramā staying for few lectures of Śrīla Prabhupāda.

Śrīla Prabhupāda (Bhaktivedānta Swāmī). So I met them in Kosi. And Keśava Mahārāja was informing that Śrīla Bhaktisiddhānta is going to Mathurā tomorrow morning and he will speak Hari kathā. Please remain." _____ [?] Not that time Keśava Mahārāja, but at that time he was Vinod Babu.

Devotee: Yes, but Prabhupāda, Bhaktivedānta Swāmī, he's saying this sixty years later. He's saying at that time Keśava Mahārāja, because this time, by now he's no longer Vinod Babu, now he's Keśava Mahārāja.

Just like if you said, "When he was three years old Śrīdhāra Mahārāja ate a mango." But when he was three years old he wasn't Śrīdhāra Mahārāja.

Just like if you say, "When my mother was five." When your mother was five she was not a mother, but you will say when my mother was five.

He's saying that Keśava Mahārāja, here at the time of parikramā he was not Keśava Mahārāja but Vinod Bābū. So how is it that he's saying here that during the parikramā Keśava Mahārāja said something?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Not accurate representation.

Devotee: But I'm saying that it's like if I say...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: It's like they say Abhay Caran, and it's said that Prabhupāda, or Swāmī Mahārāja. In one side he's taking the previous course, and another side the present.

Devotee: I was saying that if I say when my mother was five, so she's my mother, I give some respect, I'm calling her my mother, but when she was five years old...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: My mother before her marriage, I may say. It is clear my mother before her marriage if she was reading in that school.

Devotee: Yes. Right. But at that time...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: She was not mother. That must be expressive. There's the possibility of misconception.

Devotee: Yes, possibility of misconception.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: When Prabhupāda [Śrīla Bhaktisiddhānta Saraswatī Ṭhākura] was here, Keśava Mahārāja did not take sannyāsa. During his presence, Keśava Mahārāja did not take sannyāsa.

Devotee: Yes. So it is out of context.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So it is creating complex, perplexing.

Devotee: Yes. Misunderstanding.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: When Prabhupāda was living but the whole time Keśava Mahārāja was Vinoda Bābū. After Prabhupāda's disappearance, after three or four years, after his disappearance he took sannyāsa from me and then he became Keśava Mahārāja. So it is misleading.

Devotee: Misleading representation.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And at the same time he's representing his Gurudeva in his previous name. That is also less quoted. Our Guru Mahārāja in his previous life, to represent that. My mother as you say, while in the distant, my mother in her youth she did like that. My Gurudeva in his previous life did like that, he did this. Your example will come to this standard, my mother, my Gurudeva, you are to represent in that point previously. In the place of his Gurudeva he's giving, making this in his previous life. And another at the same time he's representing Keśava Mahārāja.

Devotee: Yes. So that is contradiction.

Devotee: [Reading] "He found that Śrīla Bhaktisiddhānta is going to Mathurā..."

[22:10 - 22:30 ?]

Devotee: So, I have one question. When we're making a book, when we're editing one book, when we refer, at the time when we are writing one book, sometimes a reference is made to Bhaktisiddhānta...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: _____ [?] Sometimes we use present tense, sometimes past tense...

Devotee: Yes. But my question is that sometimes you will say Śrīla Prabhupāda, you refer to Bhaktisiddhānta as Śrīla Prabhupāda. But if we write Śrīla Prabhupāda in our book the American devotees they're thinking that this Śrīla Prabhupāda is Bhaktivedānta Swāmī. So this creates confusion. So we want to know how we should represent Bhaktisiddhānta?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So, all the disciples of Bhaktisiddhānta Ṭhākura, they gave some opposition to this custom. Because our Guru Mahārāja he gave respect to Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura, no name to bhakti - if anyone was in the name of Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura, he ignored him. He could not tolerate that Bhaktivinoda may be title of any other. He was so particular about his own Gurudeva. So all the descendants of Bhaktisiddhānta Ṭhākura, they wanted that Prabhupāda, this name, should be reserved for Guru Mahārāja.

As you do. Jayatīrtha, Bhāvānanda, they do not take the name of Prabhupāda. Why? For special respect to their Guru, his Prabhupāda means Abhay Caran is Prabhupāda and no other Ācārya. And their disciple also won't call them by that name. Jayatīrtha's disciples won't say Jayatīrtha as Prabhupāda. So Prabhupāda is located. We must take it in our case also. And all the disciples of Prabhupāda have taken that course, that Prabhupāda is reserved for our Guru Mahārāja. Our disciple won't say Prabhupāda is me. Do you follow?

Devotee: Yes. I follow.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So that is not accepted in your case. Prabhupāda Bhaktisiddhānta and then his disciple Prabhupāda Bhaktivedānta. There is anomaly. And you can trace in yourself because you cannot allow to say the disciples of Jayatīrtha and Bhāvānanda, to their Guru as Prabhupāda. Do you understand?

Devotee: Yes. I understand.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In your case you give the respect, but in the case of your Guru's Guru, you fail to give respect, that aspect, what is given by all other disciples of Bhaktisiddhānta Ṭhākura, follow?

Devotee: Yes. But my question was a little different. The question was that we know...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But I did not give any objection because Prabhupāda generally used in the name of everyone's Guru. Here also amongst the Goswāmī's, Abhan? Kṛṣṇa Prabhupāda, Pran Gopāl Prabhupāda, that is also used. So anyone who is Guru, he may say Prabhupada, it is general. But that is particular sentiment, as we found in our Gurudeva he could not tolerate the name of Bhaktivinoda to any, our Guru Mahārāja. Because Bhaktivinoda was the title of Kedāranātha, Saccitānanda, after bābājī veśa Saccitānanda Bhaktivinoda. But Prabhupāda did not, could not, tolerate that this name Bhaktivinoda should be given to any other. Bhaktivinoda is Bhaktivinoda, he's unique, absolute.

Devotee: But the question was a little different. See, on the tapes when you say Śrīla Prabhupāda, you mean Bhaktisiddhānta.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Saraswatī Ṭhākura.

Devotee: But if we publish in one book Śrīla Prabhupāda, all the ISKCON men who read the book, they will think. 'Oh, Bhaktivedānta Swāmī.' So when you say on the tape 'Śrīla Prabhupāda,' sometimes we have to change that to say Bhaktisiddhānta Prabhupāda, or Bhaktisiddhānta Saraswatī, or Bhaktisiddhānta Saraswatī Ṭhākura. So we were wondering what would be the correct representation? Shall we always say Bhaktisiddhānta Saraswatī Ṭhākura, or Bhaktisiddhānta Saraswatī? What will be the best way to represent that? That was my question?

Devotee: You also use and give the name Prabhupāda (Bhaktisiddhānta) in brackets.

Devotee: [Reading] "So at that time I think only ten or twelve men remained. Śrīdhara Mahārāja was one of them. And I thought it wise. What can I see at this Śeṣaśāyī? - Mathurā tomorrow morning and he will speak Hari kathā this evening. Anyone who wants to, may remain, or otherwise they may go to see Śeṣaśāyī Viṣṇu. So at that time I think only ten or twelve men remained. Śrīdhara Mahārāja was one of them."

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [30:00 - 31:22 ?]

Devotee: [Reading] "And I thought it wise. What can I see at this Śeṣaśāyī? Let me hear what words Śrīla Bhaktisiddhānta Saraswatī will speak. Let me hear."

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Devotee: But sometimes we will write 'Śrīla Bhaktisiddhānta,' but no 'Saraswatī Ṭhākura.' Is that all right? Or is that disrespectful to just say 'Śrīla Bhaktisiddhānta' without full name?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: It is honourable that we should take their name with honour. But sometimes we say 'Kṛṣṇa, You,' without 'Śrī Kṛṣṇa, You,' not giving much respect to Kṛṣṇa, so near. Thou, not even with respect, you means honourable, but tuiy [?] just as we say to the friend. In this way we mix familiarly. Sometimes we address the highest Lord Himself, that is a stage of faith of the devotees heart. Sometimes we find that he finds his Lord's so near, we don't like to give any honour. To give in honourable way, that means to send Him far. And very near like a friend, we sometimes take Him. But that is another mood.

And you, in English...

Devotee: What is the difference?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Thou.

Devotee: Thou is more respectful, more honourable _____ [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Thou and Thy is more honourable than You and Your?

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But we're told just the opposite. Of course about God we sometimes use thou. But thou, when to a child, to a child, that ordinary man, a big man will address you or thou?

Devotee: Thou is not used in English any more. Sometimes, very rare.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Previously when it was in use, what was the meaning? Respectable or lower?

Devotee: I think it was respectable.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: We are told that this is non respectable, but about God also, sometimes it has been used, Thou. Here also about Kṛṣṇa, the most respectable way of taking His Name, and very familiar way of taking His Name, Kṛṣṇa, sometimes tuiy [?] not respectable.

(1) mānasa, deho, geho, jo kichu mor / arpilū tuwā pade, nanda-kiśor!
(2) sampade vipade, jīvane-maraṇe / dāy mama gelā, tuwā o-pada baraṇe
(3) mārobi rākhobi - jo icchā tohārā / niṭya-dāsa prati tuwā adhikārā
(4) janmāobi moe icchā jadi tor / bhakta-gṛhe jani janma hau mor

(1) Mind, body, and family, whatever may be mine, I have surrendered at Your lotus feet, O youthful Son of Nanda!
(2) In good fortune or in bad, in life or at death, all my difficulties have disappeared by choosing those feet of Yours as my only shelter.
(3) Slay me or protect me as You wish, for You are the Master of Your eternal servant.
(4) If it is Your will that I be born again, then may it be in the home of Your devotee.
[From Śrīla Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura's Śaraṇāgati]

Tor, that is negligible way of address, contemptible, tor. That is used towards the lower section, tor. But a devotee is using that in very familiar way.

"You are very near to me, I can address You in any way I like, You are so near. The honour cannot give You any greater estimate. What sort of honour I have to give You? What words have I got?"

And the simple way, ādivāsīs, they always use that neglected language. The corresponding sentiment, that is to be considered of value, not the word always. The meaning of the word and the sentiment through the word, that is most important. Still we have got a form, a fashion, of taking the Name of the Supreme.

Devotee: [Reading, p 72] "Swāmī Mahārāja Prabhupāda wrote, "My wife was a devotee of Kṛṣṇa, but she had some other idea. Her idea was just to worship the Deity at home and live peacefully. My idea was preaching."

Devotee: [Reading, p 56] "Atulānanda told me how in 1925 Śrīla Bhaktisiddhānta Saraswatī had led a big procession circumambulating the holy land of Navadwīpa."

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: _____ [?]

Devotee: [Reading, p 56-7-8] "Deities riding on the backs of elephants, decorated elephants and with devotees from all parts of India attending. Professional priests who of course Śrīla Bhaktisiddhānta accepted some disciples to help them _____ [?]

...bricks and rocks on the procession. But Śrīla Bhaktisiddhānta had continued undaunted. 1926 he had toured throughout India preaching the message of Lord Caitanya. He had also installed Deities in the large temple of Śrī Caitanya Maṭh in Māyāpur. And a year ago he had begun publishing his magazine Sajjana-Toṣaṇī in three languages, including an English edition called The Harmonist.

After several visits and hours of discussion on the activities and philosophy of Gauḍīya Vaiṣṇavism, Atulānanda brought Mr De to the Allahabad āśrama. Shortly there after the Maṭha relocated to a rented house on South Mallaca Street near Ram Bagh, just a short walk from Abhay's house. Now it was possible for Abhay to visit every evening. After work, he would attend the Maṭha, where he would play the mṛdaṅga, surprising the brāhmacārīs with his already developed mṛdaṅga playing skills. He sang bhajans with them and sometimes took the lead part in the congregational singing. He would also bring important persons from Allahabad to visit the Maṭh. For the brāhmacārīs, Abhay seemed to give new life to their āśrama, and for Abhay, new life had come to him in his reunion with the disciples of Śrīla Bhaktisiddhãnta Saraswatī.

In 1930 Gour Mohan's health took a turn for the worse, and his family members gathered around him, thinking that his end had come. Abhay had been in Bombay on business, and it was late when he reached Allahabad and knocked on the door. Gour Mohan told his daughter Rajesvari, "Open the door. Abhay has come."

She replied, "No, he's in Bombay."

Gour Mohan repeated, "I tell you that he has come. You open the door!"

It was about midnight. She went downstairs, opened the door, and found that her brother had indeed come. Abhay went to his father: "How are you?"

"I am all right," Gour Mohan replied. "You just take rest for the night."

The next morning Abhay called the doctor.

"How you father is living we don't know," the doctor told him. "He has practically no pulse. He has been living without food for several months."

Abhay asked his father, "What is your wish? Tell me."

"Why are you asking," his father replied. "Has the doctor told you anything?"

Abhay said, "No, I am asking because I am staying in Bombay and you are here. So if you have any wish, any intention, let me know. I am here. I am here for you."

Gour Mohan told him to give their cow to the Allahabad Gauḍīya Maṭh.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is vastu-siddhi, not even svarūpa-siddhi. When fully out of the relativity, the connection with this world, and fully absorbed there.

Devotee: That means niṣṭhā is not guaranteed?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No, no. Niṣṭhā is nothing. Even prema, and then svarūpa-siddhi, there also the danger lies of fall. Then we're told vastu-siddhi, when no relativity with this mundane world, fully absorbed there. Then if they come down,

etad īśanam īśasya, prakṛti-stho 'pi tad-guṇaiḥ
na yujyate sadātma-sthair, yathā buddhis tad-āśrayā

["This is the divinity of the Personality of Godhead: He is not affected by the qualities of material nature, even though He is in contact with them. Similarly, the devotees who have taken shelter of the Lord do not become influenced by the material qualities."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.11.38]

The speciality, or peculiarity, of the transcendental substance is this. That when He comes in contact with this mundane world, illusion, concoction, He does not mix with this. And so His cent percent devotees also like Him. They're seen to mix with this, but they're independent. This cannot touch, Him and His own persons, it is possible. Always independent. The māyā can never touch them. Wholesale, persons of that jurisdiction.

Devotee: Can you give some example of a devotee who fell from svarūpa-siddhi?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Svarūpa-siddhi, it is told that when one is wholly one in theoretical conception, this is wholesale truth, he has accepted. But mere acceptance in the principle is not all. The whole practice must follow that understanding. Mere understanding is not safe, but the whole practice will follow that understanding completely, then it will be fruitful. No connection with māyā, however small it may be. Fully entered that domain, and then again if he comes, this force cannot touch him. Otherwise, if any slight remaining in the realisation, wholesale realisation, if little remaining, then that position may again draw him here. Mama māyā duratyayā.

mām eva ye prapadyante, māyām etāṁ taranti te]

[Bhagavad-gītā, 7.14]

Krsna says that, "Don't minimize the power of this illusory energy. It has got My backing. Mama māyā. The māyā stands on My support. So it is not less powerful than you. It has got its own position in My understanding. So you cannot push her off. Only when you are cent per cent purified - the māyā exists to teach you by dealing punishment, and when you are wholly above that, then māyā, there's no necessity for her to interfere with you. Otherwise, when the least connection of misconception about Me, mistrust in Me, is within you, then the māyā won't leave you."

Do you follow?

Devotee: But Kṛṣṇa says, Na me bhaktaḥ praṇaśyati. He says, "Once becoming devotee, then there can be no destruction." Praṇaśyati. So...

[kṣipraṁ bhavati dharmātmā, śaśvac chāntiṁ nigacchati
kaunteya pratijānīhi, na me bhaktaḥ praṇaśyati]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, but, na me bhaktaḥ praṇaśyati, that does not mean that what defect in him that will be neglected. Wholesale cure is necessary. But that struggle will continue.

"If he has acquired something of real devotion in him, then the struggle will be there, and ultimately he will have to come to Me and māyā will leave him. But the struggle may continue. He'll be relieved when he's come in My connection sincerely, his future is ensured. But still, until and unless the last connection of māyā - he can conquer, he can leave, there is chance that he will have to come back again and to struggle to finish that work."

_____ [?] There is a proverb that the remnant of the loan and fire and war should not be neglected. From the least point, least spark, a conflagration can come. From the least animosity by the designing person a great war may come. And from the very least portion of the loan it may come to be a big thing.

So the neglected portion should not be avoided. The perfect solution is necessary. A little connection may, through that hole the enemy can come, enter. The possibility will be less, as much as progress we shall be able to make, the possibility of fall that will be lessened, accordingly. But it won't be eliminated fully. The rogue, the disease, a small portion of a disease may not be neglected. Fully cured. If a little is neglected from that it may again come very big there. So wholesale cure is necessary. And getting, gaining victory about three fourths, we may not be satisfied the war has been finished. From the small portion again it comes to be a bigger stage. It is struggle.

Devotee: Guru Mahārāja. This self interest, is it possible to live without self interest?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What is self interest at present that is not real self interest. It is erroneous self interest. So in our realisation of the truth, we shall be able to understand. "What I thought was my self interest that was not really my self interest." In this way you'll make progress and the transformation will come in the consideration of self interest. Transformation, that will be, "I thought my self interest there, but it is not so." In this way the progress will go on. And at last when you get Krsna consciousness. "Oh, this is my self interest. My svarūpa, my interest is here, and not there. That was concoction, misconception, māyā, misconceived self interest. And here, true self interest."

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: Mahārāja. The Hari-Nāma-cintāmaṇi, it seems that it was distributed on a very wide scale. A very wide scale of distribution of that literature. Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura was speaking of something very, very high. This siddha praṇālī in the later chapters of the Hari-Nāma-cintāmaṇi. It seems like a very dangerous thing to give to people in general.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Of course.

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: Was that directed towards sahajiyās at that time?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So with sufficient caution that is to be given to the public, with sufficient self guard.

Devotee: Also, the Madras Gauḍīya Maṭha they translated Kṛṣṇa-Karṇāmṛtam. So is that to be read?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Prabhupāda also published Kṛṣṇa-Karṇāmṛtam. It is there, in Bhāgavatam also, the rasa līlā is there. But that is a general thing, and in particular case it should be applied, the application should be careful for particular cases. But it is there, in Bhāgavatam also it is there. In Caritāmṛtam also it is there. But a person who wants his own benefit, he will go on carefully.

Kṛṣṇa is there. In the temple Rādhārāṇī is placed at the side of Kṛṣṇa. We're worshipping. Mantram is also there. With respect and reverence we're to deal with that.

Śraddhānvito, nuśṛṇuyād, dhīra, these three conditions are given there.

vikrīḍitaṁ vraja-vadhūbhir idaṁ ca viṣṇoḥ, [śraddhānvito 'nuśṛṇuyād atha varṇayed yaḥ
bhaktiṁ parām bhagavati pratilabhya kāmaṁ, hṛd-rogam āśv apahinoty acireṇa dhīraḥ]

["One who hears with firm faith the supramundane amorous affairs of Lord Kṛṣṇa and the gopīs, as described by a pure devotee of the Lord, soon becomes freed from mundane lust and achieves divine love of Kṛṣṇa."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.33.39]

Śraddhānvito, with śraddhā, with necessary regard. Not with the object of exploitation or renunciation, bhukti, mukti, siddhi, not with that purpose. Śraddhā. Kṛṣṇe bhakti kaile sarva.

['śraddhā' - sabde - viśvāsa kahe sudṛḍha niścaya
kṛṣṇe bhakti kaile sarva-karma kṛta haya]

["By rendering transcendental loving service to Kṛṣṇa, one automatically performs all subsidiary activities. This confident, firm faith, favourable to the discharge of devotional service, is called śraddhā."]

[Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 22.62]

If I do for Him, everything is done. This must be in the background. Such persons will come. Otherwise it is mentioned, if without being Śiva, attaining the status of Śiva, anyone takes poison he's sure to die.

So, vikrīḍitaṁ vraja-vadhūbhir idaṁ ca viṣṇoḥ, śraddhānvito. What is śraddhā, a bona fide person he will come to negotiate this. Then 'nuśṛṇuyād, and he must listen to it from a proper person, proper guide, proper teacher. Otherwise misconception will encroach and capture, 'nuśṛṇuyād. In the line of proper training he'll get, he'll hear it from a bona fide person. And he'll show the practical difficulties in the way, and with his guidance one can approach.

Atha varṇayed yaḥ, bhaktiṁ parām bhagavati pratilabhya kāmaṁ, hṛd-rogam āśv apahinoty acireṇa dhīraḥ. And the candidate must have the qualification of a dhīra. Dhīra means he's master of his own senses, not a slave of senses - they will have any admission here in this higher study. With these cautions that Kṛṣṇa līlā has been given to the world. And those that are of such qualification they will approach and they will find their fulfilment here.

Devotee: Mahārāja. Kāma, krodha and lobha, three of the major defects, while we're trying to overcome the _____ [?] and naths to go, which is the most difficult and the last to go?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What does he say?

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: Viśvakarmā _____ [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: It is not the same with all persons. It depends upon the peculiar nature of the person, and according to the disease the medicine and diet should be served.

Generally, the kāma should be taken as the worst enemy, because it is there with Kṛṣṇa.

It has been classified in another way also, kanak, kāminī, pratiṣṭhā. Our attraction for the women, and attraction for the money, and attraction for our good name, good will.

Our Guru Mahārāja in his poetry [Vaiṣṇava ke?] said, kāmināra kāma, nahe tava dhāma, tāhāra mālika kevala "yādava." "The pleasure that we like to enjoy from the company of the women, this pleasure is only reserved for Kṛṣṇa, not for anyone."

After going through this poem one gentleman came to ask our Guru Mahārāja, "What is the meaning of this line? Kāmināra kāma, nahe tava dhāma, tāhāra mālika kevala "yādava."

"It is not within your jurisdiction. On principle it is all meant wholesale for Kṛṣṇa. Reserved. To enjoy women, that is reserved for Kṛṣṇa conception of Godhead."

"Every woman should be enjoyed by Him only? And none can enjoy in any way any woman?"

"No. Try to adjust in this way. The wholesale for Krsna Him."

Then Kanak. Kanak means energy, money. It is meant for Nārāyaṇa, Lakṣmī. Lakṣmī-pati Nārāyaṇa. Kāminī-pati Kṛṣṇa. Lakṣmī-pati Nārāyaṇa. The whole majesty, aiśvarya, belongs to Nārāyaṇa conception of Godhead.

And the pratiṣṭhā, name, fame. All this name due to Baladeva, or to Rādhārāṇī, Gurudeva. The whole credit for him because he makes the Supreme Authority Absolute - to make possible for the ordinary public to know. It is only through him that such knowledge is coming to the world. So the canvasser of the highest truth, he deserves the whole credit. Because through him only this credit, the name, the good will in the world has come, through Guru. Guru means Baladeva and Rādhārāṇī, in this sense. So all these then is reserved for these three.

And we're servants, we're not enjoyer, we're not proprietors of anything. We're all servitors. We're to conceive in this way. Svarūpa-śakti means, the world divine means this, wholesale empty, negative. All positive conception of possession of a person, that must be eliminated. That is foreign thing, that is māyā, that is concoction. You are rather, negative. And if you can reduce yourself to some negative conception, you'll get your highest realisation and satisfaction. Don't try to make you positive, aggressor, not aggrandising, not aggressor. Not predominating, but predominated. You're to reduce yourself into that sort of nature, attitude. There you'll thrive. And if you go to be an aggressor, to be positive, then you'll lose. It is not natural, it is unnatural, and you'll have to suffer. It is a disease to you. Do you follow?

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But all for time being. Ha, ha, ha. This is the difficulty.

yasmin vijñāte sarvam evam vijñātam bhavati, yasmin prāpte sarvam idam prāptam bhavati

["By knowing Him, everything is known - by getting Him, everything is gained."]

You must place yourself in a position where from you'll look at everything and give judgement, this is this, this is this. There is a position, svarūpa, and from that you can place yourself in that position, then from there whatever you'll look at and give estimation, that will be correct. This is called sambandha-jñāna, what is what. And the root is to have the conception of the centre proper. From there we're to deduce, we can deduce many things.

Mahāyogī Mahārāja: Guru Mahārāja. Many people are reading your book, Search for Śrī Kṛṣṇa, and they're finding the chapter on [Beyond] Christianity a little difficult. Because you've said there that, "If the Holy Ghost holds the highest position in Christianity, then Christianity goes to brahmavāda nirviśeṣa."

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, a vaguer conception of the Reality.

Mahāyogī Mahārāja: But many people are thinking, many devotees in the west...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is going to Śaṅkara's conception. Ghost means what? What is the conception of the Ghost, Holy Ghost?

Mahāyogī Mahārāja: Very vague.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then Father, Son. Son as Guru. Father as Creator. And the substance at Their back is something unknown and unknowable. That is brahmavāda. Do you follow?

Mahāyogī Mahārāja: Yes, I follow.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then, you can argue with him. Then?

Mahāyogī Mahārāja: But they think that Jesus Christ is a pure devotee. They say He's Vaiṣṇava. Is it possible?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Maybe. Yes, maybe Vaiṣṇava. But Vaiṣṇava there may be of different order. Who says? Śaṅkara is also a Vaiṣṇava. Bhaja Govinda, Bhaja Govinda. But ultimate conception is Holy Ghost, some spiritual unknown substance. If Holy Ghost holds the highest position, then it's leading towards nirviśeṣa, non specified.

Sārvabhauma: Śrīdhara Mahārāja. Jesus says in the Bible that*,* "I shall sit at the right hand side of My Father." So He understood in part His Father's a Person, He has a side.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The Ultimately Reality as the Father means as creator, as Brahmā. Right hand side of Brahmā, the creator. The highest principle as creator. Father means creator. What do you say? What is the conception of Father? Father means creator of the whole world, whole creation. He's the original substance from Whom everything has come. Creator.

Sārvabhauma: One devotee was telling me Jesus Christ was an impersonalist, māyāvāda.

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: Nirviśeṣa-vādī.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: If Jesus Christ preaches that Holy Ghost, non-differentiated spiritual principle, is the ultimate cause, from where Father and the Son are coming, then he's māyāvādī. But if he says that Father is of eternal type in spiritual body, then we cannot say that he's māyāvādī. But if the Holy Ghost is above all, if they say like that, then they go to the fold of māyāvāda.

Otherwise, they say there is a section in Christianity who considered Jesus Christ as bridegroom. We say that the ultimate reality is consorthood, sonhood, consorthood, not fatherhood. Not only fatherhood, but sonhood and consorthood is also there represented eternally, in eternal līlā. And the Holy Ghost conception is in a lower position, it's a marginal position. Then that may be transcendental - Holy Ghost in the lower position, then Fatherhood and Sonhood, that will be higher, then something.

Sārvabhauma: That's the way I've always heard. The Father, the Son, and Holy Ghost.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Father and the Son, They meet in Holy Ghost?

Devotees: No, no. The Father's superior to the Son, and Son's superior to Holy Ghost.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Superior. Guru's superior, above Holy Ghost, then it will be something of the transcendental truth. Otherwise, if Holy Ghost is given above, then it will impersonal - 'impersonal conception of the truth is the higher' it will come under that consideration.

Śrīla Govinda Mahārāja: Your train time?

Sārvabhauma: It's time to go.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Train time. All right. Gaura Hari bol. Our good will to your party and Jayatīrtha Mahārāja. Our good will and prayers to the Lord for you.

Devotee: Guru Mahārāja. Viraha Prakāśa Mahārāja has one question. In the Bible, Jesus Christ said, "In My Father's home there's many abodes, but I cannot explain them all." It's a personal or impersonal conception?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No, No. Father's home, there may be many quarters. It is all right. But whether that this side the Holy Ghost, or the other side crossing Holy Ghost on the transcendental side, or in the immanent side? That is the question. If this side, it may be Satyaloka, Mahā, Jana, etc. And if crossing the Holy Ghost position, it goes further on the other side, then it will have some spiritual value, transcendental truth.

Mahāyogī Mahārāja: So if Jesus says that the Father holds the highest position, above the Holy Ghost, then that may be something like Vasudeva...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then also there may be subtle difference. The Fatherhood, vātsalya rasa. But mādhurya rasa should be considered to be the highest.

Mahāyogī Mahārāja: Yes. But I'm saying...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But if we compare...eh?

Mahāyogī Mahārāja: That may be something like the Vasudeva conception.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Not Vasudeva.

Mahāyogī Mahārāja: No?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Mādhurya rasa consideration, that vātsalya rasa conception. Just as in Vāsudeva, Vasudeva, and also Nandanandan there is. But not with the gopīs, nor even with Rukmiṇī. That is absent there. The service in the mādhurya rasa, that is of the order of highest quality. Because that holds, that harmonises within it, all other rasa. Vātsalya, the Fatherhood, the friendhood, the servanthood, all within that consorthood.

Mahāyogī Mahārāja: But my point is, if Jesus says that, "The Father is the highest," but He doesn't include any devotees, He has no paramparā...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Not only "Father is the highest." Father conception may be on this side. But crossing that Holy Ghost, Father on the higher, that commitment must come in that way. The Holy Ghost conception is lower, and the Father conception is above that. Then it will transcend the mundane conception and will go to Vaikuṇṭha. But in the infinite also, crossing the area of the consideration of finite and entering the infinite plane, there is also Father. That consideration will have to come.

Mahāyogī Mahārāja: But just crossing the Holy Ghost, then, sattvam viśuddhaṁ vasudeva-śabditaṁ, [yad īyate tatra pumān apāvṛtaḥ

sattve ca tasmin bhagavān vāsudevo, hy adhokṣajo me namasā vidhīyate]

[Lord Śiva says, "I am always engaged in offering obeisances to Lord Vāsudeva in pure Kṛṣṇa consciousness. Kṛṣṇa consciousness is always pure consciousness, in which the Supreme Personality of Godhead, known as Vāsudeva, is revealed without any covering."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 4.3.23]

That just on the other side, before Nārāyaṇa, there's Vāsudeva conception, Kṛṣṇa without any devotees...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Vāsudeva means not Vasudeva's son, but here Vāsudeva means Vāsudeva Who is living everywhere, and all who is living within Him. In that sense Vāsudeva. Above Brahman conception this Puruṣottama conception.

brahmaṇo hi pratiṣṭhāham, [amṛtasyāvyayasya ca
śāśvatasya ca dharmasya, sukhasyaikāntikasya ca]

[Kṛṣṇa says: "I am the basis and original mainstay of the undivided divine vitality of the impersonal Brahman, which is immortal, imperishable and eternal, and is the constitutional position of inexhaustible nectar and the sweetness of the ambrosia of profound love divine."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 14.27]

So that Vāsudeva. And also Vāsudeva in another place in Bhagavad-gītā, [bahūnāṁ janmanām ante, jñānavān māṁ prapadyate]

vāsudevaḥ sarvam iti, sa mahātmā sudurlabhaḥ

["After many, many births, the knowledgeable person (who happens to attain the association of such a pure devotee) finally comes to understand that the whole universe of moving and stationary being is of the nature of Vāsudeva alone, inasmuch as all are subordinate to Vāsudeva. Having grasped this conception, he surrenders unto Me. Know such a great soul to be extremely rare."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 7.19]

The transcendental personality is everything. When the renunciationist, all knowledge comes to such conception that He's person. Person conception above impersonalism. That is cid vilas, that is something. And when any conception of anything is below the impersonal conception, that is māyā. So Brahmā is also father, he's the creator, he's father of the whole world. Then above that is Brahman.

Mahāyogī Mahārāja: But if the Christians say that, "The father is just above Holy Ghost," then that may be vāsudevaḥ sarvam iti."

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Vāsudevaḥ. It may come to that level, father. But Vasudeva is not all. The full conception, full fledged theism will be to give full engagement of our inner tendency. The corresponding phase according to the need within us, our heart, of all rasa. All forms of ecstatic enjoyment must be in Him. The creation is not a very important function. But the corresponding engagement with the natural thirst of every atom, who will supply, then He's the highest principle. Who can engage, Who can adjust everything in Him, with all his demands.

kalita-śyāmā-lalito rādhā-preyān vidhur jayati]

All sorts of innate hankerings must be satisfied in the centre. That centre should be the perfect and highest, Who will be able to give all sorts of subtle demands within our nature. The corresponding relationship in every variegated way. Akhila-rasāmṛta-mūrtiḥ. All aspirations are accommodated there, harmonised there. That should be the prime cause. For Itself. Reality is For Itself. Everything for Him. Must have some utility in Him. All accommodating centre, all pervading, all comprehensive, all accommodating, all fulfilling. These are the - this should be the qualification of the Ultimate Centre, or Absolute.

Devotee: Guru Mahārāja. Viraha Prakāśa Mahārāja has a question. That according to Christianity vision, this God revealed in the Bible, can be Brahmā with a large birth, can be Brahmā the creator of...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Generally the Father means not Holy Ghost, but Father. God the Father is giving Bible and not the Holy Ghost. Is it not?

Mahāyogī Mahārāja: Yes. So he wants to know, could that be Brahmā? The creator, Brahmā, he's giving the Vedas...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What is the position of Holy Ghost in Bible? That is to be understood. Holy Ghost means unknown and unknowable. The prime cause cannot be so. It must have some connection with us. The fulfilment of everything must be traced in Him. He cannot be only a negative cypher. All the inner engagement we must have with Him. That will be the highest centre, Who will harmonise anything and everything in Him. And the highest demand of rasa, ānandam, ecstasy, pleasure, satisfaction, happiness. Happiness is controlling the whole world. Every atom is searching after happiness, so all sorts of happiness must be in that centre. That is the innermost demand of every existence, rasa.

So Rūpa Goswāmī has given the definition of Kṛṣṇa in a scientific way. Who is Kṛṣṇa? Akhila-rasāmṛta- mūrtiḥ. All possible different conceptions of pleasure, or happiness, or ānanda, whatever it is, Who can harmonise them, give food to them, He's Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa is not a personal conception standing in a particular posture and holds a flute. That has got some relation there. But the scientific position of Kṛṣṇa is expressed in this way. All sorts of, all, everything is in search of, all atom is searching for his satisfaction, for happiness. And Who can supply, Who can satisfy the hankering of all souls, the corresponding phase, He's Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa means that. Reality the Beautiful. Beautiful or ānandam, that can give engagement to every existence. Beauty, sundaram, ānandam. So Kṛṣṇa means that. Who can give satisfaction, fulfilment, to all searching jīva soul...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...I don't remember. Empirical attempt. Ascending method.

Devotee: Nicholas.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Nicholas, he was killed by the mob, or any particular man?

Devotees: Yes, killed. By the mob.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I was told that he called for the military to control, to disperse the mob that came for food. During the war, the scarcity of food, the mass could not get anything for their food in general, but all food controlled for the military. And the ordinary people they had to suffer a great deal. Then there was Lenin and some other followers, excited them. "Go and approach into the palace and cry for food." And they did that and Czar's men tried to pacify them but they did not care. Then the Czar gave order to fire. And the first fire went to the masses, and the mass began to cry. "We're helpless, we come for food." The soldiers, their human heart, that was converted and the bayonet from that side came to the Czar's palace, and the Czar was finished. So far I heard it was something like that.

Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. While our consciousness comes down, cannot have higher conception of higher spiritual existence, our attention drawn to some material thing. Medicine of this intoxication, this can help me. When I cannot raise my consciousness to the fine and higher conscious substance, then we come to seek help in the material world. They risk, 'it will help me.' Just suicidal. I cannot manage to have connection direct with the higher conscious substance, then we come to seek some means in the lower. With the help of that I shall make advance towards the fine thing, the consciousness. The matter will help me to understand, to acquire consciousness.

And we're faithless in the agents of that Absolute Truth, Vaiṣṇava. It is from Vaiṣṇava aparādha. Vaiṣṇava. His losing faith in the conscious agents of the Supreme, he goes to the material things, substance, 'Help me. Help me.' The matter, 'help me,' I lose faith in the spiritual agency. So the long and short is this. We seek shelter in a material thing, we lose our faith in the higher agency, we can't see their grace. So, that is the underlying position of an intoxication monger. No faith in the higher agents that are spiritual, which is soul in character, but more aspiration to get help from the lower substance. This is, scientific conception is like that, degrading, degrading, losing faith in the spiritual efficacy or their grace, or their position, come below standard. No faith, we can't have faith in the devotee, in the scriptures, in the Ācārya. So disappointed we go to seek help from some matter. Some atom of matter particular, that will give me God. Indirect way. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Dyūtaṁ pānaṁ striyaḥ sūnā, yatrādharmaś catur-vidhaḥ.

["Mahārāja Parīkṣit, having thus been petitioned by Kali, sin personified, gave him permission to reside wherever gambling, drinking, prostitution, and animal slaughter are performed. - The personality of Kali asked for something more, and because of his begging, the King gave him permission to live where there is gold, because wherever there is gold there is also falsity, intoxication, lust, envy, and enmity. - Thus the personality of Kali, by the directions of Mahārāja Parīkṣit, the son of Uttara, was allowed to live in those five places. - Therefore, whoever desires progressive well-being, especially kings, religionists, public leaders, brāhmaṇas, and sannyāsīs, should never come in contact with the four above-mentioned irreligious principles."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.17.38-41]

Charm for the material world. Dyūtaṁ. To gain very cheaply, not in ordinary constitutional way to get money, but by a cheating process. A cheating process to acquire money, dyūtaṁ. Pānaṁ, also that, pānaṁ, that is earned by black marketing, pānaṁ. The energy which we can collect in an ordinary sense, I'm not satisfied with that, but in some black way I want to amass some energy by pānaṁ. Pānaṁ means this. This is also black marketing. I want to get energy by unfair means, pānaṁ.

Striyaḥ. That is raso vai saḥ, the general thing that he's the centre of all ecstasy. But we go to earn, to collect that experience, that ecstasy in a very cheap way, from material thing, striyaḥ sūnā.

And sūnā also very cheap way to develop the body. It is the maṁsaḥ, the flesh can be easily utilised for the flesh in me, than other vegetables. It is already - the vegetable already developed in the stage of maṁsaḥ. Maṁsaḥ means flesh. And if I use the flesh, very easily my flesh can be developed. So all very easy: not in a regular and proper way to preserve one, but in short way, cheap way. By cheating we want to aggrandise us.

And gold. Sūnā, yatrādharmaś catur-vidhaḥ, punaś ca yācamānāya, jāta-rūpam. This gold is such a substance, if one can get control over the gold they can easily have control over everything, all material prosperity. The dollar, the pound, the yen, the rubel, the rupee, the rice, everything, if I can possess gold, then I can easily get everything, all material. This is cheating. Cheating, only small thing I can control, I can control the whole food world, all the necessities of the human beings I can control. The cheap marketing. This is not in a regular life, but in a cheating process. By these five things we can be big, apparently, by a cheating process. So that must be given up.

It is plain and simply and truthful, and live here as a member, as a bona fide and sincere member where you are. You are put in the jail. Don't try any other black things to help you. But sincerely give your labour as it is ruled, you will be free really very soon. When you are a criminal, be a good criminal, then you will be able to acquire freedom, good freedom. Already you are a criminal, and here also you are committing crime, and cheating others you want to gain. So lead a simple life, not incur debt any more, but try to pay off your debt which you have already acquired. In that process you will be freed very soon. Not by any artificial process, but sincere and simple process you adopt. Not by diplomacy or any other thing.

But simply, that "I'm so-and-so, I'm criminal, I'm the greatest criminal. O my Lord, forgive me. You take me out. Please be gracious over me." This way we adopt. Not any artificial means. Only for your love for artificial things you've come here. In the other soil, in the highest ideal, diplomacy, and cheating by him, there's no place of all these things. This is the fashion of this māyāic world, the world of misconception. To acquire anything easily, that means to deceive others. You can't deceive God. Simply go to Him, pray that, "I'm a culprit, I'm so and so. Forgive me and accept me." In this way, plain, simple way.

Your knowledge also cannot help you. Jñāna-śūnya-bhakti, pure surrender, wholesale surrender. Don't use any reason there. Don't go to plead for your own self. Complete surrender. Don't plead in favour of you. Rather, if you have to plead, plead on behalf of the Lord that you are the most heinous. That will be more effective. This is the way.

Love divine. This is against the conception of the ontology of love. Only a particular material atom, that may give me love. That can give love, prema, heart? The heart can be purchased by a material thing, chemical? By using medicine I can get God? Use this medicine, God will become your servant, come to serve you, to please you, to please you, to serve you. And believe I am super-super God, in giving this medicine.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol. In the simple way, love for love. Give you, and get Him. The general, remain simple and pure, surrender to the high, and the high will come down to welcome you.

sarva-dharmān parityajya, mām ekaṁ śaraṇaṁ vraja
ahaṁ tvāṁ sarva-pāpebhyo, mokṣayiṣyāmi mā śucaḥ

["Totally abandoning all kinds of religion, surrender exclusively unto Me. I will liberate you from all kinds of sins, so do not despair."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 18.66]

How comprehensive and reasonable and natural.

"Give up everything, all engagements, come to Me free. I'm ready to accept you any time, any moment. Announce that all obligation to any other thing stopped, and come to Me. I shall welcome, embrace you. All obligation stopped, whatsoever obligation you incur, you think to possess in this world, all obligations get disconnected and come to My obligation. Your obligation to Me is absolute, and these are all relative, temporary and all designing, out of the designing thing. It is artificial, it is concoction. Your relation to Me, obligation to Me is wholesale and pure and clear. Realise that."

Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari.

Vidagdha Prabhu says that one of the followers of Jayatīrtha Mahārāja is expected to visit here shortly, some Sārvabhauma.

Vidagdha Mādhava: Yes, Sārvabhauma. There's one tape he's bringing.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He will come to make me hear one tape from there?

Devotees: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In answer, what I told, and that lady caught it in the tape, perhaps, the answer to that will come? All right. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol.

Vidagdha Mādhava: I think you just answered it in full for us. But he asked one question.
"If LSD cannot create bhakti, how is it that LSD can destroy bhakti?"

Devotees: (Group laughter)

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Māyā cannot bestow bhakti. How is it that māyā cannot create God?

Vidagdha Mādhava: If LSD cannot create bhakti.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I say that if māyā cannot give us bhakti, then how it can destroy? Eh?
If it can destroy bhakti, it can give bhakti also, that is the argument?

Devotee: Yes, that's the argument.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That may be applied not only to LSD but to anything and everything. Suppose any other thing, this tree, if this tree cannot give bhakti, then how it can destroy our bhakti, if I'm too much engrossed in that. Bhakti cannot be destroyed by anything, ahaitukī apratihatā. Rather, a man who runs after it, bhakti cannot be destroyed, cannot be created, cannot be given, it is eternal substance. But the party, he's affected. 'Satan can destroy bhakti; if Satan can destroy bhakti, then Satan can give God also?' Is it? One who can destroy bhakti, he'll be able to give bhakti, is it? A man who can kill you, he can create you, is it?

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: No. A very unreasonable argument, unintelligent.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And he could not answer. He has come here again to speak on his behalf. You can understand, you, yourself?

Vidagdha Mādhava: No. I told him you said it was an enemy to faith, it destroys faith. He became quite excited when I said that. He said he has 'thousands of times more faith in the name of Gaurāṅga' than I did.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Start a machine and he will take the name of Gaurāṅga more than him, continuously.

Devotee: He says that he has surpassed the principles of sādhana-bhakti, Jayatīrtha, he says like that. And his followers are bewildered.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Beyond bhakti there is māyā. Beyond light there is darkness.

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: Becoming ghostly, very ethereal.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In Gītā, the tāmasic, what is the sign of the tāmasic, just as sāttvikā they have got such signs, the rājasic they will have such signs. The tāmasic they will get such symptom. What is mentioned I forget. It is mentioned there.

Aranya Mahārāja: In Gītā it says illusion, madness, inertia; these are the symptoms of the mode of ignorance.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ah. Ignorance. What is Sanskrit, the Sanskrit original verse? Sāttvika-priyāḥ, rājasa, tāmasa-priyāḥ. _____ [?]

yāta-yāmaṁ gata-rasaṁ, pūti paryuṣitaṁ ca yat [ucchiṣṭam api cāmedhyaṁ, bhojanaṁ tāmasa-priyam]

["Such food is dear to the ignorant: food which is cold, due to being cooked more than three hours before; food which is tasteless, exudes a bad odour, or was cooked the day before; the remnants of others (with the exception of remnants left by one's Guru); and impure foodstuffs (such as meat, wine, and onions)."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 17.10]

Vidagdha Mādhava: Also, Guru Mahārāja. I don't know where Tīrtha found this one, but he claims pānaṁ means only drinking. Pānaṁ means drinking?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So there cannot be any solid, without liquid, there cannot be any solid intoxication. That does he mean?

Vidagdha Mādhava: He's saying it means drinking, not ganja so much.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The solid thing cannot be intoxicating? That is his point?

Devotees: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: All right. So very good argument, good reason, that is acquired by LSD.

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja:

vidhi-hīnam asṛṣṭānnaṁ, mantra-hīnam adakṣiṇam śraddhā-virahitaṁ yajñaṁ, tāmasaṁ paricakṣate

["And that sacrifice which ignores the injunctions of the scriptures, which is performed without the distribution of gifts such as foodstuffs, without uttering the appropriate mantras, without presentations to the Guru, and without faith, is known as sacrifice in ignorance."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 17.13]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Vidhi-hīnam asṛṣṭānnaṁ, tāma yajñaṁ. There are many things, many standpoints have been dealt, sāttvik, rājasik, tāmasik. Aha sāttvika-priya, aha tāmasa-priya. And the habits also, only sleeping...

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: This śloka, Mahārāja.

tamas tv ajñāna-jaṁ viddhi, mohanaṁ sarva-dehinām pramādālasya-nidrābhis, tan nibadhnāti bhārata

["And, O Bhārata, you should know that the mode of ignorance is born from darkness, and is the deluder of all beings. That mode of ignorance captivates the embodied by carelessness, laziness, and slumber."]
[Bhagavad-gītā, 14.8]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Bind down the soul with such habits. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Devotee: Also that verse, ūrdhvaṁ gacchanti sattva-sthā.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ah.

ūrdhvaṁ gacchanti sattva-sthā, madhye tiṣṭhanti rājasāḥ
jaghanya-guṇa-vṛtti-sthā, adho gacchanti tāmasāḥ

["Persons in the mode of goodness ascend (up to Satyaloka), those in the mode of passion remain in the middle (in human society), and abominable fellows of ignorant nature fall down to the lower planes (of hellish suffering)."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 14.18]

Mantra-hīnam, kriya-hīnam, also tāmasa. _____ [?] Vidhi-hīnam asṛṣṭānnaṁ. ___ hīnam adakṣiṇam.
Nitāi Gaura Hari bol.

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: _____ [?]

aprakāśo 'pravṛttiś ca, pramādo moha eva ca tamasy etāni jāyante, vivṛddhe kuru-nandana

["O Karunandana, with the influence of the mode of ignorance, all the symptoms of injudiciousness, despondency, indolence, and falsehood become manifest."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 14.13]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Dense ignorance, and rāja in the stage of suspicion, and sāttva in the stage of knowing the truth. The stage of knowing what is what, that is sāttva. The rāja means suspicion always, whether this is that, or this is that, in the stage of suspicion. And tāma, which is not so, to firmly think that that is that thing, that is tāmasa.

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: Wrong decision.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Wrong, firm wrong decision, and suspicion in the middle. And towards right decision, that is sāttva. Jñāna, karma, _____ [?] all differentiated into three classes, all sorts of practices and stages of our thinking, there, differentiation, classification about.

Nothing can give Him without He Himself. That is the general thing.

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: Rāja guṇa acche ta, rāja guṇa dekha jai, all mixed up, yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Mixed, rājas tāma vadita [?] Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari bol.

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: These things are increasing also, aren't they?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ha, ha. Let Nityānanda Prabhu come to help him, to come to his relief, we can pray to him.

All right. I want to close the sitting now.
Bhaktisiddhānta Saraswatī Goswāmī Prabhupāda kī jaya!
A.C. Bhaktivedānta Swāmī Mahārāja kī jaya!

...

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: ...perhaps his name was Bhakti Vivek Bhāratī. He was a very heavy set person, build, big physical body. And also Sidddhanti Mahārāja, what they have translated is all right, I think...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: _____ [?]

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: _____ [?] But Bhāratī Mahārāja departed very soon. And then Siddhanti Mahārāja he was the successor there and he has also published _____ [?] Upaniṣad, Vedānta, and that Uddhava-sandesa, Uddhava-Gītā. That is reliable.

Now I find that Brahma-saṁhitā translation, during our Guru Mahārāja's time, there is a gross mistake.

_____ [?] Kṣīrodakaśāyī. In place of Garbhodakaśāyī, Kṣīrodakaśāyī _____ [?]

The function of Garbhodakaśāyī, that has been described as the function of Kṣīrodakaśāyī _____ [?]

And that can't be maintained. But that was published during our Guru Mahārāja's time from Madras.

Brahma-saṁhitā, the old copy. And according to that Yati Mahārāja has also published commentary. The same mistake has been retained there. The original was also consulted, but that very mistake is there.

In Svarūpa Dāmodara's kacha, śloka, it is clearly mentioned about Kṣīrodakaśāyī. But in Brahmā- saṁhitā translation by Professor Sanyal the mistake is committed, differing from Caritāmṛta. He had no deep knowledge in Sanskrit, that was, could not follow Jīva Goswāmī's tika and Sanskrit original verse.

The language of Brahma-saṁhitā, that is very abstruse, not very clear, suppressed, condensed and ontological, philosophical and condensed style, not very clear and simple.

Then very simple, the first śloka is very simple and clear.

īśvaraḥ paramaḥ kṛṣṇaḥ, sac-cid-ānanda-vigrahaḥ anādir ādir govindaḥ, sarva-kāraṇa-kāraṇam

["Kṛṣṇa, who is known as Govinda, is the supreme controller. He has an eternal, blissful, spiritual body. He is the origin of all. He has no other origin, for He is the prime cause of all causes."]

[Brahma-saṁhitā, 1.5] & [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 20.154]

Very clear śloka. But _____ [?] very abstruse, difficult portion, śloka, somewhere.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol.

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: He also gives mention to the milk ocean.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Milk ocean, Kṣīrodakaśāyī, but He's not the cause of the brahmāṇḍa. He's only in the function of Paramātmā. He's _____ [?] within this, between creation and destruction, and the sustenance, to look after that, that sustenance, sāttva-guṇa, that is His function. And also He takes rest in every heart.

īśvaraḥ sarvva-bhūtānāṁ, hṛd-deśe 'rjjuna tiṣṭhati
[bhrāmayan sarvva-bhūtāni, yantrārūḍhāni māyayā]

["O Arjuna, the indwelling Supreme Lord, by the potency of His deluding energy, causes the living beings to wander hither and thither (in many postures), as though each were merely a puppet on strings, riding on a carousel. Verily, that Lord is dwelling within the heart of all living beings."]

[Bhagavad-gītā, 18.61]

Something like Paramātmā function. Paramātmā conception is little hazy, non-differentiated, but that is personal, pure life, Paramātmā. Vāsudeva.

Vidagdha Mādhava: Lord Caitanya appeared in five features, Pañca Tattva.

And in Rāmāyaṇa we find Lord Rāma and Lakṣmaṇa, and there's some distribution of some nectar between the wives of King Daśaratha. How to view Lord Rāma, Lakṣmaṇa? Sometimes it's described in some books, 'half Viṣṇu.' Is that possible? That the different wives of King Daśaratha...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I don't follow. What does he say?

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: What's the end of the question?

Vidagdha Mādhava: The question is - some nectar was given to Daśaratha's wives. One wife got half, another wife got another portion, so according to those portions Viṣṇu was going to incarnate. That's one description. I'm sure it's un-bona-fide, but I'm trying to understand...

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: _____ [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then, what's the conclusion?

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: _____ [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Daśaratha had no son, so Daśaratha had to make arrangement to get son. And he consulted, and made arrangement with the ṛṣis and they performed a yajña. And that yajña, Yajñeśvara prasādam, among the queens who will take that Yajñeśvara prasādam, and she will be able to produce child. So it was distributed to Kauśalyā and Kaikeyī, the two main queens. Daśaratha had many queens. The two queens, Kauśalyā and Kaikeyī, half and half. Then another, Sumitra, the mother of Lakṣmaṇa and Śatrughna, she went to approach those two queens Kauśalyā and Kaikeyī. "My sisters, give some portion to me." So both of them, a portion of their prasāda gave to that Sumitra, Kauśalyā something and also Kaikeyī something, the double pieces. Then Kauśalyā got Rāmacandra, Kaikeyī got Bharata, and they gave something so Sumitra got two portions...

83.04.30.B

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...came from Kauśalyā, by that Lakṣmaṇa was produced. So Lakṣmaṇa was very friendly and very subservient to the son of Kauśalyā - that is Rāmacandra. And the Śatrughna he was produced by the portion given by Kaikeyī. So Śatrughna was very much fond, and very obedient to Bharata. Because from Kaikeyī's portion he got and thereby Śatrughna was produced.

This has been meant. Do you follow? No?

Vidagdha Mādhava: Yes Guru Mahārāja. But are They all considered Viṣṇu?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Viṣṇu in four portions. Just as Vāsudeva, Saṅkarṣaṇa, Pradyumna, Aniruddha, These four. So also here, Rāma, Lakṣmaṇa, Bharata, Śatrughna, They're all considered as Viṣṇu Tattva. Divided into four.

Vidagdha Mādhava: Sometimes in our preaching we find occasionally someone will read Kṛṣṇa Book, tenth canto of Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam. And they will have a hard time accepting these fantastic demons that appear in Vṛndāvana, as more than a story. They'll have some difficulty because there's no trace of this kind of mysticism in the present modern age. These are fantastic descriptions, as Pūtanā became twelve miles long when she fell to the ground. These are fantastic descriptions of events.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Can you conceive that the boy Kṛṣṇa could uproot Govardhana and put it on His finger? Can you conceive? That can be swallowed by those persons? If that can be adjusted, then all these, everything can be adjusted. You see?

Vidagdha Mādhava: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And the question, "You say that all come from fossilism, fossil." Fossil is given, matter is given more importance over consciousness. But consciousness can create anything. That is the process. We're to understand and digest, that not from fossil everything is coming, but from consciousness everything is coming. From spirit everything is coming. Then it will be clear, to explain all these miracles.

In the system of hypnotism can they be convinced about the Divya-darśana?

Kṛṣṇa showed He's such-and-such. Can they digest this?

Devotees: Universal Form. Virat Rūpa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Universal form of Kṛṣṇa, He showed to Arjuna, can they digest that, view? Then that is all false? So many things, how to explain that from the materialistic or scientific standpoint?

Devotee: They'll say that it's all poetry.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: From the same basis we're to view everything. And all the conceptions of the present scholars they're all based on this fossilism. And that must be demolished wholesale, that this not the way of thinking for a man of devotion. They consider the spiritual substance, that is the cause, and that can create every kind of fossil, any time, actually every time. It is like a play doll, to create this matter. Material form is a play doll in the hand of the spiritual autocrat.

Everything is shown according to His own sweet will. _____ [?] of the material world. It is all floating on consciousness. And the magical wand is His sweet will. Whatever He will like to show you, you're forced to see that. It is coming from up to down.

So no material stability of the material characteristic of anything, whatever we say, it is all false, all māyā, concoction. It is seen from the plane of our very meagre local interest, all false. The wholesale false, all misconception. We're accustomed to think that a brick or a piece of stone is invulnerable. But it is nothing, only a conception, an idea that may be.

Just as in a dream we can have experience of many things, very astonishing in dream. Is it not? What is not possible to experience when we're awake. We're co-operating with our material senses, what is not possible, that is possible in dream. We can see a big mountain is being transformed into a sea, and ocean may be transformed into moon, in dream many things.

So in the soul it is more independent in view is possible. It is such. So we have to give up this narrow idea drawn from the material, local conception, from our brain, to brush it out.

His sweet will is the cause of everything. Like a magician, like a hypnotising man. The very basic must be accepted like that; then we can explain everything here, how there are so many small and big incidents.

How it was possible for Christ when he was crucified to come again? Some say that he was not dead. His dead body was taken to some mountain cave and after three days when the people went to see him, nothing but some remnant of his dress was there, and he was not there. The body could not be traced, gone away.

How it is that when Peter, there in Italy they ordered that he will be crucified, he was flying away from Rome for fear of death? Then he met Christ is coming. Then he fell on the feet of Christ. "You master, you are coming."

"I'm going to be crucified a second time, because my follower Peter he's betrayed me, and for fear of crucifixion he's flying away. So I'm going to be crucified for a second time."

"No, no, my master. You won't have to take the trouble of going to be crucified. I'm going to be crucified." Then Peter, what is this? He saw Christ.

And so many times they say Christ's coming. Is it material science's sanction? All religious conception on their background they must have some sort of, any sort of immaterial, over material, supernatural experience on its back. Every religious class have some sort of such miraculous conception on the back, everywhere. Because it is true, and what we have conceived this is all, this is false. What we experience through our senses, that is false. How far we can rely on our senses? We cannot recognise whether a ghost coming or a man coming. So many.

Bhrama, pramāda, karaṇāpāṭava, vipralipsā. These four defects always with the instruments of our knowledge through which we gather. Bhrama means commission, we commit, we take a man for another man, sometimes a ghost. Omission, then undetected many things go away. Karaṇāpāṭava, there's defect in the eye. One may say, 'No, this man's coming.' Another, 'No, no. You're seeing false. That man is coming.' Karaṇāpāṭava, the defect in the instruments through which we gather our experience. And vipralipsā, the greatest prejudice. Previous prejudice that always guides me to count and see that things are such, must be such. Our previous impression that is kept in the mind, mental store, that comes to guide us, to have experience from outside.

The very root and nature of our experience, that has been cancelled by the spiritualist, of every school, whether Christian, Mohammedan, or Hindu. Religion means depending on the experience of some super knowledge, religion means that.

And those that depend on their sense experience they're all almost atheists. Everything coming from rigid eye experience, or ear experience. What is my position, that my experience has some valuable position? I'm running in a phantasmagoria. This body is the effect of a dream, something like dream.

The mind is more independent than this body. So bodily experience is more rigid and narrow than the mental experience. The experience of the intelligence that is higher and more spacious. In this way the experience of ātmā, ātmā can do anything. Independence of the soul in all respects is extremely greater than that of this body. Just as mind's scope is greater than this body experience, so the scope of the knowledge of ātmā, that is infinitely more spacious than that of this body experience. In this way.

And in Paramātmā conception more wide things are possible. In this way the progressive, to Kṛṣṇa everything is possible. No restriction over Him. His sweet will can never be opposed by any potency in the universe. Āptakāma, whatever He wills at once it comes to Him. "Let there be light." There was light. "Let there be water." There was water. Only willing is at the root of the incident.

So Govardhana daran [?] this Putanā affairs, everything, only willing is at the back, and it will immediately come to effect. That is the science of the supernatural things is like this. Just as we can will otherwise which is not found in this fossil science, what is not possible in the fossil science we can will that, we can wish that. Why? So there is a scope outside, so we'll have to go that side.

"Let there be water." There was water. "Let there be light." There was light. That basic conception we must have. From there we can go ahead. His sweet will, willing is possible, creation is possible by will power. Ideal realism, first the idea then it comes to be real. Everything, first idea, and then idea realises into so called reality in different planes of life. Do you follow?

Vidagdha Mādhava: Yes Guru Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You lose that basis and come with thousands of questions every time all the same and similar. First you have to take position with this universal conception of religious basis, foundation. You must take your position there firmly. Then from there you'll look around. And you'll have to explain other things how it can come to be effected.

Planets and the law, their existence, all uncertain, unstable, all vanishes and again come. What is their stability, their firmness, their value? It is coming and going. The prime cause we're to study very attentively what is the nature of the prime cause, Brahman, from which everything is coming to our sight and again disappearing into that. We must not forget that we're trying to engage ourselves to study the nature of the prime cause and more and more higher.

Always we take some mud and throw into that, and begin to try and understand what is the matter.

"Why that is not like the mud? Mud is all. And why the God is not within the mud?"

Where the mud does exist when the whole creation abolished? Where does this mud or the stone exist? Coming from where? Unseen quarter, un-understandable quarter, everything appears. The science also say like that, it appears and disappears.

So what is the nature of the root from when it is coming, and this coming thing is also undesirable. It is only giving pain to the soul. This is negative creation, not desirable. The proper creation which is desirable in svarūpa-śākti land, that is already there eternally. All these we're to hear repeatedly, but that does not have any trace in the heart. Always in the material mud-plodding, and sometimes enquiring about the ether, always in the mud and sometimes questioning about ether - electricity.

But we're to think through the soul. Through soul we're to go to know the nature of the Supersoul area. This is all about that, Supersoul area. Freedom of soul is infinitely more extensive than the freedom of eye and the ear and the tongue and touch, infinitely higher and greater, the plane of soul within me. Just as the mind is more flexible and more spacious than this bodily experience. In dream we're more free than when we're awake in the world of our experience. In this way freedom is going up.

Āptakāma, whatever one wills it comes immediately. Only it is within the jurisdiction of a particular soul, a yogī. A yogī whatever he will will, "I want one piece of rasagulla," rasagulla is there. Do you follow?

Vidagdha Mādhava: Yes Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: A soul in it's higher realised position gets such power. Whatever he desires: "I want money," money is here. The soul can acquire such power. Then what about the Supreme Soul, everything is possible. How much we can conceive miracles? Our brain, how much miracle can it conceive? Very little, it's always captured by this limited experience. Our imagination always captured by our limited experience and cannot go high.

More, more, more higher, every possibility is in the hand of the Absolute God. He's Absolute, Omnipotent, Omniscient, All Powerful, All Knowledge, and All Love. All love is Kṛṣṇa, Vṛndāvana. All knowing Nārāyaṇa. And Śiva and Brahmā they're plodding in the mud. Śiva half in the mud, half the head in eternity, and Brahmā wholesale in the mud. And whenever any higher knowledge is extended through they can know to certain extent. "Oh, say that this is religion. They will be relieved if they follow like this. Brahmā you advise to your created creed, prisoners." Brahmā does that.

Excitement. The same question coming from the same place repeatedly causing excitement.

The rules of mathematics there, or geometry, this theorem one proved, then so many deductions, so many sums may come. That rule according to addition, subtraction, then this multiplication, or division, the rule is there and that is given and all sums you are to work out. But every sum you will take how to divide, what is this? The general rules must be understood, then all the sums may be worked out thereby. So we must catch the rules, the general reasonings, and particulars will be deduced from there.

So many miracles are here from every religious party, miracle. So a super-scientific adjustment must be assimilation, we must have when we enter any religion we'll have to faith on many miracles. In the beginning when we go to take admission we must have such solution, what are these miracles? Am I to believe or no, not to believe? If to believe, why? What is the reason? I must get explanation from me, and once I believe that then I can go there. The miracle is everywhere, connected with every religion's conception. Then are they false or are they true? And though the oppositionists they are false. This general decision we must have before we approach any religion. This is a primary thing to understand for the beginner, whether miracles we shall believe or not. That they're all false, or this science is false, the decision we shall have to take there, if we're sincere to our self. Otherwise all religions are false, and the atheistic science they're true. A most primary question in our inquiry. Then the particular solution of a particular miracle. But the common thing, that we must have in a general way. Then we're to ask why? Why this līlā, this aspect, was taken here, took place? Why this miracle came, why that miracle came, what is the necessity of showing that particular miracle? It is miracle to us. What is miracle I told, what is miracle to the ordinary man awake, then what is found in dream. If this is reality then dream is imagination, concoction. But if we learn to give more reality to the dream than our wakeful days, if I go to religion we're to do that. What is in mind that is coming out, if it is not managed otherwise, when it is in the cause.

[manasas tu parā buddhir, buddher yaḥ paratas tu saḥ]

That is primary, that is more fundamental, the mind is more fundamental than the effect of our sense experience world. Mind has got more value. Manasas tu parā buddhir. The world of reason is more real than the world of mind and the world of sense experience. In this way, reality is going towards that. Manasas tu parā buddhir, buddher yaḥ paratas tu saḥ, that is ātmā. Then Paramātmā, then Vaikuṇṭha, līlā. And these things we're to have, a general conception, the truth which side? And the transient characteristic falls and fighting amongst that is māyā, what is the position of that experience. The mean conception of the sense experience, and the higher conception of the revealed truth, we must have a general idea. And details we're to inquire and get satisfied.

The party already there, that man created God, not that God created man, God is man's creation. And man created by the fossil. Fossil is the ultimate reality. The fossil develops into human body, and human body can temporarily create what is said as soul. And the soul that also conceiving creating God, that is another way.

And whether, and what system appeals to me? What party I'm to join for my real benefit, sincere party, sincere joining a particular party. Not for any false purpose, but to save me for my own highest interest I'm joining the party. That soul, Supersoul, that is everything, and this is the outcome, a nasty thing. I shall go to join a religious party out and out, this sort of consideration must be solved before that. Whom I rely more and it is for my own highest interest. Otherwise our joining a particular party that will be questionable.

The subtle is more powerful than the gross. The atomic bomb, which cannot be seen by, sensed by our senses, that contains so much power. So efficiency in the subtle things, we're to follow that line first.

Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol.

All mighty, all conscious, all loving. What will be His position? Limitation is unlimited. Infinite. We're a part of Infinite, and we must not try to bring Infinite within my fist. That is suicidal. A finite is attempting to bring the Infinite within his fist. He must be generous, broad in view, when thinking about the Infinite. Ha, ha. How much length and breadth he can have to contain the Infinite?

There is a story of a frog. One elephant passed by the side of the frog's den. Then the frog went out at that time. And he had a child, and when the mother came back he told, "Oh, a very, very big animal passed by this side."

"How far, big?"

Then the frog is pumping his stomach and trying to get bigger. "So much bigger, so much bigger." Then at last burst. The story is like that. The finite wants to imitate, measuring.

So Mahāprabhu says, "Stop your inquisitiveness. Try to follow the path of surrender." Infinite, finite, the relationship will be easy through surrender, and not the attempt to capture Him in your fist. However knowledge you can acquire, you'll be far, far below the level of knowing the Infinite. In that way you won't be able _____ [?] That is all cancelled. Your inquisitiveness about Infinity has been cancelled.

And when surrendering, faith, "Yes. Here you are, now begin your progress. Go."

Surrender means to leave the decision on Him. That is surrender, to give up the faith in his own capacity, his own fitness. And faith means to depend on Him. "That how You are, You please make me know." That process, surrender, follow that process and He will try to make Him felt in you, you'll be able to feel something. That is the way of devotion, śaraṇāgati, faith of that type with surrender. That will give something to you.

And in this way, nothing, whatever you'll know that is all māyā. You, as a subject, whatever experience you'll be able to gather, all māyā. That all may be cancelled.

But what He extends to you, being propitiated, that is something. His gift is something.

And your conception of who He is, that is concoction.

jñāne prayāsam udapāsya namanta eva, jīvanti [san-mukharitāṁ bhavadīya-vārtām
sthāne sthitāḥ śruti-gatāṁ tanu-vāṅ-manobhir, ye prāyaśo 'jita jito 'py asi tais tri-lokyām]

[Lord Brahmā said, "Oh Lord, Oh Unconquerable One, those devotees who, completely giving up all attempts on the path of jñāna of attaining the non-differentiated platform known as Brahma by hearing the transcendental narratives of Your pastimes, which emanates from the lotus mouths of the mahā-bhāgavat sādhus and pass their lives by engaging their body, mind and words in pure devotion, easily conquer You (they easily get Your transcendental association), although You are the most difficult to attain in the three worlds."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.14.3]

Here the spiritual inquiry begins, with jñāna-śūnya-bhakti.

And that is all boast and pride, attempt of false pride. 'That I can know. I can know.'

No. You can know nothing. He's unintelligible to you, to the extreme. Without His will, you cannot even penetrate a hair breadth position to know Him. This is the process we should take in our connection and intimacy with the Infinite.

"Oh, you finite, you listen to this." Yam evaiṣa vṛnute tena labhyas.

[nāyam ātmā pravacanena labhyo, na medhayā na bahunā śrutena
yam evaiṣa vṛnute tena labhyas, tasyaiṣa ātmā vivṛnute tanūṁ svām]

["One cannot understand the substance of the Paramātmā, the Super-soul residing within everyone's heart, by means of expertise in logic, intelligence or learning. When the living entity begs the Lord for His mercy, being desirous of His transcendental loving service, then the Supreme Lord reveals His self-manifest form directly before him."] [Kaṭha-Upaniṣad, 1.2.23] & [Muṇḍaka-Upaniṣad, 2.3.2]

Nāyam ātmā pravacanena labhyo. By much discussion. Na medhayā. By sharp memory. Na bahunā śrutena. By extensive culture of different types of knowledge, never. Yam evaiṣa. Only one road. Whomever He will come down to make Himself known, he will know that much.

So what is required from our part is submissiveness, and full dependence on His Grace. That is through śaraṇāgati, the only way to get Him, to have Him. All others futile attempts. Misconception of a greater type, may be so fine. Misconception of smaller group and misconception of little spacious, but it is misconception.

After all, He's free. Any time He may change His motive. He's free. Future, past, within Him. He can change past, He can change future, He can change present, if He likes. So our relative position may be adjusted, readjusted, again readjusted, again readjusted. He's free. Even the Brahmā, Śiva, all souls of higher aspiration, they also say, "We can't follow Him." What of us? Śiva viriñcira vāñchita ye.

emana gaurāṅga vinu nāhi āra, hena avatāra habe ki hayeche hena prema paracār, śiva viriñcira vāñchita ye dhana jagate phelila ḍhāli, kāṅgāle pāiye khāila nāciye bājāiyekaratāli, nāciyā gāhiyā khola karatāle dhāiyā mātiyā phire, tarāsa pāiye śamaṇa kiṅkara kabāṭa hānila dvāre, e tina bhuvana ānande bharila uṭhila maṅgala śora, kahe premānande ehenā gaurāṅge rati nā janmila mora

["O mind please listen. You have nothing else to be attached to except Śrī Gaurāṅga. Never in the past, nor in the future, will there be such a benevolent incarnation who has presented the matchless divine love ecstasy of God so generously. He poured into this world that ambrosial wealth which is ever cherished and hankered for even by great powerful personalities like Śiva and Viriñci (Brahmā). By His merciful grant, even the most common destitute persons were blessed with the chance to imbibe that nectar with great delight. Overwhelmed by spiritual ecstasy they began to sing the glory of the Lord and dance accompanied by the concert of rhythmic drums and sweet karatālas. Frightened by the power of such holy saṅkīrtana, the inauspicious atheists who were slaves to their mortal ego, ran away and hid in locked rooms to protect themselves from such purifying effect. All three worlds of existence (svarga, martya and patala) became blessed by receiving transcendental bliss and reverberated that auspicious sound. Premananda says: "I can never have enough devotion to my beloved Gaurāṅga."]

They're aspiring, but they say that, "We're disappointed to know Him." Still, it's our best interest to have our connection with Him, consciously. We cannot be out of His connection in any stage, but consciously to come within His connection, that is our desirable, highest end of life.

suhṛdaṁ sarvva-bhūtānāṁ, jñātvā māṁ śāntim ṛcchati

["I am the enjoyer of the results of sacrifice performed by the fruit-hunter, as well as the results of austerity performed by the liberation-seeker - I am their only worshippable object; I am Nārāyaṇa, the indwelling monitor of all planes of life, and the Supreme Worshippable Personality who awards liberation. And I am the well-wisher of all - I am Kṛṣṇa, the devotee's most adorable friend. The soul who thus knows My true identity attains the ecstasy of knowing his own original divine identity."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 5.29]

For our own peaceful life it is indispensable that the controller of the whole environment is my friend, He's friendly to me. Then I can find peace only in me. The all controller of the environment, He's my guardian, and He's my friend, He's affectionate to me. If really I can realise this, then I can find peace in my mind. Without which I'm always searching, and without which I cannot live, the search for maximum peace. That is the interest to every atom, peace. And peace we can only get, that the Absolute controller is affectionate, and kindly, guardian to me. Such submissive inquiry we can only come to that understanding, that He's friend.

Such sorts, one surrendered, devotees. And another, exploitationist. Exploitationist in the lower world, karmī, and the jñānīs they're also exploitationists. By research they want - by using their faculty of knowing they want to get something which they can utilise for their own purpose for better future. The underlying principle is exploitation, the knowledge. The underlying principle of inquiry that is also exploitation.

But He can't be exploited. What we can exploit, that is, māyā means in a dream like thing, that is concoction, hallucination. Artheṣu abhijñaḥ. He's for Himself. He can't be for any other thing. He's for Himself. You're within Him. He's for you also, when you're within Him. But when we come in opposition, He's not for yourself. You're put in another position, in the prison house, māyā.

na kartṛtvaṁ na karmāni, lokasya sṛjati prabhuḥ
[na karma-phala-saṁyogam, svabhāvas tu pravartate]

["Due to their tendency towards ignorance since immeasurable time, the living beings act, considering themselves the doers or inaugurators of action. The Supreme Lord does not generate their misconception of considering themselves doers, nor does He generate their actions or their attachment to the fruits of those actions."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 5.14]

"You're left free. Go on with your own fate. Try your fate. Finite, try your fate according to your understanding." And they'll plod in the mud. They'll have to plod in the mud, if finite tries to find out his fate, fortune. Harmony, and proper adjustment. Harmony is what's necessary for us, to be harmonised. And that can be attained through submission, śaraṇāgati, surrender. As much as we shall try to come within His confidence, He will reveal His heart to me.

Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Everything depending on Him, not anything outside. What to speak of that LSD.

Hari is Absolute. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Bhaktyā sañjātayā bhaktyā.

[smarantaḥ smārayantaś ca, mitho 'ghaugha-haraṁ harim
bhaktyā sañjātayā bhaktyā, bibhraty utpulakāṁ tanum]

["The devotees of the Lord constantly discuss the glories of the Personality of Godhead among themselves. Thus they constantly remember the Lord and remind one another of His qualities and pastimes. In this way, by their devotion to the principles of bhakti-yoga, the devotees please the Personality of Godhead, who takes away from them everything inauspicious. Being purified of all impediments, the devotees awaken to pure love of Godhead, and thus, even within this world, their spiritualised bodies exhibit symptoms of transcendental ecstasy, such as standing of the bodily hairs on end."]

[Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.3.31]

That may seem to us a new thing, this bhakti, surrender, but that is eternal, no beginning, no end.

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [00:00 - 02:31 ?] That freedom is the highest type of slavery. Slavery becomes _____ [?] comes together. A rare combination. Both slavery to the extreme and one can find freedom there. It is miraculous. So surrendered that they're enjoying a kind of freedom. Does not care for themselves at all.

deha-smṛti nāhi yāra, saṁsāra-kūpa kāhāṅ [tāra, tāhā haite nā cāhe uddhāra viraha-samudra-jale, kāma-timiṅgile gile, gopī-gaṇe neha' tāra pāra]

[Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 13.142]

How they can be, can come any bondage where they're not conscious of their own individual selves? No bondage is apprehended. No apprehension of any bondage because they're not conscious of their own individual existence. Deha-smṛti nāhi yāra, saṁsāra-kūpa kāhāṅ tāra, tāhā haite nā cāhe uddhāra. They do not care to work out their salvation from any condition.

"For Kṛṣṇa's sake anything and everything. Good, bad, whatever, it is of equal value to us."

Svargāpavarga-narakeṣv, api tulyārtha-darśinaḥ. Whether hell or heaven of equal value to them. Svargāpavarga-naraka, nārāyaṇa-parāḥ sarve, na kutaścana. They're never to be cowed down to be afraid of anything.

nārāyaṇa-parāḥ sarve, na kutaścana svargāpavarga-narakeṣv, api tulyārtha-darśinaḥ

Whether hell or heaven or liberation of equal value to them. So much so they're mad in the service of Kṛṣṇa. Dedication is so great and intense. So slavery and freedom, this is very wonderful, slavery and freedom mixed together. The highest degree of slavery there they find freedom. So selflessness, so intense selflessness is possible, and that is Vṛndāvana, the land of love. Love, sacrifice to the highest degree love means, love means sacrifice to the highest degree. And none to be loser because everyone there is of that temperament, so no possibility of losing anything because the whole atmosphere is of the type. All take, take, take, take everything, take. No underground blackmailing so everything is cheap. Everything is cheap where aggrandisement taking things from the market put underground then there is dearth in the market. And here everything comes in the market _____ [?] Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

From the tree, bird, insect, all. lilanukulyam yat kinca tena guna mati gato matama [?]

The idea of land is such, from the highest to the lowest, from animate to so-called inanimate, all taken up _____ [?] no other beloved thing to the market, so opulence. Lilanukulyam [?] all helpful, all the motives to help Kṛṣṇa līlā, the satisfaction, the enjoyment of Kṛṣṇa. That centred opulence there and no one hides the capital into the iron chest, all out in the soul's market.

So this is the peculiar thing, the slavery and freedom. Slave consciousness is not there, by giving them, offering them, they consider that they're fortunate. Fortunate they've got the chance to offer themselves for Kṛṣṇa, so they're fortunate. It is a great fortune to be allowed to offer something for Kṛṣṇa and His devotees of that type. They all think that, "We're fortunate that our things are being utilised for the service of the Lord with His own." So slavery is fortune there. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol.

I was in Madras when Gandhi was invited to parliament for a round table conference after his second movement of civil disobedience. A round table conference was held in England and Gandhi invited, he accepted invitation and went.

Then some people came with argument. "Oh, you recommend slavery. How will it be made, maybe slavery Kṛṣṇa dāsa, that Kṛṣṇa dāsa that is the object of life, my life after all is of slavery, slave mentality."

At that time when Gandhi went to keep the invitation in the parliament so many applications came to become his personal servitor, secretary. And the selection came with the editor of Hindu, a big high circulation paper in Madras, Hindu. And his editor got the selection to become Gandhi's personal secretary at that time.

Then I told that, "So many persons, so many so-called genius, they are very eager to get the service of Gandhi. All the so many scholars of leading persons of the country they're in competition 'who will be the personal secretary of Gandhi.' And secretary, that is his assistant, his slave, his servant. To acquire, to get Gandhi's service that is so high to you, but the service of the Lord that is not acceptable to you, you fools, you can't understand what is God. The persons who are making competition to get the service of Gandhi, a man, and they say that to get the service of the Lord is slavery. What is this?" Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

So slavery is the highest freedom, it is the opposite mix, it is like a wonderful thing.

[koṭi-jñāni-madhye haya eka-jana 'mukta'] koti-mukta-madhye 'durlabha' eka kṛṣṇa-bhakta

[Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 19.148]

Such a free amongst crores of free souls that one can be found in a crore who has been accepted to serve Kṛṣṇa. So what sort of slavery is that, we're to calculate. Freedom, so that freedom is something like prostitute, freedom, what does it? Freedom, a free, a small unit of consciousness always vulnerable, always possibility of committing this and that wrong, what value of that? And to get the guardianship of the Supreme Entity, how elevated idea is that?

ahaṁ hi sarva-yajñānāṁ, bhoktā ca prabhur eva ca
[na tu mām abhijānanti, tattvenātaś cyavanti te]

[bhoktāraṁ yajña-tapasāṁ, sarva-loka-maheśvaram]
suhṛdaṁ sarvva-bhūtānāṁ, [jñātvā māṁ śāntim ṛcchati]

["I am the enjoyer of the results of sacrifice performed by the fruit-hunter, as well as the results of austerity performed by the liberation-seeker - I am their only worshippable object; I am Nārāyaṇa, the indwelling monitor of all planes of life, and the Supreme Worshippable Personality who awards liberation. And I am the well-wisher of all - I am Kṛṣṇa, the devotee's most adorable friend. The soul who thus knows My true identity attains the ecstasy of knowing his own original divine identity."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 5.29]

To get a guardian in Him Who is the highest authority, real guardianship is there. That is more than freedom. One is in the prison, prison house, in jail, then he's let loose and becomes free.

But to be engaged in a good service of the government, that is more than freedom from the prison house. Koti-mukta-madhye 'durlabha' eka kṛṣṇa-bhakta. That is something positive, dedication is a positive thing, and exploitation is negative. Our ideal is always fixed on exploitation, that by exploitation these scientific or, by exploitation we can elevate our position. This idea has entered into the very essence of our constitution, that we can elevate our condition only if we're allowed to exploit the environment. This idea has been so mingled with all our natha's that we can't think that dedication is positive property. Prema means dedication, love means dedication. The degree of dedication, the degree of love to be calculated. So dedication that is positive, and exploitation that is negative. But we're accustomed with the present civilisation so much we cannot think that without exploitation how can we live, a big. Without loan we cannot thrive in this world, international loan, but loan to what purpose? Loan only for eating and for food and clothing. Take loan to acquire a position into the land of infinite, Vaikuṇṭha. Then not only you but the loan giver they will also be benefited. So we collect funds only with this idea that collect funds as loan and we make loan for the service of the Lord. That is another thing, taking loan to improve one's condition, real condition. That is no loan, they're all benefited, the loan giver and the loan taker. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa. So what is what?

[tat te karma pravakṣyāmi, yaj jñātvā mokṣyase 'śubhāt]

["Even very learned men are baffled in ascertaining the nature of action and inaction. Some cannot comprehend action, while others cannot comprehend inaction. Hence, I shall now teach you about such action and inaction, knowing which you will attain liberation from the evil world."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 4.16]

The scholars fail to understand what is karma, how we're to exercise, or utilise our energy, karma means to utilise our energy. How we shall utilise our energy, the scholars also cannot ascertain what way to go.

yasyāṁ jāgrati bhūtāni, sā niśā paśyato muneḥ

["While spiritual awareness is like night for the living beings enchanted by materialism, the self-realised soul remains awake, directly relishing the divine ecstasy of his uninterrupted spiritual intelligence. On the contrary, the wakefulness of materialistic persons addicted to sense enjoyment is night for the self-realised person who is completely indifferent to such pursuits. The realised souls, indifferent to the mundane, are ever joyful in the divine ecstatic plane, while the general mass is infatuated by fleeting mundane fancies devoid of spiritual joy."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 2.69]

Day to one is night to another. So sūrayaḥ, muhyanti yat sūrayaḥ, Bhāgavatam [1.1.1] in the beginning. What of ordinary men, men of ordinary standard of learning and experience, the experts will faint. Experts will fail to understand, to follow what I'm going to deal with in this book Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam. They will be bewildered, experts, the department of experts will be bewildered, will fail to understand what I'm going to say in this book Bhāgavatam. Muhyanti yat sūrayaḥ.

oṁ tad viṣṇo paramaṁ padaṁ sadā, paśyanti surayaḥ divīva cakṣur ātatam
[tad viprāso vipanyavo jāgṛvāṁśāḥ, samindhate viṣṇor yat paramaṁ padam]

[The environment is not dead - an overseer is there. Just as the sun is over our heads, every action is under our guardian's eye. We should approach any duty thinking: "My guardian's eye is always vigilantly watching over me, seeing everything I am doing, and whatever is happening to me. I need not worry about this environment or circumstance."] [Ṛg-Veda, 1.22.20]

We can go so far, even those that are always engaged in studying revealed truth, engaged themselves in association of revealed truth, practising, trying to practice that for their own benefit in different way they're well versed with revealed truth. Who are suray, tad viṣṇo paramaṁ padaṁ sadā, paśyanti surayaḥ. Suray may be taken, identified with that class, who are always engaged with the connection of Viṣṇu, yaḥ idaṁ viṣṇuḥ vyāpnotīti, all pervading principal. That is who are after eternity, whose inquiry is after eternal things. Even they will be puzzled to know what I'm going to give to them in this Bhāgavatam. That ordinary Vedic scholar won't be able to follow what I'm going to say here in Bhāgavatam.

Śrīdhar Swāmī says, moksa visam jedavi nehastam prohijita kaitavota paramo [?]
All sorts of deceptive - will have been completely eliminated, so much so that the freedom from māyā, mukti, that is also neglected here. Mukti, generally people think that the revealed truth will give us salvation, liberation from the bondage of māyā. That is what we can expect from the Vedic doctrine, mukti. We shall get liberated from all sorts of difficulties whatsoever, that is the gift of the revealed scriptures. But here it says that has also been discarded strongly. The mukti has nothing, it is an empty hand. With hand with poison, poison left out hand is empty. But hand must be full with nectar. mukarisam girapiri astum [?]

So muhyanti yat sūrayaḥ, "Oh you scholars, you will have to faint here."

As [Śrīla A.C. Bhaktivedānta] Swāmī Mahārāja told Acyutānanda, "The discourse what I had with Śrīdhara Mahārāja," Acyutānanda wanted to know, "What sort of discussion you had with Śrīdhara Mahārāja here?" Swāmī Mahārāja told, "Oh you will faint if I talk about that."

So muhyanti yat sūrayaḥ, bewildered, faint. The scholars, the different authorities of different schools of philosophical thought were present in the assembly of Śukadeva Goswāmī. His representation was so universal and all comprehending that even Nārada, Vyāsa, they also came to listen to that discourse, that great divine discourse. Śuka-mukhād amṛta-drava-saṁyutam.

pibata bhāgavataṁ rasam ālayaṁ, muhur aho rasikā bhuvi bhāvukāḥ]

["O expert and thoughtful men, relish Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, the mature fruit of the desire tree of Vedic literatures. It emanated from the lips of Śrī Śukadeva Gosvāmī. Therefore this fruit has become even more tasteful, although its nectarean juice was already relishable for all, including liberated souls."]

Universal characteristic - this distribution of Śukadeva had the colour of universality. That looking at all different schools of thought, there may be so many schools of thought, but his delivery was of such character that it touched the salient points of all the different schools existing present at that time and connected with Kṛṣṇa consciousness. That was the speciality of the delivery of Śukadeva Goswāmī who is supposed to be always in connection with spirit and no connection with this mundane world.

So much so that a young naked girl does not feel any necessity of covering her body. Śukadeva is passing by a tank and the local girls they're with their naked body playing in the tank. Śukadeva passing, no, they don't care for him. That he had no attention whatsoever to this mundane world, no charm for anything. Internal captured. All his sense experience is fully captured by the high centre of spiritual existence to a most intense degree. So he never allowed to come down to see things of relishing here in this mundane plane but deeply engaged there with the higher centre. This look does not, the eye does not see the family man things, ear does not care to hear the family names, sweet sound, everything. The touch is not hankering for any softness of the mundane things. All drawn, intensely drawn to the centre, higher.

And he, when he came to give delivery of the Kṛṣṇa līlā which apparently seems to be most crooked and most narrow and even demoralised, so narrow that to thieve other's things and eat, to enjoy other's wives, to speak lie for selfish purpose. All these things represented there, so narrow, so selfish, so self-centred, and that is to be distributed as the most universal. The difficult task, most difficult task. That so selfishness is to be represented the most universal, it is the greatest difficulty to make others understand this thing. And he did that, gave universal characteristic to those apparently seeming selfishness. Śuka-mukhād amṛta-drava- saṁyutam. The nectar of his delivery, his touch, the touch of his experience, spiritual experience, that worked as nectar for so many different schools. So universal it was.

"You all, all the authorities of different departments, you are conscious of the fact that ultimately you have to connect with something supramental. What is that thing? You are not independently giving delivery of your goods, you are to connect with something else of some form or other, and what is that? Try to understand, in this way."

The naturally ripe fruit of the tree of truth of revelation. The natural fruit and in ripe condition is Bhāgavatam. Just in the stage of giving taste, taste it, taste it.

["Although the person of gross corporeal consciousness may avoid sense objects by external renunciation, his eagerness for sense enjoyment remains within. However, inner attachment to sense objects is spontaneously denounced by the person of properly adjusted intelligence, due to his having had a glimpse of the all-attractive beauty of the Supreme Truth."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 2.59]

Taste it, all other tastes of your previous life will at once be resolved into ash. Taste this fruit Bhāgavatam. And what is the price? Laulyam api mūlyam ekalaṁ.

[kṛṣṇa-bhakti-rasa-bhāvitā matiḥ, kriyatāṁ yadi kuto 'pi labhyate

Nothing in this world can be conceived to be the real price of this thing, but only your soul, you, only the price is your own self. It will be converted into slavery. Laulya, lobha, your inner attraction, ruci, your greed, your sincere want, sincere hankering for the thing, that is the only price, the sincere hankering. "Do you want it?" "Yes I want." "Take it." Sincere transaction. No business like crookedness, diplomacy, simple transaction. "You want it from the core of your heart?" "Yes I want." You'll get it. Laulyam api mūlyam ekalaṁ, janma-koṭi-sukṛtair na labhyate. With crores of attempts to get it from other directions is all futile, only your sincere demand, "I want this." That is what is necessary, nothing else. That transaction, plenary transaction, because concern the interest of both the parties that: "I am Yours." Tasmai deyaṁ tato grāhyaṁ.

Tato māṁ tattvato jñātvā, viśate, one enters. Tad-anantaram, he knows ontologically who am I, and I am not indifferent thing, nirviśeṣa, non-differentiated, non-specified thing. Myself means a system, an organised thing. I have got My devotees, I have got My home, I have got so many things, I means that. So tato māṁ tattvato jñātvā, when he comes to know finally who am I. Who is a king? King means there are many things within him. So when he comes to know really that I am so and so, I have got family, he enters into that, enters into My family. Viśate tad-anantaram, he enters into Me. That does not mean that he loses his individual position, existence. But Me means, "enters into Me," means with svarūpa-śakti, I am there with My family, with My domain, with so many things necessary for Me, that whole system. And he enters into that."

Ātma-bhūyāya ca kalpate, in Bhāgavatam that is also. "He becomes Mine. Mine does not enter into Me and loses his existence. Ātma-bhūyāya one becomes My own, he becomes My own. I accept him to be My own, ātma-bhūyāya ca kalpate."

Devotee: We see that in Raghunātha Dāsa Goswāmī he went to Mahāprabhu, then Svarūpa Dāmodara, and then Rūpa Goswāmī.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. That is seen in the life of Raghunātha Dāsa. Mahāprabhu first handed him over, giving charge to Svarūpa Dāmodara.

"With this advice that I give the charge of your training to this My friend Svarūpa Dāmodara and he knows even more than Me. So with confidence and steadiness you try to follow what he advises you to do."

He was doing like that somewhat. Then one day again he came to Mahāprabhu.

"Why have You taken me out of my home? I can't understand fully. Please say something definite to me what I'm to do in my practical life, every day dealings."

Then Mahāprabhu, "I have already given Svarūpa Dāmodara as your guardian, teacher, and he will, you may ask him and he will be able to supply all your spiritual necessities. But still if you have got much glamour to hear something direct from Me, I say."

"Then again after saying this, again I put you." There is a break. He gave it to Svarūpa Dāmodara as his guardian tutor but when he revolted and he again came to ask something from Mahāprabhu, dishonour to Svarūpa Dāmodara. So again with this He put his hand to the hand of Svarūpa Dāmodara. "I am giving him as your guardian. Whatever will be necessary for your good he will give. He knows more than Myself." In this way again He put his hand to Svarūpa Dāmodara's hand.

And then after in this way sixteen years he passed in Purī with the company of Mahāprabhu and Svarūpa Dāmodara and others, friends, paraphernalia of Mahāprabhu. Mahāprabhu when withdrew, most of His servitors also disappeared, he went direct to Vṛndāvana. Previously he did not visit Vṛndāvana, heard so much so he went direct to Vṛndāvana.

"That after having a look around I shall try to give up this body anyhow, no charm for this body any longer." But when he reached Vṛndāvana he met Rūpa and Sanātana and found that, "Caitanyadeva is still living here, Śrī Caitanyadeva. He has withdrawn from His līlā in Purī but in Rūpa and Sanātana, in His order to Rūpa and Sanātana they're so busily engaged in dealing with the teachings of Śrī Caitanyadeva that I find Him incarnate in them. They're full of the spirit of Śrī Caitanyadeva, fully captured by Caitanyadeva and engaged themselves in the highest service of Him, His desired service."

His true representative of a preaching tendency of Śrī Caitanyadeva he found in them. And to go away from this world, that aspiration left him. "No. I shall live with them as long as possible in the cultivation of what Śrī Caitanyadeva wanted us to give in His teaching."

As Kṛṣṇa is in His Name, in His pastimes He's here, He's here. So he left the idea of leaving this world and with full energy engaged themselves in the service of Rūpa, Sanātana in coalition began to live.

Sanātana according to the advice of Śrī Caitanyadeva, he used to take care of all the, all those that came in connection of Śrī Caitanyadeva there. So under their direction Raghunātha lived there a long time.

He was connected, came in connection with Mahāprabhu after Rūpa, Sanātana. After sannyāsa Mahāprabhu travelled through the main holy places of the South, then came back to Navadwīpa, went to Rūpa, Sanātana, then came back. And not in Navadwīpa but direct to Śantipūra, and there Raghunātha met Him. So after Rūpa, Sanātana met, the junior, younger, to Rūpa, Sanātana, so he had no disadvantage to calling as they're elder brother, Rūpa, Sanātana. "No trouble, they're my superior." In age also they're also perhaps superior, senior, and education also, in all these things. So under their care he lived long time and dived deep into the rasa which Śrī Caitanyadeva specially inspired Rūpa Goswāmī to deal with, this madhūrya-rasa. Raghunātha got taste of that and lived there happily up to eighty or ninety years old.

And through Kṛṣṇa Dāsa Kavirāja came in his connection and was inspired by him, and we have got the Caitanya-caritāmṛta from him. Raghunātha has given us many poems, very sweet poems fully surcharged with that ecstasy of that transcendental Vṛndāvana, Vilāpa-Kuṣumāñjali, Stavavalli.

Rūpa Goswāmī also Stavamālā, and many, Ujjvala-Nīlamaṇi, Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, Laghu-Bhāgavatāmṛta, all these things, the Nataka, Vidagdha-Mādhava, Lalitā-Mādhava, they come from Śrī Rūpa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari.

Raghunātha Dāsa Goswāmī's considered to be the Ācārya of the prayojana-tattva, the end of our life, highest end of our life is personified in him, prayojana-tattva Ācārya, what is the final necessity, final fulfilment of life, Rādhā-dāsya, that we find in him. Hare Kṛṣṇa. In Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Kavirāja Goswāmī at the end of every chapter:

śrī-rūpa-raghunātha-pade yāra āśa, caitanya-caritāmṛta kahe kṛṣṇadāsa

"I, Kṛṣṇadāsa, who is writing this book, in the end of conclusion of every chapter, I aspire after the service of Rūpa and Raghunātha. I fervently pray to get the direct service of Śrī Rūpa and Raghunātha. This is my highest aspiration of life, Rūpa and Raghunātha, their service, pade yāra āśa. My ambition is this to get the service of these two great personages, pade yāra. That servant of these two great masters, I am Kṛṣṇadāsa, I am writing this. It is their writing all surcharged with their sympathy and blessings. Aspiring after and not got, not got but aspiring. Who am I? I am a servant, I am aspiring for the service of Rūpa, Raghunātha, how pleased they are. I am that Kṛṣṇadāsa."

Śrī-rūpa-raghunātha-pade yāra āśa, at the end of every chapter in Caitanya-caritāmṛta these two lines you will find: śrī-rūpa-raghunātha-pade yāra āśa. "All my hope, my expectation is to attain the service of the holy feet of these two great persons, pārṣadas, eternal servitors of Mahāprabhu, loving servitors of Mahāprabhu. That Kṛṣṇadāsa, I'd like to say, present something for you all, my friends. And with so, I have no value, negative value I have got. Purīṣera kīṭa haite muñi sei laghiṣṭha. I know fully that I am meaner than the worm in stool."

jagāi mādhāi haite muñi se pāpiṣṭha, [purīṣera kīṭa haite muñi se laghiṣṭha mora nāma śune yei tāra puṇya kṣaya, mora nāma laya yei tāra pāpa haya]

[Kṛṣṇadāsa Kavirāja Goswāmī says: "I am worse than a worm in stool. When Jagāi and Madhāi came in the relativity of Mahāprabhu they were considered to be the worst sinners, but I am worse than them. My sins are so dirty no one can even dream such things. I am such a great sinner that whoever will hear about me, dirt and sin will enter him through his coming in contact with my name. Sin will enter one who once hears my name, and his good qualities will vanish."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Ādi-līlā, 5.205-6]

"The world knows Jagāi Madhāi as the meanest sinners, but I am more mean than they muñi se, Jagāi Madhāi, muñi se pāpiṣṭha. So much so, mora nāma śune yei tāra puṇya kṣaya. Whoever will take my name he will commit sin. And whoever will take my name his merits, his puṇya, his purity will be lost. His puṇya, his good merit will be lost, purity will be defiled. And who will take my name, who will hear my name his puṇya will be finished, diminished, and who will take my name he will commit sin direct. I am such a type of jīva.

But great Nityanānda Prabhu's ocean of mercy anyhow came on my head and took me to this place. I am mentioning here about the, mentioning here about my elevated position. I'm not ashamed to express that I have got this Rūpa, Sanātana, the Vṛndāvana, all these, Rādhā-Govinda, Madana-Mohan, I have got. I have no shame that I say that I assert that I have got so many things. But if I do not say so I'll be ungrateful to Nityanānda Prabhu. I'm nothing, I have got such position, I'm such and such low, meanest of the mean. But Nityanānda Prabhu's grace has taken me here I can't deny. If I deny this then I will be ungrateful to Nityanānda Prabhu. It is His grace, He has taken from my family life to Vṛndāvana and Rūpa, Sanātana, all the scriptures, and the divine love, Govinda, Madana-Mohan, all these things. I have got something at least. I must have to commit that, and it is only the grace of Nityanānda Prabhu.

But as my real position I'm meanest of the mean, than the worm of the stool, than the sinners, than the Jagāi, Madhāi. And who will take my name he will commit sin. Who will hear about my name he will lose his purity. Such is myself, this Kavirāja Goswāmī."

And also he says: "I show my reverence to those who will come to read this book, and those that will hear also, the future listener, and who will have discussion. Who will come in connection with this book, I show my honour and prostrate on their feet. Who will read this book I fall flat on their feet. Because I am fully conscious that here is something which is inestimably great."

ei grantha lekhāya more 'madana-mohana' / āmāra likhana yena śukera paṭhana ["Actually Śrī-Caitanya-caritāmṛta is not my writing but the dictation of Śrī Madana-mohana. My writing is like the repetition of a parrot."] [Śrī-Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Ādi-līlā, 8.78]

"I'm conscious I'm so aged, infirm, my hand is always trembling, I can't see, can't hear. Still, because the Vaiṣṇavas ordered me I tried and I'm writing all these things. This is not my writing, oh you audience, it is Madan-mohan, He's making me write, it is not mine. I'm an instrument, I'm fortunate that I've become an instrument to this great treatise."

In this way Kavirāja Goswāmī is representing himself. And he's the disciple of Raghunātha Dāsa Goswāmī, direct disciple. When Jāhnavā Devī, She went to have a tour in the Vṛndāvana, there it is mentioned. Raghunātha Dāsa he's almost perhaps he's going away from this world, taking very slowly the Name of Kṛṣṇa. And Kavirāja Kṛṣṇadāsa he was seen standing by his bed. I found him in Rādhā-Govinda. The Raghunātha in his last time taking the Name, and Kavirāja is attending, standing by his bed, mentioned in Bhakti-ratnākara. Jāhnavā Devī the beloved wife of Nityānanda Prabhu.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol.

Today I'm told is the birthday of Abhirāma Goswāmī. He was one of the ten friends of Nityānanda. In Hooghly somewhere he had his abode. Abhirāma, he was Śrīdhama sakhā in Vṛndāvana. Very physical strength. Baladeva had the greatest physical strength, and next Śrīdhama. So Nityānanda, Baladeva, and Abhirāma is Śrīdhama.

When once Nityānanda went on tour to his house and the followers of Nityānanda told, "He's Balarāma, Nityānanda is Balarāma."

"Oh, is it? Is He Balarāma? Then I can test Him. In Vṛndāvana only Balarāma could catch me when I take to running a race. After touching I shall take, I shall begin to run and none could follow me only Balarāma. He only two and a half steps He could catch me. I want to test Him."

And in this way it was arranged and touching Nityānanda Prabhu gave a good run, and Nityānanda Prabhu only half jumping caught him.

"Yes, You are Nityānanda, You are Baladeva, You are Baladeva, I'm caught."

It's written in some book...

And Śrīnivāsa Ācārya met him. He lived a long time and Śrīnivāsa Ācārya he went to see that still one pārṣada, one contemporary of Mahāprabhu is there, went to see him. And he went with the expectation to honour him as Guru, superior and...

Abhirāma also heard that the Śrīnivāsa is a good boy, and very devoted nature. To test him, showing something, "Oh Śrīnivāsa, do you find what is that? It is a snake."

"Oh, it is a snake."

"No, no, it is only that straw made rope."

"Oh, yes, it is straw."

"No, no, no, a snake."

"Yes, a snake."

Whatever he sees, ignoring his own sense experience, whatever comes out from his mouth Śrīnivāsa accepts that in full confidence. Such should be the degree, the intensity, of our faith in the advises of our Guru. Only, "This is snake." "No, no, this is rope." Whatever comes from his mouth he sees that and not the thing, not fossil, not Berkley. "Coming from above," it is that we see. Not any physical representation has any value to him. So much given to the higher masters, cent-per-cent sold there, faith and confidence to the master above. That "His word is showing things outside." Now this, next second that, next second this, next second that, next second this, next second that. Full faith there, no faith in the mundane plane. These are to be learned by us. How much attention should we give to the Śruti, the Veda, to the aptavagra [?], to the sayings of our masters, Gurudeva. And this mundane presentation to us, to our senses, no value.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Nitāi.

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: Mahārāja. Is there a story about Abhirāma Dāsa Ṭhākura and once he picked up a large branch, that story?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, such strength he showed that.

[rāmadāsa abhirāma — sakhya-premarāśi] ṣolasāṅgera kāṣṭha tuli' ye karila vāṅśī

["Rāmadāsa Abhirāma was fully absorbed in the mellow of friendship. He made a flute of a bamboo stick with sixteen knots."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Ādi-līlā, 10.116]

He made a big trunk of a tree, treated it as his flute. And that trunk was so heavy that, ṣolasāṅge, one sāṅge means carried by four persons, that is one sāṅge. Sāṅge means a friend of this type and four men put in his shoulder, here one, here one, here one, here one, and this friend is called as sāṅge. So sixteen sāṅge, what can be carried by sixteen such so, chasuna chosati [?] sixty-four persons carried that weight. A trunk of a tree he easily held it and put it in his mouth as if he's playing with the flute. Ṣolasāṅgera kāṣṭha tuli' ye karila vāṅśī. Treated that trunk as his flute. Such physical strength he had.

And Nityānanda Prabhu had more strength than him.

Mādhvācārya was very strong. It is written in a - "Twenty or so strong men can lift a stone. That stone was taken by his left hand and replaced somewhere." And it is written there in that stone.

Mādhvācārya eko hasthina anitasila stapitasila [?] It is written in the stone we're told.

"With one hand he removed this stone and placed it here. And that is so heavy that twenty strong men, can carry or cannot carry?" Something like that.

Mādhvācārya, he's considered to be the incarnation of Hanumān - Bhīma. Kṛṣṇa and Bhīma, Vāsudeva and Mādhvācārya. Kṛṣṇa Bhīma, and Rāmacandra Hanumān. In Rāmacandra who was Hanumān, in Kṛṣṇa Avatāra he was Bhīma. And in Vāsa Avatāra he was Mādhva. They say like this, he was an incarnation of Hanumān and Bhīma, very strong, impressive. Gaura Hari bol.

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: Abhirāma Dāsa Ṭhākura, did he compose anything?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I don't think so.

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: No. Is Nityānanda-caritāmṛtam something else?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I do not know. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Nitāi. Nitāi.

The fighting persons they used to put some sort of stocking made up of their skin, and the friction when they're firing the bow, the friction on the arm against that they're skin, is generally used, that is very hardy, godika [?].

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: This godika does it have poison Mahārāja, on the mouth? Does it have poison?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Poison?

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: Yes, poison, does it?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So it is classified now under the class of snake poison.

Aranya Mahārāja: It is poisonous? They are poisonous?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: It's said the poison from the mouth.

Aranya Mahārāja: He's asking, "Is there poison there?"

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Maybe.

Aranya Mahārāja: They're very afraid though, they run away when they see people. They eat snakes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Do not know.

Aranya Mahārāja: We've heard that they eat snakes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is mongoose.

Aranya Mahārāja: Mongoose's diet.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Mongoose, they live on the snake. Anti, snake and mongoose, horse and buffalo, ahina kulam asva mahisam [?] And then another natural enemy. asva mahisam ahina kulam [?] and some other group, kako lokiya [?], crow and owl, natural enemies. Kako lokiya, kak means crow and alo means owl. Kako lokiya, asva mahisam, and ahina kulam, natural enemies.

Aranya Mahārāja: Peacock is also natural enemy of cobra.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Peacock, yes. That is one-sided perhaps, from the peacock and not from the snake, they won't attack peacock. But here, both the parties whenever they meet they fight with each other. If owl gets crow at night, at day-time they can't see so they are prey to crow, at night if an owl finds any crow he will kill it surely. Both are enemy to both.

Aranya Mahārāja: How is it that the horse and water buffalo?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Horse and water buffalo if they meet generally they fight with one another.
And also in the vegetable rank this green plantain and ginger, ha, ha, ha.

Aranya Mahārāja: Green plantain and ginger, they don't go together?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: They don't harmonise, perhaps that is also said, this alaikas kalai [?] they're enemy to one another anyhow.

Aranya Mahārāja: If you eat the two together does it cause some difficulty in the stomach?

Devotee: Also the Vaiṣṇavas and the māyāvādīs.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ha, ha, ha.

Devotee: Whenever they meet they fight.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I wrote one verse about Guru Mahārāja.
Māyāvāda-timiṅgilodara-gatān uddhṛtya jīvanimān.

[śrī-siddhānta-saraswatīti vidito gauḍīya-gurv-anvaye bhāto bhānuriva prabhāta-gagane yo gaura-saṁkīrtanaiḥ māyāvāda-timiṅgilodara-gatān uddhṛtya jīvanimān
kṛṣṇa-prema-sudhābdhi-gāhana-sukhaṁ prādāt prabhuṁ taṁ bhaje]

[Śrīla Bhaktisiddhānta Saraswatī Ṭhākura is well renowned within the select line of the magnificent Gauḍīya preceptors. He appears in the morning sky like the radiant sun and resounds the wonderful glories of Śrīman Mahāprabhu, delivering the poor souls helplessly devoured by the whale swallowing doctrine of impersonalism. I worship that great master who allowed the fallen souls a precious chance to dive deeply into and experience the bliss found in that ambrosial ocean of pure love for Lord Kṛṣṇa."]

Māyāvāda has been described as a timiṅgila. Timiṅgila means it is supposed that there are so many who are such big animals in the ocean that can devour that whale. Timiṅgila, gila means "can swallow" those big animals that can swallow a whale. There is a conception that such animals live in the ocean. So māyāvāda has been described as a timiṅgila, as in Śrīmad-Bhāgavat [10.1.5-7] bhīṣma droṇa timiṅgilodara. Something mentioned in the war of Kurukṣetra in Bhāgavatam, timiṅgilo, they're very furious warriors, just like a whale-eater they were exceptional brave warriors. And Kṛṣṇa saved the Pāṇḍavas from those great whale-eaters, Bhīṣma, Droṇa, etc., it is mentioned bhīṣma droṇa timiṅgilo.

So I have used timiṅgilo as māyāvādīs, they're timiṅgilo. And they come to compromise with every religious section. "I accept your creed wholesale. You accept that above that is non-differentiated, non-specified Brahman." Here the compromise made with the Śākta, the Śaiva, the Ganapatha [?], Sodur [?], Agni-pārśadas [?]. Śaṅkarācārya effected a compromise between all the sections. "Only accept that Brahman is above all. And I accept in toto all your activities." In this way he made a compromise against Buddhism. And really what he gave Mahāprabhu says it is nothing but Buddhism what Śaṅkarācārya gave ultimately to the people, because he did not accept the eternal individuality of the jīva soul. "Jīva soul is temporary. Only one non-differentiated, non-specified mass of infinite consciousness is true and all else is under illusion." That is māyāvādā.

[śloka dhenu pravakṣyāmi yad aktam yānti kotibhiḥ
brahma satyaṁ, jagan mithyā jīva brahmaiva na paraḥ]

[Śaṅkarācārya said, "In half a verse, I am summarising the truth that has been expressed by volumes and volumes of scripture. Within only half a verse I shall give the essence of all truths: brahma satyaṁ, jagan mithyā, Brahman, spirit, is true - this world is false. And the jīva is nothing but Brahman. This is the substance of all the scriptures."]

Śloka dhenu pravakṣyāmi. Śaṅkarācārya says very proudly, with great pride. "That what the others have expressed by crores of sentences, only in a half-sentence I shall give the gist of that. What is that? Śloka dhenu, only by half śloka I shall express the whole truth what the others by crores, millions of ślokas could not really give vent to. What is that? Brahma satyaṁ, jagan mithyā jīva brahmaiva na paraḥ. Only Brahman is true and the world is false, and jīva is nothing but that Brahman. Here what we find in the māyā that is perverted reflection, it has got no truth, it is perverted reflection. Just as the sun or moon any reflection in the glass or in the water, something like that. But real moon or sun that is in the sky that is true, all else is false. Brahma satyaṁ, jagan mithyā. And jīva it is neither, no other thing but a reflection of Brahman. That is the whole truth summarised here."

But the Vaiṣṇava says, "Here it is false. What you say Brahman that is a cosmic thing, a system, organised world, and everything is there in your Brahman. When you say Brahman, an unknown and unknowable, and that is known and knowable when we are cent-per-cent submissive to that. That is the real world, that is our home. And jīva is eternal, immortal, soul is immortal, individual soul, and that has got position there. Cid-vilāsa. Para-Brahman is there. Brahmaṇo hi pratiṣṭhāham, it is there.

śāśvatasya ca dharmasya, sukhasyaikāntikasya ca]

[Kṛṣṇa says, "I am the basis and original mainstay of the undivided divine vitality of the impersonal Brahman, which is immortal, imperishable and eternal, and is the constitutional position of inexhaustible nectar and the sweetness of the ambrosia of profound love divine."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 14.27]

brahma-bhūtaḥ prasannātmā, na śocati na kāṅkṣati
samaḥ sarveṣu bhūteṣu, mad-bhaktiṁ labhate parām
[bhaktyā mām abhijānāti, yāvān yaś cāsmi tattvataḥ
tato māṁ tattvato jñātvā, viśate tad-anantaram]

["The spotlessly pure-hearted and self-satisfied soul who has attained to his conscious divine nature neither grieves nor craves for anything. Seeing all beings equally (in the conception of My supreme energy), he gradually achieves supreme devotion (prema-bhakti) unto Me." - "Only through love and devotion can I be understood as I am. Thereafter, fully understanding Me, you can merge into My entourage."]
[Bhagavad-gītā, 18.54-5]

"First you become realised that you are Brahman, then you should come to serve Me in that plane. And when you are identified with flesh and blood, the real devotion does not begin there. Real devotion, dedication begins when you can think yourself that you are a conscious unit, you are soul and not this body or mind, above this you are soul, a particle of soul. You have got entrance there in the world of big soul Paramātmā above Brahman, Para-Brahman."

The whole philosophy is there, and nothing to do here. Here anyhow to get out of this entanglement. What you say Brahman then that is our home, infinite, back to God, back to home, home is there in the plane of soul, spirit. And we have come to identify with the body or the mental system, that is false, that is māyā. What we find ourselves in the dream, that is the mental system, that is also false, temporary, and this body is also temporary. But the soul living within that body or what we find in dream, there is the soul's spark, that body moving here and there according to its false karma. And we must reveal that soul which is within the body we find ourselves in our dream and that will go to live in the, and that is all light, the body is a dead thing, mind is also soul more or less. But really the conscious unit that is within the mind that is not vague, that is not imaginary, that is concrete thing. And what we think to be concrete here it is all false, all gets dissolved, disillusion and disappearance. But that is a permanent unit, permanent unit and that is not a part of ignorance, that is full knowledge, spirit, light. There we are and there we are quite safe and perfect, in perfection. We're in that point where what is at present ignored and forgotten by us, that the soul proper is our identification proper, true.

[manaḥ ṣaṣṭhānīndriyāṇi, prakṛti-sthāni karṣati]

["The soul is a part of Me, as My separate fragmental particle or potency. Although he is eternal, he acquires the mind and five perceptual senses, which are parts of material nature as creations of māyā, My deluding potency."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 15.7]

And that is the part and parcel of the eternal potency of the Lord. Mamaivāṁśo, "Nothing but My part. In other words it is part of My potency, particular potency."

So sixteen sāṅge, what can be carried by sixteen such so, chasuna chosati [?] sixty-four persons carried that weight. That question, that no object can exist without a subject. It is difficult to understand, follow. But if one can understand, then he can defeat the whole atheistic school. That no object; in the primary stage of creation there was fossil and no consciousness. It is very easy to say. But what is the fossil? If you will have to assert something, that it was so and so, and that so and so means conception about that. And why does it exist, conception? In the subjective area. So any existence presupposes the existence of consciousness. So consciousness is the most original. And I also add here, by introspection consciousness...

Aranya Mahārāja: As Rādhārāṇī She sends Her different associates to canvass on Her behalf, Her group. Does Candrāvalī also send her associates to canvass on her behalf?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Sometimes there's clash between the followers of Rādhārāṇī and Candrāvalī. Lalitā, Viśākhā, and there the Śaibyā and Padma, followers of Candrāvalī.

Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura has written,

[1) āmi to' svānanda-sukhada-bāsī, rādhikā-mādhaba-caraṇa-dāsī
2) duṅhāra milane ānanda kori, duṅhāra biyoge duḥkhete mari
3) sakhī-sthalī nāhi heri nayane, dekhile śaibyāke paraye mane
4) je-je pratikūla candrāra sakhī, prāṇe duḥkha pāi tāhāre dekhi'
5) rādhikā-kuñja āṅdhāra kori, loite cāhe se rādhāra hari
6) śrī-rādhā-gobinda-milana-sukha, pratikūla-jana nā heri mukha
7) rādhā-pratikūla jateka jan, sambhāṣaṇe kabhu nā hoy mana
8) bhakativinoda śrī-rādhā-caraṇe, saṅpeche parāṇa atība jatane]

[1) I am a resident of Svānanda-sukha-kuñja and a maidservant of the lotus feet of Rādhikā and Mādhava.
2) At the union of the Divine Couple I rejoice, and in Their separation I die in anguish.
3) I never look at the place where Candrāvalī and her friends stay. Whenever I see such a place it reminds me of Candrāvalī's gopī friend Śaibyā.
4) I feel pain in my heart when I catch sight of Candrāvalī's girl-friends, for they are opposed to Rādhā.
5) Candrāvalī wants to take away Rādhā's Lord Hari, thus covering the grove of Rādhikā with the darkness of gloom.
6) I never look at the faces of those who are opposed to Śrī Rādhā and Govinda's joyous union.
7) Nor do I find any pleasure in conversing with those who are opposed to Rādhā.
8) Bhaktivinoda has enthusiastically entrusted his soul to the lotus feet of Śrīmatī Rādhārāṇī.]

But still it is developed in different methods of service, different layers of service, it is necessary. Just as fasting is necessary for relishing the food, viraha, milana. Without hunger we cannot relish food, something like that. So viraha, and this competition, this is necessary to enhance, just as parakīya. Just as stealing the food, by stealing, in Krsna, this is all to enhance the satisfaction, it is necessary. This is all designed only to make intense when it comes to a standard if there is necessity to intensify then these plots are necessary. This parakīya, this stealing, this lying, this taking away, this camp, that camp, the vilasa it is necessary otherwise it is stale and one, and without vilasa.

So the concerned parties quarrel, sometimes with cause and sometimes without cause, and separation comes. Separation is necessary for the transcendental pastimes of Rādhā and Kṛṣṇa."]

Just as the natural progress of the snake is by crooked way, aher iva gatiḥ premṇaḥ, svabhāva, therefore it goes by crooked way, svabhāva-kuṭilā bhavet. Not straight going, love. Because it has to accommodate everything in it. All sorts of things possible in existence is accommodated there in love. Love means sacrifice. Sacrifice is such a degree of height that it can embrace everything.

In singing camp, what is that? Many instruments are being played, and many songs are being sung, the number of variety will be a credit in the harmony there. (sangat ?) Different types of instruments are being played, but there must be a harmony there. And the highest harmony depends among the number of the different instruments of play. Hundreds of instruments are playing in the music, but they're in one tune, that is the credit.

So sacrifice, dedication will be in its highest degree in view of such nature that it can tolerate. Aranya Mahārāja: Are there actually Ācāryas representing Candrāvalī, living? Like is there different disciplic successions?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Rāmānuja, Madhvācārya?

Aranya Mahārāja: No, no. Are there Ācāryas who are representing Candrāvalī? Like we have our Ācāryas in our line?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: There is this Vallabhācāri party which is mostly found in Gujarāt. They are sympathetic more to Candrāvalī.

Devotee: They worship the Yamunā.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yamunā also, _____ [?] and they in favour of Candrāvalī's camp than that of Rādhārāṇī.

Devotee: What is the connection with the Yamunā?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yamunā is rather, more, that is neutral _____ [?] They say that when after rasa when Kṛṣṇa withdrew, and then they could meet only on the banks of Yamunā _____ [?]

_____ [?] And Yamunā is more neutral and passive, she has to accommodate all, all the parties that may come on her bank or in the water. Even Baladeva, Baladeva's party. Balarāma has got His rasa, Balarāma's party has also to be accommodated by the Yamunā. And she had to do it reluctantly, and she withdrew. But she was forced to participate in the camp of Balarāma. And the Goswāmīns they have shown the harmony, that Balarāma externally He's enjoying the rasa, but internally in His heart He's making Kṛṣṇa to enjoy. In this way the purity and the harmony has been kept. That apparently Balarāma is seen to enjoy in a particular group, but really He's _____ [?] instrumental, a channel through which the rasa is passing to Kṛṣṇa. _____ [?] Apparently it's seen that Balarāma was very rash and haughty when Yamunā did not like to participate, cooperate with His rasa. But she was frightened by Balarāma, and force applied, then Yamunā had no other alternative but to join the rasa of Balarāma. So Yamunā's position is not like a leader of a particular party.

Devotee: The followers of Vallabhācārya, they also worship Nathaji, Śrī Nathaji.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is Madhavendra Purī's Deity, Gopāla.

Devotee: How did they get that Deity?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: When Vallabhācārya died, his son Vitthalacari - Vallabhācārya in his last days _____ [?] he had two sons, and one was, the eldest perhaps was Vitthalacari. And Vitthalacari was very much addicted to Rūpa, Sanātana. And when Vallabhācārya went away, then Rūpa, Sanātana, they made arrangement to engage him in the service of that Gopāla.

_____ [?] Especially they gave him the engagement to worship that Gopāla of Madhavendra Purī. And from that time the possession of the service was with the Vallabha party, Vitthalacari. And when there was some attack of the Mohammedans then everyone was busy to remove their Deity, first to (Bharatpur state, Kamavan?), and from there to Jaipur. And at that time Vitthalacari he removed Gopāla to Nathadwara. And from that time they're, by generation after generation, they're appointed worshipper of that Deity. But at first it was with the Gauḍīya Vaiṣṇava, and it was given by Rūpa, Sanātana, to Vitthalacari, the son of Vallabhācārya. And from that time they were the hereditary worshippers of that Deity. From Mathurā it was removed to the western side of Jotipura or the Govardhana. First removal from Mathurā to Jotipura, and from there to that Udaypur state. Nathadwara. And They're still being worshipped, that Gopāla.

Devotee: But Vallabhācārya, he's a disciple of Gadādhara Paṇḍita.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ah. He took, he was worshipper in vātsalya-rasa, but when he came in contact with Mahāprabhu's party, he could recognise that mādhurya-rasa is the highest, so he proposed Gadādhara Paṇḍita that, "I have not got mādhurya-rasa dīkṣa, you please give it to me."

Gadādhara Paṇḍita referred to Mahāprabhu. "I am not independent. You must propose to Him, and by His order I may give mantram to you."

And Vallabācārya did so, and getting permission from Mahāprabhu, he took initiation of mādhurya-rasa. Kiśora Kṛṣṇa worship, service of Kiśora Kṛṣṇa, from Gadādhara Paṇḍita.

But nowadays, there the party of Vallabhācārya, they do not admit this. "No we're independent. We're worshippers of vātsalya-rasa. We think this is the highest." In this way their movement is in that line. And when they come to mādhurya-rasa, they give preference to Yamunā. In that way. Anti party of Rādhārāṇī's camp.

But this Nimbarka school, they prefer Rādhā-Govinda, though in svakīya, not parakīya. As married husband and wife, in the Nimbarka school it is seen. Rādhā-Govinda. But Vallabhācārya's, they're worshippers generally of Gopāla. Gopāla means boy Kṛṣṇa, Who is served in the vātsalya-rasa, Nanda- Yaśodā. That is the acme of their realisation. But they do not deny that afterwards He had some sweet connection, as a consort with the small gopīs. And there they go to Yamunā. And this Candrāvalī, they do not like Rādhārāṇī, This is their position, the Vallabha school.

Devotee: So Vallabhācārya he was actually a follower of Gadādhara Paṇḍita, but this connection with Candrāvalī that came later.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That sort of deviation is found in many places in the succession. Just as there was one Harivamsa, he was a disciple of Gopāla Bhaṭṭa, but he practically deviated. And he was, it is thought, supported by Gopāla Bhaṭṭa's previous Guru, who was a great devotee, and written many books, Prabhodānanda Sarasvatī. Rādhā-rasa-sudhā-nidhi, Caitanya Satava, Navadvīpa Dhāma Satava, Vṛndāvana Sataka. Many books of high style writing is there. He supported Harivamsa to certain extent, who was the disciple of Gopāla Bhaṭṭa. There is a line from Harivamsi, Harivamsa was not accepted, in toto, by Gopāla Bhaṭṭa, who was the Guru of Harivamsa. Another branch, as if coming down from Harivamsa, they are known as Harivamsi. But their real Guru, Harivamsa Guru, is Gopāla Bhaṭṭa. That is not found there wholesale. The Rādhāramāna Veda, that represents Gopāla Bhaṭṭa, properly. But the Harivamsa school is another branch, as if. Theoretically they have recognition of Gopāla Bhaṭṭa, but practically some deviation, more addicted to the rasa vicar. And this there, the Gopāla Bhaṭṭa, direct connection, they're very careful to deal with this rasa, high type.

Just as our Guru Mahārāja, he's very cautious about to deal with these higher rasa. Rāgapaṭha gaurava bāṛge. That should be kept always over our head.

We're talking something about Him very hazy and giving much respect.

Swāmī Mahārāja did not deal perhaps, almost anything. A general rasa, a general service of Kṛṣṇa he preached, in the West. Though he knew and admitted that, "My Guru is Rādhārāṇī. Rādhārāṇī my Gurudeva, has ordered me to preach to the West. And Kṛṣṇa, my friend, You are to help me, because Rādhārāṇī will be satisfied, my Gurudeva. And Your business is also like that, so You must come to help me. I'm going to carry out the order of Rādhārāṇī."

...

In Bhāgavatam the explanation is there, prakṛti-vaicitryād, and, pāramparyeṇa.

[evaṁ prakṛti-vaicitryād bhidyante matayo nṛṇām
pāramparyeṇa keṣāñcit pāṣaṇḍa-matayo 'pare]

["Thus, due to the great variety of desires and natures among human beings, there are many different theistic philosophies of life, which are handed down through tradition, custom and disciplic succession. There are other teachers who directly support atheistic viewpoints."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.14.8]

The deviation from the main line. What is the cause? First religion was one, now so many things are going on in the name of religion _____ [?] prakṛti-vaicitryād.

"I told it to Brahmā. From Brahmā, all his disciples heard, so many. And they, according to their own capacity of thinking, stage, they modified when they gave delivery to their own disciples."

Some modification came. This is psychological truth.

Once in our psychological class, in our college, our professor told that, "Mind has got a colour."

To prove that he told one thing. The class student arrangement was in this way. Begin from this side and coming around in this side. He told something to the first boy and put it in writing there, and kept on the table. And asked the first boy, speak it to the second, second to the third, third to the fourth, in this way. After fifty persons when it came he told, "Cry aloud what you have received from that man." He told and he wrote, "So the first thing was this, and when it came through me, through fifty members, now it has become like this."

So colour, colour, colour. Modify, modify, modify, in this way, from one Guru, so many disciples are hearing, but according to their capacity, they're catching them and mixing with their own mental experience, they give delivery to their disciple. And that disciple also taking that modified thing, again modification of his own mental colour and he's giving delivery, in this way. Sa kāleneha mahatā, yogo naṣṭaḥ parantapa.

[imaṁ vivasvate yogaṁ, proktavān aham avyayam
vivasvān manave prāha, manur ikṣvākave' bravīt
evaṁ paramparā-prāptam, imaṁ rājarṣayo viduḥ
sa kāleneha mahatā, yogo naṣṭaḥ parantapa]

[Kṛṣṇa tells Arjuna: "First I instructed the sun-god Sūrya in this knowledge, and from Sūrya it passed to Manu, and from Manu to Ikṣvāku; so from the beginning of time, I am giving My tidings to others, transmitting the truth that I am the goal through this system of disciplic succession, generation after generation. The current is damaged by the influence of this material world."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 4.1-2]

By modification, modification, modification, the real truth to the minimum standard it reaches, it's natural in the plane of māyā. So He has got the necessity of coming again, and again, to re-establish the same truth.

When He's saying to Arjuna: "That I first, this is not new what I speak to you, this karma yoga. First I told it to Sūrya, and from Vaivasvata, from there Manu, in this way, it came down and now disappeared, minimum, I again say to you."

"How You told to Manu?"

"But I had My previous birth, I know them all, you do not know."

In this way, it is modified. Somewhere the modification becomes slow, somewhere it may be very quick, but modification goes on. And again when it comes in the hand of a greater person who descends here, then again it is purified. It is also possible some stalwart persons are sent from Vaikuṇṭha, from Goloka, to take up the thread and continue. Then they take up, impurity is also purged out, and in the more purer type, he continues the current of purer type. It is also possible by His will.

So the śikṣā guru-paramparā has been taken by Gauḍīya Maṭh, not dikṣā Guru, dikṣā Guru from Vipina, Jāhnavā. So many persons, mostly ladies came to Vipina Goswāmī and Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura took from Vipina gosai. From Vipina gosai and Jāhnavā Devī, so many ladies are there. But Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura especially empowered by the Lord, he purified the whole canal, what dirts accumulated in the line, that was purified and delivered in a novel way. And our Guru Mahārāja he also came down to take up that thread and pushed in that line of Bhaktivinoda. Before this we find the purity can be traced in Viśvanātha Cakravārti, and before that Narottama Ṭhākura. In the middle some dirt came within the thought. So śikṣā guru-paramparā has been accepted, not dikṣā Guru, formal. The spirit is more important than the form. Who can understand the real spirit, he can neglect the form.

Devotee: So Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura, his real connection through śikṣā.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He took it from Jagannātha Bābājī Mahārāja, he took śikṣā, and veśa, from Jagannātha Dāsa Bābājī.

Devotee: He mentions in Bhāgavata-Ārka-Marīci-mālā, he mentions that Svarūpa Dāmodara came to him in a dream, and told him to compile this book.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Compile and give a new explanation of the first śloka of Bhāgavatam. In dream he got Svarūpa Dāmodara's explanation of the first śloka of Bhāgavatam, in new type, new, which is not given by the previous Ācārya, including Jīva Goswāmī. Tejo-vāri-mṛdāṁ yathā vinimayo yatra tri-sargo 'mṛṣā.

[janmādy asya yato 'nvayād itararaś cārtheṣv abhijñaḥ svarāṭ
tene brahma hṛdā ya ādi-kavaye muhyanti yat sūrayaḥ tejo-vāri-mṛdāṁ yathā vinimayo yatra tri-sargo 'mṛṣā dhāmnā svena sadā nirasta-kuhakaṁ satyaṁ paraṁ dhīmahi]

["O my Lord, Śrī Kṛṣṇa, son of Vasudeva, O all pervading Personality of Godhead, I offer my respectful obeisances unto You. I meditate upon Lord Śrī Kṛṣṇa because He is the Absolute Truth and the primeval cause of all causes of the creation, sustenance and destruction of the manifested universes. He is directly and indirectly conscious of all manifestations, and He is independent because there is no other cause beyond Him. It is He only who first imparted the Vedic knowledge unto the heart of Brahmājī, the original living being. By Him even the great sages and demigods are placed into illusion, as one is bewildered by the illusory representations of water seen in fire, or land seen on water. Only because of Him do the material universes, temporarily manifested by the reactions of the three modes of nature, appear factual, although they are unreal. I therefore meditate upon Him, Lord Śrī Kṛṣṇa, Who is eternally existent in the transcendental abode, which is forever free from the illusory representations of the material world. I meditate upon Him, for He is the Absolute Truth."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.1.1]

There, tejo-vāri-mṛdāṁ. Jīva is represented as vāri, tej on the other side, the svarúpa-śakti, and mṛd this world. Jīva is taṭasthā, taṭasthā jīva, has been compared there with vāri.

Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura's new type of explanation comes in this line. Vāri, between teja, this higher, and earth. The middle stage is vāri and that is tat, the margin, and jīva is of that position. In this way he has explained that śloka. It is difficult to follow. A new type of explanation in that śloka.

Many scholars, even including Śaṅkara school, that Sarasvatī, that writer of Advaita Siddhī, the greatest modern book of Advaita school, Madhusudhan Sarasvatī. He also attempted to give explanation of these three introductory ślokas of Bhāgavatam.

tene brahma hṛdā ya ādi-kavaye muhyanti yat sūrayaḥ

A mystic śloka, a poem very mystic. When I was a child in my home, I heard this śloka from one of my cousins. He was a good scholar, I remember, it seemed to me a very mystic śloka at that time though I was a child, especially this portion, tejo-vāri-mṛdāṁ yathā vinimayo. Inter-change of this earth, water, and the fire, inter change. Yathā vinimayo yatra tri-sargo 'mṛṣā. Sāttva rāja tāma, the three guṇas. These three general conceptions of things, tri-sargo 'mṛṣā, three has been taken in many ways of thought, tri-sargo, all very mystic. The whole thing coming in a śloka.

As much as Mahāprabhu says to Sanātana Goswāmī, when he says: "Oh You explained that ātmārāma śloka sixty one ways, You are Kṛṣṇa Himself, You can explain any way You like."

Then Mahaprabhu told: "Why do you praise Me, Sanātana, don't you know that every letter of Bhāgavat is Kṛṣṇa Himself, purna, infinite. Every letter of Bhāgavat is infinite, representing infinite meaning, so why do you praise Me, Sanātana."

So the first śloka of Bhāgavatam is containing everything. The whole infinite is there. Mahāprabhu says that, "Every letter is infinite, because no sum total of finite things can make infinite. In infinite, every part of infinite is infinite." So Bhāgavatam, this first śloka, the basis of the whole Bhāgavatam truth is condensed infinite. And when in my childhood I heard it, it seemed something, I heard many ślokas, but few śloka has created impression in me as of that mystic type. This is one of them, and especially this portion. Tejo-vāri-mṛdāṁ yathā vinimayo yatra tri-sargo 'mṛṣā. Others are more or less clear.

tene brahma hṛdā ya ādi-kavaye muhyanti yat sūrayaḥ

This is more or less clear. But, tejo-vāri-mṛdāṁ yathā vinimayo yatra tri-sargo 'mṛṣā, this line seemed to me very mystic. Dhāmnā svena sadā nirasta-kuhakaṁ satyaṁ paraṁ dhīmahi, did not seem so much mystic. And some ślokas in Bhāgavatam, seemed to me very encouraging, and condensed truth.

yathā nabhasi meghaugho, reṇur vā pārthivo 'nile
evaṁ draṣṭari dṛsyatvam, āropitam abuddhibhiḥ

["The unintelligent equate the sky with the clouds, the air with the dust particles floating in it, and think that the sky is cloudy or that the air is dirty. Similarly, they also implant material bodily conceptions on the spiritual self."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.3.31] bhidyate hṛdaya-granthiś...

83.05.06.B

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja:

[bhidyate hṛdaya-granthiś, chidyante sarva-saṁśayāḥ
kṣīyante cāsya karmāṇi,] mayi dṛṣṭe 'khilātmani

["The knot in the heart is pierced, all misgivings are cut to pieces and the chain of fruitive actions is terminated when I am seen as the Supreme Personality of Godhead."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam,11.20.30]

The few ślokas like this, were very much, thought to me, that is the whole truth is within this here, representing the central thought. Just as Rūpa Goswāmī's śloka, all giving meaning of general character. What Rūpa Goswāmī has given mostly, that is that.

ataḥ śrī-kṛṣṇa-nāmādi na bhaved grāhyam indriyaiḥ
sevonmukhe hi jihvādau svayam eva sphuraty adaḥ

["Because the name of Kṛṣṇa is identical with Kṛṣṇa Himself, and on the absolute spiritual platform, Kṛṣṇa's name, form, qualities, and associates, cannot be appreciated by the material

senses. However, when one engages the tongue in chanting the Holy Names of the Lord and tasting the remnants of the Lord's food, Kṛṣṇa gradually reveals Himself to the purified senses of that devotee."]

[Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, Pūrva-vibhāga, 2.234]

A very central representation, whatever you do, it may not be devotion proper. One thing must be present. What is that? Sevonmukhatā, serving attitude, then only will it have recognition of devotion, otherwise not, repetition of mundane jugglery. But sevonmukhe, the serving attitude, the spirit of dedication must be there, then it will be bhakti, devotion proper. To take the Name, to arcana, to dance, so forms are not the reality, but the reality is the underlying attitude, whether it is dedicating to Kṛṣṇa, that is the criteria. So the criteria: aher iva gatiḥ premṇaḥ, [Ujjvala-nīlamaṇi], the original thinking, that is giving explanation to many thoughts. The basic conception, generalised, basic conception is given mostly in the teachings of Rūpa Goswāmī. The depth of his conception is very high.

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Here I stop.

One Persian bursar he wanted to taste the sweet fruit, mango. But in those old days no quick - to take mango, who was partial, was very difficult, because on the way it becomes rotten. So the bursar could not take any sweet ripe mango. But he's a Persian bursar, his will must be fulfilled. What to do? Then one by one all his higher officers were sent.

"You must have mango for me here."

Then one shrewd minister he came to India. And scrutinisingly analysed what is mango, all these things. But it was not very quick conveyance to take the mango in those days. So all attempts to take, it becomes helpless, rotten on the way. Then what to do? He noticed in the taste of mango, and then, it's a ridiculous tale, he managed there some fakirs to - there was the tamarind and the sugar was mixed in a place there, and that was put into some pot. And there they asked a mullah to smear his beard into that tamarind and sugar paste. One mix was created and smeared in the beard of that mullah, and he took him to that Persian Shah.

"You suck this beard, and you may think that you're taking mango."

Devotees: [Group laughter]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Because in mango there's some fibres in this, and sweet and sour, sour, sweet, and some fibre. So fibre, that means the beard. And sweet and sour paste, that was mixed, smeared in the beard. "And now you can taste mango from sucking his beard." _____ [?]

Vidagdha Mādhava: Was he satisfied?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What to do?

Vidagdha Mādhava: Persia, no mangos?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Eh?

Vidagdha Mādhava: Obviously in Persia - some reason there's no mango.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No mango that side. Up to Bombay in India. And outside India, in the west side, Indonesia, then Ceylon, Śrī Laṅkā, all these places there are mango trees. But not in the western side. Now I do not know whether there are mango trees in Europe or America. Have you got mango trees in America?

Vidagdha Mādhava: Yes. South America and all the tropical places now have mango.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Oh. Tropical. Africa?

Vidagdha Mādhava: They're from India.

Devotee: Yes. The Portuguese when they came to South America they brought.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Oh. And this papaya, that has come, taken by the Portuguese here.

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: It was not in India previously, the papaya. Papaya, and many things. So in Jagannātha temple the papaya cannot enter. Ha, ha.

Vidagdha Mādhava: Hare Kṛṣṇa. They cannot offer to Lord Jagannātha?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What is produced in the soil of India previously, that is only given for the bhoga of Jagannātha. Not this potato also - potato cannot enter the Jagannātha temple.

Vidagdha Mādhava: Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Only the green banana, and the urad dahl pulse, and some _____ [?] These are a few things that are offered there. Not anything that was imported afterwards, this potato, the papaya, they were taken by the Portuguese here first.

Devotee: Also, Guru Mahārāja, when I was in Vṛndāvana, I was visiting many temples. Every day I'd just go and I was alone and visited many temples. But only one temple they didn't agree me to enter, this big, big marble temple in Vṛndāvana. And I tried to speak with the Mahārāja there, and he came to speak with me. And I asked him, please let me enter for a few minutes and I'll have darśana.

And he said, "No. Not possible. It's tradition."

And I said, Why? What's the main reason? - in Raṅganātha?

And he told me, "Because you belong to a meat eating family." This was the main reason. And I could realise how sinful it is to eat meat. This was the main reason that he told me that the westerners are not allowed there, because they are...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: When Acyutānanda was staying in India, he went to some Madhva's temple, Madhvācārya temple in the south Kanada, Udupi, and then he wanted to have darśana.

But they put objection. "You are eater of cow flesh, go-mamsa, so we can't allow you."

Then he put - they were not even taken to talk with him, but only one of them who came to Gauḍīya Maṭha, visited _____ [?] That gentleman used to talk, but others did not like to talk with him. Anyhow he was the mediator.

And Acyutānanda told me, "I asked whether the power of the beef is more to pollute us, or the power of Hari Nāma is greater to purify? The power of the purification of the Name of the Lord, whether that is more higher potency, or the beef has got to impure? Which has got higher potency, Hari Nāma or beef? Beef can pollute us, and Hari Nāma can purify us, but who is more powerful?"

Then of course that gentleman had to admit that Hari Nāma is more powerful.

But then, if I took beef I admit that I'm within a country where I'm born, no consideration of taking this or that, we take everything. But the power of Hari Nāma to purify us must be infinitely more. So you can consider that.

Devotee: Jaya!

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So, of course the question may come, how much we're able to take the Holy Name. The question of nāmāparādha, nāmābhāsa. The nāmāparādha is there, and how far, independent of nāmāparādha we can take the Name.

So generally the Śālagrāma worship _____ [?] creates difficulty, in many cases.

I heard from Swāmī Mahārāja about this Pradyumna _____ [?] His Śālagrāma worship was without caring his order. That was the cause of his downfall. He was very much fond of going through the scriptures. Sanskrit scholar of Sanskrit language. Pradyumna. The Śālagrāma has different symptoms, that they demand some sort of special purification.

_____ [?] "Must be such and such qualification there, before they can touch and worship Me. Otherwise they will commit offence and will be punished."

In Hari-bhakti-vilāsa we find quotation from different scriptures about the Śālagrāma.

But the worship of Giridhari is more generous, no harm. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Speciality everywhere.

Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura has ordered that in Yoga-pīṭha only a brāhmaṇa's son will be allowed to worship, not these converted brāhmaṇas. Our Guru Mahārāja he respected Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura's direction and did everything accordingly.

A special will of the Lord thereby. Also in the case of Śālagrāma are of different types. And among each type has got its specific independent free will He has got. He may not accept some, but accept others. He's independent. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Devotee: Guru Mahārāja. Sometimes I feel a little morose in consideration to achieve the goal of life. Because I was in Vṛndāvana I see so much different schools, and so much different paths. And even people born in India with so many facilities with śāstra, sādhu is there, they still - it's not so easy to achieve the goal. And what to speak about me that took birth in the west, and so much contamination. And I feel that the goal for me is very far and...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Considering our case we're hopeless. But I consider the infinite characteristic of the Grace of the Lord, the Absolute, that we may be hopeful of our grace. I may be meanest of the mean, but He's the most generous of the generous. So I have got some hope. In this way we're to approach.

And one who'll think that he's got some purity in him, that is disqualification. 'I'm so noble, I'm great, I'm pure, I'm big.' All these thoughts are disqualification.

'I'm meanest of the mean, so I deserve His Grace, His Mercy. He must show His mercy towards me, because I'm the worst, my position. So I'm qualified to receive His Grace.' That should be the way of the finite to approach the Infinite. Otherwise finite may be as much as big, no consideration that he can stand in compared with Infinite. Only negative side should be increased, and not artificially, sincerely. He must feel that he's the most needy. And that will be the cause of attraction of the high. This is bhakti. Devotional line is like this.

mat-tulyo nāsti pāpātmā, nāparādhī ca kaścana parihāre 'pi lajjā me, kiṁ bruve puruṣottama

["There is no parallel to my sinful, criminal life. Everything that can be conceived of as bad is found in me. O Supreme Lord, I am even ashamed to come before You to petition, 'please forgive my offences.' What more can I say than this?"] [Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, 1.2.154]

& [Śrī Śrī Prapanna-jīvanāmṛtam, p 125]

"Oh, the highest of the Lord, my position is so low. There's none who can be compared with me in sinfulness. Nāparādhī ca kaścana. In case of offence also I hold worst position, nāparādhī. Parihāre 'pi lajjā me. I feel shame to mention to You in the application that I'm so low, so mean. I'm ashamed to look to my own inner meanness, that shall ask You to be forgiven, to be pardoned. I'm so low I can't express it."

In this way the devotees are praying to the Lord. So our qualification, want, of disqualification to feel Him, because we're finite, we're treacherous party. We do not care for the service of the Lord, but we came to enjoy, which should be enjoyed by Him. Everything to be enjoyed by the Lord. But I, a traitor, I came to enjoy that. That is māyā. Māyā means to try to exploit things which should be utilised in the service of my Noble Lord. I want to encroach that. Most heinous attempt I made, and others are also making like that.

Devotee: Guru Mahārāja. How this kṛpa-siddha, how one can be, attract Kṛṣṇa to be a recipient of this kṛpa- siddha? Because I don't feel that I can achieve the goal. I'm not a nitya-siddha, and also I'm not feeling that I can achieve by sādhana-siddha.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: We must feel, to understand, the depth of ones helplessness first. Durda, dainya, ātma-nivedana, these are all qualifications of a devotee. Dainya means humility. The humility has got no end. Extreme humility, and sincere. You must feel that is the measurement of the progress. Helplessness, to feel helplessness, that sincere feeling of ones helplessness. And prayer for a shelter. That should be the criterion of a devotee. As much as helpless, and as much as intense prayer for a proper shelter, and abusing himself. "That I'm the most heinous sinner _____ [?] That is in the negative side, and that must be sincere, not mere posing. We should be very careful about the posing of a devotee. To take the, to wear the dress of a devotee, most dangerous pratiṣṭhā. We must be very careful _____ [?] not to take the praise of a devotee. That will be dangerous. So no end of searching the insincerity in ones heart.

Mahāprabhu says, "I'm shedding tears so much, and taking the Name of Kṛṣṇa, Kṛṣṇa, this is all a show. To show to the world that I'm a devotee of Kṛṣṇa. Only imitation, all these tears, they're not genuine."

Mahāprabhu Himself says like that. "I'm shedding so much tears, but I'm all hypocritical. I have no, not a bit, a speck, a drop of devotion to Kṛṣṇa, in reality."

It is so high, and I'm so low, it cannot be possible. So search your self where is the meanness. Admit it, admit thoroughly you're meanest of the mean, how you're meanest of the mean. Search and detect and try to remove. It's a very high thing, and not a very cheap thing, to be a devotee. There is a proverb here.

Vaisnava _____ [?] I had an ambition to become a Vaiṣṇava.
But tṛṇād api _____ [?] When I came to - came in contact with the poem, that tṛṇād api sunīcena, taror api sahiṣṇunā, all my hopes have gone. It is not possible for a man to get the standard of quality which is required for the devotee, as described in this śloka. Hopeless.

Hopelessness is the basis of the real, or right aspiration. We must make us empty first, then it may be filled by nectar. The pride-less pot, must be empty of pride, must be empty to the infinite, exhaustively. And then purified, and then filled with nectar. The ego must go, in other words. The false ego of exploitation and renunciation, that must go, to the finish. But gradually that happens, comes to existence. Only we must go on what has been given to us, getting the life with Him, help with the devotees of the Lord, and scripture, sādhu, śāstra. Both reveal the holy scripture, and the living scripture that is the saint, the Vaiṣṇava. It has no end. We shall not _____ [?]

sādhu-śastra-kṛpāya [yadi kṛṣṇonmukha haya, sei jīva nistare, māyā tāhāre chāḍaya]

["If the conditioned soul becomes Kṛṣṇa conscious by the mercy of saintly persons who voluntarily preach scriptural injunctions and help him to become Kṛṣṇa conscious, the conditioned soul is liberated from the clutches of māyā, who gives him up."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 20.120]

_____ [?] under the direction of the Vaiṣṇava and Guru we shall continue in our type of purification by dedication to the Lord. No end, infinite. Such life is infinite, no end. Engagement with infinite is of infinite character. Whenever we think of any ending then we come in touch of māyā. Māyā means measuring. Immeasurable, Kṛṣṇa and His connection. _____ [?] All infinite. Must have to be lost in the infinite. _____ [?] that of dedication. Dedication of two types, calculative and spontaneous. Spontaneous, automatic dedication, that is the highest type. There is also classification.
_____ [?] We can begin but there's no end. One cannot think the end in his campaign. Student, not a professor. Only when particularly chosen and given, but in practice _____ a professor.

To become a professor, Mahāprabhu says, that's to becomes mad. Pralāpita vakra. "What I say as a professor I do not know. That's a delirium. Kṛṣṇa is utilising Me as an instrument to say something to you, to advise you. But I have no capacity of advising devotional things to anybody. But sometimes Kṛṣṇa uses us as an instrument to His advice, as an instrument, a mediator, an order suppler to His advices. Pralāp. When Guru advices the disciple, he says that I'm being used by Kṛṣṇa. I do not know the meaning of that what I say always." When Mahāprabhu was advising Sanātana Goswāmī He was saying like that. "Sanātana, Kṛṣṇa has got much grace for you. So He's giving much advice through Me, so I understand something is passing through Me, but I do not know them fully. What I'm bearing it's by Kṛṣṇa for your benefit. I feel that only." So,

The real purpose of the Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam is very difficult to conceive and can only be known through bhakti."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 24.313]

Vyāsa has written Bhāgavatam, but it is said that he has written _____ [?] but he may not know everything there, the meaning of that book, what he has composed himself. He may know or may not know all, though everything has come from him. He was being utilised as instrument to give delivery to these things. That does not mean that he will be conversant with all that has come through him.

Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. _____ [?] Devotion, even up to liberation we cannot be _____ [?] very ridiculous. Mokṣa-, laghutā-kṛt sudurllabhā.

["Uttamā-bhakti, the purest devotion, is the vanquisher of all sin and ignorance, and the bestower of all auspiciousness; liberation is belittled in the presence of such devotion, which is very rarely attained, the embodiment of the deepest ecstasy, and the attractor of Śrī Kṛṣṇa Himself."]

[Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, Pūrvva, 1.17]

We can reach a plane where from we can see the liberation is nothing. A thing of very lower order. But still we may not think that we have attained bhakti, devotion. Still it is highly - not to be found in the market. Very, very rare, sudurllabhā. Sāndrānanda-viśeṣātmā, śrī-kṛṣṇākarṣiṇī ca sā. What is its real conception? A peculiar kind of ecstasy, and that can forcibly draw Kṛṣṇa to the heart of the devotee. The highest repository of bhakti is there, that she can forcibly draw Kṛṣṇa to the heart of a devotee.

That is so near to life, so near to vitality. It is the vitality of the vitality. If I had not come in touch with such a potent vitality, I should have been finished. I could not live at all if such nectar had not been extended into me. It would have been completely impossible to go on with my life."] [Sermons Of The Guardian Of Devotion, 1, p 109]

A very wonderful expression. Kemone dharitām de. That body we're already bearing. The future is going to influence the past. Kemone dharitām de. Already I was existent. The prospect is such I have come to, he says, "How could we - if such valuation could not come to me then how could we bear a body in the past? Kemone dharitām de. That means it shows that who says this he's a pārṣada, already he had scent of the thing. "I had some peep of prospect of this nature in life fulfilment, this sort of fulfilment I had suppressed in my life. I was searching after that. Now finding this I come to conclusion that my here in this body has been successful. In other words, what the inner search of my heart at last I have found what was the thing of my inner search, inner-most search, at last I have come to that. And Gaurāṅga has given that fulfilment of my inner-most demand, thirst. He's mine. Without Him none should have any conception of life."

pāiyā amṛtadhunī, piye viṣa-garta-pāni, janmiyā se kene nāhi maila]

["Anyone who attains a human body but does not take to the cult of Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu is baffled in his opportunity. Amṛtadhunī is a flowing river of the nectar of devotional service. If after getting a human body one drinks the water in a poison pit of material happiness instead of the water of such a river, it would be better for him not to have lived, but to have died long ago."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Ādi-līlā, 13.123]

Janmiyā se kene nāhi maila. The thing is here and if anyone cannot have it what is the worth of his life? He should better have died, he should have died. If living he cannot come in touch of such valuable thing he should have died. Janmiyā se kene nāhi maila. Wherever he was born he should have died if he cannot come to his eternal prospect, fulfilment. This sort of expression coming to show about this extraordinary wonderful characteristic of the goal in Kṛṣṇa. Our goal in Kṛṣṇa is of such type, the devotees are giving description in different ways, wonderfully strange. The fulfilment of life how, without that one should not live to that value. Kṛṣṇa. That the devotees - to the present, to the market, the canvasser is to take the choicest thing for canvassing. The capitalist also is astonished by his choice, and sometimes showing gratitude to him.

"You have represented highly valuable things of mine to the others. So much to say I was not myself conscious that such things were in Me. You have taken from My storehouse so many tasteful things. Was it in My store? Your choice makes Me more valuable. So I submit to you. So beautiful things you have found in Me. I cannot but feel proud by your touch. By your connection these beautiful things have come, have been discovered in Me, I wonder."

It also may be possible, this also may be possible. So Kṛṣṇa's obligation towards Rādhā, the wholesale dealer. Partial dealers there are of different groups but wholesale dealer of every commodity available there in the store, that wholesale dealer. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Krsna napay par [?] Kṛṣṇa Himself cannot measure the greatness of Rādhārāṇī.
So our Guru Mahārāja asked to keep Her in reverence on your head, over your head. Don't be bold enough to approach direct.

pūjāla rāgapaṭha gaurava bāṅge [mattala sādhu-jana viṣaya range]

At respectful distance above, try to keep Her with Her group. Don't rush towards that thing, it is not of that type. So how valuable they are this rāga-mārga who worship Kṛṣṇa in this way, the way of love. The loving service, prema-sevā, it is not ordinary thing, not a mechanical thing. Don't try to finish, to limit it. It is of unlimited type. Don't rush to enter, make trespass, don't commit offence. This is the prospect of your lives after lives, in this way live. Infinite has everywhere centre nowhere circumference. Don't try to put any circumference there, the centre of your prospect thing.

sakhyāya te mama namo 'stu namo 'stu nityam
dāsyāya te mama raso 'stu raso 'stu satyam

[Śrīla Raghunātha Dāsa Goswāmī, the greatest exponent of the faith of servitude to Śrīmatī Rādhārāṇī, Rādhā-dāsyam, wrote: "I won't allow myself to become fascinated by the proposal of the higher level service as a friend, sākhya. Rather, I shall tend always to do the lower service, dāsya, the service of the servant. I shall not consider myself to be a high-class servitor and I shall always tend to go towards the lower class of service. But He may forcibly take me to a higher service - 'No, you are no longer to serve there; now you must serve in this higher category.'"] [Vilāpa-kusamāñjali, 16]

Let my respect be towards the friendly connection with the Supreme Master. Respect to friendly connection, but servant connection I pray to my own self try to connect with the service connection, service taste, try always towards that. Expressively invite service and learn to give respect to the friendly service. Don't venture to tread on your foot on that plane, don't. "Where angels fear to tread fools rush in." Don't become a fool but try to follow the angels. Keep it always on a respectable higher level and try to connect yourself with the service.

When Pratāparudra began his apparently mean service as a sweeper, then Mahāprabhu gave him an embrace. We should not forget that, that is the very backbone of devotion. Always towards lower services, and automatically from the other side the choice comes for you for higher plane. Don't you try to force in there, but show your modesty, tendency to go to the lower level. And it is the duty of the higher to take you in a proper place. Dāsyāya te mama raso 'stu. My sincere attraction may be towards lower service, the service of a servant. But I must be conscious of a friendly service, I show respect to that. That should be our attitude. We must have the knowledge that that is high, but I'm not fit, it is high, I'm not fit. So many Vaiṣṇavas of higher character are there. I must engage myself to the lower level, then automatically from the Yogamāyā party, they're not sitting idle, whoever will be fit for any particular plane the Yogamāyā is there. Others will forcibly take him from particular plane and put to some higher plane. They're not inanimate objects, they're all conscious. So your modesty would not be ignorantly accepted as your unfitness, no fear of that.

Of infinite meaning and prospect, the general direction. Oh, do you take the process of divine sound? Only the easy course to reach that goal by the divine sound? Then, to come to that level you will have to accept such attitude. Then you'll feel that there is a very fine level through which you can reach there, the finest level is there. But you're to accept such attitude real, then it will be possible. Not by no necessity of removing a mountain, or to oppose a river current, big things won't be necessary. But only by cultivation of the spiritual sound you'll be able to reach the goal, but you'll have to take such attitude. Then you will feel that you've come to a very particular subtle level, only through sound we can go there. Our soul can be attracted, can be connected with that. But if we can pose ourselves with this, tṛṇād api sunīcena, taror api sahiṣṇunā, that means much. That is not an outward statement. If we go to adopt that sort of mood we shall have to cross many oceans, many oceans I shall have to cross, I shall experience. But from my present position of egoistic boast, when I'm to go far to the lowest level of a blade of grass, countries after countries I'm to go through, planes after planes. Taror api sahiṣṇunā. To get into, to reach into that sort of attitude, so many suns and moons, earths, that will be passed in my way. Concrete things I shall have to bid adieu. So many basic thoughts of the concrete bigger things that has to bid adieu, leave, only to go, to reach to that attitude properly. And amāninā mānadena. My connection with the subtle and higher things, that will have to ignore, amāninā mānadena. The plane of life will be changed, the activity, the plane will be changed where activity should be, energy should be invested. Not in this plane what we see about us, concrete.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol.

Milton told: "Peace hath her victory not less renowned than war." In his sonnet I read: "Peace hath her victory not less renowned than war." If we search the meaning of that deeper then we may come to: tṛṇād api sunīcena, taror api sahiṣṇunā amāninā mānadena, the adoptability of such plane of life practically in our utilisation. The many victories to be conquered to reach to that plane, your peaceful. "Peace that hath victory not less renowned than war."

Mohammed's direction, "Koran in one hand, sword in another hand. If anyone does not accept, behead immediately." War, ha, ha.

And Mahāprabhu saying just the opposite. Sunīc, don't forget giving resistance. Taror api sahiṣṇunā. If any resistance comes, try to forbear with the best of your energy. Amāninā mānadena. Don't try to encroach upon the prospect of others, all physical prospect. Mānadena. And don't give any opposition to them. With these such adoptabilities, this is war, peace, war in peace, peace hath her victory, this is victory in peace, peace, not physical war. If you can attain these victories, then you're automatically led to a particular plane where you'll find ample beyond your expectation and your conception.

Wonderful things, renowned they found all the sound representing Kṛṣṇa. Only through the Name this Kṛṣṇa is overflowing, all pervading, and it has got its wonderful flow all full of meaning. Not that inanimate flow in the plane as if the flow of the ether, and full of meaning. Who can catch? The scientists who can come to the level of ether s/he may find many wonderful things in that vibration, must come to the plane of ether. So only the sound aspect of the whole is so sweet, so attractive, so happy, we cannot conceive or think out it is there. Not unscientific.

sevonmukhe hi jihvādau svayam eva sphuraty adaḥ]

["Because the name of Kṛṣṇa is identical with Kṛṣṇa Himself, and on the absolute spiritual platform, Kṛṣṇa's name, form, qualities, and associates, cannot be appreciated by the material senses. However, when one engages the tongue in chanting the Holy Names of the Lord and tasting the remnants of the Lord's food, Kṛṣṇa gradually reveals Himself to the purified senses of that devotee."]

[Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, Pūrva-vibhāga, 2.234]

All the attempts must be made in that spirit. "I'm for Him." That will be the main principle of our advance. "I'm for Him." Sevonmukhe hi jihvādau. Then it will be able for us to reach that plane. "I'm for Him." "Die to live." The whole process. "The peace that hath victory," but "Die to live," that process always. Dissolve this ego, considering that ego, to leave this ego means to embrace death, subtle death, to leave a particular ego, one layer of ego may require many births to satisfy its death. The different covers of ego, but the wholesale ego should be dissolved. "I'm for Him. I'm for Him. Die to live." I want the property of my wonderful dream to be satisfied. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari.

Devotee: _____ [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ah. Tṛṇād api slokete pare alovar [?] One says, "I had much hope that I shall be a Vaiṣṇava. But when the tṛṇād api śloka, that advice came to me, oh, that is impossible."

Devotee: Swāmī Mahārāja he also said one time, Lord Zetland asked, "I want to be a Vaiṣṇava, I want to be brāhmaṇa. What do I have to do?"

So Goswāmī Mahārāja told him, "You have to give up meat, women, intoxication and gambling."

He said, "Impossible. It cannot be done."

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Lord Zetland previously was Lord Ronaldshay, he was Governor of Bengal. And when the first non cooperation movement began we were in the College Square, just in front of the university there is a [water] tank and just on the eastern side the Boddhi [?] Society was founded at that time and Ronaldshay came to open. I did not know. Suddenly I found some students they're crying, "Shame, shame, shame." Lord Ronaldshay is passing in his car after opening that recent ceremony, he's going away by the street. And some students they were aware of the fact, they began to cry, "Shame, shame, shame." Then afterwards I inquired and I heard that Ronaldshay is passing and they're crying, "Shame, shame, shame."

He was a very meek, mild gentleman, Ronaldshay. Then I heard that he after leaving India he went to England. And he, perhaps after the death of his father he was the owner of Zetland perhaps, a locality, some zamīndār or something like that, Lord Zetland. Lord Ronaldshay afterwards was known as Lord Zetland and he was Secretary for State for India.

He gave lectures about Vaiṣṇavism, I have got, it was out in Statesman or some newspaper, the cutting I have got perhaps with me in praise of Vaiṣṇavism.

"I went to Navadwīpa. I saw the Vaiṣṇavas. I had from my memory those twelve followers of Christ, and this and that, so many mentioning this and that." He has praised about our Guru Mahārāja, that, "He has started that Vaiṣṇava cult to preach and come here." And Vana Mahārāja met him and Goswāmī Mahārāja also met him. And he had some appreciation of the Indian scriptures.

In another time when I was in Madras Maṭh, in some publication I found that Zetland says - they gave some reform government, proposed some reform government to India, but Indian political leaders not going to accept that.

"That the veto power is there so it is nothing. You are giving something, election, this parliament always, but the Viceroy can give veto to everything." The Indian leaders said, "This is nothing, in many things they may give veto."

But Zetland was remarking at that time, "That they're suffering under māyā." Ha, he quoted this that just as in Indian philosophy the position of māyā, "so they're suffering from the influence of māyā. It is only their imagination that we shall give veto to everything. No, veto in special cases, so there is other things this right they're getting from this reform proposal in this way. The māyā, the thing it is existing and not existing, they're afraid of the existence of the veto, but veto is not to be used always, so they're only suffering from māyā." And this was his argument.

And also it was too that Goswāmī Mahārāja asked, "You'll have to give this and that."

"But it is impossible." Ha, ha. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Aranya Mahārāja: Mahāprabhu, He instructed Raghunātha Dās Goswāmī to always wear this verse, this śloka, tṛṇād api, around his neck as a necklace.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ah. And asked him.

Don't eat delicious dishes, but take whatever ordinary food may come of its own accord; and don't dress luxuriously. Always try to take the Name of Kṛṣṇa with the attitude of giving respect to others, without expecting respect from anyone. Be humble, but never aspire after respectful dealings from others. In this way, try to take the Name of Kṛṣṇa constantly. And within, try to serve Śrī Śrī Rādhā-Kṛṣṇa in Vṛndāvana. Mentally, be in Vṛndāvana rendering Service to Śrī Śrī Rādhā-Kṛṣṇa līlā."] Grāmya-vārtā nā kahibe, grāmya-kathā nā śunibe. The worldly talks you must not attend, neither you engage yourself in that. Bhāla nā khāibe āra. Don't seek after the satisfaction of your tongue and belly. Or don't try to get any good dress which is appreciated by the people. Amānī mānada hañā kṛṣṇa-nāma sadā la'be. Give honour to all, but don't seek honour from anyone. In this way you will take the Name of Kṛṣṇa always, continuously. And vraje rādhā-kṛṣṇa-sevā mānase karibe. But internally in your mind try to serve Rādhā-Govinda in Vṛndāvana. As you are in Vṛndāvana you are serving Rādhā-Govinda. That will be your mental aspiration. And externally you are to go on and live your life in this way, not good dress, nor good food, nor indulgence in the worldly topics, either saying or hearing, and always giving honour to all and don't seek honour from anyone. In this mood you go on."

[Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Antya-līlā, 6.236-7]

But in spite of my so much fervent and modest appeal, if you revolt then I shall kick you and break your head by my kick." tari rakhi maro tano [?]

And Kavirāja Goswāmī has said, "I fall on your feet dust and do something for you so far you say otherwise." Very mildly.

But Vṛndāvana Dās Ṭhākura has, I had in my mind previously when I read, "This does not look well with the Vaiṣṇava's, specially with the followers of Śrī Caitanyadeva who has given ṭṛṇād api sunīcena, taror api sahiṣṇunā. Vṛndāvana Dās Ṭhākura he being a bona fide devotee, how can he have such a cruel and proud statement?"

But when I heard from Guru Mahārāja, Bhaktisiddhānta Ṭhākura, just the opposite meaning. He approached this statement from quite a different direction. One who had no other alternative but to go to eternal hell, Vṛndāvana Dās Ṭhākura has come out to do some good for him. The approach from a different quarter altogether. No hope, for them Vṛndāvana Dās Ṭhākura has come and given some hope. Why? How? He's punishing with his kicking them, and for these actions Kṛṣṇa will be moved, Nityānanda Prabhu will be moved for them. "Oh, he's cursed, he's abused by My devotee." So He will come to nourish him and thereby he will get some benefit and connection. Vṛndāvana Dās Ṭhākura by such bold and cruel sayings has insulted them, and Kṛṣṇa He'll be not be able to stand unaffected. "Oh, Vṛndāvana Dās Ṭhākura has insulted you that he will kick you. No, no, don't mean so. I am for you." Ha, ha, ha. Kṛṣṇa will come in his favour. So Vṛndāvana Ṭhākura has done in the negative side, he has done some good for that person. By such bold assertion of hateful punishment to them attracted Kṛṣṇa's attention for them in their favour. "Oh, you are so much insulted by My devotee, all right, don't be affected, I shall help you." In this way he has opened some way for their future benefit. That sort of argument I heard from him.

Whenever any bona fide devotee does something wrong to a particular man, when the son beats another boy, the one who beats, his father comes to nurse him. "Oh, my son has beaten you?" Then he comes and with soft hands - this theory. When a bona fide devotee has done something wrong to a particular person then the guardian of that devotee he's inclined to sympathise with him and in that way some good must come to him. So who had no other alternative, Vṛndāvana Dās Ṭhākura has opened the way for them. Ha, ha, in this way. I found meaning in that way from him. Who had no other way to get out from the hell, but Vṛndāvana Dās Ṭhākura has managed to provide something for them, for those persons by showing rude attitude towards them, has moved the heart of Kṛṣṇa sympathetically towards those.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari.

Devotee: Guru Mahārāja. Kṛṣṇa empowers certain souls to write Vaiṣṇava literature and others to distribute Vaiṣṇava literature. In this way as you explained Śrīnivāsa Ācārya has a very exalted position because he's the greatest distributor of Vaiṣṇava literature.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Jīva Goswāmī sent all the Vaiṣṇava scriptures prepared by them in his custody. And there was Narottama Ṭhākura and Śyāmānanda Prabhu with him, but Śrīnivāsa was given the main charge. And they came to Bengal and here near Bakura District. They came in a bullock cart and there was one native chief, of the aborigine ādivāsī section, aborigine sect. And his name was Birhambir. He had some astrologer, and there were in those days some dacoit type, whatever passing through his state he sometimes wanted to loot it, plunder. But a devotee at the same time, but plundering was some of their occupation with the ādivāsī.

And the astrologer told, "Highly valued things are within that casket."

Then he ordered, "Take it off from the street and put it in my custody."

And that was kept...

83.05.09.C

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The cart was sent back to Vṛndāvana, and these three tried their best to find out that casket of books but failed. The king has kept in his capital, in his palace, how can they find trace? No trace. Then Śyāmānanda and Narottama Ṭhākura they went to their respective locality. Śyāmānanda went to Midnapore to preach there, and Narottama Ṭhākura also to Northern Bengal and began preaching there.

But Śrīnivāsa Ācārya could not do so. "It was given in my custody, and is lost. How can I evade this responsibility." So he became half-mad. "I was entrusted with such a high responsibility and I could not do anything. It is for my sin, my crime, offence, that the books disappeared." He was wandering in the locality half-mad, disappointed, here, there.

People of that locality thought, 'Oh, that boy does not talk with anybody, has head crack, he's wandering here and there in this way.'

But that Birhambir had a Bhāgavata class every day in his temple compound. And one gentleman whose name was Vyāsa, he was reading Bhāgavatam and the chief also attended the class with many other persons. And Śrīnivāsa Ācārya, he, someday or other used to attend the class, sitting indifferently, half mad.

People thinking him a fair looking young man whose head is cracked and a desolate person he's moving.

One day unconsciously, the Vyāsa was explaining, the Guru or priest of the chief Birhambir he was explaining Bhāgavatam, one day he committed some mistake and Śrīnivāsa Ācārya unconsciously he corrected that. Then all attention fell on him. "Who is he who can catch the error of the great paṇḍit Vyāsa? Who is he?" All came to inquire.

Then when sincerely approached in that fashion he cried, "That I'm so and so, I'm wandering here frustrated because the books, the śāstras, the holy scriptures were in my custody, we were taking them, this that, the whole fact."

Then the chief he confessed. "Oh, I have stolen that box and it is in my custody, you come and see."

Then he came and saw, opened. "Yes, they're all intact there present." Then he began ārātrika, pūjā of the śāstra. And they informed Narottama Ṭhākura and Śyāmānanda and to Vṛndāvana, also to Jīva Goswāmī. "The books are already found, we have got it, don't be worried." In this way.

Then he had got a great hold in that locality and Birhambir again was initiated, got initiation from Śrīnivāsa Ācārya. Now also there are many disciples of Gauḍīya Vaiṣṇava schools that side, Viṣṇupura in Bakhura. So Śrīnivāsa Ācārya was, had much affinity towards these holy scriptures.

And this śloka comes from him, Swāmī Mahārāja sung in America, vande-rūpa-sanātanau raghu-yugau śrī-jīva-gopālakau. This was composed by Śrīnivāsa Ācārya. Vande-rūpa-sanātanau, nāna-śāstra- vicāraṇaika-nipuṇau sad-dharma-saṁsthāpakau, vande-rūpa-sanātanau raghu-yugau śrī-jīva-gopālakau. Ṣaḍ-gosvāmy-stotra. Swāmī Mahārāja sang it himself, and I'm told that in music section also, musical section, it was of very high value, his singing. The experts say that the sound echoing the sense in such a tone he sang that poem that has got very nearest connection with the meaning. That is the best type of sound I'm told, which the sound and the meaning in the tone is very nearer. Some such calculation is going on in the musical department, modern. And by that test it was valued very high, his singing. Hearty, coming from the core of the heart, the meaning and the sound are very clear and helping one another. Something like that I heard. Vande-rūpa-sanātanau raghu-yugau śrī-jīva-gopālakau. Śrīnivāsa Ācārya.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. He used to live near Katwa, Yajigram, near Katwa there is a village Yajigram, there Śrīnivāsa Ācārya lived, had his household. And he preached on all sides.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol.
Nitāi Gaura Hari bol. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol.

Devotee: Guru Mahārāja. You told that Rādhā has, Rādhārāṇī, Śrīmatī Rādhārāṇī has the highest position because She's spreading Kṛṣṇa's glories, and...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: All spreading, not only for that quality, all spreading, all the potency engaged in that. But they're all subservient to Her. She's the main principle of potency which can, as the other half. One half Kṛṣṇa another half Rādhārāṇī. Positive Negative. Predominating Moiety and Predominated Moiety. She represents all the rasa, vātsalya, sākhya, and others. Generally mādhurya-rasa has got all the constituent points of all other rasa within it. It is a full complete rasa and it includes all other rasa within that. So it is the full thing, mukhya-rasa, ādi-rasa, all comprehensive rasa. So one half Kṛṣṇa another half Rādhārāṇī, and others all come forth from Rādhārāṇī in different ways. Only another that - and that Kṛṣṇa has got His facsimile, this Balarāma and others one side. And Rādhārāṇī also has got another side, Her partial representatives.

Devotee: This means that in level of quality, to distribute, to spread is more important than to write Vaiṣṇava literature? According to the level of importance to spread, to distribute Vaiṣṇava literature is more important than to write?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I don't understand.

Devotee: He wants to know if it is more important to write literature or to distribute literature? To canvass and give literature to many or to write literature? He wants to think that canvass and give literature to many this is very good, very much more important than to write literature.

Devotee: According to your explanation that Rādhārāṇī became very dear to Kṛṣṇa because She spreads Kṛṣṇa's glories to the others and made Kṛṣṇa famous to other people.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But to write and to distribute the books, to write the books and to distribute is one and the same thing, only higher, lower. And ordinary people can distribute books. And to write that is found in the higher level, to take from higher level to dress them to be acceptable for this particular gross level. Both are similar, but more valuable who are drawing from the subtle towards gross, than one who is distributing the gross to here. And representation must be proper. The writing, only mere writing won't do, but accurate representation must be there. There may be so much writing in that name that won't be of any value, rather of opposite value. If we twist, we disfigure, misrepresent, then that will be offence. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

So I close here.

I'm told that without, in spite of the warning, some undesirability, too much addiction he has for worshipping some Śālagrāma.

Aranya Mahārāja: Many Śālagrāmas.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Many Śālagrāmas.

Aranya Mahārāja: He was keeping Them in a fish tank, in London. So that was the problem. He abused Śālagrāma and as a result he became a sahajiyā.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: To worship Śālagrāma is a dangerous thing.

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: I saw this happen many times, to many devotees this happened.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And this Jayatīrtha?

Aranya Mahārāja: Many Śālagrāmas also.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Within the box collected Śālagrāmas like stones. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Aranya Mahārāja: One boy in London who came, he had brought ten of these Śālagrāma-śilās back with him. And as a result he was - Āśraya - and he's out of devotional service. I told him, this is the problem. I advised him to put them back in the Gaṇḍhakī River, but he didn't.

...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He was the first man who came with eighteen points of difference from the ISKCON. "We are so many, we have got such differences with the present ISKCON Government." And eighteen points he put to me. I sent them to Tamāla Kṛṣṇa.

Tamāla Kṛṣṇa told, "No time now. Preaching is progressing like anything, you'll be happy to know. And when I shall go to Navadwīpa Gaura Pūrṇimā ceremony, at that time I shall meet and talk with you." But he came and went on without coming here and speaking anything to that matter.

Then again these people came and they said, "We are ill-treated by the disciples of those Ācāryas, so-called. What to do?"

I told them, in a body you can give a petition about your complaint to the managing board. And if that does not produce any consequence, then you may mix together and go on with your own work. Relief work at that time I told, form a body and go on with relief work. Those that are neglected, disappointed, dejected, collect them, don't allow them to go away from the fold of Swāmī Mahārāja. Anyhow they have entered the fold, and try to protect them.

But Pradyūmna went on and lost there. And many in this way came to me. At last this was formed, this Mahā-maṇḍal, go on working in relief work. Then Charu Swāmī and others they revolted. They were the first persons that complained against the activities. Now they can't tolerate and accuse me that I am encouraging the party against ISKCON and doing some disservice to Swāmī Mahārāja, taking the advantage of his absence, something. But I'm acting according to my conscience as I know.

In the meantime Jayatīrtha Mahārāja's example is very, very disappointing and frustrating.

Purva-saṁskāra, the previous impulse of the mind has come in a new colour to attack and to devour.

I'm told that previously he was in that party of intoxication, and also published some books about the efficacy of that thing. He was a party leader there, of the hippy. Now he was converted by Swāmī Mahārāja to this creed, now again the previous mental impulse has come out in some other form and captured him, hopelessly. Hriyate hy avaśo 'pi saḥ, pūrvābhyāsena, hriyate hy avaśo 'pi saḥ.

[pūrvābhyāsena tenaiva, hriyate hy avaśo 'pi saḥ
jijñāsur api yogasya, śabda-brahmātivartate]

["Although undesirous due to some obstacle, he again becomes attached to yoga, by dint of the practice he applied in his last life. And though he may be a practitioner still striving for perfection, he surpasses the path of fruitive action mentioned in the Vedas, and achieves a far superior fruit."] [Bhāgavad-gītā, 6.44]

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: Where's that from Mahārāja? From the Bhāgavatam?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Gītā, hriyate hy avaśo 'pi saḥ. It is perhaps mention in the good sense.

tatra taṁ buddhi-saṁyogaṁ, labhate paurva-daihikam yatate ca tato bhūyaḥ, saṁsiddhau kuru-nandana

["O son of Kuru, within one of the births I have just described to you, that unsuccessful yogī revives, from the practices of his previous life, his intelligence centred in the worship of the Supersoul. Thereafter, with renewed vigour, he again endeavours for the perfection of seeing Him."] [Bhāgavad-gītā, 6.43]

The bright side, it is.

nehābhikrama-nāśo 'sti, pratyavāyo na vidyate svalpam apy asya dharmasya, trāyate mahato bhayāt

["Even a small beginning in this devotional service cannot go in vain, nor can any loss be suffered. The most insignificant practice of such devotional service saves one from the all-devouring fear of repeated birth and death in this world."] [Bhāgavad-gītā, 2.40]

Arjuna asked, "If anyone before attaining his siddhi, full realisation, in the process of his realisation if he dies, then whether the acquired things are lost?"

Then the Lord says, "No. Whatever you will acquire that will be kept. Again in the next birth that will come to help you." In there mentioned.

Aranya Mahārāja: What happens in the case of Vaiṣṇava aparādha?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then that is covered for the time being. Sometimes it may be heavy in the lower place, so heavy. Vaiṣṇava-aparādha yadi uṭhe hātī mātā, upāḍe vā chiṇḍe, tāra śukhi' yāya pātā.

[yadi vaiṣṇava-aparādha uṭhe hātī mātā, upāḍe vā chiṇḍe, tāra śukhi' yāya pātā tāte mālī yatna kari' kare āvaraṇa, aparādha-hastīra yaiche nā haya udgama kintu yadi latāra saṅge uṭhe 'upaśākhā', bhukti-mukti-vāñchā, yata asaṅkhya tāra lekhā

'niṣiddhācāra', 'kuṭīnāṭī', 'jīva-himsana', 'lābha', 'pūjā', 'pratiṣṭhādi' yata upaśākhā-gaṇa seka-jala pāñā upaśākhā bāḍi' yāya, stabdha hañā mūla-śākhā bāḍite nā pāya]

["If a devotee commits an offence at the feet of a Vaiṣṇava while cultivating the creeper of devotional service in the material world, his offence is compared to a mad elephant that uproots the creeper and breaks it. In this way the leaves of the creeper are dried up."] ["The gardener must defend the creeper by fencing it all around so that the powerful elephant of offences may not enter."] ["Sometimes unwanted creepers, such as the creepers of desires for material enjoyment and liberation from the material world, grow along with the creeper of devotional service. The varieties of such unwanted creepers are unlimited."] ["Some unnecessary creepers growing with the bhakti creeper are creepers of behaviour unacceptable for those trying to attain devotional perfection, diplomatic behaviour, animal killing, mundane profiteering, mundane adoration, and mundane importance. All these are unwanted creepers."] ["If one does not distinguish between the bhakti-latā creeper and the other creepers, the sprinkling of water is misused because the other creepers are nourished while the bhakti-latā creeper is curtailed."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 19.156-160]

The whole thing may be uprooted, and the creeper may die, finished, then again he will have to take initiation, finished. It comes by the grace of Vaiṣṇava and by serious offences that may be wholesale uprooted, finished, withdrawn, Vaiṣṇava aparādha. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Upāḍe vā chiṇḍe, tāra śukhi' yāya pātā, tāte mālī yatna kari' kare āvaraṇa. In other offences there is some relief recommended, but here the wholesale gone. So we're advised to give a barrier so that the elephant cannot enter. That has been compared with a mad elephant, Vaiṣṇava aparādha, hātī mātā, a mad elephant, Vaiṣṇava aparādha, it may uproot the whole thing. Tāte mālī yatna kari' kare āvaraṇa. You must have good fencing so that Vaiṣṇava aparādha may not enter.

Yatat kati yatan katami [?] Who has come to save me, ha, if I give a good beating to that gentleman then what is it? He has come to relieve me, to save me, to welcome me, to take me to the Lord. And ill-fated I'm quarrelling and fighting with him, with my own interest. Suicide, to commit Vaiṣṇava aparādha means to commit suicide, more than that, to kill the guardian, well-wisher. I'm a child and he's my well-wisher, guardian, and I go to insult him, to beat him. That is more valuable than my own soul. My soul, what is there? If not with devotion a Satan can enter and play with my soul. What value my soul has got? It may be a doll in the hands of a Satan. But my saviour is coming to save me from the hand of Satan for eternity. And if my free will goes to fight against him that is more than suicide. My soul has not got much value, but his grace has got more value. He can make me king, more than a king's position he has come to give.

Rāma. Rāma. Rāma.

Devotee: But Vaiṣṇava aparādha depends on the angle of vision that one can see. For example for my position now is that my Godbrothers and Hṛdayānanda Mahārāja, he thinks now that I'm making Vaiṣṇava aparādha by renouncing him.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: It is a relative position. Temporary and final. Absolute consideration and relative. The Absolute consideration will hold greater value.

...they have obligation to our mother, father. But when the call of the Absolute will come we're to give up that obligation, general obligation, to obtain the call of the Absolute. And so in the case of the Absolute call there is also gradation of the Vaiṣṇava, their difference in their decision. In that case if by my previous fate or fortune I have accepted one of lower rank of Vaiṣṇava, and I find a clash with Vaiṣṇava of the higher conception, and if I feel in the inner-most part of my heart that wherever I committed my faith previously, and what I have come across now there is far difference, then with our sincere conscience we may leave the first and accept the second. It is possible. So many records.

Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura took initiation from one Vipina Goswāmī. In his Caitanya-caritāmṛta and other's bhāṣyam his name mentioned we find. As long as he lived he gave some respect to that gentleman.

But our Guru Mahārāja when he heard that he was going to disregard Dāsa Goswāmī Prabhu.

"That he was of a śūdra family, born of a śūdra, I am born of a brāhmaṇa family, so I can bless him."

When this expression came to the ear of our Guru Mahārāja then he abused him, and asked Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura, "What is this? Your formal Gurudeva he's saying like this."

Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura a little, expressed some sorrow that that has been his position.

Then there happened another thing. There was one previous Bhāratī Mahārāja, a big body, and very capturing lecture and discussion, Bhāratī Mahārāja. He took initiation first from that Vipina Goswāmī. He had some difference from the party of Prabhupāda in his home. So he thought that if I take initiation from Vipina Goswāmī, Guru of Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura, then I can oppose them successfully by my credit. He took initiation from Vipina Goswāmī, the Guru of Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura. But Prabhupāda's group did not care for that. "That he's a sahajiyā, you have taken sahajiyā guru." Did not care. Then they found he has got no place, then he left that Vipina Goswāmī and again took initiation from our Guru Mahārāja Bhaktisiddhānta Saraswatī. And he became a sannyāsī and preached. So there is gradation, realisation, faith.

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: Bhakti Vivek Bhāratī?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Bhakti Vivek Bhāratī, he first took initiation from Vipina Goswāmī who was the Guru of Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura. But then he had to leave that, and again come to our Guru Mahārāja to take initiation. The formal and Absolute consideration, and in Absolute consideration also there may be different from that type formal. How intense the devotion? Only formal initiation, external practice is not the whole thing. What sort of how intense realisation? The potency, there is potency in the homoeopathic globule. Sometimes lower potency is not working, higher potency should be applied to expect the desired result. The lower potency will come to assert that, "I am your Guru. You have first come to me and got some sort of result but not permanent, something." It will be something like that.

After the departure of our Guru Mahārāja he opened a separate Maṭh, and Siddhāntī joined him, with this condition, "That as long as Bhāratī Mahārāja will live" - he was senior sannyāsī, Siddhāntī was a brāhmacarī, afterwards he took sannyāsa. And the condition was, "Who will survive he will get hold of the whole Maṭh." Bhāratī Mahārāja disappeared and Siddhāntī's controlling his Maṭh wholesale. A Maṭh in Purī, Calcutta, and here [Navadwīpa]. And one, he purchased a house in Vṛndāvana, started a Maṭh but could not maintain, he gave it up to Tīrtha Mahārāja, Bhakti Vilasa Tīrtha who was controlling Mayapūr and research in Calcutta. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol.

Devotee: To the hogs. I was thinking that, I was reading your conversations in your preaching. And I ask you if you feel that in your desire that you're preaching can be to the mass or you want that your books be spread to the high class of people? Because I don't know if the mass they can really appreciate.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Who can appreciate, understand, that will be proper dealings.

[yojayet sarva-karmāṇi, vidvān yuktaḥ samācaran]

["The scholarly proponents of the path of knowledge must not confuse ignorant, attached men by deviating them with the advice: 'Leave aside action, and cultivate knowledge.' Rather, controlling their own minds, the learned should perform all the various duties without desiring the results, and in this way, subsequently engage the common section in action."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 3.26]

According to the appreciation that may be distributed, that may be better, that will be utilised, energy not wasted but utilised to the fullest extent. Na buddhi-bhedaṁ janayed, ajñānāṁ karma. They cannot understand. Just as what you told, "To cast pearls before the swine." What is that?

Devotees: Cast pearls to the swine.

Devotee: Because also Caitanya Mahāprabhu He never distinguished that this is a fit candidate or not fit candidate, He gave to everyone.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja:

yāre dekha, tāre kaha 'kṛṣṇa'-upadeśa, [āmāra ājñāya guru hañā tāra ei deśa kabhu nā vādhibe tomāra viṣaya-taraṅga, punarapi ei ṭhāñi pābe mora saṅga]

["Instruct whoever you meet in the science of Kṛṣṇa. Teach them the instructions of Kṛṣṇa in Bhagavad-gītā, and the teachings about Kṛṣṇa in Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam. In this way, on My order, become a Guru and liberate everyone in the land. If you follow this instruction, the waves of materialism within this world will not affect you. Indeed, if you follow My order, you will soon attain My association."]

[Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 7.128-9]

That is the, do it, distribute it according to the capacity. He divided generally into two groups. Among the friendly circle, the higher realised circle, talk about the rasa-kaṭha, internal rasa of Vṛndāvana. And this Hari-Nāma to one and all. That was His direction. Bahiraṅga saṅga godhi nāma-saṅkīrtana. Go on chanting the Name even to the street to anyone and everyone take the Name, that Vaikuṇṭha-Nāma, that spiritual Name, for all. But about the internal life pastimes of Kṛṣṇa, Rādhā, Vṛndāvana, all these things you are to judge the capacity with whom you are dealing. Antaraṅga saṅga koraḥ rasa sadan. And bahiraṅga saṅga godhi nāma-saṅkīrtana. [Śrī Caitanya Bhāgavata]

Devotee: Mahārāja, some people are not prepared to accept that chanting of the Name. So we're to give them some jñāna, why the chanting of the Name is so important...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That should be explained, what is the position of the Name. Name, we're to explain, but they're not, the Name is not acceptable, then what is acceptable? The idol? Ear experience is the most primary, and then eye experience. Everything can be used, utilised for spiritual realisation. Ear experience, that is through sound, that is the most wide and cheap. And the eye experience, that is in the form of the Deity.

All must be - transformation. Transformation is necessary. New assimilation is necessary according to the highest point of understanding, and highest point of our interest. Adjustment must be readjusted. At present we also stay in this world in a particular form of adjustment, but transformation is necessary. We're all separationist, devotee of separate interest. But that must be transformed into Absolute interest, universal interest. That is necessary. Do anything and everything for the Absolute, from the standpoint of Absolute interest, and give up all sorts of local interest. Either you yourself or extended selfishness of your clan, or your country, that is all extended selfishness. And no number of finite can make infinite. So your interest and your countries interest, your clan's interest, your human interest, a combination of all these interests produce infinite? No. No number of finite can produce infinite. That is something else. So you're to get it from that side, from the centre. What sort of interest is there with the centre?

83.05.10.A

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...what is supposed, told to be the universal interest, we're to read with ABC, begin, what is known as absolute interest. And as much as we're relieved from the mania of this local interest and we're devoted to the Absolute, the gradation is there of the Vaiṣṇava. How much dedicated he is, the intensity of dedication.

It is mentioned in Hari-Bhakti-Vilāsa that if a brāhmaṇa Ācārya is available, another man must not, though he's qualified, must not approach to make disciples in his presence. He will take him to that.

If a first class seed is available then lower class of seed must not be thrown into the land, that will be loss to the owner. The field will be captured by the lower class of seed.

So every fair person he will take any man to the Guru of highest type. When highest type quality of seed is available it will be his offence if he takes, makes him his own disciple for some personal interest. So in Hari-Bhakti-Vilāsa it is mentioned if a brāhmaṇa Guru is available then the, generally a kṣatriya may initiate kṣatriya, śūdra may initiate śūdra, according to his own capacity. Something is better than nothing. So a vaiśya may make disciples of the vaiśya class and not a kṣatriya or brāhmaṇa, in this way it is classified.

But among the Vaiṣṇava no classification according to varṇāśrama but the gradation in the faith of Vaiṣṇavism. So when higher type of Ācārya is available a lower must not go to occupy the field, capture with his lower type of seed. That will be offensive. What is Vaiṣṇava aparādha one must try to know in this way. Only, "I have captured first," that is like forcible possession. The conscience, he must appeal to his conscience whether he's capturing the field for what purpose, what interest he has got? For the interest of the Absolute, or for his own interest?

Some custom is there that everyone will marry and he will produce the child in his wife, a general custom. But that is in a relative position, everyone keep his own, that is one thing. But before commitment everyone will try to connect his girl with a desirable husband. Otherwise he'll be doing some wrong, the guardian will do some wrong to the girl, that is. And in special case also there is, though it is very rarely accepted.

nastay mrtay prabhudyatay krivi ca padatay pato [?]
pancha sarvatcha sarvnardhinam apati ranyo viddhi yatay [?]

Here the very rigid custom in the marriage, but still the Parāśara-saṁhitā says, nastay, if husband is lost, mrtay, dead, prabhudyatay, or taken sannyāsa. Krivi, or if found neuter gender, krivi ca. Padatay or fallen from the proper caste to accept Islam or becomes śūdra or so. In these cases a woman may accept another husband, better. Very rarely provided.

We're concerned with God conception. This human body, human life is very short. After death where I shall go I do not know. In such case as my conscience says, "Please accept your shelter there, that will be better." Then I shall have to do that to save me, to save my interest. That will be the principle for everyone. Some obligation we may have with the formal. Supposing there is a big cyclone, I have taken shelter in a particular room. But if I think that by that cyclone that will also be demolished, there is another which is stronger, then from there I shall, my conscience, I won't be obliged, "That so long I was given shelter here then I should not betray this shelter." We don't think like that. If a stronger shelter we find there are many taking shelter there I must run to that. With clear conscience not insults, not with object of disregarding and insult. Only to save me, sincere attempt.

na hi kalyāṇa-kṛt kaścid, durgatiṁ tāta gacchati

["O Arjuna, son of Kuntī, the unsuccessful yogī does not suffer ruination either in this life or the next. He is not deprived of the pleasures of the heavenly planetary systems in this universe, nor is he denied the chance to personally see the Supersoul in the divine realm. This is so, O dear one, because a person who performs virtuous actions never becomes ill-fated."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 6.40]

And not insulting that previous shelter who had protected me so long, in this way progress means this. Chance may come like that.

Śyāmānanda Prabhu, he was disciple to another gentleman who was a pārṣada devotee of vātsalya-rasa. Anyhow, in Vṛndāvana he got some chance and utilising that he was converted into mādhurya-rasa by the interference of the upper plane. Then he took initiation from Jīva Goswāmī, again. Such rare case is there.

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: That was first Hṛday Caitanya?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: First Hṛday Caitanya, from sākhya-rasa.

Devotee: Guru Mahārāja. Even if the higher seed enthuse the lower seed to accept disciples we must see that this is the renunciation and this is the...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: If any error is committed in the opposite direction, from higher to lower, then he will have to mourn the result.

Devotee: In a sense that even if a higher seed agreed that one lower seed accept disciples we must see that it's an example of renunciation and of detachment?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I don't follow. What does he say?

Aranya Mahārāja: He's saying that in the presence of a superior Vaiṣṇava, if a Vaiṣṇava of lower degree begins to initiate...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then that Vaiṣṇava he commits offence.

Aranya Mahārāja: But with the permission of the higher Vaiṣṇava.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ah. Some modification, a compromise.

Devotee: But this permission must be seen as humility and renunciation of the higher seed?

Aranya Mahārāja: He's saying that on the part of the superior Vaiṣṇava then that is allowing the other lower Vaiṣṇava to initiate, that's er...

Devotee: Then that is an example of...

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: Nirapekṣa.

Devotee: It's an example of renunciation and humility.

Devotee: Giving him a chance.

Aranya Mahārāja: It's not renunciation.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: With this practical - suppose Swāmī Mahārāja has ordered them to initiate, these present Ācārya. In his group whom he found, some say that, 'he did not give any permission to the particular gentlemen to initiate, they're all self made Ācārya.' There is also a, this Yaśodānāndana and so many others they're of that opinion. Anyhow, I do not know that particularly. I think generally he must have some succession, so this man or that man he might have given some hint for them to do according to their capacity. But that does not mean that they're all absolute Ācārya. Then from the beginning there cannot be any change in the quality of the Ācārya. Kṛṣṇa first gave to Brahmā, and Brahmā to others, and they to others, pāramparyeṇa, that is being lost.

[evaṁ paramparā-prāptam, imaṁ rājarṣayo viduḥ]
sa kāleneha mahatā, yogo naṣṭaḥ parantapa

["O conqueror of the enemy, in this way, the saintly kings such as Nimi, Janaka, and others, learned this path of knowledge through the divine succession. Presently, after the passage of a long period of time, this teaching has been almost completely lost."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 4.2]

It may be that they lose their power, it is possible. By Vaiṣṇava aparādha, by many others, that position may not be continued, sometimes.

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: Our Prabhupāda was very open with his older disciples as far as showing them that you were his śikṣā Guru. The very first Guru pūjā was performed here in your temple to show his oldest disciples, he was very open to show that you were his śikṣā Guru...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. Yes, he consulted with me in many points when he was writing Bhagavad-gītā, translating, he was. Four rooms I took on lease from his house. He rented two houses, one for his own and another for his laboratory, and the ground floor his laboratory and the first floor four rooms we used for our own branch Maṭh there, Calcutta. At that time very close and he used to come, he was translating and he used to come to consult with me about the meanings of Bhagavad-gītā. And thereby he might have thought that he has got something, some help from me. And many times consulted with me, and must have found that he's getting some light from me. So he announced that, "Śrīdhara Mahārāja is my śikṣā Guru." Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Devotee: Guru Mahārāja. About your personal case, that you are the higher seed present, and you give authorisation to other sannyāsīs to initiate also in your presence. How I can see this? As your humility and detachment to accept new disciples? How can I see this?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What does he say?

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: How should we understand that you are present and you have the higher seed to offer, but at the same time you are allowing sannyāsīs who have a lower seed to initiate?

Devotee: Have I to see this a your humility or your real desire?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That I'm doing, following the general custom, and something is better than nothing, with this policy. They can get some news, afterwards they will inquire and come and do according to the necessity. But some sort of light, however vague, still more light, vague light, still it is light. And in comparison with darkness it must be something. Name of Mahāprabhu, and this and that. Let it go. Then the Lord is there and He will manage everything. If there's any gap, any error in the process, if we're sincere no responsibility, He will manage. If we do not have any black motive of exploitation, we're sincere we're doing His service, if any amendment is necessary He's there and will be met. With this spirit, something.

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: Mahārāja. Doesn't your śikṣā, your as a śikṣā Guru the dīkṣā may be given by a lower seed but your śikṣā, doesn't it nourish that seed to a higher plane also? Or is there some...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What?

Aranya Mahārāja: He's saying say if one of the sannyāsīs gives dīkṣā but because they're allowing their disciples to take śikṣā from you, that their seed is being nourished by your śikṣā.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And if they do not allow, then there will be some difficulty, if they do not allow, they'll come with something wrong, do not allow. And also there may be motive underlying, that they're not fit to approach such high thought, so only they will go and disturb. With this motive if he checks his ambition that won't be bad. But if knowing that, 'I'm not able to satisfy his inquiry. He wants higher direction and by policy that his prestige may not go down,' so to check him from connecting with the higher source, then that will be offence. Sincerity is the standard of measurement. And the case is with the Infinite. None can say that I have got within my fist the Infinite Whole, whole Kṛṣṇa within my fist.

I told that to Kīrtanānanda. "You're all considered to be students and not professors."

He told that, "I'm not your student, I'm student of A.C. Bhaktivedānta."

In this way he told, and what I replied I don't remember.
But we're all in one school of Bhaktisiddhānta, the standard to be measured there.

Devotee: For example Guru Mahārāja. I will be preaching in Brazil and the people to whom I'll be preaching will approach me to seek for a Guru. And I'm trying to be your disciple and I'll try to approach them to you. I will ask you if you if you can accept these people as disciples and another person can give the initiation but they can be your disciples. Because I trust completely in you but I don't know if the other person can...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: To make disciples means to take responsibility, at least to certain extent. But I don't consider myself to be such, that I'm able to take responsibility of so many. It is not a pleasure, the pleasure act, to take responsibility. So I'm unable, I'm unfit to take responsibility of so many. So I have already spoken to those that are affectionate to me that I can't, like to have connection with many. Only very special case if you find, then you may take to me. Otherwise you manage, you do as much you know you help them. But always know that you are dealing with Infinite, not anything that has got limit. So as much as you can. The sky is there, the birds are flying as much as the bird can. He cannot finish the sky. So we're also doing like that, as much as we have got capacity we shall do that type of duty to others, help others. Save yourself and save others as much as you can afford.

Devotee: Guru Mahārāja. What about my case that I have to appoint one other person that I'm not sure that these people can bring them back to home, back to Godhead.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Your sincere conscience you will use in everything according to your knowledge. Don't be a hypocrite in your dealings, and then you'll be helped by the Almighty and Omniscient Lord. He knows, He sees everything. If you want His help then you must be sincere in your dealings. Don't go to make trade of anything. Try to maintain the purity of your heart and dealings. Hare Kṛṣṇa.
Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari.

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: You once mentioned that persons who we could not digest, you would digest them.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hmm? Persons?

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: Persons who we were unable to digest, you would digest those persons.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He won't take food of that type or that quantity which he cannot digest. Cut your coat according to your cloth. Rūpa Goswāmī has asked not to accept many disciples, or even to read many śāstra. Bahu-grantha kalābhyāsa, and bahu-śiṣya, and mahā-ramba, but specially gifted person may take up such. When Prabhupāda our Guru Mahārāja used to explain all those sixty-four types of devotion I tried to follow him, specially on those points, mahā-ramba. Then I attended his lecture, in one or two sentences he cleared and I was satisfied.

He told, "It depends upon the capacity, individual capacity of the person. A man can manage a kingdom and still he may find his leisure. Another man cannot manage his family of five persons or two persons and he thinks that he's so busy, he's perplexed. So it's according to the capacity of the person, the mahā-ramba, that should be judged. What is mahā-ramba to one, that is not mahā-ramba to another, a small thing."

Devotee: Mahārāja. It's said that in disciplic succession, paramparā, the mango is handed down from Ācārya to disciple and so on and comes intact. The fruit is handed down intact from Guru to Guru.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Guru paramparā. We're instructed from the relative standpoint that it is the full thing. But in Absolute consideration we have to detect that, 'No, it is sometimes in diminishing stage.'

Devotee: Does that mean that in due course of time the Ācāryas appointed...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Again, new Ācāryas have to come to reconstruct, to rejuvenate the thing, it is necessary. Sometimes He comes and another fresh deputation comes in the line to make it fresh and given life, enliven, it is necessary.

[evaṁ paramparā-prāptam, imaṁ rājarṣayo viduḥ]
sa kāleneha mahatā, yogo naṣṭaḥ parantapa

["O conqueror of the enemy, in this way, the saintly kings such as Nimi, Janaka, and others, learned this path of knowledge through the divine succession. Presently, after the passage of a long period of time, this teaching has been almost completely lost."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 4.2]

The gradation is the nature of this soil.

Aranya Mahārāja: So like that mango that comes down, if the Ācārya is like śuka, like parrot, that when he takes and gives the mango, touches the mango it becomes sweeter.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ah, in that position. But that sweet mango may also be rotten, in this plane. When Śukadeva delivered his Bhāgavata kathā there was a commotion and everyone got some fresh impression. But then gradually again Bhāgavata went away from the scholars. "Oh, that is only stories, there's no philosophy under it." Came to such position to the many scholars.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol.

Devotee: Mahārāja. I once heard that there are six kinds of Gurus. And one is the cat type of Guru. The cat type of Guru means that it takes the kitten by the scruff of its neck and delivers him, so the responsibility is taken by the Guru. Then there is the monkey type of Guru wherein the responsibility is on the baby monkey that he just clings to the mother, he has to cling to the mother.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In Rāmānuja sampradāya there is a division with these two, śaraṇāgati of two kinds, monkey type and cat type.

Devotee: And then there's the fish type of Guru, that it just lays the eggs and then it goes away. And it's the responsibility of the eggs to just grow by themselves until they reach maturity, spiritual maturity. And there are three others which I can't remember.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Maybe classified in...

Devotee: Six types of, and there's a hen type of Guru in which he just keeps all his chickens under his wing and mothers them so much he doesn't allow them to go anywhere.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: There may be gradation of infinite type. According to their capacity and dealings, the siṣya and Guru, Guru also may be, professors may be of many types, and disciples also may be of many types. So general classification of three types, two types, four types, infinite number of types may be.

But we have heard of classification - the Guru who is taking from here to there, who has come from there, or he's here in Vaikuṇṭha and taking many from here. And one, he has given one leg on Vaikuṇṭha and another leg here and taking, recruiting. And one, one leg here and another leg there, taking up. And another, two legs here but having a sight of that position, trying to take many along with him. Madhyama-adhikāra, uttama-adhikāra. One who can see the higher soil and taking along with him many approaching that plane. Another has come down from there to recruit. And another he's here and one leg he has there and taking, recruiting from here to there. And from different standpoints everything may be judged from different ways, and it will be infinite in number, because everyone has got some difference from everyone. No two things are one and the same.

Devotee: But spiritual variegatedness is the cause of pleasure, whereas material variegatedness is only the cause of distress.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Of course. And in the pleasure also gradation. Different type of rasa, intensity of particular rasa, there is difference. Śānta, dāsya, sākhya, vātsalya, mādhurya. And that is in Vaikuṇṭha, in Ayodhyā, in Dwārakā, Mathurā, Vṛndāvana. Gradation is infinite in number. Up to liberation, liberation of two kinds, one like Buddhist liberation and Śaṅkara liberation. Then this yogī liberation, then siddha, then Vaikuṇṭha. After liberation one can go to Vaikuṇṭha, or Ayodhyā, Dwārakā, so many. Differentiation is made everywhere always, it is eternal. And it has been told by Dāsa Goswāmī, if you're very much attracted towards rulings, rules and regulations, you'll be thrown down to Paravyoma from Vṛndāvana. Not much appreciation of rules and regulations, law and rules there. Automatic, actuated by the motive or inspiration. If you're very much particular about the rules and regulations you'll be thrown down in Paravyoma. It is all clear. The Vaikuṇṭha which is so high place, the environment of Nārāyaṇa is so pure, but that is also considered that it's so low that you will be thrown down to Vaikuṇṭha from Goloka. Rūpānuga-vicāra, so many things are there, infinite.

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: Mahārāja. What is, in the Hari-Nāma-Cintāmani we find Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura describes an overlapping stage between vaidhi-bhakti and rāgānuga as nairantaryya. What is...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Vaidhi bhakta adhikaras tu raga dvesa bhavanavadhi. We must stick to vaidhi- bhakti as long as I do not feel the awakening of the anurāga within me. And when I get that awakening of natural attraction for the cause, then my care for the rules and regulations will be automatically diminished. Vaidhi bhakta adhikaras tu raga dvesa bhavanavadhi. In Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu this is. So long we're to go under the rules and regulations of the scripture when we do not find any genuine love and attraction for the cause. With the help of rules and regulations we shall try to awaken that natural innate attraction for the Lord. If we can trace within me that it is there, the anurāga, the natural attraction is drawing me towards, then I may not care for those śāstric orders.

Suppose I'm a patient using diet and medicine, but if I find that diet is giving me real strength I may dismiss the medicine and take the help of the diet. That will take me to the point and no medicine necessary, stop medicines. Something like that. In the beginning both diet and medicine necessary, but afterwards proper diet may do, medicine may be cancelled.

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: Nairantaryya?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Nairantaryya is very lower. After nairantaryya, then niṣṭhā, then ruci, then bhāva-bhakti. In bhāva-bhakti we can neglect, may not care much for the rules and regulations. Bhavavi bhavanavadhi. Vaidhi bhakta adhikaras tu raga dvesa bhavanavadhi. Raga is clear in bhāva-bhakti, then ruci, āsakti, then bhāva. This niṣṭhā, ruci, āsakti, bhāva.

...siddhi, we're not out of danger, only in vastu-siddhi we're out of danger. It has been mentioned. In svarūpa-siddhi we're also in connection with this mundane world, however small maybe its force, but still connection. Svarūpa-siddhi, this body is there and I have got full realisation. But until this connection is gone forever and we're absorbed wholesale in that position, we're told that we're not out of danger. Wholesale acceptance, probational stage, a probationer, suppose he has acquired the capacity of a full grown clerk or officer, but until and unless he gets grant that his service is permanent, he's not safe.

When there is Kṛṣṇa līlā is going on somewhere, anywhere, sometimes in this globe, sometimes in another, in this way. Like the sun, it is passing through different brahmāṇḍas. When svarūpa-siddhi, then he's allowed to have a birth in that brahmāṇḍa where the līlā is going on. And to get a birth in the gopī-garbha-janma, he has to pass through that process. And then in that prapañca-līlā he's allowed to participate, direct participation with Kṛṣṇa līlā and the gopīs. In the prapañca, then once he gets chance to participate in the prapañca-līlā then he's accepted. He's detached from any mundane touch and his acceptance there is final. He's got recognition of the permanent service, otherwise a probationer.

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: So in the prapañca-līlā that is also svarūpa-siddhi?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is in prapañca-līlā?

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: When the prapañca-līlā is going on after he has taken birth, garbha has already taken place, that is svarūpa at that point?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is svarūpa.

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: That is svarūpa still?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, he's in his svarūpa-siddhi. And with the finish of the prapañca-līlā he's withdrawn with the stuff.

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: Then the vastu comes in?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Consideration of stage of intensity. It is physically shown to us in that type, with that analogy. A slight touch of the mundane conception is not to be neglected. Slight touch of mundane means māyā. A slight touch of māyā, illusion, that could not be considered to be the fullest acceptance. Bhauma Vṛndāvana, nitya-līlā.

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: So that means that the sādhana-siddha gopīs in Vṛndāvana, they were in svarūpa-siddhi, they were taking their place in svarūpa-siddhi?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Not all.

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: Not all of them?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Some...

83.05.10.B

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...can help them successfully, they're given recognition for permanent service, and taken away from this. In all classes, in the friendly section, in the filial section, every, not only in mādhurya-rasa but in all rasa, śānta-rasa, everywhere. That is the consideration.

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: So Mahārāja, that means, you were explaining vastu-siddhi in mādhurya-rasa, so there's also vastu-siddhi in these other rasas?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, of course, every rasa, every rasa, every type of service.

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: Can you give an example sākhya-rasa perhaps? Is there an example of that in the Bhāgavatam?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: It is not so clearly mentioned in Bhāgavatam. All these things are fine analysis in the Goswāmī śāstras. Just as Baladeva having His own rasa-līlā, but the Goswāmī he interprets in some other way. The rasa-līlā is only for Kṛṣṇa. And Baladeva is making rasa-līlā in His heart He's satisfying Kṛṣṇa with that līlā. He's not the recipient, Baladeva. This is the fine finding of the Goswāmī. Baladeva is doing everything to satisfy His Lord in friendly type, in a guardian type, though He is.

So this mādhurya-līlā, this rasa-līlā, as should be in the case of a Guru. Guru is accepting many respects from the disciple. But internally he's adjusting them with his own Guru paramparā, or Kṛṣṇa, receiving on Their behalf. If he fails there then he will have to come down.

The manager draws the rents from the subjects, but he must send everything to the king. In the midway if he eats something then he'll be liable and dismissed from his position.

So Baladeva is naturally representing Guru in all, so many rasas. His every nerve is trying its best to send everything to Kṛṣṇa conception. The whole life is designed and destined for Kṛṣṇa's satisfaction, then He's Baladeva. He's facsimile of Kṛṣṇa, Kṛṣṇa Himself, but of that type and who does everything for Kṛṣṇa, in all other rasa. And in mādhurya-rasa Rādhārāṇī holds the highest position. Direct satisfaction of Kṛṣṇa with Her own group. And Baladeva's case is all sakhā.

yat kinca tina guna mukhi katam kam [?] What to speak of Baladeva, even the worms, insects, the creepers, the trees, all meant, designed to invoke the satisfaction of Kṛṣṇa in different ways, that is Vṛndāvana. That special group with their whole heart, automatic, inspired whole heart, their business, their nature will be to contribute to the satisfaction of Kṛṣṇa from different positions. That is Vṛndāvana.

Even the sands in the banks of the Yamunā, śānta-rasa, so many devotees, there also that process, that vastu-siddhi, svarūpa- siddhi. What to speak of the friendly circles, everywhere that new recruitment in different rasas, in different positions of services, in this way."

Devotee: Guru Mahārāja. When Kṛṣṇa departed to Mathurā, the gopīs were very depressed. But it's said that...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...underground, most precious mineral, substance is within you. And it is for Me. I have come to discover from within you.

Aparadha bade mano citya helo batra sam tuwa na me madhave [?] pikar [?]
Neti, neti, neti. Not this. Not this. Not this.

Kṛṣṇa is inconceivable. Our hope is with the Vaiṣṇava more. In the beginning of a life of a devotee, he thinks that, 'My necessity is with Kṛṣṇa. Why, in the scriptures so much stress has been given for the Vaiṣṇava? Between Kṛṣṇa and me they're placing so many barriers." So though they outwardly have no other way but to admit this. "Yes, vaiṣṇavera." But really, the inner heart is not satisfied. "My necessity is with Kṛṣṇa." But when he really comes to have any touch of pure realisation he begins to understand that Vaiṣṇava is all. Without Vaiṣṇava we cannot have any trace of Kṛṣṇa. So abstract, so fine, so free, and so cañcalā, restless, that it's impossible for us to have any connection. The Vaiṣṇava, they're our solace of life, so many posts of consolation standing on our way. We can find peace also in our heart that they're of my nature, my friend. They know my pleasure and pain, of my type that's at present in my heart, what's the nature of the pain and pleasure in me. They're my friend.

Kṛṣṇa is almost untraceable, abstract thing. He's so unapproachable, and so unattainable, and so fickle, and so playful, that we cannot have, we cannot fix any real prospect in Him. But the Vaiṣṇavas are standing like pillars, easily approachable, and they can give us consolation, and they can help in our disaster like sympathetic friend. They're really our necessity, Vaiṣṇava, than Kṛṣṇa, the Vaiṣṇava they will be - must have more interest for me.

Unknown and unknowable, untraceable, and so many disappointing qualifications we find in Him. But the Vaiṣṇava they're all sympathetic, always helping. So they gradually come to hold the important position in us, not for the time being, as long as I cannot have intimacy with Kṛṣṇa, so long we have some necessity with them. It's not like that. Permanently and eternally they're our everything. This will be our realisation as much as we shall go deep towards the goal.

Kṛṣṇa's nature is something like treacherous. Ha. Rādhārāṇī, when helpless She says that, "I can't walk any longer. You may take Me where You like, You may carry Me, I can't."

Then disappeared suddenly, disappeared.

Then, of course She was of that strong type. "I know You can't go away. You are nearby, but You have concealed You." With this attitude She was going, and again perhaps for some time She met.

He's of that type.

So the śakti group, the svarūpa-śakti, they're all helpful towards us.

So Dāsa Goswāmī he was very clever, cunning fellow. He told, "Kṛṣṇa, I don't want You if I don't have Rādhārāṇī. First I want my position to be certain, a sure position. A real relationship with Rādhārāṇī, then my first necessity will be that. And You must fall around Her. So I don't care to have any independent connection with You. But their post, around which You are hovering always, I want my real bona fide position with Her. I want Her service. To get one, that means service. I want, I appreciate the service of Rādhārāṇī to be the highest. Because I know to have any direct service, direct connection with You, that is rather imaginary and uncertain. But if I can acquire my intimate relationship in the service of Rādhārāṇī, You are already conquered, You cannot but hover above Her. So I've understood what is my real position. You are permanently sold to Her. So I'm nothing to do with You. You're not independent, You're dependent. I've found it out that You're dependent, and where Your dependence is, I want to fix my whole attention there. Where Your unknown and unknowable characteristic that has left You, where Rādhārāṇī's position is concerned. She's so pure that You can't hope to leave Her side. I have found out this truth, so I'm no longer running after You."

So Vaiṣṇava should attract our heart's attention and care. Then it will be hopeful, it will be better prospect for us, sure prospect, with our relationship with the Vaiṣṇava. Which in our present life of a beginner we can't realise. Rather, we feel disturbed with that proposal to us. That is substantial, that is real progress, and sure progress. Kāṛṣṇa. Viṣṇu bhakta vaiṣṇava kṛṣṇa bhakta jñānī. Kāṛṣṇa. Viṣṇu is also used in the sense of Kṛṣṇa in many places.

> bhaktiṁ parām bhagavati pratilabhya kāmaṁ, hṛd-rogam āśv apahinoty acireṇa dhīraḥ]

["One who hears with firm faith the supramundane amorous affairs of Lord Kṛṣṇa and the gopīs, as described by a pure devotee of the Lord, soon becomes freed from mundane lust and achieves divine love of Kṛṣṇa."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.33.39]

Vraja-vadhūbhir, vikrīḍitaṁ, that is only reserved for Kṛṣṇa conception of the truth, not Who is known generally as Viṣṇu. But sometimes in this - every word in its full fledged meaning is bound to go to Kṛṣṇa, because He's the centre of everything, really. So all words may be used when the rein of the universal discourse withdrawn, then every meaning of every word will have to go to Kṛṣṇa. To the highest centre. He's the source of every vibration, every wave. So every wave as having origin from Him. But for our understanding from our own position the meaning has been located somewhere else, here, there, so many centres. But that is the only centre controlling everything. But for our facility, we're finite souls, for our facility so many working centres have been opened to us.

Mahāprabhu, coming from Gayā began to explain grammar, and in grammar he used to give explanation of Bhāgavatam, from vyākaraṇa, a book of grammar. He was explaining grammar and He's taking meaning of every word to Kṛṣṇa. And not a mental skill, but His eyes are shedding tears. He's finding Kṛṣṇa. Dhātu, sūtra, He's finding everything coming from Kṛṣṇa.

"To go, to walk, to speak, to see, these potencies they have got their origin to that sweet Kṛṣṇa, My Master, My Lord."

Everything is reminding Him of His Loving Lord. He can't see anything else than Him. Every point of experience carrying quickly with lightening speed to its origin, Kṛṣṇa. All loving centre. And He's shedding tears for His separation. That is possible.

vana dekhi' bhrama haya – ei 'vṛndāvana', śaila dekhi' mane haya – ei 'govardhana' [yāhāṅ nadī dekhe tāhān mānaye – 'kālindī', mahā-premāveśe nāce prabhu paḍe kāndi']

["When Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu passed through the Jhārikhaṇḍa forest, He took it for granted that it was Vṛndāvana'. When He passed over the hills, He took it for granted that they were Govardhana."]

[Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 17.55]

Any mountain, taking to the Govardhana. Any jungle, taking to the Vṛndāvana forest. He does not see all these things. Whatever He sees, to that unknown highest quarter He's attracted.

"All belongs to Him. Everything belongs to My Lord. You are everywhere. How can I live without You? My friends, show Me the Lord of My inner heart. I can't go on living. I can't stand. I can't live. I can't exist. I'm going to be finished."

What is this? This is also possible. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Navadwīpa, the land of Mahāprabhu. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Vṛndāvana, Navadwīpa. And the viraha ksetra, Purī. Kṛṣṇa has become cruel, and come in Dvārakā. Purī Kṛṣṇa is that of Dvārakā Kṛṣṇa. The land of separation for the gopīs, gopī mentality. He's in an ocean of separation, sorrow, in Purī. Separation, long separation of Rādhārāṇī.

These things are all - dream becomes dumb, and dream dumbing affairs.

Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol.

Devotee: Guru Mahārāja. Can you explain the difference between audārya and mādhurya.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Audārya and mādhurya. When mādhurya wants to distribute Himself outside becomes audārya. When within a particular group, and previous circle, there is mādhurya. And when it thinks to be surplus and export to other places, export Himself to other surrounding places, that is audārya. He has a mind to give these things beyond the circle, extending Himself, when He wills to extend Himself, though infinite. Every point is infinite. Infinite minus infinite is infinite. We're to think it in that level.

Otherwise, if He extends Himself then He's limited. The consideration will come, "Then is He limited, within limitation? And He can extend outside? Then there's outside also that's not within Him?"

Such intellectual satisfaction is not possible in the world of infinite. The intellect of the finite won't have its play there. Seeming non Kṛṣṇa that is māyā. So many gradations there. So when He likes - it is a fact that all do not know about Him - but when He exerts Himself to make Himself known to those who are not knowing about His sweetness, then He becomes at that time, in that function, of that pastime, He's said to be audārya, generous, magnanimous. Audārya, magnanimity, the sweetness becomes magnanimous. Sweetness, mādhurya, and magnanimity added, Kṛṣṇa becomes Mahāprabhu.

They're side by side, so Navadwīpa and Vṛndāvana of same plane. In one portion the highest sweetness is being tasted, displaying itself in a particular group, that līlā function. And another, that thing is being distributed to those that are not within the camp, outside. But the substance of the same level, that highest prema. Dedication to a despot. Desperate dedication to the Despot. That is the highest plane. Desperate dedication to the Despot. Centre. Three Ds.

Devotee: But there are some devotees are in Vṛndāvana and also Navadwīpa at the same time?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Some exclusively there, some representing both the places, some more nearer to one and little indifferent to another. Different types their classes. Equally interested in both, and less interested in one and greater interest in another. And some may be absent here, and present there. May be, according to His will, according to līlā.

Aranya Mahārāja: Then would that coincide with the bhajanānandī and goṣṭhyānandī? Bhajanānandī who's only doing his own bhajan, or he might stay just in Vṛndāvana. And the goṣṭhyānandī who's the preacher, more concerned with audārya, distributing.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: It may be of different order. In Mahāprabhu's section like that. But there are also apparent Vaiṣṇavas of some other type, that Nimbarka, Rāmānuja, they may not care to come in the group of Mahāprabhu. But they're always conceiving they're mainly in connection with Kṛṣṇa, in a particular plane. That is also to be found. They do not understand what Mahāprabhu is. Still, they've got some connection with Kṛṣṇa. According to their capacity they come in their own plane and conceive like that. Some think Kṛṣṇa is a vilasa Mūrti of Nārāyaṇa. Some say Vṛndāvana Kṛṣṇa is representation of Vāsudeva Kṛṣṇa, He's higher, Vāsudeva is higher and this gopa Kṛṣṇa is lower. As He Himself likes to show to a particular group they have to see like that.

mallānām aśanir nṛṇāṁ naravaraḥ strīṇāṁ smaro mūrttimān
gopānāṁ svajano 'satāṁ kṣitibhujāṁ śāstā svapitro śiśuḥ

mṛtyur bhojapater virāḍ aviduṣāṁ tattvaṁ paraṁ yogināṁ
vṛṣṇīnāṁ paradevateti vidito raṅgaṁ gataḥ sāgrajaḥ

["O King, Śrī Kṛṣṇa then appeared as a thunderbolt to the wrestlers, as the supreme male to the men, as Cupid incarnate to the ladies, as a friend to the cowherdsmen; as an emperor to the wicked kings, as a child to His father and mother, as death to Kaṁsa, as the universal form of the world to the ignorant; as the Supreme Truth to the yogīs, as the Supreme Worshipful Lord to the Vṛṣṇis - and along with Baladeva He entered the arena."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.43.17]

In different phases there are different types of recipients, and He also has corresponding contact with them in that similar way.

ye yathā māṁ prapadyante, tāṁs tathaiva bhajāmy aham
[mama vartmānuvartante, manuṣyāḥ pārtha sarvaśaḥ]

[Śrī Kṛṣṇa says: "As a person takes refuge in Me and surrenders unto Me, I respond and reward accordingly. Being the ultimate goal of all philosophies and doctrines, I am the objective to be attained by all. Certainly, O Pārtha, everyone follows My various paths in all respects."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 4.11]

According to our approach He comes to respond that way. But comparison, which is higher in degree, raso vai saḥ. That fine understanding will allow us to know that Svayaṁ-Bhagavān, that gopa Kṛṣṇa, or Rādhāramaṇa, He holds the supreme-most position. The fine understanding in judging the quality of rasa. All may not understand that.

So to have admission in the group of Mahāprabhu that is the highest fortune.

A professor who has got greater education, he can understand the position of the professor of lower education. But the lower education cannot measure the higher. Sometimes in some points he may have any conception that, 'Oh, he's higher than me.' But he faints, in the words of Swāmī Mahārāja. He faints there unconscious, can't enter that abstruse discussion. All the scientists cannot enter into the discussion of Newton or Einstein, though they have to admit that Einstein, by the success of his theory. But they cannot understand, follow the whole thing, the whole argument, and the process and the practice, practical system.

Gaura Hari bol. I close here the class.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: _____ [?] some brāhmaṇic tendency we found specially in him.

Unlike others, or like Nityānanda Prabhu, Gadādhara Paṇḍita appeared in Radadesa, the stock from the western side of the Ganges. Whereas Mahāprabhu, Advaita Prabhu, Śrīvāsa Paṇḍita, these three come on the eastern side lineage. And Nityānanda Prabhu in Radadesa, and Gadādhara Paṇḍita also. He was born in Bharatpur, near Kasi [?] in the district of Bashilabad [?] at present, in Birbhum, perhaps in Birbhum or _____ [?] Bharatpur.

But his father had a house in Ramcandrapur, what they say as Pratchin Māyāpur.

Ramcandrapuri bati Paṇḍita Gadādhara [?] Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura mentioned. A very meek and modest temperament, unassuming. Always pushing the back side, not pushing forward nature.

When Mahāprabhu took sannyāsa and went to Purī, among His followers, Gadādhara Paṇḍita was one. Before that we're told, from the very childhood he was given to devotional listening, Nārāyaṇa, Kṛṣṇa. Mahāprabhu after coming from Gayā - before this Mahāprabhu knew that he's very much addicted to His personality. Before coming from Gayā when Mahāprabhu came with full fledged devotional activities He met Paṇḍita Gadādhara.

And every now and then He's shedding tears. "That My life has been useless. So long I have lost My time and energy without any gain. I did not try to attain Kṛṣṇa bhakti."

This is the nature after He comes back from Gayā, at the age of eighteen or twenty or so. He met Gadādhara Paṇḍita.

Gadadhara sisugal hoite tomar krsneti murti [?] "From the very childhood you are devoted to Kṛṣṇa. Your life is successful. But Mine is lost. I've spent...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: "You're fortunate enough. You have got fulfilment." In this way eulogizing Gadādhara - Mahāprabhu.

Then, there was one Mukunda. Mukunda was a devotee and his temperament was to mix different circles of thought, mainly religious. Mukunda's home was in Chaṭṭagrām District, town, nearby. And Puṇḍarīka Vidyānidhi also comes from Chaṭṭagrām. Puṇḍarīka Vidyānidhi was a rich man, and here in Navadwīpa also he had one house. He came from Chaṭṭagrām to Navadwīpa to live sometimes on the banks of the Ganges. And also a place where learning - the place where the then different high education culture, Navadwīpa, of different departments of culture, or seat. Navadwīpa was the ancient seat. The nyāya, smṛti, then tantra, then Bhāgavatam, and so many other departments.

So nearby eastern people, those that could manage, they had a second house in Navadwīpa on the banks of the Ganges. Advaita Prabhu had His house in Śāntipura, though he comes from Srihatta [?], and still one house was in Navadwīpa town.

So Puṇḍarīka Vidyānidhi has come from Chaṭṭagrām to Navadwīpa house. Mukunda, he's also of that locality, he could know that Puṇḍarīka Vidyānidhi has come. He was a devotee of Kṛṣṇa, it was well known to Mukunda.

Then Mukunda proposed to Gadādhara Paṇḍita. "Gadādhara, you're fond of Vaiṣṇava and Vaiṣṇava scripture. Will you go to meet a sādhu? A wonderful sādhu has come here."

"Yes. You please show me, take me to him."

So Gadādhara Paṇḍita was taken by Mukunda to Puṇḍarīka Vidyānidhi's house.

A few days before, Mahāprabhu in His trance began to cry. "Where is My father, Puṇḍarīka? Puṇḍarīka Bāp. My father Puṇḍarīka, where are you?" In this way in trance Mahāprabhu was crying.

And now Puṇḍarīka came. And Mahāprabhu used to call him, not by Vidyānidhi, though his title was Vidyānidhi, Premanidhi. Mahāprabhu used this name, Premanidhi, not Vidyānidhi.

Anyhow, Mukunda took Gadādhara Paṇḍita to Puṇḍarīka Vidyānidhi.

Gadādhara Paṇḍita having the darśana of Puṇḍarīka Vidyānidhi was astounded. "What is this? He has taken me to show a sādhu, a saint, but what I see on my front is a man of luxury. The hair is also curling hair, and also it is very carefully maintained. And so many scents also we find there. And his dress is like a zamīndār, a rich man. And he's smoking in the silver pipe. In this way so much luxury, and so much fashion in his dress. And even in the hair. So is this the type of a sādhu?" He was nonplussed.

Mukunda could understand that Gadādhara Paṇḍita is perplexed. "I took him to see a sādhu, and instead of that he's seeing a man of high luxury type." Then, Mukunda had a very musical tone and he chanted a śloka from Bhāgavatam.

aho bakī yaṁ stana-kāla-kūṭaṁ, jighāṁsayāpāyayad apy asādhvī
lebhe gatiṁ dhātry-ucitāṁ tato 'nyaṁ, kaṁ vā dayāluṁ śaraṇaṁ vrajema

["How astonishing! When Pūtanā, the wicked sister of Bakāsura, tried to kill child Kṛṣṇa by offering Him deadly poison on her breasts, she reached a position befitting the Lord's nursemaid. Could I ever have as merciful a shelter as that of Lord Kṛṣṇa?"] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 3.2.23]

It's in Bhāgavatam. The meaning is, Pūtanā, the sister of the demon Baka, she came with poisonous breasts to suckle Kṛṣṇa, for the purpose of killing Him. Aho bakī yaṁ stana-kāla-kūṭaṁ, jighāṁsayāpāyayad. But she came to kill Kṛṣṇa, and in return what she got? Dhātry-ucitāṁ. She got in return the position of mother, motherly position she got. She came to murder Kṛṣṇa, but Kṛṣṇa gave her the supreme position of like a mother, dhātry-ucitāṁ. So, so kind, that leaving such a Lord, God, whom shall I go to worship? Where should we surrender ourselves? So much gracious that one came to murder Him, and He gave her in return the high position like a mother. So leaving that sort of gracious Lord, whom should we take refuge under, surrender?" This is the purport.

And this touched the heart of Puṇḍarīka. After a little meditation the movement in the body nervous system began. Kaṁ vā dayāluṁ, kaṁ vā dayāluṁ. He's only repeating this. And gradually wonderful changes came in his body. He threw away that tobacco pipe, began to shiver, and then began to tear off his beautiful hair, and began to tear of his dress. And began to roll on the bed and then on the floor. And half mad was kaṁ vā dayāluṁ, kaṁ vā dayāluṁ. "Who will be so kind and gracious?" In this way began.

Then Gadādhara Paṇḍita, the boy Gadādhara, he was struck dumb. "What is he, this affair?" He could not conceive it.

Outward figure, outward appearance was like a man of luxury. But internally he's so rich with devotion of Kṛṣṇa. Those things are ignored _____ [?] and he's rolling on the floor. And by the strike of his leg and hand so many things are being removed and broken to pieces. No care, he's going on with convulsions he's going on.

Then Gadādhara Paṇḍita was very much afraid, stood in one corner of the room, and seeing those miracles. Then after some time when it was finished, ended, then he told Mukunda, "I have committed offence against this great mahātmā, Vaiṣṇava aparādha. I undermined him. Then how to escape from the offence? I've heard that Gurudeva, the preceptor, he does not take any offence of the disciple. So I've not yet taken initiation from anywhere. I shall have to ask my Master Nimāi Paṇḍita. And I wish that I shall take initiation from this great Vaiṣṇava. Then only he will forgive my offences. Otherwise I have no other way to get relief."

In this way, anyhow went and asked Mahāprabhu. Mahāprabhu very gladly gave His consent. And Gadādhara Paṇḍita took initiation from Puṇḍarīka Vidyānidhi. And Mahāprabhu already was crying loudly, "Puṇḍarīka Bāp, Bāp, My father. Oh My father Puṇḍarīka Premānidhi." Thereby the devotees came to know that Puṇḍarīka Vidyānidhi is incarnation of Mahārāja Vṛṣabhānu, father of Rādhārāṇī. And Gadādhara Paṇḍita accepting his discipleship, he also came in the same rank. And Mahāprabhu He, avista [?], inspired by His Rādhikā mood He cried, "Bāpa Puṇḍarīka, where are you?" In this way, Gadādhara Paṇḍita took initiation from Puṇḍarīka.

Puṇḍarīka Vidyānidhi had some peculiarity. He never took bath in the Ganges. Though he came to Navadwīpa he did not take bath. His attitude was something else, that we should not touch our foot in the pure water of Ganges. And also he could not tolerate that other people are coming to take bath and molesting the purity, the dignity. They're throwing, they're spitting, and so many objectionable ways they're treating with Ganges. He could not tolerate, so at night when there were none on the banks, he went to see Ganges and to take water on his head. That was his practice there, faith.

This Gadādhara Paṇḍita took initiation. And then when Mahāprabhu went to Purī after sannyāsa, Gadādhara Paṇḍita was a follower, and he, after reaching Purī, he took kṣetra sannyāsa. Kṣetra sannyāsa means a type of sannyāsa that he won't leave the place, in the whole of his life, he will stay there. As Gadādhara Paṇḍita new that Śrī Caitanyadeva has promised to His mother - that Śacī Devī told that,

"You may stay in Nīlācala, Purī, nearby, then I shall get some information. Many persons are going and coming. Not Vṛndāvana, far away, and Mohammedan rule. And here Hindu rule. Not _____ [?] is guaranteed, and in Vṛndāvana no ____ [?] And that is also a long way. So if You stay in Purī I'll be happy."

Mahāprabhu told, "Yes. I shall do that."

So Gadādhara Paṇḍita thought that Śrī Caitanyadeva will remain there forever. And he also took kṣetra sannyāsa, that none can ask him to leave the place any longer in his whole life. So he took sannyāsa there and stayed in what is known as Toṭa Gopīnātha. Toṭa means garden. Installing the Śrī Mūrti of Gopīnātha in a particular garden house he used to stay there by worshipping Gopīnātha in his own way in a very poor style. Avana sak [?] Generally he offered Gopīnātha a class of vegetable which is not cultivated. Anywhere, everywhere it grows automatically. And that sak he used to take and some leaves of the tamarind tree, and prepared some chutney, some sour and acid. In this way in a very plain way he used to worship his Deity, and remained there, and reading Bhāgavatam.

And Mahāprabhu with His devotees went there to hear Bhāgavatam from Gadādhara Paṇḍita. Almost regular classes of Bhāgavatam, the reader was Gadādhara Paṇḍita. And so many others are audience along with Śrī Caitanyadeva. In this way.

When Mahāprabhu went to Vṛndāvana, Gadādhara Paṇḍita he did not know kṣetra sannyāsa or anything, only he knows Mahāprabhu. Mahāprabhu going to Vṛndāvana, he also followed.

But Mahāprabhu told, "Why you have taken the vow that you won't leave this place? Why do you go with Me? Then your vow is being disturbed. I can't tolerate. You remain here."

And with great painfulness, very painful at heart, he carried out the order of Mahāprabhu.

At that time told, "I do not know where is kṣetra sannyāsa or this virtue or that religion. I know You only. Wherever You are, there is my everything. All my religious sentiments are with You. I'm never outside. Wherever You'll go I shall follow. I do not care for any slackness in any vow, or in religious duty, or this or that."

But when Mahāprabhu ordered him strongly, what to do, he fainted there.

When ordered him strictly, "Don't follow Me. Remain here." Then he could not put forward a step, he fell there and fainted.

And Sārvabhauma anyhow managed to take him back towards that Toṭa Gopīnātha, his place in Purī.

Then Mahāprabhu came back. There are many things. Gadādhara Paṇḍita's ideal was very strict, more brāhmaṇic style, but a continued flow of devotion - Mahāprabhu, and Kṛṣṇa of Vṛndāvana, Rādhārāṇī. And more innocent type, not speaking a harsh word to anybody else. Very meek and mild temperament. No aggression in any way in him. In this way he lived there.

Then, when Vallabhācārya, the Ācārya of the present Gujarat Vaiṣṇava, Vallabhācārya, formerly he was a follower of Viṣṇuswāmī sampradāya. Śrīdhara Swāmī also comes from that sampradāya. Then Ballava he was proud of his scholarship, he came to meet the Vaiṣṇavas of, devotees of Mahāprabhu, and he tried to show his scholarship, especially in Bhāgavatam discussion here and there.

Then one day he told that, "I can't accept Śrīdhara Swāmī. He has no consistency in his commentary. In somewhere he expresses his opinion in a particular way, another place he says another thing, so no consistency. I can't accept."

And Mahāprabhu could not tolerate. He was already dissatisfied with his proud gesture, posture, and style of discussion. And when he discarded Śrīdhara Swāmī, the Guru of His own line, Mahāprabhu could not tolerate, burst out, and told.

"Śrīdhara Swāmī has given the real purport of Bhāgavatam. He has drawn from the Śaṅkara Schools and others Schools, they rather twisted the real meaning of Bhāgavatam many ways. But Śrīdhara Swāmī has shown a substantial way. And we're all more or less indebted to him for his commentary of Bhāgavatam. He has propagated Bhāgavata jñāna. And one who does not care for her husband - Swāmī means - there is a pun in the word - Swāmī means husband. So if anyone does not care for her husband, that lady should be considered to be a prostitute." In this way Mahāprabhu remarked against Vallabhācārya.

What to do? There were many paṇḍitas, Svarūpa Dāmodara, Advaita Ācārya, and other paṇḍitas.

Vallabhācārya came now and then and discusses with them, but he can't go back with flying colours. Some sort of discontentment in him. In this way coming, going. And after Mahāprabhu remarked in that way none wants to talk with him in a friendly way. Indifferent.

Then he began to go to Gadādhara Paṇḍita. And Gadādhara Paṇḍita he's of very mild temperament, humble, he cannot say to the person approaching him, anything roughly, he can't treat him. So he's coming and going to Paṇḍita Gadādhara. And there was a rumour amongst the followers of Śrī Caitanyadeva.

"We show indifference to that Vallabhācārya, but Gadādhara Paṇḍita he likes him. So he has ceased to come to our party, and he always visits Paṇḍita Gadādhara."

And Gadādhara, out of his humble and modest temperament he can't say, 'Don't come here.' These rough words he can't use. And taking advantage of that he's coming and going.

Then, he was impressed by Gadādhara Paṇḍita's behaviour, conduct, and his internal dignified position, and devotion to mādhurya rasa, to Kṛṣṇa. He was very much impressed.

And in the meantime so many followers of Mahāprabhu presented complaints against Gadādhara Paṇḍita. And Mahāprabhu also showed some indifference to Paṇḍita Gadādhara for that behaviour.

Then some very intimate circle asked Paṇḍita Gadādhara, "Mahāprabhu is chastising you, why you are silent? You can't say something to Him?"

Then Gadādhara Paṇḍita told, "No, no. From my position how can I do so?"

In this way the temperament of Rukmiṇī, not of Satyabhāmā.

Then after some days Vallabhācārya came with a proposal to Gadādhara Paṇḍita, that, "Our sampradāya they follow the service in vātsalya rasa, filial temperament. But coming in your connection I've got some attraction in mādhurya rasa, to serve Kṛṣṇa in mādhurya rasa. It is developed in me and I want to take such mantram from you. You are my Guru. I accept you to be my Guru in that rasa."

Then Gadādhara Paṇḍita told, "I'm not independent. I can't say that. If my Master Śrī Caitanyadeva He gives me permission, then I can fulfil your desire."

Then Vallabhācārya had to come Śrī Caitanyadeva and to express his motive there. And Mahāprabhu gave permission and he was initiated from Gadādhara Paṇḍita. The Vallabha School.

But now in their sampradāya we find a deviation from that temperament. They go on in their own way. Again, instead of Rādhārāṇī they present Yamunā or Candrāvalī to be the highest servitor in mādhurya rasa, against Rādhārāṇī. Generally we hear from that. Yamunā. This Vallabha sampradāya.

So Gadādhara Paṇḍita he used to read Bhāgavatam in almost a regular class. And Śrī Caitanyadeva with His other followers used to listen to that. Then afterwards, before the departure of Caitanyadeva He ordered Paṇḍita Gadādhara, "My devotee, one Śrīnivāsa Ācārya will come here shortly. And you please teach him the principles of Bhāgavatam. To him you will preach hereafter."

Śrīnivāsa Ācārya, he was the son of Gaṅgādhara Bhaṭṭācārya, who was a classmate of Nimāi Paṇḍita. When Nimāi Paṇḍita took sannyāsa in Katwa, that Gaṅgādhara Bhaṭṭācārya, whose native village was Chakhandi, just opposite _____ [?] on the other side of the Ganges, and his father-in-law's house near Katwa, Yajigrama. From Yajigrama he was going home and he heard that Nimāi Paṇḍita has come to take sannyāsa here. So he attended the function. He knew the extraordinary personality of Nimāi Paṇḍita when studying along with Him. And that Nimāi Paṇḍita is taking sannyāsa. He was a sight seer there, dumb. And when everything was finished, Nimāi Paṇḍita, Kṛṣṇa Caitanya, started towards Vṛndāvana in a mad devotional temperament, running towards Vṛndāvana. Gaṅgādhara went back home and he was beside himself. Only "Kṛṣṇa Caitanya." Whatever anyone says, he says "Caitanya" and nothing else, no other words coming from his mouth. Whatever anyone comes to say, he says "Caitanya." Mad. Then his name was Caitanya dāsa. People gave him the name Caitanya dāsa. And his son, Śrīnivāsa.

When young, about fifteen, sixteen, Śrīnivāsa _____ [?] and devotional temperament. He heard that Caitanyadeva is living there in Purī, he started to have darśana. On the way he heard He has left. Then what to do? "Anyhow I shall see the remaining persons, and the place where He lived so long."

He went on and met Gadādhara Paṇḍita. Gadādhara Paṇḍita gave him the news that, "Caitanyadeva has requested me to teach you Bhāgavatam. But the Bhāgavata copy that I've got it is almost washed away by the tears. You won't be able to follow this. You go, and ask in my name, one copy of Bhāgavatam from Narahari Sarkar in Śrīkhanda, and then I shall teach you Bhāgavatam. This is the order of my Lord."

So Śrīnivāsa Paṇḍita came back to Śrīkhanda, nearby his mother's house, and a copy he got, and with that he was going to Purī, but he heard Gadādhara Paṇḍita disappeared. Then broken hearted he saw and came back, disappointed. But that wish, Mahāprabhu's will and Gadādhara Paṇḍita's will, inspired him with the truth of Bhāgavatam, meaning of Bhāgavatam. He was an unprecedented scholar in Bhāgavatam culture, Śrīnivāsa Ācārya. After Gadādhara Paṇḍita passed away.

After that Raghunātha dāsa also started towards Vṛndāvana. Svarūpa Dāmodara immediately passed away just after the disappearance of Mahāprabhu. And Vakreśvara Paṇḍita, the disciple of the favourite devotee of Mahāprabhu, was installed by the devotees as the mahant of that temple where Mahāprabhu lived, that Gambhīrā.

In this way Gadādhara Paṇḍita's life is this, very meek, humble, unassuming, simple, and cent percent submissive to Śrī Caitanyadeva. From his very childhood he knew none but Śrī Caitanya as his Master. That was Gadādhara Paṇḍita. And we're told by the scholars, by the parṣada devotees of Mahāprabhu,

[baḍa śākhā, — gadādhara paṇḍita-gosāñi] teṅho lakṣmī-rūpā, tāṅra sama keha nāi

Really he was the potency of Kṛṣṇa, Śrī Caitanya. And devotees of higher type in Navadwīpa līlā they sometimes see as Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura and others. Here, when a flash of the spiritual Dhāma comes in their mind, in their eye, sometimes they say "Rādhā-Kṛṣṇa" and sometimes "Gaura-Gadādhara." Gaura- Gadādhara in madhyama līlā _____ [?] and in many places Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura in his transcendental eye he saw and gave description.

"Suddenly a flash came, and I found Gaura-Gadādhara. And immediately as the vision changed I saw Rādhā-Kṛṣṇa."

_____ [?] of same plane, of two variety. Navadwīpa, audārya and mādhurya.

We cannot see them, but they can show themselves to us. The initiative in that side must be, and our hankering our capital. Our hankering, our earnest desire, exclusive endeavour to have their service, on our part, this will be the qualification of seer. Then they will take initiative and come down in our level, as if we're seeing them. That is the realm. If we've got some abnormality in our rational position, no faith in the rational calculative world where we're living at present, and something transcendental. Our prospect in the transcendental world, and the degree of hankering to get it if sufficiently intense, then we can come across such vision, which is at the sweet will of them.

And we've got nothing to do but to hear their līlā, their pastimes in the higher circle, and to have faith in that. And in that way to move and live, and with the earnest desire. "When will the day come when I shall get such opportunity?" How much adherence, how much intense should be our hankering for that higher experience, that I shall have some direct experience of the same. With true faith we're to contact, and backed by the sukṛti that our previous tendency acquired from the company of the sādhu that has got some practical experience about that transcendental family. That will push us to continue on our way, at present though we have got no practical direct experience of the thing. Śraddhā, our regard, that is our capital to go on in the path. However imaginary, whether I get it or not get it, I cannot live without that model of life.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...anyhow touched my heart through the ear. The Kṛṣṇa conception of Godhead, the Caitanya conception of Godhead, they're of such high level, and with fine taste that has touched my heart and burned all other prospects there. Captured wholly. Do or die. Rather I shall, I must get that, or I don't want anything, I want to die, to efface my existence. But if to maintain my existence, I want to live only in that sort of holy atmosphere, whatever little is extended to me, through any media or agency. This should be our attitude about _____ [?] Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol.

Today is the birth day, advent day of Gadādhara Paṇḍita. This is amāvasyā, new moon, dark night. Mahāprabhu came in the full moon, and He's drawn the whole from Gadādhara Paṇḍita, made him quite empty. He had to come in a black night. In His case He took the full moon. Kṛṣṇa was in the middle, aśtamī. Rādhārāṇī was in the middle. But when both combined, went to capture the full moon. And Gadādhara Paṇḍita, for his, only the blackest night to come down here. Injustice. He tolerated such injustice, his whole life was the ignored life. The whole wealth drawn from his heart, Rādhārāṇī's. Everything drawn by Kṛṣṇa to enhance His līlā, with audārya combined. And the real owner, now he's treated like a bankrupt. He's bankrupt in his own wealth. That is the position. And he passed also in amāvasyā, in the dark, a new moon, Gadādhara Paṇḍita.

And Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura also adopted that. And Prabhupāda said, Gadadhara harin hari paiya acha gaura hari [?] Prabhupāda saw, marked, something common - Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura and Gadādhara Paṇḍita. And they passed in the same day. Gadadhara harin hari paiya acha gaura hari [?] "Your day of disappearance is congruent with that of Gadādhara. In this connection you got the grace of Śrī Gaurāṅga. You are a favourite of Him." In this way Prabhupāda saw.

And in another place, sadagarl gaura krsna yaji [?] "This Navadwīpa Dhāma, the eternal pastimes are always going on. Sometimes always underground, sometimes on the surface." Prabhupāda looking in this way. "Always nitya līlā, underground to us. Where we're awake, that we call the surface, over the surface. And we're absent in the deep - another stage of consciousness, that is underground to us. Sadagarl gaura krsna yaji prakat hoilya [?] Now suddenly they have come over the surface, Gadādhara Paṇḍita and Svarūpa Dāmodara, both. And Svarūpa Dāmodara came as Gaurakiśora, and Gadādhara Paṇḍita came as Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura." _____ [?]
"This is not to be given expression to any and every place. This is most concealed truth." Prabhupāda said. "Not to be expressed anywhere and everywhere. This is the fact. They're always here, continuing their own function, participating in the līlā of Gaurāṅga. Sometimes underground, sometimes overground. But it's difficult to recognise them. I suddenly found Svarūpa Dāmodara as Gaurakiśora, and Gadādhara Paṇḍita as Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura. They most graciously gave me this sort of pity. I could see in them these two parṣada, the eternal companions of Gaurāṅga I found them."

Prabhupāda has mentioned in his introduction to Caitanya-caritāmṛta in this way, or conclusion, somewhere. Perhaps in the conclusion of the Anubhāṣya of Caitanya-caritāmṛta it is given there.

Gaura Hari. The nature of eternity and infinite may be anything and everything. We're a child of the limited soil. We're a child of the limited aspect of the world. Many things impossible to us. We're accustomed to think that everything is impossible. Only what I've got in my little experience, that is possible, and other things are all impossible. We're trained to think like that. But if we think about infinite it will be just the opposite. Anything and everything may be possible. Bad or good, that is also of infinite character. In the transcendental world the goodness also has sweetness, also has no end, and different gradation is there. In this we're to make advance, progress, so that thought comes.

Pratyakṣa, parokṣa, aparokṣa, adhokṣaja, and aprakṛta. These five layers of knowledge. Pratyakṣa, where we're awake now. Parokṣa, we also consider other's sense experience to be a part of our knowledge. Aparokṣa, which is independent of all our experience world, and where we faint. That is in samādhi. We can't feel our environment but our personal consciousness in deep slumber. Only personal consciousness without any conception of the environment, their position. And then, by the grace of the higher world, when they take us in there, then we'll wonderfully have some sort of experience of the transcendental world. By their grace, by their mercy - not as a matter of right. Then that is in the highest stage, aprakṛta, very similar to this world of my limited experience. But it holds the highest position of existence and sweetness and in every way, harmony and ecstasy in all, beauty. That has been given to us. If we've got śraddhā, leaving away,

[ahaṁ tvāṁ sarva-pāpebhyo, mokṣayiṣyāmi mā śucaḥ]

["Totally abandoning all kinds of religion, surrender exclusively unto Me. I will liberate you from all kinds of sins, so do not despair."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 18.66]

I'm in my home. I'm in such a position...

... "This is all mundane, nothing. Come to Me. I shall fill you amply. You won't be able to taste, so sweetness is there in unlimited way. So I can say very easily, give up everything you've got. What have you got? Nothing. In your experience of the wealth you've got - janma-mṛtyu-jarā-vyādhi [Bhagavad-gītā, 13.9], it is now, it will go, pass, it will leave you, it will disappoint you next moment. So nothing you have got. So give up the mania for the attraction for the environment you're in the midst of at present. And come, jump, to come to Me, desperately, and I shall give you shelter, and you'll be compensated amply."

This is the call of Bhagavad-gītā of Kṛṣṇa. Mahāprabhu also said, "Give up everything. Take the Name of the Lord. And prepare yourself to go to home. You're not created for this trifling, for this mean dishonourable life. Your home is there. If you like, you can come there. While you're in the midst of the cremation ground, then save yourself from the cremation ground. And try to have your inner fulfilment and worth of your existence here. In this way."

Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol. Here I close today.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Śrīdhara Mahārāja has got no faith in experiment, in the empirical experiment system. That very system of that very path has been abhorrently rejected. Tamna tamna tamna, neti neti neti. The method of searching, in the empirical method, that has been rejected on principle. Why? That is, then one can understand what is the meaning of the revealed truth. Infinite should come to finite. Finite cannot search after infinite. Only that method's necessary to invite infinite to come. And not to understand infinite by any intellectual or empirical or ascending method. Śrauta siddhānta, śrauta panthā, has been accepted, the method that the truth can reveal.

yam evaiṣa vṛnute tena labhyas, [tasyaiṣa ātmā vivṛnute tanūṁ svām]

["One cannot understand the substance of the Paramātmā, the Super-soul residing within everyone's heart, by means of expertise in logic, intelligence or learning. When the living entity begs the Lord for His mercy, being desirous of His transcendental loving service, then the Supreme Lord reveals His self-manifest form directly before him."] [Kaṭha-Upaniṣad, 1.2.23] & [Muṇḍaka-Upaniṣad, 2.3.2]

This principle should be understood. One who can understand this principle properly he'll reject that method of experiment and make progress towards. This is inductive process. We have no faith in that, only yam evaiṣa vṛnute tena labhyas. Whomever He will come to make him known to, he will know Him, none else. In one place one can know, another cannot know. And when He wills to know, to how, to whom, he'll know in that way.

[gopānāṁ svajano 'satāṁ kṣitibhujāṁ śāstā svapitro śiśuḥ
mṛtyur bhojapater virāḍ aviduṣāṁ tattvaṁ paraṁ yogināṁ
vṛṣṇīnāṁ paradevateti vidito raṅgaṁ gataḥ sāgrajaḥ]

["O King, Śrī Kṛṣṇa then appeared as a thunderbolt to the wrestlers, as the supreme male to the men, as Cupid incarnate to the ladies, as a friend to the cowherds men; as an emperor to the wicked kings, as a child to His father and mother, as death to Kaṁsa, as the universal form of the world to the ignorant; as the Supreme Truth to the yogīs, as the Supreme Worshipful Lord to the Vṛṣṇis - and along with Baladeva He entered the arena."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.43.17]

In this way, in one place people will know him in variegated ways as He wills them to know. A blind man can see Him by His will only. Dhṛtarāṣṭra wanted, "For the time being remove my blindness."

"No, no. Your physical is not necessary to be removed. I say 'you see Me' you'll be able to see Me."

And that was done. Without removing blindness, Dhṛtarāṣṭra only by His order could see Him. What does it mean? Everything is the effect of His will, all subjective cause. And no importance of any objective representation to the senses. Objective representation is only valid in the case of physical senses. But the whole thing, the transcendental truth, is coming from up to down.

"You see Me in this way." Arjuna saw in that way.

"Arjuna, you see Me in this way, that I'm so and so." Arjuna saw that.

Only the subject is being controlled by the higher subject, and the experience comes from that. Specially that higher experience of the conscious world, super conscious world specially. It can never come by any other way, what to speak of this material thing. Material thing has been used by the tantric, the Śaiva section, and that is only with this idea.

evaṁ nṛṇāṁ kriyā-yogāḥ, sarve saṁsṛti-hetavaḥ ta evātma-vināśāya, kalpante kalpitāḥ pare

["Thus when all a man's activities are dedicated to the service of the Lord, those very activities which caused his perpetual bondage become the destroyer of the tree of work."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.5.34]

In the midst of many exciting temptations if we practice God consciousness we may pass the examination, in that way. In the midst of fear, in the shashan, tantric, the tantrics they go to the cremation ground and takes his seat on the chest of a dead body, and they make that yavan. In the case of fear, fighting with the tendency of fear within and defeating it, I'm going, practising my meditation, or something. So many tests. To do some practices with the company of a beautiful young girl. A young girl generally attracts, but in-spite of her attraction, if I can stand going on in my japam or meditation I make some progress. This is the process as being accepted by those. Wherever there's temptation, in the midst of that temptation as a challenge to that temptation I'm going on with this. But this is also another sort of inductive process.

But the Absolute is quite free. He does not care for anything. So only His sweet will can give Him to us. How to get, attract His sweet will? That has been told that only by surrender. By surrender to Him we can attract His attention and His grace, His sympathy, so that He will come to me. He will express Himself in me out of His sweet will. What - His sweet will is the cause to get Him, and how to attract His sweet will, that is the problem. That has been told that only by surrender, only by humiliation, only by our prayer, very acute and very piteous prayer. "I'm so poor, so needy, and I want Your Grace." In this way by prayer to draw His attention towards us. This is bhakti.

And no other process can force Him to come to me. Then that will be greater god. As Hegel says, "If anything can create God then he's higher god. God must have His full independence in Him. Nothing can give Him. And everything for Him." These two criterion's we should keep in mind. Everything for Him. So until and unless one comes in that standard, to accept that everything for His līlā, I'm to merge within His līlā. He won't be moved, but I have to be moved in certain way that I can be harmonised with Him. Then I can get Him, His connection. Otherwise dislocated, and nothing outside can give Him to me. His devotees means His own, same thing. Bhaktyā sañjātayā bhaktyā.

bhaktyā sañjātayā bhaktyā, bibhraty utpulakāṁ tanum

["The devotees of the Lord constantly discuss the glories of the Personality of Godhead among themselves. Thus they constantly remember the Lord and remind one another of His qualities and pastimes. In this way, by their devotion to the principles of bhakti yoga, the devotees please the Personality of Godhead, who takes away from them everything inauspicious. Being purified of all impediments, the devotees awaken to pure love of Godhead, and thus, even within this world, their spiritualised bodies exhibit symptoms of transcendental ecstasy, such as standing of the bodily hairs on end."]
[Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.3.31]

And bhakti has been told it is eternal, it is not created, it cannot be given by anybody. But bhakti is there, and who are already in bhakti, they can, by His order, they can extend it. This is the nature. Nothing can produce bhakti. Bhakti is eternal. Bhakti is self sufficient. And bhakti can give bhakti, and nothing else can give bhakti, devotion proper. Bhaktyā sañjātayā bhaktyā. Ahaitukī apratihatā. Bhakti has no cause, that something will come and advertise 'I can create bhakti.' No. It is causeless, it is eternal, and irresistible, when it will come in his own way. It comes in his own way and that can never be resisted by any other power in the world.

The God's function, bhakti, sevā, it is simultaneously existing, and similar with God, His particular potency. Without bhakti there cannot be any God, without service. Without devotion, dedication, there cannot be any God. If God exists then dedication to fulfil His purpose is there. Everything for Himself. That means everything has got its function towards His satisfaction. That is bhakti, irresistible. It is independent, and it is irresistible, and none can give bhakti but bhakti. Only bhakti can give bhakti. And the bhakta who are already immersed in bhakti, they can, as the agent of bhakti. So it is independent and all free, and self asserting substance. Not any relative, not created, not dependent of any other thing.

We're after such Absolute. And in the scriptures also it has been dealt like that by the previous Vaiṣṇava Ācāryas. Other gods may be attempted or may be gained by different methods. But the Absolute has got this particular process and means to attain Him, śaraṇāgati, surrender to Him. Not that He will come to you, but you will have to go to Him fully. Surrender means that. You will have to accept Him fully. Then He will reveal Himself within you. You're to accept everything for Himself. You are also for Himself. No other alternative ambition you have got. Everything for Him. You are for Him cent percent, when you accept, then you're taken in. Hare Kṛṣṇa. And in the Ācārya, especially those Ācāryas that you've come under to learn from them, they're also of this opinion we find from their teachings in different places. So we can never accept a new thing which we ourselves can see with whatever little knowledge we've got.

That nothing if I go to take help from some other thing then I minimise the Absolute to that extent. If I go to a second thing, than Him, then thereby I minimise His position, undermine His position, that He's not Absolute. If He's Absolute then the cause of attaining Him must be within Him, not outside. And whatever He accepts as prasāda, to take prasāda, that mentality if it's connecting Him, and whatever, if we offer meat to Nārāyaṇa, it's redundant. Because in the revealed scriptures He has already said definitely this is not the method. So also the fish, the meat, the drinking, this wine and others, so many things that is ordinarily objectionable that's not included in the list of the objects that could be offered to Nārāyaṇa. The śāstra is there, mentioning. Only the empiricist who are from outside they're in the process of inquiry of the truth. It is in them this intoxication, this tantric, wine drinking, this meat eating, and this girl enjoying. All these are in the empirical section, and not in the devotional section.

Devotional section, as revealed truth has come down from the Ācārya, they surrender to that and gradually they try to go up. Hare Kṛṣṇa. So we never can accept that, not in the Ācārya, Vaiṣṇava, and the Vaiṣṇava scripture. Vaiṣṇava sayings and Vaiṣṇava scripture has never allowed these things. This is all,

śruti-smṛti-purāṇādi-, pañcarātra-vidhiṁ vinā aikāntikī harer bhaktir, utpātāyaiva kalpate

["If one wants to demonstrate his great devotion to the Supreme Lord but his process of devotional service violates the standard rules of revealed scriptures such as śruti, smṛti, Purāṇas and Nārada- pañcarātra, then his alleged love of Godhead will simply disturb society by misleading people from the auspicious path of spiritual advancement."] [Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, 1.2.101]
& [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.1.15, purport]

Generally we should consider the life and the character of the higher souls, the Guru and the Vaiṣṇava of the upper sections, in whose line at least we have accepted our goal. How their conduct, what is their practice, and what is their writings, what is their speech, advice, all these things we're to consider. At least this sort of honesty should be expected within us, that we're followers of our Guru and the Guru paramparā, the recognised Vaiṣṇavas. We must follow them. We must not supersede. Submissive to our Guru and Vaiṣṇava, that should be our conduct.

This will be - a sensible man will laugh at these suggestions and modifications in the line of pure devotional method. A laughing stock. A new invention, ha, ha, that's the outcome of the previous black saṁskāra, impulse acquired in the previous life. Otherwise it can never be explained, upa saṁskāra, upa duṣkṛtī. Panake purvate hitam jateke citako buyo [?] They run after the soul from previous life, the tendency that was acquired there _____ [?]

Whenever that impulse will attack anybody he will try his utmost to get out of that suggestion and that mental tendency. That a demon has come to attack me in the form of a particular impulse and new suggestion, crossing my previous Ācārya. And insulting them in other words. What they have advised to reject, to be away from, and I'm trying to introduce that very nuisance into the sampradāya. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

This is tāmasic. Sāttvic - a pure mind can follow what is the line of the truth. And in rājasic there is doubt whether this is true or that is true. And tāmasic, what is bad, to try to understand and give vent to others that this is the truth. What is not truth, to try utmost to establish that in the throne of truth, that is tāmasic. And this intoxication and other things, meat eating, all tāmasic. So sheer ignorance, tāma means ignorance, mainly, a tāmasic tendency, ignorance.

Just as Yāmunācārya has remarked against his enemy.

Tesam ajñānam eva aparādha date noto iesvar matan dosa [?] In a very affectionate tone he's making remark against the opposition party. "That their ignorance is responsible. Let them live long. They have no crime, no offence, but their ignorance is responsible for this, remark, for this sort of understanding. Ignorance we're to blame and not the name who's ignorant. Tesam ajñānam eva aparādha date noto iesvar matan dosa [?] Let them live long, my affectionate children, they have got no so much fault. But their ignorance is responsible for all their erroneous activities." Yāmunācārya, the Guru of Rāmānuja, his expression, his remark is like that against the Śaṅkara School.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol.

Where is Sārvabhauma?

Devotee: _____ [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So no possibility of any support for such campaign from here. I'm the worst enemy of all such new suggestions and movement and creation of these things. I like him. I had affection for him, for his simplicity, and for his self abnegation. But from where this curse has come in him, I shudder to think of it. That is my position. I want that he may be washed, he may be purified of these filthy things as soon as possible, by the grace of Mahāprabhu, Nityānanda Prabhu. This is my present attitude towards him. As soon as he'll be absolved, purified from this poisonous, filthy impulse, he'll be saved. Let Nityānanda Prabhu save him. It can never be tenable under any circumstances in any intensity or any type or modified, wholesale.

[dharmasya tattvaṁ nihitaṁ guhāyāṁ] mahā-jano yena gataḥ sa panthāḥ

[Yudhiṣṭhira Mahārāja said: "The real secret, the solid truth of religious principles is hidden and concealed in the hearts of unadulterated self-realised persons, saints, just as treasure is hidden in a mysterious cave. Consequently, as the śāstras confirm, one should accept whatever progressive path the mahā-janas advocate."] [Mahābhārata, Vana-parva]

This simple way. Our generous and higher predecessors they have traced a particular path, and we must try to go in that way, and not to create another short cut.

Devotee: Guru Mahārāja. In the scriptures it's said that in Kali-yuga so many concocted process will come.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Maybe. It is likely. Kali means kalah, kalah means quarrel, quarrel means a clash of many opinions and many interests. Kali. So many interests, many paths will come and they quarrel with one another. That is Kali. Kali means that separationist, they will have the greater field, of different opinions. Kali means difference in opinion, so in Kali everyone will think himself modern, as Ācārya. "What I think, I know, that's the best." And they'll come to quarrel. So quarrel in extensive way means everyone thinks that he's perfect, he's the absolute, and whatever he understands that must be the truth. This is Kali. So,

kaler doṣa-nidhe rājann asti hy eko mahān guṇaḥ
[kīrttanād eva kṛṣṇasya mukta-saṅgaḥ paraṁ vrajet]

[Śukadeva Goswāmī tells Parīkṣit Mahārāja: "O King, the age of Kali, the repository of all evils, has but one glorious characteristic: in this age, those who simply chant the Holy Name of Kṛṣṇa are liberated and reach the Supreme Lord."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 12.3.51]

Take the shelter in the sound divine. _____ [?] so many, why Kṛṣṇa, not Kali, not Jesus, not God? That is also one and the same, everywhere the doubt, understanding. Kṛṣṇa, the attraction, the affection, that is our solace, the absolute attraction. That is love divine. Love is above all. And love must be divine, not this lady love, or fame loving, or money loving, but God loving. Conception of God - God the love. God is love. We must try to love one another, and to go to the land of love divine. And to differentiate any other things from love proper. There is lust going on in the name of love here. We're to eliminate from it, and this money loving, so many loving, love of fame, that must be eliminated and directed towards the unseen, the attractive, the centre of love. Love means dedication. We try to understand the science of love. As much love, so much dedication for the cause, that is love. The criterion of love is that, dedication, self sacrifice. Yajña, sacrifice, to be habituated to give something for other's taste, other's pleasure, that is yajña. And love is the highest and purest and divine form of yajña. Yajña means to sacrifice, dedication, as much dedication. And dedication as a partial representation cannot but be partial. Dedication to the whole centre absolute, that is to be acquired, the spirit of dedication. Bhakti means bhajan, dedication, and not temporary dedication by applying any medicine to forget ones own self. To get an injection, or a pill, and then I'm unconscious, that is not dedication. And to have a dream of this and that thing in a sleeping state, that is also not dedication. Wholesale dedication is standing, awakening, fully awake, we must march towards dedication. Dedication for the country, it is very famous and widely accepted, if one dedicates himself for the cause of his own country. Patriotism is found, dedication is found in patriots. But that is all partial, always fighting with another camp, so many killing, that is dedication. But dedication not extended selfishness, dedication for the whole centre, all accommodating absolute, that sort of dedication to be developed within us. It is already there...

Devotee: Can you explain that in English.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The Search for Śrī Kṛṣṇa Reality the Beautiful. But how the searching? Through devotion. What is that? Dedication. What is dedication? Die to live. And what is living? Living to live in love, Kṛṣṇa prema, love divine. Kṛṣṇa prema. The whole picture is in a few lines, a few words, the whole picture.

Devotee: Like a sūtra.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And this is - ah, sūtra - this is the first portion. The Search for Śrī Kṛṣṇa Reality the Beautiful. The sambandha jñāna. Then what is search, and what is the end of the search? In a nutshell that should be added in the title page. The whole thing will come. 'Oh. All these things are here!' The whole thing, the whole picture, only in a few words.

Devotee: That can be added.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, may be added.

Śrīla Govinda Mahārāja: _____ [?] Guru and His Grace _____ [?] This book will be published...

[Śrīla Govinda Mahārāja and Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja - 04:10 - 05:05 ?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The necessity of Gurudeva is there, but universal. Who wants not to err? To err is human, but not to err that is also inner tendency, irresistible everywhere. And there from the basis of the necessity of the Śrī Gurudeva who comes to give us relief from our internal trouble. Guru. In this way that developed. The Guru kaivata, kana Guru, Guru ke? That universal necessity of aim of life, prayojana.

Devotee: So this book, Guru and His Grace, what should be the scope of that book, according to you?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What should be?

Devotee: What should be the thrust, the scope, the...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: It will go gradually, move here, the Guru. Ultimately it will come to Kṛṣṇa, Kṛṣṇa is Guru who can remove all our doubts. All our enquiries may be satisfied by whom? It is from Him. But gradually it will develop and go there. Who can clear all the doubts, we may have doubts after doubts, one doubt may go and thousands of doubts may come, but who can,

bhidyate hṛdaya-granthiś, chidyante sarva-saṁśayāḥ
[kṣīyante cāsya karmāṇi, mayi dṛṣṭe 'khilātmani]

["The knot in the heart is pierced, all misgivings are cut to pieces and the chain of fruitive actions is terminated when I am seen as the Supreme Personality of Godhead."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.20.30]

Who can do away with all the suspicions in our mind, it is He, the fullest. In this way it will come. Its birth in the intellectualism and its goal is transcendental. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Devotee: I was thinking that we should begin by mentioning the descending process of knowledge, like that, that knowledge comes from up to down. And then we would maybe end by the verse by Raghunātha Dāsa Goswāmī.

āśābharair-amṛta-sindhu-mayaiḥ kathañcit
[kālo mayātigamitaḥ kila sāmprataṁ hi

["O Queen of my heart, for a long, long time I am waiting with great patience to have Your Mercy, which is so sweet to me that I cannot avoid it. It is heart-melting, heart-attracting, heart-crushing. It is so deeply touching me - I can't avoid Your Service Connection. Somehow I have managed to come such a long way, to endure such a long time, but I am impatient now. Be gracious; if You are not gracious upon me, I have got no hope. I will come to the end of my patience. My life will end here. So much so, that, what shall I do with this Vṛndāvana? Vṛndāvana is of no use to me! What is the utility of living my life? It is useless - it will end with no utility. I can't love even Vṛndāvana, which is associated with the līlā of Kṛṣṇa. To say nothing of Vṛndāvana, I can't relish the company of even Kṛṣṇa, without You. Without You, even Kṛṣṇa is meaningless to me. I can't tolerate, I can't relish either my own life, or this environment, or even Kṛṣṇa - if He Himself comes to grace me I can't relish that, without Your connection. So please be gracious upon me. You are all-in-all. Without You, Kṛṣṇa consciousness is not Kṛṣṇa consciousness. Your position is so great, so beautiful in Kṛṣṇa līlā - You are the centre of all the līlā of Kṛṣṇa. Without You I can't conceive of any life worth living. I utterly surrender unto You, my Queen."] [Vilāpa-Kusumāñjali, 102]

That was like the zenith, we may take it by your grace, we might mention that also.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. The birth and the destination that will come to meet together. The birth is also from the potency and after moving in the whole infinite it will come again to the potency. Here we are. So infinite in finite, finite infinite, the affectionate connection of the finite with infinite helps him to live in infinite, all the finite backed by infinite may be infinite, resourceful, is it not?

If a friend, our Guru Mahārāja told, if a poor girl but if she's married to a prince, she had nothing but by friendly affectionate relationship with a prince, now she's turned into a princess. Who had nothing only for friendly relationship she gets command over everything, so many things. Jīva's resources may engage in that way. Intrinsically jīva has nothing, a point of the point of the point. But coming in affectionate connection with the Absolute, he gets the facility of all advantages of life of the Absolute, through affection, he or she is in possession of the whole. angani bhava magatya katam samatya nirmaya [?]

We cannot ascertain anyone's potency or power without consulting his relationship, friendly relationship. Israel is a small country but if Russia can jump it, conquer it within five minutes but America is there. So this angani bhava, the connection of the friends, not only estimation of a particular thing, but the estimation of the friends circle, that is all important.

_____ [?]

There is one Indian Aesop's Fable like thing, there one paṇḍit Vaiṣṇava Sharma he's putting this śloka, that angani bhava gatya [?] That a person and his friend, and friend of friend, without the calculation of this atmosphere, circumstance, we should not estimate the power of a particular thing. So he has given an example, titiva [?] the smallest bird, he could disturb and highly control the whole ocean. The bird went to his master, he went to his master, in this way the connection they made connection with Garuḍa, the servant bird carrier of Kṛṣṇa (Viṣṇu), Garuḍa-bhama. And Garuḍa came to back the small bird and by his threatening that samudra [?], "I shall drink you to finish." Samudra came to submit, had to come to submission, by the small bird because the friendly association. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Nitāi. Nitāi.

Devotee: Guru Mahārāja, can you explain the meaning of dīkṣā?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Divyaṁ jñānaṁ is given in the śāstra, scripture.

divyaṁ jñānaṁ yato dadyāt, kuryāt pāpasya saṅkṣayam tasmād dīkṣeti sā proktā, deśikais tattva-kovidaiḥ

["Experienced scholars have explained the meaning of dīkṣā, or spiritual initiation, in this way: dīkṣā is the process through which divya-jñāna or transcendental knowledge is imparted by the preceptor to the disciple. As a result, all the disciple's previous bad tendencies are crushed. Through dīkṣā, all previous commitments are cleared, and one gets the light of new life in relationship with the transcendental Lord. Dīkṣā, or initiation, is a process by which we are given a noble connection with the absolute centre and at the same time, our previous commitments are all finished. It is an inner awakening of life for the soul that brings divine knowledge. That wealth is there within us, but it is suppressed. Dīkṣā means discovering one's inner wealth, and getting relief from all outward obligations."] [Bhakti-Sandarbha, 868]

The scholars of the department have explained the meaning of dīkṣā in this way. Dīkṣā is a process through which the transcendental knowledge is imparted towards the disciple by the preceptor. And all his previous bad tendencies are crushed. That is known as dīkṣā in general. Previous commitments all cleared and he gets a new light of new life in relationship with the transcendental things. It's a process by which he is given a noble connection with the Absolute Centre and at the same time his previous commitments all finished. That has been called dīkṣā. It is an awakening, inner awakening of life, divyaṁ jñānaṁ. It is there, it is suppressed, but that is discovered, dīkṣā means discovering of ones inner wealth, and also relief from the outward obligations. With inner awakening the outer commitments vanish.

When you reach home your other engagements for your comforts contracted all cut up. They find their full sympathetic necessary comfort there. So for your own comfort you must have connection with various things outside, but coming home all these things are felt to be unnecessary and disconnected. The home comfort. The hostel comforts, generally in a foreign land we seek comfort indeed and it is supplied in the so many hostels. But when we reach home the hostel comforts they're discouraged, not necessary. "I have got home here, here is my home."

As minor you were taken away and you have come to visit your native place and you are in a hostel. But if you can come to know here was my father's, mother's house, if you come in that connection and go and they can recognise: "Oh, my boy, you were stolen when you were young. We can understand from your face all these things. I'm your mother. I'm your father. I'm your sister." Then the hostel peon: "Oh, no longer, you go, I give up your due, I have found my home." Something like that.

Back to God, back to home, with the inner awakening of the soul he finds his comfortable home. And outward links, connections, dispensed with. That is dīkṣā.

Devotee: So if śikṣā also gives divine knowledge, then what's the difference?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is supplementary, śikṣā to help, but dīkṣā is the main thing, main formula, and to work out that formula so many subsidiary things are necessary. In dīkṣā in the mantram the formula mainly there, and other things are necessary to make it, to substantiate it, to help it, the activity.

They're all parts and parcels of dīkṣā. It is already in that formula, it should be this, it should be that, all the directions there. But how to substantiate that? Then to come in details so many things, śravaṇa, kīrtanaṁ, smaraṇa, vandana, all these things, thousand things may be necessary.

[śravaṇaṁ kīrtanaṁ viṣṇoḥ, smaraṇaṁ pāda-sevanam arcanaṁ vandanaṁ dāsyaṁ, sakhyam ātma-nivedanam.
iti puṁsārpitā viṣṇau, bhaktiś cen nava-lakṣaṇā
kriyeta bhagavaty addhā tan manye 'dhītam uttamam]

["Hearing about Kṛṣṇa, chanting Kṛṣṇa's glories, remembering Kṛṣṇa, serving Kṛṣṇa's lotus feet, worshipping Kṛṣṇa's transcendental form, offering prayers to Kṛṣṇa, becoming Kṛṣṇa's servant, considering Kṛṣṇa as one's best friend, and surrendering everything to Kṛṣṇa - these nine processes are accepted as pure devotional service."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 7.5.23-24]

A general if he invades another country, chalk out the programme, "That this way we shall go and attack." We shall have to do this, but practically when going to do that so many things come on the way and we are to solve that and march on.

The whole plan, from foreign land to go home, the plan in this way you can go there. And to substantiate that practically so many things may be necessary in details. But mainly if you want to go home you will have to go from this to then, then to there. That is your home is there, and the description of the home is there, and where you are it is also there, and through this process you can reach your home. This is chalked out in the plan, and practically you're to do that. So many things, first you're to hire a rikshaw, then to the station, then to the plane, then to get a ticket for the plane. In this way so many things are necessary.

Divyaṁ jñāna, from the partial knowledge we're to reach to the final knowledge, and this is final. The final prospect. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

What is the consequence of your Calcutta journey?

Vidagdha Mādhava: Printer.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Printer?

Vidagdha Mādhava: Yes. He had one printing press many years ago, and he met Tīrtha Mahārāja...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Where? Situated where? Calcutta?

Vidagdha Mādhava: Yes. It was situated in Calcutta.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Which side?

Vidagdha Mādhava: Strand Road.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What is the name of the company?

Vidagdha Mādhava: Minerva Printing House.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Minerva Printing House. What does he say?

Vidagdha Mādhava: Well, he gave me one part of a translation, he gave me one book, a very old translation of Caitanya-caritāmṛta.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: By whom?

Vidagdha Mādhava: This is done by Professor Sanjit Kumar Chaudri.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Wholesale or part translation?

Vidagdha Mādhava: I have Madhya-līlā here but I think he has done the...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Madhya-līlā or Antya-līlā?

Vidagdha Mādhava: Madhya-līlā. This is published by Nagendra Kumar Roy.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The whole of Caitanya-caritāmṛta or only the...

Vidagdha Mādhava: Yes. The whole book is in three volumes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And translated by who you say? Sanjit Chaudri, Professor, Professor of Dacca?

Vidagdha Mādhava: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Dacca University. I met him, or rather he met us. He was married and he loved his wife very much, and then his wife died. He became half mad. And then he came in connection with Mahāprabhu and appreciated Mahāprabhu, that prema, love is the highest thing. He appreciated Him in that line. And then he came to translate the Antya-līlā first.

He told me, "I have translated Antya-līlā, a very nice thing, Mahāprabhu's vilāpa there."

But we did not give any recognition to it because he's coming from that line, the wife separation, that is the cause of his coming to this side. So we did not encourage him much. At that time he only translated Antya-līlā. Perhaps I asked him, "Try to." He was a good English scholar, and I asked him, "You try to translate the whole thing." Then I did not meet him again in my life. As far as I remember his name was Sanjit something or other. Nineteen thirty six, seven, eight, maybe, something like that, thirty seven, eight.

Vidagdha Mādhava: Sometimes when our A.C. Bhaktivedānta Swāmī he would say something, he would meet someone one time and tell them something, they would take it as very important. So you've told this man, "You may translate the whole of Caitanya-caritāmṛta...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And Śiśir Kumār Ghosh, the founder of Amṛta Bāzār Patrikā [a newspaper about Lord Caitanya Mahāprabhu], he wrote Lord Gaurāṅga. But they do not represent very correctly what life and teachings of Mahāprabhu, approximately, sentiments are given there, not on the basis of ontological conception, approximate.

In our Prabhupāda's writing we find - Bhaktisiddhānta Saraswatī: nija habi jabila gauranga [?] He remarked in this way about the Śiśir Ghosh's Lord Gaurāṅga. And Amiya Nimāi Charit in Bengali, that is also a wonderful book, in style and in historical side, all these things. But ontologically it is lacking. Nija habi jabila gauranga [?] The remark about them from our Guru Mahārāja in this way.

"That you have concocted one Gaurāṅga in the line of your own sentimental enjoyment. You have created a Gaurāṅga of your own in a novel style."

There are so many poets, they are also producing literature, very charming literature about the love, that Romeo and Juliet, etc. They're also involving many sentimental things to capture the mentality even of the scholarly thinking persons. It maybe something like that. "Gaurāṅga of their imagination." But it must have some reliable descending process, not ascending. They are outcome of ascending line, imitation, imitationist. But that must come in the descending line.

Devotee: We also came across one book...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: We have got our mental sentimental naths. Generally we're in this world if our sentiments in this mundane naths they're satisfied we're charmed. So imitationists can exploit our sincere approval. But to cross the mundane circumstance of lust and then to enter the domain of the Divine Love, that is very difficult thing. To accept mundane love in the name of Divine Love that is very cheap. Imitation is not real.

Here was one bābājī who, Gaura Kiśora Dāsa Bābājī, was Guru Mahārāja of our Guru Mahārāja, he was there, another new bābājī came and took his quarter in his sight, and began to show much vairāgya.

Then Gaura Kiśora Bābājī remarked to one devotee that, "Only imitating the pain of childbirth one lady may not expect to give birth to a real child. That is, formally entering the birth room and there she's imitating the pains of giving a childbirth, that does not mean that a child will come from her womb. There are many things before. Not only that imitation painful sounds, imitation. The finishing sound, that cannot give the birth of a child." Do you follow? No? Am I clear?

Devotees: Yes Guru Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Gaura Kiśora Bābājī remarked that, "This gentleman he has come and he has erected a cottage in my sight, and he's copying me in this vairāgyam, mādhukarī, and taking food, and taking the Name, all these things. This is complete imitation of an advanced saint he's making here. But he showed that only the copying the outer things. There must be śuddha-sattva, viśuddha-sattva, must be vairāgya connection with a genuine Guru, then the process of the dīkṣā, and the process of realisation, then he will, he can come to such. Only translation of the outward sentimental things of Kavirāja Goswāmī won't take him to that position of Kavirāja Goswāmī." Hare Kṛṣṇa.

In the drama also we may find that one may play the part of a saint very well, shedding tears, shivering, all those things of a sādhu one may act in the drama, but he's not a sādhu. One may play the part of Nārada Goswāmī and chanting Hari bol and tears running from his cheeks, and so many outward signs he may show when acting the part of Devaṛṣi Nārada. But that does not mean he's converted into Nārada.

visarga pitila santi tad vidyasa paripica sattya bhasa vinath pisocam pata cam daya [?]

Rūpa Goswāmī says, imitation may come to such perfection, but still not a drop of devotion there to be traced, visarga pitila. Some persons there are who are naturally very weak in temperament, very small loss or gain then tears running. So visarga pitila, they're very natural temperament is shedding tears, very soft. And tad vidyasa, and there is another who by practising a process they can take those outer signs within them. So these two sections when taking the Name of the Lord, either Kṛṣṇa or Gaurāṅga, they may shed tears enough, but not a drop of pure devotion to be traced in their heart. It is possible. You must be very careful that mere outward show is not the real thing. So sevonmukhe hi, what is necessary is the serving tendency towards the centre absolute.

[ataḥ śrī-kṛṣṇa-nāmādi na bhaved grāhyam indriyaiḥ
sevonmukhe hi jihvādau svayam eva sphuraty adaḥ]

["Because the name of Kṛṣṇa is identical with Kṛṣṇa Himself, and on the absolute spiritual platform, Kṛṣṇa's name, form, qualities, and associates, cannot be appreciated by the material senses. However, when one engages the tongue in chanting the Holy Names of the Lord and tasting the remnants of the Lord's food, Kṛṣṇa gradually reveals Himself to the purified senses of that devotee."]

[Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, Pūrva-vibhāga, 2.234]

That is the most important, sevonmukhe hi, service, dedication, surrender. In the real case this is to be traced, this is the criterion; how far he has dedicated himself for the cause? He may not show many symptoms of a devotee to purchase his name, but at heart he's wholly surrendered.

So poetry, there are many poets who can describe things in such a way that when you'll go to read that you cannot contain your tears. But that does not mean they're describing the Divine Love, this mundane love. So many things. How one is sacrificing his life for the country, when he's describing in such a particular way that you cannot but shed tears. "Oh, these are martyrs for the country." There also we will shed tears but that does not mean that that is shedding tears that is getting Divine Love.

So we're to find out what is the source. The imitation, the fool's gold may be imitation, but if we're assured that this gold is coming from that particular mine we can take it, and without any tampering on the way, in that way the source.

Once it happened in this land, Gandhi wanted to recover cherka system, that the cherka system, the poor they will produce the thread and if we use that cloth then the money of the cloth will go to the pocket of those poor. But so many, Japan and Manchester, imitation khada came here, rough cloth just imitating the ordinary cloth which is produced from the thread of the, that is produced by the poor men. Then Gandhi found, perplexed: "What is this? My need is the money must go to the poor's pocket. But now the capitalists they are producing that rough cloth and that is being sold in the land. And instead of money going to the poor it is going to the capitalists." Then he found one association, the Khadi Association. "That you must purchase cloth from such shops who are connected with this association of mine. Then the money will surely go to the pocket of the poor." Association, at that time he told many: "Here is Guru-Paramparā."

Revealed truth coming uncontaminated through a particular process, paramparā, reliable succession. Then we can get the genuine thing. So association is necessary, Guru paramparā is necessary. So before we read anything we shall try to find out who is his Guru, where from the substance is coming down. Is it only the coat, the cover, or there is any real substance within the cover, where from he's coming? If we can understand the origin of his relation is coming from a genuine sādhu then we can give some attention to that. Just as Professor Sanyal, then that Oudh Bihārī Kapoor, they had connection with our Guru Mahārāja, the genuine source, so we give some value to their writings.

I sometimes say I give an example about homoeopathic globule. Mere globule has no medicine and value, it is within. The same mantra the ordinary Guru may give it to the śiṣya, but what is potency through the sound going, that is all important. The potency, what thinking, what good will through the word, what quality of good will, divine will is contained in that word, that is all important. To get mantra from ṣaḍ-guru, genuine Guru, that means the internal good will, or real conception about the Lord. In the seed of a banyan tree, a small seed, but the great big banyan tree will come from that seed. So with all import is there, the feeling within, the will with which the particular sound is given by the Guru to the disciple. But we cannot trace that in the present, but in time if there's a favourable environment that will express himself, develop himself into a particular great thing.

So imitation we must be, when we go to purchase anything, we must be careful about the imitation side otherwise we may be deceived. A simple, gentle man that he was, and his origin is that. A good man from the general calculation. But we don't think that any transcendental value, that potency is committed there, imitation. And they who are settled in the imitation sentimentality they'll get great comfort while reading the book and...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ... not high scientific development may be expected.

parokṣa-vādo vedo 'yaṁ, bālānām anuśāsanam
[karma-mokṣāya karmāṇi, vidhatte hy agadaṁ yathā]

Only to capture the scholar side, "Oh, such a big professor has described in such a way, then there may be something." In this way as a bait, at best it may work as a bait. Sometimes to capture something we give something tempting for him to take. And then when he'll come to take that we shall catch them. What is that? Bait? To the fish, or to the tiger, we put something tempting, food, and when he comes to take that then we catch. What is that? Bait?

A bait to the atheists maybe, some section they come to Mahāprabhu. Then one, 'who is Mahāprabhu?' when they'll come to know, they, the communists also say that "Mahāprabhu was the first revolutionist, Who started a mass saṅkīrtana against the existing government at that time. And who perfected a great revolution in the social position." So the communists also come to show respect to Śrī Caitanyadeva. "That He was the first revolutionist, who with mass movement of few of the followers He went straight to oppose the existing ruler. Without caring for his political power, or any weapon, or anything. Only with will power He organised a party to go and march against the ruler. Caitanyadeva is the first in the history of ours. And also He introduced a great revolution in the society. That was done by other preachers also. But the civil disobedience was first organised by Śrī Caitanyadeva." They say like that. "So we revere Caitanya." A Caitanyadeva of their civil disobedience, and social reformer.

But the wholesale giver of everyone who has lost his own self forever, and suffering. He came to give everyone back his own wealth within, his own worth within.

Student: I've finished my studies and now I'm taking a break, a vacation.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then you're diving deeply in the ocean of ignorance. Making progress in the ocean of ignorance.

Student: What do you mean by that?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: As a subject, in the opposite direction. You and the other souls of your type they're subjects, and everything, all else is object meant only for your exploitation. We're exploiters and the environment is for our exploitation. That is the foundation on which the present education is based on, but the wholesale false. The cause in the above.

"Let there be water." There was water. "Let there be earth." There was earth. "Let there be light." There was light. His will, subjective realm, the cause what we experience sprang up from the divine will.

And not that from time eternal the fossil is developing into this world of experience of ours. Opposite. So we're diving deep into the intense ignorance ocean. So view the opposite. It is His will is the cause. And in one place He can show like a magician, something to you, another thing to me. The Super subject, or the universal subject, is of such power. Wholesale opposite.

Swāmī Mahārāja asked a few of his research scholar disciples to crush the fossilism of Darwin, everything coming from fossils. Demolish, crush it. It is not so. It is coming from above. Everything like hypnotising, in the process of hypnotising, the whole experience we feel.

The subject can withdraw any moment anything, and can show to us another way. He's free, sattya saṅkalpa, whatever He imagines that comes. He can force us to see something, we cannot go outside. Can you understand, that this may be possible? Then you can have some faith what is Godhead. Godhead means this: the origin of creation. And that is a part. Infinite qualities and activities He's got, and this is a negligible part where we're living. The whole basis is there, upward, and not downward, developing from downward, no.

Fossil is not sufficient, not the perfect thing to create. From fossil intelligence coming is fool's conception. The intelligence everywhere. Everywhere we can trace intelligence. As much as we analyse, we find higher reason, higher intelligence. The scientists they're becoming dumb to find out the intelligence in the nature. They're going on discovering and discovering, higher and higher laws, and they're there, already they were there. These fools they could not know, but it was there before their 'discovery,' before their 'invention.' That wonderful law was there, and it's everywhere. So it's not that they're inventor, they're creator. Are they creating, inventing? It's already there, everywhere. The reason, the intelligence, and something more, power, everywhere, and where from? And their intelligence to discover a thing, to invent a thing, where from it is coming? The brain? Only that portion of flesh? Or from somewhere it is coming? And as much as they're entering, they're being astonished with the so many miraculous laws and rules in the nature. And they're already there, before their 'discovery.'

So consciousness, spirit, reason, all-pervading, even in the tree, stone, earth, everywhere, in ether, air, all consciousness, all reason. Wonderful thought everywhere, infinite. Now we're to connect with that principle of infinite what is almighty, omniscience, omnipotent, all-sympathy, all-love. How to have a direct connection with Him, leaving aside the charm of His created substance, want to negotiate how we can have our connection with the creator Himself. Not only creator. This is a creation of a lower order. But higher creation, higher status world is also there, infinitely higher soils are there. And whether it is possible for us to have our life in that soil? What are the layers, higher and higher? To inquire there, and how we can enter there? What is the key of the entrance into that zone? The world, plane of exploitation, plane of renunciation of exploitation, and the plane of dedication, higher, we're told. By dedication, by surrender, we can have direct connection with the centre.

Physician cure thyself. You have come to give so many dazzling civilisation models, but cure yourself wholesale. What you've come to distribute that is hoax, that is all hoax. The law, abided by so many things around, that is only sweet will of the Supreme. The law is not a rigid thing, it is basis is on His sweet will, of the Autocrat. So what do you know, that is nothing, no knowledge. Any moment the rules, laws, may be changed, another thing may come instead. And change in your experience. The key is in His hands.

"O, Arjuna, you see this. I'm this and this. I'm that and that."
"Yes. I see You are so and so."

When Kṛṣṇa went for peace talk to the Kuru sabhā, the court of the Kauravas, Duryodhana, Dhṛtarāṣṭra camp, Kaurava camp, with peace talk, then Karṇa, Duryodhana and others in the party came to bind Him down and put into prison.

"And if He can be imprisoned, then the whole Pāṇḍava camp will be finished automatically. He's the life and advisor of that camp. So with this idea, we have got within our fist, we must imprison Him."

They went to tie Him, but Kṛṣṇa showed Himself in such a way that these men who went to tie Him and bind Him down they were perplexed. "What do we see? He's a big thing. This side Baladeva, this side Arjuna, that side Bṛghu. Where to apply the rope?" Can't. Perplexed.

Then Bhīṣma, Droṇa, and Nārada, Vyāsa, they were also present at that time in the assembly and they began to chant in praise of Kṛṣṇa.

Then there was blind Dhṛtarāṣṭra. He, hearing those chanting, in a new voice of Bhīṣma, Droṇa, Nārada, Vyāsa, he was charmed and prayed to Kṛṣṇa. "I can't see You. I'm blind. But I hear that these great personages they're chanting Your praises seeing Your wonderful body. For the time being - You can do anything and everything - for the time being, remove my blindness. Let me see Your figure and colour, Your beauty, for which they're praising so much. For the time being remove my blindness, and then again You'll put it."

Kṛṣṇa replied, "No blindness to be removed. I say you see Me, and you'll be able to see Me. No eye is required to see Me. Remaining blind you'll see Me, because I say."

So that is the nature of seeing Him. His will. Not the eye, not the ear can hear Him or see Him. He's above sense experience. Only His will. "Yes, you see Me." And Dhṛtarāṣṭra saw Him, and the blindness was intact, still he could see. Then what is He? And hear also, when a deaf man can hear, and the blind can see, then what is that thing?

Arjuna wanted to see His Viśvarūpa. "Yes, Arjuna, see Me! I'm so and so." Arjuna saw.
"What do you see?"
"I'm seeing this, I'm seeing that, I'm seeing so many, in this way, wonderful I'm seeing, wonder of wonder I'm seeing."

So His sweet will has the back of everything. We're living in correlation with that absolute power. So no stability of the environment where we stay, where we stand. But all importance on the will divine. That is the cause. From there it is coming, and it is maintained also by that will,

and it may be withdrawn any moment by Him. So these things have got no value at all. With so much trust and enthusiasm we're to search for Him. The Search for Śrī Kṛṣṇa, Reality the Beautiful. The charming charm Himself, all-charming absolute. Our innate need is to find sweetness, beauty, rasa, ānandam, ecstasy, happiness, everyone. No one can say, "I don't want happiness," none will. From the atheist to the highest type of theist, all will say, "Yes, I want rasam, I want sweetness, peace. I want ecstasy. I want happiness." Everyone will say like that, the common demand in every conceiving unit is such. Where there is conception they want peaceful existence, from the worst atheist. So our direct necessity is with Him.

ko hyevānyāt kaḥ prāṇyāt yadeṣa ākāśa ānando na syāt eṣa hyevānandayati]

[Taittirīya Upaniṣad, 2.7] [Collection of ślokas, 406] [Gauḍīya Kaṇṭhahāra, 9.2]

The ecstasy, the beauty, so begin search for that. Don't lose - waste your time for wild goose chasing. Give up everything.

sarva-dharmān parityajya, [mām ekaṁ śaraṇaṁ vraja
ahaṁ tvāṁ sarva-pāpebhyo, mokṣayiṣyāmi mā śucaḥ]

Leave, give up all phases of your duties you're so busily engaged in, all worthless. And begin search for that principle from Who is the creator, Who is the Master of everything, and Who is the fulfilment of everything. Search for Him directly. Give up all your so-called obligations and duties, stop. Sarva-dharmān. Stop all sorts of so-called duties from your relative position. They're mis viewed from your present defective position. Don't rely on them. Direct search for the prime cause from which everything is coming as a miracle, and Who is the fulfilment of our life, not only ours, fulfilment of every atomic existence in the world. Try to march towards Him with His blessings upon our heads.

And His agents will give you important help in that direction. Others can do nothing. Gaura Hari. Sādhu saṅga, and His Divine Name, which is inseparable from His existence. The sound aspect of Him, that can help you a great deal, from the genuine source. That war cry, slogan: Hare Kṛṣṇa. With that slogan, march on with His genuine agents, follow them. Withdraw yourself from all possible promises, so-called prospects of your life, they're nothing, no value.

Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi.

Student: There are many inequities in the world, there's a lot of unfairness, is there not?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What does he say?

Devotee: He's says that there's much exploitation in the world, much unfairness.

Student: How can we account for that?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Fair, unfair, both false, just like a dream. In a dream, a good dream, a bad dream, after all it's dream. So you should not waste your energy to remove the unfair and to increase the fairness. Fair, unfair, all false, wholesale false.

'dvaite bhadrābhadra-jñāna, saba-'manodharma' / 'ei bhāla, ei manda',- [ei saba 'bhrama']

["In the material world, conceptions of good and bad are all mental concoctions. Therefore, saying, 'This is good, this is bad,' is a mistake."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Antya-līlā, 4.176]

'This is good, this is bad.' The basis of the calculation is false. Your real interest is not there. It's a false scent you're pursuing. Your fulfilment is not in that direction at all. This fair, unfair, all false. Very little distinction between them, fairness and unfairness, because all cheating. Cheating of different kinds, but they're cheating, all illusion. A good dream, a hopeful dream, and a disastrous dream. But after all that is dream, something, it is all false. The fairness also false; concoction, and the evil that is also false. So why you allow to waste your time in this wild goose chasing? Because after all, they're false, a good hope or a bad hope; all hoax.

Student: But there are some people that are starving in the world.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What to speak of starving, you are in a cage, imprisoned in a cage. That is not desirable for the soul at all. The whole world, with the suns, stars, moons, oceans, mountains, all vanishing and again coming and going.

Student: How can we account for - I mean, I believe, you say there is...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And suppose you're monarch of all you survey, but a monarch in the shashan, in the cremation ground. Ha, ha. A monarch, master of the cremation ground, only to deplore, 'Oh, everything is passing away! Every second everything is passing away!' The Gray's Elegy:

"The boast of heraldry, the pomp of power, and all that beauty, all that wealth e'er gave, awaits alike the inevitable hour; the path of glory leads but to the grave."

[Elegy written in a country churchyard. (1751)
Thomas Gray, 1716-71, English poet]

Only to grave, everything leading to grave, finished.

Student: I guess what I want to ask is, how we can account for these inequities, this unfairness? I know that you are saying that there is no distinction. But why is there suffering?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Eh? How can?

Devotee: He want to know, "Why is there suffering?" _____ [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. The cause is the misuse of the free will of the jīva soul. The misuse of the wealth given to you.

Student: Given to you, by the supreme power?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Supreme power. As a part of His particular potency, you have got that thing eternally existing with you. And by misuse of the freedom, you have selected to become a king in the mortal world. Like Satan, he wanted to reign in hell rather than to serve in heaven. "It is better to reign in hell than to serve in heaven." Satan's statement. The free will, the weak, vulnerable, child free will, came to be a monarch of all I survey, to reign in hell. The inherent adaptability is there, and he could select service in heaven, then his desires would be fulfilled. But he has selected wrong way, wanted to be monarch. He could not select slavery in the higher realm, but he selected monarchy in the hell, and not slavery in the heaven. The subtle difference is there. If you're to live in heaven, then you're to live there as a surrendered soul. That is such a higher soil. Ultimately we see that to serve in heaven that is infinitely better than to reign in hell. Hell means the soil of affliction, in variegated ways, mainly classified as birth, death, infirmity and disease. These undesirable things must be there in the hell.

Student: I have another question. I want to know more about the organisation of this institution. Are women allowed to participate in the process of practising, praying, showing their devotion _____?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. Eh?

Devotee: He wants to understand whether women are allowed to become Kṛṣṇa conscious. What is the role of the women section, the strī section? What is their position in Kṛṣṇa consciousness?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is, who is woman here may not be woman there, who is man here may not be man there. This is only a dress - mental dress and accordingly this physical, flesh dress. Both garments the flesh and the mind. But in the soul, who will represent which type, that is uncertain here in this plane. But women there, they have got higher prospect, a better, bright prospect.

Student: What do you mean by there? "Women there" you said.

Devotee: In the spiritual world.

Student: Oh, right.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In the spiritual realm, those that are of women type, with that formation of soul's realisation, that holds better position. Here in the plane of aggrandisement men hold the better position. But there, in the plane of submission and surrender, the women form of mind is more paying.

Do you follow?

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The negative aspect. Positive is Kṛṣṇa Himself. And the potency is of negative type. We belong to potency group, and not master group, Who's possessor of the potency, He's Lord Himself.

Student: Now Kṛṣṇa is a power. You call Him, you say 'Him.' Now Kṛṣṇa is then manifested as a male figure?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Eh? What does he say?

Devotee: He wants to know whether Kṛṣṇa is represented as a male figure?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, male. That is Predominating Moiety. Predominating half, He's the Predominator, and others to be predominated. This proton or neutron, what is there?

Devotee: Yes, proton and neutron, and electron.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Negative and positive.

Devotee: Proton and electron. Proton is positive and electron is negative. The electron goes round and round the proton.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Proton in the centre?

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And the electron like so many planets they are. Then again that has been analysed.

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And something else has been found?

Devotee: Unlimited. There are infinite subatomic particles.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Proton, neutron, what is neutron?

Devotee: Neutron is neither positive nor negative, in between.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Such atomic energy is existing?

Devotee: Yes. Neither positive or negative.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Proton and electron combined, no?

Devotees: Yes. No. They say that.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: If neutron is analysed, proton and electron. Atom analysed, then proton and electron?

Devotee: Yes. And sometimes another particle is found. Neutron.

Student: Do you believe in the equality of all peoples of the world?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Eh?

Devotee: He wants to know, if in Gauḍīya Vaiṣṇavism, do we believe that all men are created equal?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No. Never. No two things are equal, in this world, or in there. No two things can be same, equal. Everything has got its specific characteristic. One atom is different from another atom, one electron is different from another electron. Cannot but be. All differentiated character.

Student: But what about quality? Is one better than the other?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. From the universal standpoint we're to judge. Who can earn, or acquire...

...

...with the centre. And confidence means peace within. The corresponding confidence side, the highest degree of peace, ecstasy, happiness, bliss. The measurement is according to that, rasam.

Just as gold is the standard between different monetary papers. The pound, the rouble, the dollar, the rupee, the yen - but the common standard is gold.

So different types of calculation of peace, but that also scientifically divided. Śanta, dāsya, sākhya, vātsalya, mādhurya, classification, and then degree, intensity in that. So many things are there to be read and understood. Ultimately rasam, ānandam, happiness, that is the common standard to judge the proposal of which religion is higher and lower - which is the common requirement.

Just as food is common requirement. No dollar we can eat in the time of famine. But one who's in possession of food is in a good position. We cannot avoid food. We may not require dollar, nothing, but food we must want. A nation cannot stand without food, our indispensable necessity.

So rasam, ānandam, that is the innate requirement of every soul, every living thing. And according to that, the position will be judged. There are different proposals in the religious conceptions, the Islam, the Christianity, the Buddhists, the Vedic doctrines, the Vaiṣṇavas, the Śaṅkarites, so many. But if we're to judge the gift from whom in a comparative study, will be better. We're to judge by three things: sat, cit, ānandam. How far durable, and how far we can conceive, and what do we conceive - the quality of that thing. Existence, and the feeling, that is the consciousness of good and bad; and the food of consciousness, that is ecstasy, rasam, ānandam, happiness. These three things must be there, and we're to compare between them. What is the proposal of Islam about the existence, about the knowledge, and about the goal, ecstasy? In Christianity, Vaiṣṇavism, so many, we're to compare and accept. The adjustment is there. They're not to be cast away, but there are men for whom for the present they'll be [useful and relevant.]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...a great scholar, when he's going to teach a child, he must have to come in the lower position of a child and to educate him. So the whole religious representation they have got such consideration, that these persons they must be allowed to eat anything, and to do something, and they must be satisfied. When that course is finished then they'll have a birth in a proper soil and then get higher chance of religious realisation. In the organic whole some sort of connection one must have with the other then everything is all right. From Islam, Christianity, everything has got its place, either direct or indirect.

_____ [?] Some will help us direct, and some from indirect. Everything has got its purpose. And principle if absolute we can harmonise everything, even stealing, lying. That has also got position. Position means respectable position in the absolute system.

And in Kṛṣṇa līlā only that sort of peculiar harmony is seen. He's lying, and devotees are also lying. Then stealing, they're conscious they're stealing. Everything belongs to Him, so really, no stealing, if we do it on His behalf. He's the Absolute Master of everything. So if I use anything for His cause no stealing. He has got absolute right over everything - that is rather. But still, stealing has got peculiar process due to it, that is in Vṛndāvana only, parakīya. It does not belong to me.

Just as a family head, everything belongs to him. Still he may say, the guardian may say to his child, "Give me your pen my boy." Or a play ball, "Give your play ball to me." It belongs to him, but absolute sense everything belongs to the guardian of the family.

That is the only way to harmonious life, harmony, synthesis.

In our body, if a finger, or anything, any smallest part, if they work for their own selfish end there'll be a clash, in the interest of the whole. If the finger says, "I shall work for me, and I shall work for the palm only," greater extended selfishness. Then there'll be clash.

But when every atom of the body will say, "We shall work for the welfare of the whole body," then only the body will be healthy, wholesome. Otherwise if any selfish attempt, provincialism, or localisms, these are all disease. It will hamper the cause of the whole. So faithfully we must work for the whole - nothing less than that. Then, there will be disease in the whole, diseased part. Just as if you pour water into the root the whole tree is fed. If you put food into the stomach the whole body is fed. So whatever might you have, can command, devote for the centre _____ [?] That is the key to live a healthy life - nothing less than that.

Not that I shall be master, subduing the whole environment. "I'm monarch of all I survey." Fascism, or democracy, or anything. Something will go against, only human civilisation, human body will live, and other bodies will be treated as their food - this is not. It's a very deplorable life that we'll live in the plane of exploitation. Without exploitation we cannot, for a moment we cannot live. Only with the breath, then with steps, so many small insects, with the water we're causing death, that is pain to so many living bodies. The trees, they've also got pain. Causing disturbance, creating pain, our existence means to create pain in the environment, and the reaction must come to us. Action, reaction.

So cent percent surrendered life, and not for country, not for society, not for humanity, but for the Absolute. And the conception of the highest Absolute has been found in Kṛṣṇa conception of Godhead, the beauty, the harmony, the ecstasy, the sweetness, the charm. Charm attracts. That attraction is service, that is surrender. Everything surrenders to the beauty, charm, submits, unconscious of his own. We must sacrifice to that function. Be worshipper of the beauty, serve the beauty, sundaram. Satyam, śivam, sundaram. The harmony is beautiful, samañjasā. Harmony means samañjasā, proper adjustment. Proper adjustment is beauty. No complaint, everyone's demand met there, unconscious of his own self, charmed by the beauty. The purest existence, self forgetfulness, in beauty, we find, self forgetfulness.

Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Self sacrifice, and self forgetfulness, that is said to be of higher conception. Self forgetfulness is considered as higher to self sacrifice. Subtle difference.

Devotee: What is the difference?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In sacrifice one is conscious of himself, and he's doing, he's giving something, he's conscious. "I'm giving something, for some cause." And self forgetfulness, in the plenary movement. He's giving something, he's moving, but he's been wholly captured by the interest of the whole. Gopīs say, deha-smṛti nāhi yāra, saṁsāra-kūpa kāhāṅ tāra, tāhā haite nā cāhe uddhāra

[viraha-samudra-jale, kāma-timiṅgile gile, gopī-gaṇe nehaʼ tāra pāra]

[Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 13.142]

"We do not care for our - no separate interest. Kṛṣṇa is satisfied. We do not care whatever be our condition. We're not conscious of our own existence."

Deha-smṛti nāhi yāra. Who has got no conception of his own body, then, saṁsāra-kūpa kāhāṅ tāra, then the debt of this material world, the hell, all these things, nothing for him. He's not conscious of his own body. 'What hell will do to me?' All full of Kṛṣṇa consciousness, self forgetfulness. So no pain can come to touch them, approach them. If there's self consideration then the pleasure and pain will come to affect, wholly.

All Kṛṣṇa-ised, Kṛṣṇa interest-ised. So they offered their feet dust for Kṛṣṇa's headache to Nārada. When Kṛṣṇa, to preach the nobility of the gopīs, of the devotion of the gopīs, love of gopīs, He made a plan. "That I've got a headache, and only the feet dust of the devotee can cure that."

Then Nārada went there in Dvārakā. Nārada was very busy, went to the harem. "Oh. Kṛṣṇa's suffering from headache. You are all devotees, give some feet dust."

"What do you say Nārada? You are also devotee, give your feet dust. Why you have come to us? Should we go to hell? He's our revered Lord - we shall give feet dust to Him? No, no, no, it's not possible, go. You give your feet dust."

Then Nārada came back disappointed.

"What Nārada, have you got?"

"No, none will give You."

"Eh? No one is approaching to remove My difficulty? So much affection for Me they all show? You go to Vṛndāvana Nārada. By your mystic yogīc power you can go immediately."

Nārada came. All the gopīs collected. "Oh. You're coming from Dvārakā, is it? How's Kṛṣṇa doing?"

"Now He's suffering temporarily from a very bad headache, and only feet dust of the devotee can cure His headache."

"So better then, so many queens, so many devotees. You all are there, you can give it."

"No, no, none ventured to give feet dust _____ [?]

"So feet dust you have come to collect feet dust from here?"

"Yes, yes, hell, you all come."

"We don't know who is the devotee. But still he's come. 'Give your feet dust, because my offence to take it."

Nārada was struck dumb. "All other pure devotees they denied, and you are coming so earnestly to offer your feet dust."

"Nārada, we do not care for us. Eternal hell - we don't care for that. Let Him get satisfaction, even for a moment. At the cost of our whole life's future, His instant pleasure has got more value."

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Such degree of sacrifice, self forgetfulness for the cause, for the centre. So much conscious of the benefit of the pleasure of the centre - self forgetfulness. They do not care for their society, nor for scripture, nor for any religious conception. Kṛṣṇa is all, over wholesale attraction. Suicidal squad.

Gaura Sundara. Gaura Sundara. Gaura Sundara. High talks, but how much we're prepared for this?

Mahāprabhu began to take the name of gopī, gopī, gopī, in a time of His trance.

And some paṇḍita scholars that hold some social position - "You, Nimāi Paṇḍita, you are a big paṇḍita, but now you are a devotee, does not matter. But why do you take the name of gopī, gopī? Take the name of Kṛṣṇa. That will fetch something for you, we're told in the scripture. But you're taking gopī, gopī - what effect you'll get? You're mad."

Then Mahāprabhu, with a stick He chased them.

"Oh. Nimāi Paṇḍita has become stark mad. We went to speak something good to him, and he came with a stick to kill us. We're not sons of ordinary men, we've got our position, our family dignity. We will see him." They began to make conspiracy. "Nimāi Paṇḍita should be given a good beating, good lesson he must be taught."

Then Mahāprabhu suddenly cried out, korila pippalikhanda kapha nibārite, ulatiyā āro kapha baḍila dehete

"I took the greatest measures to deliver these retched souls. But I see the more sin is being collected. I'm rather creating more sin in the public. They're abusing Me, and they're making conspiracy to punish Me. What for I came, and what is going to be effective? So I shall have to take the role of a sannyāsī. I'm one of them, a gṛhastha, householder. But if I become a sannyāsī, gṛhastha tyāgī, a preacher, then they may have some respect for Me. They say we're all householder, he has become sannyāsī, he should be revered. Then from that reverence they'll get some benefit. Otherwise they'll have to go to hell, thinking that _____ [?]

"Oh, he's my maternal brother, or paternal God-brother. In this way they're thinking. So I have to take some step in such way that they'll have to come to revere Me. I'm to take the role of a sannyāsī."

And He told to Nityānanda, and very few, "I'm coming to take sannyāsa on the last day of this Pauṣa Maka, Makara-sāṅkrantī, and He went to Katwa and took sannyāsa.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Nitāi Gaura. Nitāi Gaura. Nitāi Gaura. What's the time?

Devotee: _____ [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: _____ [?] Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Did you talk with them?

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: They're advanced. Many questions he has given - answered by them.

Devotee: Mahārāja. I've one question. He took sannyāsa from Keśava Bhāratī, is it because there were no advanced Vaiṣṇavas at that time?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No, not that. _____ [?] His sannyāsī veśa. At that time the Śaṅkara School was holding respectable position of the people. So He took sannyāsa. And also He gave mantram to Keśava Bhāratī. "That this mantram I have got in My dream. So see what this will do."

Keśava Bhāratī told, "Yes. This will do.

So He first gave to Keśava Bhāratī and Keśava Bhāratī repeated that to Him. And in the form, not so much importance He attached as form of sannyāsa. The role of a preacher, not in mantra especially. Just as Kṛṣṇa accepted Sandīpanī as a Guru. For Him it's a fashion, a formal thing. Not real help to be got from the Guru. Rather the Guru was converted into disciple after this function. Only He wanted to enter the group of the preachers. The Śaṅkara sannyāsīns they felt the prestige of the sannyāsa school enter, and with that advantage He began preach, took sannyāsa.

When He went to Benares, that was the headquarters of the sannyāsīns of the Śaṅkara School. And when He meet first - the leader of the sannyāsī group, Prakāśānanda, he addressed Him. "You're sannyāsī of our group, but why don't you meet us? We're here. You come and take seat along with us."

"No. I'm the lower type of sannyāsī. I have no courage to take My seat along with you. You're so respectable sannyāsīns."

The attack from the negative side. He was invited in some party, and He went and took His in a very lower place, the place where they're washing their feet. He took His seat nearby and taking the Name, and they're discussing about Purāṇa, and He's modestly taking the Name in a place _____ [?]

Then after casting his eye to the appearance of Śrī Caitanyadeva, Prakāśānanda who was boasting so much before, he was captivated. "Oh. Such a figure, beautiful, charming, and no trace of any egoism there. Very, very simple, candid, no ego that He's come to conquer us, protest, or nothing of the type. So simple that He's desirable for us, for everyone to acquire such temperament." So Prakāśānanda was disarmed. "In this figure there cannot be any cheating tendency. It is plain, simple, grand, and divine." So he himself came, the leader of the Śaṅkara

School, from the high position and inquired, "Why do You take Your seat here? You belong to our group, Śaṅkara group, sannyāsī of Keśava Bhāratī, his disciple. You belong to our group."

"No. I'm a mean fellow. I can't venture to take My position as you are so big."

"No, no, no. That cannot be, You must come. Then I ask one question to You. Before I heard that the great Paṇḍita Sārvabhauma was converted by You, and You dance and chant and take prasādam of high preparation. This does not behove a sannyāsī to take. So I thought You are a magician. You can capture anybody and everybody like hypnotist. But now, after looking at Your body, I cannot but think that You have no bad motive anywhere to be located in Your figure, or in Your gaze. Plain, simple. Then I ask one question to You. Why don't You, as a follower of Śaṅkara School, sannyāsī, then why don't You discuss about the Vedānta?"

"I'm not of that higher type of scholar. Guru asked Me - 'You're not of such scholarship to understand what is the real purport of Vedānta. You go on taking the Name."

"All right, You may take the Name, that is not bad, but why do You dance and in a mad way You show so many symptoms, all these things?"

"I do not do it Myself. It is written in the scripture - when these sort of feelings came in Me I went to My Guru and asked, 'What is this? While taking the Name of Kṛṣṇa I cannot contain Myself. So many feelings come and make Me dance and cry, and move this way, that way, in a mad way.' I asked My Gurudeva."

He told, 'You are the most fortunate man in the world. It's mentioned in the scripture, the real devotion will produce such symptoms in ones mind and body. So You are fortunate, and I also consider myself fortunate that I've got the disciplic connection with You.' He told like this. 'And go on taking Kṛṣṇa Nāma.'

"Then, the Vedānta consideration that is not necessary?"

"No, it's not necessary. The Name can do anything and everything."

In this way the discussion began, and Prakāśānanda could not put his points against His argument. And he was down, anyhow that day's function finished.

Another day, Mahāprabhu was engaged in kīrtana in the Bindu-Mādhava temple, and one disciple of Prakāśānanda told, "Oh. Śrī Caitanyadeva is chanting and dancing in the next temple. If you'd like to see let us go there."

They all went and saw that wonderful dancing and chanting of Him in trance. They're all charmed, and from thence they gave up abusing Śrī Caitanyadeva's extraordinary personality. Only from that connection the leader of the group came to take.

"Unassuming feature, no assertive nature to be traced there in that simple and noble figure. No crookedness or any trace of any policy. He's plain and simple. Truth is embodied in Him, found in Him."

He was converted.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. And some say he was converted and took the name of Prabodhānanda and lived in Vṛndāvana. Some are of that opinion. But our line, Guru Mahārāja did not. That Śiśir Ghose, Founder of Amṛta Bazaar Patrikā, he's of that opinion. But our Guru Mahārāja discarded that. That Prabodhānanda is...

Prabodhānanda was Tuṅgavidyā incarnation, one of the eight sakhīs of Rādhārāṇī. He cannot be a māyāvādī. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari.

He was also a scholar, moderate type, and was a pakash [?] smārta, something, atheist type. He was tutor of His early life, Gaṅgā dāsa.

When after returning from Gayā, Mahāprabhu was interpreting when teaching the grammar, He was giving interpretation of Kṛṣṇa Nāma, Kṛṣṇa _____ [?] all related to Kṛṣṇa, explaining Sanskrit grammar.

Then the students they thought that, "For which we have come to learn this grammar from Him, it is not going to be satisfied. _____ [?] coaching we got from Him, Nimāi Paṇḍita, that is never to be had anywhere else. So we can't abandon Him immediately, can't leave Him. But how to improve the style of teaching of Him?"

So they went to see His early teacher, Gaṅgā dāsa Paṇḍita. "Nimāi Paṇḍita, we're very much pleased by reading under His care. But now, after coming from Gayā, He's explaining everything in Kṛṣṇa Nāma, and other things. Though that is very valuable, but for which we have come to learn, no effect found in that. So if you please can influence Him."

Gaṅgā dāsa told, "Oh. You ask Him to see me."

And the students told Nimāi Paṇḍita that, "Gaṅgā dāsa Paṇḍita, Your previous teacher, tutor, he wants to see You."

And Nimāi Paṇḍita went to him, paid His respect.

And Gaṅgā dāsa inquired, "How are You?" All these things. "I'm very happy You went to Gayā, and You've offered piṇḍam to Your predecessors, very good." All these things. "But how don't You teach Your students in the previous way? They all appreciate Your teaching. But now after coming from Gayā You have taken a novel style of teaching. So don't do so. I say 'properly teach them.' You've become a devotee I hear from the people. But whether Your fathers, forefathers, were they not devotees? You have become a devotee of new extra type. So don't go astray, remain calm, and follow Your predecessors. And teach well the boys, so I may not have to hear in future any complain against You. Your students, they won't go to any other school. They're very fond of You. So please teach them well. In this way."

Then Mahāprabhu told, "By the dint of your foot dust, who can come to give challenge to Me in the teaching affairs, and all these things? You remain satisfied. I shall teach them well, in this way."

Devotees: _____ [?]

...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: _____ [?] Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Today is the day of advent of Śrī Nṛsiṁhadeva. He's supposed to be - of course He's eternally in His Vaikuṇṭha. Only He came down here, this particular day to relieve Prahlāda, devotee, to save from trouble. And hence we all are after Him.

"If any obstacles or hindrance in the path of devotion, my Lord, You saved Prahlāda. So we also file a petition to You to do away with all the obstacles that may come in our way, when we try with our small capacity to approach towards the Supreme. Naturally there may be many difficulties on the path. And You were gracious enough to remove the great difficulty in the case of Prahlāda Mahārāja. So we also expect hope that You will also remove all the thorns that may be fallen in our path towards the object of our aspiration. Kṛṣṇa. Without grace. In my past history I must have done many things which will come against me. And the illusory energy in general, that also won't allow me without clearing the debts that I incurred in so many previous lives under her control. So You are the only saviour. If You come to our help then easily all these things may be managed, and we may pass over to our desired end. So be specially gracious on us."

So to Nṛsiṁhadeva we pray to do away with the difficulties that may come in the way of our progress. And He generally helps the devotees in that way. So particularly, with this idea, that my little capital, that brings some success by Your Grace. I'm nothing. So many difficulties are sure to come and stand in my way, to check my progress...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...this is our goal. With that sort of prayer we're to pass this day, and observing fasting. And after the advent, in the evening, offering pūjā and bhoga to Him. Then we shall take some anukalpa. That is our arrangement. But though if anybody's sick, or too old, they may take according to their measure of the occasion, and some sweet liquid, or a little milk to keep up the body. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Otherwise fasting, and after offering pūjā and bhoga raga to Nṛsiṁhadeva, then in the evening we're to take some anukalpa. And tomorrow we're to do some festival, small, in His Name.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari.

Here is Nṛsiṁha Mūrti, Vigraha. In the South, the Nṛsiṁha Temple is found, and more in number. Nṛsiṁha Jiyada near Waltiar [?] Then again Maṅgālagiri, near Bijwada [?] Andhradesh is fond of worshipping Nṛsiṁhadeva. Then another Nṛsiṁhadeva in Ahovala. Now it is a forest. Once we went there, within the forest, near Aranga [?] in Andhradesh. These three temples all within the boundary of Andhra. This Waltiar [?] as well as Bijwada [?] and Ahovalam, not far from Waranga [?], the nearest city, Waranga, Andhra. Three Temples of Nṛsiṁhadeva there.

Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Mahāprabhu visited them, it is mentioned in Caitanya-caritāmṛtam. Our Guru Mahārāja also visited those places and constructed the Pāda-pīṭha Temple of Mahāprabhu in two places, Maṅgālagiri and Nṛsiṁha-caran. And we were the pioneer party, Bon Mahārāja, myself, Mādhava Mahārāja who was then Brahmacārī Hāyagrīva, and two others, we went on establishing and installing Pāda-pīṭha of Mahāprabhu. About twelve-hundred steps in Nṛsiṁha-caran. Six-hundred steps to Maṅgālagiri. And Ahovalam also, within the forest, no rock, but unapproachable. The tigers and other animals are in that forest. Only at daytime one priest comes and offers something to the temple and then flies away. That was the position there we saw. Now we do not know. That was in the 1933-34, like this.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

ito nṛsiṁhaḥ parato nṛsiṁho yato yato yāmi tato nṛsiṁhaḥ bahir nṛsiṁho hṛdaye nṛsiṁho nṛsiṁam ādiṁ śaraṇaṁ prapadye

["Nṛsiṁha is here, Nṛsiṁha is there - Nṛsiṁha is wherever I go. Nṛsiṁha is outside, Nṛsiṁha is within my heart. I am surrendered unto that primeval Lord Nṛsiṁha."]

With this śloka Mahāprabhu climbed up the hill. When we find it is necessary to secure the help of Nṛsiṁhadeva for my benefit, then we're to absorb wholesale in Him to remove the difficulty. Here is Nṛsiṁha, there is Nṛsiṁha, within Nṛsiṁha, outside Nṛsiṁha. Nṛsiṁha is all in all. With this spirit we're to approach.

śrī nṛsiṁha jai nṛsiṁha jai jai nṛsiṁha prahlāda eśa jaya pādma upa pādma vrnda [?]

You are full of all resources. Let victory be with You. Then everything will be peaceful. Jai jai nṛsiṁha. Let victory after victory may come to Your will spontaneous, and that will be beneficial for us fallen souls. Prahlāda eśa, You are exclusively sought by Prahlāda Mahārāja. His connection we can't sever from You. Jaya pādma upa pādma. At the same time we must not forget that You are the object of divine service of Śrī Lakṣmī Devī herself. And You have come to take such a half-jungle figure to save Your devotees. But really You are in such a position that Lakṣmī Devī always serves You with whole heart. Your position is such. But to save Your devotee You have come in the figure of a half-jungle, half-human figure, You have come. But we won't forget that Your position is such.

Gaura Hari. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi.

bardhi sa yasya badaney laksmi yasya baksati yasyasti rdhaya samvitan nrsimha mahaproha [?]

Bardhi saran saraswati. The goddess of learning, she's residing in Your face. Laksmi yasya baksati. And Lakṣmī Devī, the goddess of resources, she's always at Your heart. Yasyasti rdhaya samvit. And within Your heart the seats of real knowledge, real consciousness, the consciousness of the Absolute is there. Samvit means knowledge, consciousness. Consciousness, higher consciousness of Your heart, that is consciousness of the Absolute, even Kṛṣṇa consciousness also there. I bow down to You repeatedly.

In this way, so many hymns in praise of Nṛsiṁhadeva we find.

ugra panugra evayam savatra nayam kesari kesari basa kutanam pandisam upa vikrama [?]

Ugra panugra evayam. Apparently Your figure seems to be fearful, dreadful, but really You are very affectionate to the devotees. Savatra nayam, anugra. Kesari basa kutanam. Just as the lions, they're fearful to others, but to their own cubs, own children, very affectionate. That is Your position.

namas te narasiṁhāya prahlādāhlāda-dāyine, hiraṇyakaśipor vakṣaḥ-śilā-ṭaṅka-nakhālaye

[I offer my obeisances to Lord Narasiṁha, who gives joy to Prahlāda Mahārāja and whose nails are like chisels on the stone-like chest of the demon Hiraṇyakaśipu.]

I show my obeisances to the Lord, half-human, half-lion. And whose very appearance and necessity to please the devotee like Prahlāda. And for that purpose to save the devotee He does not hesitate if necessary to tear off the body of the enemies of the devotee. Hiraṇyakaśipor vakṣaḥ-śilā-ṭaṅka-nakhālaye. The enemy of devotion was Hiraṇyakaśipu and his chest was just like a stone, stony-chested man. But You tore it to pieces. Śilā-ṭaṅka-nakhālaye.

In this way so many hymns, songs, in praise of His Grace, we find.

We are devotees, we, or rather, we want to be devotees, so our great need for the grace of Nṛsiṁhadeva, that the obstacles may be removed and we can go on smoothly in our way towards the desired Kṛṣṇa consciousness. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. So I beg your leave.

Vidagdha Mādhava: Is there any significance that Mahāprabhu visited many places in South of India but He did not tour the holy places extensively in North India?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: One of the reasons may be that South India was free from the Mohammedan attack. And they mostly, the scholars of different schools have their origin in that place. The Rāmānuja, the Madhvācārya, Viṣṇuswāmī, all these three, this culture is very big scholars of Vaiṣṇavas. The scholars, the followers also come from that part, Rūpa, Sanātana, Jīva, from Kanada, and Gopāl Bhaṭṭa, then Prabodhānanda Saraswatī they came from Tamil Nad, Śrī Raṅgam.

Devotee: Guru Mahārāja. Did Lord Nṛsiṁhadeva have some connection here in Navadwīpa, at Nṛsiṁha Poli?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Because in Navadwīpa, different representations of theism they're absorbed in Navadwīpa Dhāma. Just as in a capital, so many, in Delhi, Bengal, Madras, Bihar, all have their representations there in the capital. Provincial authority must have some representation in the central. So Navadwīpa is the highest conception of theism, so here, naturally, the representation of all other theistic conceptions should be represented in some form or other. Devī Simantini [?] is there, Jaganātha is there, Nṛsiṁhadeva is there, so many, in this way, the Śiva is there, Devī, so many persons. They should represent themselves to pay honour to the highest conception of theism. They think it necessary They must have some representation. It shows how it is adjusted in the full-fledged theism, different conceptions of theism. They are posted in some parts with the full, viśiṣṭādvaita, not exclusive all but including, all inclusive. And they're also of eternal type, but only the difference in degree of intensity of theism.

Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura could conceive when he was putting up in Godruma, he marked that every day early in the morning one flow of wind goes through his front towards Yoga-Pīṭha, birthplace of Mahāprabhu, early every morning. What's the matter? Then he began to search most earnestly and to detect in a prayerful motive, mood, he wanted to survey what's the matter. Then one day he found that in the birthplace of Mahāprabhu, when the ārātrika in the morning, maṅgala-ārati, Nṛsiṁhadeva goes there every day to attend from that Nṛsiṁha Poli. Nṛsiṁhadeva Himself He every day attends that maṅgala-ārati of Mahāprabhu.

All personal representation, all conscious personal, personality, the degree, the degree, the intensity in the degree of conscious personality, more attraction. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Devotee: Guru Mahārāja. Is there some story that Prahlāda Mahārāja in his former life cleansed the Temple of Nṛsiṁhadeva?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. It is mentioned from Purāṇa, there it is shown. Jīva Goswāmī he found out that. Api cet sudurācāro, bhajate mām ananya-bhāk, [Bhagavad-gītā, 9.30]
Kiṁ punar brāhmaṇāḥ puṇyā, [Bhagavad-gītā, 9.33]

[api cet sudurācāro, bhajate mām ananya-bhāk
sādhur eva sa mantavyaḥ, samyag vyavasito hi saḥ]

["If even a person of extremely abominable practices, abandoning all non devotional pursuits of exploitation and renunciation engages in My exclusive and uninterrupted devotional service, he is venerable as a true saint because he has embraced the revolutionary plane of life."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 9.30]

[kiṁ punar brāhmaṇāḥ puṇyā, bhaktā rājarṣayas tathā anityam asukhaṁ lokam, imaṁ prāpya bhajasva mām]

["So who can doubt that the pure devotee brāhmaṇas and kṣatriyas will achieve that supreme goal? Therefore, surely engage in My devotional service, since you have attained this temporary and miserable human body after wandering throughout many births."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 9.33]

māṁ hi pārtha vyapāśritya, ye 'pi syuḥ pāpa-yonayaḥ

striyo vaiśyās tathā śūdrās, te 'pi yānti parāṁ gatim

["O son of Pṛthā, low-born persons of degraded lineage, women, merchants, or labourers - they also attain the supreme destination by taking full refuge in Me."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 9.32]

Kṛṣṇa says. Māṁ hi pārtha vyapāśritya. "I'm such that if anyone comes in My connection with some evil motive, then also he may catch the connection and come up. Māṁ hi pārtha vyapāśritya, apāśritya, to come in connection in a mean way, vyapāśritya, particularly mean, very nasty way. If in a very nasty way also, anyone comes to My connection he gets the chance to go higher and higher."

And an instance has been given from Prahlāda-cariter by Jīva Goswāmī. It is found in some Purāṇa, that when, before his birth, Prahlāda, how he came to this side. He was a man supposed in the South, of mean nature. And he made arrangement with a lady for union in some dilapidated temple of Nṛsiṁha. And for that purpose he brushed some, cleansed some portion in the compound. And that day was the day of advent of Nṛsiṁhadeva. Any good day and Prahlāda cleansed a portion of the part which was very dirty, and perhaps there he was united with the woman or so. But because he cleansed that place in a particular day that was recorded. And through that he got connection with Nṛsiṁhadeva's service. He took that and gradually improved and came to reach that stage. Līlā in this way.

Devotee: Guru Mahārāja. There's one temple in South India that's called Mantralay [?] It's the samādhi of one saint called Ragavendra Swāmī. They say in their books that Ragavendra Swāmī is an incarnation of Prahlāda Mahārāja. And for eight hundred years he'll be giving dārśana to people.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Who? Ragavendra Swāmī?

Devotee: Yes. He was, in his live body he was entombed in the cellar of that temple, in the basement of this temple, about four hundred years back.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Living?

Devotee: Living. And he says for eight hundred years he will be giving dārśana and helping people who come to that temple.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What is the temple? What is the Deity there?

Devotee: Mantralay. I don't think there's any Deity.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Only the tomb?

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Where it is?

Devotee: It's about a hundred and fifty miles from Hyderabad.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Towards Mangalas?

Devotee: From Hyderabad.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hyderabad, which side?

Devotee: It's midway between Bombay and Madras.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And the line?

Devotee: I think it's Rāmānuja line.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ragavendra?

Devotee: Yes. Actually, this temple became very famous about a hundred and fifty years back when one Englishman who I think was a collector of the area. He came to demolish this temple because he wanted to use it for some other purpose. And when he came there some man named Thompson, then Ragavendra Swāmī gave him dārśana and immediately he fell flat before Ragavendra Swāmī and he instead of, he donated many acres of land to this temple. And it was recorded in the British Gazette.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That may be, not impossible, that he was a yogī, and the last line of Prahlāda.

Devotee: But there's one thing which doesn't seem right in what they say. They say that Ragavendra Swāmī had got so much pious activity that it prevented him from going back to Vaikuṇṭha. So he's distributing his pious activity to all the people for eight hundred years so that he can go back to Godhead.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The Vaikuṇṭha means Godhead, to go to Godhead is to go to Vaikuṇṭha. But anyhow he chose to stay here for eight hundred years. It is not impossible with a yogī. If he likes he can live. But why he lived in that fashion? Ordinarily on the surface he could live so many years and help the people. But this is also a particular desire by which he wanted him to be led. It's not impossible, maybe.

But that is not our concern. Our concern is 'what for?' The quality of the things he adopted. There are many other yogīs also, they may live a long, long time, but that is not the necessity for us. The quality in the conception of the theism. Even Lakṣmī Devī, she can't have the mādhurya-rasa service which is available in Vṛndāvana. That sort of thing we want to be connected with.

The Rāmānuja section, they're more concerned with Lakṣmī-Nārāyaṇa, two and a half rasa, not confidential service available in Vaikuṇṭha. Confidential service is only available when we get Kṛṣṇa conception of Godhead. And that stage of theism is known as Goloka, or Vṛndāvana. Solid circle - full fledged. Goloka means solid circle, like a ball, full fledged. Akhila-rasāmṛta. The centre is connected with all classes of rasa of different type. And the very nearer approach through love, confidence. So that in sākhya rasa the friend can climb up His shoulder. He also can play like that. So nearness, or closeness, is possible only in anurāga, love, to acquire, to come in the area of love. Not reverential service which is found in Vaikuṇṭha in connection with Nārāyaṇa, the reverential, awe inspiring, the grandeur. By this we cannot approach the nearest position of service which is possible only through love divine, very closest connection, of equal position.

So much so, when Jayadeva was writing his famous book, Gītā-Govinda, in Rādhā-Govinda līlā, he came in such stage of mind. Rādhārāṇī, She's, abhimāna, that She had some reaction in Her sentiment against Kṛṣṇa. That Kṛṣṇa is not giving His due, lovingness, or something, to Her, honour for Her love. She had some reaction, reactionary mood. And Kṛṣṇa trying His best to satisfy Her, so much so, that Kṛṣṇa wants to touch the feet of Rādhārāṇī. But Jayadeva, he can't allow himself to write that.

"What is this? These thoughts coming to me, this seems to be too much. How I can, the Supreme God, how I can write that He has come to hold, to touch the feet of Rādhārāṇī?"

Dehi pada-pallavam udāram [Gītā-Govinda, 10.7] This flow is coming to him, this level, but he can't write it down in black and white.

"How I can? The Supreme Personality He will be in such a lower level that He will beg, by touching the feet You be propitiated with Me, My beloved?" He can't, so he stopped there, went to take his bath, leaving there the writing.

In the meantime, Kṛṣṇa came in the figure of Jayadeva, and Jayadeva's wife Padma, she was there, she was also a very perfect type of devotee. Padma saw a little earlier perhaps her husband has come. Then he took prasādam, also Padma ate early. Then also he went to the room and he took that book, that paper he was writing, and Padma saw something he did there, and then disappeared. After here and there Padma could not detect, she thought that he is here.

But real Jayadeva came at the time. At that time Padma she's taking the remains, after that Jayadeva Kṛṣṇa has taken away, then real Jayadeva came and found that Padma was taking prasāda. "What is this Padma? You're taking prasādam?"

Padma also saw Jayadeva and was astonished. "What is this my lord? You are coming far away now?"

"You are taking prasādam, I have not taken yet."

"No, no. You came and took prasādam, and then I'm taking the remains. Not only that you also wrote something in the book."

"What I have written? Let me see." He went and inquired that what he faltered to write, could not write. "How can I say that the highest conception of God, 'I want Your holy feet to My head?'" He saw it's written there.

dehi pada-pallavam udāram, mama sirasi mandana, dehi pada-pallavam udāram

"Please give Your, which is ornamental to My head, give that holy feet to Me."

It is written there. "Padma, you are fortunate, you have seen. Kṛṣṇa Himself came in my imitation or something. I'm coming now and who came and who took prasādam from you, your hand, He Himself has taken. So you're fortunate." Jayadeva also began to take.

"What do you do? I have taken."

"No, no. This has been taken by Himself. And you are fortunate. Let me also have the share."

So, such closer relationship, closest relationship is possible to get by the way of love. Possible has been shown, but we don't think that we will be in any day we shall have progress to that that audacity may not come to touch our mind, then it will be a great offence. But the Lord to His beloved devotee shows such humiliation, it is recorded. It is possible, such anurāga, the love divine is such a powerful thing. Śrī-kṛṣṇākarṣiṇī ca sā.

[kleśa-ghnī śubhadā mokṣa-, laghutā-kṛt sudurllabhā
sāndrānanda-viśeṣātmā, śrī-kṛṣṇākarṣiṇī ca sā]

["Uttamā-bhakti, the purest devotion, is the vanquisher of all sin and ignorance, and the bestower of all auspiciousness; liberation is belittled in the presence of such devotion, which is very rarely attained, the embodiment of the deepest ecstasy, and the attractor of Śrī Kṛṣṇa Himself."]

[Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, Pūrvva, 1.17]

So many effects we can get through devotion. And the highest is that we can draw, we can catch Kṛṣṇa, attract Him to be submissive to the devotees in any way and every way. This is the force of this anurāga bhajan. The way to approach to the Lord through the affection, through love divine. Love means sacrifice for Him. Everything for Himself. Through the science we're to understand that, and the degree of sacrifice will be infinitely higher, and the response also will come from that direction like that.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...and He'll have to show Him everywhere, that cannot be. Because He does not show Himself to me, so I shall say that He's not, He does not exist, that is suicidal. I cannot see many things. I cannot hear many types of sounds. Our jurisdiction of our senses, the jurisdiction of the knowledge of our senses is very, very, limited. Many things are not within our experience, so those things must not be left. God exists eternally everywhere. Still we can't feel Him.

"Inexplicable way My existence."

Devotee: _____ [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So what about Aravinda Locan?

Badrinārāyaṇa: He's here Mahārāja. He'll wait for a few days.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Is he going to Vṛndāvana?

Badrinārāyaṇa: No, he'll wait for a few days.

Aravinda Locan: I'm thinking it's better to wait, Guru Mahārāja.

Badrinārāyaṇa: For a few days.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He's uncertain _____ [?]

...

"And I shall go to Yaśodāmāyi and complain against You, and You must remember Her whip."

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Deep vision in the extreme causal stage, surveying the extreme causal stage of every incident. Deeply founded, not surveying the surface, not satisfied with reading the surface, but the depth.

Like a politician. Politician does not look at the surface, but at the depth. What is the cause of this dissatisfaction, of this movement, must be deeper something.

So the deepest inspection of the environment should be like that, that everything coming, flowing from Him and He's friendly. Ha ha. Nothing to complain against the ultimate cause. Then, I'm to adjust for peaceful life. I do not find peace in my life, and the cause is within me, not outside. That is the direction.

One German scholar told, "The Bhagavad-gītā has hammered here, incessantly Bhagavad-gītā is hammering on this point. Don't care for the result, consequence. Concentrate wholesale yourself on your duty, how to discharge your duty, your quota. Wholesale concentration there and never on the result, consequence. Never allow yourself to be in relativity with the consequence. The whole attention, cent percent, must be engaged in discharging your duty, your quota. That will be the basis of final, peaceful, adjustment. You'll be able to find peace everywhere if you adjust yourself in this way."

Oil your own machine and don't go to oil machines that are outside. Oil your own machine. Leave the rest to the all, to the whole, represented by the whole, who represents the whole.

karmaṇy evādhikāras te, mā phaleṣu kadācana
mā karma-phala-hetur bhūr, [mā te saṅgo 'stv akarmaṇi]

["I shall now describe niṣkāma karma-yoga, the path of selfless action. You have a right to perform your natural prescribed duties, but you are not entitled to any fruits of that action. You should neither act with desire to enjoy the fruits of your work, nor, as a result, should you be attached to neglecting your duties."]

[Bhagavad-gītā, 2.47]

At the same time don't leave your duty. What you feel to be your duty, you must do that, otherwise you'll be paralysed like the Śaṅkarites or Buddhists. Your dynamic characteristic must be maintained at any cost. You're infinitesimal small part, and you do your same small duty. Concentrate wholesale there. Don't allow yourself to be paralysed. Do your duty.

'When I've got no right in the fruit, in the result, consequence, then why shall I do?'

Don't be misguided by this insane tendency. Be active, fully, but whole energy must be in your duty there, fully awake to your duty. Don't allow yourself to go to sleep, dullness, apathy. There you'll find the relativity of the perfect world standing firmly in your centre.

tat te 'nukampāṁ susamīkṣamāṇo, [bhuñjāna evātma-kṛtaṁ vipākam
hṛd-vāg-vapurbhir vidhadhan namas te, jīveta yo mukti-pade sa dāya bhāk]

["One who, in the hope of achieving Your grace, goes on enduring the inauspicious fruit of his own karma, and passes his days practising devotion unto You in every thought, word, and deed - such a person is heir to the land of freedom: he attains to the plane of positive immortality."]

This is the advice of Bhāgavatam and Gītā. Gītā the basis, and Bhāgavatam the result. The positive side, it is goodness, around, only you are self-deceiver, you are deceiver of yourself. The wrong is in your vision. The environment is all right. You are the culprit yourself. And the whole endeavour they should be engaged to perfect your own self, to heal your own self, to cure yourself. That is what is necessary. Sitting at home you will find everything has come to you, sitting at home? Rather you will - back to God, back to home. To go from present ego, we say that conception means to go to God's land, where everything is good. It is all for the best, that maxim, it is all for the best.

In Coleridge we read, "Best, beloved best. He prayeth best who loveth best." In Coleridge's Ancient Mariner, it is in Ancient Mariner, this topic, one of three, "By thy graveyard and with glittering eye," in this way begins, Coleridge, Ancient Mariner, the moral in the last. "He playeth best who loveth best, because the dear God who creates all, is beloved to all." Or something like that.

Devotee: "He playeth best who loveth best, all creatures great and small."

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Both great and small. "For the dear God who creates all, He hears and loveth all." Something like that. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari.

[Farewell, farewell, but this I tell
To thee, thou wedding guest!
He prayeth well, who loveth well
Both man and bird and beast.

He prayeth best, who loveth best
All things both great and small;
For the dear God who loveth us,
He made and loveth all.]

[Samuel Taylor Coleridge - 1772-1834]

Ha ha ha. So you're reminded that is your reward. You're reminded about Gaura Kiśora Dāsa Bābājī Mahārāja.

"Well Kṛṣṇa I shall lodge a complaint to Yaśodāmayī against You. You are at the back of all this mischief. What wrong I have done? You are setting all these towards me, why? I shall have also my weapon. I shall intimate to Yaśodāmayī. Then You will have to feel the consequence of Your act." How it is harmonised, everything as this, only Yaśodāmayī has been taken in, and everything harmonised. "You are naughty, it is well known, and Yaśodāmayī knows the best and how to treat You. Because so many complaints always used to come to Her, and She knows how to deal with You, You naughty boy."

Devotee: Guru Mahārāja. I have a question about Gaura Kiśora Dāsa Bābājī Mahārāja. Sometimes in tracing the śikṣa-paramparā, people may see that Śrīla Bhaktisiddhānta Sarasvatī

Ṭhākura, he had a very deep relationship with Śrīla Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura. And they may tend to minimise the position of Śrīla Gaura Kiśora Dāsa Bābājī Mahārāja. So I was just curious to know, what would be his special contribution to our sampradāya?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: His contribution is Bhaktisiddhānta Sarasvatī.

Devotees: [Loud group laughter].

Devotees: _____ [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: When Bon Mahārāja came back from England, then he also accused Bhaktisiddhānta Sarasvatī Ṭhākura. "That what you know, all that won't be acceptable, or not a contribution proper to the western civilised person. These things won't be appreciated there. So this is no knowledge proper." In this way, he accused our Guru Mahārāja. "There are so many defects in you." In this way.

Then Guru Mahārāja disarmed, attacked by the disciple in such a way he felt helpless, and he uttered at that time, "That what do you say, this is not the real path in which you have come? My Gurudeva Gaura Kiśora Bābājī Mahārāja, externally he had no knowledge, even he could not sign his own name. But we saw that in the nail of his feet, all knowledge is present, padayanakhay [?] Only in the nail of his toe we found all knowledge. And what do you say this against your own Gurudeva?"

And there was Professor Sanyal, he caught him almost by his throat. "You fool, you do not know anything. Why have you come in this way? Why do you think that you are a great wise man, you know everything? That is all false. So long what did you hear here? The knowledge of the experience, that has got no value, that is only temporary." In this way Sanyal came and attacked Bon Mahārāja and disarmed him.

But Guru Mahārāja he was from the direct attack to what you will do him, he told like that, "That my Guru Mahārāja from the external consideration, he did not know even to sign his own name. But we found that in the nail of his toe the whole knowledge is there, padayanakhay [?]"

So by knowledge one may, eliminating all these things, one may keep a diamond, eliminating so many things, a diamond, which may have the value of so many things. So the highest knowledge, that the property, knowledge, everything, is jñāna-sunya-bhakti, prema, love.

[śreyān dravyamayād yajñāj, jñāna-yajñaḥ parantapa]
sarvaṁ karmākhilaṁ pārtha, jñāne parisamāpyate

["O Arjuna, subduer of the enemy, the sacrifice of knowledge is far superior to the sacrifice of various articles of material possessions, because all action ultimately culminates in transcendental knowledge."]

[Bhagavad-gītā, 4.33]

bahūnāṁ janmanām ante, jñānavān māṁ prapadyate
vāsudevaḥ sarvam iti, [sa mahātmā sudurlabhaḥ]

["After many, many births and deaths, one who is actually in knowledge surrenders unto Me, knowing Me to be the cause of all causes and all that is. Such a great soul is very rare."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 7.19]

...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Can you feel?

Devotee: Knowledge is undesirable?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, undesirable, jñāna-sunya-bhakti, knowledge is unnecessary. Whatever event you will invest _____ [?]

Devotee: Generally we think that knowledge will be helpful to us.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But for finite it is impossible to know the Infinite, the infinite type of nature. And specially the Infinite is not static, it is dynamic, it can change its nature every moment. Your past estimation, that may not stand in future. Do you follow? In that case, soul, knowledge.

jñāne prayāsam udapāsya [namanta eva, jīvanti san-mukharitāṁ bhavadīya-vārtām
sthāne sthitāḥ śruti-gatāṁ tanu-vāṅ-manobhir, ye prāyaśo 'jita jito 'py asi tais tri-lokyām]

["Oh Lord, Oh Unconquerable One, those devotees who, completely giving up all attempts on the path of jñāna of attaining the non-differentiated platform known as Brahman by hearing the transcendental narratives of Your pastimes, which emanates from the lotus mouths of the mahā-bhāgavat sādhus and pass their lives by engaging their body, mind and words in pure devotion, easily conquer You (they easily get Your transcendental association), although You are the most difficult to attain in the three worlds."]

Bhāgavat comes to say that, Give up your attempt in the investigation about the Infinite. Give up that. It won't bear any fruit ultimately. Try to establish friendly connection with the Absolute. He's all free, and He's always free. He can change His position any moment. He cannot come within your knowledge. What you see, that sometimes He's this, next moment you may say 'oh He's not that.' It is possible, so don't go because that attempt will be futile. It will be a waste of energy, to know about such things. You cannot be the subject of this. He's Super-subjective. As a subject you cannot reach that stage that you'll be able to make the Super-subject as your object. But it is the higher knowledge, that can't come, won't come to be the object of your knowledge, it is impossible. So don't go wild goose chasing, waste of energy. Jñāne prayāsam udapāsya namanta eva. Try to connect a relation of friendship, that is the wholesome utilisation of everything. Negotiate only through love, through affection, that is safe way, position. And knowledge, that will frustrate you, it will play treachery with you.

Because He is not, He is svarāṭ, cārtheṣv abhijñaḥ svarāṭ. Self sufficient autocrat. What estimation will you have about an autocrat? He can do anything. He's not under law. Your knowledge means to bring Him under law, but He's above law, He's the creator of law. So your knowledge will be futile, it won't pay. Only cent percent of your energy, devote to establish a relationship of affection towards Him. That will be helpful really.

So Bhāgavat has discouraged knowledge, and exploited the waves of energy, only don't depend on energy, that may be, if without reason, that may be misused, energy may be misused, and it produces a result that will harm you. So your half knowledge will harm you. But autocrat, no knowledge is possible. He's above law. Your knowledge will require you try to bring Him under law, but He's above law, svarāṭ. So it won't be of any good to you. Give up. Only try to connect in the way of affection. That can only help you in your improvement in the end of your life. Prepare for that, bhakti, sevā, that is the only proper function, proper relation between you and Him only. The Autocrat can be controlled only through love. One who is free, He can be controlled only through love. So die to live. Gaura Hari bol.

Mukunda Mala Vilas: ...little donation.

Badrinārāyaṇa: Rupees, pounds and dollars.

Mukunda Mala Vilas: Different kinds of notes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Different kinds?

Badrinārāyaṇa: Yes.

Mukunda Mala Vilas: That's two hundred rupees. Then there's ten American dollars, twenty, ten dollar bills. Here's three five dollar bills. And here's two five pound notes. So you're the international Ācārya.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: _____ [?] of international credit to preach Mahāprabhu's teachings ____ [?]

Mukunda Mala Vilas: It's about seventy dollars.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Mukunda Mala Vilas: So you're the chief trader in Nāma Hatta.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Badrinārāyaṇa: Mahārāja. Mukunda Mala prabhu's going back to do that big book, Guru And His Grace. He's going back to help.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ah. I shall try to send that life history shortly.

Mukunda Mala Vilas: Oh. You'll send some biography. That will be very helpful. We want to put that in the introduction.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Any questions, no time now. He's going direct to?

Mukunda Mala Vilas: From Calcutta, Dum Dum airport.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And then from there?

Mukunda Mala Vilas: To Bangkok which is in Thailand. It's near Vietnam.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Going to meet Dayādhara?

Mukunda Mala Vilas: No. That's Malaysia. It's close. Bangkok is a half hour train to Mal...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then from Bangkok, to Hong Kong?

Mukunda Mala Vilas: Bangkok to Taiwan. That's an island very close to China, Democratic China.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Taiwan, that was - what was the name?

Mukunda Mala Vilas: Formosa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Formosa. That one China gentleman was pro American during the war?

Mukunda Mala Vilas: Chiang Kai-shek.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Chiang Kai-shek. Thailand, that land.

Mukunda Mala Vilas: Taiwan.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then from Bangkok to that Chiang Kai-shek?

Mukunda Mala Vilas: Yes. Chiang Kai-shek desh.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: From there?

Mukunda Mala Vilas: From there to South Korea, Seoul. Then to Hawaii, and from there to Los Angeles. And from Los Angeles to San Jose.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Dry prasādam _____ [?] manage for that.

Badrinārāyaṇa: Long journey.

Mukunda Mala Vilas: Yes. It's very indirect route. Like vilāsa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Unity in diversity.

Mukunda Mala Vilas: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Vilāsa. Mukunda Mala Vilas.

Mukunda Mala Vilas: I was thinking, vilāsa means something that moves in a crooked way. So I was thinking because I'm very crooked you have given me this name.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Vilāsa means playful movement. In play you may take in that crookedness.

aher iva gatiḥ premṇaḥ, [svabhāva-kuṭilā bhavet
ato hetor ahetoś ca, yūnor māna udañcati]

["Just as a serpent naturally moves in a crooked way, in a zigzag way, the nature of love is naturally crooked. It is not straight. So the concerned parties quarrel, sometimes with cause and sometimes without cause, and separation comes. Separation is necessary for the transcendental pastimes of Rādhā and Kṛṣṇa."]
[Ujjvala-nīlamaṇi] & [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 14.163]

Just as serpent moves in a crooked way, not straight. In a crooked way, serpent. So vilāsa is something like that. Thesis, antithesis, synthesis, in Hegel's opinion. Thesis, then opposite, then again unifying both. Again that is theses, then again antithesis, and again greater harmony. In this way making progress.

Mukunda Mala Vilas: Hegel was a deep thinker.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Deep thinker, yes, deepest thinker among the western philosophers. Max Muller and others also, deep thinkers. Germany had such appreciation for Indian culture that ancient books that can never be found in India may be found in Germany. So they were fond of Indian culture. They were not masters of India. But their inquisitiveness about the cultural books of India, that was extreme, in one word. The ancient books that may not be found in India, can be found in Germany, even after war. So such safe and honourable custody they have kept the Indian ancient books, that is most admirable.

Badrinārāyaṇa: And that swastika sign Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Swastika sign taken from India.

Mukunda Mala Vilas: Hitler used that. And also Śrīla Bhaktisiddhānta Saraswatī Ṭhākura's first disciple from the west came from Germany, that [Herr] Schulze [Sadānanda dāsa].

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Came from Germany. Germany gave first response to his call. Then another thing. The depth of the meaning of Bhagavad-gītā, that highest appreciation came from Germany.

And also, Hitler's method of social reform was something of Indian type. He asked the ladies, "Go to home from the office. I want good children from you, and I shall give reward for that. I don't want you to work in the office. Go and be a good mother. I want good children." And also he made arrangement for sterilising those unfit to produce child, the real diseased. "You are to produce children befitting the dignity of the country. Not for your sensual purpose that you will marry. I won't allow that. You must marry only to give good children. My whole country I want to be filled up with children of high type, that is my interest. And not for your sexual pleasure that I shall allow you to marry."

So that is also Indian way. And when the war continuing I was in Karachi, I had a fight with some British gentleman. That I appreciate Hitler in these points. This is our eastern method, and Indian method specially, the social reform.

He wants all the ladies, "Go home and give good children. I shall reward you. I want the whole country filled up with good children, and not the products of your sensual luxury. No. Real child with good brain and good physique, as son of Germany I want here. Not with some diseased and defective bodies you will fill up the country. I won't allow that." Ha, ha.

Mukunda Mala Vilas: They say also that V2 rocket, he got the idea from the Viman Veda.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: V2, yes. Viman Veda. And Swāmī Mahārāja also told, the dhāma kṣatriyas by being frightened by Paraśurāma, they went to take their abode in Germany. The Indian kṣatriyas when Paraśurāma wanted to make the whole of India kṣatriya-less, then many kṣatriyas they started towards that direction and they took some position in Germany.

The Frank and Huns, so they're called Huns. Huns means haṁsa - paramahaṁsa and haṁsa, two sections in the ancient India. So Huns means haṁsa, very similar word, haṁsa. Huns and haṁsa, so they're called Huns. "Furious Franks and fiery Huns." Some English poem, written by some gentleman who was a soldier first.

['Tis morn, but scarce yon lurid sun, can pierce the war-clouds, rolling dun, where furious Frank and fiery Hun, shout in their sulphurous canopy.]

I forgot the name. But he wrote, "The fight between furious Franks and fiery Huns." Fiery Huns means the Germans, and Huns means haṁsa. Paramahaṁsa and haṁsa, two groups in India. And the Rajputa here, they're also called Huns. Huns here, h-u-n, Huns and Hoons, their origin is Hoon, an aboriginal section in ancient India, Hoon. The same stock with the Rajputa in India, they're called Hoon, and here they're called Huns. And the Sanskrit is haṁsa. Hoons and Huns, from haṁsa, the same original stock, haṁsa.

Mukunda Mala Vilas: Guru Mahārāja. I had one question about the Berkley theory. In Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura's lecture, he says that Berkley, he says that everything is in the mind, but Bhaktivinoda Thakura, in his lecture, he says that the scandal of the Berkley theory is that it tends to negate the existence of this world. It tends to argue against any kind of reality.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But Hegel has come to relieve Berkley somewhat. He says that when a question is put, according to Berkley, if I think that there is a hundred pounds in my pocket, if I search my pocket, will I get it?

Mukunda Mala Vilas: No.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then Hegel says that, "When it is thought, it may not be in the individual mind but it must be in the Universal Mind." That is Hegel's standpoint.

Mukunda Mala Vilas: That it's present somewhere.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And that wave comes gradually. As I argued to some place about Bhaktivinoda Thakur's Jaiva Dharma. Have you gone through it?

Mukunda Mala Vilas: Yes, I've gone through that.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is, imaginary persons are accepted as they're talking and giving answers. Some Brajanātha, some bābājī, some Bābājī Mahāśaya, all those imaginary persons have been taken in to talk. I told to one person in debate, that what is in Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura's brain, his mind, and he has written, that is not imagination. In some kalpa or other, these things were, and these things again will come, have to come. Do you follow?

Mukunda Mala Vilas: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura thought in his mind, that won't be lost, that must be somewhere in this prapañca, in this world, sometime after, or sometime back, the same thing was. Just as they say that the sound; I speak here, and the sound is going. This sound can be caught in some other place little after.

Mukunda Mala Vilas: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So, the light is Caitanyadeva, with His batch, He chanted here, saṅkīrtana, He preached, that velocity, that wave is going. And now in some sort of place, that may be found here. Do you follow? Am I clear?

Mukunda Mala Vilas: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That velocity, that light that I should hear, that is going on, that is not lost. Just as sound I pronounce is not lost, it is travelling, so the light, that whatever I see, that wave of light, that is also travelling. That war, that war period, vision, that is also there, that is vibrating, that vibration is now somewhere else, it is floating. If you go there, just as in the Ganges water, if I throw some flower, then that is carried out by the stream. If I can go with more speed than the stream, I can find that flower somewhere else in the far away, in the current. Do you follow?

Mukunda Mala Vilas: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So, the velocity, the eyesight velocity, that in a second it is moving 175 miles speed, it is moving. And if it is possible to run with more speed, then we can overtake that wave. It is there. So, also, what is imagination now must have come in reality here and it is found in somewhere else.

In Kṛṣṇa līlā also... Eh?

...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...we say the Kṛṣṇa līlā nitya. Just like sun, everywhere there is morning. Now morning here, five minutes after, the morning will be there, some sunrise. Sunrise, it is everywhere sometime. Here or there; rising sun to be found anywhere. Always it is moving in that way. Setting sun is always to be found; only we're to go to attend that place.

So, what came in the mind of Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura, though that like a novel way he described, that must, this kalpa, another kalpa, or somewhere, it must be found. It is there. It is reality, not imagination.

Everything, it is not imagination. In my dream, what I saw, now it is false. But it was, in some life, in past experience I had that sort of vision, that has come to me now as dream. It was a fact, and now it is only as dream. _____ [?]

Śrīla Govinda Mahārāja: _____ [?] He's direct disciple of Śrīla Guru Mahārāja. And Guru and His Grace _____ [?] not will be published. _____ [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: _____ [?]

Śrīla Govinda Mahārāja: Guru And His Grace may come here in November, in book form.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: At Vyāsa pūjā time.

Śrīla Govinda Mahārāja: Vyāsa pūjā time, that is good time.

Mukunda Mala Vilas: Yes, good time for getting the grace.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa.

...

Mukunda Mala Vilas: One other question I had about this Berkley theory that everything is in the mind. And that is...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What is in the mind, that may be abstract to us, but in the Universal Mind everything is concrete. It must be, can be traced somewhere else.

Mukunda Mala Vilas: Yes. So although everything is, in one sense, everything is in the mind, but still I'm experiencing that it is very hot. I feel very hot, and also Badrinārāyaṇa prabhu, he also feels the heat. So we're all experiencing heat. But according to Berkley, this is just going on in the mind. So my question is; should we think that this illusion is being enforced upon us, or the idea that it is hot, that...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You have to understand the fundamental truth. That what is hot temperament to me, that may be cold environment to some other body. Degree. Apparent degree of toleration, the experience of coolness and heat, depends on that. What is cool to us, that may be hot to another. So in that way it is only, we're to adjust with that; that what is hot to me, that may be cool to another. Human beings, or so many insects, so many worms, and so many other things. What is bright to us, what is bright to an owl; that is dark to us. Do you follow?

Mukunda Mala Vilas: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So creation is of variegated nature in all cases. In cases of eye experience, or ear experience, which we can hear, others cannot hear. It may be so small sound and so big sound, we can't hear. Only we hear within limitation, we see also within limitation. Our feeling in the touch, that is also within limitation. So, everything is co-existent, only it is adjusted. Something cool to me, that very thing is hot to another. In this way it exists. So it is not imagination, it is reality. What is imagination to me, that is reality to another animal. Because it is there, in the prapañca, in the surface it is like that. So it must be anywhere and everywhere. The rising sun must be anywhere and everywhere. Now here and then next there, in this way it is revolving. So in the whole creation every sort of experience is co-existent. Do you follow?

Mukunda Mala Vilasa: Yes. _____ [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then, what is your question?

Mukunda Mala Vilas: My question was that, in explaining this theory to others...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And we want to say that what you now feel cool, by the will of God you can easily, you may feel that very hot. By the will of the Supreme Lord. Everything depends on Him, in the Cause. What you say is intolerable hot, in the next minute if God wills, you will be forced to be intolerably cool. It depends on His will, everything.

"Let there be water." There was water. "Let there be light." There was light.

He's saying, "Dhṛtarāṣṭra, I say you will see Me, being blind. Though you're blind, blindness not to be removed, only I say you see Me, and you will see." And that was done.

Only His will is at the cause of everything. And that can change anything and everything to anything and everything. His will. And that is coming here in a modified way. In a general way, in a particular way, special, speciality of such degree, in this way gradation is there. But it is that His will is the cause, prime cause of everything. And it is that He's above law. We must keep in consciousness that, then anything you'll be able to explain.

Mukunda Mala Vilas: He's like a hypnotist.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, hypnotist. Everything depends upon His sweet will. Everything depending on the the sweet will of the Designer and Destiner. Everything is destined and designed by Him. It is in His hands. In the centre. It is by itself and for itself. Everything, He only knows what is the purpose of anything and everything. None else. He knows His ways, and none know His ways. Only they know as much as He wants to make them know, only that much. And that also He can change.

So complete free autocrat, and that can be only caught by love. The autocrat can be caught by love, not by knowledge. Because His ways are uncertain. What your knowledge will do? Knowledge can go on if there is any fixed law and fixed nature. But autocrat, any moment He can change. Then, how can I know things? So all your previous experience, null and void. Every second He can show you a new colour. So no possibility of knowledge can make any clear statement, all futile. So knowledge is futile about the infinite. Now this, now another, now _____ [?] now _____ [?] Then, on what basis you'll make your calculation?

He's always changing, sweet will. Only He can be caught, His heart can be caught by only surrender. So through surrender He may like to make Him known to you, and you may know that portion, that much.

The designer is autocrat, above law. You're to consider like that. Who is designing this universe, He's above law, not under any law, any fixed nature. He may change at His will, the sweet will. And whatever He wills, that must have to come, to happen.

Devotee: Guru Mahārāja. Sometimes people say this God is not good because He's above law, but the position of the jīvas is they're not above law. It means there is suffering. If God is good it means that He could create the jīvas also above law.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ha, ha. Then, they want to become God of Gods. _____ [?]

Unknown and unknowable, and how His ways can be known. His more, He's autocrat, He's such.

And from your crooked and very meagre partial experience, your finite experience, you want to throw at Universal Truth. Your experience is limited of the limited. And that small experience you want to thrust onto the whole. It is most deplorable. Deplorable argument and knowledge. From finite you want to know the measure of the whole infinite, and you go to criticise Him. What is your foundation of criticising, criticism? From what basis you are approaching to criticise Him? How much you know about Him?

A mother is chastising her son, only you see that portion, and 'she's very cruel, mistreating her son for this,' But you do not know the previous trouble the mother takes for the child, how she feels for his future good. All this you do not go to decide. Only the time being you say that 'she's punishing the son' and you're infuriated.

So every incident must have its future and its past. You're to trace that before you put any remark. In your case, how much, how limit, to what limit you can understand? Very meagre, and by that one should not go to make any remark about the Infinite ways. That is injudicious, that is suicidal to a man of understanding.

Devotee: Guru Mahārāja. The position of the jīvas in taṭasthā means that the jīvas have the knowledge that there is one upper world and one lower world, that there is suffering and there is service? There is this knowledge in there?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What does he say?

Mukunda Mala Vilas: He says that the jīva in taṭasthā, does the jīva have a vision of Vaikuṇṭha?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Jīva has got adaptability of both sides, margin means endowed with adaptability of both the sides. But no participation, nor any experience, but only seed adaptability. And he's in the margin, and the margin means strictly to analyse with adaptability, you can go that side, you can come this side. This possibility is there, in potentiality. But he's left to exercise his freedom. Because he's conscious unit, freedom must be inseparable from consciousness. A conscious unit and freedom is one and the same. Conscious atom means endowed with freedom. If freedom is taken away it is matter.

Devotee: There is freedom, but there is also knowledge of the absolute of the reality?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Because it is very small, so freedom also not perfect, very vulnerable. Freedom does not, his existence is also small, his freedom is also vulnerable, defective. So the possibility of committing fault. Freedom means not perfect freedom, perfect freedom with the perfect reality. And the smallest atomic freedom with the atoms of consciousness and that is vulnerable. That can judge properly, and judge improperly also, there in the margin. Otherwise we have to put blame on God, or māyā? Or we want to be innocent? No. We can't be innocent.

The starting point, just as before taking any intoxication, one man begins intoxication, first step curiosity, something like. Then when he's taking intoxication for small time he cannot do without intoxication. So māyā is like that, the intoxication habit. Then māyā's intoxication habit comes and force you to give up _____ [?] intoxicating substance. Before that, when you begin it might not have begun. There is no point, no momentum, but once you've begun, as much as you're making familiarity with intoxication, intoxication will devour you, devour, or injure you so much.

So first starting, mixing with māyā like a play, curious play, play of curiosity. But as much as I make friendship with her, she comes to devour me so much. In this way we're in the clutches of māyā. But in the beginning, in the starting point, it was a very slight thing like curiosity.

So such starting of the free will, that was the cause, and not the present stage where māyā has devoured us, ajñāna, ignorance, liking for exploitation. Māyā means liking for intoxication, love for exploitation, that is māyā. And truth is that everything for centre, for Kṛṣṇa.

Devotee: Guru Mahārāja. If in taṭasthā has the reality and the illusion, the jīva cannot have enough discrimination to come to the...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No part of discrimination, all only very little, imaginary little, everything imaginary small, but it is. However small, it is there.

Mukunda Mala Vilas: So he can also go to Vaikuṇṭha? From that first starting point he can also go to Vaikuṇṭha?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Starting point. Yes. Some go that side. Some go this side, some go this side. Independent. Not all come one side, then there would be some compulsion. No compulsion. By their free choice some going this side, some going this side, some going that side.

Devotee: Guru Mahārāja. There is any knowledge coming from outside or from inside that can help the jīva to adopt one side or another?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: At every stage outward help is present, at every stage. But in crude stage, higher agents can help. Ordinary persons cannot detect the defects and render help. Higher personality. God Himself, or any higher powered sādhu can help you.

Just as suppose, a new born babe. A specialist doctor with special knowledge can make treatment of the newborn. But little grown up, can talk, "What is paining you?" Ordinary doctor may _____ [?]

So high powered sādhu, and the Lord Himself, they can help us in any stage. Ordinary person, saints, cannot help in any stage. In certain standard their help is _____ [?]

Mukunda Mala Vilas: Guru Mahārāja. When we're very far away, in another country, then we have to associate more through vāṇī than through vapu. Can you say something about that? Can you give us some instruction that will minimise our separation?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Vapu also by our deep affectionate meditation, we may get influence from the vapu also. Sometimes when we're in meditation we may get inspiration. The words are there and also by meditation, by the ability within, something may come, a new light may come. That is, that may be possible. A deep and affectionate and submissive meditation, relativity, that may guide me, irrespective of the space and time. Ātmā does not have any restriction of space and time. If we can rise up to the plane of ātmā, it is that caitya-guru, in that way we can get inspiration.

Mukunda Mala Vilas: Once, you said that vāṇī is also vapu.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, vāṇī is also vapu. If not properly tackled, sevonmukhe. Vāṇī means words, vāṇī may not divulge the meaning ____ [?] Vāṇī is also a form of sound. This is eye experience, and vāṇī is ear experience, but the internal meaning that is something else. Do you follow?

Mukunda Mala Vilas: Yes. Like that,

[asadhu-sange bhai "krsna nama" nahi haya] "namaksara" bahiraya bate nama kabhu naya

["O brothers, the Holy Name of Kṛṣṇa is never to be found in the association of those who are unsaintly. The external sound of the Holy Name is never the Name proper."] [Prema-vivarta]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. So that also may be broken, may be changed, like broken, form. But the spirit within, we can approach that only through submissive attitude. Sevonmukhe hi jihvādau. If the ____ [?] can take, the eye can see, the nose can take - if we have a serving attitude, deeply serving attitude. Then that contact comes, from up. They're helping the external body, that comes to ātmā, buddhi, mana, and outside. It comes from inner side, or higher side, not comes from the surface, from the point of experience. It comes from eye, it has to come though sparsa. First to soul, then from soul to reason, from reason to mind, and from mind again so deep in the mind that we will experience...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Coming down, not springing up here.

Devotee: Guru Mahārāja. Kṛṣṇa is like a well-wisher father. How a father can permit that the son fall down and be in contact with a dangerous situation? Father's always careful about to don't permit the son to fall.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Father also does not like that the son will be of such nature that always lives under guidance. Just as one man takes his boy to teach him swimming, that he may not drown, so it's necessary to teach him swimming. So father wants that he may stand by himself. That is not injustice.

Free cooperation, not infringed, forced cooperation. There cannot be peace in forced cooperation, forced adjustment. So free cooperation, that sort of adjustment is peaceful and happy. You are to understand. If He forces us anything then we're reduced to stone. We must be allowed to live freely, and that free cooperation will give us peace, not forced.

Devotee: And Guru Mahārāja. This wrong path is very heavy because it's said in the śāstra that for the jīva to return to his constitutional position is very rare.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: This wrong path, in comparison with eternity it has no position. We're to take everything from the standpoint of eternity, however long path, no value. Which is very, very long time to you, that is a second to another's consideration. And what is a second of Brahmā, that many be a few months for us. So infinite is of such character. In time and space, in both cases it becomes true. Who is there?

Badrinārāyaṇa: Vidagdha Mādhava prabhu.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Vidagdha Mādhava is going to Calcutta tomorrow to send him off?

Vidagdha Mādhava: If you like Guru Mahārāja I can go, no problem.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Do you find it necessary?

Mukunda Mala Vilas: Do I find it necessary? No, it's not necessary. I can manage. It's all right. His service will be needed here. So I'll take your leave now Guru Mahārāja. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Gaura Hari bol.

83.06.02.B

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...consciousness proper. Then his position will be higher than any Christian, or Islam, Mohammedan, or Śaṅkarite, or anyone, or even devotee of Nārāyaṇa.

Vidagdha Mādhava: But Kṛṣṇa consciousness proper means he's actually...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Proper must - not show, like the goswāmīs, the bābājīs, the pseudo Kṛṣṇa consciousness, but real Kṛṣṇa consciousness. And slight participation in that should be considered to be the highest fortune of all religionists in the world. The comparative study is there. What is Kṛṣṇa? Svayaṁ- Bhagavān Kṛṣṇa. The Vṛndāvana līlā of Kṛṣṇa. Reality The Beautiful - to be connected with the Reality The Beautiful. That is to have the greatest fortune than any other man who has connected his fortune with any other conception of religion.

Vidagdha Mādhava: But Guru Mahārāja. Didn't Śrīla Bhaktisiddhānta Prabhupāda, didn't he say that Jesus Christ was śaktyāveśa avatāra? He said like that?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That might have been. But śaktyāveśa avatāra, Vyāsadeva śaktyāveśa avatāra, Paraśurāma, Nārada, there are so many śaktyāveśa avatāra. But what they're dealing with, that is to be concerned, what he gave. We can only compare in the teachings.

Vidagdha Mādhava: And also we have many disciples of Swāmī Mahārāja who've come and gone. They stayed for many years, practising the basics, the beginning sādhana of bhakti yoga.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Coming and going, that is another question.

api cet sudurācāro, bhajate mām ananya-bhāk
sādhur eva sa mantavyaḥ, [samyag vyavasito hi saḥ]

["If even a person of extremely abominable practices, abandoning all non devotional pursuits of exploitation and renunciation engages in My exclusive and uninterrupted devotional service, he is venerable as a true saint because he has embraced the revolutionary plane of life."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 9.30]

To have the highest conception of theology, if we have any connection with that, gradually my future will be there. So one might have attained the fullness of a particular conception. But slight Kṛṣṇa consciousness will be better than that, more valuable, considering its prospect. When he's connected with Kṛṣṇa consciousness anyhow he'll reach the goal. So considering the prospect and the man who has realised a lower conception of religion he's finished there. But one, a beginner, in the higher Kṛṣṇa consciousness _____ [?] Just as an ordinary jñānī, a member of the jñānī school, he's better than a bona fide karmī. And a member of the devotional school is better than a mukta, one who has attained emancipation, or liberation. But this man is not liberated, but anyhow he's got chance to be admitted into the devotional school, śuddha bhakti. He should be considered from the standpoint of his prospect, that he's better. And this man's finished ABC. Some finished in A, some finished in B, another has got connection with C, but now he's not in such normal position. But near future he'll be there in C. But considering the prospect he should be considered as better. So transaction must be with reality, and not any pseudo imitation. Imitation has got no value. Real connection, slight connection, of the higher reality, is better than the full achievement of the lower status. Do you follow what I want to say?

Vidagdha Mādhava: Yes I follow. Is it possible in the kaniṣṭha...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Full realisation in the lower order of religious conception, and slight connection of the highest religious conception, slight connection, and the full realisation of the lower conception. What should be considered as better?

Vidagdha Mādhava: I just heard you say 'the slight connection is better.'

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, better, because tomorrow he'll be there. And this man is finally settled here, in lower office. One is a probationer in a higher office rank. And another a clerk, but now drawing more money than the beginner. But in no time this officer will go to fetch more money, and the head clerk will be there, finished. And the officer will go. But now the head clerk drawing more money, and this man less. Something like that. Am I not clear?

Vidagdha Mādhava: Yes Guru Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So our future prospect should be taken into consideration. According to the prospect we shall judge who is superior who is inferior.

Devotee: I have a question about amāninā mānadena. That we're all jīva souls, all equal in the eyes of God. But in normal society, also Vaiṣṇava society...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Not all equal in the eye of God. In the eye of God there is also difference.

God says, "My devotees, there is also gradation." That saying to Uddhava.

[na tathā me priyatama ātmayonir na śaṅkaraḥ]
na ca saṅkarṣaṇo na śrīr naivātmā ca yathā bhavān

["Neither Brahmā nor Śīva are as dear to Me as you; My elder brother Saṅkarṣaṇa is not as dear to Me as you, nor even Lakṣmī Devī. Even My own Self is not as dear to Me as you."]
[Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.14.15]

The gradation amongst the devotees, Śrī Kṛṣṇa Himself says by His own mouth. Na tathā me priyatama ātmayonir na śaṅkaraḥ, na ca saṅkarṣaṇo na śrīr naivātmā. "But Uddhava, you are most beloved, even more than My own self."

And that Uddhava again says, "Oh. In Vṛndāvana, what sort of divine love I've experienced? If I have a birth of a creeper and bush, then the feet dust of those damsels will naturally fall on my head. I shall consider myself purified."

The gradation is there, not all equal, amongst the devotees. And the non devotees they're also of lower order. The karmī, jñānī, and all these things, gradation is there, not all equal.

Devotee: But still the teaching is...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: All equal in this sense that He likes that everyone may be good, in that sense.

Devotee: Still the teaching is, though the...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja:

samo 'haṁ sarva-bhūteṣu, na me dveṣyo 'sti na priyaḥ ye bhajanti tu māṁ bhaktyā, mayi te teṣu cāpy aham

["I am equally disposed to all souls, therefore no one is My enemy or My friend. Yet, for those who render devotional service unto Me with love, as they are bound by affection for Me, I am similarly bound by the tie of affection for them."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 9.29]

"I am equal to all. But who is devoted to Me, I'm also partial to them."

That is His position. That is His meeting, one who is doing, the father, a bad child, a good child, father wants to be impartial to all the children. But one is very bad, a rogue, and another is very honest. Naturally the honest will get more attention and more support from the father. But otherwise the father likes both the children equal if they may be good. But when one is good, one is bad, naturally some more affection towards the good will come. Otherwise he should be considered impartial. 'Why he's attracted towards bad and not towards good?' He'll be blamed, the father will be blamed for inconsideration.

The letter. Kṛṣṇa. Not clear?

Devotee: Yes. That's clear. But sometimes also it's said that the naughty child he gets the affection from his mother. His mother is always thinking for that naughty child, how he can, she's worried about him.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Not naughty in that sense, naughty not at heart, but within they're a little disturbing, that is naughty type. Externally may be of disturbing temperament, that sometimes pleases the mother, father. But if there's poison within none can _____ [?] Remove the poison. Paternal affection, or motherly affection, will like the poison to be removed. But at heart he's good, but externally he's very _____ [?] breaking this thing that thing _____ [?] They like that kind of. And always sleeping, sleeping, sleeping, do not like that. That is tāma guṇa.

_____ [?] Evil aim has got also utility, but in the indirect way, punishment. Punishment has got its utility, but not in the direct, but in the indirect sense, not desirable. But still it's useful sometimes.

...'haṁ sarva-bhūteṣu. "I'm neutral, equal, environmental whole, to anything and everything. But those that are coming towards Me, they're getting the benefit of My affection. And who are apathetic they're not getting. But I'm approachable by everyone. That is _____ [?] Anyone may approach and get. I'm not ill-disposed to anything, equal _____ [?] If he does not come and he also gets then there'll be _____ [?] not equal. So one coming he's getting, not coming not getting. But if not coming also gets the same thing then not equality."

Devotee: Then what is the meaning of causeless mercy? Even one might not be going, still might be getting.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Causeless, that is eternal, none has created. It's flowing in its own way. But the others that are endowed with free will, if they connect they'll get. Each flowing in his own way, and if ill- fated he'll run away, when the flow is coming he'll run away. Ha, ha.

Devotee: Still we might see two devotees...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: There are special cases also, alokamani [?] four kinds of special cases. Causelessly coming from upward to lower, that is also four kinds. General case is, if you approach you'll get, that is the general case. But a special case there are and that also of four types. Suddenly one may get the Grace of God. I don't remember exactly the four types, but there are four cases. Alokadan [?] And Śukadeva is one case. Another case I don't remember. Memory failing. You will find in Jaiva Dharma. Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura has analysed them. Independent of the inquiry of the jīva, sometimes it comes from above, comes down, and that is also of four types. Bhakta kṛpa, Bhagavān kṛpa, and also another two, four types are there, get suddenly. But if we're to, we can trace, if we're able to scrutinise and trace the subtle points then also we can count that _____ [?] must have been some sukṛti for which this has suddenly come.

Devotee: From previous life.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: From previous life sukṛti. In this life nothing much seemed ostentatiously, but in the background there must be something from previous life _____ [?] so suddenly he became ____ [?] But it was acquired in his previous life.

purva janmad gita vidya, purva janmad jita dhanam [?]
purva janmad gitam punyam, pascad dhavati dhavati [?]

Anything required. purva janmad gita vidya. Learning. _____ [?]
Puṇyam. Very good merit acquired in previous life, that comes to help in this life also.

Devotee: Still I'm a little confused, how to apply _____ [?] amāninā mānadena. Always not desiring respect for myself.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Amāninā mānadena. Tṛṇād api sunīcena. Humbler than a blade of grass. If we give foot pressure on the blade of grass it will go down, no position. So highest type of devotee won't go to create any trouble in the environment, because his time is very valuable, so no disturbance he'll invite. He'll try not to be party to any quarrel, avoids it, for this such policy because his time is very valuable. He's engaged in such a valuable thing that outward disturbance may harm him very greatly. So the peace of the environment he'll try his best to maintain. So if any opposition coming he'll try to withdraw as much as possible. Neither he won't be the cause to give opposition to anyone. But still opposition coming he'll try to avoid it, at his own cost. Tṛṇād api sunīcena, taror api sahiṣṇunā. If it comes he'll try his best to go on in his own way with toleration. And amāni, he won't search for any prestige or position, name, fame. Won't care for anything else, whole concentration towards his own object of life, amāninā. Neither blame from outside, nor any appreciation from outside, should affect him. Won't care, close the door, of any sort of appreciation or dis-appreciation from the public. Independent of the appreciation or dis-appreciation of the popular opinion. Amāninā mānadena.

But still anyone comes to disturb, "Oh, you're all right. I'm in a mean, lower position."

When Prakāśānanda went to charge Mahāprabhu in Benares, "Why? You're a sannyāsī, why do You not read Vedānta and discuss the ontological side, all these things?"

Mahāprabhu He told that, "I'm stupid. My Gurudeva he told, 'You're an ignorant man. You don't go to discuss the abstruse arguments in Vedānta. You go on taking the Name of the Lord. That will suffice.'" guru more mūrkha dekhi' karila śāsana. mūrkha tumi, tomāra nāhika vedāntādhikāra.

[prabhu kahe — śuna, śrīpāda, ihāra kāraṇa / guru more mūrkha dekhi' karila śāsana]
[mūrkha tumi, tomāra nāhika vedāntādhikāra / 'kṛṣṇa-mantra' japa sadā, — ei mantra-sāra]

[Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu replied to Prakāśānanda Sarasvatī, "My dear sir, kindly hear the reason. My spiritual master considered Me a fool, and therefore he chastised Me."] [" 'You are a fool,' he said. 'You are not qualified to study Vedānta philosophy, and therefore You must always chant the Holy Name of Kṛṣṇa. This is the essence of all mantras, or Vedic hymns."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Ādi-līlā, 7.71-72]

"And so I take the Name of the Lord. I've not much qualification to understand and discuss the ontological side of Vedānta in this way. Mānadena. You are bigger scholarly persons, you can do so. But I'm an ignorant person."

In this way He avoided. But when they came with more sincerity to approach Him, then He came out.

"That what you are cultivating that is all false. What will be the real meaning? The real meaning is such and such." But in the beginning He did not create any opposition. He avoided them. But when with sincerity they came to know, then He came out with His own thing.

And Sārvabhauma also. Sārvabhauma he's a good scholar, and a guardian's position.

"Young man, You're well connected with my family. Your maternal father _____ [?] elder brother were all class friends, in this way. So I've got much affection for You. So though You've committed very wrong _____ [?] It is very difficult to keep up the purity of the sannyāsa life. Anyhow I shall help You, try my best to make You understand and analyse the nature of this world that it's all false. Then Your sannyāsa may be protected. I shall help you. Many sannyāsīs, I have a class where many sannyāsīs come to attend and hear Vedānta from me. And I admit You also as a student in that class. Always think of the Vedānta, that the world is nothing, all false, then only Brahman is there. Then it will be easy for You to maintain Your renunciation role."

Then Mahāprabhu, "Yes. You are My well-wisher, you are My guardian. What you order I must do that." He attended the class every day, but He was sitting silently.

Then after a week Sārvabhauma told, "The boy looks very intelligent, but He silently attends my class without putting any question. I'm taking so much labour to make Him understand all these higher points of Vedānta. But though He seems to be very intelligent, but He does not utter a single word. What's the matter? Does He understand or not? My labour is only useless?" Then one day he could not contain him, asked, "I'm taking so much care to help You by explaining the Śaṅkara Vedānta bhāṣya, all these things. But You don't ask any question. Do You understand or You don't understand?"

Then Mahāprabhu told, "Your are My well-wisher. You have ordered Me to hear. I did so. But what you say, you mention about the sūtra, the original points, I understand clearly. But your explanation I can't follow."

Then, Sārvabhauma was an intelligent man. "What does He say? He understands the original quite clearly, but my explanation He can't understand? That means He says that I'm explaining in a wrong way, my explanation is wrong, eh? He's so much bold to say like that? He can't understand my explanation, but He can fully understand the original thing, sūtra." Then he asked anyhow, formally, as formality he had to ask. "Then can You explain the sūtra in Your own way?"

"Yes. I you order I can do." He began to explain the original sūtra.

And Sārvabhauma went to refute that, but could not. Whatever he says Mahāprabhu discards that. Then he was nonplussed. Then anyhow there was that ātmārāma śloka in Bhāgavatam [1.7.10], and with much care and scholarship Sārvabhauma prepared nine kinds of meanings explained from that śloka, separate kinds of meaning. Sārvabhauma began to explain that. Mahāprabhu heard them, patiently. "And then, have You got any other explanation?"

"Yes. If you'd like to hear I can try." So Mahāprabhu, these nine kinds of explanation, without touching any one of them, Mahāprabhu came with, independently, another eighteen kinds of explanation from that śloka.

Then Sārvabhauma was bewildered, dumb. "What is this? He's not a man."

This Gopīnātha, his brother-in-law Gopīnātha Paṇḍita, he previously told, "You want to protect His sannyāsa dharma, He's not an ordinary man...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Adjustment in what we've heard from the revealed scriptures. Adjustment, assimilation, of what we've heard from the śruti, from the revealed scriptures, that is meant, proper assimilation. And to differentiate from things that we find here in our perverted conception of life and experience. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Vedāśraya nāstikya-vāda bauddhake adhika. Mahāprabhu's announcement about Śaṅkara, that he has given delivery of thought from the Buddhistic school in the name of Vedic thought. The most dangerous. The colour of Vedic thought, he has given delivery of the Buddhistic thoughts. Vedāśraya nāstikya-vāda. Half true is more dangerous than falsehood.

veda nā māniyā bauddha haya' ta nāstika [vedāśraya nāstikya-vāda bauddhake adhika]

["The Buddhists do not recognise the authority of the Vedas; therefore they are considered agnostics. However, those who have taken shelter of the Vedic scriptures yet preach agnosticism in accordance with the māyāvāda philosophy are certainly more dangerous than the Buddhists."]
[Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 6.168]

Buddhist, they're simple, they do not have any recognition of the revealed scriptures, they think that's all. They're on the other side, it is plain and clear. And this man has entered within our camp, and began to preach the doctrine of Buddha. It is most dangerous. So we'll always be very alert of this apparent religious man who is an atheist in the garb of a devotee, so-called, we must be very much cautious about him.

So, māyāvāda-timiṅgilodara-gatān uddhṛtya. The whole Hindu section, so-called Hindu section mostly swallowed by Śaṅkara. They do not know how they have been swallowed.

["Śrīla Bhaktisiddhānta Sarasvatī Ṭhākura is well renowned within the select line of the magnificent Gauḍīya preceptors. He appears in the morning sky like the radiant sun and resounds the wonderful glories of Śrīman Mahāprabhu, delivering the poor souls helplessly devoured by the whale-swallowing doctrine of impersonalism. I worship the great master who allowed the fallen souls a precious chance to dive deeply into and experience the bliss found in that ambrosial ocean of pure love for Lord Kṛṣṇa."]
[Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja]

'Only this is Brahman, that is nothing, non see-able, non-traceable, non-differentiation, and the specification, nothing, and to accept that, no harm about our creed.' In this way they all accept it.

They say that, 'Anyhow he [Śaṅkara] took to the scripture. If we see the good side, anyhow he drew the attention of the religious people of that time to the scripture, from the atheistic school, totalistic school. And now you read your scripture, and then find what you can manage to find. So much he must have done.'

activities, just as a father promises his child candy so that the child will take his medicine."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.3.44]

Ha, ha. Enemy is according to the plane, enemy. In one's own plane, a man's enemy is a man, not a tiger, nor a serpent. Man's greater enemy is man, greatest enemy must be a man. Others cannot make any harm so much.

Rādhārāṇī's enemy is Candrāvalī. Ha ha. The competition with which, in Yogamāyā, that department, where the competition is going on to produce the satisfaction of Kṛṣṇa, all accommodating. Kṛṣṇa, akhila rasāmṛta murtiḥ. All possible types of ecstasy is harmonised, nothing neglected there. Everything for Himself. So many of variegated nature, but for Himself. Then justification of the existence is there. So many, let it be. Innumerable, does not matter, but one end, all must be connected to one end, for Himself, to satisfy Kṛṣṇa. kṛṣṇindria tattvam, kṛṣṇa-priti, kṛṣṇa-prema. Must be connected to one end. Many, polarity and unity, unity, that to satisfy His purpose, and diverse may not have any number, variegated.

Rādhārāṇī Herself says, that is Her special beauty, "That they do not know. I have no objection. The others will come to serve Kṛṣṇa. I look only in the satisfaction of Kṛṣṇa. My concentration is always there. But, their service does not come to such a standard as to give satisfaction to Him properly, so My objection." Rādhārāṇī's statement in this way justified. "They rush forward to satisfy Kṛṣṇa, but they do not know how to satisfy Him. They come and begin their service to satisfy Him, but they cannot do so. There is My objection, otherwise I can allow. My eye is always fixed just like the hand of a clock, the satisfaction of Kṛṣṇa."

saynavi gihicanoo de kṛṣṇa seva nahi jani jihe canay [?] In this way, Caritāmṛta says, gives the statement of Rādhārāṇī. She does not think Herself to be one of many, in the competition. So that is Her special beauty. Her degree and intensity of the endeavour to satisfy Kṛṣṇa, that is above all, all accommodating, so that is. Others, that is a part of Her. She represents the whole, and His own parts develops to help Her in indirect way. Some in direct way, Lalitā, Viśākhā, and some in indirect way, in another camp, but that necessity is also there.

Just as the opposition party is necessary in the democratic parliament, something like that, the opposition party, vetivek [?] everywhere there is, amnay [?] and vetivek [?] everywhere. In amnay [?] in direct there is also a place for indirect, the development in such way.

Hegel's version is synthetic. Thesis, antithesis, synthesis, the development always goes in this way. Thesis, antithesis, synthesis. So antithesis will always be there, but it will promote, help the thesis to come in synthesis, something like that. So antithesis has got it's position also.

amnayah betikhi karvan yat sat sarvatsa sarvadar [?]

In the first śloka of Bhāgavatam: 'nvayād itararaś cārteṣv abhijñaḥ svarāṭ. He's only fully aware of the purpose of His activities, cārteṣv abhijñaḥ. What is the purpose of this world, it is known only to Him fully, cārteṣv abhijñaḥ. To what purpose, what is being done, He knows fully well, not any other part of the world, cārteṣv abhijñaḥ, and svarāṭ. He's not to give any explanation to any other entity, svarāṭ, autocrat, svarāṭ means autocrat. Not for any explanation to another party, svarāṭ. Whatever He will do that is all right, that is Autocrat Absolute, svarāṭ means absolute. Everything for Him, He's for none. And elaborately thinking, analytically, He's for us. We are for Him in some way, and He's for us some way.

ahaṁ bhakta-parārdhīno, hy asvatantra iva dvija
[sādhubhir grasta-hṛdayo, bhaktair bhakta-jana-priyaḥ]

[The Lord tells Durvāsā, "I am the slave of My devotees; I have no freedom apart from their will. Because they are completely pure and devoted to Me, My heart is controlled by them, and I reside always in their hearts. I am dependent not only on My devotees, but even on the servants of My devotees. Even the servants of My devotees are dear to Me."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 9.4.63]

"I do not know anyone but My devotee."

sādhavo hṛdayaṁ mahyaṁ, sādhūnāṁ hṛdayaṁ tv aham [mad-anyat te na jānanti, nāhaṁ tebhyo manāg api]

["The pure devotee is always within the core of My heart, and I am always in the heart of the pure devotee. My devotees do not know anything else but Me, and I do not know anyone else but them."]
[Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 9.4.68]

"They're My heart, I am their heart." Hṛdayaṁ mahyaṁ. All the saints are My sweetheart, and I am also similarly heart to them. Sādhavo hṛdayaṁ mahyaṁ, sādhūnāṁ hṛdayaṁ tv aham. Mad-anyat te na jānanti. They do not know but Me. Nāhaṁ tebhyo manāg api. I also do not care to know but them."

So visa versa, He's for the devotee, devotees are for Him. That is, the substance and the potency. Potency cannot stand, cannot exist independent of the substance, and substance also cannot remain without the potency. As Śaṅkara told that 'Brahman is only there, no potency.' But the Vaiṣṇava Ācārya's are of the opinion that substance is Brahmā, no doubt, cetana, but that has got potency. Prakṛti Puruṣa, not Puruṣa alone, Puruṣa bhakta. The enjoyer, enjoyed, the positive, negative, the served and the servitor, both combined, one whole.

The subject, object, according to Hegel. "No subject can exist without object." Subject means thinking, thinker, there must be something to be thought, otherwise subject cannot exist. So object also cannot exist without the subject. There must be some thinker, then recognition of a particular thing. That is the peculiarity where the atheists are crushed. The object cannot exist without subject. That is a great point of argument of the theistic school here.

That a fossil was there. Fossil means black or white, hard or soft, something, and that is the stage of subject. Without thinker, no fossil can exist. There must be some sort of assertion about the fossil, and where it will exist in the subject. So without subject, no object can stand, and without object, no subject can stand. Prakṛti Puruṣa. That is Hegel's argument. Subject, object, both co-existent.

When Bon Mahārāja came from preaching in the West, then I had a talk with him in Bombay Maṭh. I went to welcome him from the ship. He came, Swāmī Mahārāja was there, he was conducting business there in Bombay, and Swāmī Mahārāja was present. In a round table, we all took our seat.

And Bon Mahārāja told, "They ask so many questions that cannot be answered."

But I had some knowledge about western philosophy. I read in B.A. class that Hegel's theory, and others, so I challenged him. "What points cannot be answered?"

Then gradually the talk begins. [Herr] Schulze [Sadānanda dāsa] was there. He was watching very keenly. Swāmī Mahārāja was there. Then in this point I defeated Bon Mahārāja with Hegel's philosophy. No object can exist without subject. There must be someone to give the statement, what is in the fossil, in the object. No object can stand independently. The law of thought cannot allow.

Then Swāmī Mahārāja he told, "Here the west is defeated by the east." Something like that.

That question, that no object can exist without subject. It is difficult to understand, follow, but if one can understand, then he can refute the whole atheistic school. That no object. In the primary stage of creation there was fossil, and no consciousness, it is very easy to say, but what is the fossil? If you have to assert something, that it was so and so, and that so and so means conception about that, and where does it exist, conception in the subjective area. So any existence presupposes the existence of consciousness. So consciousness is the most original. And I also add here, by introspection, consciousness can have object in his own creed. Ātmā can think of him, so it is concrete, independent of fossil. Pure consciousness can exist independently, it can, introspection, in thinking of its own, about its own. Ātmā-jñāna, spirit thinking about spirit, independent of material existence. So consciousness is independent, can be independent, but never matter. Nitāi.

Aranya Mahārāja: Guru Mahārāja. As Rādhārāṇī She sends Her different associates to canvass on Her behalf, Her group, does Candrāvalī also send Her associates to canvass on Her behalf?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. And there's a clash between the followers of Rādhārāṇī and Candrāvalī. Lalitā, Viśakhā, and there the Śaibyā and Padar, followers of Candrāvalī.

Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura has written. Svānanda-sukhada-vāsī [I am a resident of Svānanda-sukhada-kuñja] sakhī-sthalī nāhi heri nayane, dekhile śaibyāke paṛaye mane

["I never look at the place where Candrāvalī and her friends stay. Whenever I see such a place it reminds me of Candrāvalī's gopī friend, Śaibyā."] [Śaraṇāgati, The Songs of Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura, p 33]

Sakhī Sthalī is a part of Vṛndāvana where the camp of Candrāvalī generally exists. Sakhī-sthalī nāhi heri nayane. Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura says, "As the attendant of Rādhārāṇī's camp I don't like to see that Sakhī Sthalī area. Why? Dekhile padar paṛaye mane. Padar, she's a servitor in that camp of Candrāvalī. And the lower servitors, servitors of lower rank, they're concerned with the lower rank, of the other camp." So Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura says, "If Sakhī Sthalī comes in my memory then the Padar, whose attitude is always to seduce Kṛṣṇa from this camp, to take that camp, so I can't tolerate that. Dekhile padar paṛaye mane."

rādhikā-kuñja āṅdhāra kori', loite cāhe se rādhāra hari

["Candrāvalī wants to take away Rādhā's Lord Hari, thus covering the grove of Rādhikā with the darkness of gloom."] [Śaraṇāgati, The Songs of Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura, p 33]

"Because Her interest is always to take Kṛṣṇa from Rādhārāṇī's camp to Candrāvalī's camp, if Kṛṣṇa goes there, then the whole camp of ours becomes dark. Āṅdhāra kori'."]

Once Prabhupāda ordered one to sing this song, and the song was sung in Chaitanya Maṭh. And I marked it was sung twice, but when this rādhikā-kuñja āṅdhāra kori', Prabhupāda receives a shock. He's sitting in this way, in the chair, and the song is there, and when in the song this thought came, rādhikā-kuñja āṅdhāra kori', he finds a shock, I marked. And in the second singing of the song, when again this point came, rādhikā-kuñja āṅdhāra kori', he received shock, can't tolerate. The āṅdhāra kori', the darkness in the camp of Rādhārāṇī, it is intolerable for their attainment. I found it. But still it is, for the, to develop the different methods of service, different layers of service, it is necessary.

Just as fasting is necessary for relishing the food. Viraha, milana. Without hunger we cannot relish the food. Something like that. So viraha, and this competition, this is necessary to enhance. Just as parakīya. Just as to eat the food by stealing, in Kṛṣṇa, this is all to enhance the satisfaction. It is necessary. This is all designed only to make intense. When it comes to the higher standard, again there is necessity to intensify, then these plots are necessary. This parakīya, this stealing, this lying, this taking away, this camp, that camp, for the vilās it is necessary, otherwise it is stale and one and without vilās.

[ato hetor ahetoś ca, yūnor māna udañcati]

[Rūpa Goswāmī says, "Just as a serpent naturally moves in a crooked way, in a zigzag way, the nature of love is naturally crooked. It is not straight. So the concerned parties quarrel, sometimes with cause and sometimes without cause, and separation comes. Separation is necessary for the transcendental pastimes of Rādhā and Kṛṣṇa."] [Ujjvala-nīlamaṇi]

Just as the natural gatiḥ, progress of the snake is by a crooked way. Aher iva gatiḥ premṇaḥ. So love proper, it goes by crooked way. Svabhāva-kuṭilā bhavet. Not straight going, love, because it has to accommodate everything in it. All sorts of things possible in existence, is accommodated there in love. Love means sacrifice. Sacrifice is such a degree of height that it can embrace everything.

In a singing camp, many instruments are being played, and many songs are being sung, so the number of variety will be a credit in the harmony there, sangat [?] Different types of instruments are being played, but there must be a harmony there. And the highest harmony depends on the number of different instruments of playing, harmony, credit is there. Hundreds of instruments are playing the music, but there is one tune, that is the credit.

So sacrifice, dedication, will be in its highest degree of such nature that it can tolerate. Its toleration has no end, and there by toleration, the harmony is there. Any type of opposition it can tolerate, any time. All accommodating, accommodation, one single, another it is divided, another it is divided, toleration is necessary in the back. In this way. The highest conception of dedication means the accommodation of the infinite number within it. Still it is sweet, it adds to the sweetness.

Kṛṣṇa, when He's offered food with affection from Yaśodā, but that does not satisfy Him. He must have to steal. He must have to waste something. He will distribute to the monkey, to others, then He'll be happy, not by...

And Yaśodā will think, 'With so much labour, and pain, and attention, I am preparing food for My boy, and He's wasting all these things, can't tolerate.'

But Kṛṣṇa's satisfaction increases by that. More chance of service is given to Yaśodā.

Apparently, when a mother's child is little naughty, apparently, the mother may be seen to be disturbed. But if the boy is not brisky, mother's heart is not very satisfied. Very brisky, doing something wrong, breaking something, then all the points of the nook and corner of the heart, that has got some attraction, and that gives satisfaction to the mother's heart. And like a dead child, the child is there, like a dead body, that does not excite any fine parts in the heart of the mother. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari.

Aranya Mahārāja: So are there actually Ācāryas representing Candrāvalī, living. Is there different disciplic successions, like we have our Ācāryas in our line?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: There is this Vallabhācāri party which is mostly found in Gujarat. They are more sympathetic to Candrāvalī.

Devotee: They worship the Yamunā.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yamunā also, Yamunā, Virajā. And they are more in favour of Candrāvalī than that of Rādhārāṇī.

Devotee: What is the connection with the Yamunā?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yamunā is rather more neutral. Both the parties. They say that when after rasa, Kṛṣṇa withdrew, and then They could meet only on the banks of the Yamunā, by her grace, Yamunā could again supply them Kṛṣṇa. Nowhere, in this way. But Yamunā is more or less little neutral and passive. She has to accommodate all. All the parties to accommodate when they come on her bank, or on the water.

Even Baladeva's party. Balarāma has got His rasa, and Balarāma's party was also to be accommodated by Yamunā, and She had to do it reluctantly. First she withdrew, but she was forced to participate in the camp of Balarāma. But the Goswāmīns, they have shown the harmony. That Balarāma externally, He's enjoying the rasa, but internally, in His heart, He's making Kṛṣṇa to enjoy. In this way, the purity and the harmony has been kept. Apparently Balarāma is seen to enjoy with a particular group. But really His existence is dedicated wholesale to Kṛṣṇa, so that is only instrumental, a channel, through which the rasa is passing to Kṛṣṇa. That has been shown and explained by the Goswāmīns. Apparently it was seen that Balarāma was very rash and haughty when Yamunā did not like to participate, co-operate with His rasa. But she was frightened by Balarāma, and force applied, then Yamunā had no other alternative but to join the rasa of Balarāma. Yamunā's position is not like a leader of a particular party.

Devotee: And the followers of Vallabhācārya, they also worship Nathaji, Śrī Nathaji.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Śrī Nathji, Śrī Natharam, means that Madhavendra Purī's Gopāla.

Devotee: How did they get that Deity?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: When Vallabhācārya died, his son Vitthalacari - Vallabhācāri, in his last days, he kept some connection, intimate connection with Rūpa and Sanātana, though he was of senior type, in age. Then after, when Vallabhācāri died, he had a few sons, and one was, the eldest perhaps was Vitthalacari. And Vitthalacari was very much addicted to Rūpa and Sanātana. And when Vallabhācāri went away, then Rūpa and Sanātana, they made arrangement to engage him in the service of that Gopāla. Gopāla or who, name of Madhavendra Purī's Deity, Gopāla? _____ [?] Especially gave him the engagement to worship that Gopāla of Madhavendra Purī. And from that time, it, the possession of the service was with the Vallabha party, Vitthalacari.

And when there was some attack of the Mohammedans, then everyone was busy to remove their Deities, first to Bharatpur? state, Karmovan? and from there to Jaipur, and at that time Vitthalacari, he removed Gopāla to Nathadara [?] Nathadara, there near Udarapur [?] or so. And from that time, generation after generation, they're appointed worshipper of that Deity. But it was first with the Gauḍīya Vaiṣṇava, and it was given by Rūpa and Sanātana to Vitthalacari, the son of Vallabhācāri, and from that time they were the hereditary worshippers of that Deity. From Mathurā it was removed to western side of Jotipura or Govardhana. First removal from Mathurā to Jotipura, and from there to that Udaypur state. Nathadara, and there still being worshipped, that Gopāla.

Devotee: But Vallabhācārya, he's a disciple of Gadādhara Paṇḍita.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ah. Well he took, he was worshipper in vātsalya rasa, but when he came in contact with Mahāprabhu's party, he could recognise that mādhurya rasa is the highest, so he proposed Gadādhara Paṇḍita that, "I have not got mādhurya rasa dīkṣa, you please give it to me."

Gadādhara Paṇḍita referred to Mahāprabhu. "I am not independent. You must propose to Him, and by His order I may give mantram to you."

And Vallabhācārya did so, and getting permission from Mahāprabhu, he took initiation of mādhurya rasa. Kiśora Kṛṣṇa worship, service of Kiśora Kṛṣṇa, from Gadādhara Paṇḍita. But nowadays, there the party of Vallabhācārya, they do not admit this.

"No, we're independent. We're worshippers of vātsalya rasa. We think this is the highest."

In this way their movement is in that line. And when they come to mādhurya rasa, they give preference to Yamunā. In that way. Anti party of Rādhārāṇī's camp.

But this Nimbarka school, they prefer Rādhā-Govinda, though in svakīya, not parakīya. As married husband and wife, in the Nimbārka school it is seen. Rādhā-Govinda. But Vallabhācārya's, they're worshippers generally of Gopāla. Gopāla means boy Kṛṣṇa, Who is served in the vātsalya rasa, Nanda Yaśodā. That is their acme of realisation. But they do not deny that afterwards He had some sweet connection, as a consort with the small gopīs, and there they go to Yamunā and this Candrāvalī, they do not like Rādhārāṇī. This is their position, the Vallabha School.

Devotee: So Vallabhācārya he was actually a follower of Gadādhara Paṇḍita, but this connection with Candrāvalī that came later.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That sort of deviation is found in many places in the succession. Just as there was one Harivamsa, he was a disciple of Gopāla Bhaṭṭa, but he practically deviated. And he was, it is thought, supported by Gopāla Bhaṭṭa's previous Guru, who was a great devotee, and written many books, Prabhodānanda Sarasvatī. Rādhā-rasa-sudhā-nidhi. Caitanya Satav. Navadvīpa Dhāma Satav. Vṛndāvana Sataka. Many books of high style writing is there.

He supported Harivamsa to certain extent, who was the disciple of Gopāla Bhaṭṭa. There is a line from Harivamsi, Harivamsa was not accepted, in toto, by Gopāla Bhaṭṭa, who was Guru of Harivamsa. Another branch, as if coming down from Harivamsa, they are known as Harivamsi. But their real Guru, Harivamsa's Guru is Gopāl Bhaṭṭa. That is not found there wholesale.

The Rādhāramāna Veda, that represents Gopāla Bhaṭṭa, properly, but the Harivamsa school is another branch, as if. Theoretically they have recognition of Gopāla Bhaṭṭa, but practically some deviation, more addicted to the rasa vicar. And this there, the Gopāla Bhaṭṭa, direct connection, they're very careful to deal with this rasa, high type. Just as our Guru Mahārāja, he's very cautious about dealing with these higher rasa. Rāgapaṭha gaurava bāṅge. That should be kept always over our head.

pūjāla rāgapaṭha gaurava bāṅge, mattala sādhu-jana viṣaya range

["The path of divine love is worshippable to us and should be held overhead as our highest aspiration."]

We are talking something about Him very hazy and giving much respect.

Swāmī Mahārāja did not deal perhaps, almost anything. A general rasa, a general service of Kṛṣṇa he preached, in the west. Though he knew and admitted, "That my Guru is Rādhārāṇī. Rādhārāṇī my Gurudeva, has ordered me to preach to the west. And if Kṛṣṇa, my friend, You are to help me, because Rādhārāṇī will be satisfied, my Gurudeva, and Your business is also like that, so You must come to help me, I am going to carry out the order of Rādhārāṇī."

Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. In Bhāgavatam [11.14.8] the explanation is there, prakṛti-vaicitryād, and, pāramparyeṇa, the deviation from the main line. What is the cause? First religion was one, now so many things are going on...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...own capacity of thinking stage, they modified when they gave delivery to their own disciples."

Some modification came. This is psychological truth.

Once in our psychological class, in our college, our professor told that, "Mind has got a colour."

To prove that he told one thing. The class student arrangement was in this way. Begin from this side and coming around in this side. He told something to the first boy and put it in writing there, and kept on the table. And asked the first boy, speak it to the second, second to the third, third to the fourth, in this way. After fifty persons when it came he told, "Cry aloud what you have received from that man." He told and he wrote, "So the first thing was this, and when it came through me, through fifty members, now it has become like this."

So colour, colour, colour. Modify, modify, modify, in this way, from one Guru, so many disciples are hearing, but according to their capacity, they're catching them and mixing with their own mental experience, they give delivery to their disciple. And that disciple also taking that modified thing, again modification of his own mental colour and he's giving delivery, in this way. Sa kāleneha mahatā, yogo naṣṭaḥ parantapa.

[imaṁ vivasvate yogaṁ, proktavān aham avyayam
vivasvān manave prāha, manur ikṣvākave' bravīt
evaṁ paramparā-prāptam, imaṁ rājarṣayo viduḥ
sa kāleneha mahatā, yogo naṣṭaḥ parantapa]

[Kṛṣṇa tells Arjuna: "First I instructed the sun-god Sūrya in this knowledge, and from Sūrya it passed to Manu, and from Manu to Ikṣvāku; so from the beginning of time, I am giving My tidings to others, transmitting the truth that I am the goal through this system of disciplic succession, generation after generation. The current is damaged by the influence of this material world."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 4.1-2]

By modification, modification, modification, the real truth to the minimum standard it reaches, it's natural in the plane of māyā. So He has got the necessity of coming again and again, to re-establish the same truth.

When He's saying to Arjuna: "That I first, this is not new what I speak to you, this karma yoga. First I told it to Sūrya, and from Vaivasvata, from there Manu, in this way, it came down and now disappeared, minimum, I again say to you."

"How You told to Manu?"

"But I had My previous birth, I know them all, you do not know."

In this way, it is modified. Somewhere the modification becomes slow, somewhere it may be very quick, but modification goes on. And again when it comes in the hand of a greater person who descends here, then again it is purified. It is also possible some stalwart persons are sent from Vaikuṇṭha, from Goloka, to take up the thread and continue. Then they take up, impurity is also purged out, and in the more purer type, he continues the current of purer type. It is also possible by His will.

So the śikṣā guru-paramparā has been taken by Gauḍīya Maṭh, not dikṣā Guru, dikṣā Guru from Vipina, Jāhnavā. So many persons, mostly ladies came to Vipina Goswāmī and Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura took from Vipina gosai. From Vipina gosai and Jāhnavā Devī, so many ladies are there. But Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura especially empowered by the Lord, he purified the whole canal, what dirts accumulated in the line, that was purified and delivered in a novel way. And our Guru Mahārāja he also came down to take up that thread and pushed in that line of Bhaktivinoda. Before this we find the purity can be traced in Viśvanātha Cakravārti, and before that Narottama Ṭhākura. In the middle some dirt came within the thought. So śikṣā guru-paramparā has been accepted, not dikṣā Guru, formal. The spirit is more important than the form. Who can understand the real spirit, he can neglect the form.

Devotee: So Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura, his real connection through śikṣā...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He took it from Jagannātha Bābājī Mahārāja, he took śikṣā, and veśa, from Jagannātha Dāsa Bābājī.

Devotee: He mentions in Bhāgavata-Ārka-Marīci-mālā, he mentions that Svarūpa Dāmodara came to him in a dream, and told him to compile this book.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Compile and give a new explanation of the first śloka of Bhāgavatam. In dream he got Svarūpa Dāmodara's explanation of the first śloka of Bhāgavatam, in a new type, new, which is not given by the previous Ācārya, including Jīva Goswāmī. Tejo-vāri-mṛdāṁ yathā vinimayo yatra tri-sargo 'mṛṣā.

[janmādy asya yato 'nvayād itararaś cārtheṣv abhijñaḥ svarāṭ
tene brahma hṛdā ya ādi-kavaye muhyanti yat sūrayaḥ
tejo-vāri-mṛdāṁ yathā vinimayo yatra tri-sargo 'mṛṣā
dhāmnā svena sadā nirasta-kuhakaṁ satyaṁ paraṁ dhīmahi]

["O my Lord, Śrī Kṛṣṇa, son of Vasudeva, O all pervading Personality of Godhead, I offer my respectful obeisances unto You. I meditate upon Lord Śrī Kṛṣṇa because He is the Absolute Truth and the primeval cause of all causes of the creation, sustenance and destruction of the manifested universes. He is directly and indirectly conscious of all manifestations, and He is independent because there is no other cause beyond Him. It is He only who first imparted the Vedic knowledge unto the heart of Brahmājī, the original living being. By Him even the great sages and demigods are placed into illusion, as one is bewildered by the illusory representations of water seen in fire, or land seen on water. Only because of Him do the material universes, temporarily manifested by the reactions of the three modes of nature, appear factual, although they are unreal. I therefore meditate upon Him, Lord Śrī Kṛṣṇa, Who is eternally existent in the transcendental abode, which is forever free from the illusory representations of the material world. I meditate upon Him, for He is the Absolute Truth."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.1.1]

There, tejo-vāri-mṛdāṁ. Jīva is represented as vāri, tej on the other side, the svarúpa-śakti, and mṛd this world. Jīva is taṭasthā, taṭasthā jīva has been compared there with vāri.

Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura's new type of explanation comes in this line. Vāri, between teja, this higher, and earth. The middle stage is vāri and that is tat, the margin, and jīva is of that position. In this way he has explained that śloka. It is difficult to follow. A new type of explanation in that śloka.

Many scholars, even including Śaṅkara school, that Sarasvatī, that writer of Advaita Siddhī, the greatest modern book of Advaita school, Madhusudhan Sarasvatī. He also attempted to give explanation of these three introductory ślokas of Bhāgavatam.

tene brahma hṛdā ya ādi-kavaye muhyanti yat sūrayaḥ

A mystic śloka, a poem very mystic. When I was a child in my home, I heard this śloka from one of my cousins. He was a good scholar, I remember, it seemed to me a very mystic śloka at that time though I was a child, especially this portion, tejo-vāri-mṛdāṁ yathā vinimayo. Inter-change of this earth, water, and the fire, inter-change. Yathā vinimayo yatra tri-sargo 'mṛṣā. Sāttva rāja tāma, the three guṇas. These three general conceptions of things, tri-sargo 'mṛṣā, three has been taken in many ways of thought, tri-sargo, all very mystic. The whole thing coming in a śloka.

As much as Mahāprabhu says to Sanātana Goswāmī, when he says: "Oh You explained that ātmārāma śloka sixty one ways, You are Kṛṣṇa Himself, You can explain any way You like."

Then Mahaprabhu told: "Why do you praise Me, Sanātana? Don't you know that every letter of Bhāgavat is Kṛṣṇa Himself, purna, infinite. Every letter of Bhāgavat is infinite, representing infinite meaning. So why do you praise Me, Sanātana?"

So the first śloka of Bhāgavatam is containing everything. The whole infinite is there. Mahāprabhu says, "Every letter is infinite, because no sum total of finite things can make infinite. In infinite, every part of infinite is infinite." So Bhāgavatam, this first śloka, the basis of the whole Bhāgavata truth is condensed infinite. And when in my childhood I heard it, it seemed something, I heard many ślokas, but few śloka has created impression in me as of that mystic type. This is one of them, and especially this portion. Tejo-vāri-mṛdāṁ yathā vinimayo yatra tri-sargo 'mṛṣā. Others are more or less clear.

tene brahma hṛdā ya ādi-kavaye muhyanti yat sūrayaḥ

This is more or less clear. But, tejo-vāri-mṛdāṁ yathā vinimayo yatra tri-sargo 'mṛṣā, this line seemed to me very mystic. Dhāmnā svena sadā nirasta-kuhakaṁ satyaṁ paraṁ dhīmahi, did not seem so much mystic. And some ślokas in Bhāgavatam, seemed to me very encouraging, and condensed truth.

yathā nabhasi meghaugho, reṇur vā pārthivo 'nile
evaṁ draṣṭari dṛsyatvam, āropitam abuddhibhiḥ

["The unintelligent equate the sky with the clouds, the air with the dust particles floating in it, and think that the sky is cloudy or that the air is dirty. Similarly, they also implant material bodily conceptions on the spiritual self."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.3.31]

bhidyate hṛdaya-granthiś, chidyante sarva-saṁśayāḥ
kṣīyante cāsya karmāṇi, mayi dṛṣṭe 'khilātmani

["The knot in the heart is pierced, all misgivings are cut to pieces and the chain of fruitive actions is terminated when I am seen as the Supreme Personality of Godhead."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam,11.20.30]

The few ślokas like this, were very much, thought to me, that is the whole truth is within this here, representing the central thought. Just as in Rūpa Goswāmī's śloka, all giving meaning of general character. What Rūpa Goswāmī has given mostly, that is that.

[ataḥ śrī-kṛṣṇa-nāmādi na bhaved grāhyam indriyaiḥ]
sevonmukhe hi jihvādau svayam eva sphuraty adaḥ

["Because the name of Kṛṣṇa is identical with Kṛṣṇa Himself, and on the absolute spiritual platform, Kṛṣṇa's name, form, qualities, and associates, cannot be appreciated by the material

senses. However, when one engages the tongue in chanting the Holy Names of the Lord and tasting the remnants of the Lord's food, Kṛṣṇa gradually reveals Himself to the purified senses of that devotee."]

[Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, Pūrva-vibhāga, 2.234]

A very central representation, whatever you do, it may not be devotion proper. One thing must be present. What is that? Sevonmukhatā, serving attitude, then only it will have recognition of devotion, otherwise not, repetition of mundane jugglery. But sevonmukhe, the serving attitude, the spirit of dedication must be there, then it will be bhakti, devotion proper. To take the Name, to arcana, to dance, so forms are not the reality, but the reality is the underlying attitude, whether it is dedicating to Kṛṣṇa, that is the criteria. So the criteria: aher iva gatiḥ premṇaḥ, [Ujjvala-nīlamaṇi], the original thinking, that is giving explanation to many thoughts. The basic conception, generalised, basic conception is given mostly in the teachings of Rūpa Goswāmī. The depth of his conception is very high.

So Mahāprabhu told that, "He's a proper person to deal with this Kṛṣṇa līlā. So I happily, by inspiration, I give all My good will to him. And you Svarūpa Dāmodara, you also do so. Whatever profit, capital, you have got, you invest with Rūpa, and there will come in colour, to help the people who have sukṛti in the posterity, keep it with him. He'll be able to deal them very carefully and fully, Rūpa Goswāmī."

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Here I stop. Nitāi.

yat karoṣi yad aśnāsi, yaj juhoṣi dadāsi yat
yat tapasyasi kaunteya, tat kuruṣva mad arpaṇam

["O son of Kuntī, whatever you do, whatever you eat, whatever you offer in sacrifice, whatever you offer in charity, and whatever austere vows you may keep - do everything as an offering unto Me."]

[Bhagavad-gītā, 9.27]

And Śukadeva Goswāmī, tapasvino dāna-parā yaśasvino, manasvino mantra-vidaḥ sumaṅgalāḥ kṣemaṁ na vindanti vinā yad-arpaṇaṁ, [tasmai subhadra-śravase namo namaḥ]

["I offer my repeated obeisances unto the Supreme Lord, who is all-famous as the Supreme Good. Without offering their actions unto Him, neither the liberationists (jñānīs) who are dedicated to austerities, not the charitable worldly workers (karmīs), nor the world famous, nor the performers of Aśvamedha sacrifices, nor the sages or yogīs, nor persons dedicated to chanting mantras, nor persons of virtuous behaviour - none of them can attain any auspiciousness in life."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 2.4.17]

Ultimately, all the different camps, they have to contribute the result, the consequence, to Lord Kṛṣṇa. Kṣemaṁ na vindanti vinā yad-arpaṇaṁ. Without that they can't stand by themselves. Connecting the result with Kṛṣṇa, they can have some stand in their own sphere. Yat karoṣi yad aśnāsi, yaj juhoṣi dadāsi yat, yat tapasyasi kaunteya. You are making penances. What is the necessity of mine there? No. Ha ha. You must pay something to the Lord of the land.
anyatha vijnava udar siddhi sudurlabha [?] Otherwise there will be much obstacles. The peace maintained for your tapasya, or any other purpose _____ [?] So you will have to pay something to the Lord, the keeper of the administration of the whole. Kṣemaṁ na vindanti.

yat karoṣi yad aśnāsi, yaj juhoṣi dadāsi yat
yat tapasyasi kaunteya, tat kuruṣva mad arpaṇam

Here it is meant that, "Not a part of your acquisition, but the whole. Whole, whatever you do, give the result, the consequence to Me. For Itself, Reality is for Itself. I am the enjoyer of everything, and meant for Me. You are to gather such consciousness. Everything has got its respective position, but normal stage will be, that all for Me. You are to accept this, then you are all right. Gradually you will come one day to My direct service. But now, wherever you are, connect with Me. For Itself, Reality is for Itself. Everything for Me."

ahaṁ hi sarva-yajñānāṁ, bhoktā ca prabhur eva ca
[na tu mām abhijānanti, tattvenātaś cyavanti te]

["I am the Lord and I alone am the only enjoyer and rewarder of all sacrifices, of every action and all movements in this world. Everything belongs to Me, unconditionally, and you must be fully conscious of this fact. But since they cannot know Me in this way, they again undergo birth, disease, infirmity, and death."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 9.24]

To understand this is to understand much. Everything meant for Him. To realise this properly is to realise much. He's the owner. He's the enjoyer. We exist for Him only. That is devotion. Wherever we are does not matter, but my aspiration will be to satisfy Him. Stāne sthitāḥ [rejecting the intellectual approach]. Mahāprabhu comes, jñāna-śūnya-bhakti [knowledge free devotion]. Eho bāhya āge kaha āra [this is superficial, go deeper]. Understand this much, not Veda, Vedānta, so many puzzling arguments, and processes of thoughts, abstract, or nothing necessary. What is necessary, minimum, that He's the owner, He's the enjoyer. Wherever you are does not matter. Jñāna-śūnya-bhakti. You are for Himself, everything for Himself. You may be a Vedāntist, or you may be an ordinary sweeper. That does not matter much, but you know only that you are for Him.

Pratāparudra, he was in the function of a king, an emperor, at that time, but that was no qualification to Mahāprabhu. When Mahāprabhu saw him, that he's working as a sweeper to Jagannātha, His heart melted.

"Oh, he has not got the ego that he's a master of the land, but he's a sweeper to the Jagannātha."

Mahāprabhu's heart melted, and He embraced him a little after that day.

For Him, for Him, a sweeper or a priest, does not matter much, but for Him, the intensity of the feeling, that I am for Him, that qualifies us. Our qualification is to the degree of that feeling. For Him, for Him.

And that fullest form is found in Rādhārāṇī. It is not possible in other rasa, or in other attempts. It must require parakīya, the crossing the direction of the śāstra, law, anything. Our relation between Kṛṣṇa and me, nothing can enter between. Everything may be set aside in our connection with the Lord. No barrier, either of sinner type, or this puṇyam, pure type, whether pure, impure, no consideration, nothing can stand in our way. Sattyāsic, rājasic, tāmasic, whatever colour it may have, nothing can stand between our intimate relationship that He's the enjoyer, and I'm to be enjoyed. This intensity, intensity of that feeling, that sentiment, is found in the most comprehensive, and in the most intense way there. Twenty-four hours engagement, and deep engagement, that can satisfy Kṛṣṇa most. No parallel, unparalleled, it has been told to us. And that may attract us in any time, in our infinite age, that may be our aim. We may be grouped in this camp, in that camp, our highest aspiration. Rādhā-kaiṅkaryya. The last.

Prabhupāda was very much satisfied with my poem about Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura. It is written there, after the realisation of the service of Kṛṣṇa in Vṛndāvana, highest.

śrī-gaurānumataṁ [svarūpa-viditaṁ rūpāgrajenādṛtaṁ rūpādyaiḥ pariveśitaṁ raghu-gaṇair-āsvāditaṁ sevitam jīvādyair abhirakṣitaṁ śuka-śiva-brahmādi sammānitaṁ śrī-rādhā-pada-sevanāmṛtam aho tad dātum īśo bhavān]

["What was sanctioned by Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu by His descent was intimately known only to Śrī Svarūpa Dāmodara Goswāmī. It was adored by Sanātana Goswāmī and served by Rūpa Goswāmī and his followers. Raghunātha Dāsa Goswāmī tasted that wonderful thing fully and enhanced it with his own realisation. (He was assisted in doing so by Raghunātha Bhaṭṭa Gosvāmī and Gopāla Bhaṭṭa Gosvāmī). And Jīva Goswāmī supported and protected it by quoting the scriptures from different places. The taste of that divine truth is aspired for by Brahmā, Śiva, and Uddhava, who respect it as the supreme goal of life. What is this wonderful truth? Śrī-rādhā-pada-sevanā. That the highest nectar of our life is the service of Śrīmatī Rādhārāṇī. This is most wonderful. O Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura, you are our master. It is within your power to allow them to bestow their grace upon us. You are in a position to bestow the highest gift ever known to the world upon us all. It is at your disposal. O Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura, please be kind to us and grant us your mercy."] [Śrīmad-Bhaktivinoda-viraha-daśakam, 9]

Śrī-gaurānumataṁ. Sanctioned by Śrī Gaurāṅga. Svarūpa-viditaṁ. Which is thoroughly understood by Svarūpa Dāmodara, who is none but Lalitā Sakhī. Rūpāgrajenādṛtaṁ. Śrī Sanātana Goswāmī has admired very much this position. Rūpādyaiḥ pariveśitaṁ. And distributed by Śrī Rūpa himself with his paraphernalia. Raghu-gaṇair-āsvāditaṁ sevitam. And tasted properly by Raghunātha, and also enhanced something there. Jīvādyair abhirakṣitaṁ. And Śrī Jīva with followers, that Baladeva Vidyābhūṣaṇa and others, by the śāstric argument and reasoning, therein, tried their best to show to the world that this is the highest position. By reason and quotation of revealed truth, revealed scriptures, they tried their best to prove this, abhirakṣitaṁ. Śuka-śiva-brahmādi sammānitaṁ. And we find mentioned in different parts of the scripture that Brahmā, Śiva, Uddhava, they're aspiring after such position. And you Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura, you're in a position to give such blessing to us, give us admission, you can give us admission to such thought, to such stage of our life, you can give admission, you are so great, so high."

Prabhupāda was very much pleased with this. "That Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura himself has written this through him." That was his remark. "It is not written by him, it is written by Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura himself, through his pen." Very much satisfied.

Rūpānuga-bara. He has mentioned in many places that the highest amongst those followers of Śrī Rūpa, rūpānuga-bara. One of the principal Ācārya's who has properly understood and realised, and given to others, preached about the glories, glorious position of the servants of Śrī Rūpa, of the followers of Śrī Rūpa. This is Gauḍīya Maṭh, rūpānuga-sampradāya. And they're found in the line of śikṣa Guru, not this body succession, but the realisation we find from their character and their conduct. Their preaching and their practice, strictly, where we find it is there. Not body succession, but this realisation succession of the Śrī Rūpa distributed, idea of the service of Vṛndāvana, Kṛṣṇa, etc. Gaura Hari, Gaura Hari. Rūpānuga.

Kavirāja in Vṛndāvana. Lokanātha Goswāmī was a disciple of Gadādhara Paṇḍita, and Lokanātha Goswāmī's only disciple was Narottama Dāsa Ṭhākura who was always engaged in the service of both his Guru Lokanātha Goswāmī and Kṛṣṇadāsa Kavirāja. Narottama's follower, Viśvanātha Cakravartī Ṭhākura (who was the fourth Ācārya in disciplic succession from Narottama), had no desire other than the service of Narottama Dāsa Ṭhākura's lotus feet."]

It is coming through this line.

Śrī-vārṣabhānavī. From Bimala, Bimala Prasād was his previous name, he took that vow and went to Rādhārāṇī's service. He's known to the people as Dayita-dāsa. Śrī-vārṣabhānavī-barā, sadāsevya-sevā-parā, tāhāra dayita-dāsa-nāma. _____ [?]

[These are from the 9 verses describing the Brahma-Mādhva-Gauḍīya sampradāya, compiled by Śrīla Bhaktisiddhānta Saraswatī Ṭhākura.] [Gauḍīya-Kaṇṭhāra, Guru-Tattva] & [Songs of the Vaiṣṇava Ācāryas]

This is the line of the stalwarts coming distributing this purest current. Holding purest current in their existence, and we're concerned with that only, nothing else. The current that's coming from there to here, through particular channels, our all, whole attention, dedication, to that current, to be bathed, to be captured and to be transformed into the carrier of that current. To be absorbed in that current, that is our highest aim of life, the purest type.

Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Nitāi Gaura Hari.

Sarvātma-snapanaṁ. Mahāprabhu says taking the Name, sarvātma-snapanaṁ, wholesale bathing. Bath means purification and also some sort of self-gratification. Purification, side by side, feeling of purification, bath. Sarvātma-snapanaṁ. The wholesale, the whole existence is purified and can feel the satisfaction of purity, in that current if we can take bath. Sarvātma-snapanaṁ. Every nook and corner, every part of my body gets purified. And also so many, sarvātma, all the souls that can come there may be purified, sarvātma. Ātmā means ātmā as a whole, every part of the soul and also many souls may come. In saṅkīrtana many souls may come to be purified together, at one stroke everyone may be purified. Sarvātma-snapanaṁ paraṁ vijayate śrī-kṛṣṇa-saṅkīrtanam [Śikṣāṣṭakam, 1]. Purification and satisfaction, going together. Bath, taking bath means purification and satisfaction, so both. Generally by satisfaction we incur some reaction, that in the exploiting world we find. But here purification and satisfaction can go together simultaneously. This satisfaction, anāndam, that is not to be compared with satisfaction by enjoyment here.

Generally we are acquainted with satisfaction which comes from enjoyment, by exploitation. Then by renunciation also some satisfaction may come, by avoiding some disturbing elements. And again by inviting and welcoming something higher, we may be satisfied and purified. Renunciation can give purification very weak and slight because that may not stand for long time. We cannot ignore the environment for good. It is not possible. We're a factor of the whole universe. We can't ignore them. So renunciation means when it goes to samādhi, to eternal slumber like thing, and that is also temporary, that must, cannot but be temporary. Because the influence of the environment will come and push him, will wake him. We can't ignore the tremendous force of the environment. We can't ignore.

āruhya kṛcchreṇa paraṁ padaṁ tataḥ, patanty adho 'nādṛta-yuṣmad-aṅghrayaḥ

[Someone may say that aside from Vaiṣṇavas, who always seek shelter at the Lord's lotus feet, there are those who are not Vaiṣṇavas but who have accepted different processes for attaining salvation. What happens to them? In answer to this question, Lord Brahmā and the other demigods said: "O lotus-eyed Lord, although non-devotees who accept severe austerities and penances to achieve the highest position may think themselves liberated, their intelligence is impure. Although they may rise to the level of impersonal Brahman realisation, they fall down from their position of imagined superiority because they neglect to worship Your lotus feet."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.2.32]

Cannot accept the positive connection, they're sure to fall down again. Āruhya kṛcchreṇa paraṁ padaṁ tataḥ, patanty adho. After some long time maybe, duration in that point may be a little long, but the force of the environment cannot be ignored. Once that will come and attack and disturb that sleeping man. So renunciation, retirement, that cannot be eternal, for some time. And if you can enter into the positive, that is an eternal flow is there. Here is also not eternal. Māyā is limited, but Vaikuṇṭha, the unlimited, that is only possible with the nature of dedication. Vaikuṇṭha. All the stuff, all the constituting parts are eternal there, and the function is also eternal, eternal, but there is vilās.

[ato hetor ahetoś ca, yūnor māna udañcati]

[Rūpa Goswāmī says: "Just as a serpent naturally moves in a crooked way, in a zigzag way, the nature of love is naturally crooked. It is not straight. So the concerned parties quarrel, sometimes with cause and sometimes without cause, and separation comes. Separation is necessary for the transcendental pastimes of Rādhā and Kṛṣṇa."] [Ujjvala-nīlamaṇi]

Zigzag way, not a plain and straight line. Straight dealings are generally in the Vaikuṇṭha, but it is crooked and more crooked in Goloka, because it has to harmonise with everything. What we consider here to be worst, that is also harmonised there to become the best. So harmonise, it is possible only through love.

A blind son to a mother is told to be of eye like a lotus, lotus eyed child. Kanacheli padalochan. There is a proverb in Bengal. Kanacheli padalochan. The motherly affection sees a blind boy as endowed with good eye. Love compensates everything for us. We're naturally born weak, defective, but if we can anyhow drag ourselves in the plane of love, then no mourning for our defects can exist there. The circumstance compensates everything.

Just as in the European countries, any child born they get sustenance from the state. Here in India, and other poor countries, a child born may die without food. But in the rich countries, civilised countries, in Europe and America, etc, anyone born, the government is there to nourish the child. Automatically he will get nourishment from the state.

So anyone, anyhow, placed in the land of love, the environment will take care of him. No negligence. The land of love. Everyone will come to be attracted to his inferiority. "Oh you are inferior, yes I am here, I am here to nurse you, to take care of you." Every unit is madly running after their prey. Where to invest something. All opulence. And whatever the defect by their touch, the defect is automatically removed, gone, because compensation is of that type, is of eternal kind, type. So by their touch, by their care, by their help, straightly he comes to the highest end of life. It is possible with their grace, kṛpa, dayal, grace.

Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. One who has got such idea, they have got the authority and the courage to blame even the Śaṅkara and Buddhist schools that recommend about only salvation, emancipation from the diseased stage.

"You do not know how positive helping land is there, hopeful for us. You do not know. You simply only to withdraw from this negative side of painfulness, you say, 'Oh we have done.' You are ignorant of the positive help that comes automatically for everyone, so you say so."

So the Vaiṣṇava's, the māyāvādī's are the worst enemies to them. "What you preach as the goal of the soul that is not the goal. Goal is here, goal not only in Vaikuṇṭha, but it is in Goloka, in the land of Kṛṣṇa, that is the goal proper of all. Svarūpe sabāra haya, golokete sthiti. In our inner conception, existence, we're a member of that land of imaginary purification and resources, resourcefulness."

Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Mahāprabhu came to inform all these things, and Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam.

nigama-kalpa-taror galitaṁ phalaṁ, [śuka-mukhād amṛta-drava-saṁyutam
pibata bhāgavataṁ rasam ālayaṁ, muhur aho rasikā bhuvi bhāvukāḥ]

["O expert and thoughtful men, relish Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, the mature fruit of the desire tree of Vedic literatures. It emanated from the lips of Śrī Śukadeva Gosvāmī. Therefore this fruit has become even more tasteful, although its nectarean juice was already relishable for all, including liberated souls."]

The natural fruit, and that is ripe fruit of the Veda tree. Just fully prepared for us, not raw materials from which we can get our sustenance, but ready made to us. Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam. Pibata rasam. Take it, and you're not to take anything else hereafter.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Karmā-jñāna-anāvṛtam. _____ [?] non cooperation, or renunciation. Bhoga, tyāga, and bhakti, three planes of life. The plane of bhoga, bhukti - bhukti, mukti, and bhakti, three planes of life. Bhukti, that of enjoyment. Mukti, that is renunciation. And bhakti, participation in the service of the higher. Three planes of life we have, we're to choose between. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. And bhakti two kinds, calculative and spontaneous. And there is bliss, automatic, there is bliss, not troubled movement, momentum troubled. An easy movement, free movement, automatic. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari bol.

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: Mahārāja. We see that Tulasī Devī She's appeared here, for our devotional benefit. So in Vaikuṇṭha, and also Kṛṣṇaloka, Mathurā, Dvārakā, etc, what is actually - is Her service there of the same type, or does She have a different service in each place?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Different in vidhi mārga, in details also. When a smārta paṇḍit he's in the plane of enjoyment, by the help of Tulasī he may try to satisfy Nārāyaṇa, and he may aspire after his lower aims of life. It may be used like that. That is offence to Tulasī Devī. The māyāvādī also after worshipping Nārāyaṇa with Tulasī, he may pray for emancipation, for mukti. That is also known. In vidhi mārga, in Nārāyaṇaloka, She's also there.

And Rādhārāṇī says, we find in Garga-saṁhitā, "That I got the favour of Kṛṣṇa only by the grace of Tulasī Devī." She says like that. So such an elevated position of Tulasī also we find from Garga-saṁhitā. "Tulasī's favour has given Me My closeness, intimacy with Kṛṣṇa." Rādhārāṇī says to Her sakhī. Tulasī.

Tulasī has got function in Vṛndāvana also. Danistha. Perhaps another name of Tulasī is Danistha? Tulasī.
Tulasī, Vṛnda, Vṛndārāṇī, Yogamāyā. The managing head of the managing department of Vṛndāvana.

Major Domo [?] Prabhupāda said. As if one lady who is at the head of the whole management of a family. Major Domo, means domestic. From domestic affairs the domo comes, and major means the head of it. So Prabhupāda sometimes used this word about Rādhārāṇī. "Rādhārāṇī is the major domo in the family of Kṛṣṇa."

Practically, but there are so many ostentatious arrangements, but the key in Her hand. Outwardly Yogamāyā is managing everything, but suiting to the taste of Rādhārāṇī must be. Otherwise it will be a failure. So Vṛnda Devī, Yogamāyā, Tulasī, are of similar nature. Tulasī Devī.

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: So in Dvārakā and Mathurā She holds...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Everywhere.

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: Same.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Everywhere She's - regards the Śālagrāma, wherever Viṣṇu there is Tulasī.
There is a story behind. You don't know the story behind it?

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: About the curse?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, curse. _____ [?] curse.

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: I have some general...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: _____ [?] become a stone. And unless I become a stone and I won't be served without Your help, without Your touch."
Parakīya connection was there.

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: Our Guru Mahārāja wasn't very eager for the devotees to discuss that so much because possibility of making some offence.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Oh. But it's all clear when you can think that He's the owner of everything. Here ownership all formal. Ha, ha. But may be misconceived.

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: I also found that Bhaktisiddhānta Saraswatī Ṭhākura had written in one Bengali article regarding Tulasī Mahārāṇī. He was saying it was impossible to enter into the Vaikuṇṭha world without Her permission first. He was making that point very strong.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Very intimate connection with Nārāyaṇa, it is written about Catuḥsana.

tasyāravinda-nayanasya padāravinda-, kiñjalka-miśra-tulasī-makaranda-vāyuḥ
antar-gataḥ sva-vivareṇa cakāra teṣāṁ, saṅkṣobham akṣara-juṣām api citta-tanvoḥ

["When the breeze carrying the aroma of Tulasī leaves from the toes of the lotus feet of the Personality of Godhead entered the nostrils of those sages, they experienced a change both in body and in mind, even though they were attached to the impersonal Brahman understanding."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 3.15.43]

Catuḥsana, they were more addicted towards akṣara, non differentiated aspect of Nārāyaṇa. But they had some connection, used to visit Nārāyaṇa now and then. One day suddenly the scent of Tulasī mixed with some water having the touch of the holy toe of Nārāyaṇa entered forcibly into their nostrils, and began to move their heart wholesale. Tulasī was the cause there, and they were forcibly taken towards the devotional school from that akṣara stage. Tulasī.

Ha, ha, ha. Nārāyaṇa is finding Himself obliged to Tulasī. "I have disturbed Her chest mentality, so I'm an offender. So how to please Her?"

Though the background is otherwise. Everything belongs to Him, and has their fulfilment in connection with Him. But still, different types of adjustment, to produce different types of rasa, vaicitra, līlā vaicitra.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

aher iva gatiḥ premṇaḥ, svabhāva-kuṭilā bhavet
[ato hetor ahetoś ca, yūnor māna udañcati]

["Just as a serpent naturally moves in a crooked way, in a zigzag way, the nature of love is naturally crooked. It is not straight. So the concerned parties quarrel, sometimes with cause and sometimes without cause, and separation comes. Separation is necessary for the transcendental pastimes of Rādhā and Kṛṣṇa."]

[Ujjvala-nīlamaṇi]

Self imposed ruling, rules, law, self imposed law. That is in the middle, Both parties, and between the boundary of law which is imposed whimsically at sweet will. The necessity of the characteristic of play everywhere, this līlā. Līlā kaivalyam. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol.

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: But we see in the case of Śrīla Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura, previously before worshipping Caitanya Mahāprabhu he had very strong affinity towards Rāmacandra.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Who?

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Rāmacandra.

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: Yes. Before reading Caitanya-caritāmṛta...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. I had also like that. But that is, I have detected, the more attraction towards generosity. Kṛṣṇa - self consumer. Ha, ha. It's difficult to adjust with that temperament. But Rāmacandra audārya, generous, magnanimous. Mahāprabhu magnanimous. Rādhārāṇī magnanimous. Magnanimity, generosity, that is mainly seen in These characters, so some are more inclined to that. And Kṛṣṇa is a consumer, so easily to have connection with Him, it is difficult to particular type.

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: What about yourself Mahārāja? You had affinity towards Rāmacandra or These other personalities?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You see, Kṛṣṇa's star is Rohiṇī, and that is my sadaka. My star is Pushya, one and same with Rāmacandra. And Kṛṣṇa's star is sadhan, means to end. And Mahāprabhu's star Purvaphalguni, is my kshema, what's good, that may be kept stored. And Rādhārāṇī's star Jyestha is my sampada, my resources, wealth. Rādhārāṇī. I'm satisfied with that. Ha, ha, ha.

Devotees: (Group laughter)

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Mahāprabhu - I shall get also through Bhagavad-gītā, Bhāgavatam. They're all the greatness about Kṛṣṇa. So He's the Svayaṁ-Bhagavān, at the centre of all, all controller, all these things. And especially Gītā, that will draw me towards that direction. And Mahāprabhu will maintain that, He's the keeper, that nothing may be disturbed, may be lost. He's the storekeeper. And Rādhārāṇī is resources above, high. My aim is to, any day or other, is to get Her service. That is the highest aim. And Mahāprabhu is protecting.

And Kṛṣṇa is attracting, calling through Gītā especially. In Gītā we can easily understand that Kṛṣṇa is in the centre. He's above all. Sarva-dharmān parityajya [Bhagavad-gītā, 18.66] "Many, this yoga, the jñāna, the karma - I'm the centre, I'm over." That is drawing towards the centre. And Mahāprabhu comes to maintain that. And Rādhārāṇī is the highest end of life. If any day, any time I can reach there. Ke?

Devotee: _____ [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is my aim. I was, by the, my mother's first child lost. So for the second child, myself, Rāma Kavach. There is a fashion that taking the Kavach the child may not die. So with that object Rāma Kavach was taken by my mother, then I was born. And I found from the childhood the portrait of Rāmacandra, Sītā, Rāma, Hanumān. And that Rāma Kavach was daily read by my father. From my childhood I heard that Rāma Kavach. Many mantram, in the midst, Rāma Kavach also daily he's reading. So some naturally child attraction was that side. Not so much towards Kṛṣṇa, child. But when it came to Mahāprabhu, then my attraction towards Rāmacandra diminished, and it came to Mahāprabhu fully. And from there necessarily Rādhā-Kṛṣṇa. And apparently some apathy for Vṛndāvana līlā, but through Mahāprabhu, when approached, then no question of any wrong there. Though I remember that when in the month of Kārtika, Bhāgavatam was read, and sometimes we used to attend Bhāgavatam, in a very grand atmosphere in childhood. Something mystic, grand, mystic, and hopeful thing I used to find there. Hare Kṛṣṇa. In Bhāgavatam. A grand and sweet thing, unapproachable. The highest conception. Something like that. Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam. The tone of Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam is most commanding. After all the scriptures written, the last treatise coming from Vyāsadeva with that tone. To harmonise, to lord it over all the advices in the different śāstras as previously given out. In that authoritative tone Bhāgavata is going on. A most authoritative tone Bhāgavata over all the revealed scriptures. Demolishing all possible thoughts against it.

Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol.

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: So Mahārāja. In Śrīla Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura, from what you just said, you said you detected generosity in Śrīla Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura. And you were also interested in Rāmacandra as a small child that is there.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. First interest in Rāmacandra.

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: So that generosity in yourself that is being seen now.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Where? Yes it is there, but higher type of generosity is also existing, that came to me. Apparently what is seen to be in the character of Kṛṣṇa as consumer, as exploiter, it is not so. That is hard to understand, difficult to understand. That what apparently we see aggression in Kṛṣṇa's character, that is really not aggression.

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: Higher generosity.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Higher generosity. That is also a type of service, because in the higher stage no exploiting temperament may remain, may exist. That is my idea. Everything there is in the mood of service. And what is seen apparently as aggression that is not aggression proper. That is also expected by the aggressed party, drawing that sort of spirit of aggression. So it is not aggression. Hare Kṛṣṇa. It seems like that but really it's not so. Aggression means causing some disturbance to the other party but it's not present there. It's desirable from that side. So really, this is also a kind of service. Apparently aggression but really that is service, and it is not undesirable. All these things. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Nitāi Gaura Nitāi.

Vidagdha Mādhava: So Guru Mahārāja. If someone's feeling attraction for Rāma līlā, should he cultivate that or just forget and try to cultivate attraction to Caitanya līlā to Kṛṣṇa līlā?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What does he say?

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: _____ [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: _____ [?] Just as Murārī Gupta he was eternal Rāma parṣada, devotee of Rāma. But somewhat he had devotion sufficient for Mahāprabhu also.

And there was another, Anupama, the father of Jīva Goswāmī. He was also an eternal devotee of Rāmacandra. Rūpa and Sanātana both requested the third brother, Anupama, father of Jīva Goswāmī, "Oh, we're worshipping Kṛṣṇa, you also come to our fold, then we three jointly we shall go on with the worshipping with much, with great joy."

Then Anupama told, "I tried my best to leave Rāmacandra to come to Kṛṣṇa's side but I failed." And at last he told with his brothers, in appealing tone, "I have sold my head to the feet of Rāmacandra. I can't snatch it away from there. So you don't request me any longer."

It is just as Hanumān. Hanumān won't accept any other model of his worship but Rāmacandra. Even when he went in Kṛṣṇa līlā Dvārakā. Kṛṣṇa knew his heart, and He at once took the figure of Rāmacandra. Hanumān he's satisfied only with Rāmacandra, His figure, His līlā.

So He asked Rukmiṇī Devī, first Satyabhāmā then Rukmiṇī, "Take the position of Sītā, and I'm to take Rāmacandra's figure. Hanumān is approaching, he'll be highly satisfied, he does not like any other." And He had to.

In Rāma līlā also when Rāma and Lakṣmaṇa were caught by the tie of nagapasa, the snake. The snake tie was applied by - Rāma and Lakṣmaṇa. Then Parvan [?] came and reminded Them, "You remember about Garuḍa, Your eternal servant, You remember him. And as soon as he'll come the snakes will be off out of their own accord." And Rāmacandra did so, and Garuḍa came, and all the snakes disappeared.

Then Garuḍa came and wanted to do some service. Rāmacandra and Lakṣmaṇa were very much satisfied with his help. And Garuḍa wanted to see Kṛṣṇa. But there is Hanumān. Hanumān will be mortified.

So Garuḍa told, "No. I shall build a hut with the help of my big wings, and within that wings room You will show me that Kṛṣṇa Mūrti."

And that was done. Rāmacandra took the appearance of Kṛṣṇa Mūrti there.

Hanumān could detect from a distance. "Oh. In this līlā you have come as a trespasser. You have converted my Rāmacandra into Kṛṣṇa. All right, I shall also take the revenge in Dvāpara-yuga."

So in Dvāpara-yuga when Garuḍa was sent to get some blue lotus, and that was only to be found in Hanumān's tank. And there is a story - variegated nature. And then Garuḍa was caught by Hanumān within his armpit, and he himself took those blue lotus and came to Dvārakā. Garuḍa was there. And there was one Sudarśana. Sudarśana was rolling on the gate as a gatekeeper.

And when Hanumān wanted to enter - Sudarśana "Oh, let me first get the permission, then I shall allow you to enter."

"But who are you?" Hanumān put his finger within the cakra and suddenly made it very fat, and like a ring the cakra was tightly set there in Hanumān's finger. Garuḍa in the armpit and Sudarśana on the finger Hanumān entered. "Jaya Rāma. Jaya Rāma."

Then there was another. Satyabhāmā, she thought that she's the queen of the highest type honour.

Kṛṣṇa asked her, "You, Satyabhāmā, take the appearance of Sītā. Hanumān won't tolerate any other Mūrti. I'm taking the form of Rāmacandra."

But Satyabhāmā could not do so. So Satyabhāmā had to enter below the throne, to conceal her.

And Rukmiṇī came forward and she was asked, and she took the form of Sītā.

So Satyabhāmā, Sudarśana, and Garuḍa - three persons they were subdued, they had some pride perhaps. Hanumān came and with those blue lotus he worshipped the feet of Rāma and Sītā. "Jaya Rāma. Jaya Rāma."

Then Kṛṣṇa asked him, "What is in your armpit?"

"Oh, that Garuḍa he went to disturb me, here and there, this and that, so many things."

"Oh. Leave him be."

"Then what is the ring?"

"That fellow was going round at the gate and did not allow me to enter. So I have taken him in this finger."

"Oh, yes. Leave them, make them free."

Then Hanumān told, "What is below the throne? What is it? There's some sound there?"

Then what to do? Satyabhāmā had to come out. _____ [?] That's the līlā.

Līlā, which cannot be measured by our reason. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol.

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: There was also one pretender Rāma bhakta. Wasn't there a story there was one pretender, he was a Rāma bhakta, he was taken to Śrīla Bhaktisiddhānta Saraswatī Ṭhākura. He had one leg, that gentleman.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Oh, yes. _____ [?] in Andra, near Ello [?] There is the Rāmānanda Maṭha on the bank of Godāvarī. The district head quarter is Ello. There we found one gentleman who told that generally he's a devotee of Rāmacandra.

So much so that, "I can't see Rāmacandra. I can't bear His separation." After such statement he went to the rail line and to give up his life. Only one leg was cut off, but his life was saved. Then also he came out and he used to take the Name of Rāmacandra, and wander.

Then, he had a good name, in that locality, that "He's a great devotee of Rāmacandra. For separation he could not bear the separation of Rāmacandra, he went to give up his life." In this way.

When Prabhupāda, and we also with him, some local gentlemen came and asked, "There's a great devotee of Rāmacandra."

Prabhupāda called him near, he came. Along with us also when we're taking Hare Kṛṣṇa Hare Rāma, he was also jumping, in this way. But when taken nearby Prabhupāda asked, "You love Rāmacandra, make the God as Rāmacandra?"

"Yes."

"But under whose direction you like to serve Him?"

"No. I want direct service."

Then Prabhupāda let him off.

And when the people asked, "What type of devotee he is?"

He told, "Not a very good type of devotee. Not real dedicating, but imaginary, imagination. And the criterion is this."

So Mīrābāī also, though she has composed many songs, and she used to sing these songs about Kṛṣṇa in a very fervent way, but Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura's line can't accept her as a very devotee of high order. Because she admits only towards Kṛṣṇa. So an ordinary man cannot have a real connection with Kṛṣṇa direct. If he really has crossed the line of māyā and entered into the domain of Vaikuṇṭha or Goloka, Ayodhyā, anywhere, in fact, then he must find His servitors.

If one says that, 'I'm well known to the king' but he does not have any connection with either the military or the management administration of any side, no service, no subordinate, but only connection with the head, with the king, that is generally taken as imagination. If really one can enter into that domain he will find the hierarchy, and his immediate head, a department, all these things. Only without caring anything, any paraphernalia, he will have direct...

...however he may show his very emotional feelings and expressions towards the Lord. But no connection with the devotees in the eternal paraphernalia, then it is all imagination, not fact, not reality. That is a big thing to understand. The raja means with his paraphernalia. Bhagavān means with His parṣada, of different type. And ignoring them to establish a relation with Him that is a very vague thing, not devotion proper, but it may be vague. One day with that attraction may take him, when they're really, then he will find, 'Oh." There are so many between him and the Lord. _____ [?]

By the grace of the Lord we can have the grace of the devotee. From different we can see, from distance we can see a vague thing. But approaching nearby we shall see there are many things near about. The mountain is seen from a distance like a cloud, but nearer approach we're seeing so many trees, creepers, etc. And again when very closer approach we shall see so many birds, human beings _____ [?]

So approach is very vague and of abstract type, when the paraphernalia eliminated and only connection. And Mīrābāī, she's crying aloud in separation of Kṛṣṇa...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...a type of prema, and in such way the advancement will go on.
Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol.

Devotee: About our duty, who or what, determines what is our duty? Kṛṣṇa said, "Do your duty, but don't be attached to the result." We have to do our duty, but we can't be attached to the result.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Duty will be ascertained by the guidance of the sādhu, Guru. That is duty.

karmaṇy evādhikāras te, [mā phaleṣu kadācana
mā karma-phala-hetur bhūr, mā te saṅgo 'stv akarmaṇi]

["I shall now describe niṣkāma karma-yoga, the path of selfless action. You have a right to perform your natural prescribed duties, but you are not entitled to any fruits of that action. You should neither act with desire to enjoy the fruits of your work, nor, as a result, should you be attached to neglecting your duties."]
[Bhagavad-gītā, 2.47]

From the lowest order, from varṇāśrama, then with the help of the higher guide we'll be taken up.

"Eho bāhya āge kaha āra. Eho bāhya āge kaha āra." [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 8.59]
"This is also superficial. Go deeper. This is also superficial. Go deeper."

In this way the progress will be traced. Eliminate the cover and enter into deeper. In this way, by elimination and acceptance of the new, the duty will differ. According to the plane of your existence the duty will differ. But generally, the raw duty can be accepted in varṇāśrama, who accepts the guidance according to the revealed scripture, not any advice of this mundane world of experience, but revealed scripture. There is also gradation. And one must have to accept the guidance of the revealed scripture, but there is also gradation.

Devotee: _____ [?]

Vidagdha Mādhava: So Lord Nityānanda Prabhu recommended simply chant Gaurāṅga Gaurāṅga Gaurāṅga Gaurāṅga Gaurāṅga Gaurāṅga, with the proper internal understanding.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: If we have faith in that we'll be more gainer, than taking Kṛṣṇa Nāma, because there is the concession for offences.

'kṛṣṇa-nāma' kare aparādhera vicāra [kṛṣṇa balile aparādhīra nā haya vikāra]

["There are offences to be considered while chanting the Hare Kṛṣṇa mantra. Therefore simply by chanting Hare Kṛṣṇa one does not become ecstatic."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Ādi-līlā, 8.24]

And less offence in Gaura Nāma. But faith in Gaurāṅga that is rare. To have faith in Gaurāṅga that is costly. But if anyhow you can gather that then you'll be more benefited than your direct negotiation with Kṛṣṇa. The offence is more possible that side, and less offence here, more forgiveness. But Kṛṣṇa Nāma has got some universal characteristic accepted by a major portion. And Gaura Nāma is not accepted in such a wider circle, so it's difficult to put faith there. But if one can keep, have his faith, then he'll be gainer, because less consideration of aparādha, offence. He has particularly come for the fallen souls, so grace is more there. But to put faith in Him that will be little difficult. Until we can understand Him ontologically we cannot go by the help of our experience, not accepted by greater circle, as Kṛṣṇa is accepted. So many higher scriptures also in favour of Kṛṣṇa Avatāra. Then the wide circle they accept Kṛṣṇa as Lord, but narrower circle accept Gaurāṅga as God, and not so many scriptures supporting Him. So it's difficult to have faith in Him. But if anyhow one can come nearer he'll be more gainer. _____ [?]

Devotee: _____ [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So your Kṛṣṇa Balarāma seems to be cunning, clever. He told that he'll come today but he didn't.

Badrinārāyaṇa: Maybe he got some opposition.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Opposition will come more from that side to purge him out. His nearer enemy is Haṁsadūta. I'm a little distant. Ha, ha, ha, ha.

...

...he falls down?

Vidagdha Mādhava: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Disconnected. Then?

Vidagdha Mādhava: Disconnected. Is that worse, than if someone becomes sahajiyā?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: A poor man is better, or a dacoit is better? A man had money, he's lost the money. And another man he's imitating that he's got money by committing wrong things.

So one who's disconnected, he may be reconnected, soon. Then one after disconnection - sahajiyā means either he had real connection with the truth, disconnected, then has chosen a wrong path. Or already he's engaged wrong path. Who'll be in better position? Not to get a real thing, and to get some wrong thing, which will be better? Who's in possession of a wrong thing? In Bhagavad-gītā it's mentioned, in tāma guṇa, the lowest position, one thinks A to be B. And rāja guṇa, that is doubt, whether this is real or that is real, can't ascertain what is true. And one who thinks that, 'No, A is B, and B is A,' that is worst kind of error. Misguided, sahajiyā means misguided. They're accepting matter as consciousness.

ei du'yera madhye viṣayī tabu bhāla, māyāvādī saṅga nāhi māgi kona kāla

["The company of ordinary persons, misguided souls in the ordinary street, is somewhat better than the company and influence of the so-called scholars."] [The Songs Of Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura, p 31]

I've got no money. And another says - he really has no money, but some false papers - he says 'this is money.' In this way, he's in more distress, he's engaged in falsehood. And this man he's not engaged, no engagement. The engagement what he had that is gone. But this man he's taken one thing for another thing, matter for divine. That is worse. To become sahajiyā is worse. Mal possessor, engrossed, attention captured by a wrong conception. Sahajiyā had some conception but for some time he's disconnected, again he may get connection, easily. And for this man who's prepossessed, to convince him of the truth is more difficult, because his mind is possessed by something, that prejudice.

I heard in my childhood in school, the teacher said that in America there's a school of music. And if anyone's got some knowledge of music he'll be given double charge. And a man who's got no knowledge of music he's to pay single charge. Do you understand?

Vidagdha Mādhava: Yes Guru Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The single charge. Because he does not know anything so he may be taught in an easy way. And one who has got some knowledge of music, double charge because those he has gathered in the line of music, that should be done away with, and then he'll be taken in a proper way. So double charge, to make him forget his previous prejudices for music, so double charge.

This is something like that. No bhakti, no devotion, and in the name of devotion some non devotional thing has captured, imitation. That is worse. That is committing offences. Prabhupāda _____ [?] to ridicule the devotees, Mahāprabhu, Rūpa, Sanātana, to ridicule them. What is prema and what is kāma, both opposite end. To accept kāma in the name of prema that is not only heinous and injurious for him but it is to destroy the public atmosphere.

Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura said, Dekho bhāi, kāme-preme, bheda nāi.

[kāme-preme dekho bhāi, lakṣanete bheda nāi, tabhu kāma 'prema' nāhi hoy
tumi to' barile kāma, mithya tahe prema nāma, aropile kise subha hoy?]

["My dear brother, just compare the characteristics of your bogus lust with the characteristics of true love for Kṛṣṇa, there is practically no difference at all in the external symptoms of both. Nevertheless, this artificial lust is definitely not true love at all. You are completely covered with lust, but you lie and falsely call it prema. Therefore how will you be blessed with real spiritual well being?"]

[Kalyāṇa Kalpataru, Upadeśa, 18]

Similar. Tabhu kāma 'prema' nāhi haya. Still, the lust is not love. Tumi to' barile kāma. You have accepted lust in place of love. Mithya tahe prema nāma. And if you give the stamp that this is prema.

Bafal haya lahayla balana [?] Rakta vanca maya kama [?] This is concerned with flesh and blood.

Prema cid ananda dhama [?] And love is on the highest position of the spiritual existence.

Rakta vanca maya kama prema cid ananda dhama [?]

So opposite, this Sumeru, one south pole and north pole, the opposite. One concerned with this body, and another Supersoul. There is a great gulf between - the ocean of dedication. At the top of the dedication there is that sort of gopī prema, where is Kṛṣṇa she's there. And this is an imitation to that, treachery in the name of.

[koṭi-jñāni-madhye haya eka-jana 'mukta'] koti-mukta-madhye 'durlabha' eka kṛṣṇa-bhakta

These things to be considered. They're all, it's possible, in the highest position of the spiritual existence, that conscious area, spiritual. And not any concern with flesh and blood, body, not concerned with body. That's another, that one will, this is the most heinous - one will play the part of Kṛṣṇa, another lady will play the part of gopī, and they will unite, and in that fashion they will - this is inconceivable. An ordinary pure type of man, a moral man, will hate this. What to speak of the higher devotees. Ordinary moral man will hate these sort of things.

Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol.

The steps are shown to us. Ādau śraddhā tataḥ bhajana-kriyā nartha-nivṛttiḥ.

[ādau śraddhā tataḥ sādhu-saṅgo' tha bhajana-kriyā tato' nartha-nivṛttiḥ syāt tato niṣṭhā rucis tataḥ athāsaktis tato bhāvas tataḥ premābhyudañcati sādhakānām ayaṁ premṇaḥ prādurbhāve bhavet kramaḥ]

["In the beginning there must be faith. Then one becomes interested in associating with pure devotees. Thereafter one is initiated by the spiritual master and executes the regulative principles under his orders. Thus one is freed from all unwanted habits and becomes firmly fixed in devotional service. Thereafter, one develops taste and then attachment. This is the way of sādhana-bhakti, the execution of devotional service according to the regulative principles. Gradually spiritual emotions manifest and intensify, then finally there is an awakening of divine love. This is the gradual development of love of Godhead for the devotee interested in Kṛṣṇa consciousness."] [Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, 1.4.15-16]

What is anartha, niṣṭhā, ruci, āsakti, bhāva, prema, these are the steps, and from another standpoint:

vaikuṇṭhera pṛthivy ādi sakala cinmaya [māyika bhūtera tathi janma nāhi haya]

["The earth, water, fire, air and ether of Vaikuṇṭha are all spiritual. Material elements are not found there."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Ādi-līlā, 5.53]

I repeatedly tell this. I'm the offspring of taṭasthā śakti, marginal potency, where I'm born. And I'm to go through svarūpa śakti, higher than me. There the soil is of higher stuff than I myself am made of. All superior, that earth, air, water, tree, bird, everything to be found there, they're all superior to me. So I'm to enter there. It is not a small thing, easy thing, a childish thing.

Not in the hand of the person who will go there, enter there. All dependent on the grace of the superior. Vaiṣṇava kṛpa, Guru kṛpa, Vaiṣṇava kṛpa. We're to walk there on our head, not by leg. All Guru, the soil is Guru, the paraphernalia is Guru, means superior. I'm made of a lower stuff, and that is all higher stuff, and if it is impossible.

So after mukti, liberation, that may be easy, but then to be, that may be drawn by Their Grace. And not as a matter of right anyone can enter the realm. Only through wholesale, cent percent grace, of the child of that soil, that can take me there. _____ [?] who stands for the credit in the court. In the court who stands guarantee, some agent of the soil must take guarantee for me. For his risk I can go. He'll take the risk of taking me there. So Vaiṣṇava, Guru, they'll take the risk. At their risk they can take me there. The child of the soil. So Vaiṣṇava kṛpa, Guru kṛpa, Bhāgavata kṛpa, without their grace, no right, all grace, that can take me there.

To our side, no right. I'm a child of the marginal potency. And that is, the whole stuff, everything is made of higher stuff than my own position, a person, and they're superior person. How a person can go on the head of the person? Only for their interest. So inconceivable and impossible. To accept this principle that is most difficult, what to go and enter there.

bahūnāṁ janmanām ante, jñānavān māṁ prapadyate
vāsudevaḥ sarvam iti, sa mahātmā sudurlabhaḥ

["After many, many births, the knowledgeable person (who happens to attain the association of such a pure devotee) finally comes to understand that the whole universe of moving and stationary being is of the nature of Vāsudeva alone, inasmuch as all are subordinate to Vāsudeva. Having grasped this conception, he surrenders unto Me. Know such a great soul to be extremely rare."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 7.19]

To have this conception, that is also very rarely found.

muktānām api siddhānāṁ nārāyaṇa-parāyaṇa sudurlabhaḥ praśāntātmā koṭiṣv api mahā-mune

["O great sage, among many millions who are liberated and perfect in knowledge of liberation, one may be a devotee of Lord Nārāyaṇa, or Kṛṣṇa. Such devotees, who are fully peaceful, are extremely rare."]
[Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 6.14.5] & [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 19.150]

It is good to think, but it's hard to attain, to get. No right can be established there, not as a matter of right we can go. So the 'right seeker' they'll be totally frustrated. All risk no gain. But if anyhow we can attain, we can reach there, all gain no risk, as I told. So to become a Vaiṣṇava proper that is almost impossible. Only as a matter of grace from that land they can go, nothing to do from our side. So complete surrender, full complete identification with their interest. Self forgetfulness complete, and the identification with the interest of that layer, that plane, that also should be substantial. Then we can hope to be taken to that soil.

["The earth, water, fire, air and ether of Vaikuṇṭha are all spiritual. Material elements are not found there."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Ādi-līlā, 5.53]

A type of Uddhava's devotee, he says, he prays that, "If I can be a creeper here I shall consider my fortune to the highest extent." Vṛndāvana, the creeper is such a valuable thing, that Uddhava's aspiring after.

Whom the Lord says that, "You are the most favourite devotee of Mine. Even I love you more than My own self."

And that Uddhava is aspiring after that birth, that, "I can be..." This is not hyperbolic. If there's any reality in this, then how we're to prepare? That when Uddhava he's aspiring to be a shrub, or a grass, and I shall have to walk over that place? I shall have to walk over the head of Uddhava. So how higher conception that thing may have.

Ridiculous, sahajiyā, the sahajiyā by imitation here in the flesh and blood they will achieve that. They're the worst enemy, because by imitating, not only their own self is going to the hell, but attracting so many towards that. Not conscious of the fact, what is what. So they've got their position in the society like that, hate. The general society has got hate for them, those bābājīs.

If we're to put faith in our Guru Mahārāja, after wandering through the whole of Vraja Maṇḍala, he came and striking his forehead he told, "My misfortune, I could not find a single Vaiṣṇava in this Vraja Maṇḍala." That was his utterance. "It is my misfortune." He pressed his hand on his forehead. "It is my misfortune I could not find a single Vaiṣṇava in this great holy place of Vraja Maṇḍala." That was his statement.

And also, after he performed Vraja Maṇḍala parikramā - who had got recognition as the best of the sahajiyā Vaiṣṇava, the head, he told that, "He's kaniṣṭha adhikārī, he may be considered as a beginner, admission in the infant class." Who was considered unanimously as a siddha bābājī, 'he has attained the highest position amongst the bābājīs.' But Bhaktisiddhānta Saraswatī Ṭhākura told that, "He's got admission into the primary class." In patrikā, in writing he told that, in Gauḍīya-patrikā.

And we're trained accordingly, and consciously, not blind faith. He explained to us what is what. And we tried to follow his direction, and we have also come to such conclusion. By step by step we're to climb to the highest plane.

["There are those in the world who regulate their tendency for exploitation in accordance with the scriptural rules and thereby seek gradual elevation to the spiritual domain. However, superior to them are those wise men who, having given up the tendency to lord over others, attempt to dive deep into the realm of consciousness. But far superior to them are the pure devotees who are free from any mundane ambitions and are liberated from knowledge, not by knowledge, having achieved divine love. They have gained entrance into the land of dedication and are engaged there spontaneously in the Lord's loving service. Among all devotees, however, the gopīs are the highest, for they have forsaken everyone, including their families, and everything, including the strictures of the Vedas, and have taken complete shelter at the lotus feet of Kṛṣṇa, accepting Him as their only protection. But among all the gopīs, Śrīmatī Rādhārāṇī reigns supreme. For Kṛṣṇa left the company of millions of gopīs during the rasa dance to search for Her alone. She is so dear to Śrī Kṛṣṇa that the pond in which She bathes is His very favourite place. Who but a madman would not aspire to render service, under the shelter of superior devotees, in that most exalted of all holy places."]

Karmibhyaḥ parito hareḥ priyatayā vyaktiṁ yayur jñāninas, tebhyo jñāna-vimukta-bhakti-paramāḥ - Nārada. Premaika-niṣṭhās tataḥ - Uddhava. Tebhyas tāḥ paśu-pāla-paṅkaja-dṛśas tābhyo 'pi sā rādhikā. These are our guiding mantrams. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

These are all mental concoctions, imitation, that is worse, that is hateful, filthy. In the name of that higher love, if we represent this fleshy connection with the body, and the mind which cultivates that thing, that is the most hateful thing, to avoid. We shall try to avoid with the utmost will and energy.

Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari.

The scientific survey of the land is possible to our soul's eye. That Kavirāja Goswāmī. Vaikuṇṭhera pṛthivy ādi sakala cinmaya. And we must _____ [?] that. That is true. After Brahmāloka, Virajā, Brahmāloka, what is Virajā? What is Brahmāloka? We're in such a material position we cannot understand this lower process also.

indriyāṇi parāṇy āhur, indriyebhyaḥ paraṁ manaḥ
manasas tu parā buddhir, buddher yaḥ paratas tu saḥ

We can't follow what our soul is, we can't follow that. This world, we conceive it, perceive it through our senses, that is higher. The mind receives through the senses worldly experience. Over mind there is faculty of judgement within us. Over that there is soul proper. And then the Supersoul, then Brahmāloka, then, Virajā, Vaikuṇṭha, so many things in the layer. We cannot find out our own soul, what it is. What is the characteristic of our own soul? We're far away from that conception, in hopeless position, and we say that the highest conception of the Paramātmā world that is in our fist. Foolish thing.

...feel our own soul, how is my own real identification, real spiritual position. Then that soul will have to go higher and higher, crossing the valuable, more, more, valuable planes, it's to go up. It's a farce?

The sahajiyā, the imitationist, they should be considered as the enemy. The enemy means that Quisling of Norway. Jana-śatru. Vibhisana. The enemy who sprang up from home. Imitation is bad. Imitation of the ordinary thing is rather better than imitation of the highest thing. That should be condemned with extreme hatred, that shows the highest thing is being exploited in such a lower, mean manner. Sahajiyā.

We can't see our own soul, that is our position, engrossed in this gross matter of exploitation. Not even can we know what is our mind, what stuff it's made of. Then what is justice, judgement faculty within us, buddhi, independent of this world. Then the soul. Then Supersoul area. Living in this mundane world and getting dream that I've got the god of my dream.

...the mood, the nature of Rādhārāṇī. And Gadādhara dāsa is the lustre, the halo.

Mahāprabhu has taken away, at least as if, the soul, and the body standing. That is the position of Gadādhara Paṇḍita, quite empty, following Mahāprabhu. His heart has been taken away by Mahāprabhu. In such a way he's following Mahāprabhu that he's not full in himself. Something, the most important thing, his heart has been taken by Him. So automatically he had no other alternative but to follow Mahāprabhu. Wholly given. Rādhā-bhāva-dyuti-suvalitaṁ naumi kṛṣṇa svarūpam.

[rādhā kṛṣṇa-praṇaya-vikṛtir hlādinī śaktir asmād ekātmānāv api bhuvi purā deha-bhedaṁ gatau tau caitanyākhyaṁ prakaṭam adhunā tad-dvayaṁ caikyam āptaṁ
rādhā-bhāva-dyuti-suvalitaṁ naumi kṛṣṇa svarūpam]

["I worship Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu, who is Kṛṣṇa Himself, enriched with the emotions and radiance of Śrīmatī Rādhārāṇī. As the Predominating and Predominated Moieties, Rādhā and Kṛṣṇa are eternally one, with separate individual identities. Now They have again united as Śrī Kṛṣṇa Caitanya. This inconceivable transformation of the Lord's internal pleasure-giving potency has arisen from the loving affairs of Rādhā and Kṛṣṇa."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Ādi-līlā, 1.5]

Rādhārāṇī when Her heart stolen by Kṛṣṇa, the carcass is standing, something like Gadādhara Paṇḍita's position to play. Fully engrossed with the conception of Gaurāṅga, Who has taken everything from him, inner existence. So he had no other alternative but fully engrossed, captured thoroughly by Gaurāṅga. Gadādhara. In this way his movement his whole life we find.

Others, some were ordered, some allowed to go to Vṛndāvana. Gadādhara Paṇḍita wanted to visit Vṛndāvana along with Mahāprabhu Himself, Gaurāṅga Himself, Śrī Caitanya Himself. But he was denied.

"No. You won't go."

Jagadānanda Paṇḍita when he asked permission, with hesitation he was given some permission.

"But go, and there you move under the guidance of Sanātana." And also with some special instructions.

"Do this, do this. And don't do this and this."

But Gadādhara Paṇḍita was not allowed to go there in Vṛndāvana. He was the Queen of Vṛndāvana, and now transferred in Navadwīpa his position is just opposite. He could not enter Vṛndāvana. He prayed, but Mahāprabhu did not give any permission. "No. You live here." And he had to do so. Such peculiar position. That Rādhārāṇī lives in Vṛndāvana without his heart. Is it possible? She's the gist of the whole of Vṛndāvana. Everything comes from Her. Then how She can go there without his own self existence? It is impossible. So he did not get any permission. The fine peculiarity there. He's solely dedicated for Navadwīpa līlā, Gadādhara.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...one more given to Kṛṣṇa līlā, another more tended towards Navadwīpa līlā, another having tendency to be accommodated in both the places. In Kṛṣṇa līlā also some attracted towards Rādhārāṇī's camp, some to Kṛṣṇa's camp, and some holding middle position. So this sort of division we find which is necessary for līlā by Yogamāyā. So in the highest plane, two kinds of pastimes we find, Kṛṣṇa līlā and Gaura līlā, of same value. One, transaction within a limited camp, and another where the transaction, how that can be distributed to others. Valuation of which is to be distributed, which is being treated, that is of one and same value. Ecstasy, sweetness, or love, or beauty, of similar, but two camps. Some within themselves, and some with a plan to give it to others, same thing. Some are more given to this līlā, some more given to that līlā. In Gaura līlā also we find some Narahari Sarakāra and his followers, they were more given to Kṛṣṇa līlā than Gaura līlā. And in Gaura līlā we also find others who were more inclined towards Gaura līlā than Kṛṣṇa līlā. This is by Lord's grant, by the Supreme Will, līlā.

Gadādhara Paṇḍita is holding the helm here in Gaura līlā. It's his, though everything belongs to him, still, as if, he's dispossessed. Gaurāṅga has taken everything. Exhaustively dedicated to Gaurāṅga, in this way.

So Kavirāja Goswāmī says,

[baḍa śākhā, — gadādhara paṇḍita-gosāñi] teṅho lakṣmī-rūpā, tāṅra sama keha nāi

He represents the main potency of Gaurāṅga and no one to be compared with him. This is the utterance, statement of Kavirāja Goswāmī we find about Gadādhara. Gaura prema mayam Paṇḍita Gadādhara.

And Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura he has got his own position, in general, but from the consideration of the disciples, Prabhupāda has seen Rādhārāṇī in him. A relative vision. Prabhupāda told once, "That Rādhārāṇī represents full play of aṣṭa-nayikā, eight classes of nayikā, heroine characteristic. That is perfectly represented in Rādhārāṇī, we see. In other places we find partial representation, but full in Rādhārāṇī, eight nayikā." Our Guru Mahārāja told that, "I look at my Gurudeva, Guṇa Mañjarī. As mañjarī he's got some partial representation. But if I look with a deeper attempt I find him identified with Rādhārāṇī, aṣṭa-nayikā, full eight classes of display in the service of Kṛṣṇa to be found there." _____ [?] "If I look at him with my head a little more erect then I can find that he's one with Rādhārāṇī."

ācāryaṁ māṁ vijānīyān, [nāvamanyeta karhicit
na martya-buddhyāsūyeta, sarva-deva-mayo guruḥ]

["One should know the Ācārya as Myself and never disrespect him in any way. One should not envy him, thinking him an ordinary man, for he is the representative of all the demigods."]

[Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.17.27] & [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Ādi-līlā, 1.46]

"Give more attention to the śāstric rule and try to find out, then Rādhārāṇī comes to take the place there, in the position of my Gurudeva."

So in that way he has seen in general Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura as the fullest representation of the cult of Śrī Gaurāṅga. That is expressed in his poem. Śrī Svarūpa Dāmodara - he saw Svarūpa Dāmodara in Gaurakiśora. And Gadādhara in Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura.

Gadādhara din hari pai hati gaura hari [?] He has written in one place. "We have accepted your day of disappearance identifying with Gadādhara."

Another place in Caitanya-caritāmṛta, finishing poem he has written. "Here in Navadwīpa Dhāma the eternal pastimes are going on continuously. Only those that have got that deep vision, they can mark it, trace it."

Avatara gaura krsna yadi sri gaur ichay dui moihe magi kahe [?] It is very difficult to trace the sweet will of Śrī Gaurāṅga. So if we can lift ourselves to that level we can find that always they're doing their service here in Navadwīpa. Sometimes suppressed, sometimes over the surface.

Sri gaur ichay dui moihe magi kahe aprakrta parisada katha [?] By the sweet will of Gaurāṅga without any law. What should I say? I find that those two, Svarūpa Dāmodara and Gadādhara, they're now over the surface as Gaurakiśora and Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura.

Sri gaur ichay dui moihe magi kahe aprakrta parisada katha [?]
Sakat hoiliya bhaja krsna gaura bheli aprakasa katha yata yatha [?]
"I have seen it with my own eyes, of service divine. But this is not to be advertised, not to be given publicity to anywhere and everywhere. They will laugh at it. But my heartfelt experience is such."

He has written in his poem, finishing in Caitanya-caritāmṛta _____ [?]
So Gadādhara Paṇḍita was identified with Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura, and that was the vision of our Gurudeva Śrī Bhaktisiddhānta Saraswatī. Could see same thing.

He considered śikṣā guru paramparā to be the most substantial thing. Eliminating the sahajiyā bābājī, they're making much of the outer cover. Have deeper vision within and try to see things deeper outside also. Try to read in the environment deeper vibrations, and within you also. Dive deep and you'll find a plane of finest vibration which will take you, that news will carry to you and you'll see that.

sarvatah krsne murti kari janmal se deketi pai jal arkini armarl andhibata yat kuyar visaya dhuli te [?]

The prejudice, our past experience, that is caught in subtle form that has covered like dust, our eye of soul. Our inner vision is covered thickly with the dust. What is the dust? So many different conceptions of separate interest, eliminating the universal interest, has covered us. Prejudice, that mental cover has been made of the prejudices, of local, provincial interests. So we cannot see the reality outside.

visaya dhuli te kamana sei para tattva bayhile dekhi te [?] How he'll be able to read the universal wave? He's engrossed, his mind is fully engrossed and covered with local interest of different types. How he can detect the universal interest, universal wave? But who has fully eliminated their local interest of any type, and eager to read only the universal wave, they can see it clearly. And these things are superficial and non existing.

Artheṣu abhijñaḥ svarāṭ [Bhāgavatam, 1.1.1] What is the purpose of the movement of this world?

Only one word. For Itself. Reality is for Itself. Not to satisfy so many, but to satisfy One Reality. All the waves meant to satisfy that One. And if we can put ourselves in that level we can read the truth. Otherwise we're all cheaters. We're far from the truth when we cannot read that everything, all the waves carrying to the satisfaction of One, Svayaṁ-Bhagavān. We're labouring under _____ [?] We're deceptive unit, not for myself but for the world also, misreading. We're faulty of misreading and carrying that false knowledge to others. False unit, everyone, baddha jīva, everyone more or less all false unit, cheater. That is our position. We're to be relieved of such misreading, misrepresentation, of our own self as well as the environment, and to be placed in a proper place, and then we can go there to that fine jurisdiction.

Darśana, darśana means to see. How to see, that is to be learned, what to see, how to read what is going on in you and outside. Proper reading, that is education proper. Proper reading of ones own self and also of the environment, that is education proper. The education must be Vedic, the standard must be drawn from outside this area of māyā, misunderstanding. It must be extended from the perfect realm, through Veda, revealed truth. And we're to accept revealed truth and to bid goodbye to the knowledge of experience, scientific, all these things nasty, which is earned by the false experience, false Veda. 'That belongs to me, belongs to him, belongs to them' in this way it's all false calculation. We're to be relieved wholesale is necessary from this mal - conception. And not only to get relief from the mal - conceptions, by misleading of the external waves, but the positive line, to learn to read the waves, the vibrations of Goloka. Goloka, most universal, fundamental vibrating plane, and to harmonise my own self with that we may be led to Vṛndāvana, or Navadwīpa. There we _____ [?] Hare Kṛṣṇa.

So Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura came for this. "Gadādhara Paṇḍita you are the Half Predominated Moiety of The Whole." Predominating Moiety, Predominated Moiety, half. One half of the truth, Absolute Truth one half. And Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura as he preached, inspired by Gadādhara Paṇḍita and Mahāprabhu, that in his teachings also we find all the materials that are present in that half of _____ [?]

So connection of both these great souls, of great Gurus, guides, has combined, connected with this tithi, a particular nick of time. And by showing our reverence to it we can sow the seed of our highest beneficial cause. And by the grace of that great Guru Mahārāja Bhaktisiddhānta Saraswatī, we're given to understand in this way, not to belittle things of the highest consideration, it is there.

In Rāya Rāmānanda saṁvāda we find how step by step, eliminating the cover after cover, Mahāprabhu is allowing us to enter the highest position.

"Eho bāhya, eho bāhya. [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 8.59] This is also superficial. This is also superficial. Go deeper, deeper. Yes. Here we can begin to trace. Go further. Yes, it is good. Go further, more. Yes it is the highest place. Anything more there?"

Then Rāmānanda came with Gaurāṅga līlā.

Mahāprabhu stopped his mouth. "No further. Here we stop."

Gaura Hari bol. Jaya Oṁ Viṣṇu-Pāda...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...Lakṣmī Devī She could not get admission into rasa, because her of the Śruti and the Daṇḍakaranya Ṛṣis they got admission. And because Lakṣmī Devī wanted to enter with Her ego of Vaikuṇṭha She could not get admission. And they could, the Ṛṣis and the Śruti because they accepted the subjugation of the gopīs. Accepting their leadership they could enter, but Lakṣmī Devī could not. Independently She wanted to enter into rasa. So without our submission to the eternal group of a particular rasa, vātsalya, sākhya, mādhurya, direct communication is never possible. That is not imaginary, rather imitation. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: So even if we're fortunate enough to have some eternal connection with Kṛṣṇa in future lives, after we come to that point then we'll see that there are so many others there. So we'll not be able to get so close to Kṛṣṇa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ha, ha, ha, ha, ha.

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: We'll be at a distance always.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Sometimes the example generally I give the example of telescope. In between them so many things, but they all enhance my darśana figure. It is like that. They're all transparent. Those that are in the middle they rather help my nearness, my - sympathy to me, all these. They do not stand in the middle like opaque glass. All transparent, just like Guru paramparā. And that is the trade secret, something like that. Bhṛtyasya bhṛtyam iti māṁ smara lokanātha. Paricāraka-bhṛtya-bhṛtya-bhṛtyasya bhṛtyam.

[maj-janmanaḥ phalam idaṁ madhu-kaiṭabhāre, mat prārthanīya mad anugraha eṣa eva tvad bhṛtya-bhṛtya-paricāraka-bhṛtya-bhṛtya-, bhṛtyasya bhṛtyam iti māṁ smara lokanātha]

["O Supreme Lord of all beings, O slayer of the demons Madhu and Kaiṭabha, this is the purpose of my life, this is my prayer, and this is Your grace - that You will remember me as Your servant, a servant of a servant of a Vaiṣṇava, a servant of a servant of such a servant of a servant of a Vaiṣṇava, and a servant of a servant of the servant of a servant of a Vaiṣṇava's servant's servant."] [Mukunda-Mālā-stotra, 25]

As much as we can go down, and as many spectacles, that telescope, it will come very nearer, modified with the special blessings of those guardians, those Gurus. It is like that. All well-wisher, not hindrance in the middle, developed they send to us. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

[nāhaṁ vipro na ca nara-patir nāpi vaiśyo na śūdro nāhaṁ varṇī na ca gṛha-patir no vana-stho yatir vā] kintu prodyan-nikhila-paramānanda-pūrṇāmṛtābdher
gopī-bharttuḥ pada-kamalayor dāsa-dāsānudāsaḥ

["I am not a priest, a king, a merchant, or a labourer (brāhmaṇa, kṣatriya, vaiśya, śūdra); nor am I a student, a householder, a retired householder, or a mendicant (brahmacārī, gṛhastha, vānaprastha, sannyāsī). I identify myself only as the servant of the servant of the servant of the lotus feet of Śrī Kṛṣṇa, the Lord of the gopīs, who is the personification of the fully expanded (eternally self-revealing) nectarean ocean that brims with the totality of Divine Ecstasy."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 13.80]

This tendency to go towards lower, apparently to far away the distance, but really the secret is not, it is the opposite. This is a great secret of success, to be harmonised with that departmental truth.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari.

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: We still have a fear of being exploited. We still maintain one fear of being exploited. This is our fear also we will be exploited.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: _____ [?] Our Guradeva Prabhupāda used to tell about the māyāvādīs. That they're afraid, just as a cow whose burned from the fire that scorched her cottage. When she comes to see a red cloud the cow is afraid. "Oh, a fire is there." Which cow? Who already had experience when some fire caught her cottage.

So we apprehend like that. From the experience of our mundane world we impose this to the opposite world, to the well-wisher. Who are well-wisher, we show them that they must have some jealousy, they must take something what may come to my lot. Like so many dollar canvasser they may take their due. But it's not so, just the opposite.

The sad experience of the nature of things of this mundane world should not be carried there. Rather the opposite, all goodness. No apprehension, all well-wishing. The whole soil is well-wishing. They will enhance our cause, none to oppose our cause. The soil is such, full of sympathy beyond our expectation. Rather, we must suspect us, what sort of interest I'm awake about me. Nothing, no necessity, no question of suspecting them. I must suspect me. I'm the meanest of the mean. That is the nature of the experience of the devotees there. All else is perfectly good, only I'm the meanest of the mean, self deceiver I am.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol.

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: I'm still trying to figure out the jñāna miśrā darśana from the other morning. The other morning you gave darśana you were talking about jñāna miśrā bhakti. So you were giving example, from the Calcutta University there was one gentleman, who, I believe it was your disciple. And he came to you and told you he's a Purāṇic - no, Yājāvara Mahārāja's śiṣya, there's one very big paṇḍita...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Oh, big paṇḍita. It's very difficult to make them understand, the other scholars, that jñāna śūnya bhakti is of higher type.

'We can't assimilate that. How is it possible? The jñāna, the knowledge wholesale eliminated, and that will be a higher thing? We fail to understand this, your peculiar type of devotion, which divorces reason and knowledge exhaustively. We fail to understand that sort of devotion, how it is possible.' Sincerely they're saying like that, can't understand. They're proud of their own reason and own self help.

Like a child, if that child depends wholly on the mother's affection, but when the child wants to adopt his own reason, apply his own reason in his movement, his mother will come, 'Oh, no, no. Don't go that side, there is an insect, there is that thing, all these things.' But the affectionate care of the guardian, that is the real position of finding peace. We can depend on the whole atmosphere perfectly, than we can depend in my searching or understanding, the measuring the infinite. Infinite Himself is coming to take care of me. And what my meagre point will help against that? That motherly care, or guardians care, that is of very, very higher order. And the opposite direction my meagre self cheating ego.

So as a matter of right we can't have any entrance there. It is only grace. As a matter of right I may come to Brahmaloka, taṭasthā śakti. But my entrance there, all possible only for the grace of that plane, that is of higher type.

vaikuṇṭhera pṛthivy ādi sakala cinmaya [māyika bhūtera tathi janma nāhi haya]

["The earth, water, fire, air and ether of Vaikuṇṭha are all spiritual. Material elements are not found there."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Ādi-līlā, 5.53]

The earth, the water, the tree, everything is spirit, they're conscious, of higher type than I am made of, taṭasthā śakti. So as much as I shall place my confidence for them, and blindly accept their direction, I'll be more and more benefited. That is by nature of things. Surrender, surrender, don't go to measure, don't go to bring reason and justice. Never call for justice, you'll be looser. If you call for justice you'll be looser. The land of mercy, go up, surrender. Such is the conception of the higher realm, that is Goloka, Vaikuṇṭha, above Goloka. All good, nothing bad. If anything of bad type, that is in myself. That should be the general understanding there, guidance. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. They do not know how to cheat. But to help others that is their very nature. By the very nature of their existence they only can do good to others, habituated eternally, their nature is such.

And how to enter that plane? That is the question. How I can enter such a plane, such a valuable and noble plane, how can I go there? How can I get a visa for that land? That is the most important question. It is above reason, all mercy, all love, all goodness. We cannot conceive from here in this plane that it's like that. And how to be a member of that plane, that is the difficult thing. So we're requested, through faith only you can. No reason will help you, but your faith can help you, śraddhā. Lobha, laulyam, your desperate earnestness and faith, risky surrendering. Your experience of this world won't allow you to have any touch, or any connection with that. It is so high, oppositely high.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol.

Jñāna śūnya bhakti. Ha, ha. Mahāprabhu told when that jñāna śūnya bhakti was mentioned, "Yes, here it begins. Otherwise karma miśrā, jñāna miśrā, yoga miśrā, everything bāhya, this is on the cover, not in the spirit, it is on the cover, bāhya." And when jñāna śūnya, "Yes, here it is. Now go further, make progress."

Faith and nobility of the land, of the soil. 'I'm safe here. I've found safe motherly affection. All higher sort of affection I'm in the midst of.' The boy being afraid, frightened by someone, then he runs to the mother's lap. 'Oh, I'm safe.' The boy will feel 'I'm safe here in the lap of my mother.' Something like that. Jñāna śūnya bhakti. As the boy surrenders to mother, jñāna śūnya, and he's satisfied. And the mother at the risk of her life she will try to save the boy from any attack outside. So that is the nature of the soil, to protect the child, at their cost. Faith, faith, jñāna śūnya bhakti, Mahāprabhu told "eho bāhya."

I also when came in contact I thought a bamboo was struck on my head. "What is this jñāna śūnya? All calculation to be stopped? Everything finished? What is this? How it is possible?" Then gradually trying to understand that there may be such soil, also beyond our calculative goodness and everything. It must be there, otherwise the existence will be worthless. My limited calculation, how much it fetches for me? My calculation of limited type, how much can it fetch for me? I'm going to embrace the unlimited affection, unlimited guardianship affection. I must take risk, jump.

ahaṁ tvāṁ sarva-pāpebhyo, mokṣayiṣyāmi mā śucaḥ

["Totally abandoning all kinds of religion, surrender exclusively unto Me. I will liberate you from all kinds of sins, so do not despair."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 18.66]

All apprehension will be driven away. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari bol.

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: You're constantly breaking the form Mahārāja. You're constantly crushing the form.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Crushing, yes, towards spirit, centre. Forms in different stages, there must be rules and laws in different stages of life, of progress. So many examinations, so many crashing ahead or fencing. But we're to make progress we must have to leave many things on the backside and go ahead.

ājñajaiva guṇān doṣān, [mayādiṣṭān api svakān
dharmmān saṁtyajya yaḥ sarvvān, myāṁ bhajet sa ca sattamaḥ]

["In the scriptures of religion, I, the Supreme Lord, have instructed men of all statuses of life in their duties. Duly comprehending the purificatory virtue of executing those prescribed duties as well as the vice of neglecting them, one who abandons all allegiance to such dutifulness in order to engage in My devotional service is the best of honest men (sādhu)."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.11.32]

The Lord says. "Dharma. Sarva-dharmān means their dharma, duty. And with My sanction in that stage. The sanction, this is dharma, this is your duty, this also I have said, but for their particular stage. If you want to go up you'll have to give up that prejudice. Ājñajaiva guṇān doṣān, mayādiṣṭān api svakān. Though it is ordered by Me in the scriptures, or by the Ācārya of that type, but still, who will give up that and make progress further, he's a real devotee."

So no end, go ahead. Forms only that you may not go down, so some regulations have been arranged. 'You must not do this, you must do this.' Then again for progress you're to leave that stage and go further. Absolute call, revolutionary, constitutional and revolutionary. Absolute call and relative call. Progress means to leave the present position. And to maintain the present positions there are many rulings already there. 'You must not lose your position, you must maintain your position, you must show your respect to these formalities.' But when you're to go further these formalities must be dishonoured, apparently. But you're grateful that they sometimes sustained you. But now for the cause for which they were so much appreciable, for that cause you're to leave them and go further. And there also you'll find some rules and laws. In this way you're to make progress, further, further. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari.

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: So the more forms that are broken the riskier it becomes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You see, in the military line there are so many laws. 'When fighting you must not come back without the fall of the - you must not go further.' But if anyone gets a higher chance, and without the order of the commander he goes, and some enemy intrigue, or some he can stop, then he must be rewarded. The absolute gain is there, and forms are made only to help the general. But who are rewarded, who goes a step further and does something good, he's rewarded. To take risk for further improvement, that is necessary.

gurur na sa syāt sva jano na sa syāt, pitā na sa syāj jananī na sā syāt daivaṁ na tat syān na patiś ca sa syān, [na mocayed yaḥ samupeta mṛtyum]

[Ṛṣabhadeva says: "Even a spiritual master, relative, parent, husband, or demigod who cannot save us from repeated birth and death should be abandoned at once."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 5.5.18]

Generally we should show our respect, we must be obedient to our father, mother, to Guru, to God, for the women to their husband.

"But when the case will come about the selection, and then between Myself and them, you must leave them and come to Me. So, so many duties, rules, regulations, you're to neglect, and you come towards truth."

But truth is not a finished thing, that you've come so far, and truth is finished here, this is not. It's infinite, so always you must be in a progressive mood, progressive tendency must be within you. We're grateful to the forms. Their contribution to our improvement is not also less, but still it does not mean that we must be fated to stand there dying. A possibility of progress is always there, the progressive. The ultimate conception of the Absolute is not a static one, it is progressive, every part is progressive, then it is living. Static means death, stone.

All right I stay here.

Vidagdha Mādhava: Jaya Oṁ Viṣṇu-Pāda Paramahaṁsa Parivrājakācārya Aṣṭottara-śata Śrī Śrīmad His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī kī jaya!

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: ...or this is referring to Rādhārāṇī. Tvaṁ gopikā [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: It is in that verse, within that?

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: Arcana kan.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And that finished?

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Sahajiyā Sata Dusani ?

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: Yes, I've finished, it's being typed now.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Now, a new thing, what is it?

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: Yes. This is a verse which I cannot understand. Is the Guru in the form of a gopī or Rādhārāṇī?

tvaṁ gopikā vṛṣaraves tanayāntike 'si, sevādhikāraṇi guro nija-pāda-padme dāsyaṁ pradāya kuru māṁ vraja-kānane, śrī-, rādhāṅghri-sevana-rase sukhinīṁ sukhābdhau

["O beloved spiritual master, you are always in the presence of the cowherd girl Rādhā, the daughter of King Vṛṣabhānu. Please award me service at your lotus-like feet, which are the proprietors of devotional service. Please place me in the ocean of joy by bestowing upon me happiness in the mellows of service at the feet of Śrī Rādhā in the groves of Vraja Dhāma."] [BBT, 1978, Arcana-Paddhati, page, 53]

There's a Bengali translation here.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Sukhābdhau means... [03:30 - 04:12 ?] Bengali translation?

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja:

hey seva adikari ananda ambuddhi gurudeva, apni vrisabanu nandaniya nikatay avastiti gopika [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then?

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja:

ama ke apna nija pada padme dasya pradam koriya [?]
braja kanaya sri radha pada padma seva rase suki korana [?]

So the question is that gopikā, what is gopikā? Is it referring to Rādhārāṇī?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes.

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: To Rādhārāṇī.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Sakhī, gopikā, gopikā Rūpa Mañjarī, gopikā Lalitā, only They are gopikā, tvam gopikā, any of Them. It is not fixed, according to the inner tendency of the disciple, s/he will be grouped in a particular camp of service. And there, who will be the leader of him, Guru is meant there, my guide. My principal guide in my service when I have attained the highest position I shall be in the mādhurya-rasa. And they're all helping the service of Rādhārāṇī. And there are also different departments in which I am posted, the head of that department is my Guru.

"You are gopikā, you are Rādhārāṇī's servitor, and you make me happy by giving facility for my service towards Rādhārāṇī." That is the purport. Tvaṁ gopikā vṛṣaraves tanayāntike 'si. "You are always nearby Vṛsabhānu, ujar [?], Rādhārāṇī. You are always under Her direct service. And You please give me the facility that I can render the service and maybe accepted in the group for Rādhārāṇī."

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: And the sevādhikāraṇi guro, that refers to the expertise of the Guru?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Sevādhikāraṇi. Tvaṁ gopikā vṛṣaraves tanayāntike 'si, vṛṣaraves tanaya. "You are always adjacent to Her. O my Gurudeva, you are always adjacent to Vṛsabhānu's daughter Rādhārāṇī." Then?

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: Sevādhikāraṇi guro nija-pāda-padme.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: "You are entrusted with responsible service for Her. There you may be allowed to partake there in your service. You are engaged in the service of Rādhārāṇī and you engage me also in that service where by which you are giving supply to the service of Rādhārāṇī. You engage me there. Tvaṁ gopikā vṛṣaraves tanayāntike 'si. You are always nearby the great lady leader Rādhārāṇī, āntike 'si, you always have engagement in the service. And please give me to partake in that service. And which is so sweet and rasabjay, and the lotus if it rasabday, then the ocean of ecstasy are rasabjay, that is very beautiful, ecstatic lotus of the divine feet. Which is very sweet feet like lotus of Rādhārāṇī. You are partaking service there and please give me chance to be accepted there." That is the prayer. Tvaṁ gopikā vṛṣaraves tanayāntike 'si, sukhinīṁ sukhābdhau.

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: That's clear. There was, yesterday you were...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The difficulty that position of Guru varies. According to one's innate nature of service, the immediate leader, he says as Guru. So Guru is generally rūpānugā, we must serve under the direction of Rūpa Mañjarī. Rūpa Mañjarī is the leader of the junior school of the gopīs, she's the leader of the junior section.

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: Junior section?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. The senior section sometimes they cannot enter where Rādhā-Kṛṣṇa are alone there. The senior section they keep aloof, and the junior section can enter there to render confidential service at that time. So junior section, in one way, they hold the highest benefit, so rūpānugā, rūpānugā sampradāya. And Rūpa also, they're also under Lalitā, but Lalitā's a little senior, so sometimes senior friends they can't go to the camp where Rādhā and Kṛṣṇa are the only two there. So the junior section can approach, just them. So the most confidential circle, the leader of the most confidential junior circle is Śrī Rūpa, so rūpānugā means Rūpa Guru. Our Gurudeva is one and the same with Rūpa Mañjarī in the mādhurya-rasa. Also we may be in the sākhya-rasa, Sudama, Subala, _____ [?] Guru conception will go and there vanish in Subala, or Sudama, or Baladeva, sākhya-rasa. Dāsya-rasa also, in vātsalya-rasa also.

In this way the leaders are in a particular position and according to my inner capacity he will be identified and fixed there. And I shall have to do my service under his direction. That is my Gurudeva. They're all Guru, everything is Guru there, but the special leading officers just over me will be mainly my Gurudeva. Otherwise all Guru, on all sides they're our Guru, they're all helping me to Kṛṣṇa's group. Who is he who can help me to Kṛṣṇa consciousness, Kṛṣṇa's service, he's Guru, his work. Guru's function is to help Kṛṣṇa consciousness, Kṛṣṇa's service. Everything, even a tree, a sand dust, that also reminding me, but the main Guru will be the leader where I'm posted and the permanent guiding officer, there main Guru stands.

And our Guru Mahārāja told, "If we can cast a glance a little higher then we can see that Guru is Rādhārāṇī, one and the same." _____ [?]
"I don't know. I don't care to know about others. But I know if I can have a deeper vision of my Gurudeva, I can see him identified as Rādhārāṇī. No space between, more developed, is almost focused in my Gurudeva. Rādhārāṇī perfectly focused in the heart of my Gurudeva fully _____ [?]"

That is relative, all relative position. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Nitāi. Nitāi.

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: Getting ready to discuss it and then we close the conversation.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. What is that point? Why you're searching for that point? But I mentioned about Prākṛta Sahajiyā Sata Dūṣaṇī, but really I meant that Caitanya-Upaniṣad. What is that point?

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: I see. I was just wondering in the English how to express this upakaran? So here is the Sanskrit, this is Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura's Sanskrit commentary. Caranāmṛtam is the name, Caitanya-caranāmṛtam is the name of his ṭīkā. So here he says, etena mantrena jivasya bada darsa tyaga cinmoya vrndavana lila upa karana tva prapti tad anantaram [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Eh Nimāi. _____ [?]

Nimāi:

etena mantrena jivasya bada darsa tyaga cinmoya vrndavana lilo [?]
upa karana tva prapti tad anantaram rasadi parama [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: After this it is clear?

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: The problem is how to express, lila upa karana tva prapti, in English.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Lila upa karana tva prapti.

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: He's not actually in līlā.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Lila upa karana, that is the age, the colour, the dress. "I'm such and such. I'm in that position to serve. I'm required in that particular office to serve in a particular department." And the necessary dress, the age, and the other figurative ornamentation of one's own self in soul, that is lila upa karana, all these, to get that.

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: I see, yes. So it's like in siddha-praṇālī the ekadāsa...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: _____ [?]

Nimāi: Utilised in līlā.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: To be befitting the līlā, the dress, one's own conception of the self befitting the līlā. All these I'm, he gets all these things, necessary.

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: Yes. Now there's another way, there's another thing here, it's simple, but it says, jiva eva sat ksarasa karanam [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: _____ [?] What is the paraphernalia?

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: It's referring to the jīva, jagad, and also māyā.

Nimāi: Yat kincita sambutom te saram tat karja misyate sat karanam param jiva sadak saram iti rtam [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: _____ [?]

Nimāi: Jiva eva sat.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Jiva eva sat. It is eternally existing. Then ksarasya karanam _____ [?] Kṣaram atīto 'ham, akṣarād api cottamaḥ [Gītā, 15.18]. Yayedaṁ dhāryate jagat [Gītā, 7.5].

[yasmāt kṣaram atīto 'ham, akṣarād api cottamaḥ ato 'smi loke vede ca, prathitaḥ puruṣottamaḥ]

["Because I am transcendental to the fallible souls and also superior to My infallible eternal associates, My glories are sung in the world and in the scriptures as Puruṣottama, the Supreme Person."]
[Bhagavad-gītā, 15.18]

The kṣara, what is always changing, kṣara means changing aspect of the world. The jīva is there within. Yayedaṁ dhāryate jagat, taṭasthā śakti, māyā śakti _____ [?]

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: So the cetana of the jīva is maintaining the dhāryate jagat?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Pravisya, jaram-pravisya [?], this mortal representation is making possible the jīva entering into that.

mama yonir mahad-brahma, tasmin garbhaṁ dadhāmy aham sambhavaḥ sarva-bhūtānāṁ, tato bhavati bhārata

["O Bhārata, material nature, known as pradhāna, is the womb into which I cast the seed (in the form of the individual soul which is born of the marginal potency). From that place, all beings headed by Lord Brahmā are generated."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 14.3] apareyam itas tv anyāṁ, prakṛtiṁ viddhi me parām jīva-bhūtāṁ mahā-bāho, yayedaṁ dhāryate jagat

["O mighty hero, Arjuna, this worldly nature known as external, is inferior. But distinct from this nature, you should know My marginal potency, comprised of the individual souls, to be superior. This world is accepted by this superior conscious potency as an object of exploitation for sense enjoyment, by the agency of each individuals fruit-hunting actions and reactions. The divine world emanates from My internal potency and the mundane world from My external potency. The potency of the living beings is known as marginal, on account of their medial adaptability - they may choose to reside either in the mundane plane or the divine."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 7.5]

So para-śakti, inferior māyā-śakti, that para-śakti enters into māyā-śakti and makes this mortal world possible to move. The jīva is sat, the jīva himself is sat, which means eternal, and this kṣara is changing, mortal, and jīva enters into it and makes this mortal world possible. Jīva eva sat ksarasya karanam, within this kṣara, it is within and making it possible. Otherwise it is all dark, unknown and unknowable. Only jīva, a spark is there, so this changing world is possible to be known and recorded, and researched, anything, because the one drop of consciousness is within. Otherwise it is all dark, unknown and unknowable. If jīva soul is taken away from this kṣara then it is all matter, no trace. Only a spark is carrying all these changing aspects of the world, kṣara. Kṣara means sat, akṣara is jīva and akṣara's touch in the kṣara making this world possible to move.

Aksaraṁ brahma paramaṁ [Gītā, 8.3] And kṣaram atīto 'ham, akṣarād api cottamaḥ [Gītā, 15.18]

"I am beyond this kṣara and akṣara, both." Akṣara is jīva-tattva and kṣara is prakṛti, prākṛta world.

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: Just one word which I also cannot find in the dictionary, āvartayati.

Nimāi: Nityam āvartayati _____ [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Always revolving.

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: Punar punar karana.

Nimāi: Repeating.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, punar punar, up and down.

ābrahma-bhuvanāl lokāḥ, [punar āvartino 'rjuna
mām upetya tu kaunteya, punar janma na vidyate]

["O Arjuna, from the planet of Lord Brahmā downwards, the residents of all planets are naturally subjected to repeated birth and death. But, O Kaunteya, upon reaching Me, there is no rebirth."]

[Bhagavad-gītā, 8.16]

Going up, down, up, down, in this way, āvartino, revolving.

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: Ah, āvartino, I see. OK, it was mainly that.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol.

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: ...from one Bengali gentleman. He told me that there's only one place in the world where there is no bhumi-kampha [?], earthquake, and he said that is in Kashi. Is that true?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No.

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: No, ha, ha, ha, ha.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In that great Bihar bhumi-kampha, perhaps in the 1933 or so, a great earthquake centring in Bihar, and including Benares. At that time some of our Godbrothers they were removing the Deity from one hired house to another, at that time a great earthquake came. One of my Godbrothers he described that, "We all fled. Mahāprabhu was kept on a stool, a small table, there Mahāprabhu was kept. And at that time suddenly in the afternoon a great earthquake came and we all fled from the house and went to the street." And he told that, "I thought that the small table Mahāprabhu was kept standing on must be moved and broken to pieces." He told. "But I wondered when I came back that Mahāprabhu was wonderfully standing there." A great earthquake in Benares.

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: 1933.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In 1933. And there is a song of course. Bhumi-kampha_____ [?] "When the day of great doom will come near? At that time all those things will happen." There in that song. Bhumi-kampha-abay kashi kashi tirtha dhami [?] Then the brāhmaṇas will be like śūdra, then so many opposite characteristics will be seen, and bhumi-kampha will attack Kashi dhama. And a great, what is impossible, that will come to happen, and the last day will draw in.

Devotee: Earthquake is most inauspicious sign.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: _____ [?] All the opposites have been collected there.

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. He had related one story about one Gayāśura, he had mentioned some story about Gayāśura in relation...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No, that is some other thing altogether, when he's describing the last stage of Kali. When the Kali-kala will come to its full bloom then all these impossible things will come to happen. There is a song like that. All the undesirables will come to happen.

Devotee: _____ [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Then the Kalki Avatāra will come and finish the reactionaries.

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: This is another thing I can't understand. In this Kalki-Purāṇa by Śrīla Vyāsadeva, it gives the historical reference to when the Kalki-Purāṇa was spoken. So it was spoken after the third seating, between Śukadeva and Parīkṣit Mahārāja. Right after that period, then Mārkaṇḍeya Ṛṣi comes in and then Śukadeva Goswāmī relates Kalki-Purāṇa in his presence. So does that mean that what is in this Kalki-Purāṇa is going to happen, or is it a description from a previous kalpa, yuga, how to take it?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, both may be possible. And the previous scripture with some new addition Śukadeva may say to him. One who can see the future, with that addition and the past modified, he may deliver to Mārkaṇḍeya.

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: So these things may be taken that they are going to happen or in a general way it's taken?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Generally it happens like that, with little modification. Every day you get up from your bed, you go to the latrine, then you come and take some breakfast, and then the newspaper, or something, this general habit. But there is little change also, not exactly copied every day, but general thing and with some new addition. So kalpa, Brahmā's day means one kalpa-ved, almost similar things are going to happen but with little change. Already the copy of the previous day, the routine, the previous day's routine generally repeated, but with little change every day. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: People in the western world will not know what to think about the Kalki-Purāṇa. It will be a very good preaching tool.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ha, ha, ha, ha. Distraction. They know the condition of the world after the atomic war. That is Kalki, ha, ha, ha, and they will think that they're prey to that inevitable history. They may try their best not to throw atom, but some force will come and utilise them, or make them instruments to help that general force, and they can't help withdraw it. So some other force is there, ha, ha, that will create, use them, utilise them as an instrument and create the destruction of Kalki, general destruction. The path when it's full seen that is mutual exploitation, intense exploitation amongst them. That mutual intense exploitation will come to such a degree that it will burst. It will combine and burst, and then some reaction will come again. As the resultant of the force of exploitation, the individual, or provincial, or national, whatever it may be, the resultant of the tendency of exploitation of one another, that will come to meet and create a disaster which is inevitable. We will be helpless instrument there. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Cinamasta [?] There is one līlā, she's beheaded and with her hand she has held the head and the blood oozing, coming, and in her face she's drinking.

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: Kālī?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No, Cinamasta, one of the līlā of the Devī.

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: Durgā?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Durgā. Cinamasta, she's drinking her own blood. How? The beheaded head is in her hand, and the blood oozing and it's falling at her face, in her mouth, and she's drinking.

But this civilisation is suicidal, the knowledge, the Einstein, the Newton, they have given so much invention and that is being utilised to devour this whole creation, maybe. Suicidal civilisation, reactionary.

So connect you with the Infinite Good. All activity, all movement must be guided by the central interest, not any provincial or local interest, then clash is inevitable. Clash is inevitable if you try to look with any provincial benefit, welfare. Nothing less than the Absolute Centre should be the point of our guidance. So Kṛṣṇa consciousness, Kṛṣṇa consciousness. Nothing less than the Centre where no consideration of provincialism, all universal. Put food to the stomach, the whole body will be fed, that theory. Put water to the root, the whole tree will be fed. Yasmin tuṣṭe jagat tuṣṭam.

yajñārthāt karmaṇo 'nyatra, [loko 'yaṁ karma-bandhanaḥ
tad-artham karma kaunteya, mukta-saṅgaḥ samācara]

["Selfless duty performed as an offering to the Supreme Lord is called yajña, or sacrifice. O Arjuna, all action performed for any other purpose is the cause of bondage in this world of repeated birth and death. Therefore, remaining unattached to the fruits of action, perform all your duties in the spirit of such sacrifice. Such action is the means of entering the path of devotion, and with the awakening of true perception of the Lord, it will enable you to attain to pure, unalloyed devotion, free from all material qualities (nirguṇa-bhakti)."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 3.9]

Sarva yajña svaro hari.

ahaṁ hi sarva-yajñānāṁ, bhoktā ca [prabhur eva ca
na tu mām abhijānanti, tattvenātaś cyavanti te]

["-Because I alone am the enjoyer and rewarder of all sacrifices. But since they cannot know Me in this way, they again undergo birth, disease, infirmity, and death."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 9.24]

"You will be saved if you devote your energy for My purpose."

You are saved, otherwise the provincialism, small or big group, and clash is inevitable, unavoidable. So you may worship other gods, demigods, that is also provincial interest, individual interest, group interest. So eliminate all sorts of group interest and only connect with the universal point. And that is beautiful and that is autocrat, there is beauty and there is autocracy. You must remember that. Whole sustenance and sacrifice also must be great autocracy. Sacrifice to an autocrat, that is not very easy, but the solace, the consolation is beautiful, is very easy also. If we are attracted by His beauty everything is possible. No difficulty to surrender to an autocrat if my interest is best represented there. The charm, the love, beauty, harmony, that is safe. This is Kṛṣṇa consciousness, sarva-dharmān, justification of this clarion call.

"Give up all duties and come to Me. I shall protect you." The meaning of this clarion call, "Give up all sorts of respective duties, local duties, and come to the absolute point. You will be saved."

sarva-dharmān parityajya, mām ekaṁ śaraṇaṁ vraja
[ahaṁ tvāṁ sarva-pāpebhyo, mokṣayiṣyāmi mā śucaḥ]

["Totally abandoning all kinds of religion, surrender exclusively unto Me. I will liberate you from all kinds of sins, so do not despair."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 18.66]

"The whole one side, Myself alone one side, give up all, come to Me alone. I am the key to this whole, to the existence of the whole thing. And what is Myself? The Beautiful."

Everyone wants beauty, rasam, ānandam, ecstasy. None will say that 'I don't want ānandam.' You may profess, hypocritically you may pronounce, but that is not heart. Heart can never say that 'I don't want ānandam, sukham, beauty, love, harmony.' But that thing that everyone wants, what is the relief, the shelter of everything, that is Autocrat. That does not hold any lower position to anything else, cannot, that is Absolute. But everyone wants. He's absolute from the inner heart, not from the surface. Raso vai saḥ. And also it's not power but beauty, love, not control.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Kṣara, kṣarati ākṣara mayi putastha kṣarati yesas mayi _____ [?]

Devotee: Unchangeable change and changeable change.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ha, ha, ha, ha, ha. As relative.

Devotee: Where everything is dynamic, wherever something is dynamic, it is changing always.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: All the planets are moving and sun is fixed, but sun is also moving, all relative position. Sun is fixed, that is ākṣara, and they are kṣara, they are all moving, changing.

Devotee: So kṣara is gross material conception of consciousness, is it?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Kṣara is that which is connected with exploitation, moving to exploit. Movement of exploitation, that is kṣara. And those souls that are under the influence of exploitation, they are called the kṣara group. And those that are above the exploitation, holding their position fixed, not to be allured by the exploiting tendency, they're standing still, ākṣara, sightseer. And those participating in the exploiting energy, they've become slave to the exploiting energy, they're all kṣara, kṣaraḥ sarvāṇi bhūtāni.

[dvāv imau puruṣau loke, kṣaraś cākṣara eva ca
kṣaraḥ sarvāṇi bhūtāni, kūṭa-stho 'kṣara ucyate uttamaḥ puruṣas tv anyaḥ, paramātmety udāhṛtaḥ yo loka-trayam āviśya, bibharty avyaya īśvaraḥ]

["In this world, there are two kinds of souls: the fallible and the infallible. All beings from Lord Brahmā down to the lowest stationary life-forms are known a fallible (as they have deviated from their intrinsic nature). But the personalities who are eternally situated in their divine nature are known as infallible (personal associates of the Lord)."] ["But totally distinct from both these types of souls, there is a Supreme Person who is known as Paramātmā, the Supersoul. He is the Supreme Lord. Entering into the three worlds in His eternal form, He maintains all beings in the universe."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 15.16-17]

Everything whatever you find in the material world, all kṣara, all changing, moving, what is moving. And ākṣara standing still, stand still, śakṣī, only seeing what is going on, śakṣī-svarūpa. But sometimes they also get movement either this side or that side. With the principle of dedication they again enter into Vaikuṇṭha and movement, then they're not ākṣara.

Devotee: This is our view that consciousness or spirit is the cause of matter. We say like this, consciousness or spirit is the cause of matter.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: By consciousness this mis consciousness is matter, matter created from misuse of consciousness proper.

83.06.21.B_83.06.24.A

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja:

janmādy asya yato 'nvayād itarataś cārtheṣv abhijñaḥ svarāṭ
tene brahma hṛdā ya ādi-kavaye muhyanti yat sūrayaḥ
tejo-vāri-mṛdāṁ yathā vinimayo yatra tri-sargo 'mṛṣā
dhāmnā svena sadā nirasta-kuhakaṁ satyaṁ paraṁ dhīmahi

["O my Lord, Śrī Kṛṣṇa, son of Vasudeva, O all pervading Personality of Godhead, I offer my respectful obeisances unto You. I meditate upon Lord Śrī Kṛṣṇa because He is the Absolute Truth and the primeval cause of all causes of the creation, sustenance and destruction of the manifested universes. He is directly and indirectly conscious of all manifestations, and He is independent because there is no other cause beyond Him. It is He only who first imparted the Vedic knowledge unto the heart of Brahmājī, the original living being. By Him even the great sages and demigods are placed into illusion, as one is bewildered by the illusory representations of water seen in fire, or land seen on water. Only because of Him do the material universes, temporarily manifested by the reactions of the three modes of nature, appear factual, although they are unreal. I therefore meditate upon Him, Lord Śrī Kṛṣṇa, Who is eternally existent in the transcendental abode, which is forever free from the illusory representations of the material world. I meditate upon Him, for He is the Absolute Truth."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.1.1]

ṛte 'rthaṁ yat pratīyeta, na pratīyeta cātmani
tad vidyād ātmano māyāṁ, yathābhāso yathā tamaḥ

["O Brahmā, whatever appears to be of any value, if it is without relation to Me, has no reality. Know it as My illusory energy, that reflection which appears to be in darkness."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 2.9.34]

What is māyā? Ṛte 'rthaṁ yat pratīyeta. That is misconception of a particular thing, what is not. 'Rthaṁ ṛte. What is 'rtha? Purpose. Purpose of the highest. He's making līlā with some object. The object of every movement is known to Him. But with our local interest we ascribe some meaning to the universal movement, and that is māyā. Selfish, or provincial, or local interest, produces some meaning, or ascribes some meaning in the eternal movement. That is not true, so that is māyā. But everything in consideration of the universal utility, everything is all right, svarūpa śakti, līlā. Līlā and māyā. Līlā, everything is contributing to the satisfaction of the highest centre, that is līlā. And if we conceive that līlā to our own local interest, 'Oh, it's to serve this purpose of mine' then that is māyā. So all local interest conceiver, thinker, they think that this thing, they read the nature in their own interest, and reading of those things in the natural events, that is all māyā. 'Rthaṁ ṛte yat pratīyeta. The conception that we feel, the perception that we feel, which has got no corresponding relation with the universal movement. According to our own interest we read our environment, and we give opinion, we write history, all these things. According to our own whim we go on writing history. History also may be misused. Historians in their own favour they may record, historians. So the universal movement is going on, eternal flow. And according to our own suitable illusion purpose we go to read, and we record, and that is all māyā.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I told him that I can't understand their intonation. And also, I'm not very liking to mix with them. So you'll spend money, but I won't be able to show any amount of work. But if you order I must go, but I tell to you...

Badrinārāyaṇa: They're coming to you Mahārāja, you can't avoid.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, by his will they're coming. But that is still remaining that hard of hearing. To catch the proper pronunciation, intonation, a defect in me. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Once, a ludicrous position. Bon Mahārāja took one European gentleman and introduced me, and saying so much. "He's a philosopher, he's a sādhu, this that."

And he also talking with me, but I can't understand a single word. I'm smiling.

And Bon Mahārāja is enraged. "He has come, he's saying so much to you, and you don't speak a single word."

Then anyhow he went away. Then I told to Mahārāja, even a single word I could not catch. What can I do? Only smiling face, nothing I can do, because I could not understand, could not follow. What can I do? I may be forgiven. Such is my fate. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol.

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: Foreign devotees, to follow your high level of presentation is very difficult.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But generally I mix with western philosophy. When I say anything, represent anything, I try to mix with western philosophies, with that dress, garment, I try to give delivery, both eastern and western combined. My understanding and delivery both eastern and western philosophy combined. Prabhupādas was that type, and I could catch something and assimilate, assimilation is of that type, east, west, mixed. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Ha, ha. When I read newspapers, someone ordinary person, Bon Mahārāja also in the beginning had objection. Then after coming from London he told, "I have taken two things from you. One, newspaper reading."

When I was in Madras, I used to see newspapers up to date. That our delivery, our preaching, must be up to date, living, not dead. So the newspapers are necessary to survey what is the wave of the present time.

Bon Mahārāja did not like it in the beginning, but after returning from London he said, "Yes, I have appreciated you." One thing.

Another thing also something, he used to disturb - very cruel behaviour to the rickshaw wallah, the tama wallah, all these things. I gave objection.

"Oh, you want to be moral, not the interest of Kṛṣṇa, that you want to be more moral than a devotee of Kṛṣṇa.?"

I told, No, if you do all this quarrel in small matters, the propagation will be disturbed. The local people will think that these people have come and they're so mean minded, quarrelling for two annas, three annas, one rupee. This will be against our propaganda work.

Then Bon Mahārāja told, "I have taken that idea from you also now."

And Mādhava Mahārāja one day told that, "Śrīdhara Mahārāja's reading of newspaper is not less than reading of the Vedas." He told. "Because he can utilise everything and anything for religious purpose. He collects news from here and there and he utilises that in his speech for the purpose of preaching. So his view is always to collect materials to make his lectures, his preaching enlivened, living, up to date. For that purpose, not otherwise. He does not read newspapers for any other purpose but only to enhance his preaching. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: There was an article in the paper on perhaps Sunday. And in that article, it was about Santa Fe in America, ISKCON. There, Rāmeśvara Mahārāja is engaged in some very, um - because they had lost the court case. He was charged by another person for brainwashing the daughter of this gentleman - in Śanta Fe, America, California.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In California, for brain washing, of a daughter?

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: Yes. Yes. Of another gentleman.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Of another gentleman, and he has taken a case to the court, that Rāmeśvara Mahārāja has...

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: Yes. Rāmeśvara Mahārāja has lost the case, and in the article it said that the International Society was going to be sued thirty two million dollars.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: For trying to wash the daughter's brain?

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: Of Kṛṣṇa consciousness.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But is he successful to wash her brain?

Devotees: (Group laughter.)

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: I don't think so.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then perhaps unsuccessful.

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: I don't know about that part. I don't think so.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Otherwise the daughter will stand witness, she'll stand in the witness box.

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: Yes, she'll be against.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: "No. I'm benefiter. This fleshy father and mother they're enemy to me. Now I find ground under my foot. And they're all throwing only mortal inundation."

And the other day we heard that Jayatīrtha Mahārāja is going to bring to the notice of the government certain facts that will affect ISKCON very greatly. He knows some things, points...

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: Oh no, that's foolishness.

Badrinārāyaṇa: Yes. He's thinking of exposing them.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Exposing the ISKCON. Who told this?

Badrinārāyaṇa: In one little booklet he sent, he wrote like that. "There are many things that I know about ISKCON. And in the future I shall expose them."

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: There was one French lady who was put into the fire, Joan of Arc. When she went to see the Queen, perhaps interview with the Queen, then the Queen is giving hints that, "You have come so bold, you have come to me, but you may be caught and put into capital punishment, perhaps."

Then she was very much overjoyed. "Martyr, martyr? This will be my fortune? Is it waiting for my fate that I can be a martyr?" With very much a smiling and bright face she came out. "Martyrdom? Is it possible? Then I shall be the most happy if martyrdom is in my fate. I'm overjoyed."

So Rāmeśvara Mahārāja may do like that. "Kṛṣṇa is taking so much from me. All right, I'm ready. I've done something wrong. These undesirable things are coming to attack me. _____ [?] "I'm trying my best, still this sort of disturbance. There must have been some defect in my action, in my devotion." Hare Kṛṣṇa. This case is in America, where, what zone?

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: Santa Fe.

Badrinārāyaṇa: Santa Fe is not far from San Jose, it's close by.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Any possibility, not fixed, any possibility. Vaikuṇṭha, infinite possibility. Anything may come by His will. And if I want something, that will be my kamana and I'll be frustrated. Mā phaleṣu kadācana [Bhagavad-gītā, 2.47]. Only do your duty, your whole concentration to the discharge of your duty. And other things leave with the infinite. That is the living in Vaikuṇṭha. Anything may come. So with this expectation if you move, then no frustration. You're already prepared to face any eventuality. It is His will and it is all for the best. It is all for the best. This is Vaikuṇṭha, to live in that atmosphere of 'all for the best.' Tat te 'nukampāṁ susamīkṣamāṇo [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.14.8]. Without any grudge, being happy, to live happily, and all for the best. Everything flowing according to the auspicious and divine will of Nārāyaṇa, of Kṛṣṇa.

I'm there, I'm living in His kingdom. He's seeing everything. Nothing is missed, missing, seeing everything. And that is ahaitukī apratihatā, causeless and irresistible. I'm living in that atmosphere, so no anxiety for me. Bhakti, the original and most fundamental flow of the world is of this type. It is causeless, nothing can change it. It is going on in its own way, and it can never be opposed. I must live in that atmosphere, quite free, no anxiety for us. That is the highest position to be realised. But Yogamāyā, to enhance this stagnant position, she also designs in many ways, so many things.

[ato hetor ahetoś ca, yūnor māna udañcati]

["Just as a serpent naturally moves in a crooked way, in a zigzag way, the nature of love is naturally crooked. It is not straight. So the concerned parties quarrel, sometimes with cause and sometimes without cause, and separation comes. Separation is necessary for the transcendental pastimes of Rādhā and Kṛṣṇa."]
[Ujjvala-nīlamaṇi]

There is designing, and there is jealousy, so many things for the service of Kṛṣṇa. That is also in Kṛṣṇa conception of Godhead. The whole anomaly is harmonised. What we think to be the intolerable or unacceptable anomaly, that is also harmonised in that Kṛṣṇa līlā of autocracy, and that is sweet, adjusted.

The chili may be put onto the tongue of the boy and he will feel very uneasy. But if that chili, or ginger, that bitterness, or pungency, if it's harmonised with some sugar and any other things _____ [?] then that is testable. Which is ordinarily not testable - in the mixture that may be testable.

So Kṛṣṇa līlā can give harmony to everything. Kṛṣṇa līlā, the competition, jealousy, party maintaining, party selfishness is there, to enhance the pleasure of Kṛṣṇa. And it is giving, joy giving. Happiness is increased thereby. Sacrifice is to such a degree that can accommodate that thing, which is generally not tasteful, that may be tasteful when it is mixed with some other thing.

This stealing, Kṛṣṇa's stealing, is beautiful. His beating is beautiful. All beauty. Harmony means to make sweet things of different nature, that is harmony. Not one and same sterilised, but different things organised in a particular way to give a special value of it. That is harmony. So all things which are very blameable in this world, that is also harmonised with Kṛṣṇa conception of Godhead. What we think to be eliminated totally, nothing eliminated, all comprehensive if it is for Him, the one enjoyer. The very principle is that one enjoyer, His sweet will. Nothing to say. His sweet will. And we're already prepared to be sacrificed for His sweet will. We're ready, and thereby we feel a peculiar type of ecstasy within us. Such adjustment. If we can be thoroughly adjusted with the autocracy, we'll be above all sorts of pain. There is a plane of such type. It is possible.

They say a boy is taking something, stealing. A man he'll feel much disturbed. "Oh, the boy is taking, stealing." Then he's already prepared his mind. "This is boyish characteristic, he make take a fruit or anything, that does not matter." If he's already prepared, that stealing is not causing much pain in his heart, he's already prepared.

So if everyone is prepared already for the highest type of sacrifice for the autocrat, then nothing can produce pain any in him. That's another side, already prepared, and thereby he becomes the owner of an ocean of joy. There are two sides, one negative, another positive.

Negative what I've told before that we may neglect, this is a very negligible thing. And the positive, the satisfaction of the highest, my Lord, that is the positive side.

The gopīs, when the self forgetfulness - the feet dust. Nārada tried his best to collect some feet dust of a devotees. He failed. But when he was advised by Kṛṣṇa, "Try in Vṛndāvana," Nārada came and there was competition.

"We do not know who is a real devotee. Oh. Give your feet dust, take this, take mine, we don't know."

Nārada was astounded! "What do you do? Don't you know your feet dust to Kṛṣṇa's head, what is the reaction?"

"Yes we know, it is eternal hell, maybe something like that. But we don't care a fig for that. We want only His temporary satisfaction of His whims, it may be done. We do not think of our own personal ambition or aspiration. We don't care for that, whatever. You say it is necessary, and if possible a little contribution for that - that is all for us. His little, slightest satisfaction in Him, that is everything in us. We do not know anything else, no other alternative within our brain."

So that Uddhava had to announce that great saying in Bhāgavatam. "What I saw that is simply astounding. This sort of love divine I have never experienced anywhere what I saw here. This is so noble, so high."

So there is a saying that to lie on a torn sheet, a bedding, and to see the dream of lākhs of crores of rupees. A poor man laying on a torn bed and dreaming, "Oh. I'm master of crores of rupees." So to us it is like that. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol.

yathā yathā gaura padāravinde, vindeta bhaktiṁ kṛta puṇya rāśiḥ tathā tathot sarpati hṛdy akasmāt, rādhā padāmbhoja sudhāmbhu-rāśiḥ

[Prabodhānanda Saraswatī Ṭhākura says: "As much as we devote ourselves to the lotus feet of Śrī Gaurāṅga, we will automatically achieve the nectarine service of Śrīmatī Rādhārāṇī in Vṛndāvana. An investment in Navadwīpa Dhāma will automatically take one to Vṛndāvana. How one will be carried there will be unknown to him. But those who have good fortune invest everything in the service of Gaurāṅga. If they do that, they will find that everything has automatically been offered to the divine feet of Śrīmatī Rādhārāṇī. She will accept them in Her confidential service and give them engagement, saying: "Oh, you have a good recommendation from Navadwīpa; I immediately appoint you to this service."]

[Caitanya-candrāmṛta, 88]

But it is very easy if we can take admission from Gaurāṅga līlā, and from Nityānanda. From Nityānanda to Śrī Gaurāṅga, and from Gaurāṅga it is automatically got.

So Nityānanda recommended from door to door, "Anyhow, admit Śrī Gaurāṅga. You don't know what is going by your front, by your door. Accept Śrī Gaurāṅga. In ages, infinite, such offer never comes what has come to your door. Going away from your door - the grace of Gaurāṅga.

Please acquire something, a speck, and you'll see in future how you'll be benefited. Take the Name of Gaurāṅga. Accept Him, welcome Him. And you'll know in future what wealth and property it will bring you. Don't dismiss Me, Nityananda."

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. What sort of life He's offering to you from door to door, try to realise what high position will be open to you. You don't know.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...won't tolerate your investigation there. You, a subject, a mean minded, less thinking subjective centre, you'll be able to know about the resources of the higher plane? It is impossible, a waste of energy. That is superior subjective area. You are a subject of the less quality, you can investigate within the lower plane. And that is the higher and higher, superior and superior plane. That can transmit news to you, and if you can receive, you must be open always, without any suggestion. Only very earnest to receive what is coming to you. In this attitude you will always remain, as a receiving officer, an expert receiving officer, what vibration is coming from higher.

You can't create, you can't modify. You can't take Him under law - nothing. He's all independent. First the higher subjective characteristic, and then again He's autocrat. Hopeless. How can it be possible to know Him, He's autocrat. But how? The necessity, it is sweetness, that is ecstasy, that is happiness, that is joy. So I can't avoid if I want my inner success, admission fulfilled, then I can't avoid. My life's interest is there, so charming, so beautiful. Without that I'm like a desert. So I've got my full interest there. And He's of such higher type, I can't control. So knowledge has got no - ke?

Sa mahātmā sudurlabhaḥ [Bhagavad-gītā, 7.19]. We'll give up the vanity that I can know anything and everything. That vanity we should leave away. Such a great mahātmā is very, very rarely to be had. And again, knowing so much, again he'll begin with ABC. This is nothing. Again with ABC, new ABC. Sa mahātmā sudurlabhaḥ. To come out from the mountain peak of the vanity, come down again for ABC, that person is very rarely found. They can't like to come down from the peak of the mountain.

'So ham. What I've realised, I'm a part and parcel of the higher subjective existence.'

But again further subjective existence continued in the deeper area they may not care.

'We're to say, justice is everything, the most highest conception we can ever think, justice. Beyond justice nothing possible, we can't admit. Justice must be the highest thing, justice. To ignore justice, we can't rationally admit, that there may be something above justice.'

It's very hard to cross that Hindenburg Line. Do you know about Hindenburg Line? In the first great war, during first great war, [Paul von] Hindenburg, one German general he constructed a protection line against Russia. Began to fight from the western side, and eastern he produced some barrier. And when Russians went to cross they used to fall in great difficulties. Once he did in such a way, he's coming back, Russians are with whole encouragement coming forward, then suddenly found that _____ [?] they're surrounded, twenty thousand Russian soldiers, at the time of Czar, that time. They're surrounded (in marshy ground) [?] Twenty thousand soldiers they found that they're in a marshy land and they're surrounded there. So they had much fear of Hindenburg Line, none can cross.

And the Magino [?] Line, at last, in the phase after the war finished, the Magino Line was constructed in the French side. That was also very difficult for Hitler to break that line, Magino Line. The tank cannot go. So many small pyramids, the tank cannot go. So every pyramid had to be broken before the tank will pass.

When I'm this body, I'm this mind, I'm this intelligence, which is used in this world, so higher things, higher realisation, then I'm soul, we never die, immortal soul I'm there. 'Oh. I'm monarch now. No further progress is necessary." Ātmārāma. Then he becomes ātmārāma. But very rarely, some of ātmārāma they anyhow have some connection with the upper. That Sanaka, Sanātana.

prāyeṇa munayo rājaṇ, nivṛttā vidhi-ṣedhataḥ
nairguṇya-sthā ramante sma, guṇānukathane hareḥ

["O King Parīkṣit, mainly the topmost transcendentalists, who are above the regulative principles and restrictions, take pleasure in describing the glories of the Lord."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 2.1.7]

Very rarely found, Sanaka, Sanātana, etc, few, that gain the position that 'we're ātmā.' They find some connection with higher existence - and some connection, some attraction they feel, very rarely.

ātmārāmāś ca munayo, nirgranthā apy urukrame
kurvanty ahaitukīṁ bhaktim, [ittham-bhūta guṇo hariḥ]

["Those sages who, being merged in the bliss of the spirit soul, are totally free from the binding knot of mental images - they too engage in the unmotivated service of Śrī Kṛṣṇa, the performer of marvellous deeds. This is but one of the qualities of the Supreme Lord Hari, who charms the entire world."]
[Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.7.10]

What is this? They do not need anything, nothing, they're full in themselves. 'I'm the highest thing, ātmā.' A peculiar position. No mortality, property - shortage, full in himself. 'The highest position we've attained.' Mostly they're satisfied with that position. And very few exceptions we find amongst them that they try to get - they feel attraction for something else. From this basis some come to understand that there must be something else in the higher realm.

And that is the position of Nārāyaṇa, He's not this side, sāttva guṇa, He's nirguṇa. Here He is because sustenance. Sustenance is the quality of Nārāyaṇa, creation Brahmā, and destruction Śiva. But here the creation and destruction in the middle the sustenance is everywhere. Creation rāja, and destruction tāma, and sāttva means sustenance, maintenance. In the creation and destruction the maintenance, sustenance, that comes from Nārāyaṇa.

But there is a world where no creation and no destruction, all sustenance. They cannot discuss that. Very few they are come anyhow in connection with the world of pure sustenance, no engagement of creation and destruction. Nirguṇa, eternal. They find themselves to be a particle of that type, ātmā. But very finer existence of that type of sustenance they can't realise. So very few find some attraction, push.

Sometimes the Catuḥsana _____ [?] a gentleman visit to Vaikuṇṭha, Nārāyaṇa, not knowing fully well that He's our Master, all in all. As a friendly superior personality, a gentleman's visit they want to give to Him, and find some sort of feeling. But suddenly one day they found that the very scent of Tulasī which had a touch of the holy foot of Nārāyaṇa coming through the nostrils produced some great commotion within. "What is this? Simple thing Tulasī which was placed into the...

antar-gataḥ sva-vivareṇa cakāra teṣāṁ, saṅkṣobham akṣara-juṣām api citta-tanvoḥ

["When the breeze carrying the aroma of Tulasī leaves from the toes of the lotus feet of the Personality of Godhead entered the nostrils of those sages, they experienced a change both in body and in mind, even though they were attached to the impersonal Brahman understanding."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 3.15.43]

Their position is in the eternal plane, they feel. "We're in the eternal plane, not kṣara, vulnerable plane, but normal plane. But what is this that a particular scent has come through the nostril and creating disturbance in the whole structure? Hankering for some superior thing. What is this? From so ham, a great commotion within the heart. What is this superior quality disturbing my normal position, disturbing the equilibrium of my heart, and creating some attraction for the same?" That is Catuḥsana. And Śukadeva says,

gṛhīta-cetā rājarṣe, ākhyānaṁ yad adhītavān

["O saintly King, I was certainly situated perfectly in transcendence, yet I was still attracted by the delineation of the pastimes of the Lord, who is described by enlightened verses."]
[Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 2.1.9]

"I was full in myself, nothing necessary for me. I found I was living an independent life. But a sort of particular līlā...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...aspiration _____ [?] more defined existence, līlā mādhurya. So now and then, few and far between, it is found that these self satisfied ātmārāma, they're captured by some higher agency, their balance disturbed.

Mahāprabhu told the Bhāgavatam to Vasudeva. "By this you can guess that there's superior existence."

prāyeṇa munayo rājan, nivṛttā vidhi-ṣedhataḥ
nairguṇya-sthā ramante sma, guṇānukathane hareḥ

["O King Parīkṣit, mainly the topmost transcendentalists, who are above the regulative principles and restrictions, take pleasure in describing the glories of the Lord."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 2.1.7]

They find pleasure when they talk about the pastimes of the Superior Entity. Though they have no want, they do not admit that they've got any want in life. But still some positive existence of the higher society they admit, here now and then we find mentioned in the scriptures.

And so following that thread we're to find out that there world and if we do, scientific way, if a scientific search is possible above that world, the first deed surrender. And the degree of surrender you'll be allowed to find within you that world coming down. This is devotional area, pure devotional area is such. Not only you will be passive, not aggressive, passive, and most inviting nature, heart, creates hunger. Expected helpless expectation.

His sweet will may come or may not come, may come or may not come. You're to wait for years and years. Sometimes a thief will come, sometimes again withdrawn, but other thieves will all take care. Viraktir anyatra. No other things of this mundane world will be able to produce any small point of satisfaction. Waiting for that peculiar type of ecstasy.

Otherwise life is useless, tasteless, tasteless, without any fulfilment. That slight touch will convince us that the fulfilment of your life is very, very high standard. At that time the lives of the devotees can help you a great deal, as it is given in Ambrosia, Prapanna-jīvanāmṛtam. The realisation of the great personages, that will encourage you in that. "Oh, here I found how happy they have become coming in connection with that great substance, or existence." These are the witness, evidence, in śāstra and sādhu, they'll be our beacon light. In the uncertain future of us, the beacon light to give us hope. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Light houses, so sādhu at every stage, at every day's stage our capital will be those light houses. In the infinite ocean light houses will be our guide, beacon light. That will be all solace to us, sādhu, and their light how happy, happier than us.

So the path of faith, path of faith, and hope, and the negative value will, that what we've already got that is nothing, that will push us. What you have got this has got no value. But what prospect we hear about us, that is very hopeful, very hopeful. What we have realised already this is not sufficient for us.

"I'm not satisfied with my present position. But ātmārāma, one who is satisfied with his own, the prospect of his own position as soul, jīva soul."

There is a layer where they find satisfaction with their own present realisation. But very few of them get a risk and to go above, and they then find those beacon lights, uncertain area, how to go. But it is very easy when they're in a group, sādhu-saṅga group. By the help of one another they can march in an unknown area, saṅga-bhadra, sādhu-saṅga, it becomes very easy. Of similar nature with a particular group they are marching towards the unknown, under the guidance of the śāstra, sādhu.

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: Mahārāja, we like to feel that we're part of your group. Maybe some lifetime...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ha, ha, ha.

Badrinārāyaṇa: But you know how to read the map.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I am swimming in the ocean with the beacon light of Guru Mahārāja and so many others. It is infinite. None can say that "I have made some tangible progress." Ha, ha, ha, ha. Hare Kṛṣṇa. It is infinite. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari.

"I want to be a property. I am master's property." We're to consider like that. Property of my master and not master myself. That should be our position. There will be someone who will take care of me as his property. That will be our good fortune that some higher agent will think of me as his property and take care wholesale.

Badrinārāyaṇa: So that is why we came here Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: The medicine which you are dealing is very potent.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Practically if we really want to come in connection with śuddha-bhakti, what is the pure devotion, how far faith should go? That is die to live, that Hegelian expression is very helpful, die to live.

Sudhīra Goswāmī Mahārāja, he wanted to give the name of the book Die to Live.

I told, "No. The Search for Śrī Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇānusandhāna. Brahma-jijñāsā. In Veda we find Vedānta, brahma-jijñāsā, a general hazy of the whole structure, athāto brahma-jijñāsā, in Vedānta. And that was, when giving life came to the hand of Mahāprabhu, kṛṣṇānusandhāna, search for Kṛṣṇa. What is brahma- jijñāsā in the plane of knowledge, brahma-jijñāsā, "now I like to make enquiry about the Absolute."

He's a subject, He wants to enquire about the Absolute, and the Absolute is personified in Mahāprabhu, Kṛṣṇa, and He's mad, "I'm searching for Kṛṣṇa, where is Kṛṣṇa?" When life is given to brahma-jijñāsā then the brahma-jijñāsā became kṛṣṇānusandhāna. "He's personal, He's loving, He's beautiful. I'm mad to find Him, that Absolute. And that brahma is endowed with love, then no longer enquiry, but I'm mad to find out Him, my other half, I can't stand half, I can't tolerate my half position. I want my fulfilment with the other half, coming in connection with the other half, madly enquiring. The brahma-jijñāsā is an abstract thing, like it seems to be a luxury. To a Vaiṣṇava the Vedānta enquiry will be like a type of luxury. But when living, that jijñāsā when endowed with life it will come madly searching, "Where is that beauty? What is that love, sweetness, my friend? I want to meet Him." That came in Mahāprabhu and when it came in the hand of Mahāprabhu that enquiry after the Absolute in Vedānta that got life as kṛṣṇānusandhāna, search for Kṛṣṇa, as a general attitude, search for Kṛṣṇa.

And how that is possible? So I wanted to add into the title, in the lower portion, through dedication. And what is the characteristic of dedication? Die to live. And love means die to live, that is love divine. Every second you are dying and through that new death you are attaining. Just as a diver in the sea whose searching for the jewels within the ocean. In every dive he comes out with some new jewellery. So die to live, accept something like death and come out with new jewel in your hand.

Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Die to live. Search for Kṛṣṇa. And also I added that first in the beginning, all risk no gain, but when we make some progress then we find, all success and no risk. Ha, ha. What I thought to be a risk that was māyā, unnecessary. Ha, ha. That's a diseased condition. I thought that this is my home, a mortal world, this is a good province, I thought. But when I can get out of this mortal area and find an eternal identification of myself, "Oh, this is a world of disease, a warning, to come in living body that is a diseased condition of the soul." So no risk all gain when we attain higher position. And at the present we shall be all risk no gain, there is no hope, fixed and sure, certain hope until I can come to that position. And that is independent of me, higher existence. Only by their sweet will I can be taken in, I have nothing to do, only my fortune, but still, that sort of realm existing.

Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Nitāi Gaura Hari.

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: Mahārāja. The Prākṛta-rasa Śata-Dūṣaṇī. Ha, ha.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: _____ [?] Hundreds of defects in the imitationist school.

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: Imitationist. Should it be Vaiṣṇava imitationist?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Imitationist of the true Vaiṣṇavism.

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: For the Western countries it has to be presented in a way they can relate to it.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Be careful about the pseudo Vaiṣṇava, so-called, so-called imitationist Vaiṣṇava. Hundreds of warnings against the physical charm of pseudo Vaiṣṇava. Something like that.

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: Physical charm?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Physical, and mental also, material charm of the pseudo Vaiṣṇava. What is this called? Beckoned? They're inviting, "Come to us, we're Vaiṣṇava." But be careful, hundreds of...

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: One hundred warnings.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Warnings.

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: Not faults, warnings.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Warnings, against the call of pseudo Vaiṣṇava imitationist. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Devotee: I have read many times...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You have read?

Badrinārāyaṇa: Many times about Śrīla Bhaktisiddhānta Saraswatī Ṭhākura's love for the printing press.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Oh yes. He gave the name of bṛhat-mṛdaṅga, the greater mṛdaṅga means that playing the musical instrument, mṛdaṅga, bṛhat-mṛdaṅga, it is very big mṛdaṅga whose sound will go far, far away. That name was given to press by him. And we're told that you are getting the chance of utilising yourself in that bṛhat-mṛdaṅga and you have got some ability to do that. Our Aranya Mahārāja has intimated that he may help the press affairs nicely when he will come here with a good mind to do that and he's able also to do that. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol.

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: Every day that would be taken into Calcutta for distribution, by train, or how did that work?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Nadiyā Prakāśa?

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: Nadiyā Prakāśa, yes. How was that distributed, in Calcutta?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: By canvassers in Navadwīpa, then Calcutta, so many subscribers. When the preaching party moved from different parts of the country they also collected subscribers, in this way. And also in the Calcutta market, in the Navadwīpa area station, big stations also they're like hawker, the brāhmacārīns came to spread like hawkers. Red clad brāhmacārīns they're hawkers, "Nadīyā Prakāśa, eka paisa, Nadīyā Prakāśa, take, one paisa," distributed.

And so many persons used to come to ridicule those boys.

"You have no parents to take care of you? You are let loose for this unnecessary activity? What are you doing? You are devouring, swallowing your own future, you boys go, go home. With red clad come to canvas newspaper, what is Nadīyā Prakāśa? You are faced with such adverse position and pushing Nadīyā Prakāśa."

As you are doing something in a more civilised way, canvassing books and you want something, donation. And specially in the enemy camp, this Navadwīpa town was the enemy camp. The bābājī and the goswāmī, it is particularly meant for them. You bābājīs not against, writings are against bābājī and goswāmī and smārta paṇḍit, so Navadwīpa is a good place to circulate. Ha, ha, ha.

Prabhupāda's attitude was, as I saw, totalitarian war against māyā. He used to say, "What backing, what support the māyā has got? It has got nothing to produce against Kṛṣṇa consciousness. It is all blissful, all hopeful, all satisfying. What māyā has got instead to give, that is very small, scanty, and hateful things, māyā is coming to offer. Why that māyā cannot be disparate wholesale? With the help of Kṛṣṇa consciousness, why the people will be deceived with the charm of material civilisation? Demolish it with Kṛṣṇa consciousness. All must be full of Kṛṣṇa consciousness. How happy it is. What this māyā has got in her side to speak against Kṛṣṇa consciousness? Demolish it. Attack this, the higher agents of māyā, the civilisation, the generals of present civilisation, approach them, fight and finish them.

Asit achat, asit asat, achit miranganat [?] Why do we allow ourselves to be engaged to be troubled in the jaws of death? It is a plane thing.

Yudhiṣṭhira Mahārāja told, "This is the most wonderful thing in the world, the only wonderful thing."

The Dharma will ask him that, "What is the most wonderful thing you find in the world?"

And according to him, the most wonderful thing is, "Every day we meet with death, dying, persons dying, still we try to engage our energy to construct things here. Our prospect still we try to find here. This cannot give us real impression to our mind that we will have to go and not to return. I shall have to go from this position, not to return, but still I'm maintaining, trying to maintain, to consolidate this position. All my energy I'm devoting to consolidate my position, knowing surely that I must leave it for eternity. So foolish I am that this is the most astonishing thing, impressed to me, my impression, the most astonishing thing in the world is this māyā. I shall leave my position eternally, still I consolidate my whole energy I engage there and do not do anything for my future, most astonishing. Such an astonishing thing I don't find in the world any longer."

ahany ahanī bhūtāni, gacchantīha yamālayam śeṣāḥ sthāvaram icchanti, [kim āścaryam ataḥ paraṁ]

["Hundreds and thousands of living entities meet death at every moment, but a foolish living entity thinks they themselves are deathless and does not prepare for death. This is the most wonderful thing in the world."] [Mahābhārata, Vana-parva, 313.116]

What is impossible he knows surely. Śeṣāḥ sthāvaram icchanti: "I shall live." With this mentality he's engaging the whole of his energy to consolidate his present position. This is māyā, most wonderful.

And Kṛṣṇa says in Gītā,

āścaryavat paśyati kaścid enam, āścaryavad vadati tathaiva cānyaḥ
āścaryavac cainam anyaḥ śṛṇoti, śrutvāpy enaṁ veda na caiva kaścit

["Some see the soul as astonishing, some describe him as astonishing, and some hear of him as astonishing, while others, even after hearing about him, cannot understand him at all."]
[Bhagavad-gītā, 2.29]

When one comes to realise his own position as a soul in the spiritual plane he's dumbfounded. "Oh, I'm so safe from mortality. I have got so much higher aspiration of life."

When he thinks of his own position he becomes wonder to us. When he goes to speak to others about his own position we feel the strangeness of the character of that thing. And who can hear, can get the chance of listening to that thing, he's also being enchanted. If such a position is possible for us and we are child of that soil, wonderful soil. In Gītā we find we are the wonderful child of the wonderful soil. And that is the beginning, and then more and more wonder after wonder, culminating in Vṛndāvana, Kṛṣṇa consciousness in the feet of the gopīs.

Gaura Hari. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Ha, ha. Vyāsadeva, there is a saying in Sanskrit śloka, the smārtas generally talk about that śloka. I heard in my home also, and when I went to preach in the Chitagrama a group of Sanskrit paṇḍits they also came with this śloka. The śloka I don't remember, but the substance is, after writing all the scripture, in the last śloka Vedavyāsa told that, "O You unknown and unknowable, I have taken You down through my descriptions to different shapes and forms. Please forgive me for that."

So with this śloka they want to say that the form worshipper, the Vaiṣṇavas, they're of lower position. But the highest position is that maybe impersonal conception, unknown and unknowable. Vedavyāsa has asked for forgiveness from the high to bring Him down in the so many formalities of this world, so the unknown and unknowable impersonal position - I told him, so this is already in many places it is told.

apāṇi-pādo javano grahitā, paśyaty acakṣuḥ [sa śṛṇoty akarṇaḥ

["The Lord has no hands or legs, yet He walks and touches. The Lord has no eyes or ears, yet He sees and hears."] [Śvetāśvatara Upaniṣad, 3.19]

It is like a similar thing, no mundane but all spiritual, shape, quality, all these things not mundane.

prakata na siddhi kori aprakrta staha [?] But transcendental specification, differentiation is there. But we suddenly in general we take them to be mundane. Paśyaty acakṣuḥ. He can see but He has not eye. What does it mean? That He has not this mundane eye. So mundane feet, mundane hand, that has been denied. But He's full with spiritual qualifications of every possible sensation, inception, knowledge, conclusion, everything is there. It is only to mean that, and that is everywhere. Paśyaty acakṣuḥ. Everything comes from Him, everything maintained in Him, and everything again enters into Him. What does it mean?

Mahāprabhu told to Sārvabhauma, "Coming from Him that is aparam pancami [?], and maintained in Him, this is satyami adhikara [?], again entering, it is dipiya [?], so the special characteristic of Him is written here. No speciality, no differentiated character has been discarded or denied, but mundane character has been taken off, the screen taken off.

Vasudeva Ghosh said, "If Gaurāṅga did not come here in this plane, then who could convince, could give us to know that everything is there for which we feel necessity in this world and wholesale represented there. And everything, every part of it is wholesome and perfect."

Tam eva bhāntam anubhāti sarvaṁ.

[na tatra sūryo bhāti candra-tārakaṁ, nema vidyuto bhānti kūto 'yam agniḥ]
tam eva bhāntam anubhāti sarvaṁ, tasya bhāsā sarvaṁ idaṁ vibhāti

["In the transcendental abode of the Lord there is no need of sun, moon, or stars for illumination, nor is there any need of electricity, what to speak of ignited lamps. On the other hand, it is because those planets are self-illuminating that all effulgence has become possible. Whatever there is that is dazzling is due to the reflection of the divine abode of the Lord. The Supreme Godhead is so brilliantly self-luminous that neither the sun, nor the moon, nor stars, nor lightning have any power of illumination in His transcendental abode, and what to speak of fire. It is a fact that all of them get their power of illumination from His effulgence alone. In fact, it is only because of His existence that the whole universe exists."]
[Muṇḍaka Upaniṣad, 2.2.10-2] & [Kaṭha Upaniṣad, 2.2.25 - part 5, mantra 15]

Even the stealing, lying, that has got the fine character, to steal, everything has got divine character, and that is the highest quarter harmonising everything. All details taken there, it is only a reflection here, but originally everything which satisfies our hankering is there, well represented. Only Gaurāṅga came with this idea here, that nothing is to be lost, everything is kept. Where from you get here, all the details, everything there, and it is a perverted reflection. Only difference that this is bad and that is good. Everything is good, everything has its good representation in the highest idea. Nothing to be left, wholesale we can retain. All the satisfaction of all our inner hankering is possible there to the fullest extent, inconceivably to the fullest extent. Whatever inner hankering you have within you, everything to be satisfied and in a very wonderful, beautiful way. This wholesale hope Gaurāṅga has taken to us.

natiya gaya koila suna [?] And the method? "Only chant and dance, and from iron you will turn into the gold. Ha, ha. No other method like tapasya, any painful penances, nothing of the kind. Only sing and dance, and the iron will be converted into gold. Come with Me." Ha, ha.

The goal is beauty and the means also beauty, beautiful. Gaura Hari bol.

"Only you must come with your own self, not a second, imitative self, ego, you must come out sincerely with your own self, sincerely, be sincere. What is necessary, you yourself have to come, no representation, no double. Ha, ha. No cheating. Only this is required, you must come yourself and join in My song and dancing party. I will take you to that beautiful realm and you will have everything there satisfied. Every nook and corner of your heart is represented there with fulfilment."

Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...all serving mood. Enjoyment means assertion, assert, aggression, enjoyment. So where there's a mood of enjoyment, aggression, there cannot be that sort of humility. Humility can't allow us to enjoy. All serving spirit, whatever it may be. Fine points to understand and to practice accordingly. Taror api sahiṣṇunā. Though aggressed, still to our extreme patience we're to tolerate. Very, very difficult thing, ha, ha, ha, for a living person. But thereby we can repay very soon all the debts we have incurred here in this plane. Debt incurring every moment, every moment causing molestation to the environment for the maintenance of this physical affairs. So how to get out?

Therefore, remaining unattached to the fruits of action, perform all your duties in the spirit of such sacrifice. Such action is the means of entering the path of devotion, and with the awakening of true perception of the Lord, it will enable you to attain to pure, unalloyed devotion, free from all material qualities (nirguṇa- bhakti)."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 3.9]

Whatever you do, do for the centre, try to connect with the centre. And another, what you have done already, for that:

tṛṇād api sunīcena, taror api sahiṣṇunā / amāninā mānadena, [kīrtanīyaḥ sadā hariḥ]

["One who is humbler than a blade of grass, more forbearing than a tree, who gives due honour to others without desiring it for himself is qualified to always chant the Holy Name of Kṛṣṇa."] [Śikṣāṣṭakam, 3]

Gaura Hari bol. All divine, the highest order of divinity. If we're trained in that way we can have a place in the higher sphere, in the higher gentleman's country. Ha, ha. No aggressive spirit, no entrance, no admission there, all give, never take. Just opposite. We're in the midst of the competition of aggression, we're now child of that soil, no aggression no life. Ha, ha. But our highest ideal is given for our best prospect, that non aggression, and to be open to all sorts of aggression. Are you ready? Ha, ha, ha. Are you ready, then you'll be led to the gentleman's country. Ha, ha. Here all guṇḍā, all rowdy.

Vamśidāsa Bābājī, "Who's giving, he's a thief, and who's taking, he's also a thief, both parties."

So Jai Gaurendu, when they heard this from me that Vamśidāsa Bābājī, "The taker and the giver, both parties are blackmailing, they're thieves" they avoided my company.

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: Ran away.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: We cannot but continue our money making, by hook or by _____ [?]
They're afraid of coming this side, that the giver also thief. The taker, giver, both the parties they're thieves. All the transactions of giving and taking is illegal here. Who is the owner? None is owner here. They themselves are the properties of someone. So this is all malpractice. Whatever we do, all malpractices.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...nurse a patient, thereby also you're using such medicine that's coming from so many animals and insects. Whatever we do, your movement is only, sighing, breathing, that is also killing so many. Everything nuisance, the very existence is nuisance, always acquiring our field. Of course it is in ego, and not with the soul. Soul is indifferent about these activities.

Our Guru Mahārāja used to say that, "Manager is working. The proprietor is minor. And the manager he's working on his behalf, and continuing this looting and other things. But the proprietor is innocent, he's minor. Only with the help of a major proprietor he can subdue those managers and take the charge in his hands of the state."

The soul, he's not responsible here, but by his passive existence these things are occurring. The ego is master, he's the party, and he's doing all this. And the suffering also, from good or bad, that also with the ego, ahaṅkāra.

["The Supreme Lord is the friend of the living being, and is so kind upon him that He always accompanies the soul. In the same way that two birds occupy the same branch of a tree, the Lord sits in the heart of every living being ready to bestow auspiciousness upon the soul. In this way the Lord acts as the indwelling witness, even while the soul pursues the fruits of karma and experiences mundane happiness and distress."] [Muṇḍaka Upaniṣad 3.1.1-2] & [Śvetāśvatara Upaniṣad 4.6-7]

Tayoranyaḥ pippalaṁ svādvattya-naśnan-nanyo, _____ [?]'bhicākaśīti samāne vṛkṣe.
In Upaniṣad. Two birds in a tree. Paramātmā, jīvātmā. In Upaniṣad, in a mystic representation, two birds in a tree, in a body two birds. Paramātmā, jīvātmā. Tayoranyaḥ pippalaṁ svādvattya.

One of them is relishing the fruit of the activity here. _____ [?] But the other, he does not take anything from here but he's very strong. _____ [?] That is Paramātmā, another part, ātmā, Paramātmā. _____ [?] Without food he's also very strong. And this man he's taking pippalaṁ, this fruit, which is little bitter, svādvattya, and relishing very much with that fruit. It has been stated this way. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

But the jīva soul also not really participating, only he's like minor, but only taking advantage of his presence the manager he's doing everything. But he's loser, the proprietor he's loser, he's at standstill, minor, neither this side nor that side, good or bad, nothing he can assert in minor stage. Some taṭasthā.

By the help of the sādhu when he can enter into his own soil he may feel in the wholesome atmosphere activity coming within him, awakening coming within him. But these are all philosophy to the practical persons, men of practical dealings, only non realistic philosophy. But your reality will evaporate, always evaporating and sometimes it will be finished. So no energy to spare for this mortal, cheating proposal.

Cheating and another?

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: Cheaters and the cheated?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And just the opposite word you told the other day? Teach. Teach and cheat, teaching and cheating. Who was saying that? Cheating and teaching, opposite. To teach, that is to deal with truth. So the nature of the scientists they're not teachers but they're rather cheaters. Swāmī Mahārāja told?

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: Yes. Many times.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Many times, that they're not teachers they're but cheaters. In the name of the scientific glamour they're attracting towards opposite direction of our real interest. So all cheaters. Māyā means cheating, mā yā, cheating, what is not that. Māyā. Mā mean no, and yā means what, what is not that. We see like that. That is māyā.

And another, mriyate anayat, which is seen with local interest, leaving aside the universal interest of everything. Artheṣu abhijñaḥ svarāṭ. Īśāvāsyam. From the standpoint of the centre, central interest, we can't see, we thrust our local interest on everything and read according to that. And also take down those things in history, all false, māyā. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol.

...generally used to tell in excited moment, "The scientific, the so-called educated of the world, that how much strength they have got? Nothing." He usually compared them with the leg of a cock, murgī tyang. A leg of a cock - cock generally moves in some elegant way as very strong. The posing of the movement of the cock that he's very strong, and legs are very strong. That murgī tyang, how much it may be broken to pieces by anyone. All the proposals of the supporters of this worldly utility they're very small, very weak, strength very small, murgī tyang. Cheaters. So-called teachers are really cheaters. How much strength they have got? Hare Kṛṣṇa.

With this force our Guru Mahārāja began his campaign, totalitarian war. Crush the whole so-called scientific civilisation that are so eager to do good to us. 'God save me from our friends.' In the Bible, this expression. 'God save me from my friends.' So let God save us from our so-called friends, our well-wisher of this mundane world, so-called educationist.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Asat, acit, nirānanda. In Purī, in his last days when Prabhupāda took his seat on Chatak Parvat in a room on the walls few Sanskrit poems are written. One of them, tasmad idam jagat asesam asat sarupam sat marvam asta disanam puru dukha dukham [?]

taj jiva nitya sukha bhoda tanum anante maya tujya api yat sarva bhavi varti [?]

Consequently topics going on, consequently he says the conclusion. idam jagat asesam asat sarupam. It is transient to the extreme. What is this second, next second it has changed - asat sarupam. Exhaustively, extremely non real, non existing. Every second it is changing. We can't trace, whatever we find next, that record is invalid, in this way, invalid.

Einstein told, that fourth dimension, or something, that something is present and plus something more. His future, next changing position, that is to be accounted. Whatever we're to record at present, and some provision in the future must be recorded with that. Otherwise the next moment I shall find some slight change, also to be recorded.

So Bhāgavatam says, asat, not only asat, asesam asat. Endlessly it is asat, endlessly non existent. Asat means not existent, and asesam which has got no end. Incalculability non existent, this world in the midst of which we stand. Incalculability, infinitely, it is non existent. Ha, ha.

It goes to trace its origin that it is on the free will of the Lord. It depends on His handling, His interfering. It has got no stability of its own. So asesam asat sarupam asesam, no sesa, that is endless, endlessly non existent jagat, asat sarupa, sat marvam. You may compare it with some dream. asta disanam. Our handling with it, or our mixing, or our transaction with such false thing, asta disanam, it will also destroy our understanding. asta disanam, di means buddhi, intelligence, reason, understanding. But the world is so non existing that it will damage our understanding. Contamination.

asesam asat sarupam, asta disanam. Just as sun sets, our calculating intelligence will also set, like sun, asta disanam. puru dukha dukham. And it is misery, misery, misery, all misery, puru dukha dukham. And what is the peculiarity, inconceivable.

taj jiva nitya sukha bhoda tanum. It has got its existence, its connection with you. This is very wonderful. And what is your position of your nature? Nitya, opposite. nitya sukha bhoda tanum. You are nitya, you are eternal. This is flickering, you're not changing, you're eternal, opposite, nitya, sukha. This is puru dukha dukham, very deep misery. And you are full of ecstasy, joy, sukha, bhoda, asta disanam. But you're just opposite, you're bhoda, full of unbridled conception, perception of knowledge, consciousness, so bhoda, tanum. Here is some peculiarity, but personal. Endowed with these three general qualifications, really you're a person, not any impersonal substance. nitya sukha bhoda tanum. You have got your person body and there it's accommodated in this way. Anante. Non-understandable, it's limitless, infinite.

Then this peculiar position is going to be explained. maya tujya api yat sarva bhavi varti. This jagat, world. How it has come, sprung up? maya tujya api. Māyā, that is another potency of You, very indirect potency. Itarataś, 'nvayād itarataś, in Bhāgavatam [1.1.1]. Na pratīyeta cātmani [Bhāgavatam, 2.9.34]. Direct, indirect. By the possibility of indirect conception it has got its origin. To help what is truth, falsehood is necessary. To understand the light, darkness is necessary. With the help of darkness we can understand light. Something like that, opposite. To understand light, the presence of darkness is necessary. In this way it has got its function with You. To understand what is joy, sukha, the sorrow is necessary. What is sorrow, what is pain, just on the opposite side. Background correlated. To understand what is knowledge, ignorance is necessary. By comparison we can understand, this is knowledge, not ignorance.

So in this co-relativity, māyā, it has come out of that. This potency, this possibility, is the basis of such indirect life, knowledge. It is also, in outside, in inside in Yogamāyā also, some such differentiation is present there. Otherwise nothing is understandable without the background which is not that. Understanding means non understanding. On the background it must have its position. So 'nvayād itarataś, but both are included there. Māyā is also not independent, that is also Kṛṣṇa śakti, bahiraṅgā śakti.

The gradation is there. What is darkness to me that may be light to the owl, and other sections. In that sort of darkness, very short light, they can see. So many animals also there are they can see both in day and night. So it is peculiar. With the help of abstract nothing we're to understand what is something. So in this way it is there, but it is not desirable, undesirable. But it helps the harmony in its extreme condition, the law of thought says so.

Nitya sukha bhoda tanum anante. Anante means how it is possible, we cannot harmonise. What you say we can't harmonise, so it is said anante, infinite, not to be the object of your knowledge. maya tujya api yat sarva bhavi varti. Though it's necessary from the negative aspect, but to You it seems to be positive, sarva bhavi varti.

taj jiva nitya sukha bhoda tanum anante maya tujya api yat sarva bhavi varti [?]

You realise it is fact. You are there. The happiness is there, the pain is there, misery is there. We can feel both. But something is desirable, something undesirable. And it is our intrinsic tendency to move towards desirability, and in fact it is there. taj jiva nitya sukha bhoda tanum anante maya tujya api yat sarva bhavi varti. But who have got that conception, 'māyā can do this.' They may see that māyā is rendering such service from far away. They can see māyā, but māyā can't affect them. Local interest, provincial interest, cannot affect them who have identified themselves with the universal interest. But they can feel that they're suffering from local interest. They feel that if food is put to the tongue, not to the stomach, that can do some good, feel like that _____ [?] Food put to the tongue and not to the stomach. Like the water to the leaf, that will do, not to the root. Something like that, that provincial interest, and not universal interest. But universal interest is such that accommodates all provincial interest. But provincial interest cannot think of universal interest. So,

yajñārthāt karmaṇo 'nyatra, loko 'yaṁ karma-bandhanaḥ

All you are bewildered, wandering in a forest, hither thither unknown. But yajñārthāt karmaṇo 'nyatra, your activity will be all irrelevant thoughts. But yajñārthāt centre, try to be centred, related to the centre. Yajña, means sacrifice. Sacrifice your individual interest for the interest of the centre. Because you consider material things of great value, give too much value to the materials, so material things should be sacrificed. The money, the other things will be sacrificed for the central cause. Internal sacrifice, the sacrifice in your consciousness, that is more effective than this material sacrifice. Then sacrifice will take you to the border, Brahmaloka. Then sacrifice of higher quality will be necessary again to accept that as your eternal friend. Then you'll be allowed to enter into the higher positive realm where every unit is sacrificed. That is the main thing, on the conception this is the backbone, the steel frame, and all other siddhānta, conclusion, should be made upon this basis.

When [Herr] Schulze [Sadānanda dāsa] came, that German scholar, after some time when he was asked he told that, "Bhoga, tyāga, and sevā. Action, then salvation, and then service, three phases of life."

Our Guru Mahārāja appreciated that he has understood the basic line. The three phases of life, enjoyment, and withdrawal from enjoying life, mukti, salvation, and then the higher plane is that of service, dedication. To understand three phases of life, with all its constituent parts and upakaran, necessary parts, vilāsa, the differentiation in.

Also to understand how in Goloka there is division in so many parties. One is in competition with the other. Apparently, this is similar to this competition here. But what is the difference there? Sacrifice.

And peculiarly that personal conception. Everything exists in personal conception. Fossilised brain. We're accustomed to think, without fossil no background, no foundation can be conceived, everything must be a structure on some foundation. But just the opposite. All subjective, super subjective. So the Berkley's theory. Ha, ha.

"Let there be light." There was light. "Let there be water." There was water.

But we're accustomed to think in the opposite way. But we're wanted to understand the opposite line, coming from higher conscious world, all appear in the line of divya. Arjuna _____ [?] Viśvarūpa darśana.

"You see Me in such way."

"Yes. I see You. I see that."

"Again see Me in this way."

"Yes I see so."

The seer is controlled, to show, not that the rigid sight is there requiring to have estimation of it, experience of that. But only the seer is there, and by regulating him the sight is being shown in any way the seer likes, the super seer. Conscious controller, consciousness subject controller super subject, the cause in that side. The cause of everything to be traced on that side. Seer of the seer of the seer of the seer of the seer.

Viṣṇu. Ya idam visvam vyapnoti [?] All pervading spirit. How He should be traced? Just on your head, imagine, like a sun His grand eye is open on your head. A big, extensive eye means seer. Like a sun spread on your head. With this idea you go to begin any activity. In any activity, going to begin any religious duty, it has been asked by the smṛti śāstra that before you begin any attendance to any duty, you have your own conception who are you? And who is approaching to do what? Your guardian's vigilant eye spread over your head like a searching eye, like the sun on your head. With this consciousness you approach anything and everything, the prospective will be wonderful. Tad viṣṇo paramaṁ padaṁ sadā. So it is leading us to that centre. Go to the subject of the subject, to trace the cause of the world. This is all production of the subject, like a magician, hypnotist. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Bad, undesirable things cannot exist, that exists apparently. Natural selection or something.

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: Survival of the fittest?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Natural selection, only the scientists say, survivors of the fittest. Survivor of the fittest, if we can trace that law, only fittest things can survive. So only goodness can exist. Unfit things must be non existent, from the absolute standpoint. Survival of the fittest, in this changing world if we can find that. Then in the eternal world only the fittest are there, surviving. When in whose case there is possibility of surviving, absolutely, he's only existing, nothing else, in the plane of eternity. And as the misconception comes with this good, bad, all these also come. But in the ultimate existence, without fittest, cannot stand in the plane of eternity. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Devotee: _____ [?]

...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja:

yā niśā sarva-bhūtānāṁ, tasyāṁ jāgarti saṁyamī
yasyāṁ jāgrati bhūtāni, sā niśā paśyato muneḥ

["While spiritual awareness is like night for the living beings enchanted by materialism, the self-realised soul remains awake, directly relishing the divine ecstasy of his uninterrupted spiritual intelligence. On the contrary, the wakefulness of materialistic persons addicted to sense enjoyment is night for the self-realised person who is completely indifferent to such pursuits. The realised souls, indifferent to the mundane, are ever joyful in the divine ecstatic plane, while the general mass is infatuated by fleeting mundane fancies devoid of spiritual joy."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 2.69]

What is day to us we're to leave that. We're to jump into the night almost. Ha, ha. Then we shall find day. Die to live. Surrender. Apparently surrender means death. But death, die to live, surrender, negative side, to give up everything. Abstinence to the extreme, surrender, to become cypher. To attain the highest form of positive we should become cypher. Surrender. All defects in your existence will be cleared. Your existence is defective, vulnerable. So no confidence in you.

Surrender, faith. If we accept faith it may be false. But you're already cent percent within the falsehood, so no that sort of pleading, advocacy, give up. You're already there. So don't be afraid by incurring something more worse in faith. And faith, how much you can cover in the area of your tiny faith? Infinite is more and more, bigger, big, and better. Your small faith, what may be the area of your faith? Infinite is more, it is greater, greater, infinitely greater. So your faith in the ocean, how much you can take the water? Faith, śraddhā, faith for the high, faith can take you nearer the highest thing. Through faith you can connect yourself with the highest thing - no other.

Just as they're having connection with the furthest planet, with the help of electricity. Not by hand, nor by any machine or anything, by air or anything. But in the electric plane they can go to the furthest possible quarter.

So faith is the most extensive plane which we can find nearby. And through that connection we can go far and far away. If we can come in connection in our conviction and conception such things may be there. We can eternally have the company of that highest thing of that highest type, by faith.

In our connection with the infinite only faith can help, give connection. From far away through faith He can come to us. No other property can come, we have got in our possession that can bring Him near to me. And to get Him near, that means in other words, to go near to Him.

We may think about the so-called scientists, with the computer, with the machinery, they're sending their, keeping information of those sputniks, only by machines though. And ordinary men, 'How we can rely on the machines?' The electrification, all these movements, ordinary man cannot read it. 'What is happening there, by reading, they advertise to the people that this is there. The weather will come in this way.' Ordinary man cannot understand. But a brainy class they find real connection, are connected with them. Ordinary man may think, 'That is unreal. How a machine can say?' This telegraph system, the television, and the radio, it is beyond the conception of intelligence of an ordinary man. But those that are in connection with the radio they say, 'Yes, that is happening, we're getting it, it's all true.'

So faith at present may seem to be abstract to the unbelievers, to the ordinary persons. But who are accustomed to work in the plane of faith, really in that transaction, it is reality to them. Yā niśā sarva- bhūtānāṁ, tasyāṁ jāgarti saṁyamī. Every man has got his plane. What is civilisation to the human beings, an ordinary worm or insect, it is beyond their jurisdiction. So through faith we can live in such a place and that is concrete thing, though it is not so easily understandable. But who are really making transaction with that it is real to them. They're getting satisfaction, verification, they're finding verification there. 'Yes, we're sending news and something coming to us.' So verification is possible in the faith also, but to the person of that standard. And ordinary ignorant mass they may not find any verification of those movements and discovery. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Śraddhā.

sakala chāḍiyā bhāi, śraddhādevīra guṇa gāi, yanra kṛpa bhakti dite pare

[Śrīla Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura has written, "Giving up everything, let us sing in praise of Śraddhā Devī - faith - whose grace can take us to Kṛṣṇa."]

Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura. "Give up everything, and let us come to praise exclusively about the grace of faith, śraddhā. And śraddhā can only take us to Kṛṣṇa, nothing else."

That surrendering for Him can take us nearer to Him, and we can find He's real, and all else is unreal. Though it cannot be seen by this eye, or heard by this ear, sometimes also that is also possible, but generally not. That is atīndriya, buddhi-grāhyam atīndriyam [Bhagavad-gītā, 6.21]

evaṁ buddheḥ paraṁ buddhvā, saṁstabhyātmānam ātmanā
jahi śatruṁ mahā-bāho, kāma-rūpaṁ durāsadam

["O mighty Arjuna! Knowing the soul to be thus perfectly distinct from the intelligence, steady the mind with resolute intelligence and destroy the indomitable enemy, lust."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 3.43]

In Gītā, how to get out from the attraction, finally, from all these tendencies that are drawing me towards this material world, material charm? How to get out of the material charm?

evaṁ buddheḥ paraṁ buddhvā, saṁstabhyātmānam ātmanā
jahi śatruṁ mahā-bāho, kāma-rūpaṁ durāsadam

If anyhow we can come in connection with that, all these things will seem to be like trash. It will be very, very easy to get out, leave all these things. Evaṁ buddheḥ paraṁ buddhvā, saṁstabhyātmānam ātmanā. Introspection. By soul's eye try to see the soul. Soul is above your reason and intelligence, that's generally used in this plane, there is soul. So try to find out with the help, with the highest intelligence, try to find out the soul. And with your own soul embrace that soul. Saṁstabhyātmānam ātmanā, saṁstabhya. Try to embrace it with your final existence the very existence is such. Then if it is possible for a second that you can take yourself to your own self withdrawing from the environment, then such a happy slight experience for the second you'll get, the whole thing will seem to be like trash, no charm. All charm will vanish, will be uprooted. 'Oh. Beyond this apparently charming environment there is such a real thing, which is so happy.' Though a very small point, but it will be a constituent part of a great, happy plane.

āścaryavat paśyati kaścid enam, [āścaryavad vadati tathaiva cānyaḥ
āścaryavac cainam anyaḥ śṛṇoti, śrutvāpy enaṁ veda na caiva kaścit]

["Some see the soul as astonishing, some describe him as astonishing, and some hear of him as astonishing, while others, even after hearing about him, cannot understand him at all."]
[Bhagavad-gītā, 2.29]

You'll be struck dumb. 'Such a thing is existing? And that is myself? Then I'm only chewing the glass, or stone, chewing the stone. What am I doing?' With most confident and final retirement wholesale from the material charm which we get through our mundane senses. Āścaryavat. Then we'll be convinced, if we can explore on the higher side I shall be greatly successful in my errand, and surely, certainly. It is a certain plane. This is uncertain. Only if you can have a peep, a touch, of your own soul, then the Supersoul and so many others, on the other side. Not to talk of them. Only your own soul, if you can taste only for a second, by your empirical method.

indriyāṇi parāṇy āhur, indriyebhyaḥ paraṁ manaḥ
manasas tu parā buddhir, [buddher yaḥ paratas tu saḥ]

["The learned proclaim that the senses are superior to inert objects, the mind is superior to the senses, and the faculty of resolute intelligence is superior to the mind. And he who is superior to the intelligence is the soul himself."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 3.42]

In this way, by step by step, eliminating the charm of the lower existence, go. The intelligence is a very fine thing. Then above intelligence what is there? That spark, what makes the intelligence, the reason to work, that soul, that light. If for a second you can have its connection, touch, the revolutionary change is bound to come in your life. Whole history of this world will appear to be useless. I want that world, my souls world. Then again you'll be told - Supersoul, Paramātmā, then Vaikuṇṭha, in this way.

prāyeṇa munayo rājan, nivṛttā vidhi-ṣedhataḥ
nairguṇya-sthā ramante sma, guṇānukathane hareḥ

["O King Parīkṣit, mainly the topmost transcendentalists, who are above the regulative principles and restrictions, take pleasure in describing the glories of the Lord."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 2.1.7]

Then some practical faith will come. The God's existence is not a fable, not an imagination, it is a reality. So your progress, your inquiry will be more genuine, of pure type. Your march towards the land will be more real. And it will fetch results also, more and more confident. And the gradation is there towards Kṛṣṇa conception, as Bhāgavatam, the last book of Vyāsadeva, and Mahāprabhu gave us. Satyam śivam sundaram. Search for Kṛṣṇa, Reality the Beautiful, sundaram. Life will be successful.

[andhā yathāndhair upanīyamānās, te 'pīśa-tantryām uru-dāmni baddhāḥ]

[Prahlāda Mahārāja says: "Persons who are strongly entrapped by the consciousness of enjoying material life, and who have therefore accepted as their leader or guru a similar blind man attached to external sense objects, cannot understand that the goal of life is to return home, back to Godhead, and engage in the service of Lord Viṣṇu. As blind men guided by another blind man miss the right path and fall into a ditch, materially attached men led by another materially attached man are bound by the ropes of fruitive labour, which are made of very strong cords, and they continue again and again in materialistic life, suffering the threefold miseries."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 7.5.31]

Only busily engaged with the cover, but not the spirit within. Prahlāda Mahārāja says. Bahir-artha- māninaḥ. The outer aspect is charming you, engrossing you so much. Bahir-artha-māninaḥ. Look deep to find out the internal substance which makes all these things existent, sat, which makes all calculation possible, cit, and which makes to search after such, the highest prospect of life, ānandam. Don't ignore them. Search your own self, what are you searching for.

Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol.

The standard of our inquiry we have got from Mahāprabhu the general standard of inquiry. Inquire in this line, your prospect is there, verified. Be sincere. You're in the hands of a cheater, be aware of that. So much so that you yourself wants to cheat you. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. So march will be thorough and wide towards. No necessity of any credulity. Who believes everything very easily, what is that? Blind faith, credulity. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Then we'll understand the magnanimous characteristic of Mahāprabhu.

And if one day we can sing in chorus with Vasudeva Ghosh. Yadi gaura nā hoita, tabe ki hoita, kemone dharitām de. If such Gaurāṅga did not come here how we could live? Such a stage, such a taste, if we did not have any experience, then our life was worthless. The taste which I got at present, given by Śrī Gaurāṅga, without this, life is no life. Kemone dharitām de. How could I sustain my life, my existence, without this? Only that I have, I'm fated to reach this, so I'm dragging on my life for this final fortunate attainment. ___ [?] Yes, living has been successful because I could come to taste such a nectar drop, my living has been successful. If I could not get this then whole life that should be considered useless. That I have lived so much with so much trouble, it is worth living, because I could come to such conclusion, such goal, justifying my past. My present attainment is justifying my past life, so many troubled lives in different species. But now I have reached such a goal that's justifying all my sorrows in the past lives.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Devotee: How can our faith grow more and more?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: By utilising the favourable environment, from there we're to draw our food. The food what we want, where it is stored, we're to leave them. Just as when one is suffering from a disease, doctors say ultimately, "Leave, take a change of climate." So by going to a particular climate I automatically get help from the nature. Without medicine my health may improve. So environment can help us. Sādhu saṅga and śāstra saṅga.

sādhu-śastra-kṛpāya yadi kṛṣṇonmukha haya, sei jīva nistare, māyā tāhāre chāḍaya

["If the conditioned soul becomes Kṛṣṇa conscious by the mercy of saintly persons who voluntarily preach scriptural injunctions and help him to become Kṛṣṇa conscious, the conditioned soul is liberated from the clutches of māyā, who gives him up."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 20.120]

Sādhu, śāstra, both similar, one in passive, another in an active way, to help us. Which gives us His connection, His Name, His līlā, His rūpa, guṇa, everything. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari bol.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hmm?

Vidagdha Mādhava: He was of the opinion that a very new devotee in the Kṛṣṇa conception would be on a more advanced platform than say Jesus Christ. Is that correct, a proper understanding?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What did I say? I don't follow you? That anyone who has entered Kṛṣṇa consciousness...

Vidagdha Mādhava: No. You didn't say this. Mukunda Mālā has this conception. Because of hearing some preaching from Your Divine Grace, he has drawn a conclusion, and that conclusion is that someone beginning in Kṛṣṇa consciousness, beginning in the Kṛṣṇa conception, he's more advanced than Jesus Christ.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is superior to Christ?

Vidagdha Mādhava: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What conception the Christ gave.

Vidagdha Mādhava: But he's specifically of the opinion that that neophyte bhakta is on a higher platform than Jesus Christ.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Because the prospect. Christ means what Christ preached.

Vidagdha Mādhava: Yes.

83.07.08.A

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ... a fair looking tall gentleman. He [Ronald Nixon] has got a history. In the first great war when he was in the French line and an air soldier [R.A.F. fighter pilot], and when he found that death is sure, the plane is falling within the jurisdiction, the German area, he prayed - He met me here, and then also in Vṛndāvana - "If there be any God, let Him save me."

But then he fainted, afterwards when he woke up he saw himself in a French hospital. And they could not say anything, but told that anyhow the plane somehow or other came, fell in the French area. Then he remembered his past prayer. And straight when he came out of hospital went to the British churchmen.

"I want to see God, if there be any, please advise, guide me."

But afterwards, as he told, that they advised, "You want to see God direct. It is not possible here. We have got no such suggestion in our Bible. But you go to India and there may be some yogī that can contact direct with God." So he came here.

Anyhow he took initiation [receiving the name Śrī Kṛṣṇaprema] from that lady devotee [Monikā Devī] who was the wife of the then vice principal [Dr. Jñānendra Nātha Cakravartī] of Lucknow. And then in red cloth he wandered through India, into Navadwīpa also, and met so many. And he established an āśrama in Almorā and began to preach also. But in your young age must have heard his name, seen also.

Another was Dr Sadhana, Madhyana Gopāla Sādhana [?], he was our Godbrother, superintendent engineer, perhaps he also comes from _____ [?] side. Another, Tikam Singh [?] Another you might have heard if not seen Dr Parmalal [?], who was advisor to the government, U.P. Bihar. They came from Agra.

There was one professor named Suryakumar Kaya Parma [?], a professor of mathematics in the Agra College. That gentleman was a good mathematician and detected some mistake in the calculation of a German mathematician, so he got a high name. And he was a devotee of Śrī Gaurāṅga. And influenced by his character many persons in U.P. we found they are devotees of Śrī Caitanyadeva.

This family, this Parmalal, three brothers. Asokilal [?], a big advocate in Agra [?]. Second Parmalal, I.C.S. and last he was advisor to the governor, we saw in the paper.

And the third brother, Kundanlal [?], he was assistant editor in Manchester Guardian in India for twenty years. And when a student in the first great war he visited Germany. He married one British lady, the lady was the daughter of Calvert Reed [?], the logician. We have read his logic, Calvert Reed. Calvert Reed's daughter, I forget her name, she was the principal of the art college in England, some art college, and this Kundalal married her and had a daughter. Then he came away. And he also took Hari Nāma from our Guru Mahārāja, we caught him in Visnaga [?] while preaching. Then Kundalal was sometimes editor of a paper named National Call in Patna [?], the editor of daily paper, National Call, from Patna [?]

And there is another professor in Agra College, our Godbrother, Oudh Bihārī [Lal] Kapoor, he is also a Doctor and he has written a book [The Philosophy and Religion of Śrī Chaitanya] about Śrī Caitanyadeva's life and teachings, based on Śrī Caitanya-caritāmṛta. And there he got Doctorship, Oudh Bihārī [Lal] Kapoor. He comes from Allahabad, but he was a long time a professor in Agra College, still living.

When we were preaching in that side, this Naimiṣāraṇya, our Guru Mahārāja had a Maṭha, he established a Maṭha there named Bhāgavata Maṭha perhaps, Naimiṣāraṇya. Nimsar. And visited several times and preached around, long time ago, forty years back. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol.

Devotee: _____ [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: We're told that you have some questions.

Doctor Sharma: Śrīdhara Mahārāja. In the western world we find that six out of ten marriages end up in divorces within a few years.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hmm? Six? Ten?

Śrīla Govinda Mahārāja: Out of ten marriages.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Marriages?

Doctor Sharma: Yes. If ten marriages are performed in the western world, and especially in England...

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Only six are successful.

Doctor Sharma: Only six are successful. The other four end up in divorce within a year.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: They're separated.

Doctor Sharma: And the result is that there are so many delinquent children are on the increase in the western world. The marriage is no more - hasn't got the same bond as it used to be.

I was wondering if you have got any message which Aranya Mahārāja could publish, and it could be distributed in the western world. How these people could be stopped from divorcing, and so that they could remain together? Because we feel that they're very much on the material platform, sense gratification, and once they get tired of the other partner, they want to leave their partner straight away, because they have got no God consciousness in them left.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In Bhāgavatam it is mentioned that how the society is going on, and how it should go.

dharmasya hy āpavargyasya, nārtho 'rthāyopakalpate nārthasya dharmaikāntasya, kāmo lābhāya hi smṛtaḥ kāmasya nendriya-prītir, lābho jīveta yāvatā jīvasya tattva-jijñāsā nārtho yaś ceha karmabhiḥ

["All occupational engagements are certainly meant for ultimate liberation. They should never be performed for material gain. Furthermore, according to sages, one who is engaged in the ultimate occupational service should never use material gain to cultivate sense gratification."]

["Life's desires should never be directed toward sense gratification. One should desire only a healthy life, or self preservation, since a human being is meant for enquiry about the Absolute Truth. Nothing else should be the goal of one's works."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.2.9-10]

The arrangement, the system of our life, how it should be, and how it is going on at present. Dharma, artha, kāma, generally three folds of end. Dharma, artha, kāma, mokṣa, we may take this four also, the fourfold ends of life. Kāma means sense pleasure. Then artha means to collect energy what can be converted into sense pleasure. Dharma means duty. And mukti means to get liberation from the present undesirable life. Fourfold ends of life, someone must follow any of these. The worst class, the lowest class are following sense pleasure. Dharmasya hy āpavargyasya.

Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam says that dharma, that duty, must be set in such a way that it will take to liberation. Nārtho 'rthāyopakalpate. But at present duty is set in such a way that to earn maximum money. Nārtho 'rthāyopakalpate. That money earning is not the end, it is not the aim of our duty. Nārthasya dharmaikāntasya, kāmo lābhāya hi smṛtaḥ. And the money should be utilised to help the duty and not to purchase sense pleasure. And sense pleasure, sense connection with the material world, that is not for sense pleasure, but it should be guided in such a way that we can keep our health well. We shall have material connection, so much so that we shall have a good body and good mind. So our Bhāgavatam says that we at present we fix our duty to earn maximum money, and with that money we enjoy ourselves and we distribute them to others. We think that we're doing best duty. But it should not be so. Only we shall take the help from the material world, so much as to keep up our body fit, and with the fitness of the body we shall earn money. And the money should be utilised to help our duty, to discharge our duty. And duty should be so placed that it will take me to liberation. Then this should be. The varṇāśrama is also meant for such.

Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam says,

dharmaḥ svanuṣṭhithaḥ puṁsāṁ, viṣvaksena-kathāsu yaḥ
notpādayed yadi ratiṁ, śrama eva hi kevalam

["The occupational activities a man performs according to his own position are only so much useless labour if they do not provoke attraction for the message of the Personality of Godhead."]

[Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.2.8]

The duties as directed in varṇāśrama; a brāhmaṇa, kṣatriya, vaiśya, śūdra, and brahmacārī, gṛhastha, vānaprastha, sannyāsa, if this system helps us to go to attain Kṛṣṇa bhakti, then it is all right. But if it fails to take us to that goal, then it is asura varṇāśrama, a failure in varṇāśrama.

dharmaḥ svanuṣṭhithaḥ puṁsāṁ, viṣvaksena-kathāsu yaḥ

notpādayed yadi ratiṁ, śrama eva hi kevalam

I have perfectly performed my duties, but it did not produce any attachment, any devotion to Visnu. Then, this is all failure, it is in vain. So, in Bhagavad-gītā also we find that by our past karma, wherever we are floated, come.

yataḥ pravṛttir bhūtānāṁ, yena sarvvam idaṁ tatam svakarmmaṇā tam abhyarccya, siddhiṁ vindati mānavaḥ

["A man achieves perfection by the performance of the appropriate duties prescribed for him according to his qualification. By the execution of his duties, he worships the Supreme Lord from whom the generation and impetus of all beings arises, and who permeates and pervades this entire universe (exercising His Supreme qualification of Lordship over one and all.")] [Bhagavad-gītā, 18.46]

Yataḥ pravṛttir bhūtānāṁ, yena sarvvam idaṁ tatam. The all pervading power that has taken me, carried me to my present position, if from that position by our own energy, our karma, we try to satisfy Him, then we're going up. Yataḥ pravṛttir bhūtānāṁ, yena sarvvam idaṁ tatam. The energy, the power which has given me this position, and which is all around me always. Yena sarvvam idaṁ tatam. Svakarmmaṇā tam abhyarccya. By my own duty, my own activity I must revere, I must show my respect to that power which is all around. Siddhim vindati. Then if I can begin my life in this way, my gratitude to the power that has given me such elevated position, and with that power that is given to me, utilise it for His service, then I'll get promotion, siddhim vindati, I shall go to my goal. In Bhagavad-gītā.

yat karoṣi yad aśnāsi, yaj juhoṣi dadāsi yat
yat tapasyasi kaunteya, tat kuruṣva mad arpaṇam

["O son of Kuntī, whatever you do, whatever you eat, whatever you offer in sacrifice, whatever you offer in charity, and whatever austere vows you may keep - do everything as an offering unto Me."]
[Bhagavad-gītā, 9.27]

"Whatever you come across, you meet, try to devote it for My satisfaction and you will make progress gradually, in this way."

And this is possible only when we can find some fine gain in our life. Our hope, our prospect, in the higher world, if we can come across that, then only it is possible to control us from this self gratification stage of our life, to save us. So therefore preaching is necessary from all sides, whether he be a Christian, or a Mohammedan, or a Hindu, everyone must be common here, or a Buddhist, that to submit to sensualism that can never be any higher standard of life. Self control is necessary. But what for, self control? That to work out our salvation from the defective area in which we are living at present.

Bhagavad-gītā [13.9] says, janma-mṛtyu-jarā-vyādhi-duḥkha-doṣānudarśanam. There are the intelligence, or reason, of three kinds classified, sāttvik, rājarsik, tāmasik. Sāttvik intelligence, that higher reasoning will read the environment in such a way, where there is birth, there is death, where there is disease and there is infirmity, there cannot be happiness. If we have got such keen eye to read the environment, and it is possible only when we get that higher reasoning, that this is not a good place to live. We must seek a higher sphere to have our life, this sāttvik intelligence can help us.

Another thing which is the basis of Vaiṣṇavism, Bhāgavata dharma, what I told this is varṇāśrama. Varṇāśrama, by good karma we're gradually coming to such adaptability. But Bhāgavata dharma is of another peculiar type. That is based on our taste, not by intelligence, or calculation, or karma, nothing. That is sukṛti, ruci. Wherever I may be, I may not be a brāhmaṇa, but I may be a caṇḍāla. But if I can collect a little bit of my taste for the līlā of Kṛṣṇa, or Viṣṇu, Nārāyaṇa, and with the help of that if we come in the association of the sādhus and develop my taste towards Him, whoever I may be, or whatever position I may be in, I can have a direct promotion towards the Lord. Anyone, he may a mleccha, or may be a caṇḍāla, anyone he may be, but taste, ruci, taste, śraddhā. And with sādhu saṅga he may go direct to Vaikuṇṭha. Whereas this qualified brāhmaṇa, he may have to go downwards, if he cannot have any taste towards Nārāyaṇa or Viṣṇu.

So Mahāprabhu, if you've gone through Caitanya-caritāmṛta, when He asked Rāya Rāmānanda.

"Sadhya sādhana tattva. What is our destination and how to attain that? Please explain this."

Rāmānanda first came out with varṇāśrama conception.

varṇāśramācāravatā puruṣeṇa paraḥ pumān / viṣṇur ārādhyate panthā nānyat tat-toṣa-kāraṇam

["The only way to please the Supreme Personality of Godhead, Lord Viṣṇu, is to worship Him by properly executing one's prescribed duties in the social system of varṇa and āśrama."]
[Viṣṇu Purāṇa, 3.8.9] & [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 8.58]

"By faithfully practising the duties that are given to us in varṇāśrama dharma, a brāhmaṇa, kṣatriya, vaiśya, śūdra, by discharging his own respective duties they can go forward."

Mahāprabhu, Śrī Caitanyadeva told, "This is also superficial. Go deeper."

Then Rāmānanda came out. "Kṛṣṇe karmārpaṇa — sarva-sādhya-sāra"

[prabhu kahe, — "eho bāhya, āge kaha āra" rāya kahe, "kṛṣṇe karmārpaṇa — sarva-sādhya-sāra"]

[The Lord replied, "This is external. You had better tell Me of some other means."

Rāmānanda replied, "To offer the results of one's activities to Kṛṣṇa is the essence of all perfection."]

[Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 8.59]

If whatever duty you do, if we have direct connection, varṇāśrama has got a relation with Nārāyaṇa in an indirect way, but if one be of direct conscious to offer his karma to Nārāyaṇa, then his life is more successful. Yat karoṣi, whatever you do, you do it for Him. It is also a custom in our country that whatever Deity we worship, either Durgā or Śiva, kṛte tad karma-phalam sri krsnaya samarpitam astu [?] At the end of the function we take some water in the hand and we offer all the consequences to Kṛṣṇa, for Him. The result of the pūjā, homa, your śrāddha, whatever it may be, it should be offered to Kṛṣṇa, to the centre. So we must consciously do that, direct. That is, Rāmānanda told, yat karoṣi yad aśnāsi, yaj juhoṣi dadāsi yat.

Mahāprabhu told, "Eho bāhya. This is also superficial. Go deeper."

Then Rāmānanda, Sarva-dharmān parityajya, mām ekaṁ [Bhagavad-gītā, 18.66] Karma, tyāga.

We completely disassociate with you with the duties that you think that are proper to you in your present position. Give up all duties and prepare to come to God, exclusively, all eliminating, come forward towards God. Sarva-dharmān parityajya, mām ekaṁ. In Bhāgavata also,

ājñajaiva guṇān doṣān, mayādiṣṭān api svakān
dharmmān saṁtyajya yaḥ sarvvān, myāṁ bhajet sa ca sattamaḥ

["In the scriptures of religion, I, the Supreme Lord, have instructed men of all statuses of life in their duties. Duly comprehending the purificatory virtue of executing those prescribed duties as well as the vice of neglecting them, one who abandons all allegiance to such dutifulness in order to engage in My devotional service is the best of honest men (sādhu)."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.11.32]

"The duties that are ordered by Me in the śāstra for different stages, if one, there is a constitutional method of progress, but give them up and take the way, the path of revelation, and give up everything and come to Me, and I shall protect you."

The Bāl Gaṅgādhar Tilak, in his Bhagavad-gītā edition, under this śloka [Bhagavad-gītā, 18.66] he put a very good emotional meaning. He has told this, "That in this last śloka the Lord has distributed nectar in a golden plate." _____ [?] He has written in this way.

Wherever you may be according to your karma does not matter at all, but from there give up everything and jump towards Kṛṣṇa. "You are my all. I want You." And give all, cut off all connections. Karma, tyāga.

Wonderful it is that Mahāprabhu says, "Eho bāhya āge kaha āra. This is also superficial. You are jumping, you are accepting revolutionary path, but you have not got yet anything. Taking risk to get the desired results. But this cannot be accepted because you took risk and you jumped towards Kṛṣṇa, it is all, you have no certainty that you will get Him. Eho bāhya āge kaha āra. This is also superficial. Go deeper." Hitting to the proper meaning.

Then Rāmānanda told, jñāna miśrā bhakti. Ājñajaiva guṇān doṣān. No!

brahma-bhūtaḥ prasannātmā, na śocati na kāṅkṣati
samaḥ sarveṣu bhūteṣu, mad-bhaktiṁ labhate parām

["The spotlessly pure-hearted and self-satisfied soul who has attained to his conscious divine nature neither grieves nor craves for anything. Seeing all beings equally (in the conception of My supreme energy), he gradually achieves supreme devotion (prema-bhakti) unto Me."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 18.54]

"Brahma-bhūtaḥ. One who has attained such a position that he can conceive that he's not a part of this mundane world, but he's conscious he's a part of the conscious world, ātmā, cetana, a particle of consciousness, he can understand. And, brahma-bhūtaḥ prasannātmā, his heart is satisfied. Na śocati, not to mourn because no affinity to mortal things, not to mourn. Na kāṅkṣati, and he's fully aware of the transience and unsubstantial nature of material things, so he does not want anything mundane. Mad-bhaktiṁ labhate parām. Then he can acquire My pure devotion."

"Eho bāhya." This is also external. Yes, he's in a position, and he's aspiring after the truth, but he has not got the truth as yet. Not sure position. Even fall from that position it is possible."
This is jñāna miśrā bhakti.

Then Rāmānanda told, "Jñāna śūnya bhakti, sādhya-sāra." Jñāna śūnya bhakti, the non calculative devotion, affinity towards the Lord. That is, that should be our position where from we shall go further. Jñāna śūnya bhakti, sādhya-sāra. No calculation of loss and gain, but he does not know why he has got some taste for the service of Kṛṣṇa, of Nārāyaṇa. He does not, he can't understand. Not based on loss and gain, jñāna śūnya, no calculation there. But automatic tendency towards the service of Kṛṣṇa. It is very tasteful to him. Wherever he may be, he may be a caṇḍāla, or a mleccha, or a brāhmaṇa, or buddha, anyone he may be. But if he can trace within his heart that he has got some causeless attraction towards the supreme authority."

Mahāprabhu said, "Yes it is. You are there. Here it may be admitted. Now go further."

So far, 'this is external, this is dismissed.' But here jñāna śūnya bhakti when he told that only based on internal taste and not by any calculation, by yukti, this is good, this is bad. All this when he's the judge and making judgements what is right and wrong, all this cancelled. But a spark of spontaneous attraction towards the centre, Kṛṣṇa, if it is found anywhere, brahmāṇḍa brhamite, he's wandering through this infinite world according to his karma, but in any place, in any time, coming in contact with a real agent, a real sādhu, if one has acquired a very small quantity of ruci, taste, attraction, that is reliable. These calculative things are not reliable, nor the imposed duty in the varṇāśrama, not reliable. But the heart's sincere tendency towards, that is the seed of rāga, love, prema. That is, we can rely, depend on that. Eho bāhya āge kaha āra. The example.

sthāne sthitāḥ śruti-gatāṁ tanu-vāṅ-manobhir, ye prāyaśo 'jita jito 'py asi tais tri-lokyām

["Oh Lord, Oh Unconquerable One, those devotees who, completely giving up all attempts on the path of jñāna of attaining the non-differentiated platform known as Brahma by hearing the transcendental narratives of Your pastimes, which emanates from the lotus mouths of the mahā-bhāgavat sādhus and pass their lives by engaging their body, mind and words in pure devotion, easily conquer You (they easily get Your transcendental association), although You are the most difficult to attain in the three worlds."]
[Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.14.3]

This was in this way given from Bhāgavatam, the pramāṇa was quoted, this, jñāne prayāsam udapāsya.

I'm vulnerable so my calculation of my good or about the environment, all vulnerable. So I should not rely on my judgement. My judgement is fallible, so independent of my judgement, if I have acquired some unnatural - not unnatural - but some quite natural thing if I can gather the attraction, the favour from that side, bhakti which is nirguṇa. Guṇa means sāttva, rājas, tāmas. These are the constituent parts of māyā. Māyā means misunderstanding. Misunderstanding also divided into three sections; tāma, deep ignorance, misunderstanding. And the rājas means middle, and sāttva means misunderstanding there but not much, but within misunderstanding, within māyā. Māyā means local interest, to see things, or read the environment by local interest, not from the standpoint of universal interest.

The Hegelian theory says that Reality must be For Itself. By Itself and For Itself. By itself, He's His own cause. If someone is the cause of that then He cannot be reality. The prime cause must be reality. So reality must be self-existent, sattya siddha, svayam-bhu. And another thing, the Reality must be For Itself. He exists for His own satisfaction, not to satisfy another thing. Then if His existence will be to satisfy another thing, that will hold the primary position, and this will have secondary position, His existence is to satisfy some other thing, so that will be primary. So to become reality that must have within Him that For Himself, Everything for Himself. So, everything for Him.

[na tu mām abhijānanti, tattvenātaś cyavanti te]

["-Because I alone am the enjoyer and rewarder of all sacrifices. But since they cannot know Me in this way, they again undergo birth, disease, infirmity, and death."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 9.24]

In Bhagavad-gītā, sarva yajñena sarva hari. "Everything meant for Me, you are also meant for Me."

To come to such understanding to help your devotion. That He's the only party, absolute, one, advaya- jñāna. And we're His potencies of different type. We're meant for His līlā. He's making līlā and we're contributing there. This is the universal vision of the whole, and you must have to come to there, that harmony. Without doing that, when you think your separate interest, however extended, personal interest, family interest, a little extended, village interest, society interest, then country interest, all extended selfishness in the infinite. However greater part may be, that is a mere point in the infinite. It has got no position. So nothing less than the whole, what is necessary. So we're a part of His līlā. Everything meant to satisfy Him. Not to satisfy me. My satisfaction is a part of His satisfaction. His satisfaction is there and it must be a contributing point there. I'm His part and my satisfaction must be a part of His satisfaction. In this way. Then there will be harmony, no clash. Otherwise there will be clash, extended selfishness. One country to another country fights, one society to another society fights, one sex with another sex fights. Clash, different angle of vision, separate interest. But all must merge in the centre. Ahaṁ hi sarva-yajñānāṁ.

īśāvāsyam idaṁ sarvaṁ, yat kiñca jagatyāṁ jagat
tena tyaktena [bhuñjīthā, mā gṛdhaḥ kasya svid dhanam]

Everything belongs to Him. With this view you try to move on, go on. Then you will get the harmonised life. Then jñāne prayāsa. "What puppy brain I have got?" Our Guru Mahārāja used to say, "Puppy brain. What is my puppy brain, how can it understand, and how can it find out its own welfare?" So it comes from revealed line. Vidvadbhiḥ. In Manu-saṁhitā we find what is the definition of dharma. Manu says,

hṛdayenābhyanujñāto, yo dharmas taṁ nibhodhata

Manu says, "What is dharma, what is duty? I'll just tell you, all listen. What is this? Vidvadbhiḥ sevitaḥ. Vidvadbhiḥ. The interpretation is given veda vidbhiḥ. Vidvadbhiḥ, who is vidyan, who is learned? The vedavit, who are well-versed in the revealed truth. No value of this empirical acquired knowledge. This is all false, no standpoint they have got of their own. All selfish and crooked and very meagre. And from the infinite standpoint that has been extended here in this mundane, the knowledge, Veda jñāna. And you are to study that revealed truth, revealed scripture."

When in Bhāgavatam we find Uddhava says to Krsna, "Why in the name of religion so many forms we find here? None is able to clear this position. You can only do. So I put this question to You my Master. Please solve."

Then Kṛṣṇa told,

kālena naṣṭā pralaye, vāṇīyaṁ veda-saṁjñitā mayādau brahmaṇe proktā, dharmo yasyāṁ mad-ātmakaḥ

[The Supreme Personality of Godhead said: "By the influence of time, the transcendental sound of Vedic knowledge was lost at the time of annihilation. Therefore, when the subsequent creation took place, I spoke the Vedic knowledge to Brahmā because I Myself am the religious principles enunciated in the Vedas."]
[Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.14.3]

"After the wholesale dissolution when the creation began, I told about religion to Brahmā. Mayādau brahmaṇe proktā. First it came from Me to Brahmā, the creator. And then from Brahmā it came to this world, mayādau. Dharmo yasyāṁ mad-ātmakaḥ. And what is religion? I told, that is this subject of the religion is Myself." Kṛṣṇa told. "Mayādau brahmaṇe proktā. What is religion? And I told that it is with Me, I am all in all. To know Me, to have Me, that is religion. This is religion. I am the truth. I am the consciousness, judgement, and I am the fulfilment, sat-cit-ānanda. And the dharma is connecting Me only, and this I first delivered to Brahmā. And from Brahmā so many others, Manu, Sutra, so many disciples, in disciplic order.

Then, why this variegated nature? Prakṛti-vaicitryāt and pāramparyeṇa. From Brahmā, his first group, so many they heard from Brahmā, but according to their own capacity they could understand, they could follow Brahmā. Not of the same standard. That was modified by their own internal prejudice. So prakṛti-vaicitryāt. Brahmā told, and so many hearing, but according to their own capacity they could understand. When in their turn they gave delivery to their own disciples there was some distinction. Then from disciplic order, disciple to disciple to disciple, so many changes in the medium, modification. In the beginning it was one when it came from Me and Brahmā. But afterwards it was modified by the prejudices of those that came to learn that thing. So prakṛti-vaicitryāt, in the first group, and afterwards pāramparyeṇa. From one to two, three, number in this way as many mediums it is coming, it is being modified. So in this world we now find a jungle, and some pāṣaṇḍa-matayo 'pare.

pāramparyeṇa keṣāñcit pāṣaṇḍa-matayo 'pare]

["Thus, due to the great variety of desires and natures among human beings, there are many different theistic philosophies of life, which are handed down through tradition, custom and disciplic succession. There are other teachers who directly support atheistic viewpoints."]
[Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.14.8]

Some competitive opinions have sprung out from this mundane world also. So now it is a jungle. Some lay stress in the tap, some in jap, some in dhyana, some in pilgrimage, so one gives stress, another one thing. In this way this variegated nature in the field. But really it was one and I was the...

83.07.08.B

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ... they're apathetic to the mundane. But the Vaiṣṇavas they're not apathetic, neither sympathetic nor apathetic. They're all concerned with their Lord. Nityam adveṣa-rāgibhiḥ, sadbhir.

[vidvadbhiḥ sevitaḥ sadbhir, nityam adveṣa-rāgibhiḥ
hṛdayenābhyanujñāto, yo dharmas taṁ nibhodhata]

Those sādhus neither hate nor adore, the mundane world. Such sādhus whatever they'll cultivate that is dharma. Hṛdayenābhyanujñāto. And the third condition, that the innermost heart, that will approve. 'Yes.' Heart's innermost satisfaction must be there. Then, yo dharmas taṁ nibhodhata. I'm talking about that dharma, that will lead to your internal, fullest self-satisfaction and which is extended here from the world which is infallible. Infallible world extended here. In this way. So Mahāprabhu told that when one comes where, neither jñāna, in bhakti, the definition of bhakti Rūpa Goswāmī has given, and also in Nārada Purāṇa.

sarvopādhi-vinirmuktaṁ, tat paratvena nirmalam / hṛṣīkena hṛṣīkeśa-sevanaṁ bhaktir ucyate

Bhakti, devotion, what is proper devotion? Sarvopādhi-vinirmuktaṁ, upādhi vinirmuktaṁ. Upādhi means that provincialism or localism, which is free from all local, crooked, narrow conceptions from any quarter, vinirmuktaṁ. Tat paratvena. Only positive qualification will be it is connected and faithful to the central, harmonised by the central necessity, and not any partial. Sarvopādhi-vinirmuktaṁ, tat paratvena nirmalam. The purity of our duty will depend how much it is for the centre, tat paratvena nirmalam. Hṛṣīkena hṛṣīkeśa-sevanaṁ. If we can contact in that plane then even all our senses may be utilised for the worship of that real Master of our senses. We're not master, we hold relative position. But absolute position, ownership with only one, with only Him. We're all dependent. This conception will really give us relief. Rūpa Goswāmī says, anyābhilāṣitā-śūnyaṁ, jñāna-karmādy-anāvṛtam ānukūlyena-kṛṣṇānu-śīlanaṁ bhaktir uttamā

["One should render transcendental loving service to the Supreme Lord Kṛṣṇa favourably and without desire for material profit or gain through fruitive activities or philosophical speculation. That is called pure devotional service."] [Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, 1.1.11] & [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 19-167]
& [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.21.11, purport]

What is bhakti, what is devotion proper? Anyābhilāṣitā-śūnyaṁ. Which will be free from fleeting desires. Ordinary, not any organised duty. But whatever is coming within my heart I'll do that, whimsical, temporary, fleeting, pleasure seeking, anyābhilās. Then karma, the energy is organised by the expert to take us to a desired end, karma.

Jaiminī Ṛṣi comes to advise that, "Go on with good karma, of course it is transient, you will get heaven, in the after death your mental system that will enjoy pleasure, but kayshnu [?], it will be finished. Does not matter, again you do good karma. So go on with good karma, though it is changing, it goes to hell, it kills itself, it does not matter, go on with production." This is Jaiminī's karma.

Good karma means, as I told, good karma means to distribute sense pleasure to others, sense necessities to others. What I eat, if I give it to others I do some good karma. As a reaction I get that in my afterlife. Whatever good things I do here I get it in my afterlife. To every action an equal and opposite reaction, I can get. But it is all transient, all of limited satisfaction, so it is not desirable. So, jñāna-karmādy-anāvṛtam, and jñāna advises us to reject the present environment wholesale. We cannot thrive here.

As Śaṅkarācārya says, _____ [?]
_____ [?]

That this mundane connection is painful. If with sober mind we can go to calculate then janma-mṛtyu- jarā-vyādhi [Bhagavad-gītā, 13.9], this cannot be avoided in our mundane life. So, the Buddhist school, the Śaṅkara school, they work for salvation, liberation. When as long as we're in the relativity of this mundane mortal things, no higher peace of mind is possible. Whenever we shall be separated from our son, our wife, our house, and our other favourite things I shall have to feel some pain, or country, I shall. So the peace, the ideal peace of mind only can be had in some stage of mind like deep slumber, samādhi, complete withdrawal of the soul from this mortal world. This of two classes; Buddhist school and Śaṅkara school. Buddhist school says - the Cārvāka school is also there, Epicurean, they say that with the dissolution of this physical body nothing remains; the gross atheists, they say like that. _____ [?]

The body is finished, it is burned into ashes, then nothing remains, so no religion, nothing necessary.

But Buddhist school they say that no, the mental system is there, and what you call soul, that is in the mental system. So after death the transmigration, the birth and rebirth, and with the dissolution of the mental system everything finished, nothing remains.

But Śaṅkara says with the dissolution of the mental body then something is there like a mass of consciousness, like Brahman, which is non-differentiated, non-specified. That is there. And just as in a glass, or in water anything is reflected, so all these souls that are unreal, reflections of that non-differentiated mass of consciousness to every place. Wherever that subtle body, mental system, or the reflection comes, it is not real. So ātmā, jīvātmā is not real, jīvātmā is only reflection. Where it is reflection, if that is destroyed, no reflection, no jīvātmā. This is Śaṅkara's philosophy, that Brahman is always there.

brahma satyaṁ, jagan mithyā jīva brahmaiva na paraḥ

[Śaṅkarācārya said: "In half a verse, I am summarising the truth that has been expressed by volumes and volumes of scripture. Within only half a verse I shall give the essence of all truths: brahma satyaṁ, jagan mithyā, Brahman, spirit, is true - this world is false. And the jīva is nothing but Brahman. This is the substance of all the scriptures."]

Śaṅkara says, "What by the crores of books others have given statement, only by half a śloka I shall give the gist of the whole. Yad aktam yānti kotibhiḥ. By crores of books what have been told here so far, only with the half line of a śloka, poetry, I shall give the gist here. What is that? Jīva brahmaiva na paraḥ. Śloka dhenu pravakṣyāmi yad aktam yānti kotibhiḥ, brahma satyaṁ. Non-differentiated mass of consciousness, that is Brahman."

akṣaraṁ brahma paramaṁ, [svabhāvo 'dhyātmam ucyate
bhūta-bhāvodbhava-karo, visargaḥ karma-saṁjñitaḥ]

[The Supreme Lord said: "Certainly Brahman is the indestructible, unchangeable Absolute Truth, and the pure spirit soul is the genuine personality of the living being. The word karma denotes abnegation for the sake of a demigod, which produces the bodies of humans and other species, created by the agency of gross and subtle material elements; this abnegation refers to the performance of charity, sacrifice, austerity, and all duties rendered for the propitiation of that god."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 8.3]

In Bhagavad-gītā. Akṣaraṁ. What is unchangeable portion of the consciousness, that is only existing, all others non-existence. Anyhow it has come from miscalculation, misconception, that is Śaṅkara. So no recognition of an individual soul. But we find Rāmānuja, Madhvācārya, Nimbarka, Viṣṇuswāmī, these Vaiṣṇava Ācāryas, they have refuted Śaṅkara.

Mahāprabhu also accused Śaṅkara that, "In the shape of a Vaidic Ācārya you have really given delivery of the Buddhistic thought. This is more injurious to the society. Buddhists, they're atheists, they do not care for any Vedic knowledge. But you have accepted Veda, but you have interpreted the Vedic mantra in such a way that you have given that Buddhist thing, that the jīva soul is non-existent. But we find clearly...

nityo nityānāṁ cetanaś-cetanānām, eko bahūnāṁ [yo vidadhāti kāmān tam ātmastham ye ʻnupaśyanti dhīrās teṣāṁ śāntiḥ śāśvatī netareṣām]

["Of the innumerable, eternal, conscious beings, there is one eternal Supreme Being. That Supreme Lord is the maintainer of the innumerable living beings in terms of their different situations, according to individual work and reaction of work. That Supreme Lord is also, by His expansion as Paramātmā, present within the heart of every living being. Only those saintly persons who can see, within and without, that same Supreme Lord, can actually attain to perfect and eternal peace."] [Kaṭha Upaniṣad, 2.2.13]

... in Upaniṣad. In Bhagavad-gītā [2.24-25]

[acchedyo ʻyam adāhyo ʻyam, akledyo ʻśoṣya eva ca nityaḥ sarva-gataḥ sthāṇur, acalo ʻyaṁ sanātanaḥ] [avyakto ʻyam acintyo ʻyam, avikāryo ʻyam ucyate tasmād evaṁ viditvainaṁ, nānuśocitum arhasi]

["The soul is indivisible and cannot be burned, moistened, or dried up. He is everlasting, constant, unchangeable, and ever-existent. Nothing can obstruct his passage. This soul is imperceptible, inconceivable, and unaffected by the sixfold mutations (birth, existence, growth, maturity, diminution, and destruction). Therefore, knowing the soul in this way, you can no longer lament."]

Jīva is eternal we find. And you do not accept the reality, the eternal existence of the jīva soul. Just as the sun and the pencil of ray, just as the earth and so many dusts. So, so many conscious dust, conscious part of the ray of the sun the jīva is, and it is."

So Rāmānuja and [others] they rejected Śaṅkara's interpretation, not only, but abused it like anything. "It is māyāvāda."

Śaṅkara said, "No. Īśvara is māyā, Īśvara is within māyā, and above māyā only nirviśeṣa-brahma, non-differentiated mass of consciousness, that is above māyā. And always this God conception and so many other holy things, all māyā."

So the Vaiṣṇavas say that Śaṅkara preached māyāvāda, 'everything māyā.'

"It does not matter, all māyā. You may worship Gaṇeśa, you may worship Sun, you may worship Śiva, you may worship Durgā, Kālī, or Viṣṇu, whatever. All within māyā, misconception, it is āroha, and finally there is only Brahman. All these specification, differentiation, all false. This is only produced by māyā."

This is Śaṅkara.

But Rāmānuja said, "This is kevalādvaita. Viśiṣṭādvaita, that Brahman is differentiated and specified.

You say that where the sun is reflected in a glass, the glass broken into pieces, no reflection.

Rāmānuja says, "No, this is a part of Brahman, and it is anyhow caught in this misconception and it can go back to its own conception of the area. So viśiṣṭādvaita-vāda, not non-differentiated, but it is specified and differentiated one whole. Viśiṣṭādvaita, not non-differentiated advaita. Advaita, advaya, one whole, that it admitted everywhere, this is one, but how one? It is just as, sajātīya, sojātīya and vijātīya bheda, three kinds of distinction is there. Just as in a tree it has got vijātīya bheda, the tree and stone, this is vijātīya bheda. And a tree and another tree, sajātīya bheda, and the tree has got its own trunk, its branches, its leaves, its root, that is sojātīya bheda. So the advaya jñāna has got His own distinction in His own body or own form. Viśiṣṭādvaita, He and His potency is there. The potency māyā, you say it is, Śaṅkara says māyā is as potency but it gets finished. But we have got that māyā is nitya. The Vaiṣṇava Ācārya, He and His potency is all eternal.

In Chandi also we find, _____ [?]

The māyā is nitya, it is told everywhere, and jīva is nitya, Bhagavān is nitya. And with all these as a system. He's a system where this, in Bhagavad-gītā we find,

akṣaraṁ brahma paramaṁ, svabhāvo 'dhyātmam ucyate
bhūta-bhāvodbhava-karo, visargaḥ karma-saṁjñitaḥ

[The Supreme Lord said: "Certainly Brahman is the indestructible, unchangeable Absolute Truth, and the pure spirit soul is the genuine personality of the living being. The word karma denotes abnegation for the sake of a demigod, which produces the bodies of humans and other species, created by the agency of gross and subtle material elements; this abnegation refers to the performance of charity, sacrifice, austerity, and all duties rendered for the propitiation of that god."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 8.3]

What is this, analysed in Bhagavad-gītā?
Kṣaram atīto 'ham, [Bhagavad-gītā, 15.18]
Dvau bhūta-sargau loke 'smin, [Bhagavad-gītā, 16.6]
Kṣaraś cākṣara eva ca [Bhagavad-gītā, 15.16]

Two kinds of creation found here in this world; ākṣara and kṣara. Kṣaraḥ sarvāṇi bhūtāni [Gītā, 15.16]. That is undergoing changes, that is represented as kṣaraḥ, and which is constant, that is ākṣara. So akṣaraṁ brahma paramaṁ, svabhāvo [Gītā, 8.3]. Then kṣaram atīto 'ham, akṣarād api cottamaḥ [Gītā, 15.18]

"I am existing, transcending both kṣara and ākṣara, the changing portion and the stagnant or eternal portion, two kinds of portion is My potency, and I am above that."

[yasmāt] kṣaram atīto 'ham, akṣarād api cottamaḥ / ato 'smi loke vede ca, prathitaḥ puruṣottamaḥ

["Because I am transcendental to the fallible souls and also superior to My infallible eternal associates, My glories are sung in the world and in the scriptures as Puruṣottama, the Supreme Person."]
[Bhagavad-gītā, 15.18]

"I am told as Puruṣottama."
Dvau bhūta-loke 'smin. Kṣaraś cākṣara eva ca. And akṣaraṁ brahma paramaṁ.
So above ākṣara, the Personality of Godhead is there.

We can also from the reasonable position we can see that I'm a particle of Brahman, I'm person, and the ocean of consciousness that is impersonal? How can it be? Being a part, a particle, I'm individual, I have got my individuality. And the great Brahman has got no personality, no individuality? When we can see that.

sattvam viśuddhaṁ vasudeva-śabditaṁ, yad īyate tatra pumān apāvṛtaḥ
sattve ca tasmin bhagavān vāsudevo, hy adhokṣajo me namasā vidhīyate

[Lord Śiva says: "I am always engaged in offering obeisances to Lord Vāsudeva in pure Kṛṣṇa consciousness. Kṛṣṇa consciousness is always pure consciousness, in which the Supreme Personality of Godhead, known as Vāsudeva, is revealed without any covering."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 4.3.23]

Mahādeva says, when Parvatī told, Satī told, "Why did you not give obeisance to my father. My father is in respectable position to you, you are his son-in-law, so you should have bowed down to him."

When that Śiva yajña was declared, only Śiva eliminated, all others invited and the yajña is going to take place, and all are going to join the invitation. But Śiva and Satī they're excluded.

At that time Satī is saying to Śiva, Mahādeva, "That this is the result that you did not show honour to your father-in-law. And why did you not do so? You should have shown some honour."

Then Śiva told, sattvam viśuddhaṁ vasudeva-śabditaṁ. "Devī, do you know that viśuddha-sattva is known as Vasudeva. Vasudeva, the father of Kṛṣṇa, what is that really in the ontological estimation, that that tattva which is Vasudeva, sattvam viśuddhaṁ. Tāma, rāja, sāttva, then viśuddha-sattva. Viśuddha-sattva, the sattva is extended to more finer and efficient position, that is viśuddha-sattva. And that is known as Vasudeva. And yad īyate tatra pumān apāvṛtaḥ. Just after crossing we can see the personality above that plane of Vasudeva. Vasudeva-śabditaṁ, yad īyate yat prakasate tatra pumān. Pumān means Puruṣa, enjoyer. Puruṣa means who lives within as the enjoyer and owner of everything. Yad īyate tatra pumān apāvṛtaḥ sattve ca tasmin bhagavān vāsudevo, hy adhokṣajo. I am, my head is always bent there, constantly engaged. So to take my head from that place and again to put in some other place, it is not possible for me, my Satī, so I did not. I am always, I have sold my head there. My head is always connected with that higher substance, most charming and attractive. I can't draw my head from there again to put it somewhere. So I did not do any mischief, not any mischief motive I have done so, dishonoured him."

They say that it akṣaraṁ brahma paramaṁ, svabhāvo, then above that, I am a particle of Brahman, I am person, so that is an ocean of knowledge and that is impersonal, they say it is not. If we can look unto that more deeply we can say 'Oh, that is person. That is not Brahman, that is Parabrahma. That is Vasudeva.'

[yasmāt] kṣaram atīto 'ham, akṣarād api cottamaḥ / ato 'smi loke vede ca, prathitaḥ puruṣottamaḥ

["Because I am transcendental to the fallible souls and also superior to My infallible eternal associates, My glories are sung in the world and in the scriptures as Puruṣottama, the Supreme Person."]
[Bhagavad-gītā, 15.18]

Brahmaṇo hi pratiṣṭhāham. In another place in Bhagavad-gītā. Brahmaṇo hi pratiṣṭhāham. "I'm the support of the so-called Brahman. Brahmaṇo hi pratiṣṭhāham. I'm the support, I'm the cause, I'm the foundation where that Brahman exists. Pratiṣṭhāham, amṛtasyāvyayasya ca, śāśvatasya ca dharmasya, sukhasyaikāntikasya ca. I'm at the back and support all these higher things." [Bhagavad-gītā, 14.27]

Rāmānuja and other Vaiṣṇava Ācāryas they come to say that what Śaṅkara gave conception that is hazy and not clear and complete conception. The Parabrahman it is personal character. He's personal, He's for Himself, as Hegel said. Everything meant for Him. We're to serve. Now we're in the world of exploitation, we cannot exist a minute without exploitation. And Bhāgavatam says, ahastāni sahastānāṁ, apadāni catuṣpadām / laghuni tatra mahatāṁ, jīvo jīvasya jīvanam

["Those who are devoid of hands are prey for those who have hands; those devoid of legs are prey for the four-legged. The weak are the subsistence of the strong, and the general rule holds that one living being is food for another."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.13.47]

Those that have got hands they eat who have got no hands. Those that have got legs they eat who have got no hands and legs. And laghuni, and the stronger they eat the weaker. Jīvo jīvasya jīvanam, one jīva he lives only by eating another jīva, whether it is vegetable or it is animal. But without consuming, causing harm to another jīva, no jīva can maintain his life. And there is reaction, equal and opposite reaction.

Karma doṣavad ity eke [Bhagavad-gītā, 18.3] So one section says that karma means to live in this field. And to do karma means to create harm, disturbance in the environment. And we're to have, feel the consequence. So exploitation, by exploiting, ābrahma-bhuvanāl lokāḥ, punar āvartino 'rjuna, by exploitation we make loan, and to clear off the loan we shall have to go down. And from whom we took loan they try to exact from me, and then I get light and come up. And when coming up and again exploiting the lower, in this way coming up and down.

ābrahma-bhuvanāl lokāḥ, punar āvartino 'rjuna / mām upetya tu kaunteya, punar janma na vidyate

["O Arjuna, from the planet of Lord Brahmā downwards, the residents of all planets are naturally subjected to repeated birth and death. But, O Kaunteya, upon reaching Me, there is no rebirth."]

[Bhagavad-gītā, 8.16]

We're to get out of this vicious circle. So karma doṣa is elevationist. Elevation at the cost of others of the environment, and the reaction takes him down again. In this way coming.

tasyaiva hetoḥ prayateta kovido, na labhyate yad bhramatām upary adhaḥ
[tal labhyate duḥkhavad anyataḥ sukhaṁ, kālena sarvatra gabhīra-raṁhasā]

["Persons who are actually intelligent and philosophically inclined should endeavour only for that purposeful end which is not obtainable even by wandering from the topmost planet [Brahmaloka] down to the lowest planet [Pātāla]. As far as happiness derived from sense enjoyment is concerned, it can be obtained automatically in course of time, just as in course of time we obtain miseries even though we do not desire them."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.5.18]

Upary adhaḥ bhramatām karma, in this way coming. And then jñāna can take us on the verge of it. Karma, exploitation, then complete retirement from exploitation, that is to return into the stage of consciousness like slumber. Deep slumber, as in dreamless sleep, that is samādhi. Where if we wake we come into the relativity of the mundane world and we acquire something wrong. So eternal slumber, that is mukti, that is abscissa, complete retirement from the land of exploitation.

Then we're told in a scientific way that we can march upper. How? This is exploitation, and the other higher plane is that of dedication, devotion. Here we're master, we want to gather everything for our enjoyment. But there, after complete withdrawal, if we can enter into that land we're a servant, a dedicating unit. Everything there is fair and higher and full in themselves. And by serving in that land we can thrive.

A passport from here is mukti, and then to gather, acquire a visa. Visa into that land. And the visa will be issued only looking the interest of that land. If your presence will contribute something to the interest of that land they will issue visa, otherwise not. So you're to get a visa for that plane, and there that you will serve for the interest of that plane. That is Vaikuṇṭha. Jīva can go, enter into that land only if he's ready to give service. And we're told that our innate tendency, ātmā, is that of dedication.

And the exploiting, that is our over encasement, upādhi. And internal essence in soul is that the function, that centre carrying current. It will help itself by helping the cause of the centre. That is devotion, that is Vaikuṇṭha. And in Vaikuṇṭha there is some calculative - "Yes, I'll be benefited if I can render such service to the Supreme." Calculating.

And again when he goes higher in the area of Goloka Vṛndāvana it is spontaneous, automatic. It is labour of love, the dedication actuated by the motive of love. Not by calculation of any individual benefit, loss or gain. Service, but service in the higher order, it is automatic, spontaneous and always contributing love. 'Dāsa' kari' vetana more deha prema-dhana. Whatever we do service we get something in remuneration. What is that? That is more tendency to serve. We give money to the bank but we don't cut any cheque. That is the interest is again added to the capital. In this way the prema means the capital is being increased and going up and up to serve. And the Reality the Beautiful, the Lord of love is in the highest quarter, Goloka.

So the knowledge has been divided into five sections; pratyakṣa, parokṣa, aparokṣa, adhokṣaja, and aprakṛta. Pratyakṣa means which we can gather by our senses, our own senses. Whatever knowledge we can gather by our own experience. Parokṣa which we put into the stock of our knowledge, but drawn from the experience of others. There was a war; I had not seen with my own eyes, but through other sources I believe that, and that is also a source of knowledge, I accept it, parokṣa which is got by others sense experience.

Then aparokṣa. Aparokṣa knowledge has been accepted especially by the jñānīs, the Śaṅkara, etc. They say, Param Upaniṣad, sukham asatsam [?] When one was in dreamless sleep he wakes and says that 'I have slept very happily.' So some feeling was there in the dreamless, sound sleep. Some conception was there that when I come back I say that very happily I had a sleep. So some, what I cannot express here, but some sort of happiness is there. From deep slumber one gets from some tiresome uneasiness, but that is also a sort of knowledge is there.

Then Rāmānuja and other Vaiṣṇavas they say that the next stage of knowledge is adhokṣaja. Adhokṣaja means adhaḥkṛtaṁ indriyajaṁ jñānaṁ, transcendental knowledge. What is that?

indriyāṇi parāṇy āhur, indriyebhyaḥ paraṁ manaḥ
[manasas tu parā buddhir, buddher yaḥ paratas tu saḥ]

["The learned proclaim that the senses are superior to inert objects, the mind is superior to the senses, and the faculty of resolute intelligence is superior to the mind. And he who is superior to the intelligence is the soul himself."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 3.42]

Of all the existing world our senses are most important. If I lose the senses, the eye, the ear, the touch, the scent, then no world is to me. Only with the help of the senses I can understand, I can have world connection. So senses are more important than the world around. Indriyebhyaḥ paraṁ manaḥ. The mental sphere is more finer and more important within you. Because sometimes, unmindful, we say, "Oh, he came before me but I was unmindful, I did not give attention. Some called me, oh I could not hear, I was unmindful." So senses are the doors, receiver, recipient is the mind. What is mind? Karmaṇā vasana, I want this I do not want that. This faculty is called mind within us, saṅkalpa vikalpa. Vikalpa katmakan mana [?] I want this, I want this, I don't want that, I don't want that. This is mind. Manasas tu parā buddhir. Again if we try to trace more finer things, important, that is buddhi, reason, faculty of justice, judgement. That is more finer and important. Without that, or when that mind will say "I want this thing," Then "no, don't want that, do not eat that, rather accept this." The faculty of judgement, that is higher within us. Manasas tu parā buddhir, buddher yaḥ paratas tu saḥ. Then eliminating this, the world of your experience, then your mind, your intelligence, reason, you try to find above that. What is that? That is a spark; just as the light is from there, the reason can show this is black, this is white. The judgement, possible when the light comes. In the darkness no judgement possible. No possibility of any selection of the mind, no experience through the sense is possible, that light is all in all. And that is ātmā, and this as cover.

In Bhāgavatam [10.20.19] it is said that just as in moonlit night there is cloud. The cloud has covered the moon, but cloud is seen by the light of the moon. So by the light of the ātmā the mental system we can feel. But mental system has covered that ātmā, the ātmā is there. And if we can soar up again on the other side there is Paramātmā. We are the subject and this is the world of our experience, we can know them. But super subject, adhokṣaja, adhaḥkṛtaṁ atikrāntaṁ akṣsajam, indriyajaṁ jñānaṁ yena, transcendental substance, Paramātmā. Paramātmā can connect with us, but we cannot connect with Paramātmā at our sweet will.

Do you follow? Paramātmā. And the Vaikuṇṭha and other, we as a subject, we cannot know them. But they are subject, I am their object. If they care to come to my level to feel me then I can feel some sort of experience.

"Oh, something has come down in my mental area. It is very wonderful. It is super knowledge I have ever experienced. What is this? It is very, very wonderful, very subtle thing coming down in my own consciousness."

Consciousness is the finest thing ever found in this world. But super consciousness, that is more fine. And that can come down to my soul, but my soul at its sweet will cannot enter there, it is fine, very finer. So that is transcendental. Supra-mental according to Aurobindo, supra-mental. And transcendental according to Hegel. Adhokṣaja according to Bhāgavata. Adhaḥkṛtaṁ, whatever experience we have got, that is down. And making down he is existing up. Very, very fine. There we can go only for their interest.

vaikuṇṭhera pṛthivy ādi sakala cinmaya, māyika bhūtera tathi janma nāhi haya

["The earth, water, fire, air and ether of Vaikuṇṭha are all spiritual. Material elements are not found there."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Ādi-līlā, 5.53]

In that plane the earth, the water, everything, this is the perverted reflection, everything is there. But that is all made up of consciousness, of spiritual substance, not this mundane thing. So ātmā, our soul, jīva soul, jīvātmā can enter there and that area is all-conscious area. There everything is conscious, made up of spirit, Vaikuṇṭha. Then Goloka is the highest position there. So Kṛṣṇa is saying in Bhāgavatam the gradation among the devotees.

na tathā me priyatama ātmayonir na śaṅkaraḥ
[na ca saṅkarṣaṇo na śrīr naivātmā ca yathā bhavān]

["Neither Brahmā nor Śīva are as dear to Me as you; My elder brother Saṅkarṣaṇa is not as dear to Me as you, nor even Lakṣmī Devī. Even My own Self is not as dear to Me as you."]
[Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.14.15]

When He's speaking to Uddhava, "Na tathā me priyatama. My most favourite is not Brahmā, nor, not even Śaṅkara. Na ca saṅkarṣaṇa. Not even My brother Baladeva is My most favourite. Na śrīr. My own potency Lakṣmī Devī is not so favourite. Naivātmā. Even not Myself is so favourite to Me as you, My devotee Uddhava. Pranabhuvi guliyam [?] You are more favourite than My own life, what to speak. My devotees are so favourite to Me, and your class of devotees, not Brahmā, Śaṅkara, Baladeva, Saṅkarṣaṇa, Lakṣmī Devī, Myself - more than you."

And that Uddhava when coming from Vṛndāvana he says - sent by Kṛṣṇa, "Go to visit Vṛndāvana and by My talk you'll pacify them. From My separation they're suffering so much. You go and speak to them about Me and pacify them." Uddhava went, Nanda, Yaśodā, and gopīs, he met. And when he's coming back then he's saying, āsā maho caraṇa-renu-juṣām aham syām, vṛndāvane kim api gulma-latauṣadhīnām

yā dustyajaṁ svajanam ārya-pathaṁ ca hitvā, bhejur mukunda-padavīṁ śrutibhir vimṛgyām

["The gopīs of Vṛndāvana have given up the association of their husbands, sons and other family members, who are very difficult to renounce, and they have sacrificed even their religious principles to take shelter of the lotus feet of Kṛṣṇa, which are sought after by even the Vedas. O grant me the fortune to be born as a blade of grass in Vṛndāvana, so that I may take the dust of those great souls upon my head."
[Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.47.61]

"Āsā maho. What divine love I could trace in these gopīs, how elevated they are. How wholesale given to the service of Kṛṣṇa is their life. Aham syām. I'm being astonished to think about them. And I aspire that if I can have a birth of a creeper or a shrub here in Vṛndāvana, I may have their feet dust over me. Such a great divine love I could find here. That is nowhere to be traced."

That Uddhava, who Kṛṣṇa Himself is saying about, remarking that "You Uddhava you are My best devotee, even more dearer than Me." And that Uddhava he's saying in admiration and wonder about the gopīs, where are they?

Mahāprabhu told according to Bhāgavatam and other Purāṇas that this is our end. This is our end. The Vṛndāvana, to become dust of the feet of the gopīs, like Uddhava we must aspire after. This, the domain of love. Domain of love, divinity, above the domain of consciousness, the jñāna, the reason and this.

Just as justice; justice we can't think generally that anything can be above justice. Justice must be the ultimate decision. What is beyond justice that must be wrong. But there is mercy. Mercy can remain over justice. The land of affection, the land of love, that is over justice. So justice is up to Vaikuṇṭha. Justice, law comes to give decision where there are many. And when there is autocracy, His will is everything, then where is the room for justice? His will is everything, He's autocrat. And He's the loving agent, source of all love and affection.

In the lap of a mother when the child grows up, any question of justice can enter there? Automatic affection comes to help the boy...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That gentleman, the disciple of Rasika Mahārāja is here? Will you stay here today? Take prasādam here?

Devotee: I'm suffering very much from dysentery today.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Dysentery. So your diet should be particular.
(Explains to Goura Kṛṣṇa what food he needs)

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Are you taking rice?

Devotee: Soft rice.

Devotee: ...in the Brahma-vaivarta Purāṇa, Gaṇeśa-khanda, I read the Paraśurāma history. So I read that Lord Śiva gave to him kavaca, a Kṛṣṇa kavaca. But at the same time, the last time when I came to India there is a devotee who told me that in this age, Kali-yuga, the only kavaca who is really potent, is the Nṛsiṁha kavaca. So, I want to ask to Mahārāja about what is true about this kavacas? If it is possible to give to anyone this Kṛṣṇa kavaca, Nṛsiṁha kavaca, which appear in Gaṇeśa-kandha of Brahma-vivarta Purāṇa, or...?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: He read in Brahma-vaivarta Purāṇa, in Gaṇeśa-khanda, that one kavaca was given by Lord Śiva to Paraśurāma, Kṛṣṇa kavaca. And he's also heard that in the Kali-yuga, only the Nṛsiṁha kavaca is possible to accept. So practically can he accept this? Is it correct or not? Is it necessary or practical?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Who?

Devotee: To use the kavaca.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ha, ha. This kavaca affairs, that is something external. The mantram, and the Nāma, that is all-useful and all-powerful. And the kavaca as to help externally in that affair, some minor importance thing. The Nāma, the Lord's Name, and the Lord whose Name it is, one and the same, and that is enough. Here to help, we can accept, but not very important things. That Kṛṣṇa kavaca or Nṛsiṁha kavaca, we may accept to help our bhajan. But not at the cost of the faith in the Name Divine. Nāma-bhajan that is the best of all, and even this mantram to help Nāma-bhajan.

kṛṣṇa-mantra haite habe saṁsāra mocana, kṛṣṇa-nāma haite pābe kṛṣṇera caraṇa

["Simply by chanting the Holy Name of Kṛṣṇa one can obtain freedom from material existence. Indeed, simply by chanting the Hare Kṛṣṇa mantra one will be able to see the lotus feet of the Lord."]
[Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Ādi-līlā, 7.73]

So the Name, Nāma-bhajan is the highest thing, and with whole concentration we shall stick to that. And to see other things, look for other things to help this, that may be allowed to certain extent. But not much attention should be given to those external - protection, dress, something like that. Yet not much harm if he takes Kṛṣṇa kavacha, Nṛsiṁha kavaca. They will come to help my Nāma-bhajan life, in this way you may take. But that generally means that external difficulty may not come to me. To protect me from this external difficulty. But the extreme devotees of Kṛṣṇa, he won't be afraid by external difficulty. Rather he may invite them, like Kuntī Devī, Queen Kuntī.

vipadaḥ santu [tāḥ śaśvat, tatra tatra jagad-guro bhavato darśanam yat syād, apunar bhava-darśanam]

[Queen Kuntī Devī prayed to Kṛṣṇa: "I wish that all those calamities (poisoning, arson, cannibalism, the vicious assembly, exile in the forest, the battle), would occur again and again so that we could have Your darśana again and again, for seeing You means that we will no longer see repeated births and deaths."]
[Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.8.25]

"Let external dangers may come and attack me, I don't care for them, I shall go on."

But this kavaca means to be protected from the superficial difficulty. Generally it is meant for that. There is some karmaṇa, but that is to help the good, so it may be acceptable. But still, in the highest form of bhajan, everything depending on His will. Whether I'm in danger or in happiness I shall go on with my Nāma-bhajan. I'm without any care for the external condition that may come to me according to my previous karma. I may be in the hell, or I may be in the heaven, or anywhere, I won't waste my energy to any other direction, but I will go on with Nāma-bhajan. They may come with their extreme power to disturb me like Prahlāda Mahārāja, and any other, but I don't care.

"Pasu paki hoite tyage. I won't pray to Kṛṣṇa for favourable circumstances. I shall utilise my energy best towards that. And I shall want from Him, that Your sweet will may be victorious. You can make or mar. More rākhi mari. If it is necessary for Your sweet enjoyment to kill me, You can do that. I'm a slave. You've got every right over me, to do anything and everything."

With this idea we have to approach towards Him, of the highest quality. The quality of our bhajan should be in that. Not seeking any other comfort in our way of bhajan, from Him also. "Kṛṣṇa, You create a protection, I'm going towards You; please manage for my protection." Won't. The purest type of bhajan, "You may do whatever You like. I want Your Name, Your service. Your sweet will may be satisfied by me, I want that." Self-forgetfulness in the service of Kṛṣṇa. Total self-forgetfulness, only in the whole concentration, "How I can satisfy You?" And what troubles will come over me on the way, I must not deviate my attention from that main point to all these outer necessities. Then, the quality will be less, and the intensity will also be less, if we're very eager to maintain our safety when we're passing through the way. Uncared for, as much as possible. "I want Your satisfaction." And one must be self-forgetful in that attempt, as much as possible. But according to the capacity or adhikāra they may have some protection on the way. That is, may be tolerated, not the highest ideal. The protection on the way, "I'm going to You, please protect me on the way, manage to protect me. It is Your sweet will, I want." Ke?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Jagabandhu. Disciple of Śrī Rasikānanda Bon Mahārāja.

Jagabandhu: Nitāi Gaura Hari bol. Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: _____ [?]

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: _____ [?] English. Bengali you don't speak?

Jagabandhu: I'm sorry. No. I must admit, no.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: You're from which place?

Jagabandhu: Scotland.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Foreign disciple? Where from he has come?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Scotland. And now you came from which place?

Jagabandhu: I came from Purī.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And his original home?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Scotland.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Scotland. Now you come from Calcutta? You're living there in Bon Mahārāja's centre at Calcutta? Who else are there? Rasikānanda Mahārāja there?

Jagabandhu: Rasikānanda Mahārāja is now in Vṛndāvana. Brajānanda Mahārāja is there, a young Mahārāja, recently, a recent sannyāsī who took sannyāsa only two months ago. Brajānanda Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Brajānanda Mahārāja is there. And where is Keśavānanda Mahārāja?

Jagabandhu: Keśavānanda Mahārāja he's north of Delhi somewhere. I don't know exactly where he is.

...

Devotee: ...studying astrology _____ [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: As regards to the answer of the previous question, I want to say that Mahāprabhu lived in Purī twenty four years continuously - ah, eighteen years continuously. And first six years the devotees from different parts, especially from Bengal, went to visit Him during Ratha-Yātrā.

Then Advaita Ācārya gave a letter, a note to Mahāprabhu.

bāulake kahiha - loka ha - ila bāula, bāulake kahiha - hāṭe nā vikāya cāula [bāulake kahiha - kāye nāhika āula, bāulake kahiha - ihā kahiyāche bāula]

["Tell our Prabhu, who acts as madmen do, that everyone has lost their sanity,
And rice once high in price has no value.
In love of God, half-crazed humanity neglects this world and all they once held dear;
tell Him a madman brings this to His ear."]
[Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Antya-līlā, 19. 20-1]

And after that the Bengal party generally did not go to visit Purī, and Mahāprabhu. Twelve years they could not attend Ratha-Yātrā ceremony as they did before. That does not mean they left Mahāprabhu, physically; they did could not go. But still twelve years Mahāprabhu retained, with Svarūpa Dāmodara, Rāya Rāmānanda, _____ [?] But the general public, of the appreciator of Mahāprabhu, they could not visit Him, in general. That does not mean that Mahāprabhu's position was lowered. His position will be judged from another standpoint, because, we don't think that He lost the charm of the public appreciation. So, external things must not come to judge the internal value. And what is his present inquiry?

Devotee: _____ [?]

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: What is the use of astrology for devotees? He has been studying astrology, because his Gurudeva requested him to study Hindu astrology. But he wants to know what is the use of this astrology for the devotees?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Just as general education and other things are necessary for money. Money, this learning, and the credit, and other physical strength may be utilised for the purpose of preaching; so is subsidiary, not all important thing. Generally, mass is attracted by the astrological statement. And in that way to capture them, and gradually to convert them.

Just as Tamāla Kṛṣṇa told that, "In China, I shall go and open a hostel, and then men will come and I shall be alert to capture them."

So, as is not śuddha bhakti, ānukūlyasya saṅkalpaḥ, what is thought to be - just as Haridāsa, Haridāsa Prabhu Nāmācārya, he used to give sweets to the boys, and then asked "You take the Name of the Lord Kṛṣṇa, Hare Kṛṣṇa." Distributed sweets and "You say Kṛṣṇa." Something like that.

The astrology, to create some confidence in them that, "This man is super-class, so I must, may be disciple to him." And then gradually to take him towards the real path, ānukūlyasya saṅkalpaḥ. It may be ānukūl, a favourable step.

jñāna-vairāgyādi — bhaktira kabhu nahe 'aṅga' [ahiṁsā-yama-niyamādi bule kṛṣṇa-bhakta-saṅga]

["The path of speculative knowledge and renunciation is not essential for devotional service. Indeed, good qualities such as non violence and control of the mind and senses automatically accompany a devotee of Lord Kṛṣṇa."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 22.145]

What to speak of all these things, even knowledge, learning, and vairāgya means abnegation, or indifference. What is vairāgya?

Devotees: Renunciation.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Renunciating nature. That is also not a part of real devotion, vairāgya. Vairāgya means abnegation, "I don't want anything, no taste for all the world things, all these. Suppose taking prasādam once; no dress, nothing of the kind." This vairāgya, virāg indifference to everything in this world. And knowledge, jñāna vairāgya, which is the real property of the yogī and jñānī school. That is not a part and parcel of devotion. What to speak of other things, jñāna-vairāgyādi.

[tasmān mad-bhakti-yuktasya, yogino vai mad-ātmanaḥ]
na jñānaṁ na ca vairāgyaṁ, prāyaḥ śreyo bhaved iha

["The practice of dry gnosticism and stoic abnegation (jñāna and vairāgya) are unnecessary, and generally cannot be beneficial, for the faithful devotee who dedicates his heart and all his activities to the service of My lotus feet." (Even if jñāna and vairāgya are superficial employed in a preliminary stage, they are nonetheless not to be considered integral parts of pure devotion, which stands independently in her divine super excellence).”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.20.31] & [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 22.146]

vāsudeve bhagavati bhakti-yogaḥ prayojitaḥ janayaty āśu vairāgyaṁ jñānañ ca [yad ahaitukam]

[“If somehow with the help of the scriptures and His agents, the devotees or saints, we can develop our devotion, bhakti, then, the proper knowledge and proper apathy towards worldly substances will follow us.”]
[Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.2.7]

Real jñāna vairāgya will come as the consequence of bhakti. As a result of devotion the proper abnegation and proper knowledge will come. Otherwise, ordinary knowledge and ordinary apathy towards the worldly things can’t create devotion proper - empirical method. By trying self abnegation, or by learning these worldly things, gradually I shall attain bhakti, no. But bhakti, bhaktyā sañjātayā bhaktyā.

[smarantaḥ smārayantaś ca, mitho 'ghaugha-haraṁ harim
bhaktyā sañjātayā bhaktyā, bibhraty utpulakāṁ tanum]

[“The devotees of the Lord constantly discuss the glories of the Personality of Godhead among themselves. Thus they constantly remember the Lord and remind one another of His qualities and pastimes. In this way, by their devotion to the principles of bhakti yoga, the devotees please the Personality of Godhead, who takes away from them everything inauspicious. Being purified of all impediments, the devotees awaken to pure love of Godhead, and thus, even within this world, their spiritualised bodies exhibit symptoms of transcendental ecstasy, such as standing of the bodily hairs on end.”]
[Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.3.31]

Bhakti is the cause of bhakti. Devotion is its own cause. So when I get the devotion proper, the real bhakti, real vairāgya, self abnegation and knowledge, will come in its retinue naturally. That will be normal. Otherwise, ordinary self abnegation and renunciation spirit, or knowledge of the worldly matters, can never produce what is devotion proper. So, this knowledge of astrology, or any science like Einstein and all these mathematics, they may capture ordinary people to him, and then to initiate what is pure devotion to Him. They are like bait, lāḍḍu, distributing sweet meats, and to attract, and then say what is Lord Kṛṣṇa. The sweetest thing is Kṛṣṇa. Ānukūlyasya saṅkalpaḥ, in that way.

Astronomy may say, “You try to acquire the knowledge of hypnotism. Whoever will come hypnotise him, and then you give mantram. But, that is all artificial. But to capture the mind, to defeat the mental pride of the other party, to crush their vanity. And then to help them to come forward with surrender, with such attraction, then the truth He will be distributed to these men. In this way it may be utilised.

Devotee: _____ [?]

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: He's telling, "I'm now after three years in sannyāsa āśrama. So we're begging Your Divine Grace for some instruction, practical advice for the sannyāsa āśrama."

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Keep association with the higher Vaiṣṇava, and go on with your duty. Always keep in association with the higher Vaiṣṇava. Vaiṣṇava of higher plane, that is always to keep you to supply vitality. Whatever you do, preach or whatever you do, but all important thing to keep the vitality within you. And that can come from the different dynamo of the Vaiṣṇava, and their association, to keep your life intact, and then go on with work. And if the vitality diminishes, then everything will go. Spiritual vitality, and the dynamo, and that supply is the Vaiṣṇava. And when Vaiṣṇava is absent, then the scripture: Gītā, Bhāgavatam, all these things, and Gurudeva's writings, Swāmī Mahārāja, as available in your language.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Nitāi. Nitāi.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: So, Raman Mahārāja seems to be very satisfied, with you, by Your Grace.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: All right, I consider my self fortunate if I can render some service for him.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: No. We all consider ourselves fortunate to be at your feet.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Raman Mahārāja: Tell him then that I cannot express my satisfaction, no. _____ [?]

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: He says, "I can not express my satisfaction."

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ha, ha, ha. So he's a genuine person. No limit, you're connected with unlimited. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari.

Raman Mahārāja: Ask him about if he wants to send message for my Godbrothers in Caracas.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Mahārāja is asking if Your Divine Grace would send any message of blessings to his Godbrothers in Caracas.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Combined, in combination. He may ask Viraha Prakāśa Mahārāja that, who have got real faith maintained to Pramāṇa Mahārāja, please help them towards that. And after let first Pramāṇa Mahārāja come and meet us. We want to know his real position. And then we may approach in that way. Ask Viraha Prakāśa Mahārāja, give scope to those persons that are maintaining faith in him, in Pramāṇa Mahārāja. What do you think? Pramāṇa Mahārāja may come and we understand his position present, and then we're to take necessary steps how it will be possible. What do you say?

Raman Mahārāja: _____ [?] I have a contact with a man which is a very expert martial artist. So he wants to be a kṣatriya. He's in touch with Viraha Prakāśa before, but now he wants to take initiation from Pramāṇa Swāmī. And he's the president of an association of _____ [?] So I want to know what's the _____ [?]

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: He's asking, Guru Mahārāja, that some influential man he wants to be a kṣatriya, he likes this kṣatriya dharma. So how would he introduce him to Kṛṣṇa consciousness? He also wants to be a devotee, but not to be a brāhmaṇa, to be a kṣatriya.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Kṣatriya that means, they will, the hunting campaign they will maintain?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Not hunting, but this self defence, martial arts.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: To use weapons.

Devotees: Weapons perhaps, yes, and by hand, by...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Any way, but physical.

Devotees: By expert gymnastics, physical business. Also, attracted to mystic power, and he has got mystic power, according to Raman Mahārāja, this gentleman.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: As he was asked to learn jyotiṣa, the astronomy, so it may be. It is also again of very lower order, to take physical strength, to utilise physical strength to fulfil our purpose. It is of lower order. Mahāprabhu did not accept.

Here also, Swāmī Mahārāja, when his Maṭha was attacked, Swāmī Mahārāja was inside, he send kīrtana party outside. "Go and offer yourself to be prey of those guṇḍās who came, entered the compound, and created some disturbance." He asked his men, "Go out challenge with kīrtana, without, disarmed, go with kīrtana party, and offer yourselves to be prey of the guṇḍās on you." And it was subsided there.

So thereby showed Mahāprabhu's weapon is that passive resistance, not physical attack, offensive for offensive. To show passive attitude to conquer the offensive thing. That will be better, that is the policy of Mahāprabhu.

But, when that is not possible in lower stage, one can take that physical help for self protection. And sometimes if we see that Deity or Vaiṣṇava is going to be attacked, demolished. Then we're justified to do any measure against them; even the stick, or the gun, or anything. If we find that the Deity, or the Vaiṣṇava, or Guru is going to be prey to the rowdies, at that time, whatever possible we can assert in that way. But not generally for ourselves. For our protection, rakṣisyatīti viśvāsaḥ, He will protect me. But in the case of Vaiṣṇava, or Guru, or Deity, we can assert as far as possible, with all our resources, and we'll be ready to give our own life. Of course, according to one's own realisation it will come.

Our Haṁsadūta Mahārāja, he's kṣatriya type, he is using weapons; is it not? Haṁsadūta?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: So we're told, yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: With all of his Godbrothers, fighting with Godbrothers in his own clan, he's using weapons.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: I don't think he uses them, but he keeps them, he's kept some.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: For scaring them.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Maybe.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So threatening, for threatening in that way they will all withdraw.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Stay away, keep away, keep distance.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: If sincerity of purpose is there, then extreme cases it may be accepted.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: In the newspaper one reporter said, "What kind of...

83.07.19.A

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: _____ [?] By all our movements our affinity towards Kṛṣṇa may increase, further and further. That should be the only object of movement. _____ [?]

By His will, by the Divine will, wherever we're to go. But the object of our life is one and same. Unchangeable. Our affection, our love, attraction for Kṛṣṇa may increase further and further. _____ [?]

The Lord expressed in the form of Kṛṣṇa. That should be our hearty prayer. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Rati and yukti, two things.

Yukti, our reason, by the faculty of reason, by the exercise of our reason. "This is mortal. We want eternal substance. This is painful. We want blissful. This is based by calculation of loss and gain. We want to go to Kṛṣṇa. We want to go to the Absolute." This is one thing, by yukti, by the application of our knowing faculty, knowledge.

But this is - nor fruitful, to fulfil the purpose of our inner. That is devotion, bhakti, dedication. That is independent. No jñāna, no karma, no energy, no knowledge, can take us to Kṛṣṇa. Only through love. That is another department. Just as any amount of energy may not produce knowledge. So no amount of knowledge can produce love. It's an independent plane. Bhaktyā sañjātayā bhaktyā. [Bhāgavatam, 11.3.31] That is the most fundamental. And these are all something like coatings. So bhaktyā sañjātayā, the unit of devotion is independent of both energy and intellectualism.

That is a third thing, and we must have to acquire that thing, that is bhakti, sukṛti, bhakti, ruci. Ruci can surely lead us to Vṛndāvana, the land of ruci, love. The smallest part of love is called ruci, the smallest unit is ruci. Ruci will take us there. Ruci is the original thing that can produce love. So jñāna-karmādy-anāvṛtam, [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 19-167], and that must be independent of both knowledge as well as energy, karma. Ruci, bhakti is such. Śuddha bhakti is independent of knowledge as well as this energy, karma, labour.

And these are rather coatings, overcoats, not reality. So our inner hankering for satisfaction - really we're in search of satisfaction, of happiness, of blissfulness, not knowledge, not energy. There we demand them for immediate purpose, not the goal. The goal within us is always blissfulness, and beauty, that love. No knowledge, no labour, energy. That we must analyse and understand, our inner demand is blissfulness, happiness, joy. And that knowledge and energy can never produce that. That is a particular independent type of thing. And jñāna-karmādy-anāvṛtam, they're over-coatings. The real substance is love, sukha, joy, ecstasy, ānandam, beauty, that is the real substance. And we're also a particle of that. We want to be unified in that plane. That is what is necessary.

So neither knowledge or reason can produce bhakti, devotion. That is a plenary thing, most fundamental substance is devotion. Bhaktyā sañjātayā bhaktyā. Only devotion can produce devotion. The unit of devotion has been told as sukṛti, some sort of sympathy acquired from the sādhus. Just as from one lamp another lamp can be lit, again one candle can be lit by the help of another candle flame. So from the flame, the devotion that's in the heart of a sādhu, from there my candle can be lit. In this way, something like this. But no other thing can produce - it's independent, most perfect and independent, and not interdependent, completely independent thing, bhakti. All else is rather like _____ [?] in the fruit, the cover in the fruit, something.

So Viśvanātha Cakravartī Ṭhākura has said, "Why, in Bhagavad-gītā, devotion is placed in the middle?"

In the beginning the karma, the middle _____ [?], and the last is jñāna. Generally we may think the first karma, then bhakti, then jñāna is the highest. But Cakravartī Ṭhākura has told, "The two covers, and between the book. The book is within, and two sides to cover, one side karma, one side jñāna, and substance is within.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol.

So ahaitukī apratihatā, it's causeless, it's is own cause, and apratihatā, none can stop its progress. But what can stop, or deteriorate, that is within Her own control. No worldly knowledge or labour, but aparādha means pertaining to bhakti school, that can deteriorate, offence to the Vaiṣṇava, to the śāstra, to the Lord, aparādha. That is the only object for our reverence, for our adoration, and if we cannot adore, do justice, to honour properly, then of course a setback comes, a reaction comes. The adorable things must be adored. Loving things must be loved. What should be honourable, if I do not honour the honourable, some sort of reaction cannot but come. And that is offence, aparādha. And aparādha, not concerned with other things but only there, Guru, Vaiṣṇava, śāstra, Nāma aparādha, all these. We must be very much careful about that. Other things we may not care at all. But when we've entered that realm we must be very careful about there. We may be, our activities may come to the proper standard. Of course through error that is to be forgiven. But there is degree, there are classes of aparādha. We'll only be careful about that, because that will be suicidal. One who is coming to bless me, to favour me, I'm standing against him, that is I'm standing against my own real, vital interest. To stand against the Vaiṣṇava is to stand against ones own vital interest, so the śāstra and other things pertaining to the bhakti school, careful, dayal.

Cakravartī Ṭhākura says, "The mahā-bhāgavata, they do not care for offence against them." But he says, "The feet dust of those mahā-bhāgavata, they do not, can't tolerate the dishonour of their master."

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol.

Just as a labourer if he fails to labour the product may not be achieved. Just as a research scholar, going researching, but if he commits any error in his process the desired end is far off. So here also, the question of heart, if any defect in that process, automatically we'll be loser. Everywhere, in his own department there is possible setback. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Sukha. But,

[pārtha naiveha nāmutra, vināśas tasya vidyate]
na hi kalyāṇa-kṛt kaścid, durgatiṁ tāta gacchati

["O Arjuna, son of Kuntī, the unsuccessful yogī does not suffer ruination either in this life or the next. He is not deprived of the pleasures of the heavenly planetary systems in this universe, nor is he denied the chance to personally see the Supersoul in the divine realm. This is so, O dear one, because a person who performs virtuous actions never becomes ill-fated."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 6.40]

Sincerity will be our real friend in this path. Duplicity, that is bad. And sincerity, simplicity, that is the capital. _____ [?] Become simple. To become a devotee, to become cent percent simple. Simple means unprejudiced. The prejudice, the foreign poison or dust are coming, and dispossessing us of our own wealth. So simple, sahaja [?], from that sahajiyā has come, sahaja. Sahaja means innate, which is born with my own self, which is covering my own self, my innate nature. That is devotion. And foreign things have come and covered and modified our nature and we're in the midst of karmī, jñānī, yogī, all these things. So sahajiyā, sahaja. Prākṛta-sahajiyā Śata-Dūṣaṇī. Not sahajiyāism has been blamed, but prākṛta-sahajiyā. That is to be satisfied with the pratibimba, the reflection, not the thing but with the reflection here, that is prākṛta-sahajiyā. What is in the realm of ātmā, spirit, soul proper, and the reflection that is in the body and mind here. And to go on with the exercise, cultivation of this body, mind, and to think that I'm doing that thing, that is prākṛta-sahajiyā. Imitation, that is transaction with the pratibimba, reflection, and to think that I'm handling the reality. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Then they'll have to start. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol.

Jagabandhu: Mahārāja. I'd very humbly like to ask you a question concerning your book, which I had good opportunity to read yesterday for the first time. And in the book I was very much surprised to see the emphasis for spiritual enlightenment was on preaching, primary to japa. Japa was secondary to the importance of preaching. And this very much surprised me because my Spritual Master Rasikānanda said that japa has the potency. The potency lies in the chanting of the Holy Name. And I'm wondering which is actual - how should I approach this?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What does he say?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: He says, in the book Search For Śrī Kṛṣṇa, more stress, more importance has been placed on the service of preaching. But he says that his Gurudeva gives more importance, he feels, on japa. Perhaps one remark, if we do japa, certain amount of counting, but preaching and service is more important than the japa. But our Jagabandhu prabhu is surprised, he thought japa was more important.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You have heard that Mahāprabhu laid stress in kīrtana. He recommended five things for sādhana. Sādhu saṅga, nāma-kīrttana, bhāgavat-śravaṇa, dhāma-vāsa, śrī-mūrttira śraddhāya arcana. [Madhya-līlā, 22.128]. Sādhana-śreṣṭha ei pañca aṅga [Madhya-līlā, 22.129]. Tāra madhye sarvva- śreṣṭha nāma-saṅkīrttana, niraparādhe nāma laile pāya prema-dhana [Antya-līlā, 4.71].

[sādhu saṅga, nāma-kīrttana, bhāgavat-śravaṇa / mathurā-vāsa, śrī-mūrttira śraddhāya sevana]

["Association with the pure devotee, chanting the Holy Name, hearing the Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, residing in Mathurā Dhāma, and faithfully worshipping the Deity."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 22.128]

[sakala-sādhana-śreṣṭha ei pañca aṅga, kṛṣṇa-prema janmāya ei pāṅcera alpa saṅga]

["These five limbs of devotional service are the best of all. Even a slight performance of these five awakens love for Kṛṣṇa."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 22.129]

[bhajanera madhye śreṣṭha nava-vidhā bhakti, 'kṛṣṇa-prema,' 'kṛṣṇa' dite dhare mahā-śakti
[tāra madhye sarvva-śreṣṭha nāma-saṅkīrtana, niraparādhe nāma laile pāya prema-dhana]

["Of all forms of Divine Service, nine forms are superior, which with great potency bestow upon the devotees love for Kṛṣṇa, and their personal relationship with Him; and of the nine, the best is Nāma-saṅkīrtana. By offencelessly taking the Holy Name, the treasure of love for the Lord is attained."]
[Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Antya-līlā, 4.70-1]

Nāma-saṅkīrtana, kīrtana means to preach. Kīrtana, the real principle, the real underlying meaning of kīrtana is to preach, to propagate, kīrtana. So kīrtana, and anything, whatever should be done, any form of devotion that must be devotion proper, that is sevā, service. So our Gurudeva,

ataḥ śrī-kṛṣṇa-nāmādi na bhaved grāhyam indriyaiḥ
sevonmukhe hi jihvādau svayam eva sphuraty adaḥ

["Because the name of Kṛṣṇa is identical with Kṛṣṇa Himself, and on the absolute spiritual platform, Kṛṣṇa's name, form, qualities, and associates, cannot be appreciated by the material senses. However, when one engages the tongue in chanting the Holy Names of the Lord and tasting the remnants of the Lord's food, Kṛṣṇa gradually reveals Himself to the purified senses of that devotee."]

[Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, Pūrva-vibhāga, 2.234]

We want a connection with the super subjective area. So only our sincere hankering for Him, and our attitude to surrender to His cause, can attract Him to our level. That is transcendental. How can I come in connection with the transcendental? When I offer myself for His cause, His service, then He'll care to come down to keep connection with me. So whatever transcendental affairs we're going to do, connect, observe, the sevonmukhatā, this sort of spirit, attitude, must be there. Otherwise it will be only a repetition of mundane feats. So sevonmukhatā, to practice, to dedicate ones own self, that is mainly necessary. Whether we - kīrtana, śravaṇa, smaraṇa, vandana, everywhere this common factor must have to be present that I want to dedicate for the cause of the higher, and not I want to use the higher principle for my lower purpose. This tenor must be observed first.

And then again kīrtana that means to preach. That means saṅkīrtana sarvva-śreṣṭha, that it's difficult to control the inner mind. But when we chant to some other person, preach, we cannot but be all conscious, we cannot talk irrelevant. So concentration we can have easily when we talk about Him. That is kīrtana. And when engaged in japam, then I may begin with some japam, my mind may wander here and there, everywhere. But when I'm engaged in kīrtana I must be all attentive. So we can control the mind which is very difficult to capture and to utilise. So,

[agha-cchit smaraṇaṁ viṣṇor, bahv-āyāsena sādhyate]
oṣṭha-spandana-mātreṇa, kīrtanaṁ tu tato varam

["The remembrance of Viṣṇu certainly cuts sin to pieces, but it is very difficult to attain perfection through remembering Viṣṇu. Only after great effort is such remembrance possible. However, simply by moving the lips, there is the kīrtana of the Holy Name of Viṣṇu, and therefore kīrtana is the topmost process of devotional service."] [Hari-bhakti-vilāsa, 11.453] & [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.5.38-40, purport]

& [Gauḍīya Kaṇṭhahāra, 17.19]

Special stress has been put into the kīrtana by Mahāprabhu. The kīrtana means to preach. The environment has come prepared to attack me. I rather offensive for offensive, I shall attack the environment. Kīrtana means that, the offensive. The whole environment is surcharged with the spirit offensive. They're coming and attacking me from different directions, through different ideas that are already like spies they're within us, their agents. So kīrtana, offensive, I shall take the offensive, attack the environment, with the power that I received from Gurudeva. That I shall generate within me and I shall attack the environment. That means kīrtana means preach. We've told what we've heard from our Gurudeva, Bhaktisiddhānta Saraswatī, in this way, and we're trying to preach that thing to others. This is the tenor of his preaching. Preaching means to attack the environment, not to lie down passively and allow others...

Japam may be feeble, weak thing. You begin japam and your mind will - when you awake you'll find your mind is marketing in some other place. But when you're talking about Kṛṣṇa, Mahāprabhu, to others, you cannot but be all attentive. You can't talk irrelevant. Automatic attention you can control there when kīrtana, when preaching. That is the advantage. Kīrtana, preach.

And also our Vṛndāvana dāsa Ṭhākura he has given another point. One who is doing japam he's feeding himself. But one who is making kīrtana he's feeding so many others, and that reaction he'll receive. So your cause will be enhanced more and more. In this way we have understood it. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

So this is for the justification what is told in Search After Kṛṣṇa. Kīrtana. Now you're to choose. I gave my explanation. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol.

Sevonmukhe hi. So our Gurudeva laid stress in practising what is sevā. Not only disinterested, but must be Kṛṣṇa interested, Guru interested. Guru is the agent, representing Kṛṣṇa's cause. And I must, setting aside all my tendencies within, I shall surrender to the dictation of Gurudeva. I shall ignore my inner impressions and their suggestions, and indent only what is coming from high through my Gurudeva. I shall do that. That is to practice and acquire the habit of service there. Self abnegation, and to invite some higher tendency to work within me. Thereby we can acquire, we can know, we can understand, what is service proper, sevonmukhatā. Self abnegation and indenting the higher tendency to work within me with all my efforts. That is total transformation, that is necessary, through the agency of the higher world. And with that attitude I shall take Name, whatever I shall do, that attitude, that life must be present there. Sevonmukhatā. What I'm doing, not for me, but for the centre, for Kṛṣṇa. And the guarantee is the Gurudeva, the agent. This is the explanation.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: So japa is rather a prayer that we want to do kīrtana.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ah. It is within, japa is within, and disturbance are allowed to attack. And also, others are not being benefited there. What Mahāprabhu did, He's the pioneer of saṅkīrtana, not of japam. Saṅkīrtana.

[antaḥ kṛṣṇaṁ bahir gauraṁ, darśitāṅgādi-vaibhavam]

kalau saṅkīrtanādyaiḥ sma, kṛṣṇa-caitanyam āśritāḥ

["I take shelter of Lord Śrī Kṛṣṇa Caitanya Mahāprabhu, who is outwardly of fair complexion but inwardly is Kṛṣṇa Himself. In this Kali-yuga He appears with His expansions and associates to perform the congregational chanting, and preaching of the Holy Name of Kṛṣṇa."] [Krama-Sandharbha & Tattva-Sandarbha]

kṛṣṇa-varṇaṁ tviṣā 'kṛṣṇaṁ sāṅgopāṅgāstra-pārṣadam
yajñaiḥ saṅkīrtana-prāyair yajanti hi sumedhasaḥ

["In the age of Kali, intelligent persons perform congregational chanting to worship the incarnation of Godhead who constantly sings the Names of Kṛṣṇa. Although His complexion is not blackish, He is Kṛṣṇa Himself. He is accompanied by His associates, servants, weapons and confidential companions."]
[Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.5.32] & [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Ādi-līlā, 3.52]

Mahāprabhu came for saṅkīrtana. And japam that is vraje sevā mānase karibe. Mahāprabhu is giving instruction to Raghunātha dāsa.

[grāmya-kathā nā śunibe, grāmya-vārtā nā kahibe] bhāla nā khāibe āra bhāla nā paribe
amānī mānada hañā kṛṣṇa-nāma sadā la'be, vraje rādhā-kṛṣṇa-sevā mānase karibe

[Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu told Raghunātha Dāsa Goswāmī: "Don't indulge in worldly talk, don't hear worldly talk. Try your best to avoid mundane matters. Don't eat delicious dishes, but take whatever ordinary food may come of its own accord; and don't dress luxuriously. Always try to take the Name of Kṛṣṇa with the attitude of giving respect to others, without expecting respect from anyone. Be humble, but never aspire after respectful dealings from others. In this way, try to take the Name of Kṛṣṇa constantly. And within, try to serve Śrī Śrī Rādhā-Kṛṣṇa in Vṛndāvana. Mentally, be in Vṛndāvana rendering Service to Śrī Śrī Rādhā-Kṛṣṇa līlā."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Antya-līlā, 6.236-7]

The Vraja sevā, that is not for the public. If you're in that stage you'll continue that within yourself, within your mind, and not publicly. And the other things before we reach that stage we shall do publicly. Amānī mānada. And our measure will be the spirit of toleration. And also without causing any disturbance to the environment, as much as possible, unnecessarily.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: So that means we're attacking the environment, but we can't disturb the environment.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ha, ha. But our attitude should be passive, cold, that of a masterly attitude. We shall attack our enemy, but the process must be grand, not like a weak man. With dignity, with dignified attitude we shall attack our enemy. That is, at heart he's well-meaning. "I want his good. And my cause is infinite. And he's within a tiny cell taking shelter." Dignified position.

tṛṇād api sunīcena, taror api sahiṣṇunā / amāninā [mānadena, kīrtanīyaḥ sadā hariḥ]

["One who is humbler than a blade of grass, more forbearing than a tree, who gives due honour to others without desiring it for himself is qualified to always chant the Holy Name of Kṛṣṇa."] [Śikṣāṣṭakam, 3]

And inviting in my attack, that will be of such nature that will invite universal force for my backing, support. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol.

Rāmānuja had a discourse with a māyāvādī. Fourteen days a strong fight, but Rāmānuja could not crush him. Then he came and prayed to Varadarāja. "What is this? You have accepted me as the Ācārya of the particular group, and I cannot defeat that māyāvādī. So Varadarāja it is a very insulting position I have created for You. Now I'm nothing, nowhere."

Anyhow the engagement was there, Rāmānuja had to go and face him, his strong opponent. And as soon as he goes he fell at his feet. "Yes, what you told I have recapitulated in my mind, that is true. What I've told that is false. I can understand just a thing." And fell at his feet.

So higher power is above. Ha, ha, ha. The Varadarāja willed, and he at once fell at the feet.

So always we must be conscious of our Gurudeva, Mahāprabhu. We're tiny persons. What power we have got? All our capital, the source of our success is above our head, with the Vaiṣṇava, with Guru. With this attitude we're to fight, not to create our own egoism, to develop our own egoism, not for that, but for His cause. In this way, with all sincerity.

My nature was when fighting with others, when if I come to such a position that I can't follow things properly, I used to ask myself, "Why am I here? What is my cause? I'm supporting this." Then I got answer from within. "For this reason I'm here." So in that way I could cross the lair of the oppositionist. Many places like that. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. "Have I come here with some ulterior motive, or with some sincere and higher motive?" Then to analyse that it will come out why I've come. "Why have I not gone to attend māyāvādī school, nor the karmī school, nor the patriots, nor others? Why I've not joined them? And exclusively I've joined Mahāprabhu, why? What attracted me?" In this way. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol.

Devotee: So Mahārāja. Excuse me but I have to go now _____ [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. You go. And you try to write Pramāṇa Mahārāja what we told, to meet Akṣayānanda Mahārāja and myself. This is not order, but our prayer. Hare Kṛṣṇa. He's a good soul, as far as we know. Without him we can't find satisfaction. Something wanting within us without him.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari bol. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol.
Jaya Jagannātha kī jaya! Ha, ha. Jagannātha kī jaya! Hari Hari bol. Nitāi. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol.

Where have you got The Search For Śrī Kṛṣṇa?

Jagabandhu: I never got it personally. Mahārāja left it outside his door yesterday. I had the opportunity to read it.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Where did you read?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: He borrowed the book from Raman Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Oh. Raman Mahārāja.

Jagabandhu: Yesterday I read it. And that point, I mean, that surprised me very much.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Now have you understood?

Jagabandhu: Now I've understood, but at the same time I'm much more in a turmoil. Because I raised this point with my Gurudeva, he said, "Isn't preaching more for goṣṭhyānandans? We're bhajanānandan, we're not goṣṭhyānandan. Goṣṭhyānandan for those who have the divine mercy...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You may ask your Gurudeva and he may explain to you further, what is more private instruction for you. "I came to read this book, and there the stress is laid on the kīrtana and the service. And you say japam. How can we harmonise, adjust?" You may ask him, and as he'll tell you do.

Jagabandhu: This very question I've raised with him a couple of times, because I had a personal desire to go out and preach. And I've expressed my desire to go to Madras and further I want to go to Europe. This I've discussed with my Gurudeva. And I feel preaching, personally, I have more leaning towards that, instead of just sitting in a mandeer doing japa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Nitāi Gaura Hari bol.

Jagabandhu: There's one other question I'd actually like to raise Mahārāja. When does one come to the understanding that one is serious?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: How do we know when we're serious? He's asking. When can we come to the understanding that we're serious? How do we know?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I don't follow.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: I don't follow either.

Jagabandhu: When do we come to the point when we're taking Hari Nāma seriously?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: How do we know, how can we understand that we're serious, that we're taking Hari Nāma seriously?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hari Nāma, it begins from the lowest position and goes up to the highest. The most fallen, and then they can get Hari Nāma only with the connection of the sādhu. It's for all, for all possible stages, Hari Nāma can help us, all possible fallen stages. And at the same time it goes to the highest position of Name. But the meaning will change to the taker, the development in the Name. But the devotees taking the Name of Kṛṣṇa, the whole nerve is getting jerk. And ordinary people, what we get?

Jagabandhu: In my time I didn't...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Whole thing will be attracted, extract. It will draw the extract and take to Kṛṣṇa. The sound will squeeze your existence and take to Kṛṣṇa, of our dedication. Hare Kṛṣṇa. But the result is different, but anyone take the Name. Rādhārāṇī taking the Name of Kṛṣṇa. So many things to be. It's infinite. It's not finite, that we shall draw a line, so far no further. All infinite. The sound is also infinite. The figure, rūpa, colour, all infinite, different aspects of the infinite. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Rādhārāṇī says, "My life is sure to meet a disaster and despair." Why? She's saying to Her friends. "I have heard the Name of Kṛṣṇa and I've surrendered fully there. I've seen the portrait of Kṛṣṇa, I've surrendered." She does not know, till now, that the Name Kṛṣṇa and portrait is one and same, so She's representing in this way. "I have heard the Name, I surrendered completely there. Again, I found a picture, I surrendered to that picture. And another, My rūpa, I heard the flute sound, I surrendered there. So I've surrendered in three places My friends. How can I get peace in My mind? So My life is finished, gone, and I'm expecting for a disastrous end, final, wholesale spoiled. But when those three comes into one, the Name and the flute and the portrait, what degree of joy it is." The Name has attracted Her to be empty, nothing to note even, such way.

So what is that Name to us, what is it? So degree of love and affection with which we do the work, do the Name, or we do the service to the Deity, or whatever form outside, the inner spirit, that will be all and end all. Everything is there. With what attitude I'm approaching?

83.07.19.B_83.07.24.A

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Self giving. Ātma-nivedana. Sarvasvātma-nivedane.

[śrī viṣṇoḥ śravaṇe parīkṣidabhavad-vaiyāsakiḥ kīrtane prahlādaḥ smaraṇe tad aṅghribhajane lakṣmī pṛthuḥ pūjane akrūras-tvabhivandane kapi-patir-dāsye 'tha sathye 'rjunaḥ sarvasvātma-nivedane balirabhut kṛṣṇāptireṣāṁ param]

["The following devotees attained Śrī Kṛṣṇa and thus realised the ultimate goal of life by following one of the nine methods of devotional service: Parīkṣit Mahārāja realised Śrī Kṛṣṇa through hearing about His glories (śravaṇaṁ), Śukadeva Goswāmī realised Śrī Kṛṣṇa through speaking Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam (kīrtanaṁ). Prahlāda realised Him through devotional remembrance (smaraṇaṁ). Lakṣmī Devī attained His mercy by serving His lotus feet (pāda-sevanam). Pṛthu Mahārāja attained Him through worship (pūjanam). Akrūra attained Him through prayer. Hanumān attained Him through personal service. Arjuna attained Him through friendship. Bali Mahārāja attained Him through complete surrender of body, mind, and words."]
[Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, Pūrva-vibhāga, 2.129]

The very criterion, how far one has surrendered himself, to what degree, for the cause. All other functions will depend on this truth. That with how far intensity he has dedicated to take the Name, or do the service of the Guru, or to the Deity, or whatever it is, to preach, whatever. But what is the intensity of the dedication for the satisfaction of the Lord. Gopīs are not engaged always in japam, or always taking Name in the beads, but their every activity attracting Kṛṣṇa towards them. So all our movements will be such that they will attract Kṛṣṇa, they'll be meant only to satisfy Kṛṣṇa, and nothing else. All the movements, wholesale conversion, wholesale transformation, not only the lips, or the mind, body, with all limbs, everything wholesale transformation. That is necessary. We shall live and move for Him, not for anything else. That is what is the desired end. Completely we belong to Him, His slave. He can make or mar, whatever, every right He has got over me. He may play with me in any way He likes - play doll. Our dedication towards Him will be so much, of such quality. Anyhow to reach there.

Jagabandu: I've personally found Mahārāja, the more one intense becomes in the dedication for Kṛṣṇa, the more one disappointed also one becomes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What does he say?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: "The more intense we become dedicated," he finds, "the more disappointed I become."

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Dedication is disappointment? Dedication to what?

Jagabandu: The more dedication to Śrī Kṛṣṇa. The more dedication to my Gurudeva. The dedication to the devotees. _____ [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Have you heard the name, the philosophy of Hegel? Die to live. We must not be miser. Die to live. You will fully have to die, what you are at present. If you want a proper life that will come within. You are to put yourself into the fire and the alloy will be eliminated and the pure gold will come with its dazzling colour. Something like that. Die to live, that Mr. Hegel says. The soul does not die. By dedication those alloyed things, mind, body, and so many other aspirations, they'll be reduced into ashes by the fire when we cast us in the dedication.

Jagabandu: This I know.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then die to live, you remember.

Jagabandu: I mean, if everyone had that spirit Mahārāja then there'd be no break up, like I see before my very eyes. With ISKCON, different groups here, different Maṭhas here, all representing different parts but all breaking up.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: If everybody had this spirit there would be no factions, ISKCON break up, another Maṭha here, another Maṭha there.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But all may not be normal. Some are different, some difference.

Jagabandu: Where's the preaching? I don't see it.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Those that are engaged in search, they cannot follow the perfect course. Some defect and hitch. Then there is the līlā, which satisfies Kṛṣṇa, we find difference in the group of the servants. In the normal position of Vṛndāvana there is also some fighting. So fighting is not bad. Fighting, if to satisfy Kṛṣṇa's whim, sweet will, then that is acceptable to me. What's the rub, what is the bad there? Satisfaction for Kṛṣṇa. If fighting is satisfaction, we shall do that.

Jagabandu: But if we're neglecting the fallen souls, and we're only fighting just for our own prestige, and we're neglecting Caitanya Mahāprabhu's Mission to go out and give prema bhakti and love to the fallen souls, spread it all over, we're only fighting for our own selfishness, then I think there's something bad in that.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: It may be. When a patient is in the hospital for course of treatment some disease disappeared, another disease came out. That also treated and finished, another disease came out from within. It may be. When in the sādhaka, not siddha. Those that have come to hospital, they're all patients. This is also a hospital, Krsna consciousness. ISKCON, that is a hospital. That is not a place where all the normal health persons gather. They're all patients in the course of treatment.

Jagabandu: Where are the doctors Mahārāja? The patients can't cure themselves.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Doctor, expert, may not be, so many students they also are getting something and they're doing accordingly. Absolute knowledge you cannot expect anywhere. The competition in the atom bomb, whether America or Russia on the top. Always progressing, always in the middle stage. No final achievement anywhere. At least we cannot expect to see that. Always relative position. And that doesn't mean because it is relativity of the absolute, so we must give up the campaign. It is impractical. Everything defective, still we're doing that. We're taking daily food, but whatever we're dealing with, all is not perfect, still we're to maintain. Maximum good, whatever we can gather, we can do with that. The absolute position is not so easily got. You're to pass through the relative positions towards the absolute, every one of us.

Jagabandu: I don't want to go to the absolute position _____ [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. So by elimination and acceptance, everywhere, progress means elimination and acceptance, we can't avoid that, elimination and acceptance, but elimination should not be done inconsiderately.

[śreyān sva-dharmo viguṇaḥ, para-dharmāt svanuṣṭhitāt]
sva dharme nidhanaṁ śreyaḥ, para-dharmo bhayāvahaḥ

["It is better to carry out one's own duties a little imperfectly rather than faultlessly perform another's duties. Know that even death is auspicious in the discharge of one's duties appropriate to his natural position in the ordained socio-religious system, because to pursue another's path is perilous."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 3.35]

But at the same time our object should be with the higher aim.

sarva-dharmān parityajya, mām ekaṁ śaraṇaṁ vraja
[ahaṁ tvāṁ sarva-pāpebhyo, mokṣayiṣyāmi mā śucaḥ]

So elimination and acceptance, that means progress. Progress means elimination and acceptance, in every circle. And we're not to blame others. Whatever coming - from within. I'm not to blame others. The whole burden of this trouble is with me. None is responsible for that, when, because, there is the hand and interference of the Absolute, everywhere. So, just when there is government, a hooligan may not be, may not have escape, so the Absolute government is there. According to our karma we're giving and taking. It is not anarchy after all. So we're to suffer or enjoy our own karma, fruit of our own action, that is the law here. And when we'll think that 'I'm responsible for all my disastrous things' then there will be a favourable time for me, I'll be released. When a criminal says that, 'I'm taught sufficiently. I shall not go. It is - the punishment that has been dealt on me is true, it is justified,' then he may be released, that he won't commit any nuisance afterwards. So when we shall take patiently,

hṛd-vāg-vapurbhir vidhadhan namas te, jīveta yo mukti-pade sa dāya bhāk]

["One who, in the hope of achieving Your grace, goes on enduring the inauspicious fruit of his own karma, and passes his days practising devotion unto You in every thought, word, and deed - such a person is heir to the land of freedom: he attains to the plane of positive immortality."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.14.8]

"I'm responsible, I'm suffering for my own actions, none to be blamed." Then he'll come to the door of release, salvation. Otherwise not. A bad workman quarrels with his stools. It is my own karma that has created for me this environment where I find myself at present. It is my own earned thing. I have earned such atmosphere by my previous karma. So none to be blamed. And when I shall understand this truth intact, then my day of liberation will come near. This is advised by Bhāgavatam _____ [?] Tat te 'nukampāṁ susamīkṣamāṇo, bhuñjāna evātma-kṛtaṁ vipākam. So by work he can claim to be liberated. Mukti-pade sa dāya bhāk. Do you follow?

Jagabandu: I follow Mahārāja. I follow very clearly.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Not clearly, but haphazardly.

Jagabandu: No. I follow clearly.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Clearly? So no question can come again from you? Ha, ha. Some questions will come again?

Jagabandu: _____ [?] I'm expressing disappointment Mahārāja, that's all. I'm expressing disappointment in the preaching activity of...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then, what side you find your prospect? This ISKCON are saying some things about Gauḍīya Maṭha? Gauḍīya Maṭha is disappointing you, and where do you find the peak of your ray or prospect?

Jagabandu: I'm very disappointed in the bickering between Gauḍīya Maṭha, bickering between ISKCON and Gauḍīya Maṭha's position against ISKCON. ISKCON are just young boys, but they're being hammered by the Gauḍīya Maṭhas, spiritually.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You see, when Einstein came and he told, said against Newton, then he was insulted in the beginning. Then again they came and they told that "Yes, Einstein is above Newton." So you don't forget that you are in the infinite, you're in search of infinite thing. So many different parties may have different conviction. According to their own conviction they'll say 'this is good, this is bad.' According to their discretion, their capacity to understand things, because they're of variegated nature. So some variety there cannot but be, and for that some external or internal quarrel, difference there must be, cannot but be.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: What is the example? Einstein came, when Einstein spoke against Newton, you were saying just now. Example? Einstein spoke opposing Newton. Then?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: When first, the followers of Newton they stood against Einstein. But gradually they could know. "No. This is true." Einstein, and he was given a higher position. The fourth dimension. What is the gift of Einstein? The fourth dimension, not three. The possibility of the future must be calculated within the present, otherwise that estimation is not proper. Things are always changing, so the factor of change must be calculated within the present, otherwise it's not complete. Something like that he told. And many other things also.

So Mahāprabhu came, the Bhāgavata came, the fifth dimension took; before that fourth dimension, Vaikuṇṭha. Before that Śaṅkarācārya, three dimension, and Buddha, two dimension; in this way. Example. I tell that example.

With the elimination of the subtle body nothing remains. That is the be all, and everything of Buddha. Cārvāka, Epicurus, they say with the dissolution of the physical body nothing remains. Buddha gave recognition of the subtle body, and with the dissolution of the subtle body nothing remains.

Then Śaṅkara says, whether the subtle body, all is a reflection of a third thing, that is true and eternal, and this is all reflection. And when it is reflected in somewhere, with the dissolution of that the reflection, soul, dissolves forever, nothing remains.

Rāmānuja told, "No. There is another world on the opposite side. This is the world of exploitation. And we merge in the liberation that is the abscissa. And the positive plane is on the other side, pure subjective, and dedication is the very life there. Here exploitation, and the renunciation in the abscissa, and then dedication, there is a plane and true life in dedication." The fourth.

And Mahāprabhu told that "Calculative dedication that is one thing. And spontaneous dedication, and dedication not to the power and majesty, but dedication to the beauty. That is the highest." This was given by Mahāprabhu and from Bhāgavatam. Clearly it was proved.

So there are so many differences among the propounders of the main conception of reality. Then there may be differences among their disciples also to certain extent.

Neha nānāstiki. There must be nāna. Mahāprabhu told, "If there is no variety, then how the unity can come? Neha nānāsti kiṁcana. [Kaṭha Upaniṣad, part 4, mantra 11]

Śaṅkarācārya told that there's no variety.

But Mahāprabhu told, "If no variety then why the question comes of unity? The variety must be there. The variety and unity and then the adjustment, that is this world." That came from Mahāprabhu.

Neha nānāsti kiṁcana.

[Śaṅkarācārya said] Sarvaṁ khalv idaṁ brahma. "Everything is God."

"So there is everything also, and God also. We cannot sacrifice that sarvaṁ, everything, and only God. Then why we're here? So both sides must have recognition, and the harmony between them, that is the truth proper." This is the argument of Mahāprabhu.

Plurality and unity, diversity and unity and the harmony. That is the whole thing. And proper adjustment is necessary, and dislocation is bad. Māyā means dislocated. Provincial, local interest clashing within them and clashing with the Absolute also. But they must come into understanding with the Absolute wave, then there's harmony. All these things are to be discussed and understood. Ke?

Devotee: _____ [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You're going to the doctor?

Devotee: In another half an hour.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Badrinārāyaṇa prabhu is here? So to stay here for long time that may be detrimental to you. You should take rest.

Jagabandu: I've no more questions Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No more questions? This is not truth. Ha, ha. You have many questions.

Jagabandu: _____ [?] but I don't want to disturb you any more.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Oh, that is another thing. Then you're disappointed here, that means.

Jagabandu: Not disappointed Mahārāja. Not more disappointed.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ha, ha. But somewhat, cannot but be. That means you'll speak lie. You can't tell a lie.

Jagabandu: When I can see ISKCON and all the Gauḍīya Maṭha dancing in ecstasy in front of Jagannātha in the next Purī yatra then I'll be happy.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You have got so many differences, your hair, your nail, and your eye, so many differences.

Jagabandu: But they're material differences. Ahhh.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: This is all drawn from the spiritual, it cannot demand any originality of its own. So many things to be understood. Kṛṣṇa is the cause of the Kurukṣetra fighting. Do you know that? And in His presence the whole Yadu vaṁśa was finished under His eye. What is that?

Can you understand this? The Yadu vaṁśa in His presence was finished. He was a sightseer. How can you adjust? Fighting is life. I understand this. I must stand and plead for this. Until and unless I can change my understanding I cannot be one with them. That is, physical oneness is not one. To maintain physical peace there is want of vitality. We must be true to our own understanding, I shall say that.

You want to crush everything, jumbled together into one mass, and that is matter, all stone, all stoneyfied, fossilised. A fossilised unity, you want to see a fossilised unity? What is the conception...

Jagabandu: I want to see Caitanya Mahāprabhu unity, this unity of harmony. You said it yourself Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ah. The harmony means independent thinking there.

Jagabandu: Harmoniously.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Harmoniously. We're to find the common plane. Otherwise you'll think 'Oh, they're fighting one another.' But the common plane when you'll be able to see, 'Oh, they're doing real things.'

Diversity. Mother has cooked food. One child will say, 'Oh, this is too much bitter. This is too much salt. And this is sweet.' In this way, many varieties, that is a question of life. That says, shows, that there's life, there's diversity, there's plurality in unity. Otherwise all unity means a jumble, a dead unity.

The Pāṇḍavas, the Bhīma, Arjuna, they're submitting, submissive to Yudhiṣṭhira, still sometimes they revolt against him.

Jagabandu: I mean, I only made a simple point. My point was the more one is dedicated towards Kṛṣṇa the more one is disappointed. I personally don't _____ [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In different rasa, Kṛṣṇa is not representing only one feature. He's of infinite feature, to accommodate infinite possibilities. That is akhila-rasāmṛta-murtiḥ. Different groups, and difference among the - in the same group there are so many different elements. Rādhārāṇī and Candrāvalī fighting, two camps fighting to satisfy Him. We're to understand how it is possible, so very mildly, with humility, we're to try to follow how it is possible.

The opposition party is there, in the parliament, to enhance the work of the main party. In this way.

Vyatireka, anvayāt, vyatireka, direct and indirect makes complete. And if that ____ [?] is distributed everywhere then no difficulty to understand the differences there. We're not to create another world, but what is there we're to try to understand that. Why it is so? What is the meaning underlying?

What is the difference between Kṛṣṇa and Balarāma? Why? Balarāma is siding Duryodhana, and Kṛṣṇa siding Pāṇḍava. Why? They're one and same almost.

What is your answer? All is bogus? Then why have you come to ISKCON, or Gauḍīya Maṭha? Unity in variety.

Jagabandu: I've come to Gauḍīya Maṭha for Caitanya Mahāprabhu's gift of divine love.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And love means there's classification among the Brothers. Rūpa Goswāmī says one who has supplied one journal.

aher iva gatiḥ premṇaḥ, svabhāva-kuṭilā bhavet [ato hetor ahetoś ca, yūnor māna udañcati]

["Just as a serpent naturally moves in a crooked way, in a zigzag way, the nature of love is naturally crooked. It is not straight. So the concerned parties quarrel, sometimes with cause and sometimes without cause, and separation comes. Separation is necessary for the transcendental pastimes of Rādhā and Kṛṣṇa."]
[Ujjvala-nīlamaṇi]

Try to follow this. Just as serpent moves in a crooked way, that is his nature. So the very nature of affection is a crooked thing. He has supplied this main principle. Try to follow that. Aher iva. Aher means serpent. Premṇaḥ, the way, the movement of love is generally in a crooked position, just like the movement of the serpent. So sometimes with cause, sometimes without cause, the lovers they differ. For His satisfaction it's designed by Yogamāyā to remove the stagnation, the stale position of the līlā. So many things are there. Try to adjust. Don't be eager to create another world.

So the Śaṅkara, Buddha, they preferred that the ultimate goal is non-differentiated, unknown and unknowable, they finish there. You go there, very peaceful position, end relation of all diversity. The deep slumber. Their goal is like that. And many are followers of that creed. But their sacrifice is less degree. Higher sacrifice - living dedication, toleration for the centre, central truth. That has been called the higher life, of dedication, just opposite. Here exploitation, and that is dedication. And dedication has made it nectar, and exploitation has made it poison. And in the middle also what you want, all harmonised into death. That is brahma nirvana, or prakṛti nirvana. Their brain went so far, the final peace, no differentiation, no trouble, all in eternal slumber. If you prefer you go that school, follow.

Jagabandu: I stated my position Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But dedication, what you find here, it is the reflection. The whole thing is in the original. But only here exploiting, and there dedication. And dedication makes beautiful everything, the quarrel also, out of dedication it is beautiful. Try to understand. And that is for reality, and this is, the quarrel, these peaceful dealings, that is also material for exploitation _____ [?] What is here, it is in toto there. But that is dedicated area, and this is exploited area. This is the difference. Try to understand this general principle. And if you like you're to...

And the Goloka.

["Lord Kṛṣṇa has many pastimes, of which His pastimes as a human being are the best. His form as a human being is the Supreme Transcendental Form. In this form, He is a cowherd boy. He carries a flute in His hand, and His youth is new. He is also an expert dancer. All this is just suitable for His pastimes as a human being."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 21.101]

The aprākṛta means prākṛta vat. Our Guru Mahārāja explained this. The five stages of knowledge. First stage pratyakṣa, sense perception. Second parokṣa, not direct perception of ones own senses, but recruited from the perception of another's senses. The third, some sort of peaceful zero in the deep slumber, that is samādhi, brahma samādhi. Then next, fourth dimension, adhokṣaja. The knowledge, that may come down here to reach us, but when withdraws we're nowhere. We can't meet as our own right, we can't go, we're more gross. And that is very subtle conscious substance, that can come here, descend, then we can feel. When withdraws up, we can't meet Him. That is adhokṣaja.

And then aprakṛta. The last stage of experience is aprakṛta, very similar to the mundane. This thieving, telling lies, then trespassing is there, just like here. Prākṛta vat. But that is the highest conception, the full freedom of the Absolute Personality. Not curbed by any law, social law, or anything else. The Autocrat is trying to absorb everything, illegally, crossing all sorts of possibilities of law. That is aprakṛta. That is very similar to this mundane, but it is just opposite the mundane, sweetest place. Because that is meant only to satisfy Kṛṣṇa, the centre. The suicidal squad, aprakṛta means suicidal squad, they're up to anything for the satisfaction of Kṛṣṇa. No law, no harmony you can apply there. They're all extremely dedicated to Kṛṣṇa. That is aprakṛta, very similar, na prakṛta, every possibility of taking it as mundane. But it's not so, just the opposite.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. So all of a sudden you won't be able to swallow everything. By gradual process you're to understand, to hear and hear and hear, from proper source. Then you'll find adjustment. The three planes of life, one, the plane of exploitation, plane of renunciation, plane of dedication, and dedication also calculative and spontaneous. Where everyone is dedicating unit, ha, where do you go to have the chance of finding fault? No finding fault is possible there. Everything fully dedicated. No selfish party to draw anything from the bank, all depositing in the bank, but none cutting the cheque. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

[aham vedmi śuko vetti, vyāso vetti na vetti vā bhaktyā bhāgavataṁ grāhyaṁ na buddhyā na ca ṭīkayā]

[Lord Śiva says: "I know the true purpose of Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam; Śukadeva, the son and disciple of Vyāsadeva, knows it thoroughly, and the author of the Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, Śrīla Vyāsadeva may or may not know the meaning. The real purpose of the Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam is very difficult to conceive and can only be known through bhakti."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 24.313]

You're to put the argument in this way. Mahāprabhu was enraged, unknown.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yes. Then the next one is a little ambiguous.

"Is a devotee who is serving Kṛṣṇa sincerely, according to the inner dictations of his own mind and heart, also according to śāstric principle, under guidance of Guru, is this devotee any different from another devotee who is serving Kṛṣṇa by following the dictations and desire of another Vaiṣṇava, as a humble servant? What's the difference between these two devotees?"

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That depends upon the Vaiṣṇava.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Adhikāra.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And Guru and Vaiṣṇava, their absolute position, it will depend.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: On their adhikāra.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Adhikāra.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yes, all right.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The Guru in the relative position may come, may be used from lower position. Everywhere there is Guru, according to the capacity of the clan, of the group, the Guru comes. So Vaiṣṇava, though the disciple will think that he's the perfect teacher, but still from the absolute consideration it does not stand like that. Another Vaiṣṇava may be of higher realisation than a Guru who is dedicated to teach the lower group of people, śāstra. So Guru is a relative position. Everywhere we may find Guru, of different capacity. So as Guru or a Vaiṣṇava their quality should be judged and determined.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yes. All right. _____ [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Family Guru, Yadunandan Ācārya, he left, went to Mahāprabhu, Svarūpa Dāmodara, then again he went to Vṛndāvana to finish him. But he got Guru in Rūpa, Sanātana, and he enhanced his position there and became the Ācārya of the prayojana tattva, the highest realisation, there. But where is his Guru here, in Bengal brāhmaṇa family? And Raghunātha Goswāmī was not an ordinary person. Still, he had his first Guru in that way. So relative and Absolute, the calculation of the both is necessary in every case. Absolute consideration calculation, that should hold the higher position. Sva dharme nidhanaṁ śreyaḥ.

[śreyān sva-dharmo viguṇaḥ, para-dharmāt svanuṣṭhitāt
sva dharme nidhanaṁ śreyaḥ, para-dharmo bhayāvahaḥ]

["It is better to carry out one's own duties a little imperfectly rather than faultlessly perform another's duties. Know that even death is auspicious in the discharge of one's duties appropriate to his natural position in the ordained socio-religious system, because to pursue another's path is perilous."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 3.35]

And,

sarva-dharmān parityajya, [mām ekaṁ śaraṇaṁ vraja
ahaṁ tvāṁ sarva-pāpebhyo, mokṣayiṣyāmi mā śucaḥ]

["Totally abandoning all kinds of religion, surrender exclusively unto Me. I will liberate you from all kinds of sins, so do not despair."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 18.66]

These two things will always come in the path of our decision, acceptance and elimination. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

...Vyāsadeva. Even the māyāvādīs, all sannyāsīns, they respect this day as Guru of Arjuna. So Vyāsa is the general Guru. Nityānanda Prabhu worshipped Vyāsadeva. Vyāsa pūjā He celebrated in Śrīvāsa Aṅgan, on the day of departure of Sanātana Goswāmī, the leader of the six Goswāmīns. He was the general. Dui sanā-pati. Kavirāja Goswāmī has mentioned them, Rūpa, Sanātana, as two generals of Mahāprabhu to conquer the spiritual world. Rūpa, Sanātana, a

It was necessary to move there a little diplomatically, and Sanātana Prabhu was expert in his dealings, so he was left in charge of the western side. And Nityānanda Prabhu was in Bengal.

One, the Guru Mahārāja comes from kāyastha gotra, that is śūdra, and I come from a brāhmaṇa paṇḍita school of great honour in the society. 'Any Brāhmaṇa Guru that should have been suitable' in this way some sort of...

Then when I went to Māyāpur, there also I shortly say, I saw many things, touching. And when Prabhupāda saw me there in the birthday of Mahāprabhu he's giving lecture to so many gentlemen who had come from Kṛṣṇanaga - educated persons. In another place [Śrīpād Bhakti Pradīp] Tīrtha Mahārāja, old Tīrtha Mahārāja is giving lecture. In another place [Śrīpād Bhakti Svarūpa] Parvat Mahārāja he's collecting funds from the people and money orders and he's writing all things. In so many places, so many things. A very transcendental happy atmosphere I felt there.

Then when that is finished, celebration is finished, Guru Mahārāja is sitting on the veranda of his room, in a canvas chair, and many persons are coming and showing praṇāma, properly giving obeisances and they're going off to their home. At that time he was talking, having some discourse. I was always very eager to hear him. At that time he's saying that, atmarama kevanca nakadhanya [?] "Don't cheat me you people."

I was alert. "What, where is the question of cheating him? Why cheating? They're we're all invited, came, and now they're going off. What is the point of cheating?"

Then next, "You gave understanding that you will engage yourself in the service of Kṛṣṇa, and so I have entered into some relationship with you. And now as a fashion you came to attend the ceremony and going home and engaging yourself in the worldly affairs. But your assurance to me that you will all serve Kṛṣṇa, I'm being disappointed."

Then the next, "You may say, 'Oh I have got some, but no cheating, got some important business. After finishing this as early as possible I am coming and joining you."

"No, no. If we say that there is fire and only extinguishing the fire I am coming, only a small risk, that is also not necessary. If the fire burns the whole world you do not lose anything. Rather if you are spared from them, if you can disconnect with them what will burn, you will be happy. All your positive engagements, your inner hankering, they have got corresponding phase in Kṛṣṇa, in the holy feet of Kṛṣṇa. All your necessary hankering will be satisfied there only and nowhere else." And forcibly he's saying.

At that time I was so much intense, necessity for Kṛṣṇa bhajan, I won't hear anywhere in this living world so I must throw my head here. I surrendered here. There I took decision that I must be a disciple here. With this idea I went on, I told.

Then my mother died there, then I went, mother had some apprehension that "He will become sannyāsī, my eldest son he won't do my, śrāddha ceremony [last rites]. Who will do my śrāddha, in this day?" I went home and finished her śrāddha and after finishing that came and in the month of April, last part of April I joined the Maṭh.

Bhārati Mahārāja told, "Oh you have got greater chance."

I told, "Only two younger brothers, they will finish their reading, and they will take to their vocation, and I shall come away."

"No, no. Wife gone. Kṛṣṇa has removed wife and Kṛṣṇa has removed your mother. He has done enough for you. Again if you neglect to avail yourself of this chance then perhaps some other obstacle will come and this life will be spoiled, no hope."

I asked, "What do you say?"

"Come immediately?" I took that advice and joined the mission. I was living together with my two brothers in a men's hostel, and they came with me there and they went back crying.

I remained in the Maṭh in Calcutta for some time, then I was taken in preaching. I was requested to do some service in the press there, but that I had no liking for the press work, proof reading, etc. I had much liking for the preaching, to go on kīrtana and preaching. So, next I was sent on a preaching tour, first stopping in Dumurkondā Maṭh and from there to Benares. From there to Vṛndāvana, there for sometimes this naga-kīrtana. Then I was taken to Delhi, there collection, from door to door, something. hen Kurukṣetra Maṭh was established and I was made Maṭh command there and there alone. And that Delhi town and Kurukṣetra, that is a solitary place at that time. When there is that solar eclipse, a great rush fair, lākhs of people throng there, otherwise that is a solitary place. There I first joined, from Delhi, Kurukṣetra and collecting near about I passed about two, three years there. Then Delhi Maṭh was founded and I was in charge there. Then I visited Simla and other places for preaching. Then again when I came back here, every year we have to come back in Calcutta Maṭh celebration for one month, in August.

Then I was taken by [Śrīpād Bhakti Hṛday] Bon Mahārāja, and Hayagrīva Prabhu [later Bhakti Dayita Mādhava Mahārāja], in a party towards Madras side, installing those footprints of Mahāprabhu. Then coming back the Bagh Bazaar Maṭh was opened and from the hired Maṭh from Ulṭā Ḍāṅgā, Deities were removed in a chariot to Bagh Bazaar Maṭh, and one month's celebration there. After that Prabhupāda went on establishing, installing, those Pāda-pīṭha up to Maṅgalgiri, near Bejoydā, Kobhur, all this. Then went to Madras and then he declared open Madras Gauḍīya Maṭh and put us there. We rented a house, Bon Mahārāja was the leader, he was senior sannyāsī.

I was given sannyāsa in the meantime, recommended by Bon Mahārāja. "He can preach well, he's rather a good preacher than a canvasser." I was kept as B.A. degree was with me, Rāmendrasundar Bhaṭṭāchāryya B.A. My duty was to approach the people and introduce the sannyāsīns, and the work of a canvasser, more or less. But Bon Mahārāja told, "He's not a good canvasser, but he's a good preacher. He can speak Hari kathā very well."

Then I was given sannyāsa, 1930, October, perhaps, I was given sannyāsa. And then Prabhupāda went on the Madras side after installing footprints of Mahāprabhu one by one. Then opened Maṭh in Madras and there we we're left and began preaching for two years or so. Then there's Vṛndāvana bon parikramā, the whole Vṛndāvana parikramā and we joined there. And then Bon Mahārāja went to England. And I was in charge of Madras Maṭh and the Temple was constructed almost in my time. Then I was called to, when Bon Mahārāja's party went to England for preaching, Bombay Maṭh was opened and I was again taken there and for some time I lived there, Bombay side. And then afterwards I was taken from there and a general party with Prabhupāda, almost staying with Prabhupāda and preaching here and there in different places of Bengal. In this way. 1936, December. 1937, in the morning, [5.30am, 1st January], Prabhupāda left.

Before this Prabhupāda wanted me to go for preaching to London. But I told that, "I'm not fit, I can't follow their intonation, and I have not a tendency to mix with them closely. So you'll pay for it but I won't be able to show any satisfactory work. So if you order I must go, but what am I, I just say to you." Then he sent [Bhakti Sāraṅga] Goswāmī Mahārāja instead of me.

And when Prabhupāda was sick I attended his sick bed. And anyhow just one day before his departure he called for me and he asked me to chant Śrī Rūpa-Mañjarī-Pada. And at that time I was not accustomed to singing at the front but from the back. I was hesitating. Kuñja Bābu, [Bhakti Vilās] Tirtha Mahārāja asked Purī Mahārāja, "You go on singing." Then he began singing.

Prabhupāda, he felt dissatisfaction. "I don't like to hear the tone, the sweet sound."

Then he stopped and I had to chant Śrī Rūpa-Mañjarī-Pada. And the others told that, "Prabhupāda has given you admission to Śrī Rūpa-Mañjarī, this rasa-sevā section, you are given admission thereby."

Before this, about one year back, I composed a Sanskrit poem about Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura and he [Bhaktisiddhānta Saraswatī] was very happy to find this śloka. When reading first I showed it to him, he remarked, "Very happy style."

Then next I heard he told to Śrauti Mahārāja, "That this poem, it's so fine it's not written by him, it's written by Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura himself, through him, it's so very nice."

Then once he told to another gentleman, that is Aprākṛta Prabhu, Bhakti Charan Goswāmī, "That I'm satisfied that after me, what I came to say, that will stay, that will remain, I find in this śloka, the siddhānta."

["What was sanctioned by Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu by His descent was intimately known only to Śrī Svarūpa Dāmodara Goswāmī. It was adored by Sanātana Goswāmī and served by Rūpa Goswāmī and his followers. Raghunātha Dāsa Goswāmī tasted that wonderful thing fully and enhanced it with his own realisation (assisted in doing so by Raghunātha Bhaṭṭa Gosvāmī and Gopāla Bhaṭṭa Gosvāmī). And Jīva Goswāmī supported and protected it by quoting the scriptures from different places. The taste of that divine truth is aspired for by Brahmā, Śiva, and Uddhava, who respect it from a distance as the supreme goal of life. What is this wonderful truth? Śrī-rādhā-pada-sevanā, that the highest nectar of our life is the service of Śrīmatī Rādhārāṇī. This is most wonderful. O Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura, you are our master. It is within your power to allow them to bestow their grace upon us. You are in a position to bestow the highest gift ever known to the world upon us all. It is at your disposal. O Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura, please be kind to us and grant us your mercy."] [Śrīmad-Bhaktivinoda-viraha-daśakam, 9]

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: The name of that gentleman, that devotee?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Goswāmī Mahārāja, founder of Gauḍīya Saṅga. And Śrauti Mahārāja _____ [?]

Then before this also I wrote some article in Nadiyā Prakāsh, and he remarked to Śramaṇ Mahārāja who was the editor of Nadiyā Prakāsh, "If you can gather these type of articles and can publish in your paper then the standard of your paper will be raised. Such articles are desirable to be published." Anyhow he appreciated my understanding, my realisation, and there are many other instances.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: He told Śāstra-Nipuṇa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Oh. There was another, in Madras. In Gauḍīya, the Gauḍīya Maṭh's leading weekly paper, there was published one wrong siddhānta. Sundarānanda was the editor, perhaps with the advice of Vasudeva Prabhu, because he was used to always consulting Vasudeva Prabhu. He wrote, he mistook the birthday of Viṣṇuprīya Devī and the birthday of our Guru Mahārāja. Both pañchamī [fifth lunar day]. Prabhupāda is Kṛṣṇa pañchamī and Viṣṇuprīya Devī is sucra pañchamī, one is dark moon and one is bright moon. Viṣṇuprīya Devī is in the bright moon and Prabhupāda dark moon, pañchamī. But he arranged just the opposite, he took Prabhupāda as in the bright moon, fifth, and Viṣṇuprīya Devī to the dark, fifth.

But what I read I read carefully, I caught it here, what is this anomaly? The basis is wrong and he's philosophising, why Kṛṣṇa śakti has come in the bright moon and why Gaura śakti He has come in the black moon? I found just the opposite, I showed it to Bon Mahārāja. "What is this? He's committed diabolically wrong."

Then Bon Mahārāja suddenly took the pen and wrote letter. "What is this? We thought Sundarānanda Prabhu has got some touch with the reality. So what he says, what he writes, that has come in connection with the real sentiment. But how this sort of error can be possible from him? He's got no śrauta connection, all concoction?"

So he found that 'yes it is such' and then they tried to correct that in another issue. He showed 'that has been erroneous and it should be this and that, that printers mistake,' but that cannot be really substantiated.

Another thing, when Prabhupāda was there, he published Rāya Rāmananda, and Relative Worlds, these books, and Brahma-saṁhitā. But it was mentioned when Mahāprabhu is going to Vṛndāvana, Rūpa and Sanātana met them on the way. But I knew it clearly that when Mahāprabhu coming back He met Rūpa and Sanātana in Allahabad and Benares. I read it, "What is this?" I asked Vasudeva Prabhu. "This is in the name of Prabhupāda, and you don't look after it, just the opposite. When Mahāprabhu coming back they met and not that when going towards."

Then he says, "Oh I can find out hundreds of mistakes and you are a very great man. I have found one and you cannot find hundreds of mistakes in your own work." In this way. I did not take it to Prabhupāda's notice but this must have come to his notice that 'Śrīdhara Mahārāja detected all these things.' So when on the Vyāsa-pūjā occasion Prabhupāda had one written address and there he mentioned, before my name: "Śāstra Nipuṇa Śrīdhara Mahārāja - he has very deep knowledge in the Scriptures." That was his remark.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Then finding the place of Rāmānanda Rāya?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ah. When I was called from UP [Uttar Pradesh] to join the Madras party, before that my name was Rāmendrasundara Bhaṭṭāchāryya. But he converted my name into Rāmānanda Dāsa Adhikarī. Called my name and sent myself in the batch to find out the place of Rāmānanda and to install the Pāda-pīṭha there. Rāmānanda Dāsa. He changed my name from Rāmendrasundar to Rāmānanda Dāsa and sent me to work in the batch. And Bon Mahārāja was of the opinion that I delivered a lecture in Rājmāhendry at that time. Bon Mahārāja told, I heard from Kṛṣṇa Dāsa Bābājī, that that was his best speech he ever heard. That Rājmāhendry short lecture he gave about Rāmānanda at Kobhur, that śīkṣa of Mahāprabhu. That was a very precious speech in this lecture I heard. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: He gave you the name Rāmananda before you went to find?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Before our batch went to find out the place, to discover and install the Pāda- pīṭha there. And that Mandir is still there today, Pāda Feet Mandir and there is another Mandir built where Deities are installed, after Prabhupāda, by Tīrtha Mahārāja's party. But during - no - during our time the Deities were installed by Prabhupāda but only that Pāda-pīṭha Mandir. That separate Mandir was established afterwards. We got, myself and Hayagrīva Prabhu both, and Mādhava Mahārāja in white clad, and I sannyāsi, we worked at that time.

And from there I collected funds from the Rājā of Jeipur [Orissa] for the Madras Temple. And there is also a history. Their new I.C.S. [Indian Civil Service] was Mr. O Pulla Reddy, new I.C.S. He has been appointed Dewān [government official] of Jeipur. And that is ādivāsī [indigenous people] area, so special sort of rule for the British introduced there. The Dewān is more powerful than the king. The king he gave us, we came from front, in Madras with some recommendation of officiating Chief Justice, Mr. Rameshan, letter of recommendation to Rājā of Jeipur. And then the Rājā promised to pay the cost of the Madras Temple.

But the Dewān, new I.C.S. said, "No, no, it is impossible."

Rājā always requesting, "Approach the Dewān he will pay the money to you, not myself. So you go to consult higher, I'm only giving my sign. But the money will be paid by him, so meet him."

I heard that he's a half atheistic man, new I.C.S, I hesitated to approach him.

"No. You are king, you are master, so you will pay, that is better." In this way.

But he pressed me very much. "No. You will have to go to meet the Dewān."

Then when I met the Dewān just opposite.

"Oh. I'm the last man to pay you this amount for the," ten thousand at that time, "to build the temple at Madras. If you would have built here then I could consider the case, that they will have some recreation in the temple. But these poor men half fed, half clad, if any money we can get excess, I must give it some order for their health. That must be used for their cause, and not to bring this luxury to construct a temple, and that is also in Madras town. Go there and collect funds and construct temple there." In this way.

Then I thought that a hopeless case, so drastic medicine must be applied, so I came out with this śloka of Bhāgavatam.

> vikrīḍitaṁ vraja-vadhūbhir idaṁ ca viṣṇoḥ, śraddhānvito 'nuśṛṇuyād atha varṇayed yaḥ
> bhaktiṁ parām bhagavati pratilabhya kāmaṁ, hṛd-rogam āśv apahinoty acireṇa dhīraḥ

["One who hears with firm faith the supramundane amorous affairs of Lord Kṛṣṇa and the gopīs, as described by a pure devotee of the Lord, soon becomes freed from mundane lust and achieves divine love of Kṛṣṇa."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.33.39]

I told that, "You want to help the ādivāsīs, I also want to help them. But your help is in a particular way, and my help for them is in another way. It has been told in the scriptures that to hanker for things, that is heart disease, by Śukadeva Goswāmī. It is mentioned in Bhāgavatam, kāmaṁ hṛd-rogam. "I want this, I want that, I want thousands, I want crores, millions, that is heart disease and not real. When I was a hog I devoured a hillock of stools, but hunger is not appeased. When I was an elephant I finished a whole forest but hunger not finished." So hunger can never be finished in this way. "There are so many who have amassed millions, still they say, "No this is very small, I want more, more." So this is heart disease. Śukadeva Goswāmī in Bhāgavatam has given medicine to this. Vikrīḍitaṁ. "When you can accommodate the Absolute, to have His full play, unrestricted play, and use His ownership with everything, every atom, if you can accommodate with such conception of the environment of the Absolute Truth, then you can get out of this disease, heart disease. There's no other way."

That man was impressed. Tears fell from his eyes. "Swāmījī, I believe in God."

"Your eyes are giving evidence to that."

"I shall pay your money, but not just now. You go to Madras. I shall pay." Then he paid the money and the Madras Temple was constructed by that. In this way.

Hare Kṛṣṇa, Hare Kṛṣṇa. My preaching had no false canvassing, straight dealing, dealing with the truth, plain truth. That was the nature of my preaching. Not any indirect way, flattering by sweet words to rob him, not like that, straight talk, straight dealing, representation. "Why I have come here?" That was my guide. "Why I have come here? What fascination brought me here? I tried my best to represent that fascination to them. "This is the cause for preaching - you must appreciate such cause, such faith. I have got appreciation in this line, and I don't think that I did it wrong." Every movement I think I'm justified to accept this principle and to march to this line.

After the disappearance of Guru Mahārāja there was trustee and he told to make a governing body. On the tenth day after his departure governing body was constructed. But it came to the majority of Vasudeva Prabhu. Two trustees that side, one trustee Vasudeva Prabhu, and two trustee on the Kuñja Bābu's side, and the governing body majority Vasudeva Prabhu's side. And to make Vasudeva Prabhu Ācārya my contribution perhaps had an important position.

I told, "I do not know sannyāsi, or gṛhasta, or anything. We're attracted not by this external grandeur of Gauḍīya Maṭh, but the teachings. The siddānta has attracted us. And whom we shall have, we'll be able to submit something to hear new siddānta, he must be Ācārya. Whether he's a brahmacārī, or he's not a good beautiful figure, or any other thing, the siddānta."

According to them, Vasudeva Prabhu and professor Sundarānanda they all supported him, and I also gave support to Vasudeva Prabhu. If anything to hear, listen, but that from Vasudeva Prabhu, so he should be. But several old sannyāsīns that are already very eager to get independence, they and both the trustees, they become one side. Their five vote on their side and eight others _____ [?]

Bon Mahārāja was excluded from the governing body first because Prabhupāda, during his departure time did not like to get intimation to him. He was passing his days something like a revolt, with some difference of opinion with Prabhupāda about western preaching.

He wrote in his first year, "My first year in England, my second year in England."

No mention of Prabhupāda, Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura, anything, he's all sufficient. In this way. Anyhow, some other reason also, he was living little separately from the mission in Delhi.

But after the demise of Prabhupāda, when he came, he cried so much and he became unconscious. And he told: "Oh I was, is it sentimental difference Prabhupāda has rejected, did not give any intimation, his last departure." He showed so many, so much hankering. So he was also included. Form a governing body, ten, twelve, already twelve, and when Bon Mahārāja was added it was thirteen. But Bon Mahārāja went that side, five vote that side, and eight this side, Vasudeva Prabhu. Then also three fourths majority or more this side, so they were ousted, they hired a house and they retired there, gradually. The whole thing went from this side, but unfortunately to us we found some defect in character. _____ [?]

Then I thought I tried my best to purify the Mission, according to my good will, conscience. But it is not to be so. So I must leave the Mission and go on, go out silently. Won't try to fight again to purify the Mission according to my principle. That was my mentality.

But Mādhava Mahārāja, Vinod Bābu, and others, that Keśava Mahārāja, Mādhava Mahārāja, Goswāmī Mahārāja, so many others, they went. "No, we must, we can't tolerate such a false man will be in the place of our Guru Mahārāja." They can't tolerate that. "The Ācārya of Gauḍīya Maṭh, that is the next position of Guru Mahārāja, that will be overthrown by such a characterless man. We can't tolerate."

But I was indifferent and they're fighting. I was mixing, something. Then there was a court case and Vinod Bābu and others they're put to jail, and the case went on. Like a coward I can't leave them at that time. After a year perhaps the case was finished. They were released. And I went to Vṛndāvana leaving the association of the Maṭh. I don't fight. They tried their best to keep me with them but I told it is not possible for me to remain in their association, all these quarrelling elements. There from Govardhana I stayed in Vṛndāvana a month.

And finishing the Ūrjjā vrata there I took Govardhana Śilā and came here and hired a house, two rupees per month, and there began my life. When coming from Vṛndāvana I met my previous brother, that, Maṇi Bābu. He was there in the service of the railway. I asked him for few months to pay ten rupees per month to me. He agreed and he gave two or three months money, and with that I came here. Then gradually others came, they tried their best to find out where I am. And at last they found me and began to come and go and whenever they come they take something and give something to me in this way.

Śakhī [Charan Rāy] Bābu secured this plot [where Śrī Chaitanya Sāraswat Maṭh stands] by his own money he purchased. And here I began my 'heart-service' in that cottage. In 1942 on Ratha-yātrā day I entered the cottage here with Govardhana Śilā. Before that I lived for some time with Keśava Mahārāja, in that rented house, and sometimes in Midnapore Maṭh with Yāyāvar Mahārāja, Mādhava Mahārāja, Harigrīva Prabhu. In this way. But here separated I lived.

Only one Devakī Nandan Prabhu was here. Then gradually there came this Narsin [?] Kavirāj with few Orriya [?] gentlemen. And also Bhutabrit, Nṛsiṁhānanda, and then this Govinda Mahārāja, the boy Gaurendu brahmacārī, and others came.

Kṛṣṇa Dāsa Bābājī asked me, "You please give attention to this Gaurendu brahmacārī, he's very intelligent and qualified."

I tried to give little more attention to Gaurendu brahmacārī, and Nṛsiṁhānanda and Bhutabrit could not tolerate that. I wanted to help him by Sanskrit education etc. They could not tolerate.

They gave a proposal that, "You must prepare a deed."

By this time, 1943, this building had been constructed. They demanded a document. Three trustees, three Godbrothers - Bhutabrit, Nṛsiṁhānanda, and myself.

I told that, "Then according to which law it will be managed?"

"With the majority of the trustees."

"That means that you two when combined then you can do anything and everything with me you like?"

"Of course."

"But why did you come to join? I avoided Mādhava Mahārāja, Keśava Mahārāja, and so many others. I came to live alone. That does not mean that you will both guide me. I can't accept this."

Then they began to revolt and disturb. Then there was a compromise.

Goswāmī Mahārāja and Mādhava Mahārāja came, and few thousand rupees, perhaps five thousand rupees in the bank _____ [?] And also, and some seven thousand or something to be paid to them and I'll be here, with absolute proprietorship. Goswāmī Mahārāja came to my help, he gave some loan, four thousand. And Yāyāvar Mahārāja and others collected some funds from different parts, then seven thousand was given up. And then from that time I'm here. In this way.

And I do not go for preaching very often, always sitting here, and very rarely I go out in the previous style. And Mādhava Mahārāja was always accusing me, "You are deceiving the educated section of the people. Sitting here idle you're deceiving the people. You have quality, capacity, to preach Mahāprabhu's instructions to the educated section specially, but you don't do so. You're deceiving them." His charge was always with me whenever he comes. Almost every year he after finishing Gaura Pūrṇimā celebration he used to visit me, and he always charged me. And also every year for his Calcutta Maṭh celebration I used to go there and deliver lectures there, in Mādhava Mahārāja's Maṭh. In this way days have passed.

I came to meet [Śrīla A.C. Bhaktivedānta] Swāmī Mahārāja in Allahabad first when I was white clad, when after that I came here [Navadwīpa] and went to Madras. Just before 1930 perhaps, I met him in Allahabad. He was at that time an agent of Kārttik Bose, the Bengal Chemicals. And he was taken to Maṭh. At that time Prabhupāda was not there. 1933 or so, after Vraja-Maṇḍal parikramā Prabhupāda came back to Allahabad, to open, for laying the foundation...

83.07.25.D

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: At that time he came in connection with Prabhupāda and going, coming, took initiation. At that time he was also a businessman, with his family. He was in Bombay and we met several times there. Always he used to come to the Maṭh.

And at that time he told that when Bon Mahārāja came back, for the first time from England, with [Herr] Schulze, [Sadānanda dāsa], and a Baron, two German gentlemen. Then he left his daṇḍam and his śikhā, and English dress, he came here. We asked him, "Why you are in such way? Where is the śikhā, the daṇḍam?"

"But all these things can't stand there. That is another type of land. We can't, these sort of things as a fashion, formality, won't be accepted there."

In this way some discussion, talk, began with Bon Mahārāja. And I had some knowledge of English philosophy also. When I was a student of B.A. class I studied philosophy. Then, with talking, he went to materialism, and I came to spiritualism. Then this fossil, this Darwin theory, he went to fossil theory and I went just the opposite. Then I told: "Whatever you will have to assert, presupposes consciousness. Fossil means a thing which is hard, which is black, which is this and that, that means feeling. Without feeling no assertion can be made. Whatever you'll have to assert, that is only a feeling about a particular thing, so consciousness is there. You can't deny the glass and give recognition to the reflection." In this way, when I put, Bon Mahārāja could not answer.

And Swāmī Mahārāja he cried aloud: "Here Europe is defeated by Asia."

We're around a table, Schulze, Baron, Madusūdan Mahārāja and Swāmī Mahārāja.

So, then another time when Bon Mahārāja in European dress, was going to, Tipura [?] Here with collar and so many things he's going. I said: "What is this? You're going to meet an Indian king and you're a sannyāsī, you're taking this dress and collar, all these things?"

"You don't know the present etiquette. Without this collar none should approach any gentleman."

I told then: "You know the meaning of the collar but you don't know the meaning of the śikhā and the daṇḍam? The collar, this formality you know very well. But what is desired by the Vaiṣṇava's societies recognised symbol has got no value? But these ultra civilised persons, their fashions you pay to the cent per cent, what is this?" In this way he was captured, could not answer. In this way. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

I'm more or less conservative. Only Mahāprabhu has taken me out from this so-called conservative section, Mahāprabhu could take me. When I was in Gandhi movement, I also cooked for myself. I did not take any food touched by anyone.

Just like Bāl Gaṅgādhar Tilak, he was also in jail for six years continuously, but he cooked for himself. And he was a great scholar. He has taken the age of the Veda, six thousand years.

Already so many European scholars gave that Veda is only four. "Ṛg-Veda is the first book in the whole world and that is four thousand years back."

But Tilak showed that it is at least six thousand years back. He gave subjective evidence from some Upaniṣads. That where: "In the month of Phālguna (February-March), the chariot of the sun was advancing and the leg of the horses broken and it was stopped."

Some such mantram is found in Upaniṣads. And he gave meaning, that at this Phālguna, Phālguna means it was April or so. The underlying meaning is that now the smallest day has come to January, not December, tenth portion. The smallest day and the biggest night, that is December 25th or 26th. But this was, at that time when this mantram was written, in the month of April, some such date, this mantra was behind the sun. Reached there and broke the leg of the horse. Leg of the horse broken means this. That uttarāyaṇa and dakṣiṇāyaṇa [summer and winter solstice], from at that time and now in hundred years, one day advancing. So from that date it has come to 25th December. So, so many hundred years ago this mantram was written. In this way he was successful to have this accepted by western scholars.

"Yes, so the date of this mantram must be six thousand years back."

So his fame was extensive amongst the western scholars, this Tilak, Bāl Gaṅgādhar Tilak. And he was a patriot of higher type before Gandhi.

It was written in Bāl Gaṅgādhar Tilak's commentary of Bhagavad-gītā, [18.66]: sarva-dharmān parityajya, in this śloka: "The Lord has served nectar in a golden plate." I liked that very much.

The golden plate, He has served nectar. Sarva-dharmān parityajya. "Wherever you are, whenever you want to come to Me sincerely, I am here to welcome you, to accept you. Sarva-dharmān parityajya. In any position, in any obligation of duty, any sort, whenever you leave and come to Me I'm very eager to accept." This is a great hope, a statement of the greatest hope to us. We may be, according to our karma, we may be in any corner of this universe, engaged in any sort of duty, but the call is there. "If, whenever you are ready to leave your present atmosphere and jump towards Me, I'm ready to accept you." The greatest hope ever given to us in a golden plate, the nectar, this is Bhagavad-gītā. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Then Swāmī Mahārāja, when I was here, Swāmī Mahārāja left Bombay and he opened his centre of business in Calcutta. And the next house where he was, this ground floor his laboratory, and the first floor, four rooms, we took lease from him, sub lease from him, and we used to stay there. At that time he used to come to me for discussion on Bhagavad-gītā. And at that time Back to Godhead was issued first, from 1944 or so. And we had very intimate relationship with him at that time. He used to come here to live here, so very close connection with him at that time. Perhaps in the first issue of Back to Godhead, one of my articles is there, Guru and His Grace, perhaps. And another issue also, Vyāsadeva is a Great Dictator of the Scriptural World. Another article was there perhaps. We had connection.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. And afterwards what happened, my relationship with Swāmī Mahārāja you're already acquainted with that. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol.

Much I have talked today. I take leave.

...

...when Kuñja Bābu was tired, and he found that he has no chance of getting any possession of the Maṭh through litigation, he sent Kṛṣṇa Dāsa Bābājī to me. "None can approach Vāsudeva Prabhu, they're very much afraid of his personality. Only Śrīdhara Mahārāja can do. Though he's his greatest enemy, still he has got some affection for him, it is true."

That Vāsudeva Prabhu once called for me and he asked me that: "Prabhupāda has done many things which cannot be supported according to the scriptures." And he cited that "Your name is Śrīdhara Mahārāja. Where this name is mentioned?"

I told him Gauḍīya Kaṇṭhara. You have all printed this, and that from Ānanta-saṁhitā, this quotation, and 108 names of sannyāsīs."

"Oh that is all false, concoction, no Ānanta-saṁhitā in the scripture. We have concocted this name and Sachin Paṇḍita has given this Sanskrit characteristic."

"That does not matter."

"So it is all false, so we can't follow strictly the principle of Prabhupāda."

Then I gave him this answer. "The Veda, Upaniṣad, they're also seen, first revelation came in the Ṛsi. But if we consider that Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam is the full fledged theism, and that is the primary conception of theism, and full fledged theism is given in Bhāgavatam and Mahāprabhu. And those persons, to preach that full fledged theism, found inspiration within their heart, anything to add, that is a greater śāstra, authenticity to me, than those Veda, Upaniṣad." I asserted before him.

Then he told, remarked: "If of course what you say may be true, when that man who feels any suggestion, inspiration, to create new things to help this movement of the full fledged theism, the svarūpa-siddha, if he's svarūpa-siddha, then what you say it is true."

That means he thinks that Prabhupāda is not svarūpa-siddha. I thought that this is the hard thing. I became silent. He also became silent.

But anyhow at that time with my talk with him I found that he may have some compromise with Kuñja Bābu. I wrote it to Mādhava Mahārāja that I had a talk with Vāsudeva Prabhu. He called for me, a different talk, and I found as I felt that a compromise may be effected very soon. After two years that proposal came to me: "You approach Vāsudeva and try to make some compromise. Otherwise by way of litigation we won't be able, in our lifetime, to reach the position."

Then I approached Bagh Bazaar Maṭh. I asked them that: "If any compromise is possible I've come to take up that."

They told: "No, we're not bold enough to approach him with any proposal of compromise. If you do, we're giving a postcard. He's in Allahabad. You may write a letter to him."

I wrote a letter from their Bagh Bazaar Temple to his Allahabad address. He came suddenly, and the Bagh Bazaar people gave information to that _____ [?] With Swāmī Mahārāja, I was living there in the Sitakanta Banerjee Lane, Calcutta, information they gave. Then I met him.

Then he told: "I don't care for any future consequence, you know."

"Yes. I know that." I told him that: "You're in the chariot, well equipped. And Kuñja Bābu on the earth, standing, no weapon, fighting with you, but the law is on his side. Still he comes to compromise. I think you should do that. They also rendered important service at the time of Prabhupāda, as you did. Think that they should not be deceived from their future service of the mission. Kuñja Bābu is almost co-founder with Prabhupāda."

"All these talks, I don't care for them."

"In the court, the case will come very soon to be tried, and the filthy things will come against you, your character, you mind that."

"I don't care for that."

"And that also I know, that you don't care for anything. But there is another party that has got their society, high society, and they will be very much blasphemed felt. Who will be able to tolerate that, the blaspheme of the other party who has got their good society in Bengal?"

Then he was curbed. "Yes, then you try. I'm your friend not enemy, still I'm your friend, then you try for compromise."

Then I tried. And in the middle Kuñja Bābu told: "You please take him to me and then everything will be finished."

I knew that, "No, it is not so easy. Still if you like I can take him to you, in Sambits [?] quarter." _____ [?] Vāsudeva Prabhu, and Kuñja Bābu, all met together. Negotiation fell totally, then broken down. But I again ran to Vāsudeva Prabhu's Maṭh when he's going away.

"I'm here and I must affect compromise, you don't go from here, I pray to you stay."

Then again I connected both the parties at the Bagh Bazaar Math. That was that both the parties demand that Bagh Bazaar Math. Kuñja Bābu himself tried his best to construct that temple, four temples, so he had his affinity there. And Vāsudeva Prabhu's party they thought that Māyāpur and other things under control of direct will. If this compromise fails and in future again if face is introduced, then they won't be able to keep possession of Māyāpur which is under direct will, control of direct will of Prabhupāda.

But Bagh Bazaar Maṭh has a separate document. The constructor, Devidhi [?] he gave a, prepared a separate deed. "The successor of Prabhupāda, he will occupy this temple." So legally Bagh Bazaar party thought that it will be safe to keep possession the Bagh Bazaar Temple, and uncertain position will be Māyāpur. So they and this party also, they say that it is a big centre, preaching centre of the whole world, the important position, how can we leave this? So both.

Then I put some proposal. "In other places outside Bengal, as we've divided this side, that side, that is kept intact, but in Bengal, Bagh Bazaar versus all Bengal." I gave this formula to them. "Only Bagh Bazaar Maṭh one side and all other Maṭhs including Dakha, Māyāpur, whole thing one side. Now you say who will take which thing?"

Then they consulted and Bagh Bazaar Maṭh did not leave Bagh Bazaar for that legal cause. And Kuñja Bābu reluctantly took this Māyāpur. I asked him, "The Bagh Bazaar Maṭh may again be created in Calcutta. But Māyāpur, birthplace of Mahāprabhu, that never be created a second, so this is the good portion."

And Kuñja Bābu he gave hope to us, that, "We shall form a governing body and we shall go on preaching together." But after the case the compromise is finished. Kuñja Bābu showed another aspect. He did not come into compromise with us, that all will be taken in the governing body. He asserted himself and Mādhava Mahārāja was with him.

I told Mādhava Mahārāja: "That now no disciples, no men with him, so he has kept you. Whenever he will be a little stronger he will flush you away." But that was done after four or five years, and he was also cast off, and he was buried there.

Sambit told: "We're told that you gave hope that you will after. Oh we've got possession, you will be told that form a governing body amongst us."

"No after we've achieved the service we shall form. I'm with the sannyāsīns of Prabhupāda. I have no affinity towards my Kuñja Bābu's son, my nephew. You all know his relation with me. I don't know whether you know or not, some bad relationship with this daṇḍa and Samvit [?], a private blaspheme. So I'm always with the sannyāsīns of Prabhupāda. All these hoax." Lastly he told: "Oh if you have to do a great thing then hoax is necessary. Without hoaxing, without cheating words, no great thing can be done." In this way he avoided this.

I started another litigation but that is in the court going on, espoused by Mādhava Mahārāja, Goswāmī Mahārāja. A 92 case, that is in high court, going on forever, moving slowly. Hare Kṛṣṇa. And now the chance, Kuñja Bābu gone and there is the, Nanda, Samvit, his personal staff of previous life, and the disciples on other side, and the fighting going on in Māyāpur. We're giving support to the disciples side, who had accepted us also, in their so called registered document. And the other side Samvit of course, he gone away, and Kuñja Bābu's son Nanda, and his preachers, they also divided in two camps. Anyhow continuing the possession of Māyāpur Yoga-pīṭha, _____ [?] Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Vāsudeva wanted to show Ānanta-saṁhitā was not bona fide?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: I see. What was his...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: "That is an imagined book." That he told to me. "But I do not know it for certain." But he told like that. "It may be." But still I stood, I took my stand in that fact.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: What Prabhupāda has given is right.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Whatever, Prabhupāda or Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura. Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura has given, Atharva-Veda, that is not to be, Caitanya-Upaniṣad, that may not be found anywhere. They tell also, Brahmā-saṁhitā is not to be found, it is taken by Caitanya Deva, it is written by Caitanya Deva. Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura has written that we do not find any book from Caitanya Deva. If Brahmā-saṁhitā comes from Him then we're very much proud and very much satisfied that He has left at least one book. But Jīva Goswāmī has shown, written, that there was really Brahmā-saṁhitā with a hundred chapters, and this one chapter out of that.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Prema-vivarta, written by Bhaktivinoda somebody told, not Jagadānanda.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I told: "If we can think out that the teachings of Śrī Caitanya Deva is the highest full fledged theism, as told by Prabhupāda several times, and Bhāgavat is the highest development, and anything gives corroboration of that, that has got that value. That is true, that cannot but be true. Whenever it is felt any new additional alteration that is genuine, bona fide. That is revealed truth. Revealed truth means thousands and thousands years back it was revealed in some Ṛṣi or so, and that cannot be, revelation cannot come at present, I don't think like that. Any time the revelation may come. And to support these highest form of theism, whatever revelation.

I also told that this Jaiva Dharma, it may be seen to be fictitious, but I think in any kalpa or other, these things must have been actually found in the creation. When it has come in the clear consciousness of Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura it is not transitory. It is floating, and sometimes appearing, sometimes disappearing, it is all eternal truth, in this way.

And in Purī also, about the, grahan [?] Vāsudeva Prabhu in a very hateful way, laughingly he told: "Oh the Rahu is capturing the moon." All these things. "The shadow is covering the sun and moon, and the eclipse is coming, and the Bhāgavat has said that Rahu is devoured."

Then what do you say? What has been used in Bhāgavat, that has got some value, that is all consciousness. And you belittle all these things. Whatever used by Śukadeva Goswāmī to support his highest theistic principle, that has got some relative value to support that. So not to belittle, not to laugh away, not to ridicule, whatever is there. That is to help that great structure of theistic building in Bhāgavatam. Whatever has been drawn in to help that great structure of knowledge that has got some value and high value.

Prabhupāda supported me: "What he has told, it is right. Vāsudeva is belittling."

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari bol. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol.

So the Berkeley theory to crush, the fossilism. The first consciousness. Whatever you scientists are proud of finding out some wonderful things. But do you create that? It is already there. One or two wonderful things of the law of nature you are discovering and you're dancing, you're so big, so great, like a demon. But the whole world is already full with wonders. And on the whole that the embodiment of all those wonders, is that a fossil? And you're producing wonderful invention, discovery, it is there already.

And what Hegel said: "Reality is for Itself and by Itself." It is all personal, all personal. It is not for you. Cārtheṣu abhijñaḥ, [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.1.1]. Only He knows the meaning of all the incidents that take place. He's the only knower, abhijñaḥ svarāṭ, and also He can change His policy and law, He's svarāṭ. The conception of the ultimate reality of absolute is in this way. For Itself, He knows the purpose of every movement, even the movement of a straw. We cannot read it. He can read it fully, why this movement, this hand is moving this way. Only full knowledge is with Him only, to satisfy Him. All partial local conceptions of different interest, that is all falsified when compared with the absolute conception of the Absolute good. Cārtheṣu abhijñaḥ, the real purpose, real reading of every circumstance is reserved in His hand, in His will.

We're all partial conceivers, we're prey to local interest. We can't get out of that prejudice. It is not possible that we can shake off all the prejudices of local interest and to dive deep and find what is the absolute interest, the current, undercurrent, the absolute interest. He's pervading everywhere. And we're to shake off everything, all prejudices, relative position, we're to jump. By śaraṇāgati, we can only when He wants to make known the laws to us, we can know that law, and that much He will give up to us. That is the point. Gaura Hari. Yam evaiṣa vṛṇute tena labhyaḥ [Kaṭha-Upaniṣad, 1.2.23]. What He wants to reveal to us, what as much, we can, we must be satisfied with that much of knowledge extended by Him. He alone is the knower of the whole thing and everything meant for His satisfaction. None else is the party or persons to enjoy here. All to serve, all parts to fulfil the purpose of the whole absolute system, that is the most reasoned thing. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Mādhavendra Purī, mādhurya-rasa, Mādhavendra Purī and Īśvara Purī, that previously didn't appear.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In Mādhva etc., In Mādhvācārya before it is not expressed, in the middle it came out, by the will of God.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Another example of the free will.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That some away from the previous scripture, as Prabhupāda did from, by Ananta-Saṁhitā, Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura etc. So their justification is for Mādhavendra Purī's acceptance. But in the middle also, and that brahmā-vimohana question. Brahmā is the Ādi-Guru, but Bhāgavat says that he was also bewildered by Kṛṣṇa līlā, and we have to accept that. Then development may take place in afterwards in eternal circle, moving circle of time. Where is beginning? Where is end? It is very difficult to assert it. The Kali-yuga may be the beginning, Satya-yuga may be taken for the beginning. The winter or summer, what is the beginning? All development co-existent. Anywhere we may take as beginning. The Kali-yuga may be the beginning, Satya-yuga may be beginning, where is the beginning?

Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: _____ [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Vāsudeva Prabhu was relevant, scholarly, really, he challenged previously that:

"I challenge māyā. Let her take me away from the holy feet of Prabhupāda, I challenge her. Let her take me away from the holy feet of Prabhupāda." In this way he used to say.

But I could not relish at least that challenge, because māyā's power is infinite.

Mama māyā duratyayā, [Bhagavad-gītā, 7.14]. "Backed by Me." Daivī hy eṣā guṇamayī.

Still he did that. But I think when he began his ruthless oppression against us, we were innocent people, and he began to oppress us in a ruthless way, and Prabhupāda withdrew from him. And when he withdrew, then what's left? He had no other alternative but to go against Prabhupāda. He became some sahujiyā, his previous family culture, sahujiyāism, he came from sahujiyā family. And because of his offensive repression towards us who were innocent followers of Prabhupāda, he had Prabhupāda withdraw from him. That is my finding about it.

I have thought that he was really qualified. Prabhupāda also told many times that: "In which way I shall go, one man can say, that is Vāsudeva." When he was speaking Hari kathā, Vāsudeva Prabhu used to supply the śloka that will be necessary in the next moment. Which way to go with that thought. He could supply the śloka. Afterwards I also could do, but in the beginning we saw that he used to supply the śloka, appropriate quotation from the scripture, and put before Prabhupāda, and he was taking them and explaining and going further, we saw. So Prabhupāda told: "Which way I shall go, one man can say that." That was remarked.

And also during his departure he told: "The Vāsudeva may help professor and Sundarānanda to preach what is rūpānuga Vaiṣṇavism." The last word it is mentioned, "The Vāsudeva to help Sundarānanda and professor Lawal [?] to preach the real thing of rūpānuga."

So rūpānuga, what is rūpānuga-bhajan, he had some idea, Vāsudeva Prabhu. But anyhow my finding is this, that Prabhupāda could not tolerate his oppressive nature towards us. We were innocent party, the second party. We had no greed for the property, as Kuñja Bābu had. But we had no greed for it, out of principle, for tattva, the principle of the Maṭh. But we were ruthlessly repressed. And for that Prabhupāda withdrew from him, and he had no other alternative but to go against him. He took sannyāsa, when we came out. He took sannyāsa, could not keep it. Then he took bābājī veśa sahujiyā, he could not keep it. Then he married one lady and in that stage had a child, and then in that stage he left the world. He could not stand in any principle, particularly, for the life after.

Anyhow I think that he'll have to come back again to Prabhupāda's feet. When the suffering for this offence will vanish, then again he'll have to come under the feet of Prabhupāda. That is my conviction. For the time being, he has been given that punishment, he's suffering from the punishment. He'll have to come back, because I can't think that Prabhupāda's pārṣada are not eternal. Those I have found as pārṣada of Prabhupāda, I try to find them eternal pārṣada, eternal līlā, so I can't kill anything, reject any part. I'm not, I can't feel encouragement to reject any part of Prabhupāda's līlā as mundane. When he came with his party to do this preaching līlā it was all intact. That is my general understanding.

83.07.28.A

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: How far we can realise about the infinite?

athavā bahunaitena, kiṁ jñātena tavārjjuna / viṣṭabhyāham idaṁ kṛtsnam, ekāṁśena sthito jagat

["But Arjuna, what is the need of your understanding this elaborate knowledge of My almighty grandeur? By My fractional expansion as the Supreme Soul of material nature, Mahā-Viṣṇu (Kāraṇārṇavaśāyī Viṣṇu), I remain supporting this entire universe of moving and stationary beings."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 10.42]

"What further I shall talk to you Arjuna?" After showing Viśvarūpa to Arjuna, Kṛṣṇa says, "You're astounded to see My bigger figure. But what have you seen? That is the smallest part, you may think it. Only I'm such that by My one negligent part I can accommodate the whole of the world you can conceive of. The conception of your infinite is in My negligent part." He's such, so great, He's so great. Athavā bahunaitena, kiṁ jñātena tavārjjuna. "What more should I say for your knowledge? Only simply know that whatever you can conceive, how much you can conceive, that only forms a negligent part of Me."

So what we've conceived about [Śrīla A.C. Bhaktivedānta] Swāmī Mahārāja's teachings, we should not limit there. We should not limit there, then we'll defeat ourselves, defeats its own object, it is suicidal, to limit that. As far as I have understood my Gurudeva, that will be all? Ha, ha, ha. It's ludicrous. No end of knowledge about Him. We should not limit, that is māyā, whenever we're under the influence of māyā, then so far no further, so far no further. That should not be given indulgence. Infinite, He's Infinite, every part of the Infinite is Infinite. Hare Kṛṣṇa. So in that way we shall try to understand. Even Brahmā cannot understand, Śiva cannot understand, they cannot finish Him. What is this? It's quite reasonable that Infinite is Infinite. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

A picture of Jesus is there in that book? And the reference to Jesus is also mentioned? _____ [?]

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yes. "We must cross the threshold given by Jesus Christ. He has declared die to live."

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But this much?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yes.

Devotee: There's more.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: And below, One gentleman said: "Christians will say He has full knowledge."

Then you replied: "So is He stagnant there, finally fixed, is that Jesus' position? Do the Bishop say that His position is final? Does He have progressive life, or is Jesus alone barred from making further progress? Is He a member of the dynamic world, or the stagnant world?"

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: One thing is missed about Jesus, I remarked, that from His remark we can understand there is plane of mercy over justice. While dying He told, being crucified, He told: "Oh God they do not know what they do, so forgive them." That means a land of mercy, appealing to the plane of mercy over justice. That also we can have from Him, from His teachings there's a plane of mercy over the plane of justice. "Oh Lord if You take the way of justice, those that are crucifying Me they have no hope. But I appeal to Your department of mercy, so that they may not be harmed." A magnanimous statement from Jesus we adhere.

But fatherhood: "Give me our bread. We're here and we want Your help to continue our mundane life."

And also along, lives life when surrendered, no definite description about their daily movements, how they're adjusted with God consciousness, in what sort of service, that is all omitted.

But that is clear in Kṛṣṇa consciousness. Akhila-rasāmṛta-sindhu. That has been adjusted in śānta, dāsya, sākhya, vātsalya, mādhurya, all this developed and very scrutinisingly, and very subtly it has been represented, our connection with God.

But in Christianity it is very vague, vague in the life of a man in God's plane, nothing distinct has been traced or given out.

Twenty four hour engagement with this service of God, this is almost impossible. In Gauḍīya Vaiṣṇavism it is furnished there. The twenty-four hour service engagement with God is almost impossible, but that is possible. We can live with Him as family man. Mayātma-bhūyāya ca kalpate vai.

[martyo yadā tyakta-samasta-karmā, niveditātmā vicikīrṣito me

tadāmṛtatvaṁ pratipadyamāno, mayātma-bhūyāya ca kalpate vai]

["One who is subjected to birth and death attains immortality when he gives up all material activities, dedicates his life to the execution of My order, and acts according to My directions. In this way, he becomes fit to enjoy the spiritual bliss derived from exchanging loving mellows with Me."]

[Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.29.34]

Viśate tad-anantaram. Tato māṁ tattvato jñātvā, viśate tad-anantaram.

[bhaktyā mām abhijānāti, yāvān yaś cāsmi tattvataḥ
tato māṁ tattvato jñātvā, viśate tad-anantaram]

["By the potency of that supreme devotion, he is able to completely know My nature of Almighty Lordship and majesty. Thereafter, acquiring the perception of his divine relationship with Me, he enters into a group of My intimate personal associates, whose nature is non different from Mine."]

[Bhagavad-gītā, 18.55]

"That is he enters into My family life, enters into Me, that is My family life." Ātma-bhūyāya ca kalpate. "In the consideration that they're My own, members of My own family. In this zone they can enter."

That entrance from the Buddhist or Śaṅkara school, past away of this limit, no trace.

Rāmānuja says that the bird enters into the hill, forest, and he's not seen from this side but he's there with his family enjoying.

So also, viśate tad-anantaram. There, there is life, and the best part of our life is to be traced there in relationship with personal God.

Rāmakṛṣṇa Mission people say that a doll of salt went to measure the ocean and dissolved, became one with the ocean.

But we shall see, yes, but every atom is different from another atom. Even in an atom so many electrons are moving, like planets. So in every stage there is differentiation and specification. It may be of different planes, consideration of different plane, but one and many. And the movement and the relation amongst them that can never be eliminated. Vilāsa, pastimes, when the movements, they are seen with a living eye they're pastimes. When life can be traced, feeling sentiment can be traced in the atoms, electrons, all these things, the approach from the plane of life, then that is all play, all vilāsa, all pastimes. Only physical aspect, physical movement, but endowed with life, then they're all pastimes.

The enjoyment of the mother, child, husband, wife, to a mosquito, insect, or a tiger, they cannot think that they're living a sweet life, they can't understand. The internal sweet feelings, sentiments, they cannot understand, but there is. So if we can enter into that plane we may be able to find that every movement means pastimes, with the object of searching after happiness, searching, happy life, not physical dead life, vilāsa.

In Vṛndāvana, the sands of the Yamunā, the creepers, the trees, all living entities. Only posing of an inanimate, but all animate, and all in the mood of enjoyment, and doing particular service. So in śānta rasa, what seems to be only the passive existence, but there is also active enjoyment. So from the view of Vṛndāvana, the angle of vision of Kṛṣṇa līlā in Vṛndāvana, everything dancing, singing, chanting, making pastimes, full of joy.

All the movement may be intelligent, and all movement may be attaining fulfilment of life. Sat, cit, ānanda, these aspects may be traced anywhere and everywhere. Sat, only existence, cit means consciousness, and ānandam trying for fulfilment, enjoyment. Three stages, three aspects of life we can find anywhere and everywhere, there also. Goloka means full fledged vision, Goloka - solid circle, full fledged, in full fledged angle of vision, we may find all rejoicing. That is Vṛndāvana, the most fundamental plane of vision. All dancing, all enjoying, all engaged in the mad service of Kṛṣṇa. This is the highest stage of our realisation, for everyone, every atom is rendering service to Kṛṣṇa, that is in the vision of the highest devotee.

sarva bhūteṣu yaḥ paśyed, bhagavad bhāvam ātmanaḥ bhūtāni bhagavaty ātmany, eṣa bhāgavatottamaḥ

["A person advanced in devotional service sees within everything the soul of souls, the Supreme Personality of Godhead, Śrī Kṛṣṇa. Consequently they always see Kṛṣṇa everywhere and in everything. One who is situated on the topmost platform of devotional service is known as an uttama-bhāgavata."]
[Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.2.45]

Not detached, not detached.

yo māṁ paśyati sarvatra, sarvaṁ ca mayi paśyati tasyāhaṁ na praṇaśyāmi, sa ca me na praṇaśyati

["For one who sees Me in everything and everything in Me, I do not remain unseen and he also is not unnoticed by Me: he never sways in his thought of Me."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 6.30]

Everything has got recognition, to the smallest atom, electron, they have got recognition in the cognition, in the central cognitions office, in Kṛṣṇa. Nothing forgot, everything, all points have got their proper recognition in the central office, in the heart of Kṛṣṇa. Not neglected, nothing is neglected. Proper adjustment, and all contributing to the beautiful movement, samañjasā. Samañjasā, harmony, the most extensive harmony, every part is harmonised, nothing is discordant. Only deeper vision can expose that, deeper vision, so we can see the harmony. Even the māyā is harmonised, the vetirvek [?] it has got it's position, not undesirable. But the things are, the prison houses are also desirable, undesirable and at the same time desirable, prison houses. Undesirable, hospitals are undesirable, still it is desirable because there is disease, to cure that. So māyā has got its position, to purify. He's playing, the child when playing and going to cross the boundary of, and a little harm and there is the bandage and other arrangements, the child's playing, on the whole.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa consciousness. The lying, thieving, that is also most undesirable thing, that is also being harmonised. Stealing is harmonised, lying is harmonised, good effect, desirable. In a sport, in merry, sometimes we lie, to excite pleasing sentiment in the heart of persons sometimes, adjusted. Hare Kṛṣṇa. So sympathetic outlook, the degree of sympathetic outlook can harmonise everything.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Jagāi, Mādāi, attacked Nityānanda Prabhu and bloodshed took place, but that is also harmonised, in this way.

[mahā-kṛpā-pātra prabhura jagāi, mādhāi] / 'patita-pāvana' nāmera sākṣī dui bhāi

["Jagāi and Mādhāi, the eighty-ninth and ninetieth branches of the tree, were the greatest recipients of Lord Caitanya's mercy. These two brothers were the witnesses who proved that Lord Caitanya was rightly named Patita-pāvana, "the deliverer of the fallen souls."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Ādi-līlā, 10.120]

So if Nityānanda Prabhu is to be had, if we're to have Nityānanda Prabhu, we must have Jāgai, Mādāi, at His side, in a playing mood. Jāgai, Mādāi, without Jāgai, Mādāi, no magnanimous position of Nityānanda Prabhu can be conceived.

Without that gentleman, Judas, then no Christ can be conceived perfectly. Judas is necessary. And it is my thinking when Christ with the cross on His shoulder, passing through the mob, Judas was there in the mob. Christ going, head bending, but suddenly He saw Judas. With such glance, such a look, Judas became mad and fled from the place and the bribe money he threw away, became mad. I think the Christ's eye on the Judas was of negative character.

"Judas, I'm utilising you, for My greatness, I'm utilising. I'm indebted to you forever. My līlā, My pastimes, if it has got any value, I'm to pay to you for that. You're playing the most important part in these pastimes of Mine. I'm ever indebted to you Judas. I have set you, you're set in such a way to make the background." Otherwise, Jesus is no Jesus.

So, everything may be harmonised in the angle of vision at the highest adjustment. pasardita [?] More extended vision. Gaura Haribol.

[rādhā-kṛṣṇa prāna mor jīvane maraṇe,] more rākhi' māri' sukhe thākuka du'jane

["In life or death, Rādhā and Kṛṣṇa are my life and soul. May They always be happy, whether They choose to protect me or kill me."] [From Gītāvalī, 8b, 6]

Self-forgetfulness, that is also in Christianity, self-forgetfulness. Self-forgetfulness, but for what? That is the question. The gopīs in Vṛndāvana, they're perfectly self-forgetful for their own interest. Cent percent devoted, not only present but future also.

Ha, ha. Once when we were working in the Madras Maṭh, we incurred some loan to construct the temple. To expedite the construction of the temple we incurred some loan. Anyhow we reported to Guru Mahārāja and we thought that Guru Mahārāja will be dissatisfied, why we have committed loan.

But instead of that his appreciation came. "Oh, you have risked your future also in the service of Kṛṣṇa, in that way. Not only is the present being utilised in the service of Kṛṣṇa but your future also, you have given to Kṛṣṇa for service. By making loan you must have to work in the future to clear this debt. So future also engaged in the service. I'm very happy to hear you have taken so much risk. For future, risk of future, forgetfulness of the future interest, not only to take the risk of the present, but of the future, eternal future dedicated to my Lord."

Nitya-līlā, eternal pastimes. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Competition is necessary, that is vetidek [?]

When we like to see that the, below the party parliamentary, opposition. We can have such a spacious look that the opposition is also helping. Then, there is māyā also helping, we can see through that, helping Kṛṣṇa.

āmnāyaḥ vetivek abhyad [?] yasya sarvatra sarvada [?] 'nvayād itarataś [SB,1.1.1]

Direct and indirect. According to Hegel, thesis, antithesis, and greater thesis is synthesis. Again that is thesis, again antithesis, again a greater synthesis. We're to look to the world in this way. Thesis, antithesis, synthesis, again synthesis is recorded as synthesis, again antithesis of that, again a higher synthesis.

Then some oppositionist come to say that it is all progressive, it is in want, your infinite, your absolute, in want. Your only progressive. He told that every second whatever He wants, it is realised, so it is not in want. That is His answer, whatever He plans, at once it comes to fulfilment. So we can't say that it is perfect, it is imperfect, progressing, but it is in this progressive way.

Anyhow they bring everything under some law. But here, the Vedic, the Purāṇic conception of the Absolute, is līlā, līlā-moya, sweet will, it's sweet will. And Mahāprabhu comes to support that. Acintya-bhed -ābheda. Adhoksaja. The harmony is beyond our conception and thinking, you must take it in the beginning, in your hand. It is never finished within your conception, it can never, so acintya, unthinkable. This adjective you'll always keep in your hand, acintya. Not within your brain, puppy brain. Our Guru Mahārāja he liked to use this expression, our puppy brain. Adhoksaja, adhaḥkṛtaṁ, transcendental, supramental, but we should take the line, going this way, as far as possible no limit.

Tomāya cākhāite tāra kahi eka 'bindhu'. "Only one drop," Mahāprabhu says to Sanātana: "It is limitless, no breadth, no length, no limit."

[prabhu kahe - śuna, rūpa, bhakti-rasera lakṣaṇa / sūtra-rūpe kahi, vistāra nā yāya varṇana
pārāpāra-śūnya gabhīra bhakti-rasa-sindhu / tomāya cākhāite tāra kahi eka 'bindhu']

[Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu said: "My dear Rūpa, please listen to Me. It is not possible to describe devotional service completely; therefore I am just trying to give you a synopsis of the symptoms of devotional service."] ["The ocean of the transcendental mellow of devotional service is so big that no one can estimate its length and breadth. However, just to help you taste it, I am describing but one drop."]

[Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 19.136-7]

Pārāpāra-śūnya gabhīra bhakti-rasa-sindhu. "Such an ocean, only one drop, I want to present before you, one drop." And then in the next place He says, eka-bindu jagat ḍubāya. "That one drop can inundate this whole world of our conception. A part of Infinite is Infinite." Eka-bindu jagat ḍubāya. "One drop is more than sufficient for us to inundate the whole world, it is such."

[kṛṣṇa-rūpāmṛta-sindhu, tāhāra taraṅga-bindu, eka-bindu jagat ḍubāya trijagate yata nārī, tāra citta-ucca-giri, tāhā ḍubāi āge uṭhi' dhāya]

["The consciousness of each woman within the three worlds is certainly like a high hill, but the sweetness of Kṛṣṇa's beauty is like an ocean. Even a drop of water from that ocean can flood the entire world and submerge all the high hills of consciousness."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Antya-līlā, 15.19]

Happiness, happiness, joy, joy. "Water, water, everywhere, not a drop to drink." In Coleridge's Ancient Mariner, in the sea, all water but salt, salt water we can't drink, so "water, water, not a drop to drink." That is our position, only appreciation, understanding.

By knowledge through Him, then everything is all right. Adhoksaja. Everything is reserved in His hand, the key is with Him. Adhoksaja. Adhaḥkṛtaṁ indriyajaṁ jñānaṁ yena. ["That tattva, Supreme Reality, is always existing, keeping our sensual knowledge and experiences forever subordinate."] Everything, is not to be exposed to the fullest extent to our mundane senses. They've reserved the right, only partial representation. Our local interest, our selfish interest, local interest, provincial interest, we cannot get relief of that, so we can't come to understand the universal interest. Prejudice, full of prejudices of different interests, like so much dust covering our eyes. We can't read properly, what is what, because these complex interests they're covering our eyes, we can't get out of that.

Bhrama, pramāda, karaṇāpāṭava, vipralipsā. These four defects. Bhrama means commission, commit mistakes. Pramāda, omission, we omit many things. Karaṇāpāṭava, defects in the instruments through which we gather our knowledge, karaṇāpāṭava. And vipralipsā, the internal prejudice to misguide our judgement. This is always present in the fallen soul, so they can't understand what is what properly.

sad vata kṛṣṇay ramurti kali jal mul sei dekhi pai jar rakikiyo [?]

One devotee says: "Everywhere we find the most beautiful trace of Kṛṣṇa līlā, His presence. But only those that have got - whose eyes are free from all dirt, they can see, but only, uda jakayar visaya duitay [?] But those whose eyes are covered with prejudices, with the dust of different interests, they can't trace the truth. They cannot see the truth, outside, can't see Kṛṣṇa, His hand, His presence outside. kamana say bahow tattva [?] How they'll be able to read properly the environment?

So we're living within our own cell, living in a cell, to break the cell, to become free. That is not all, then we're to imbibe the proper vision from the higher plane. We're created in a particular stage, but sometimes to see things, microscope, telescope, is necessary, when far away, telescope. Through the Vaiṣṇava we can see, through the scripture we can see. Direct we cannot see. So many things are there, and microscope is necessary. We're created in a particular plane with particular materials, with particular prospects and possibilities, part. So part cannot understand the Whole. It's only possible when the Whole wants to make Himself known to the part, and that also to a particular extent, he can get then. Yam evaiṣa vṛnute tena labhyaḥ.

[nāyam ātmā pravacanena labhyo, na medhayā na bahunā śrutena
yam evaiṣa vṛnute tena labhyas, tasyaiṣa ātmā vivṛnute tanūṁ svām]

["One cannot understand the substance of the Paramātmā, the Supersoul residing within everyone's heart, by means of expertise in logic, intelligence or learning. When the living entity begs the Lord for His mercy, being desirous of His transcendental loving service, then the Supreme Lord reveals His self-manifest form directly before him."] [Kaṭha-Upaniṣad, 1.2.23] & [Muṇḍaka-Upaniṣad, 2.3.2]

If Infinite cannot make Himself known to finite, He's no Infinite. In that way. Infinite's power is unlimited, infinite, so it can do anything and everything. He can show without eye, Kṛṣṇa did it in the assembly of the Kurus.

Dhṛtarāṣṭra told: "Oh You have, You are showing such a figure, beautiful and grand figure, that the munis and others, Bhīsma, Droṇa, members of the court, they're appreciating Your darśana and chanting in praise of that. But I'm blind, I can't see You. For the time being, You give me sight that I can see You."

To our astonishment Kṛṣṇa told: "No, no, blindness need not be removed. I say you'll be able to see Me, now you'll see."

Without eye Dhṛtarāṣṭra could see the figure Kṛṣṇa. The eye experience Dhṛtarāṣṭra had, without his eye. How is it possible?

Dhṛtarāṣṭra prayed, temporarily at least: "You remove my blindness and bless me that for the time being I can have a darśana of You."

But Kṛṣṇa told that: "No blindness is necessary to be removed. I say you see Me and you'll be able to see Me." And Dhṛtarāṣṭra did that. Though blind, he could see, because Kṛṣṇa told.

So such is His will power, His will, His ways are such, above law. Whatever He pleases to do that is done immediately. Without eye man can see, without ear man can hear. Such is His position. These incidents are to teach us in that way, what is His position. A blind man He can show, so what is His sight, that is not limited within eye experience, in the physical plane, something else.

"Arjuna you see Me, in this way, Viśvarūpa." And he saw. His order. His will.

So we're to be acquainted with such power and such substance. We're to develop our thinking in that level. We're already accustomed with the ways of this material law, but transcending the law of this material substance there are other, higher laws. Divya-darśana. This eye physical, not sufficient, so Guru comes to give us proper eye. Get higher eye, to read the environment, to read you, and to read the environment. This eye is not sufficient, this eye is limiting you in a very limited circle, but get another eye, the eye of the Veda.

vede pushyanti paṇḍita [?] The eye of the scripture. Try to have that eye, and with the help of that eye, try to look, to cast your glance around. vede pushyanti pandita.
raja pushyanti karnarbyan [?] The king sees through the spy, through the ear, and, vede pushyanti pandita.
apasu pusyati gande [?] And ordinary people, they hear by their ear.

So get the Vedic darśana, universal eye, to see things, what is what. Then you may be raised to be inhabitant of that plane.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...for our transaction with the Infinite. From the limited to the unlimited, for your own interest.

One thing is common everywhere, that we're in search after happiness. From the worst atheist to the highest devotee, all will be common here that we're searching for bliss. Blissfulness, beauty, charm, sweetness, love, affection, they're of the same plane. - And we can't deny that we're not searching for that. The field may be different, one is giving his life for the country, he's also - that joy. Another, a dagger, putting on another's body, that is also for joy. But quality of joy, the difference in the quality. A dacoit also, joy hunter, and a patron, and a humanitarian, philanthropist, also joy hunters, and the devotees also, the salvationists, they are also.

But the quality in the conception of the joy, or the happiness, that is to be taken into account as most important. What sort of ānandam, joy, or happiness we want? This joy brings reaction, committing dacoiting then punishment will come very soon as reaction. And what sort of joy does not bring reaction in its retinue, but in every increasing line it will move, that is what is wanted, and the quality also will improve in the time eternal. That is necessary for us. Father, mother, country, all these transient, temporary cognition, and then dissolution. But in the midst of everything, we're all seeking after happiness.

Devotee: _____ [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: _____ [?]

...

ṛte 'rthaṁ yat pratīyeta, na pratīyeta cātmani
tad vidyād ātmano māyāṁ, yathābhāso yathā tamaḥ

["O Brahmā, whatever appears to be of any value, if it is without relation to Me, has no reality. Know it as My illusory energy, that reflection which appears to be in darkness."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 2.9.34]

The conception of māyā, ṛte 'rthaṁ yat pratīyeta. It is misreading, what is real purpose, to miss it, to omit it, and seeing it otherwise. Māyā means misreading, not to be able to read properly things outside, misreading. And that is affected only by our prejudiced interest, local interest, local. Mīyeta anuyar. There is another meaning of māyā, of course meaning the same thing. Mīyeta, measured meaning, limited meaning, limited reading, reading from the limited standpoint, that is māyā. Mā - yā, what is not, not proper, are limited, two fold meaning of māyā, 'Rthaṁ ṛte. The proper meaning is neglected, or it's omitted, proper reading of things, improper reading, māyā. Rte 'rthaṁ yat pratīyeta, na pratīyeta cātmani. And from the standpoint of the whole of consciousness it cannot stand. Na pratīyeta cātmani, tad vidyād ātmano māyāṁ, yathābhāso yathā tamaḥ. Just as light and darkness, the difference is like light and darkness. Ignorance and knowledge, knowledge is effective, ignorance is misguiding, loss of energy, waste of energy, that is the consequence.

But there is another, higher level. Mahāprabhu asked to take to that for us, His recommendation: "Ignorance and knowledge, eliminate both, and try to surrender to the affectionate heart of your affectionate superiors, surrender to your guardianship. Jñāna-śūnya-bhakti. Don't take the responsibility and risk for calculation and reading of the environment on your shoulder. But surrender to the sweet will of the highest dictator. Law is for us, law is not for Him, He's above law, so take shelter of the law creator. Then you're fearless, you'll be at liberty, the highest liberty you'll be able to enjoy, if you can rise up to that level. Jñāna-śūnya-bhakti. Sincere and perfect dependence on the dictator Who's above law, He's above law. Jñāna-śūnya-bhakti. Just as a child in the mother's lap, intuitive affection, that is the highest position for us. Jñāna-śūnya-bhakti. Don't bother yourself with good and bad. Only one line, stick to that, surrender. His sweet will. That is another plane, though unseen from this side, the scholars. Muhyanti yat sūrayaḥ [Bhāgavatam, 1.1.1]. Not only ordinary men, but great scholars are benumbed, they can't follow, understand. Scholars means depending on knowledge, they cannot eliminate knowledge. The scholars say: "We can't understand what you say, jñāna-śūnya-bhakti, is the highest place, we can't follow this, how is it possible?"

But it is possible, to give up hope on our defective self calculation, that is vulnerable. So throw yourself to the decision of the Supreme invulnerable substance, at His disposal. That is the highest attainment of the individual, to live in the land of mercy, affection, love, and that is beauty, that is charm. The land of sacrificed soul, wholesale sacrificed soul, they live there in that land. Self forgetful, all, self forgetful, living there, a plane of surrender and that is the highest plane of our life. That was announced by Mahāprabhu, jñāna-śūnya-bhakti.

It is very difficult to understand how we can live, the jñāna, the light, without light how we can move, it is impossible. But it is told that that is the highest position you can ever aspire after, jñāna-śūnya-bhakti. Automatic, just like computer calculation. Everything is being done as a machine, mechanically. But that is living and affectionate, not machine, this material thing, dead thing. A vitality grows there in its highest form. Vitality. It is not an abode of dead persons where all faculties are dead, no. They rather find their full play, fullest play, all the parts, the eye, the ear, everything, encouraged by the sweetness, the ānandam is rather taking the lead in the movements there.

All do not see with the eye, pasu pusyati gandena [?] As I told before, ganda vedi, rupa vedi, rasa vedi [?] There are so many classes, amongst in the animal creation. They see things only by scent. Who has come before him, he knows by the scent and not by the eye. Sabda vedi. By the voice one can know who has come, not by the eye. Ganda vedi, sparsa vedi. By the touch only they can understand who has come before them. The fishes are called sparsa vedi. One fish coming, approaching another fish, only the wave, he's coming, there's a peculiar wave he understands such a fish is coming to me, it is possible, sparsa vedi. Ganda vedi, by the scent only can understand these ants, etc, that who is coming, ant coming, or the mosquito coming, or the cat coming, or amongst the ant who is coming, only by the peculiar measurement of the scent. As we can discriminate with our eye, the human body coming, either this man or woman by the eye we can trace, so by scent one can understand, by sound one can understand, without eye.

So also here, the understanding by sweetness, by ānandam, differentiation in ānandam, they're moving there, no eye to guide, intuition something. The search for Kṛṣṇa, the searching attitude, that is the guide. There are classifications, everything is there, automatic, ānandam, inspiration, anurāga, affinity, that can guide. Everything is there, the eye, ear, everything there, but still the guiding principle is affinity. Affinity towards the centre and according to the degree so many infinite classifications. But the main thing is our attraction towards the centre, Kṛṣṇa, beautiful. Search for the beauty, that is the main thing and there are differentiated characters in that. But the main thing, the main current of the life there is search for Kṛṣṇa.

kāhāṅ mora prāna nātha muralī-vadana, kāhāṅ karoṅ kāhāṅ pāṅ vrajendra-nandana

[Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu said: "Where is My beloved Kṛṣṇa? I can't tolerate His separation. Where is the Lord of My life, Who is playing His flute? What shall I do now? Where should I go to find the son of Mahārāja Nanda?"] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 2.15]

How I can run to the place where I can find the centre of the current? Where is the centre of the current? So sweet current coming to us, where is the centre? In this way. And who are nearest the centre? And who can command the sent current? So many things are there in the general vision. This may not be idolatry, we may think when in figurative way this is represented, we may think: "Oh this is idolatrous, in mental idolatries, physical idolaters, and mental idolatry, they're suffering from, the Hindu's are suffering from mental idolatry." Do away with the idolatry conception. Things may be generally represented in this way, scientific way.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol.

Mahāprabhu wanted to - "Pay and you'll have. Don't try to secure things very cheap. Don't try to purchase in the cheap market. Be ready to pay for the thing. Surrender, nothing less than surrender, that can purchase a ticket for you in that plane. Wholesale, if you can give wholesale, you will get also wholesale.

ye yathā māṁ prapadyante, tāṁs tathaiva bhajāmy aham
[mama vartmānuvartante, manuṣyāḥ pārtha sarvaśaḥ]

[Śrī Kṛṣṇa says: "As a person takes refuge in Me, I accordingly respond to him. Being the ultimate goal of all philosophies and doctrines, I am the objective to be attained by all. Certainly, O Pārtha, all men follow My various paths."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 4.11]

"If you're miser, I'm also miser in dealing to you. If he's as much generous I'm also so. Wholesale giving. I can also give wholesale. So much so Yaśodā can whip Me, and I've no other alternative but to rub My eyes full of tears. 'I don't do this once more My mother, don't beat Me, don't whip Me in this way, even I can go so far, so far.'" Hare Kṛṣṇa.

śrutim apare smṛtim itare, bhāratam anye bhajantu bhava-bhītāḥ
aham iha nandaṁ vande, yasyālinde paraṁ brahma

["Those who fear material existence worship Veda, some worship Smṛti, and others worship the Mahābhārata. But I choose to worship Mahārāja Nanda, because in his courtyard the Supreme Cosmic Truth, Param Brahma is playing."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 19.96] & [Padyāvalī, 126]

Raghupati Upādhyāya in his talk with Mahāprabhu told: "Let the others who are very much afraid of their worldly life run towards Veda, run towards Smṛti, and other scriptures. But I don't like all these things bothering. Simply I want, I see that - aham iha nandaṁ vande. All my concern is with Mahārāja Nanda, where I find in concrete truth that the Parambrahma is crawling on the compound of his house. I see the concrete thing. I won't run after phantasmagoria, what the Śruti will say, the Smṛti will say, so many. mani marti vasista jagra vagra smṛtim [?] Veda also Sāma, Yajur, Atharva, so many interpretations. I don't like that. I get the fruit here, the result, the consequence, I find here. That the Parambrahma whom you say, all Parambrahma, He's crawling in the compound of Mahārāja Nanda. So I shall negotiate with Nanda Mahārāja how I may be counted amongst one of his own people. This is my direct finding."

And that satisfied Mahāprabhu very much, that Raghupati Upādhyāya's statement. Śrutim apare smṛtim itare, bhāratam anye bhajantu.

The Śrutis, they're also in the rasa-līlā, they're also trying to have their defective attempt forgiven.

"We could not exactly express You my Lord, that You are such and such. You are rasa-līlā. Our expression rather went to express indifferent, that Brahma, the Brahma, Paramātmā, all this impersonal thing, generally we dealt with. But You are person and You are such a wonderful personality. You can describe these ordinary human things in such a great way. We did not know all these things and we could not express You, in this type, so forgive us." They beg to be forgiven, excused by Kṛṣṇa. "That we could not, we say, we boast that we give Kṛṣṇa, we give the Absolute to the people. But we ourselves did not get any such compression of Yourself, highest, so sweet. So sweetly we could not represent You. So we must be forgiven for our audacity, our position, our authentic announcement that we can show the path to You. We're criminals, in this way."

śrutim apare smṛtim itare, bhāratam anye bhajantu bhava-bhītāḥ
aham iha nandaṁ vande, yasyālinde paraṁ brahma

Parīkṣit Mahārāja, he's also in that great assembly of the scholars of different departments, he also says:

nandaḥ kim akarod brahman, śreya evaṁ mahodayam
yaśodā ca mahā-bhāgā, papau yasyāḥ stanaṁ hariḥ

[Having heard of the great fortune of mother Yaśodā, Parīkṣit Mahārāja inquired from Śukadeva Gosvāmī: "O learned brāhmaṇa, mother Yaśodā's breast milk was sucked by the Supreme Personality of Godhead. What past auspicious activities did she and Nanda Mahārāja perform to achieve such perfection in ecstatic love?"] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.8.46]

Parīkṣit Mahārāja, on the basis of the theistic atmosphere created by Śukadeva Goswāmī, Parīkṣit Mahārāja is asking: "This is wonderful what you say, this Nanda, what did he do in his previous life? What sort of penances, or reading, or anything, religious practices, what did Nanda do that he has got the Parambrahma in such a way, in a players way he has got that Parambrahma? And yaśodā mahā-bhāgā, and the great fortunate lady Yaśodā, who is suckling that Parambrahma. It is inconceivably wonderful. What did they do? Please come direct with that recommendation. We want to follow that. We want to follow that leaving aside all those stereotype things that ever come to the world, for God consciousness, or God realisation. Leaving everything aside, we want to follow that path, what Yaśodā did, what Nanda did, in their past lives, that they have acquired such a great inconceivable fortunate position, we want to know that."

So Mahāprabhu came to give us such direction, where to go, what to gain, what to obtain.

āścaryavat paśyati kaścid enam, āścaryavad vadati tathaiva cānyaḥ
āścaryavac cainam anyaḥ śṛṇoti, śrutvāpy enaṁ veda na caiva kaścit

["Some see the soul as astonishing, some describe him as astonishing, and some hear of him as astonishing, while others, even after hearing about him, cannot understand him at all."]
[Bhagavad-gītā, 2.29]

Even in Gītā we find, that only soul consciousness is wonder of wonder. We're all practised with material consciousness, material valuation. We're making much, we know we're accustomed to make material valuation, always calculating. But if we can have the conception of our own soul, the particle, the dust of the great conscious substance, we'll be astounded. Āścaryavad vadati. Who will hear, who will say, who will know, everyone will be astounded.

"Oh. The soul is such a thing, such valuable, such wonderful, independent of all mortal? The atom bomb cannot do anything to the soul. These great achievements of the so-called civilised genius, they cannot approach this plane of soul, it is living in that plane."

So how much disarmed we are with fear. No fear, no apprehension which we're suffering, always like a remittent fever, always containing fever. The mortality, the threatening of mortality is always attacking on us, consciously, unconsciously.

But when we reach the plane of soul: "Oh. What wonderful thing, beyond atom bomb and all these threatening of the mortal world. It is above, wonderful things."

That is only a part, as a dust of that conscious world, and then the conscious world, Śiva-loka, and then the, andamāya-loka, where it is. Still it is with us, we hanker only for that.

na te viduḥ svārtha-gatiṁ hi viṣṇuṁ, durāśayā ye bahir-artha-māninaḥ
[andhā yathāndhair upanīyamānās, te 'pīśa-tantryām uru-dāmni baddhāḥ]

[Prahlāda Mahārāja says: "Persons who are strongly entrapped by the consciousness of enjoying material life, and who have therefore accepted as their leader or guru a similar blind man attached to external sense objects, cannot understand that the goal of life is to return home, back to Godhead, and engage in the service of Lord Viṣṇu. As blind men guided by another blind man miss the right path and fall into a ditch, materially attached men led by another materially attached man are bound by the ropes of fruitive labour, which are made of very strong cords, and they continue again and again in materialistic life, suffering the threefold miseries."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 7.5.31]

Prahlāda Mahārāja says we're attracted by the outer coating of things and ignoring the very spirit which is within. That is our fate.

prāyeṇa munayo rājan, nivṛttā vidhi-ṣedhataḥ
nairguṇya-sthā ramante sma, guṇānukathane hareḥ

["O King Parīkṣit, mainly the topmost transcendentalists, who are above the regulative principles and restrictions, take pleasure in describing the glories of the Lord."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 2.1.7]

ātmārāmāś ca munayo, nirgranthā apy urukrame
kurvanty ahaitukīṁ bhaktim, ittham-bhūta guṇo hariḥ

["Those sages who, being merged in the bliss of the spirit soul, are totally free from the binding knot of mental images - they too engage in the unmotivated service of Śrī Kṛṣṇa, the performer of marvellous deeds. This is but one of the qualities of the Supreme Lord Hari, who charms the entire world."]
[Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.7.10]

What to speak of us, we're full of material aspirations. Those that are famous for their spiritual aspirations and whose life is given for that, it is necessary also to preach in that camp, that He's above that, above knowledge. The love is above knowledge. Prema is above jñāna. And Kṛṣṇa is the king of that loving plane, the plane of love and beauty, and it is above your consciousness. Very rarely we find that some of the leaders of the jñānī school, they're aspiring after that beauty. So beauty is not confined in this eye experience of the material world. So how wonderful that will be. Aham iha nandaṁ vande. The soul is such, then the Supersoul, Paramātmā, then that Brahma Nārāyaṇa, Vāsudeva Nārāyaṇa, Rāmacandra, Dwārakeśa, Mathureśa, Vṛndāvana.

vaikuṇṭhāj janito varā madhu-purī tatrāpi rāsotsavād rādhā-kuṇḍam ihāpi gokula-pateḥ premāmṛtāplāvanāt kuryād asya virājato giri-taṭe sevāṁ vivekī na kaḥ

[Rūpa Goswāmī says: "The holy place known as Mathurā is spiritually superior to Vaikuṇṭha, the transcendental world, because the Lord appeared there. Superior to Mathurā-purī is the transcendental forest of Vṛndāvana because of Kṛṣṇa's rāsa-līlā pastimes. And superior to the forest of Vṛndāvana is Govardhana Hill, for it was raised by the divine hand of Śrī Kṛṣṇa and was the site of His various loving pastimes. And, above all, the super-excellent Śrī Rādhā-kuṇḍa stands supreme, for it is over-flooded with the ambrosial nectarean prema of the Lord of Gokula, Śrī Kṛṣṇa. Where, then, is that intelligent person who is unwilling to serve this divine Rādhā-kuṇḍa, which is situated at the foot of Govardhana Hill?"] [Śrī Upadeśamṛta, 9] karmibhyaḥ parito hareḥ priyatayā vyaktiṁ yayur jñāninas tebhyo jñāna-vimukta-bhakti-paramāḥ premaika-niṣṭhās tataḥ tebhyas tāḥ paśu-pāla-paṅkaja-dṛśas tābhyo 'pi sā rādhikā preṣṭhā tadvad iyaṁ tadīya-sarasī tāṁ nāśrayet kaḥ kṛtī

["There are those in the world who regulate their tendency for exploitation in accordance with the scriptural rules and thereby seek gradual elevation to the spiritual domain. However, superior to them are those wise men who, having given up the tendency to lord over others, attempt to dive deep into the realm of consciousness. But far superior to them are the pure devotees who are free from any mundane ambitions and are liberated from knowledge, not by knowledge, having achieved divine love. They have gained entrance into the land of dedication and are engaged there spontaneously in the Lord's loving service. Among all devotees, however, the gopīs are the highest, for they have forsaken everyone, including their families, and everything, including the strictures of the Vedas, and have taken complete shelter at the lotus feet of Kṛṣṇa, accepting Him as their only protection. But among all the gopīs, Śrīmatī Rādhārāṇī reigns supreme. For Kṛṣṇa left the company of millions of gopīs during the rasa dance to search for Her alone. She is so dear to Śrī Kṛṣṇa that the pond in which She bathes is His very favourite place. Who but a madman would not aspire to render service, under the shelter of superior devotees, in that most exalted of all holy places."]

[Śrī Upadeśamṛta, 10]

The gradation in the transcendental world is being shown to us in this way. With this aspiration, let our fortune may direct to move on and on, towards Kṛṣṇa consciousness, from deeper, to deeper, to the deepest.

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Nitāi. Here we close today.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja:

I'm sorry. My reading is probably very bad.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Not bad, but not very clear to our ears. What is the chapter?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Ninth chapter.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ninth chapter. So it is by Nava-yogendras? By whom? Ninth chapter. Kavi, Havir, Antarīkṣa, Prabuddha, Pippalāyana, Āvirhotra, Drumila, Camasa [and Karabhājana]. Who is it?

Only one point, or many? Only this point that many Gurus are necessary, because there are different conceptions of the advaya jñāna. So to understand fully the particular part, the expert of that portion is to be consulted. Main purport is this. But if such a Guru is available who can represent all of the whole, advaya jñāna, then one may suffice. Otherwise the partial realisation, the Guru of partial realisation, they can give out the knowledge of a particular part. That is the underlying principle. For both relative and absolute, the same question, and absolute is the final. Generally:

ācāryaṁ māṁ vijānīyān, [nāvamanyeta karhicit
na martya-buddhyāsūyeta, sarva-deva-mayo guruḥ]

[Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.17.27] & [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Ādi-līlā, 1.46]

Whenever we shall accept any Guru, we shall try to see fullness in him. But with the progress of the knowledge, it may seem that some points are being lacking, in that case, śīkṣa Guru is to be adopted.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Guru Mahārāja, it's spoken by avadhūta-brāhmaṇa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Avadhūta, inciting by whom? Camasa, Karabhājana, or Antarīkṣa? Who is the speaker? Who is giving reference of the avadhūta-brāhmaṇa? Nava-yogendra, one of the yogendras is speaker here, who is he? Hare Kṛṣṇa. _____ [?]

Devotee: _____ [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: _____ [?] Voice Uddhava, it is there [?]

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yes. My mistake. I'm sorry. Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So, ha ha, a drastic position, ha ha ha. Unquestionable.

Badrinārāyaṇa: That changes the whole situation.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Unquestionable.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Astama jayi bhagavan sri krsna bhajanera nicak avadhuta brahman ksatry [?]
_____ [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ha, ha.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: I'm sorry, it's aparādha.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: One in many. Ācāryaṁ māṁ vijānīyān. One in many. He's Guru, because He can make Himself known, no other. So wherever there is true transaction, there is He Himself present, that is oneness in Guru. And also the variegatedness is there, according to ones adhikāra, and ones position. The same thing, loke vyavāya.

parokṣa-vādo vedo 'yaṁ, bālānām anuśāsanam [karma-mokṣāya karmāṇi, vidhatte hy agadaṁ yathā]

["Childish and foolish people are attached to materialistic, fruitive activities, although the actual goal of life is to become free from such activities. Therefore, the Vedic injunctions indirectly lead one to the path of ultimate liberation by first prescribing fruitive religious activities, just as a father promises his child candy so that the child will take his medicine."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.3.44]

One may not understand the whole truth, only by instalments he should be given, through different births. On the whole Guru is one, and Guru is He, and it is His will. In one figure also He may deliver the whole truth, but generally by partial instalments, according to the position of the audience, He will extend things.

loke vyavāyāmiṣa-madya-sevā, nityā hi jantor na hi tatra codanā
vyavasthitis teṣu vivāha-yajña,-surā-grahair āsu nivṛttir iṣṭā

["Everyone is naturally inclined to have sex, eat meat, and drink wine. There is no need for the scripture to encourage these things. The scriptures do, however, give concessions to people who are determined to do these things. The scriptures therefore grant a license to enjoy sex by allowing sexual intercourse with one's lawfully wedded wife at the proper time of the month. They grant a license to eat meat to those who perform a certain kind of sacrifice, and a license to drink wine to those who perform the Sautramani sacrifice. The purpose of granting these licenses for sense gratification is only to restrict these activities and encourage people to give them up altogether. The real intention of the Vedic injunctions regarding sex, meat-eating, and wine-drinking is to make one abstain from these activities."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.5.11]

There are scriptures that say: "Oh marry, then leave your wife and go to the forest, and then you leave everything and always try to meditate on Him, even leaving food." There are so many. According to the capacity of the student the professor will impart advice to him, instruction to him. A gradation is there. Karma adhikārī.

na buddhi-bhedaṁ janayed, ajñānāṁ karma-saṅginām
[joṣayet sarva-karmāṇi, vidvān yuktaḥ samācaran]

["The scholarly proponents of the path of knowledge must not confuse ignorant, attached men by deviating them with the advice, "Leave aside action, and cultivate knowledge." Rather, controlling their own minds, the learned should perform all the various duties without desiring the results, and in this way, subsequently engage the common section in action."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 3.26]

If I do not do any work, then others will think that idleness is the goal of our life, so I have to work. Na buddhi-bhedaṁ janayed, ajñānāṁ. One who has got his adhikāra, qualification, he's to be advised nearby something. Jñāna adhikārī he should be given jñānam, yoga adhikārī. Then again wind up everything, as in Bhagavad-gītā, He's dealing with different departments, but winding up in the last towards devotion, in this way.

tapasvibhyo 'dhiko yogī, jñānibhyo 'pi mato 'dhikaḥ karmibhyaś cādhiko yogī, tasmād yogī bhavārjuna

["The yogī who is a worshipper of the Supersoul is superior to persons engrossed in severe austerities such as the cāndrāyaṇa, superior to the worshippers of Brahman, and superior to the fruitive workers. Know this certainly to be My conclusion. Therefore, O Arjuna, be a yogī."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 6.46]

But,

yoginām api sarveṣāṁ, mad-gatenāntarātmanā
[śraddhāvān bhajate yo māṁ, sa me yuktatamo mataḥ]

["Among all types of yogīs, the most elevated of all is the devotee who has full faith in the authoritative pure devotional scriptures, and who adores Me with all their heart by hearing and singing My divine glories, rendering all services unto Me. Certainly this is My opinion."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 6.47]

na hi jñānena sadṛśaṁ, pavitram iha vidyate
tat svayaṁ yoga-saṁsiddhaḥ, kālenātmani vindati

["Among the aforementioned practices of sacrifice, austerity, and yoga, there is nothing as pure as divine knowledge. After a long time, a person who has achieved perfection in his practice on the path of selfless action realises such knowledge spontaneously within his heart."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 4.38]

So in praise of jñānam, but jñānīnām api sarveṣāṁ, mad-gatenāntarātmanā, connecting towards devotion. Then, _____ encouraging [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...fighting, but he ran towards Badarikāśrama. According to adhikāra, the position. So different departments. But at the same time it's possible - Kṛṣṇa is the advisor, He's giving the whole thing, by comparative study. So also some Ācārya may be found of such status that by this way He may begin.

Just as our Guru Mahārāja told to one Parvat Mahārāja. Parvat Mahārāja laboured hard for collection and preaching, very hard. One day Guru Mahārāja told, "I have got attention towards you. Now go on with this hard labour. Whenever I shall find that your time has come I shall give one attendant to you and ask you to take the Name of the Lord, in the retired life, I notice what is whose capacity, position; what sort of service should be recommended to whom, I have got. I'm alert on that subject. Go on doing." In this way.

According to the position, and capacity, the external engagement, form of engagement may change. And also the form of study, all these things may change. Learn this, learn that. From the same Guru in different ways it may be advised. And if not by the same Guru, then by different Guru. On the whole, Guru is He, the Lord is the Guru.

So oneness is there, and variety is also there. So, chabis Gurus here, the twenty four Gurus of the avadhūta. One thing he's learning from one person. Everywhere he's collecting some sort of instruction. Even, it is mentioned, even from a prostitute the pingala. She's waiting, some person will come to her, the whole night is awaiting, and wait, waiting. "Oh, this man - oh, didn't come; Oh, that man, goes that way. This man perhaps may come to me; that man also, took another course." In this way whole night, then completely disappointed resigned to the fate, retired, and slept a sound sleep. So thereby we shall learn that we must not be expectant to any consequence, result of anything; then we'll be always suffer from anxiety. Things will come of itself, no anxiety. This is a particular stage.

And in the case of the - in Vṛndāvana whole anxiety, in līlā. "Kṛṣṇa is not coming, we're all - in the kuñja, in the forest camp, waiting for Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa not coming, not coming."

Utkantha. That is another thing. But this is all middle class upadeśa. When resigned to that... to the fate of that jñāna śūnya bhakti, that is under the jurisdiction of Yogamāyā arrangement. Then things are not in the hand of any individual being. Yogamāyā is managing them. That is a separate thing. And this is retiring from the mundane and entering into the high transcendental.

para-svabhāva-karmāṇi, na praśaṁsen na garhayet [viśvam ekātmakaṁ paśyan, prakṛtyā puruṣeṇa ca]

[The Supreme Personality of Godhead said: "One should neither praise nor criticise the conditioned nature and activities of other persons. Rather, one should see this world as simply the combination of material nature and the enjoying souls, all based on the one Absolute Truth."]
[Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.28.1]

It is also mentioned, "Don't go to criticise the nature of others. Viśvam ekātmakaṁ paśyan, prakṛtyā puruṣeṇa ca. Consider the whole as one, and that it's engaged in līlā." But in the Vaiṣṇava school we'll be requested, advised that, līlā, that is, we must praise the Vaiṣṇava.

...

...young age, medicine will work.

Our Bishandrai [?], when he was dying, about eighty, he was a good doctor, a genius doctor. You may not know. He passed papers here, in London, high degree. When he was examined for diagnosis, one patient presented before him covered with cloth, and he was asked, "You will diagnose what is the disease."

He told, "This a case of pox, small-pox."

Then the patient removed, and the professor there he put a zero. Then when he found that in diagnosis he got zero, he challenged the professor, "Why you have given me zero?"

That professor told, "That was a case of influenza, and you told that it is a case of pox."

Bishanrai [?] told, "No! Surely it must be a case of pox. I shall offer it and show. You refer, the same patient."

Then the professor took the phone, and from the influenza ward he took the patient, he phoned there. "What is the condition of that patient? That influenza ward, I took him, took here?"

The answer came, "Sir, that is not influenza, pox has come out."

Then he wondered, the professor, "How did you know that it was a case of pox?"

"Through scent. Through scent I could recognise that it is a case of pox."

So, Bishanrai [?] was a genius. Before seeing and examining any patient, he - the naked body, generally he'll have a look, and then he diagnosed. But that _____ [?] when he was dying, heart failing, so many doctors came to help him, and told, "This is the medicine now to be applied."

Bishanrai [?] told, "Yes this is the medicine, sure. But who will use this medicine to keep my vitality, he's absent. Who will manipulate this medicine, and utilise in action, he's absent. Vitality is absent, to take the consequence of the medicine and to utilise it in that, he's absent. So he died. No person behind who will utilise this medicine to work in my favour, he's absent." So something like that.

When there's energy then medicine may work. But when the position may be such, then medicine will try to work but no foundation to stand for it, dissolved. So heart is the main thing, and to keep up the heart, the medicine is given. And none to take the medicine and utilise it in the proper way, gone. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Badrinārāyaṇa: So medicine doesn't work without proper diet.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Of course, diet creates disease. Diet problem, improper diet. Proper diet will help, but improper diet produce some anomaly, and medicine is necessary to clear that off. Govinda Mahārāja, he does not care for diet too much, much, but use medicine. But now, the age is advanced, and medicine will fail. _____ [?]

...

...everywhere, to get the desired result. This is the weapon of Mahāprabhu, bhedābheda, acintya. Nothing is definite. What is definite that is māyā, and we also cannot measure it. And we're also unable to measure māyā, this is our position. Māyā is infinite to us. And whatever is possible to come under measurement, that is māyā. Adhokṣaja, immeasurable and understandable. These characteristic we must not forget. That we have come to deal with Whom? Independent personality of sweet will. Autocrat, absolute. So, a portion we may be allowed to - by His grace, to know.

Raghunātha Dāsa Goswāmī, he had his previous Guru, then went to Mahāprabhu, neglecting him. He had something in his, within, and neglected his previous family Guru, and went to Mahāprabhu. Mahāprabhu Himself gave him shelter under Svarūpa Dāmodara. Again, not satisfied with Svarūpa Dāmodara, who holds highest position. He again comes to Mahāprabhu, "Why You have inspired me to leave the house? Why You have drawn me here? I can't ascertain. Please advice me what I'm to do."

Mahāprabhu felt a little disturbed, that, "I have given you to Svarūpa Dāmodara, crossing him you're coming to Me." He was a little disturbed. "He knows everything, more than Myself." In this way He told, remarked. "Still if you have got special regard for My words, then I in nutshell say to you,"

grāmya-kathā nā śunibe, grāmya-vārtā nā kahibe / bhāla nā khāibe āra bhāla nā paribe
amānī mānada hañā kṛṣṇa-nāma sadā la'be / vraje rādhā-kṛṣṇa-sevā mānase karibe

[Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu told Raghunātha Dāsa Goswāmī: "Don't indulge in worldly talk, don't hear worldly talk. Try your best to avoid mundane matters. Don't eat delicious dishes, but take whatever ordinary food may come of its own accord; and don't dress luxuriously. Always try to take the Name of Kṛṣṇa with the attitude of giving respect to others, without expecting respect from anyone. Be humble, but never aspire after respectful dealings from others. In this way, try to take the Name of Kṛṣṇa constantly. And within, try to serve Śrī Śrī Rādhā-Kṛṣṇa in Vṛndāvana. Mentally, be in Vṛndāvana rendering Service to Śrī Śrī Rādhā- Kṛṣṇa līlā."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Antya-līlā, 6.236-7]

These four lines He told. Again, because he crossed the dignity of Svarūpa Dāmodara, who was given as Guru to him, again He put him to the hand of Svarūpa Dāmodara. This formality Mahāprabhu observed, that Guru should not be crossed. His dignity should not be crossed or neglected in any way. Again He put him in the hand of Svarūpa Dāmodara. "You have come out from your shelter to Me, what is not according to the spiritual formality." It shows like that, again He's putting to Svarūpa Dāmodara. And he lived there so many years, amongst the eternal parṣada of - with Mahāprabhu. Then, after the departure of all of them, mainly, went to Vṛndāvana. There again he found Guru, Rūpa, Sanātana. He's writing in such a way, that as if he's begun his life there.

vairāgya-yug bhakti-rasaṁ prayatnair, apāyayam mām anabhipsum andham
kṛpāmbudhir yaḥ para-duḥkha-dukhī, sanātanaṁ taṁ prabhum āśrayāmi

["I surrender unto Śrī Sanātana Goswāmī, the Ācārya of sambandha-jñāna. He is an ocean of mercy and is always unhappy to see the sufferings of others. Although I was blind, in the darkness of ignorance, he gave me the light of transcendental knowledge. He taught me the real meaning of detachment and made me drink the highest nectarine rasa of divine love."] [Vilāpa-kuṣumāñjali, 6] & [Bhāgavatam, 5.18.12, purport]

"I bow down, my obeisances to Sanātana, who behaved with me in such a way, affectionate way. How?
Vairāgya-yug bhakti-rasaṁ."

Raghunātha Dāsa showed his abnegation, this vairāgya, to the extreme here. Even the prasāda most rotten, washing, only the internal things with some salt he used to take.

And Mahāprabhu went to forcibly take that. "Oh, such sweet prasāda, I have never tasted in my life! Raghunātha, you have got so much faith in the prasāda of Jagannātha, what the cows also reject, rotten things can't eat, and you take that prasāda, and washing that rotten portion from within, with adding some salt you take. So much deep faith in prasāda. Sweetest food, I never tasted such."

Such was the vairāgya, still he says, "Sanātana Goswāmī taught me what is vairāgya. Vairāgya-yug bhakti-rasaṁ. The spiritual juice of devotion, he made me swallow forcibly, and I won't take it, anabhipsum andham, because I'm blind. I'm blind and unwilling, and forcibly he devoured me, what is vairāgya-yug bhakti-rasaṁ. Bhakti-rasa, means very caution, very similar to this mundane kāma; so do with caution. Just as medicine applied with some other anupam, so, vairāgya-yug bhakti-rasaṁ prayatnair, apāyayam mām anabhipsum andham. Unwilling and blind, and forcibly he made me swallow that medicine like diet. Kṛpāmbudhir. Ocean of mercy, ocean of grace. Para-duḥkha-dukhī. Always feeling for the others pain."

Such is his praise, song of admiration of Sanātana. Again for Rūpa Goswāmī, adananas taniyam dante dam yati punah punah [?] "Holding the grass between my teeth, dam yati punah punah [?], times unlimited I beg to Rūpa Goswāmī. srimad rupa dhan bolisyan [?] He may consider me the dust of his feet. dante dam yati punah punah. Repeatedly, unlimited times, I want to offer myself to become a dust of the feet of Śrī Rūpa Goswāmī."

After leaving the association of Mahāprabhu's direct followers, he went to Vṛndāvana and found Guru in such way. What is this? Mahāprabhu Himself advised him. Mahāprabhu Himself selected one Guru of the highest order, Svarūpa Dāmodara. They are but mañjarī rank. And Svarūpa Dāmodara Lalitā Sakhī. But from there he went to Vṛndāvana, and there he found Gurudeva. So, the fun play of infinite. The absolute, the plane of the absolute, will come to measure and record that, this is this; without a fool.

Still for our purpose, as we're endowed with limited resources, some sort of limited sign, symptoms should be posted to direct towards that direction. Some calculation, some limitation. Some limitation on the unlimited. Some sign to the unsignable, to be posted, light house in the infinite ocean, light house, something, to help, that is given for us.

So the absolute, here they say the absolute have got different infinite number of aspects. And He's expressing Himself in particular place, particular quality, through particular direction. And one who wants to extend his understanding, he will try to learn from every nook and corner of the absolute. Everything new, nothing can become old. Nava navayamam, everything is new. If we have got eye, vision deeper, deeper vision; new, new, newer things are coming, unlimited, infinite.

So, as the star in the infinite sky, or light in the ocean, the beacon light, the light house, then by taking the direction from them we're to go on in the infinite. The position is there. We may be lost to understand; so sometimes Ācārya, the teachers are sent to organise them. "This is karma-kāṇḍa, this is jñāna-kāṇḍa, this is yoga, there are so many differences of yoga. In the karma-kāṇḍa, Manu, Atri, Vasiṣṭha, so many variety." Something common, something different. Nothing particularly congruent.

puta tishta dasam godam [?] Yaśodā is tying, going to tie Kṛṣṇa, but only two ounce difference, short. Again adding something, some rope, again when going to finish, same two finger short, shortage. Such is the nature. And we're going to measure Him, to put Him in the cage of our brain?

Adjustment, as far as possible. So, Guru, śikṣā Guru. And more extended, everywhere there is Guru. As generally I say. To enter into the domain of Vaikuṇṭha and Goloka, all Guru, myself the only servant. I'm travelling over the plane which is Guru. Over head Guru, on all sides Guru; all respectable things.

vaikuṇṭhera pṛthivy ādi sakala cinmaya, [māyika bhūtera tathi janma nāhi haya]

["The earth, water, fire, air and ether of Vaikuṇṭha are all spiritual. Material elements are not found there."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Ādi-līlā, 5.53]

And we also, if we try to advance step by step: Brahmaloka, ākṣara, kṣaraḥ, then above that Vaikuṇṭha begins, Śivaloka, Vaikuṇṭha. And cinmaya, the soil is consciousness. Consciousness of higher type than I myself is made, come up. So, to enter and to walk there, and to do duty, that is all, to wander over the Guru, on all sides Guru, all Guru. So, not to go by the leg, but to go by the head. To walk by the head, that is what is necessary, inconceivable. Inconceivable but it is the fact. So, only our serving attitude, that is the value. "I shall render some service to their satisfaction." That is only our capital. So we must always be very much anxiously cautious about the serving necessity value in me, otherwise everything is disappointed. Sevonmukhe hi jihvādau.

[ataḥ śrī-kṛṣṇa-nāmādi na bhaved grāhyam indriyaiḥ
sevonmukhe hi jihvādau svayam eva sphuraty adaḥ]

["Because the name of Kṛṣṇa is identical with Kṛṣṇa Himself, and on the absolute spiritual platform, Kṛṣṇa's name, form, qualities, and associates, cannot be appreciated by the material senses. However, when one engages the tongue in chanting the Holy Names of the Lord and tasting the remnants of the Lord's food, Kṛṣṇa gradually reveals Himself to the purified senses of that devotee."]

[Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, Pūrva-vibhāga, 2.234]

The dedication, the satisfaction, seeking the satisfaction of the entity there. Generally for all, and particularly for Kṛṣṇa or His favourite.

...

Devotee: If Guru or Kṛṣṇa doesn't - if we feel They don't want to accept our service...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Guru, Kṛṣṇa is Guru in different form.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Guru Mahārāja. "Therefore I can see that Hṛdayānanda Mahārāja has made siddhānta viroda here."

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I'm to read it, or understanding it very carefully, before I say that.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: He wants to say that, "One must have only one Guru."

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Only one Guru - then some who could not get mantra from Swāmī Mahārāja, they're going giving mantram, or they'll stop there? Then?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: His plea. Viśvanātha says that this nirviśeṣa, saviśeṣa, ved _____ [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Not only nirviśeṣa, saviśeṣa, but in every department. Only in general nirviśeṣa, saviśeṣa. One may not enter nirviśeṣa at all. Jñāna śūnya bhakti. "Eho bāhya āge kaha āra." [Caitanya- caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 8.59] He may not have any connection with nirviśeṣa department. Straight, eliminating nirviśeṣa going to saviśeṣa, it is possible.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yes. But using the statement of Viśvanātha.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Not only nirviśeṣa, there is Buddhistic school, they have no recognition of any reality, even nirviśeṣa, nothing. So various conceptions there are; nirviśeṣa, saviśeṣa. And also Śyāmānanda, from sākhya rasa transferred into mādhurya rasa. How he will account for _____ [?]

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Because Viśvanātha is only given so far in the commentary. He did not mentioned...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then I can say that I shall have to scrutinise what Viśvanātha has said. Then I can give my opinion. Very patiently I shall have to read it through scrutinisingly; then I may give my opinion. Some time I shall do. You keep it ready.

Badrinārāyaṇa: Maybe when Govinda Mahārāja comes he can shed some light on it.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, let him come. Or with the help of Nimāi, or some, but the slow reading, slow and correct reading. Because my mind is now weak, my brain is weak now. So, patiently I shall have to examine.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: But from what you told this morning, I'm able to understand it, quite clearly. What you have told I've been able to understand it now. Because I also read his English book, although I don't have a copy here, but I'll procure it.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Have you got a copy of Search For Śrī Kṛṣṇa? You must have a copy there in the land, you've got?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Of course.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And Anurādhā must have one copy.

Anurādhā: _____ [?] took my one.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Took yours?

Badrinārāyaṇa: Yes. We gave it to him, he did not have a copy.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Oh. So you must keep a copy with you. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Badrinārāyaṇa: Mahārāja. How did Śyāmānanda change from sākhya to mādhurya?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The special dispensation of the Absolute. Śyāmānanda was initiated in sākhya rasa, from Hṛday Chaitanya in Kalna. In particular occasion, some dead body came there, some topics there, I forget. Anyhow when he went to Vṛndāvana, he was, as far as I remember, Śyāmānanda from Nandagram he was going towards Khadiravan perhaps. In early morning, very early morning, taking the Name of Kṛṣṇa, from Nandagram he's going eastward towards Khadiravan, Lokanātha Goswāmī's place.

Then, suddenly found one... perhaps golden nupur, what is that? Anklet, leg ornament, in this side, over the side, on the way. And he took it in his uttariya or any place put it, and going. And with the touch of that nupura, that leg ornament, he felt ecstatic joy within, and great energy for Hari Nāma. And he's looking back towards the place. After sometime he saw one lady, one girl of exquisite beauty, she's searching there. Then he came back. "What are you searching?" he put.

"My Mistress has lost one nupur somewhere here, so I have come to collect it."

"I have got it. I have collected it." He gave it.

She put it on his forehead, and disappeared.

Touched that nupur on his forehead, and there was one tilak mark, permanent, it was, he can't rub it, efface it. And he felt his tendency towards the service under the guidance of those girls. From friend circle his mental conversion came automatically, towards mādhurya rasa, he felt.

And he consulted Jīva Goswāmī. "This is the case, what to do? Irresistibly I feel within that I must serve Kṛṣṇa under the direction of these divine damsels. I feel, that sort of service. Though I got previously from my Gurudeva, admission, and I'm trying to cultivate that in sākhya rasa, friendly circle."

Jīva Goswāmī told, "You have got such wonderful grace from the upper class, and you may take initiation in this form from me." And yes, Śyāmānanda took further initiation from Jīva Goswāmī.

But this act was not concealed. Gradually it was expressed, came to the public. And his previous Guru came to know that Jīva Goswāmī has again initiated his disciple. He called the assembly in Vṛndāvana, "That this Goswāmī has done wrong. He has enticed my disciple and this is against Vaiṣṇava fashion, etiquette."

As Rāmeśvara came to charge me.

Devotees: No comparison.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then there was a meeting, and they called for Jīva Goswāmī to give explanation for this discourteous activity. Jīva Goswāmī did not go, he sent Śyāmānanda. "Go and explain your position."

Śyāmānanda went there, and he stated, "This is the fact which forced me to change my course of life."

But many of them there, did not believe in that statement.

Then Śyāmānanda told that, "I got the sign, this nupur tilak on my forehead. If you do not believe you efface this."

They tried but failed. Then they gave recognition. "Yes, it is possible."

And that arrangement was also made - Rādhārāṇī, internally, previously asked Subal, through Subal, he communicated, "One of your servitors, I'm taking within My camp."

Amongst the leaders, there was some understanding - the transformation.

So, it is also possible, by special interference of the will of those high officials, or Kṛṣṇa Himself. It is possible. So acintya bhedābheda. "I'm everywhere, I'm nowhere. Everything in Me, nothing in Me. Try to understand this peculiar wonderful adjustment. With Me, everything with Me. Try to follow." Acintya bhedābheda. So, _____ [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Once Gandhi, he started non cooperation movement, but this Motilal, the father of Jawaharlal [Pandit Nehru], and C.R.Das etc, when that movement came to a lull, they evolved some other way, responsive cooperation. "We shall enter the assembly, all these things, and capture the local bodies. And whatever the British has given us, self-government, we shall capture that, again continue fight. That policy."

But Gandhi told that, "I have no hope in that. As you like you may do, you may try; but you won't be able to snatch anything from the British in that way."

They tried for few years, but they could not move the British from their position, any more. Then they again went to Gandhi. "He will form some way to fight with the British." Then when the whole burden was given to his head, he accepted that and he began to think, what policy, what method of fight he will begin. Of course all ahiṁsā, non violent.

Then one day Rabindranath saw him. "The country, the congress, has given you the charge of leadership to lead the congress in a particular way so that the British may be compelled to give our desire. Then what do you do about that?"

Gandhi told, "I'm thinking furiously."

Then, a man like Rabindranath he pronounced this word, "He's thinking furiously," in a taunting tone. But when the result came, of the thinking of Gandhi, that showed that really it was a furious thinking. He began that salt, civil disobedience. Asked the then Viceroy, perhaps Irwin, that, "The salt is necessary for all, so you abolish the salt tax. For the poorest of the poor, they also want salt, and you should not put any tax over the only source of the poor. You withdraw."

But for the prestige, he could not do. Then Gandhi told, "I want to disobey the salt act."

Only with about seventy from his āśrama, peacefully they're marching towards salt producing area in Ahmada [?], that Dandi march. When they're walking, they're going that place by walking, and very smilingly and encouragingly they're going. Then they began that activity, began to prepare salt for themselves, and to give, distribute it.

The government ignored in the beginning, but could not. So many, every type, in Bengal, everywhere, this movement began. Everyone goes to the sea shore, and they can produce salt and use that and distribute to the market. Government could not stand idle, they came to oppose. And thereby the fight began. They won't withdraw from that campaign, and they are to punish, whipping, then hammer used to break the fist, in this way. Then the fire came out in the whole of India. So that Irwin had to make proposal with Gandhi for peace, for round table conference. So round table conference was to take place in London. And then something was given, but that was not desirable for them. Again Gandhi came and began civil disobedience. But the movement lulled, so he had to wait. He went to the jail, then came out, so many things offered. Then a strong Viceroy, Wellington, was sent here, and Gandhi put to jail for two years. _____ [?]

"So I'm thinking furiously." Civil thinking also may have furious colour.

So Mahāprabhu searching, searching for Kṛṣṇa was done furiously. There is a thorn in Purī, so that peculiar thorny plants, running through the thorny plants. Kṛṣṇa gan. One deva dasī is singing about Kṛṣṇa, and He was so much captured by the tune. "He's running through the thorny area, Govinda catching Him." So furious search for Kṛṣṇa, without any care for the body, or for the circumstance, or environment. Searching, furious search, wholesale search, absolute search. That when the Absolute is engaged for His Own search, that is Absolute search. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol.

Badrinārāyaṇa: Absolute search for the Absolute.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He Himself is charmed by His own beauty. He's directed towards Him, with open eye of a devotee, He's looking at Him. He's becoming mad Himself. Then what sort of charm is there? And how unfortunate we are, not even a small drop for us. Hare Kṛṣṇa. The charm, the beauty, sundaram, ānandam, harmony.

The ānanda śabda has been translated by Martineau as reality the beautiful. Ānanda, a synonym of ānanda, sat, cit, ānanda, that ānanda has been translated by Martineau, a philosopher, as reality the beautiful, sundaram. Sundar is ānanda, beauty is bliss. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

And that beauty is love also; the appreciation of beauty proper is love. Love is the most attractive substance in the world, and beauty also same, similar. Most attractive, most satisfaction giving. No knowledge, no justice, no power, all like rubbish. In comparison, the power seeking, the knowledge seeking, that is all rubbish, tasteless; when love has come in comparison to them. They are hooted out, the love, the power. What is power? What is justice? Knowing, who is the judge? What is the benefit, that we shall judge, what is good and bad? Do you know, what is good and bad? You will give judgement. When love enters the area, everything is paralysed. All paralysed when that love and beauty enters. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Mahaprabhu came with that thing, prema, love. Try to acquire a drop of divine love. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Prema, divine.

Devotee: Mahārāja. If we feel that Kṛṣṇa does not want to accept our service, then what should we do?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ha, ha. What do you do in other cases? Suppose I'm a patient, I'm trying so many treatments, but I can't recover. What should we do?

Devotee: Keep trying.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Keep trying. To select a better doctor. We won't leave it, but we shall seek and seek, search and search, for better medicine, proper medicine and better doctor. That's natural.

vishayi ya priti _____ carane tomar [?] What interest we have got in this mundane wealth, similar interest we may have for Him. We're already wakeful to the interest of this mundane world. And we're after that, searching after that. That may be applied in His case also. Untiring inquiry, how I can get back my health. I can't stop it, I generally do not stop it, to recover my health. And the real health is there, to get that real health. Back to God, back to home. To get that health of that membership of that home, we shall try to get back. This vyādhi, jarā-vyādhi, we're attacked by the mania of enjoyment, and salvation. That must be, that is the disease, and that we must save us from all these inner inclinations, and to have proper inclination of life, the aim of life, duty of life eternal.

When a boy's trying to walk, he's falling on the ground, again he gets up and again begins. So no end of trying, it is not avoidable problem, always the standing problem eternal, and most comprehensive. We can't avoid it, anyhow we must try. By hook or by crook, anyway, we can't but try for our best benefit. We only understand that is the best benefit.

So automatically everything will come. Just as at present we consider our health is unavoidably necessary. So I shall have to try my best to keep up my health. That interest must be transferred there, when we'll understand that how useful for my inner eternal life He is.

The oxygen is necessary for the body, so we must place ourselves where oxygen is sufficient. So, we want a thing from a particular plane, and those that are connected with that plane, we must associate with them. Different layers, different plane. So there's a layer of devotion, and I have got also within that, cover within, innate layer. And if we want to improve that layer, strengthen, then I must connect the same layer where it can be found: through the books, instructions, and association of the sādhu, where he's connected with that layer, that plane. Bhaktyā sañjātayā bhaktyā.

In this way, by their devotion to the principles of bhakti yoga, the devotees please the Personality of Godhead, who takes away from them everything inauspicious. Being purified of all impediments, the devotees awaken to pure love of Godhead, and thus, even within this world, their spiritualised bodies exhibit symptoms of transcendental ecstasy, such as standing of the bodily hairs on end."]
[Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.3.31]

Bhakti, devotion can be improved only with the help of devotion; nothing else. Nothing can be transformed into devotion. Devotion is independent. Only devotion can give devotion, devotion can increase devotion, enhance devotion. Where is that devotion? Devotion is at the heart of the devotee. Ke?

Devotee: _____ [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Means dedication, that is the most fundamental layer of the universe. And we have got also inside, in our fundamental existence, in our fundamental position of our heart, there is bhakti. Fundamental element is devotion. So devotion can be improved by devotion, association with the devotee. That - not anything, this karma, that energy, or knowledge can be transformed into devotion. It is an independent thing. We're to understand like that. It is most elementary substance, not combined by, not produced by the combination of other things, it is original substance. Smodhik [?] Devotion, the most fundamental, is devotion, dedication. Everything is existing on dedication, and that is the most holy, and substantial thing. Durability, sat, cit, ānanda, three grand qualifications are there.

It maintains the very existence. Without that no existence is possible. Dedication, dynamic character of the every part for the whole. Every constituent part is dedicating its energy for the whole. In this way the whole is maintained. That is bhakti, dedicating energy, dedicating atom, and that is the fundamental thing everywhere. All others are outcome like cover. That is substance, that is bliss, that is fulfilment, everything is there, in dedication.

And exploitation is the heinous cover, opposite cover, exploitation. And renunciation is like zero, no effect. Renunciation is like zero, not effective. Only it has got some value when withdrawn from exploitation. Exploitation the negative side of the world, and of every unit exploitation, shosham [?]. That is the most undesirable thing found. And renunciation, to give up that exploitation, withdrawal from the negative side.

And real life is in dedication. We can find peace, bliss, fulfilment, only in dedication. And dedication is devotion, means bhakti. Bhajan means that, not few formal practices. It is the way, vibration, and the play, or the most fundamental element of the world. Ha, ha. We must try to understand that. That is not produced by anything. Everything rather exists on relativity, negative relativity, exploitation, perverted reflection. But that that is the original aspect of the existence, dedication - substantial, and that is true. And this is temporary, and so false - exploitation. Now the present civilisation is mad with exploitation. They think that as much as they can exploit they hold better position. But that is not only false, but reactionary. So, we must be cautious of the contamination of the present civilisation, which is all exploiting nature.

....that aspect we must take the help from that plane. If golden part is to be enhanced we must approach the gold mine. Iron necessary we must go to the iron mine. If we want water we must go to the water. Devotion, dedication, its generalised conception of devotion is dedication. And that is divinity, and that is civilisation proper. And the Indian varṇāśrama based on that. The ultimate aim is dedication, but they have modified the activities in different way, connecting with that dedication.

varṇāśramācāravatā puruṣeṇa paraḥ pumān, viṣṇur ārādhyate panthā nānyat tat-toṣa-kāraṇam

["The only way to please the Supreme Personality of Godhead, Lord Viṣṇu, is to worship Him by properly executing one's prescribed duties in the social system of varṇa and āśrama."]
[Viṣṇu Purāṇa, 3.8.9]

Rāmānanda quotes from Viṣṇu Purāṇa. The formalities of varṇāśrama, which is meant ultimately to give our connection with devotion to Viṣṇu. Yaḥ idaṁ viṣṇuḥ vyāpnotīti. All-pervading spirit, Viṣṇu. Dissolution for Him. Die to live; that Hegel's words. Die to live, inspiring, life giving, hope giving, die to live, don't be miser. Don't be miser, don't be traitor to your own self. Have courage and try to die as you are at present. The inner golden self will come out. Jump into the fire of sacrifice. Yajña means sacrifice, self giving. Don't be afraid that you will lose everything. Jump into the fire, and the unnecessary substance will be finished to ashes. And what cannot be burned by the fire, that will come out, remain. So, die to live.

And reality for Himself. Know that. The whole world only not meant to satisfy you. You're a point in the world. Self centring, to be self centred, that is to be traitor to one's own self. Distribute yourself for the whole, and you'll find a new life there eternal, peace. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Devotees: _____ [?]

Vidagdha Mādhava: Guru Mahārāja. Is everything, all the actions and reactions in this world, is there the possibility of injustice where one jīva can do something to another jīva, and that will be an injustice? Or is it just a reaction for some past...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: From absolute stand point nothing is injustice, and from the relative position there is injustice and reaction. From the absolute stand point everything is līlā. And you must have to attain that consciousness, then you'll be relieved of all those misgivings. When the self-interest ego will be dissolved completely, then everything is all right. And that is possible only in the case of life of dedication. Dedication in its final stage, will find the full harmony everywhere.

Suppose in the army, the general asks in a particular group, advance, they're sure to death. Whereas in the first batch the victory is long, in the back side, victory. But when the first batch is jumping into the war field, battlefield, they will think, 'The injustice towards us. After the war is finished they'll rejoice, and we're giving the life.' The first batch of this army, they'll think, 'It is injustice to us. Why we shall go first? Why not the others?' From the partial interest it will be seen injustice; but there is no room in the unity. They will have to think that die to live for the nation's, cause, we must approach first: otherwise everyone will say, "Why I shall go?" So, die to live, they're giving their life, forever they're gone, but in the nation's history they have got a portion. History, they will occupy a glorious portion. Otherwise unity cannot stand. "Why we should go first on the war field, battlefield." Then the marshal law is there. They will be finished. Disobey will be dealt with capital punishment. Die to live. A living army cannot do so, but a diseased army, there may be some revolt. ""Why the Sikhs will go first and not the Jats [?]" Just as government has not constructed any Bengali regiment, because in the first great war the Bengali regiment revolted against the commander. So Bengali soldiers they are put into different groups: amongst the Jats [?], amongst the Sikhs, amongst the Gurkha, not an independent, because revolted once. The punishment still continuing, though the country is independent.

So death to this material life it is not the be-all and end-all of everything. They will live in the history, life after death. It is material example. But in the spiritual world no _____ [?] is possible, everything is eternal, so there is no question of such dark future. But those that will sacrifice, they'll be rewarded with remuneration which is nothing but love.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. So we must understand that devotion can increase devotion, nothing else. Then we're to find out where is that devotion, and what type of devotion. Devotion also, there is sādhana-bhakti, bhāva-bhakti, prema-bhakti, viddhi-bhakti, rāga-bhakti, so many classes in devotion. So we're to find out...

Just as a part of your television lost, and you're wandering throughout the length and breath of India, and you don't get that part to repair it. So a similar place is necessary, market to repair it.

So devotion is not found anywhere and everywhere. You must have to go where the devotion is, and anyhow to get help from there. Where is that devotion? This rāga-bhakti, viddhi-bhakti, this bhakti, that bhakti. Hare Kṛṣṇa. When to associate - that association is also not with the temperament of exploitation or renunciation, only with dedicating mentality that we can come to the higher things.

tad viddhi praṇipātena, paripraśnena sevayā [upadekṣyanti te jñānaṁ, jñāninas tattva darśinaḥ]

["You will be able to attain all this knowledge by satisfying the enlightened spiritual master with prostrate obeisances, relevant enquiry, and sincere service. Great souls who are most expert in scriptural knowledge and endowed with direct realisation of the Supreme Absolute Truth will teach you that divine knowledge."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 4.34]

If at all we want, we hanker for the association of the higher existence: where is God? Where is Brahma? Where is Paramātmā? Only mentioned in the books we find, but we can't see, we can't feel, "Yes, it is there, if you like you must go there."

I want to see Kanchenjunga, or Mount Everest, is it possible to see from here? I must have to approach this man, how to go? You will go by: first, train, then by this, and that, and then go.

So, tad viddhi praṇipātena, paripraśnena sevayā. How we can go there? First, praṇipāt, surrender; paripraśna, honest enquiry; and sevā, all important factor, to serve Him. Not to capture Him and take here, and make, engage the God for my service, or for the service of my family, or country, or anywhere. It is not the object of that. Is the highest order substance, He has got His dignity, His efficiency, everything. If I like to serve Him, then I can try to meet Him, He won't come to serve me.

The king won't come to serve me. If I have got necessity for him, then I must go there; to satisfy his whim, to obey him. Otherwise I won't be allowed any interview there. Entrance is far off. No interview will be possible.

If I want that I shall get a God, in my pocket, and use Him to serve my mundane purpose, that is suicidal thinking, no meaning, rather bad reaction. God is God, He's all perfect, and He's absolute. And if we're to get Him then we must go to Him. We must go to mountain to see, mountain won't come to see me, to be shown to me. He's there. Such necessity, I must go, abiding by the rules that are necessary to go there. Praṅipāta, paripraśna, sevā. Such attitude is necessary to go to Him, we'll be able to go. Anyone qualified with such attitude may go, and find Him, He's there. How is He. Śābde pare ca niṣṇātam.

[tasmād guruṁ prapadyeta, jijñāsuḥ śreyaḥ uttamam
śabde pare ca niṣṇātaṁ, brahmaṇy upaśamāśrayam]

["Therefore any person who seriously desires real happiness must seek a bona fide spiritual master and take shelter of him by initiation. The qualification of the bona fide guru is that he has realised the conclusions of the scriptures by deliberation and is able to convince others of those conclusions. Such great personalities, who have taken shelter of the Supreme Godhead, leaving aside all material considerations, should be understood to be bona fide spiritual masters."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.3.21]

He's super-subjective. We cannot find even our own self. Even we can not trace what is mind within us! What is the capacity of the eye, the ear; that also we do not know finally. They're working with me: my eyes, ears, all these, tongue. Then the mind is within, the impulse, our propensity, our desire to get something and to dismiss something. And the faculty of judgement is within: the buddhi to reason "this is good, this is bad"; within us. We cannot finally get touch of that fine element. And then above there is soul proper. And then the Super-soul. And then the source of all souls. Just as the earth is the source of so many dusts. Just as the sun, source of so many rays, light. So it is there, from which some little knowledge peeps in this world, and shows so many miracles.

The Einstein, the Newton, they've come with very small acquaintance of that universal knowledge world. And He's beyond knowledge. They're discovering this thing, that thing, but that is already there, no credit. They're discovering - Newton, Einstein their invention, discovery, but not creating. Whatever they're discovering that is already there, so many wonders. So many wonderful things already there. The scientists they're only taking out from the unknown to known, to this particular section, but already they're there.

And many, many other wonderful things are there, in the universal mind. Or in the universal intelligence, the plane of intelligence universal, the plane of soul universal. In this way the gradation is going up, higher and higher. As in the objective world, the earth, the water, the air, the water, the heat, the earth, the stone; so many developed things of the objective world. So in the subjective world are differentiation of different type, subjective world. Soul, Supersoul...

Mrtya _____ [?] is the name of Mahādeva, who has conquered death. Death has died, and He's free, no death. In the plane of Mrtya _____ [?] Mahādeva is independent of this material energy. Hare Kṛṣṇa.
Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari bol.

Sambandha yoginam tadvinam yoginam mandinam [?] That day is fruitless, non-producing, non- productive, in which we do not talk, we do not cultivate about the Supreme Being, my Lord. No consultation about our Lord, we forget our own Lord, Who is be-all and end-all, all in our life - our Lord. The Lord of Lords. When we forget Him, that day is non-productive.
Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol.

avismṛtiḥ kṛṣṇa-padāravindayoḥ, kṣiṇoty abhadrāṇi ca śaṁ tanoti sattvasya śuddhiṁ paramātma-bhaktiṁ, jñānaṁ ca vijñāna-virāgya-yuktam

["For one who remembers the lotus feet of Kṛṣṇa, all inauspiciousness soon disappears, and one's good fortune expands. In other words, one becomes free from all material contamination, one attains liberation from repeated birth and death, and one's real spiritual life begins. As one's heart becomes gradually purified, one's devotion for the Lord within the heart awakens, and one realises the Paramātmā. Thus one gradually develops knowledge (jñāna), realisation (vijñāna), and renunciation (vairāgya)."]
[Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 12.12.55]

Avismṛtiḥ kṛṣṇa-padāravindayoḥ. Not to forget, un-forgetfulness about the lotus feet of divine Kṛṣṇa. Kṣiṇoty abhadrāṇi. That continuance of that memory, continuous memory of Kṛṣṇa, that will diminish, and destroy, abhadrāṇi, the ungentle, undesirable things, dirty things in you. All are dirts, without Kṛṣṇa consciousness, without the consciousness of the divinity, these mundane things are all dirts. The dirts should be removed. The dirts should be destroyed by the continuance of the Kṛṣṇa consciousness. Avismṛtiḥ kṛṣṇa- padāravindayoḥ, kṣiṇoty abhadrāṇi ca śaṁ tanoti. And it extends within us, develops within us, śaṁ maṅgalam, welfare. It produces and from within, the real welfare within us, the goodness within us. And the dirts are brushed out, śaṁ tanoti.

Sattvasya śuddhiṁ paramātma-bhaktiṁ. Your very existence is purified. The alloy is eliminated from your ego. You means your ego, your self-conception, conception about your self; that is full of alloy. The alloy will be destroyed by the continued God consciousness. Paramātmā. And gradually you'll find the God within you, Paramātmā. You are jīvātmā - who are you proper, and who is Paramātmā, backing you, supporting you from above, you'll be able to understand, feel within. Paramātmā.

Jñānaṁ ca vijñāna-virāgya-yuktam. And you'll find a peculiar type of knowledge, conception of God conception, which will show to you vijñāna. Both the Lord and His potency, vijñāna. Śaktisa, different potency, and the owner of the potency, and virāga. Virāga, two fold: the attraction, non-attraction to the dirty world, mundane; and proper attraction towards the truth. That you'll feel within you such development. Go on, continued God consciousness, and that will take you to the desired position, back to home. How sweet your home? You'll be able, go on continuing God consciousness. Anyhow try to maintain God consciousness. And that will - unalloyed, the alloy will be destroyed, and your purified self will come out from the fire, and you'll find everything. It is not any blind thing, but the faith will not be blind only, but vijñāna-virāgya-yuktam. Jñāna, vijñāna, the knowledge of the thing, and the knowledge of different parts, potencies also of the thing; you'll be able. Details, you'll be able, it will be clear in your heart. It is not a domain only, faith means only blind emotion, don't think it to be so. Not a domain of blind emotion, but there is proper knowledge, understanding. The land of proper understanding with the main thing, with the central truth, and also so many potencies also, which is controlled by the Lord. Such position you'll be able to acquire. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Jñānaṁ ca vijñāna-virāgya-yuktam.

Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. So, dive deep into God consciousness. It is the key to the highest success of life. And that is so sweet that is like home, not a foreign land. That you'll take so much risk to go some unknown place, and how there we'll be dealt with? No such apprehension, such suspicious questions. As much as you'll be able to make progress that side, you'll find so sweetness, so home, home like comfort and confidence you'll get there. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol.

Now the weather is little fair for you to go back. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol.

Gadādhara prabhu gone. Young man, not old like, they're afraid of the weather. He's come back this evening. Gaura Hari bol.

Badrinārāyaṇa: He's also very enthusiastic.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Very enthusiastic, very forbearing, a diligent man. Does not care even for the uneasiness, the disease, the _____ [?] Ashok [?] If the body is not well, still he'll go on working. Even with fever he goes on working, I'm told. Does not care the fever also, temperature. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Devotee: And Mahānanda is well, he's doing very nicely.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Mahānanda. He has got a very good attendant, friend and attendant in him, very encouraging. And he's very satisfied also in that position of his duty, energetic, and he's going on.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Ha, ha. Aggressive type, Dayādhara, he caught a lawyer there and he won't allow him any time. "Don't you see so many clients are standing in the line? And you have come to talk with me. How it is possible for me to spare any time to talk this idle talk about religion?" He won't spare. Anyhow he made him to hear something, and that Search for Śrī Kṛṣṇa, after reading few pages, then he said, ordered his secretary, "Pay fifty dollars to this gentleman."

Badrinārāyaṇa: "Write him a cheque." He read the part about Kṛṣṇa stealing. He was a criminal lawyer, and he read the part about Kṛṣṇa stealing butter. Then he was attracted.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Stealing butter. Then, why he did not concoct a case against Kṛṣṇa?

Devotees: (Group laughter)

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You have come to introduce the stealing of God, then all will be thieves here.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yes. He's teaching adharma.

Sridhara Maharaja: "That your God also is a thief, and you have come to preach that God also is a thief, so go on thieving, stealing."

Badrinārāyaṇa: The opposite thing was created, the opposite reaction was created.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: One gentleman told, "Because God is a thief, so we have got some hope." One gentleman. I was a college student, I went to hear the lecture of Abhimanda Kodadhara Goswāmī [?] someone. He told, explained that, "Because Kṛṣṇa is thief, so we have got some hope. We have given such a fence, fencing, good fencing on all sides of us, that no good things can enter. But because the thief - we lock and we've got boundary wall, and so many opposition, opposing things that no thief can enter. Still thief he will come of his own interest. So we've also tried our best to construct boundary line all sides, that no God consciousness can enter. But as a thief He will enter, and that is our solace. That one day He enters as a thief into our heart, then we can have some hope. Otherwise consciously we won't invite Him to come in my heart. Only thief-God is our solace, one day He may stealthily enter into my heart and capture. Let God be thief." Ha, ha.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. And that is also above justice, when stealthily goodness comes.

There was one Mohammedan, charitable person here in Hooghly, his name was Hajid Mohamed Moushin [?] He was a bachelor, and he was owner of a big property, rich man. He used to help all that come to him for any begging purpose. But there was some family who were suffering from poverty, but can't approach anyone for their help. He noted their names, and at night, while passing, some money he threw stealthily. We have heard, that Mohammedan gentleman. In Hooghly, there is a big mosque commemorated in his name, that Hajid Mohamed Mousin [?] Stealthily he made charity.

So stealthily, if money comes stealthily it is not undesirable. If Kṛṣṇa comes stealthily in our heart, how it is, so above justice, in the plane of mercy. All these dealings above the plane of justice, and in the land of mercy, and affection, and love. These things possible. The good enters stealthily to the undesirable party, and makes him good.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari Nitāi. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol.

Ṛṣabhadeva is leaving our company, eh? But how cruel you are; if we say. Ha, ha. If we say you're very cruel, then, what will be your answer? "No, no. I'm coming back."

Devotees: (Group laughter)

Ṛṣabhadeva: But if you gave me some little something to do, then the connection would be there.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Akṣayānanda Mahārāja is there. I'm an old man and he's still young to look after the interest of Kṛṣṇa more than myself.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol.

Matter has come to exploit us. What is the gain, what is the loss? Action, consciousness, that the _____ [?]
Swāmī Mahārāja gave an example. One has got eyes but he's crippled, and another has got his legs but he's blind, so both combined. Matter has got no feeling, but the man has got feeling. Man is the party, matter, machine is non-party.

kārya-kāraṇa-kartṛtve, hetuḥ prakṛtir ucyate
puruṣaḥ sukha-duḥkhānāṁ, bhoktṛtve hetur ucyate

["Material nature has been delineated as responsible for the cause of the domineering force of the senses, and the effect as the material body; and the (conditioned) soul himself is known to be responsible for his accrued happiness and unhappiness."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 13.21]

Who has the importance, the feeler or the felt? The criterion of happiness is confined in the feeler. When the happiness is necessary, happiness is possible only in the subjective existence. And avoiding this material engagement he may feel more happiness. Ātmārāmā, he may be self-satisfied. Now entangled into that non-joy substance, non-happy substance, but seeks to become self-established, ātmārāmā. Who is established in his own self, not outside, he feels more enjoyment, than when he was handling machines in matter. Ātmārāmā. Even they, they're the standard, even they find more happiness when comes in contact with super ātmā. In this way the existence of the higher ātmā is being, is going to be established.

kurvanty ahaitukīṁ bhaktim, [ittham-bhūta guṇo hariḥ]

["Those sages who, being merged in the bliss of the spirit soul, are totally free from the binding knot of mental images - they too engage in the unmotivated service of Śrī Kṛṣṇa, the performer of marvellous deeds. This is but one of the qualities of the Supreme Lord Hari, who charms the entire world."]
[Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.7.10]

Those that are self-sufficient, they also are attracted by some higher kind of ecstasy. So, it is the proof positive that higher ecstasy is existing, though very finer. Though finer still it has got existence; because the self-sufficient people, they also find joy when coming in contact with that abstract thing. So that is a proof. A man who does not care for anything, independent, almost independent of material assistance, like Śukadeva, he does not want anything, not even a cloth, a dress. Only now and then, a glass of milk, if that comes easily. Does not care for anything in this mundane. Quite independent life, ātmā, engaged in himself, not engaged in a material objective consciousness. He's attracted by some higher abstract things. So there must be something above, adhokṣaja. That which, when that comes to contact with us we can feel, otherwise when withdrawn we're nowhere.

Like flying saucer. Few days back, there was some rumour that a thing like in the name of flying saucer is coming to contact with earth. But the men in the world they tried to find a chase, but disappeared. Have you heard the name of flying saucer? Adhokṣaja is something like that, can come down to contact, but when we chase: nowhere! What is the proof? For the big engineers, aeroplane pilots they have also seen that something is coming down, when chasing disappeared. So more efficient machinery world is existing on the other side. The expert aeroplane pilots they're also admitting, some. So, ātmārāmā.

prāyeṇa munayo rājan, nivṛttā vidhi-ṣedhataḥ
nairguṇya-sthā ramante sma, guṇānukathane hareḥ

["O King Parīkṣit, mainly the topmost transcendentalists, who are above the regulative principles and restrictions, take pleasure in describing the glories of the Lord."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 2.1.7]

How to proof that higher existence is there? We cannot enter at our will to have experience of that plane. Then what is the proof that such plane is existing at all? Some experts, of this world, of the highest class, they find something that's disturbing their self-satisfaction to the fullest extent. Disturbing and attracting towards something else.

Just as to prove that there's rebirth, transmigration, some sort of persons we may find that they say, "In my previous birth I was there. I can find out my things are left in the almira." He's taken to that place. "Yes this was my room, and I'm - I put these things here." So those that want to prove scientifically that there's rebirth, they're collecting such examples to prove that the rebirth is there. Some they can remember their past life, and they can give proof, that "Yes, I was here in my past life." There are some sort of examples, and that is the basis to prove that birth after birth, transmigration.

So also in this way the ātmārāmā, they stand proof that there is higher plane that attract us, one, us who has superseded the charm of this mundane plane. But it's not mundane.

Śukadeva Goswāmī says, "You all know I'm well established in non-material world. No charm for any form of material world in me. But this type of līlā, personal ecstasy of some order attracted my heart. So you don't think that this is mundane. No mundane thing can have any attraction for me. But this is transcendental. You may - I stand evidence to the fact that there is transcendental world of higher stuff, higher dignity, higher quality. Because I stand evidence, that nothing in mundane character can affect me, can disturb my balance, my equilibrium in the all-spiritual consciousness. That sort of peculiarity cannot disturb, may be disturbed by this worldly attraction. But some supernatural attraction has, is coming to disturb my equilibrium and attracting towards that." Hare Kṛṣṇa.

kurvanty ahaitukīṁ bhaktim, [ittham-bhūta guṇo hariḥ]

This is for the ascending method, but those that are in the descending method, they themselves are becoming small witnesses. Sukṛti, śraddhā. They feel it may be of less degree, intensity. But they feel that this is, that is something, and, "My heart of my heart is hankering for that thing. All this charm of this world finished for me forever, can't attract. If I want to live, then I shall live for that. At any risk, at any risk, whatever little taste I have got of that thing, I can't, I can't stand, I can't do without that, can't, without that. I must have to attain that stage, or otherwise I do not like any sort of existence. I have got a little peeping of that beauty. That is my life. My life is there. If I want to live at all I must have to get that. Otherwise, this is all tasteless. I have finished all other standards of life, no charm, all tasteless. I want that, that is the fulfilment, that is the fulfilment of my life, worth living. Life is worth living because it has got that ultimate connection with that fulfilment. Otherwise no life worth living."

Hare Kṛṣṇa. How to attain? Only with the association of those that are eager for that. Birds of the same feather flock together. If you want that thing there are others also of similar nature. Go and mix with them and jointly try to have that, by mutual help. There are the experts also, the beginner, the advanced. By mutual help, go, in a procession, saṅkīrtana. And not by, not in private life, but make it public. Give it the, this quest, give the shape of a public shape, that is the practical shape, the quest. The quest of that supreme thing, be bold enough to give it a public shape of your searching. That is saṅkīrtana, procession. You should not be a coward to keep it within you, that it is so subtle you can't be able to prove to others. So in a corner you will go on only, not that. Your adherence should be so sincere, and so forceful, that you must come out of the house on the street. That go on searching, the search for Kṛṣṇa must have a shape of reality. Not less important, or not less true than the spirit with which we're seeking this material improvement. Our sincerity must have some courage to take it to the road, saṅkīrtana. I'm doing anything like a thief in the dark. What I want, what I believe, what I feel, let others feel, come to challenge. I'm ready, I shall try my best to prove that what I'm doing that is all right. Not only all right, but that is the thing which everyone should take to save himself.

Others, they're entangling with mortality, mixing with mortality. Janma-mṛtyu-jarā-vyādhi-duḥkha- doṣānudarśanam [Bhagavad-gītā, 13.9] These defects are sure in the material achievement. So to get out of that, in the death, and the birth, and the infirmity, and the disease. I want to have such a campaign, a bright and bold campaign. The search for reality, and reality is beautiful. Reality is beautiful, reality is love, reality is charm, reality is harmony. I feel it within myself sincerely, and my life is only for that. It is I'm also a factor of this world, so my necessity may not be dismissed as unreal. As you are, I'm also so. So I'm attracted, and this is not, may be not imaginary. I will try to prove that you're running after phantasmagoria, mania, and not myself. Hare Kṛṣṇa. At every step, even dream, taking food, in every phase of our life we shall try that search, direct or indirect way. Search.

Soldiers sometimes they're laughing and merry making position. But sometimes they'll be seen furious fighting. So merry making, eating, all will be searching, march. March towards from nescience to science, what is knowledge and what is above knowledge. Fighting is not the final. After fighting there is a peaceful life also. So the searching if we think like fighting, elimination and advance, acceptance, then after that, after war there is life of peace. We're fighting for the peace. So sādhana, the struggle, the life of struggle to attain the truth, that is a life of fight. But the mark is for the peace after this war. Greater, higher peace, peace of higher quality, without anxiety, that is existing as present; war comes only for that. The aim is towards the peace, and a peace of higher quality, otherwise fighting has no meaning. So, struggle, sādhana-bhakti. Struggle, fighting with māyā, the present possessor. The force that has taken possession at present, of us. To fight our fight and knock them out, and to find some higher peace. So the sādhaka, the student, is fighting with nescience to get science. Always, every life is a life of struggle, struggle to find higher peace. And that becomes clear in sādhana.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari.
Nitāi Gaura Hari bol. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol.

Vidyavatam bhagavate pariksha [?] They say, "How far you know: the test is in Bhāgavatam." Whether your consciousness come up to the level of the thought which is given in Bhāgavatam? Can you come to think theism of this degree, as it is inaugurated in Bhāgavatam? Vidya-vidvan [?] Generally vidvan means learned, means not mundane learning, veda-vidvi, in Manu-saṁhitā, vidyadvi. Who are the learned? Who has got some knowledge in the revealed truth, revealed scriptures. And not in the mundane world; they're not considered to be learned. Because this is all vulnerable. Now it is true, next moment it is false. Law of nature that is changing. And also it is all false in this sense, that all is a representation of local interest provincialism, local interest. Every representation, every invention, they comes to put forwards some local interest, not universal interest.

So from the universal plane there is some attempt to extend that distant point of universal experience to this provincial. Central law they have extended to the provincial ruler. "This is central law, you must abide by this. Your provincial order won't be applicable to another provincial, to the centre, but provincial affairs." So, central knowledge is really knowledge, that will stand true in every province, in every locality, it is universal character. Īśāvāsyam idaṁ sarvaṁ [Śrī Īśopaniṣad, 1]. So, that is thorough, from time to time, some central experience is extended to this local experience area. So vidhvan, who is vidhvan veda-vit? Who has got some knowledge about that revealed truth - considered from the central stand point. That has been, that will, all general characteristic; that is truth. And your self, if you will say, "This is my interest," another will, "No, this is my opposite interest is there." So that is not truth. The central decision, estimation, and the grant that is the be-all and end-all. And your experience of that plane of knowledge, that have got some acceptance, recognition. Otherwise all your provincial demands, that has got no room here.

So, vidhvan, vidyavatam bhagavate, even though, as I'm told that our Sudhīra Goswāmī, he has in the Search of Kṛṣṇa, in the beginning he has, Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura's Bhāgavata speech he has quoted. There Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura is showing the development in the conception of the theism; gradually growing, coming out. This Bhāgavatam is fruit, Vedānta has been considered as flower, and the Veda has been considered as tree....

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Sprout, in this way, but all about revealed truth.
Vidyavatam bhagavate pariksa [?] Those that say they're proficient in Vedic knowledge, their test is in Bhāgavata. How far, how deeper you can have knowledge about the theistic world, the Bhāgavata is the test. What is the position, and what is the capacity, what is the utility, and what is the superiority of the central conception, truth? That means it's not Brahman.

[vadanti tat tattva-vidas, tattvaṁ yaj jñānam advayam]
brahmeti paramātmeti, bhagavān iti śabdyate

["Learned transcendentalists who know the Absolute Truth call this non-dual substance Brahman, Paramātmā or Bhagavān."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.2.11]

Brahman, who's all-accommodating aspect of the environment. Paramātmā, all-permeating. Whatever you'll say, He's within, He's everywhere, He's within, that aspect. And another revolutionary aspect is Bhagavān. The first interpretation of the word Bhagavān is given as aiśvaryama: Who is the source of all power, controller of all potency, Bhagavān. But Bhāgavata has taken the centre from power to love. Love is above the power, more deeper plane. Power is external, love is more central and more higher. So Bhagavān means bhajanīya-guṇa-viśiṣṭha. The substance, whenever we come in connection with Him, we'll like to surrender towards Him, to merge our interest in Him. Bhajanīya-guṇa-viśiṣṭha. That I'm searching, the Lord of my heart I have got here. I don't want anything, I must jump. Bhajanīya-guṇa-viśiṣṭha. The Bhagavān is such that He excites eagerness, anxiety, to jump into His feet. That is Bhagavān, He's all-attractive; loving attraction we shall feel about the substance. Bhagavān means bhayau [?] bhajanīya-guṇa-viśiṣṭha. He has got such qualification, such quality. He'll attract me wholesale to jump under His service, in His service.

So, vidyavatam bhagavate pariksha: the Bhāgavata is this test that how far you're advanced in your theistic life? Can you do this, wholesale surrender? Can you think of? By surrendering can you think of by dying you live a proper life? External death, as you are at present, the dissolution of the whole. And a new you gain. Can you be bold enough? There is such characteristic of the highest substance. Not master of power, or not all-comprehensive, everything putting on His belly, or all-permeating like so many smallest things, microscopic thing; not like that. All-pervading, or all-accommodating, not these are the highest quality of the Supreme, or substance. But controller of all power Nārāyaṇa that is something, Who controls everything, that is something. But who attracts us unconditionally towards Him, we'll want to fall at His feet; beauty, love.

That sort of conception is given by Bhāgavatam. So what knowledge you have got of revealed scriptures? The test is Bhāgavatam. Have you got any clue of such quality, anywhere in revealed scripture? No. Bhāgavatam has given the highest thing. Mahāprabhu came with that. This is the central world, on the higher, highest plane of the universe we're living in, we've got so much prospect of life, so much. And we're encaged in what type? Human. I can go down again to be an insect, a beast, a tree. I'm wandering in this vicious circle, this is my position. I'm in the top, next moment I'm action, reaction. Action, reaction. I'm master, and the reaction will come, and the demand to pay off my debt it will take down, by my ear. In this way we're moving. Sometimes higher, next moment lower, and again higher, lower.

ābrahma-bhuvanāl lokāḥ, punar āvartino 'rjuna [mām upetya tu kaunteya, punar janma na vidyate]

["O Arjuna, from the planet of Lord Brahmā downwards, the residents of all planets are naturally subjected to repeated birth and death. But, O Kaunteya, upon reaching Me, there is no rebirth."]
[Bhagavad-gītā, 8.16]

And our prospect is such, how to come out of this vicious circle, and to attain the fulfilment of our life? Only those, our friends, that are carrying such event, such information, such news to the public, they're the best friend. All other seeming friends they should be dismissed off, dismissed off if we be sincere. This will be our form of life, elimination and acceptance. Leaving all other formality the spirit must make us mad to advance further and further. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Nitāi Gaura Hari.

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: Mahārāja. I wanted to ask you about the position of Gadādhara Paṇḍita's spiritual master.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Gadādhara Paṇḍita's spiritual master, Puṇḍarīka Vidyānidhi?

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: Yes. What is his position in Caitanya līlā?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Gadādhara Paṇḍita has been considered to be Rādhārāṇī's incarnation. And Puṇḍarīka Vidyānidhi is considered to be Vṛṣabhānu, the father of Rādhārāṇī, there in Kṛṣṇa līlā. Vṛṣabhānu Rāja, Puṇḍarīka.

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: He has such uncommon pastimes, Premadhan Vidyānidhi.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Uncommon pastimes _____ [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ah. Yes. He's paramahaṁsa. Different devotees have come to show different type of bhajan. Bhajan in the common thing, they're all devoted, but different types of model, all not one and the same. But the end towards Kṛṣṇa consciousness, that is to be judged, from all position. If one is directed totally to Kṛṣṇa consciousness, he's all right.

Suppose there is a patient. There are so many patients of common disease. Then the doctor may not advise everyone to take the same diet, similar but not same. According to the taste, or the capacity of the stomach, someone is given something, another patient, the TB patient, but according to the condition of the stomach someone is given some sort of diet, another another type of diet. In this way.

So all going towards Kṛṣṇa consciousness, but physical arrangement may be little different. These uncommon persons, of uncommon external characteristics, these small things it may not have any consideration with them. He's taking tobacco, in a richly dress he's there, and that is an example to us.

Mukunda told, "Gadādhara Paṇḍita you'll go to see, visit a sādhu? I know him, a good sādhu has come."

"Yes, yes. Take me where the sādhu is." Gadādhara Paṇḍita in his young age very eager to see sādhus. He took there. And Gadādhara Paṇḍita saw that he's smoking. "What sort of sādhu Mukunda has taken me to show?" And also the hair also very well dressed, and the ordinary dress is also rich, and he's sitting also on a very soft valuable bedding. "What sort of sādhu Mukunda has taken to me, show?" He had some hesitation in his mind, doubt.

Then Mukunda knew this, could feel this, and he chanted one śloka of Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam.

aho bakī yaṁ stana-kāla-kūṭaṁ, jighāṁsayāpāyayad apy asādhvī
lebhe gatiṁ dhātry-ucitāṁ tato 'nyaṁ, kaṁ vā dayāluṁ śaraṇaṁ vrajema

["How astonishing! When Pūtanā, the wicked sister of Bakāsura, tried to kill child Kṛṣṇa by offering Him deadly poison on her breasts, she reached a position befitting the Lord's nursemaid. Could I ever have as merciful a shelter as that of Lord Kṛṣṇa?"] [Srimad-Bhāgavatam, 3.2.23]

The śloka meaning that, "Whom should I worship except Kṛṣṇa, because His magnanimity is so much. One lady came to feed Him by poison, and instead she, that poisoning lady was given the post of His, this motherly post in His own domain. So, so much magnanimous personality amongst the - to be worshipped, whom I shall get?"

Then it created some movement in the heart of Puṇḍarīka Vidyānidhi, and gradually things came to show otherwise. He threw off that valuable smoking pipe, and began to tear his valuable clothing, and the bedding also. Then began to catch his well decorated hair. And began to roll, and showing different fits. Kaṁ vā dayāluṁ śaraṇaṁ vrajema. Aho bakī yaṁ. In the mouth, lips, such sounds now and then, and he's in spasm stage.

Then Gadādhara Paṇḍita, "Oh, only the small sentiment about the magnanimity of Kṛṣṇa, can produce so much revolution in the heart. So he must be a great devotee."

Then Gadādhara Paṇḍita began to understand his dignity. But always the man may not be known by his dress. It is fashion, does not care, everything is one and same. But he's not slave to that well, good dressing, or good polished hair, or anything else. Formally.

Just as it has been told about Rājarṣi Janak. "One hand in the soft breast of a lady, another hand into fire." Both enjoying and suffering is no disturbance in his consciousness. The softness and burning sensation, both together tolerating. So if a man who can enjoy the fire burning flame, if he puts his hand into the soft part of the lady, it is nothing to him. That is inner man is otherwise, it is only external thing, partial. It cannot affect him at all, cannot touch him, cannot disturb him from his aim, from his engagement, nothing. Something like that.

When Rāmacandra was going to be installed tomorrow on the throne, as all rejoicing. Rāmacandra He's also thinking that He's going to get a great responsibility of discharging duty. Serious mood, not very pleasing mood, Rāmacandra. "Yes, a great burden coming on My shoulder, on My head. I shall have the responsibility to look after the welfare of so many subjects." His serious mood.

Then when He heard, instead of being enthroned, He's to go to the forest; as the step-mother has forced His father to enthrone Bhārata, her son, and to banish Rāmacandra to the forest. Rāmacandra is of same temperament, He's going to discharge the duty. To get the throne, to be enthroned that also duty; and here also, to obey His father's will, that is also duty. He's going to discharge the duty to the forest, same temperament, no disturbance. His balance of mind was not disturbed. When He's going to be enthroned, and when He's going to be banished; temperament is all the same. He's going to discharge duty, what is coming to Him. He's not one slave to any event, He's above. Everything considering duty. To go to the hell.

[nārāyaṇa-parāḥ sarve, na kutaścana bibhyati] svargāpavarga-narakeṣv, api tulyārtha-darśinaḥ

["Devotees solely engaged in the devotional service of the Supreme Personality of Godhead, Nārāyaṇa, never fear any condition of life. For them the heavenly planets, liberation and the hellish planets are all the same, for such devotees are interested only in the service of the Lord."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 6.17.28]

When Śiva once sitting with, on His thigh His wife Parvatī, making Her seat there, She's taking rest.

Then His, one classmate, Chitraketu, he came and put some remark that, "You Śaṅkara, what you are doing, of course I don't question your dignity, but to the public it is not a good lesson. You should consider this."

The Parvatī She was enraged. "You don't know the greatness of Mahādeva? You're ridiculing, or making remark on His practice. So, your views are not pure, you must go to this demonic birth."

"Yes, I accept your curse." And he went away.

Then Mahādeva told to Parvatī in an excited tone, "Do you know who are they? He has not done anything wrong, he's my friend, and what I'm doing publicly it should not be done. And that is why his remark is not very insulting to me. He's my friend. In a friendly way he gave such slight remark. But you could not tolerate, you cast him curse, but what was his attitude? He could also cast, same cast to you, he has that power, but he did not do that. He only accepted and went away. So who are they? Do you know them?"

nārāyaṇa-parāḥ sarve, na kutaścana bibhyati / svargāpavarga-narakeṣv, api tulyārtha-darśinaḥ

"They are a class of devotees of Nārāyaṇa. They do not care for anything good or bad. Both heaven and hell are equal to them. Nārāyaṇa-parāḥ, na kutaścana. They're not afraid of any condition of life; prepared for every eventuality. Na kutaścana bibhyati, svargāpavarga-narakeṣv. Svargā means heaven, āpavarga means salvation, and narak, hell: of equal importance to them. If they go to the hell, the other sufferers in the hell they'll be benefited. But hellish thing won't be able to touch them, they're always surrounded by...

A healthy man, while he goes to serve an infectious patient, if his health is good, those infections cannot enter into his health. But if his health is weak, the infection, the bacilli will enter.

So they're of such type, wherever the unfavourable circumstance there; but they're guarded by the bhakti-rasa. Their under dress is of purest material, nothing can pierce and harm them. Svargāpavarga- narakeṣv, api tulyārtha-darśinaḥ. Of equal effect they can see. They're wandering in the world of Kṛṣṇa, wherever they go is Kṛṣṇa's will. "Kṛṣṇa's will, it has come, O Kṛṣṇa's will, I'm serving His purpose." Serving His purpose, with this idea, no local interest they're suffering from, but always there in general.

When after the Kurukṣetra war was finished, then one boy ṛṣi, Utanka, when he found Kṛṣṇa, he told, "O Kṛṣṇa! I shall curse you."

"Why?"

"Because You are the cause of all this misery, that is the outcome of that great, vast battle of Kurukṣetra. So many widows, so many orphans, so many crippled persons, they're all crying for pain, misery. And You are at the bottom of the outcome."

Kṛṣṇa told, "O, you ṛṣi kumāra," the boy ṛṣi, "Whatever you've accumulated by your penance, your power, that will be finished when you'll come to engage, to utilise it against Me. But no effect will come, it will be able to produce on Me. I'm in nirguṇa. Nirguṇa, guṇātīta, sāttya, rāja, tāma, three guṇa, angle of vision. Three angle of vision, and universal angle of vision. And there My position is there. That is ahaitukī apratihatā, causeless and irresistible flow of the most fundamental world. Just as electric flow, vibration, so I'm in the plane where the plane is moving and which is, and that movement is irresistible, and it is causeless, no object, automatic. Healthy movement, infinite character. I'm there, all My activity from that plane, so whatever waves from other plane will come to clash with it they'll be finished. The plane in which I'm moving, that is irresistible, that will be continue forever. It is eternal, no beginning, no end. And harmonious flow, and I'm there. So, nothing can affect My position. Whatever you have acquired, your relative power, that will be finished if you throw it against the irresistible flow, on which I'm moving."

So, nirguṇa. Svargāpavarga-narakeṣv, api. So our, not external things, but the internal position should be judged. That is all important, in Puṇḍarīka Vidyānidhi, and in everywhere. There are gṛhastha devotees also. Sannyāsīns are there, so that they do not cast a glance to the lady, they will consider that this is very filthy thing. But there are gṛhastha devotees, and they're producing children also. Still they may be cent per cent pure, no enjoying mood there. Not only enjoying mood absent, but serving mood. They're united in serving mood, and the child comes, but no enjoying mood.

Exploitation is bad, serving is good, and whatever may be the outer colour of thing, if approached with the spirit of service. Service, that is ahaitukī apratihatā, the vibration from that most fundamental plane is actuating in whatever external activity, that is cent per cent pure. Thieving, lying, everything may be pure if coming from the most fundamental plane; that vibration, the motive, power has pushed from that plane. It is all right, nirguṇa, līlā. That is līlā.

Not only selflessness, but fullest self-surrendering to the centre, and actuated from that power only can effect. They're fully established in līlā, that is nirguṇa.

So not by the form, but by the real position, spirit, things should be judged. And whatever by thinking we're by local experience, local interest, that has got no value. That has got value, but local value, temporary value, a part of locality, and part of time. That is all limited value. That is to be applied for the ordinary persons, but not to be applied on those things seen to be similar, that thieving, stealing, and lying, similar, fighting, similar things, undesirable things. But if it comes from that wave it is all enjoying and irresistible, that is nirguṇa, guṇātīta, that is different symptoms of disease, good and bad; and that quite cent per cent healthy movement, when it is dictated by the centre. Otherwise all local and temporary interest, that will come in clash, and they'll be finished. In this way we're to think. Not the form but the real nature, the real position. That is all. Whether it is from God consciousness, the origin from - it is to serve the will of the God, or it is for selfish purpose?

I show sometimes example, that the policeman if for his selfish purpose he takes bribe, he'll be punished. But if for the interest of the state he kills a man he may be rewarded. So we're to see things like that.

That from the universal interest, for the universal interest of Kṛṣṇa; and so many representatives who represent the part, so many parts of the universe, a negligent part importance. So Puṇḍarīka Vidyānidhi, and men of such type, we should not judge. That is infinite within quality; and in the upper that is negligible, of no consideration.

Just as the dress cannot be the test for a man. A prostitute maybe have a holy dress, and a dacoit have a saffron dress of a church man, and a good man may have some other dress of a thief, or dacoit. But the inner things, real things that should be considered, not the coating, not the cover. The cover should not be made much of, but the inner substance that is all important. We're to see that.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari.
Hare Kṛṣṇa. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol.

So here is Ṛṣabhadeva, yourself, and Vidagda Prabhu. So while Vidagda Prabhu will be left you three you'll take prasādam together, these four. Ke? Anurādhā. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari.
Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: So we'll take leave.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then, again you'll come here?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...initiation from the lady devotee who was the wife of the then Vice Chancellor, a Bengali gentleman, _____ [?] Vice Chancellor of Lucknow University, his wife she was a devotee, and from her that Professor Nixon, Englishman, he took first initiation. And afterwards he became a sannyāsī Swāmī Kṛṣṇa Prema.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...So here also, jñāna śūnya bhakti, nirviśeṣa, not jñāna, not energy. An energetic man he'll get God? No guarantee. Energy may be misused. Jñāna, knowledge can give decision only on the subject of his own merit, in a limited circle. He has universe of discourse. He has got some area, got some experience, and he has drawn some common gist from them, and he can judge accordingly.

A Christian prophet, he, according to the Bible, he will see and give his decision. An Islam will also do like that, the Koran is there. So it is confined in a limited way. There must be a comprehensive idea of the whole, accommodating a scientific conception of the whole. The comparison is possible, as in philosophy, so in the religion, comparative study is possible.

And that should be done with the help of the revealed truth, revealed scripture. As I told about from one - what is religion? Vidvadbhiḥ sevitaḥ. Those that are experts in revealed scriptures, it must come from them, first condition. Vidvadbhiḥ veda vidbhiḥ. Who're dealing only revealed scripture, not any scriptures that are the outcome from this mundane calculation. Sevitaḥ sadbhir. And which is accepted by the sādhus, saints. What type of saints? Adveṣa-rāgibhiḥ. Those that have got no attraction for this mundane world. No sympathy, no apathy, both. The jñānīs, the Buddhists, they're apathetic to the mundane.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...the affection above decision. The boy cannot decide what is wrong, what is good and bad. But the affection looks after everything, guardian.

So there is the highest realm; that like affection there is a realm, there is a plane, which does not care for any calculation of the taker and the giver. Automatic flow of love and affection, that is the highest quarter. By surrender we can reach there, wholesale surrender we can reach a particular plane. That is ānandam, that is ecstasy, and that is sundar, reality the beautiful.

Martineau, the western philosopher Martineau, sat, cit, ānanda, the translation of this word ānanda is given by Martineau as beautiful. The beautiful, we studied it in our class of philosophy. What is ānanda? He translated ānanda as beauty. So beauty, harmony. Another class of the philosophers, westerners, they told, ānanda is harmony. Harmony, proper harmony is proper beauty, and beauty is love, prema, which is above our calculative area of good and bad. And that is divine, and that is, by surrendering, that should be the aim of our fulfilment of life. This is the gift of Mahāprabhu, and He has taken it from Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam.

And what is Bhāgavatam? When Vyāsadeva had given all His śāstras, He specially meant to give śāstra to the religious party, and Gītā, Vedānta, all given. Then in Badarikāśrama He does not find peace within His mind. "What is this?"

Then Devaṛṣi Nārada, His Gurudeva came suddenly, and Nārada, His Gurudeva asked: "Are You well, my child?"

"No. For few days I don't find peace in My mind, My Lord. What is the cause, I don't know. You may know it best."

"Yes. I know, and so I have come."

"Then, please order what is amiss with Me."

"That You have given everything, but ultimately You have given nothing."

"What is that My Lord?"

"Yes,

jugupsitaṁ dharmma-kṛte 'nuśāsataḥ, svabhāva-raktasya mahān vyatikramaḥ yad vākyato dharmma itītaraḥ sthito, na manyate tasya nivāraṇaṁ janaḥ

["You have committed a great wrong. In your injunctions of religious duty for the masses, you have sanctioned condemnable worldly works for fulfilment of mundane desires. The masses are already by nature attached to condemnable worldly works for fulfilment of mundane desires. It is a great wrong because the worldly masses will conclude that your messages alone are the central religious duty. Even if they are taught by other knowers of the truth to refrain from those worldly works, they will not accept those teachings, or, they will not be able to understand them for themselves."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.5.15]

You have done direct wrong."

"How? I can't follow your words."

"You have, so long you have given diets of a patient, but you have not given any diet for a healthy man. Dharmartha kamakha. Those that are captured in the negative side, you have given medicine and diet for them, to get out of that entanglement. But after they have attained freedom, after liberation, what they will do? What rasa, what taste they will be engaged in, you have not clearly depicted that. So I have come and I'm giving the outlines: ten ślokas." Devaṛṣi Nārada told. "I'm supplying these points, and taking, you please think out, and elucidate. You have got knowledge of all the scriptures, and harmoniously you give this to the world. If others come to give that, people won't accept. 'But do you know more than Vedavyāsa?' So they'll reject summarily. But if you give in your latest delivery, they will come to regard it with some confidence and regard. So, you will have to give."

Then he gave this Bhāgavatam, and the introduction he himself wrote, dharmaḥ projjhita-kaitavo 'tra paramo nirmat-sarāṇāṁ [satāṁ vedyaṁ vāstavam atra vastu śivadaṁ tāpa-trayonmūlanam śrīmad-bhāgavate mahā-muni-kṛte kiṁ vā parair īśvaraḥ sadyo hṛdy avarudhyate 'tra kṛtibhiḥ śuśrūṣubhis tat-kṣaṇāt]

["Completely rejecting all religious activities which are materially motivated, this Bhāgavata-Purāṇa propounds the highest truth, which is understandable by those devotees who are fully pure in heart. The highest truth is reality distinguished from illusion for the welfare of all. Such truth uproots the threefold miseries. This beautiful Bhāgavatam, compiled by the great sage Vyāsadeva (in his maturity), is sufficient in itself for God realisation. What is the need of any other scripture? As soon as one attentively and submissively hears the message of Bhāgavatam, by this culture of knowledge the Supreme Lord is established within his heart."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.1.2]

"Why I'm writing this book again? I have finished so many things. Why? What is the cause that I am to begin writing of another book? Projjhita-kaitavo 'tra paramo. So long, what I have given in the name of duty, that is tampered, but this is uncontaminated, free from all alloy."
Pakrishta rupena ujita tattva, kaitava chalo na. Chalo na [?] Because people may not have the capacity of purchasing pure gold, so some alloyed gold is given in the market. So, I also gave mixed with some alloy, the truth mixed with alloy. But here the completely unalloyed gold I'm going to give delivery. Projjihita- kaitavo 'tra paramo. Nirmat-sarāṇāṁ. And only the nirmatsar class: that who are perfectly free from jealously; it is only for them. But those that have got some jealously, pratiṣṭhā-kanka, name and fame they are matsara, they will be unable to leave so aham.

"No taxation without representation. We won't admit any authority over us where I'm not represented, I won't give any tax. So, so ham. I shall admit that sort of final authority where I myself is represented, otherwise I won't. That I'm a slave, I won't accept that, that sort of principle, that sort of philosophy, ontology, I won't accept. I must, so ham, I must be represented in the biggest position, not as a slave but as one of the whole, equal basis. So maham, equal basis I want."

So they're matsara, they cannot tolerate the elevated position of others, so it is not for them. Those are completely self-abnegated persons, they can completely empty, make them empty. "I have nothing. I can die." Die to live. If you want to live a real life, you'll have to die as you are with your ego at present living. So die to live. You're to accept a complete death as you are, then your inner, golden-self will come out, and that will be considered fit to live in Vaikuṇṭha and Goloka, according to your position. These things."

And Mahāprabhu has particularly mentioned in Caitanya-caritāmṛta, that what is the, what will be the main duty of the gṛhastha. Said, it is Vaiṣṇava sevā. Vaiṣṇava sevā. First, in the society, brahmacārī, in varṇāśrama, the training period. From the society we take help in various ways. While brahmacārī, even food, clothing, anything we take from the society. Then when we enter into the grhastra life, to give to the society. In brahmacārya I've taken only, and next in gṛhastha we're to give to the society. And the vānaprastha, we're to leave, we've finished the loan and we live for ourselves, to find out some means of my higher future life. And in sannyāsa section, that is a service we try to give to the society for higher knowledge and realisation. We come back. These are the four. And Mahāprabhu says,

nāhaṁ vipro na ca nara-patir nāpi vaiśyo na śūdro
nāhaṁ varṇī na ca gṛha-patir no vana-stho yatir vā
kintu prodyan-nikhila-paramānanda-pūrṇāmṛtābdher
gopī-bharttuḥ pada-kamalayor dāsa-dāsānudāsaḥ

["I am not a priest, a king, a merchant, or a labourer (brāhmaṇa, kṣatriya, vaiśya, śūdra); nor am I a student, a householder, a retired householder, or a mendicant (brahmacārī, gṛhastha, vānaprastha, sannyāsī). I identify myself only as the servant of the servant of the servant of the lotus feet of Śrī Kṛṣṇa, the Lord of the gopīs, who is the personification of the fully expanded (eternally self-revealing) nectarean ocean that brims with the totality of Divine Ecstasy."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 13.80]

"That we do not care to think myself that I'm a brahmacārī, or sannyāsī, gṛhastha. I'm a servant of Kṛṣṇa. Wherever I may be posted: a king or a poorest man, but my duty will be to serve Kṛṣṇa, whatever I've got near about my hand."

Serve, that is necessary. A poor man also can give more than a rich man. Once in a church affair, so many rupees were given to build the church. Then one asked Christ, "Who has given more?"

Christ pointed out to a beggar that, "He has given the highest gift."

"Why?"

"But whatever, he was a beggar, whatever he could collect whole day, the wholesale he has given for this purpose. And one man may have given one lākh, but he has got few lākhs; he has given one lākh."

So wholesale, ātma-nivedanam, a poor man he can give more than a rich man, it depends on the quality.

We're also told that after rājasūya-yajña one mongoose came and rolling over the yajña-vedī, altar. Then, they found, "What is the matter? Why this mongoose is rolling on the altar?"

Then Kṛṣṇa told, "Yes, you may enquire."

So anyhow we're told in these days there were experts who knew the language of different beasts. Anyhow, the communication put up, and they knew that the mongoose says, "Once in a famine period, I have come here to, hearing that a great sacrifice has been made, I have come here to try my tail to be golden; but I don't find any improvement."

"Then what is the matter, that you have got this golden colour?"

"Once in ancient times there was a great famine, and the king managed for a ration. So one brāhmaṇa family they used to get their weekly ration. And when they have just got the weekly ration, then a guest has come, an old brāhmaṇa. "I'm too much hungry, give some food and save me." Then the family, the brāhmaṇa, his wife and his son and daughter, they asked the guest to take his seat and there was a quarrel.

Brāhmaṇa says, "My portion I should give to him."

"Wife says, "No, no, no. I am _____ [?] If you die, the whole family will starve. My portion, if I die no harm, my portion will be given to the brāhmaṇa."

"The son says, "It is the duty of the son to serve the parents. And if you die what duty I should be allowed to do? So my portion should be given."

"The daughter says, "O, after few days you'll have to give me to another house; so if I die no harm to your family, so my portion give to him."

"But anyhow brāhmaṇa told, "I'm the householder and it's my duty to serve the guest, so my portion."

"So his portion - the brāhmaṇa unsatisfied, more hunger. "I want more food."

"Then the wife, then the son, at last the daughter. And the whole consumed, and then brāhmaṇa came out in his own real figure.

"O, I have come to test you, your religious temperament, I'm satisfied. Your store is full, filled up."

"And where that brāhmaṇa took his food, I had the chance of rolling in that leaf, and I found my whole body has become golden. But only in tail portion little left. And I'm trying here and there, wherever I hear a good sacrifice, I go and rub there my tail, but no golden colour. I heard that rājasūya-yajña under the guidance of Kṛṣṇa, so higher sacrifice, everything, if I go and contact with my tail it will be golden. But I'm rubbing so much, but very, very little, whether it is golden or not, I can't detect."

Then it was Kṛṣṇa's will, perhaps there were some who thought that, "What sacrifice this rājasūya- yajña has done in, it is not in the history of the world." Some sort of pride. So to do away with that, it was Kṛṣṇa's diplomacy, and...

So sacrifice is there, whether a poor man, or a non-educated, or in anyway he's low, it is not the consideration. But the consideration it is how, what it is the degree of the affinity towards Kṛṣṇa? The degree of attraction towards Kṛṣṇa, towards the centre, towards the beauty, the beautiful. How much intense attraction for Him? We shall try. So, that is the wealth bhakti. Bhakti is above all, we have to understand that. Bhakti means service, surrender, wholesale sacrifice. And sacrifice dynamic, and the sacrifice ultimately takes some form: śanta, dāsya, sākhya, vātsalya, mādhurya. And that formation they have got their peculiar type of services, and satisfaction, rendered to Kṛṣṇa; that is higher thing, and to be discussed here more.

I feel tired, so I want to take leave now. Again if I get chance of saying something, I shall deal with that.

Dr. Sharma: This evening I would like to ask two more questions.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, do it.

Dr. Sharma: Before I ask two short questions, I feel that in the modern world in general, and in the western world in particular, we have to make them realise that there is something called God. And secondly that there is life after death. And thirdly that every action has a reaction. And fourthly, whatever is happening to me in this life, it's happening because of my karma of my previous life; and whatever I do in this life I will have to face in my next life. Because most of the people in the world, especially in the western world, have been made to learn that you have come for the first time and never again. Therefore they're trying to enjoy their lives all the time. That's why we've got all this suffering there, family life is breaking down, nobody is interested in nobody, except themselves.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What is the substance of his question, Akṣayānanda Mahārāja?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: It's not a question, is it?

Dr. Sharma: No. I just made remarks of my own observations of the western world, because they have no faith in God.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Why do you concentrate there only, western world? There are so many beasts, so many insects, so many trees, they're also similar position, they're more worst position. Why do you not feel more affection towards them? Why you feel only for the family, or for the society, or the country where you are? Who are most needy, the trees, and the other sections, they're also jīva like us.

Manu-saṁhitā says - and I thought that Manu is weeping.

tamasa bahu rupena, vesthita karma hetuna / antasyam ya bhavante te, sukha-dukha samanvita.

When describing about the creation, the Manu comes to the creation of the trees and plants. He says, tamasa bahu rupena, vesthita karma hetuna. By their own evil karma covered they are in such deplorable position now. Karma hetuna. Not to blame to anybody. By their own karma they have acquired such position. Sukha-dukha. They have got also feeling for pain and happiness. But in such position Manu is crying for them, weeping for them.

So there are so many jīva, they're suffering, in more acute position, and helpless position. You are particularly, your attention in a particular locality. What is the justification?

Dr. Sharma: The reason, Śrīdhara Mahārāja, is that in courts, whether they're the children's courts or the adult's courts, I always see that most of the criminals who come before me have come from a broken home.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You have - there is a famine area, and you have got some food to save them, so as much as you have gone you may try your best to distribute to them. Whomever you will find you must give something to them; this amṛtam, the amṛtam. You are not this body, your soul is above. Though are engaged in the adultery, and some engaged in the pure life, the pure life may be detained, may have delay to enter that, and that man may go earlier; it is possible also. With the help of your medicine, the worst patient with the help of the proper medicine may get a good health, than another person who seems to be healthy, his body may decay. It is possible. So your duty will be, your responsibility what amṛta, nectar you have got, you will distribute at your best energy; and there your responsibility will finish. Whomever you will find unfed you'll give the food to them. What more you can do?

When I was in Madras Maṭha, in charge, some bakeels [?] from there came to ask me: "You Swāmīji, what you do about the needy? Rāmakṛṣṇa Mission is rendering service to so many needy persons. Therefore, if they die, then whom you will talk about Hari and Kṛṣṇa, if they die? So first help them to live, and then you'll talk about Hari."

I told him, "Suppose a famine type period, I have got some food. I'm distributing them, and so many around me they're taking what I'm giving; and some fled, run away from the place. Then, why should I stop giving that food, and run, pursuing that gentleman who is flying away? Or I shall engage myself, what I'm doing, that distributing food that are present? What should I do? Because when one died, then I shall go to make him live? So many in my all sides, I can't find any leisure: always I'm giving, and there are so many."

So you have some nectar, you can save with that nectar, so some, whoever you'll find, you're coming across, you'll give him; that should be your duty. And why you'll be particular that that section must get, avoiding them we must go there and give them nectar to them? Whomever you'll find; otherwise you'll be blamed, you'll be prejudiced. If you're unprejudiced, you'll distribute the nectar whoever will come to you, you'll give them. That is your duty, your responsibility, your conscience will ____ [?] Eliminating some you will go to a particular group and give the nectar. What is the justification for that action? Do you follow?

Dr. Sharma : No justification.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then, whomever you will find before you, yāre dekha, tāre kaha 'kṛṣṇa'-upadeśa, [āmāra ājñāya guru hañā tāra ei deśa

kabhu nā vādhibe tomāra viṣaya-taraṅga, punarapi ei ṭhāñi pābe mora saṅga]

["Instruct whoever you meet in the science of Kṛṣṇa. Teach them the instructions of Kṛṣṇa in Bhagavad-gītā, and the teachings about Kṛṣṇa in Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam. In this way, on My order, become a Guru and liberate everyone in the land. If you follow this instruction, the waves of materialism within this world will not affect you. Indeed, if you follow My order, you will soon attain My association."]

[Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 7.128-9]

Mahaprabhu says: "Whomever you'll find, you'll try to connect him with Kṛṣṇa, with the centre, and he'll be saved."

No discrimination about this or that, or good or bad, or child, or old, or wise, or poor, or rich, or ignorant. Whomever you come across, you give your nectar, because it is the universal cure. They must be saved, whomever you give that nectar, he'll be saved. From wherever position, if he takes it, he'll be saved. That thing you have got in your hand. Whomever you come across, you'll like a patron, selfless heart, you'll distribute. Not with any particular prejudice; that these must be given, and these must be eliminated, not given. Then you'll be culprit. With open heart you're to help the fallen, diseased person with your medicine, the nectar. Clear hearted. And that Kṛṣṇa consciousness will help wholesale, wholesale cure.

bhidyate hṛdaya-granthiś, chidyante sarva-saṁśayāḥ
kṣīyante cāsya karmāṇi, mayi dṛṣṭe 'khilātmani

["The knot in the heart is pierced, all misgivings are cut to pieces and the chain of fruitive actions is terminated when I am seen as the Supreme Personality of Godhead."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.20.30]

What is Kṛṣṇa consciousness? Bhidyate hṛdaya-granthiś. The tie in our mind, so many thousands of ties, I want this, that, and so many; all will be untied, all loosed. Nothing I want any longer; my thirst is quenched, wholesale, nothing I want. Chidyante sarva-saṁśayāḥ. So many doubts, whether this is right or that is right. All doubts will be cleared, saṁśayāḥ.

yasmin vijñāte sarvam evam vijñātam bhavati, yasmin prāpte sarvam idam prāptam bhavati

In Upaniṣad, "If we know Him, everything is known, if we get Him, everything is got; this is Brahman."

In Bhāgavatam also said, analogy, yathā taror mula niṣecanena, tṛpyanti tat-skandha bhujopaśākhāḥ prānopahārāc ca yathendriyānāṁ, tathaiva sarvārhaṇam acyutejyā

["Just as if you pour water onto the root of a tree, the whole tree is fed, and just as when you supply food to the stomach, the whole body is fed, so if you can gain knowledge of the prime cause, Brahman, then you can know anything and everything."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 4.31.14]

If we put food into the root the whole tree is fed. If we put food into the stomach the whole body is fed. So if we know Him everything is known. Such central position He has got, then wholesale cure. So that sort of medicine you have got, whomever you will give it, he'll be wholesale cured. Fulfilment of life he'll attain. And there you must not be miser, or partial, prejudiced. Whoever you'll find, you'll give, and he'll be perfectly cured, and he'll get his fulfilment of live for eternity. Such valuable thing you've got. No discrimination about the distribution. Whomever comes by chance to you, you'll give that, and go on.

Am I clear?

Dr. Sharma: Yes. Swāmī Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Devotees: (Ask if he can put another question)

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. A question, anything he may put.

Dr. Sharma: Swāmī Mahārāja. We, from time to time, reach...

[Śrīla Govinda Mahārāja and Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja talk together]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: How we can tolerate such atmosphere, such social anomaly? It is very difficult for us to tolerate all these things. So these are temporary symptoms of a patient, but when the question of wholesale cure, your medicine will wholesale cure them. So these temporary symptoms have got no value. More needy persons are there. More intolerable actions have been done in many other places. This immoral is not - another thing you may note attentively - whether you can understand? This free mixing is not so filthy as our non-recognition of Kṛṣṇa, is filthy, deplorable. A nastik, atheist, is more, is in a greater deplorable position than an immoral, if he has got some sort of God connection.

Have you gone through Bhagavad-gītā, I expect?

Dr. Sharma: Yes, but don't understand much, proficiently. We have been reading Swāmī Mahārāja, we've got in Rāmāyaṇa, as well as in Śrīla Prabhupāda's Gītā, and he states in few places that there are certain species like animals and women, they only deserve punishment. Could you throw some light on that? What does it mean, really?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ke bolchen?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Animals and ?

Dr. Sharma: The animals, and the women, and the low-caste, they all deserve punishment. There is a verse in Rāmāyaṇa also, as well as in Gītā, but Śrīla Prabhupāda does not explain it to the - fully.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But, you know that Rāmacandra He took the remaining of Savari. Do you know that?

Dr. Sharma: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But ordinarily Savari's position is very low. But the devotion towards Rāma, towards the Lord, is such holy, that Rāma Himself took his ucchiṣṭham. So there is that high connection, very healthy connection, that is our loyalty towards the Supreme. In contradiction of that these things you can find amongst the Deities also. You know about the birth of Bharadas [?], do you know?

Dr. Sharma: No.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: She comes from, Bharadrash [?] comes from Tara perhaps, and Tara was the wife of Bṛhaspati. And she went to Candra, then again complaint to Brahmā, Brahmā again got him back to Bṛhaspati. She was with the child, then when the son was born, then some say, "O, I won't, you are born by, we do not know who is your husband? Bhara daya [?] you have got birth from two, so who will maintain you?" That is Bharadayo [?]

So many filthy things amongst the demigods also, we find. You know the case of Buddha [?] He enjoyed His mother, all these things there, how can you accommodate these things? Even amongst the gods, these filthy things.

Nimāi: Mahārāja. This is the question of Dr. Sharma, that there are certain species in this world, according to Rāmāyaṇa and Gītā, those who deserve punishment already; nothing but that, punishment.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Deserve punishment according to the social authority of the local section, but they have committed the grossest mistake: that non-recognition to the authority. That is the highest crime. If recognition to the authority, because your law must not come to judge the purity or impurity. In the ultimate centre, that is autocracy. Everything belongs to Him. You're to make law according to that. One person satisfying the authority, and whatever he's enjoying the thing, not of yours or his, he's enjoying the thing of the central power. You're not the parties, that you will fight amongst each other, "O, why you have taken my wife? Or it was your wife, your daughter." You're all holding relative position, not absolute owner of anything and everything. And you're committing sin, or crime, when you demand that, "she's my wife, she's my girl, he's my son; it is all these things." This is all false, and criminal, to think and enjoy, that "this is mine, this is yours, and you are trespassing," all trespassers towards the centre, central authority. We must judge things from that standpoint; and that is the real standpoint. This is all māyāic, false, more or less. As much as connected with the central law, central authority, so much it is good. And as much deviated from that consciousness, the Īśāvāsyam idaṁ sarvaṁ [Śrī Īśopaniṣad, 1], so much it is deviated, bad. This is all relative position, but from the absolute standpoint, if you go to calculate: nothing belongs to you, nothing to him, only for the temporary arrangement to make the best of a bad bargain. The śāstra has come, don't create a chaos for sense pleasure, but divide and enjoy. This has been said to make the best of this bad bargain. But from the absolute standpoint, everything belongs to Him. And one who in thinking that this is mine he's committing the wrong of the same level one who's enjoying another, taking away. None belongs to none, all false, this is māyā. Māyā means what is not, misunderstanding. So this good or bad.

'dvaite bhadrābhadra-jñāna, saba-'manodharma' / 'ei bhāla, ei manda',-ei saba 'bhrama'

["In the material world, conceptions of good and bad are all mental concoctions. Therefore, saying, 'This is good, this is bad,' is a mistake."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Antya-līlā, 4.176]

In dream I can have a good or a bad dream, but both is false. So here in this life what we calculate as good or bad, this is all false, from the māyāic standpoint, based on false law. But real law, everything belongs to Him. If He sanctions internally, our snatching and giving has got no value. If a property one has acquired from the Indian Government, the local government cannot come and demand and rebuke him in any way. The central Government, the higher Government, has given sanction. So whose property? Who's the beneficiary? Only He's the beneficiary.

We're to be trained to that sort of conception of the whole, then we'll be saved. Otherwise, as long as we shall try, "this is mine and this is his," we are suffering from false knowledge, and we shall have to pay for that. Nothing belongs to none, everything belongs to Him. This is the universal view and we must adjust us with such conception, then we'll be saved totally. To every atom, everything belongs to Him.

Dr. Sharma: There is another very short question, Swāmī Mahārāja, very brief one. We have heard few times during lectures at different temples, that at one time we existed with Lord Kṛṣṇa, and because of our desire to enjoy on our own, we have been sent into the material world. Now my worry is that if we were with Kṛṣṇa originally, then how come that māyā attracted us and that's why we're in the material world? One could say that māyā is more powerful than Kṛṣṇa then. That Kṛṣṇa when we were with Him could not attract us, because attracted to māyā and we are in this world now.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ke bolchen?

Nimāi: _____ [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is another question, basic question. Then that depends upon the free will of the jīva soul. We're to understand that jīva soul is free and its freedom is very meagre so it is vulnerable.

na kartṛtvaṁ na karmāni, lokasya sṛjati prabhuḥ
na karma-phala-saṁyogam, svabhāvas tu pravartate

["Due to their tendency towards ignorance since immeasurable time, the living beings act, considering themselves the doers or inaugurators of action. The Supreme Lord does not generate their misconception of considering themselves doers, nor does He generate their actions or their attachment to the fruits of those actions."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 5.14]

"I am not responsible for the activity of the jīva. I have given them freedom, and they're working freely. And the clash between them, that is the cause of their disturbance. But when they leave the wholesale attention to their social activity and come to Me, they will get relief from all."

That is - and another you say that, svarūpe sabāra haya, golokete sthiti: in the innermost existence we all have connection with Kṛṣṇa, but that is not true about the section that come from the taṭasthā śakti; that ākṣaram. Kṣaraḥ sarvāṇi bhūtāni, kūṭa-stho 'kṣara ucyate.

[dvāv imau puruṣau loke, kṣaraś cākṣara eva ca
kṣaraḥ sarvāṇi bhūtāni, kūṭa-stho 'kṣara ucyate
uttamaḥ puruṣas tv anyaḥ, paramātmety udāhṛtaḥ
yo loka-trayam āviśya, bibharty avyaya īśvaraḥ]

["In this world, there are two kinds of souls: the fallible and the infallible. All beings from Lord Brahmā down to the lowest stationary life-forms are known a fallible (as they have deviated from their intrinsic nature). But the personalities who are eternally situated in their divine nature are known as infallible (personal associates of the Lord)."] ["But totally distinct from both these types of souls, there is a Supreme Person who is known as Paramātmā, the Supersoul. He is the Supreme Lord. Entering into the three worlds in His eternal form, He maintains all beings in the universe."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 15.16-17]

The jīva is, the jīva potency, all the jīvas come from a particular potency of the Lord which is known as taṭasthā. Mahāprabhu says, jīvera 'svarūpa' haya — kṛṣṇera 'nitya-dāsa', kṛṣṇera 'taṭasthā-śakti' 'bhedābheda-prakāśa'

[sūryāṁśa-kiraṇa, yaiche agni-jvālā-caya, svābhāvika kṛṣṇera tina-prakāra 'śakti' haya]

["The living entity's constitutional position is to be an eternal servant of Kṛṣṇa. As a manifestation of Kṛṣṇa's marginal energy he is simultaneously one and different from the Lord, like a particle of sunshine or fire. Kṛṣṇa has three varieties of energy: cit-śakti (His internal energy), taṭasthā-śakti (His marginal energy), and māyā-śakti (His illusory energy)."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 20.108-109]
[Gauḍīya Kaṇṭhahāra, 10.14]

The marginal potency of the Lord. The internal potency that is already going on smoothly, eternally, in svarūpa-śakti: jagat, Vaikuṇṭha, and Goloka. And the marginal potency, that is the mother of the so many jīvas that come here, and by the wrong exercise of their freedom they've come. But there is adaptability within. Just as while it is in the marginal potency, in the buffer state, he can come this side, he can go that side also, in the buffer state. So, jīva he's got his adaptability with both the sides, because in the margin. So he's not in Goloka, they have fell from there, it is not. But it has got its internal adaptability, may come in favourable circumstances, then it will flower, will bloom, to fruit, and attain that position. Am I clear?

Dr. Sharma: Yes. So it would be wrong to say that we were originally with Kṛṣṇa?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: We were originally there and we had fall? No!

[na tad bhāsayate sūryo, na śaśāṅko na pāvakaḥ] yad gatvā na nivartante, tad dhāma paramaṁ mama

["My supreme holy abode is that place which the surrendered souls reach, never to return again to this deathly plane. Upon going there, one never returns to this material world. Neither sun, nor moon, nor fire - nothing can illuminate that all-illuminating supreme abode."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 15.6]

Once attaining none can fall from there. And sometimes it is written in the śāstra that is all līlā. For the time being, they may come and go. That is only for a particular fashion of līlā, that they come this side, this mundane world and go, but they are not contaminated with this atmosphere. That an officer enters the jail, he's not within the jail law, he's a visitor and he can go away. But those that are within the prison house, they're under the law of the prison house. So the fallible souls that are here they're under the law of māyā. And from above some can come visit, the sādhus can come to take them; the Lord can come Himself, but they're not under the - untouched by the law of this māyā. They come to do some relief work here, they're not under the law of the prison house; come to preach to the prisoners about religious life, something like that. Am I clear?

Dr. Sharma: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Any other question?

Dr. Sharma: No thank you. You must be tired by now.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In the meantime you think if any question come, you may put, I shall try to answer them.

Devotees: _____ [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The peculiarity of the marginal position.

Dr. Sharma: But what was worrying me was that they say that there is no māyā in the spiritual world. This is how they explain in different temples. There is no māyā in the spiritual world.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But there is also, their movement also seems to be sometimes not unified, but,

aher iva gatiḥ premṇaḥ, svabhāva-kuṭilā bhavet [ato hetor ahetoś ca, yūnor māna udañcati]

["Just as a serpent naturally moves in a crooked way, in a zigzag way, the nature of love is naturally crooked. It is not straight. So the concerned parties quarrel, sometimes with cause and sometimes without cause, and separation comes. Separation is necessary for the transcendental pastimes of Rādhā and Kṛṣṇa."]

[Ujjvala-nīlamaṇi]

Rūpa Goswāmī says, Ato hetor ahetoś ca. Sometimes Rādhā-Kṛṣṇa, or the friends Kṛṣṇa, they defy one another, one abuse another. We find in Dvārakā they're abusing one another, and they're killing. This is all līlā. Aher iva gatiḥ premṇaḥ, svabhāva-kuṭilā bhavet. Just as we find that the movement of the serpent is naturally crooked; so the līlā means like the ocean, the up and down of the taraṇga, wave. So the līlā means in this way it moves, It is the nature there. Just as serpent goes in a crooked way. So, līlā means that, it is dynamic, and to keep up the nature of dynamic character it will be up and down. The nature...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...natural, crooked movement of the serpent, it is such by nature.

Gaura Hari bol. You think and again you'll ask, we shall tell.

In that process of confession, the confession of the ladies, that lead to some corruption, the confession custom. Kṛṣṇa. _____ [?] What do you want?

Devotee: What do I want?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Class finished today.

Devotees: (Group laughter)

Devotee: Class is finished, I see.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Already.

...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: We're our own guide, we're to set aside that idea, that principle. And accept a guide, put up ourselves under His disposal, that is life of dedication. And guide must be genuine, having real connection with Kṛṣṇa consciousness. Another life, life of dedication towards divinity.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Bhagavān Mahārāja, he's celebrating vyāsa-pūjā, his advent ceremony, with great pomp, where so many closer friends _____ [?] Someone has written in letter perhaps. Hare Kṛṣṇa. _____ Jayatīrtha [?]

Search for something else. But his present way of searching has created a gulf between us and his party.

Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. The intoxication, the material help.

Devotee: Also Haṁsadūta Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Churchill told that, "When I take wine I become two hundred percent fit. Churchill, he lived up to ninety, more than ninety; ninety two or so. But he told - he was a great drunkard. He told, "You accuse me of wine taking; but when I take wine I become two hundred percent fit."

Without śaraṇāgati, the surrendering temperament, no material help is possible for the realisation of the transcendental truth. Bhakti can give bhakti, the dedication can improve dedication. That is the most plenary, most fundamental plane. So no outcome, no outer product can give it. His position is enhanced with His own plane, own material. Just as iron may be mend, the broken part of an iron if to be repaired, then iron is necessary. So anything necessary in the plain of dedication, that has to come from another dedication. No earth can be used to repair iron, something like that. Iron is necessary to repair iron, gold is necessary to cure the wound in the gold; for repair. So, bhaktyā sañjātayā bhaktyā.

[smarantaḥ smārayantaś ca, mitho 'ghaugha-haraṁ harim
bhaktyā sañjātayā bhaktyā, bibhraty utpulakāṁ tanum]

["The devotees of the Lord constantly discuss the glories of the Personality of Godhead among themselves. Thus they constantly remember the Lord and remind one another of His qualities and pastimes. In this way, by their devotion to the principles of bhakti-yoga, the devotees please the Personality of Godhead, who takes away from them everything inauspicious. Being purified of all impediments, the devotees awaken to pure love of Godhead, and thus, even within this world, their spiritualised bodies exhibit symptoms of transcendental ecstasy, such as standing of the bodily hairs on end."]

[Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.3.31]

Devotion can amend devotional defects, nothing else. Kṛṣṇa. Only to keep up this body which may be utilised for devotional purpose. What food will be suitable, it is already sanctioned by Kṛṣṇa. The onion is a vegetable, but that is rejected. Why? Vegetable - all vegetables also not pure, not favourite to Him. Whatever He takes, that should be given to Him and we shall take the remnants. The śāstra, His directions is there, what should be offered to Him. "These are the things I like." I must offer those things, and then take remnants. Not whimsically; you must take this, you must take this. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

In any special case something is seen that is redundant. Puṇḍarīka Vidyānidhi, he used to smoke, but that is a superficial fashion. Any moment he may leave it. A fashion, then not to be considered to any part of his holy character. It is there, it may not be there, any moment. Hare Kṛṣṇa. No luxury for the students of devotion. Whatever is necessary to help in our discharging devotional activity, that should be accepted.

ānukūlyasya saṅkalpaḥ, prātikūlya-vivarjjanam [rakṣiṣyatīti viśvāso, goptṛtve varaṇaṁ tathā. ātma-nikṣepa kārpaṇye, ṣaḍ-vidhā śaraṇāgatiḥ / evaṁ paryyāyataś cāsminn, ekaikādhyāya-saṅgrahaḥ]

["The six limbs of surrender are as follows: 1 - To accept everything favourable for devotion to Kṛṣṇa. 2 - To reject everything unfavourable for devotion to Kṛṣṇa. 3 - To be confident that Kṛṣṇa will grant His protection. 4 - To embrace Kṛṣṇa's guardianship. 5 - To offer oneself unto Him. 6 - To consider oneself lowly and bereft."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 22.100]

What are favourable I shall accept, and unfavourable I must reject. Favourable and unfavourable to śaraṇāgati, towards dedication. What is mainly necessary is the grace of the Vaiṣṇava, the Lord. Inner hankering. External thing cannot create inner hankering. Their contribution will be more or less physical, some influence on the mind, but that is temporary when it is done away with. The madness is there, when left, madness gone. That cannot keep anything permanent, any permanent _____ [?]; they cannot. Their effect will be bodily, and something in the mind.

But devotion is above body and the mind, that is the soul's function. And mind, body, may be weak; patient diseased. The mind also may be so. Independent of body and mind, devotion can grow, then of course the final influence comes to the mind and the body. Mentally outside, by outside nature one may be a politician, one may be a yogī, even one may be a dacoit. But if that's only for the service satisfaction of Kṛṣṇa this outward filthy character that will go away very soon.

ksipraṁ bhavati dharmātmā, śaśvac chāntiṁ nigacchati
[kaunteya pratijānīhi, na me bhaktaḥ praṇaśyati]

[That most degraded person very swiftly becomes adorned with virtuous practices and attains to eternal tranquillity. O son of Kuntī, declare it - proclaim it - My devotee is never vanquished!"] [Bhagavad-gītā, 9.31]

Very soon his pure character, conduct will come out; because he has not affinity for these undesirable things, his affinity is only for Kṛṣṇa.

When we're cooking many things, variety to satisfy our tongue, it is undesirable. But cooking great dishes to offer to Kṛṣṇa, Guru, Vaiṣṇava, it's all right. And then we may take little, not with greedy mentality we shall accept them, that will be crime, prasāda, sevā aparādha. Only that it will help my internal tendency towards Kṛṣṇa, with this spirit, I shall. "O, this has been accepted by Kṛṣṇa, Gurudeva, how it is, I shall take." Not to detest whether it's salt, or it's sour, or it's pungent, no. It's taken by Kṛṣṇa, how Kṛṣṇa has taken it? With this idea we're to approach the material, everything in connection with Kṛṣṇa.

Vidagdha Mādhava: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Any technical name for this, no?

Devotee: One word is there, paunch. Ha, ha, ha.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And here is bhuli [?] in Bengali. Big belly, bhuli. Ha, ha, big belly. He acquired the big belly here, ha, ha.

Devotee: He was fond of taking dosa [pancakes?] and iddli [dumplings?] in South India.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Oh. in South India _____ [?]

Devotee: Then he became bhuli [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Iddli [?] is a light food, easy for the patients. Dosa is little rich. Dosa, iddli. And he was fond of chewing muri. He wanted to see where muri is being cooked. "I want to see that place where _____ [?] Didi is cooking muri." But this is not cooking, this is frying; different from cooking. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Nine months continuously he remained here, in the beginning.

Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Oh, those days gone by.

I had a talk with Swāmī Mahārāja and Acyutānanda, that blue house they're staying, Swāmī Mahārāja with his group. But Acyutānanda told, "What sort of talk you had with Śrīdhara Mahārāja?"

"But if I say that you'll faint. You won't be able to awake in that plane where it's appreciated. You'll have to sleep in that plane. Kṛṣṇa. You'll faint, you won't be able to tolerate, faint. Beyond your capacity, beyond the capacity of your toleration."

How is it possible, how it can be good? You'll faint. Kṛṣṇa.

Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura wrote that, "When I first came to understand Mahāprabhu, I rather was astonished to find how Mahāprabhu could support Kṛṣṇa līlā in Vṛndāvana there. His stealing, lying, and the aggression, how? He was an uncommon, extraordinary scholar, and moral, and magnanimous. How He can give recognition that this is the highest position of the Absolute? I fervently prayed that please reveal how it is possible. At last the revelation came, and with that revelation there it was a part that Mahāprabhu is the same with that Absolute Truth, as Kṛṣṇa, and Mahāprabhu."

Otherwise it is not very easy to conceive and to give publicity about that highest quarter as such. Only He can give Himself wholly, not others, He's for Himself. He's for Himself, a great expression. He's for Himself. Everything for Himself, everything for Himself. He's the party, only one party rule; and that is autocracy, autocratic temperament. And that is the best, because absolute good. Good in autocracy, He will distribute Himself most liberally. Whatever will come from Him cannot but be good. If it's to be distributed through any form, any law, then some consideration will check its natural flow. _____ [?] The Absolute is autocrat, absolute good is autocrat. So we have got some hope. He's autocrat, does not abide by any law. He comes to judge with any law then we've got no hope. Because above law, so we've got some hope.

Vicārite āobi, guṇa nāhi pāobi, kṛpā kara choḍata vicāra [The Songs of Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura, p 8]

"If you come with consideration, I have got no hope. Give up the consideration of examination of the beggars. But come with the natural flow of Your own accord. Then we may have a drop, or something; may have hope."

So meagre, because finite has got no position in consideration of the infinite. We're to understand our position as finite. And that of infinite, how great and merciful. So, only sweet will, mercy, this can be the connection of the infinite towards finite. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Nitāi. Nitāi.

"Everything belongs to You. Nothing to me. I belong to You my Lord. Consider me, take me within Your camp. Kindly, be kind enough to accept me within Your camp. Consider me as Your own. That is what is necessary for us. _____ [?] I feel disconnected. I have lost my own prospect. I'm such a fool, ignorant, do not understand my own welfare, wretched in nature. All false in me, and all goodness in You. So I've got some hope. I may be the most wretched, but You are the greatest goodness. I may have some hope. Hope is there. If You'll have to judge according to law, no hope. Because You're over law, we've some hope."

Nitāi Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol.

Śaraṇāgati. Not only to non-cooperate with the mundane world, the world of exploitation, that in mere salvation cannot be our end. We must have some healthy cooperative relationship with the environment; that is what is necessary. A positive existence we must feel, not only negatify ourselves. All bad, so to eliminate and to be negatified. We have a positive position, and that is of great honour.

Gauḍīya Maṭha stands for the dignity of human race. That was the subject fixed by our Guru Mahārāja. In Dacca University, when that German scholar, Schulze [Sadānanda dāsa] was to give lecture. No slave mentality. The slave to Kṛṣṇa, that is the highest position of honour; stands for the dignity of human race. If human race can have any connection with some prospect of slavery, they're highly elevated. Even the creator Brahmā, and the liberated representative Śiva, they cannot aspire after such a great position. That confidential service in the confidential area of the Absolute; they're all outsiders. So they have no recognition, they're like vagabonds, no citizenship. Without citizenship they have to move like vagabonds. Undesirable elements, they may be thrown out any moment, no consideration. But those who're dedicated, entered the devotional area, they've got a national position of demand.

Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol.
Nine, it's already nine, is it?

Devotee: _____ [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: A new disease, coming. What are they?

Devotee: One is herpes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hippy?

Devotee: Herpes, it's a new disease.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What is its sign, symptom?

Devotee: Deterioration of the cells, body is rotting; and this is communicated by illicit sex. And another one now...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In Bombay, that gentlemen, encouraging illicit sex?

Devotee: Oh yes, Bhagavan Rajaneesh.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: They should catch him, and put into jail.

Devotee: Yes. Another one now is called AIDS, that means acquired immune deficiency syndrome. That disease is communicated by homosexual activities. And also by putting injection of heroin, and different drugs into the, by giving injection with the needle, that disease is being communicated. Hundreds of people are dying every month, becoming epidemic proportions.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What is the second? I don't follow.

Devotee: AIDS. Acquired immune deficiency syndrome. Means, in the body there are some antibodies they are fighting disease white blood cells; so...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: White corpuscles, red and black; three corpuscles.

Devotee: So, by this disease, even a cold, even the flu, any minor illness can produce death, because there's no system to fight that disease; that system is breaking down. And this disease is also communicated by illicit activities like homosexual activities and injection.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Homosexual, what is homosexual?

Vidagdha Mādhava: Yes. Two men making...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Oh, man and man.

Devotee: Man and man, or ladies and ladies, like that.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ladies, ladies?

Devotee: Now so many people are doing like that in America.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Man and man somehow it's known, but women and women, how it is possible their sexual activity? Both negative.

Vidagdha Mādhava: Yes, something different.

Devotee: That's not so wide spread, but man and man...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is I'm told, that is in the foreign part, not in India.

Devotees: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Not in India.

Devotee: Mostly in New York City, and San Francisco.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But how it is possible, we can't follow?

Devotee: I also, we don't understand.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Women and women. Something inconceivable. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Artificial, eh?

Devotee: But people are dying now, every month hundreds of people are dying.

Vidagdha Mādhava: And because of these diseases Guru Mahārāja...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So many diseases they're all superficial, on the surface. Main disease, forgetfulness of the centre, of Kṛṣṇa, of the Lord, of the guardian. Disobedience to the natural guardian, that is at the route of all.

kṛṣṇa bhuli sei jīva anādi-bahirmukha, [ataeva māyā tāre deya saṁsāra dukḥa]

["Forgetting Kṛṣṇa, the living entity has been attracted by the external feature from time immemorial. Therefore the illusory energy [māyā] gives him all kinds of misery in his material existence."]
[Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 20.117]

Mahāprabhu gave the diagnosis.

jīvera 'svarūpa' haya-kṛṣṇera 'nitya-dāsa' / [kṛṣṇera 'taṭasthā-śakti' bhedābheda-prakāśa']
[sūryāṁśa-kiraṇa, yaiche agni-jvālā-caya / svābhāvika kṛṣṇera tina-prakāra 'śakti' haya]

["The living entity's constitutional position is to be an eternal servant of Kṛṣṇa. As a manifestation of Kṛṣṇa's marginal energy he is simultaneously one and different from the Lord, like a particle of sunshine or fire. Kṛṣṇa has three varieties of energy: cit-śakti (His internal energy), taṭasthā-śakti (His marginal energy), and māyā-śakti (His illusory energy)]. [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 20.108-109]
& [Gauḍīya Kaṇṭhahāra, 10.14]

His constitutional position is a slave to the Lord, Kṛṣṇa, the beautiful. Kṛṣṇa bhuli sei jīva anādi. But from time immemorial he has lost that memory in any way, and suffering. Ataeva māyā tāre deya saṁsāra. So misconception is the root of all his misery of different type. This body _____ [?]; the disease in the body, or in the mind, two unnecessary over case. Over-casement; first mental casement, then this flesh. But this is not at all necessary for our life proper. This is the outer effect of the inner mental system which is composed of many variegated desires, fleeting desires. I want this, I want that, all unnecessary. Filled up with unnecessary articles; must be dissolved.

bhidyate hṛdaya-granthiś, chidyante sarva-saṁśayāḥ
kṣīyante cāsya karmāṇi, mayi dṛṣṭe 'khilātmani

["The knot in the heart is pierced, all misgivings are cut to pieces and the chain of fruitive actions is terminated when I am seen as the Supreme Personality of Godhead."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.20.30]

When one can see Him everywhere, then all the system carrying towards his attention outward dissolved finally. Final dissolution of both these encasements, mental system as well as the outer cover, flesh and blood, forever. And he's reckoned as a member in the inner circle, in Vaikuṇṭha, or in Goloka, Vraja, Vṛndāvana. Our own self, the highest understanding in us, is a member of Vṛndāvana. Higher understanding within us, that is aspiring only after Vṛndāvana life; not satisfied with anything else. Anyhow that taste must be, must touch the tongue of the soul, by the agents of Kṛṣṇa. Raso 'py asya, paraṁ dṛṣṭvā nivartate.

["Although the person of gross corporeal consciousness may avoid sense objects by external renunciation, his eagerness for sense enjoyment remains within. However, inner attachment to sense objects is spontaneously denounced by the person of properly adjusted intelligence, due to his having had a glimpse of the all-attractive beauty of the Supreme Truth." [Bhagavad-gītā, 2.59]

An infant is crying, "I won't take food." Anyhow the sweet-meat must touch the tongue of the infant, then everything will be changed, the whole atmosphere. "Oh, give mother."

[The last two and a half minutes is Bengali [?] conversation]

83.08.13.A

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Kṛṣṇa can't be prisoner in our brain cage. Ha, ha. Hare Kṛṣṇa. The first condition must be this. Then if you like you approach. Ha, ha. Your thirst won't be satisfied, take it in the beginning, then if you like you can come. It will always go increasing, increasing and increasing. I won't have Him. With more intense hankering. I can't.

"They say that I've got Him. But I know fully well that I've not got anything, any small part of Him." Rādhārāṇī says so. "They say that I've got His connection. But where? No. They say it, let them say. But I can't approach Him really, so far; what to speak to get Him."

Hare Kṛṣṇa. What is this? This is the proper relationship with the finite and infinite. "I'm in touch, I belong to Him, I'm a part and parcel of Him; but still I can't understand what is He? How is He? Nothing of it." Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa Infinite thirst.

One gentleman in Madras asked me, "You say that Mahāprabhu Śrī Caitanyadeva, is the highest ideal?"

"Yes."

"Then, its a horrible thing. His last life it seems to be horrible. Sometimes rubbing His face in the wall, jumping into the ocean, then running through the thorn jungle, bushes. What is this insanity? This is madness; a furious thing. We're afraid to get such state of realisation; it's horrible. Horrible search for the truth."

How? What is it? But the meaning has been given to us in this way - Kavirāja Goswāmī.

bahye viṣajvāla haya, bhitare ānandamāya, [kṛṣṇa premara adbhuta carite]

["The wonderful characteristic of divine love of Kṛṣṇa is that although externally, it works like fiery lava, internally it is like sweet nectar that fills the heart with the greatest joy."]

[Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 2.50]

Internally full of bliss, externally showing so impatient gesticulation. I want more, I want more, I want more. Tasting a drop of nectar, I want more, furious. The taste is of such quality, of such degree, makes him mad to want more.

...

...realisation. To remain in connection of the upper suggestion, that is service. And not amount of activity in this plane. Still it is necessary sometimes. Otherwise in solitary life so many past incidents come to our plane and try to disturb us. So sādhu-saṅga, bhajana, this is safe and fruitful. _____ [?]

Mā śucaḥ [From Bhagavad-gītā, 18.66] "All the debts incurred in your past life I shall pay off. You won't have to mourn. From any position you may come, join Me, and I shall take the full responsibility, that you may not be disturbed from any side. Such assurance, because, you are My..."

When here, once, first batch of Swāmī Mahārāja, put it in Vṛndāvana near Bon Maharaja. Bon Maharaja seduced one. One man he was taken away from Swāmī Mahārāja. Again that gentleman leaving Bon Mahārāja came to see Swāmī Mahārāja here. Swāmī Mahārāja is here somewhere.

That gentleman, "I committed mistake, I have come back, please accept me."

Some of his followers took him here. Swāmī Mahārāja he was here, he told, "Yes, I forgive you, you are my boy. You are my boy, you have committed some mistake, I forgive, I accept you. No worry, go on"

So, "You are Mine, I forgive you. Because you belong to Me, you have got the right to demand from Me everything." Ha, ha, ha. "By My own law I'm bound to do anything and everything for you, because I'm your owner, you belong to Me. So whenever you come to Me I take the whole charge: past, present, future, everything. It is Mine, it is Mine. I take the risk. You might have done something wrong; you could not understand. I forgive that. I forgive that, with this spirit. Mokṣayiṣyāmi mā śucaḥ [From Bhagavad-gītā, 18.66]. Won't have to repent, I take the whole burden for you, your past also."

Such is the nature of the infinite truth, all-accommodating, all-sympathetic, all-embracing, all-fulfilling. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Such ideal was shown like exhibition in this prapañca Vṛndāvana. It was shown to attract.

We're told that once during Akbar Batsa's [?] time, he although Mohammedan by creed, he was very generous to all religious conceptions. In his time there was a show of the different Hindu Gods. And he was visiting, "Who is this God? What is this? What is His līlā, where He came down?" In this way. Then when he came to Kṛṣṇa in Vṛndāvana, He's playing the flute, the after visiting everything, "O, this God is the highest of yours." Akbar's remark. "Because He's not in the worry of any management. He's completely free enjoying His life, playing the flute. No worry of anything. So the highest conception of your God is here; no cares, no trouble, nothing."

So to enter, to get His company, that will be very much effective. To play without anxiety; engaged in play, playful, Kṛṣṇa līlā. Exhibition, in this prapañca exhibition of different types shown to test our taste, to give chance to our taste. "Do you want this?" In the exhibition so many things are shown for our choice. So different līlā comes here to examine, to test our choice. "Do you want this? Do you want this, that?"

One vairāgī came here, an old woman with red cloth, follower of Śiva śakti.

I asked her, "What do you want after death? Do you want that Kālī? Do you want to be her maids? Or Śiva? That Nandi, berangi [?] they're described in such a way. Do you want to become one of them? Or do you want of four handed Nārāyaṇa, servitors? Or you want to become a gopī, or a cowboy, and wandering with Kṛṣṇa or Nanda-Yaśodā? Or what do you want?"

She told, "Yes, if it is such, then it is, I really want to be in Vṛndāvana, not in Vaikuṇṭha, not to be one of the Nandi berangi of Śiva's friends, servants. Or this Kālī, the she maids of Kālī that are chewing cut hand, or drinking blood, all these things, horrible."

"It is a peaceful life in Vṛndāvana after death, then why do you follow this path? You see the ultimate position, consider what is suitable?"

Plane peaceful, beautiful life. So exhibition comes to take place here. And to test our choice a chance is given to us. "Say where your taste is, and accordingly come forward for your future ambition. What do you want really? What appeals your innermost heart?" Hare Kṛṣṇa.

kṛṣṇera yateka khelā, sarvottama nara-līlā, nara-vapu tāhāra svarūpa
[gope-veśa, veṇu-kara nava kiśora, nata-vara, nara līlāra haya anurūpa]

["Lord Kṛṣṇa has many pastimes, of which His pastimes as a human being are the best. His form as a human being is the Supreme Transcendental Form. In this form, He is a cowherd boy.

He carries a flute in His hand, and His youth is new. He is also an expert dancer. All this is just suitable for His pastimes as a human being."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 21.101]

Caṇḍīdāsa says, suno he manusa bhai, savar upare manu sashata, tare upare nai [?]

Addressing towards human race, that Caṇḍīdāsa, "Oh, my man, brother, please note, that this human form is above all, and nothing over that. I appeal to you all. You all members of human race, please note to this advice of my experience heart, heart-felt: that this human form, pastimes, movements, is above all."

And this is misrepresented by the so called Ramakrishnaites. They says that, "Human is above all, Caṇḍīdāsa has said, so only serve the humans, this fallen soul."

But Caitanya-caritāmṛta has cleared it more. Kṛṣṇera yateka khelā, sarvottama nara-līlā. "Of all the pastimes of Kṛṣṇa, the highest is in human form." And after this, it is in the creation, very, very valuable. Utilise this to reach, to arrive at that. It is very suitable, human birth is very, very suitable to reach the highest plane. It is very similar, many things. Su-durlabhaḥ, if you avoid this, you commit suicide. Not a small mistake you are committing, but the greatest mistake you lose this chance, it amounts to suicide, not less than that. So, try, try.

And it's not sure that if you're taken away from this birth, there's no guarantee that again you'll get this human birth. You may have to go some other species, visit. Remember the case of Bharata, only at the time of his death he had some intense attention for the child of that deer. "Who will look after this cub?" So next birth became _____ [?] That impression caught him and gave it shape. So dangerous a position we're in. So don't keep it for future, take the whole responsibility in the present. Act, act in the living present, trust no future however pleasant. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari bol.

And how to improve one's own condition? You want, you have got this capital, join and make some arrangement with a capitalist. Then your business may grow a little in a developed way. Get a capitalist, you have got less capital, by transaction you may not gain so much, but make arrangement with capitalist. With their help you go on, try. And that is of two kinds, sādhu, śāstra. Sādhu, the living agent, the active; and the passive, śāstra. No other way, sādhu, śāstra, kṛpa.

kṛṣṇa-bhakti-janma-mūla haya 'sādhu-saṅga' [kṛṣṇa-prema janme, teṅho punar mukhya aṅga]

["The root cause of devotional service to Lord Kṛṣṇa is association with advanced devotees. Even when one's dormant love for Kṛṣṇa awakens, association with devotees is still most essential."]

[Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 22.83]

The very root, the origin, the very beginning is with the help of sādhu. Kṛṣṇa prema janme. Then you grow up. Teṅho punar mukhya aṅga. In that stage also, he's the principal to help you. The birth from there, and the nourishment will also from there. And also in the end when you have finished, you have attained this stage, then also with the help, with some superior, under some superior you are to go on your services. So sādhu is all important to you. From the birth to the final goal, there also, no direct connection with Kṛṣṇa. But you are supposed to do some service only under the direction of the sādhus in different departments. The eternal servitors are there, and you will be taken, "O, serve Kṛṣṇa under his direction, or under her direction." So sādhu-saṅga is always necessary, sādhu-saṅga.

Don't be disgusted of sādhu, "O, he's a man. Why should Vaiṣṇava sevā, why it is recommended so much here and there? I want God Himself. And they say it is, you are dependent of sādhu, why he will come between us?" It is not.

Then I gave the illustration of the telescope, this spectacle, coming between helps the vision. Dāsa dāsa dāsānudāsaḥ tad dāsa dāsa. That means telescope system. So many guardians thinking about my welfare. So many Gurus means so many guardians who are always trying for my fortune. As a man in this world find so many servants are waiting for his order he thinks he's in a very better position. So many servants, lākhs of servants he has got, so high position he owns. But just the opposite, so many guardians, so many Gurus, they're looking after my welfare. I'm a wealthy man, a fortunate man. So many guardians are looking for me, for my interest, pleading for my case there. Tad dāsa dāsa. Guru parampara, to be under the guardianship of the great Vaiṣṇavas is your great fortunate life. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari.

So in the beginning, faith in Vaiṣṇava does not appear. "I want Bhagavān, God, Kṛṣṇa. Why impression is always given to us, 'O, get kṛpa, the blessing of a Vaiṣṇava! Go to him, have your _____ [?] thing only Vaiṣṇava is coming between." But when grown up then this Vigraha, the śāstra, we may cast aside, but we may, must have to submit to the Vaiṣṇava, the living agent of Him. So the Nāma aparādha in the beginning. Satam ninda namnah paramam aparadham. [Gauḍīya Kaṇṭhahāra, 17.69-75] In the beginning of taking the Name, the first warning, "Be aware of your association with the sādhu. They're your well-wisher to the utmost. Really they're the agents carrying good things to you. Very much alert, don't commit anything wrong against them, don't misunderstand them. Try to, their goodness is beyond your understanding. They love you so much, you yourself cannot love yourself that much. Because they see you as the property of their Lord. From that standpoint they loves you; and that is very high in quality and quantity. So be always careful, don't commit anything wrong towards them." Only this.

["If a devotee commits an offence at the feet of a Vaiṣṇava while cultivating the creeper of devotional service in the material world, his offence is compared to a mad elephant that uproots the creeper and breaks it. In this way the leaves of the creeper are dried up."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 19.156]

If any great crime anyhow comes up against them, then the whole thing will be demolished; because the Lord will be enraged. "Who is going to give him every wealth, and he's kicking him. What is this? The most wretched." So we must be careful about that Nāma aparādha, the first, satam ninda.

Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol.

Ha, ha. Nityānanda. Nityānanda Prabhu is a peculiar type. Ha, ha. Mahāprabhu rejecting, He's keeping, giving assurance. "No, no." Ha, ha. He's such.

Kālā Kṛṣṇadāsa went with Mahāprabhu and did something wrong. But this is for our instruction. Direct in the company of Mahāprabhu he's taken away. That was in South Karnataka, where we're told - Gandhi also told, "the land of fairies." There, men and women they're very beautiful; this colour also very good. That portion Karnataka, South Karnataka, Madhvācārya's area. From there he was enticed, Kālā Kṛṣṇadāsa by the Bhaṭṭathāris. Mahaprabhu took him anyway, utilising His special power.

Then after taking him to Purī, He told that, "He's such and such, so I have taken him anyhow from the hands of those vilifyers, then I now release him, he may go anywhere."

But Nityānanda Prabhu utilised, gave him again service, "Oh, you go to Śacī Devī, and inform Her that He has come, Mahāprabhu has come safely from two years tour in the south, safe arrival. You give this news to Śacī Mātā." He utilised him.

So in Madras there was such a case. One brahmacārī was misguided. We sent him to Madras centre from that place, myself and Hayagrīva Brahmacārī - Mādhava Mahārāja was there, sent him to the Madras centre. There was that old Tīrtha Mahārāja, he gave, punished in such a way, and drove him away from the Maṭha. He used to manage to stay in some other place in the town. And again after Tīrtha Mahārāja left Madras came to us. "You please give permission, take me in the Maṭha."

We told him that, "Guru Mahārāja is very soon coming here, you come at that time."

Then when Guru Mahārāja went there to open the lecture hall he came. We put this case to Guru Mahārāja that, "That boy he's coming and going, and he wants to stay in the Maṭha. But we've told him that Guru Mahārāja is coming, and you come at that time. He has come, what to do with him?"

He told, "Mahāprabhu did not take Kālā Kṛṣṇadāsa, when he was seduced by _____ [?] lady, a girl. So I can't accept him. But Nityananda Prabhu kept him, gave him engagement. So you should keep him."

Ha, ha, We found a fine thing. "You are our all in all, our leader, unconditional Lord. You can't accept, and how we can give him shelter being under your guidance?" That was a puzzle. "How we can? If you can't accept, we can't do it." But he says, "I can't accept, but you should keep him."

It's a peculiar position; a peculiar position, the line of benevolence, and that causeless mercy. The line of causeless mercy, from the centre the extension gets the more intense position.

"Go to see, go to the mercy department, and perhaps there is arrangement to - the general department disappoints the patient. "No, I can't accept such patient here, but you may try to the other department more accommodating." They went there, and after checking, "O, here we can accept all. There is arrangement for you."

tomara bhaktir kripa toma hoite bora, bheda bheda bhagavate ei a koilo doro [?]

"Inconceivable, the servants are more benevolent. I came to some revolutionary understanding."

Kavirāja Goswāmī while writing the book, he has expressed so much humility of so much degree.

"That one who will - my position is so worse, purīṣera kīṭa haite, worse than the worm in the stool. Sinner than even the Jagāi, Mādhāi. If anyone comes to hear my name his merit diminishes, and if anyone takes my name he commits sin. I'm such a wretched person. And the grace of Nityānanda Prabhu has taken me up from such a nasty pit to Rūpa, Sanātana, Vṛndāvana, Raghunātha Dāsa, there. I should not say in such a way, that I have got something, but if I do not say this then I will be, it will be ingratitude to Nityānanda Prabhu. I'll be a traitor. So I shall have to say, commit, that I've got something by the grace of Nityānanda, and nothing, no worth in me." So with so humility Kavirāja Goswāmī approaching, and also appealing to the public to come to Gaura-Nityānanda.

And where as Vṛndāvana Dāsa Ṭhākura he says, "I appeal most fervently and with the greatest humility to you all: accept Nityānanda and Śrī Gaurāṅga. You will get the best benefit of life. So fervently with straw in my teeth I'm appealing to you. But if with so much, if such an appeal fails, and still if you want to put blame on Nityānanda-Gaurāṅga, then I just, I won't care to kick you off from the ordinary plane."

_____ [?] "Then I kick you, kick that person, that demoniac person."

So ordinary linguists they'll say, "How Kavirāja Goswāmī and others, they're appealing in the most humiliated way, and this Vṛndāvana Dāsa he's what a type of egoistic fellow! He kicks those that don't come to hear his Gaura-Nityānanda, he'll kick him. Such a boast, and proud he is. Is he a Vaiṣṇava? Is this a type of Vaiṣṇava?

tṛṇād api sunīcena, taror api sahiṣṇunā [amāninā mānadena, kīrtanīyaḥ sadā hariḥ]

["One who is humbler than a blade of grass, more forbearing than a tree, who gives due honour to others without desiring it for himself is qualified to always chant the Holy Name of Kṛṣṇa."] [Śikṣāṣṭakam, 3]

"Is it this, that type?" In this way they say.

But I first came to hear in Gauḍīya Maṭha a revolutionary remark from Guru Mahārāja.

"That one who had no chance of entrance, Vṛndāvana Ṭhākura has created a path for them. You see how peculiar the explanation, the meaning. Who has no chance Vṛndāvana Ṭhākura has made a chance for them, by kicking. Why, why? Because he has pronounced such a bold expression to others, then to wound their feeling. So Kṛṣṇa is there, if anyone, any attendant, or any son of a gentleman does something wrong to another, his guardians come, 'O, don't mind it, I'm giving something to you, be pleased, then go.' So because Vṛndāvana Ṭhākura has committed ostentatiously something wrong to the particular section, it will draw Kṛṣṇa's attention. Mahāprabhu's special attention will be drawn towards them, that 'My son has done some damage to you, don't, forgive and forget. I'm giving something, come.' In this way he has made a new path by threatening the unbelievers in Gaura-Nityānanda. By his strong remark in a very abusive character he has given the chance to those fellows, to draw greater and special attention of the authority."

Ha, ha. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. How? What sort of interpretation is this? It may come from where? Fully surrendered, fully surrendered, they can say such things. That everything in Vaiṣṇava that cannot but be goodness. Every part of a Vaiṣṇava, his wrath, his abusing, everything is Kṛṣṇa, it cannot but be Kṛṣṇa giving, Kṛṣṇa kīrtana. Their curse also; that Nalakūvara who was cursed by Nārada to become a tree. Ha, ha. But anyhow that was managed in such a way that here they [Nalakūvara and Maṇigrīva] came to have a birth in Vṛndāvana. And then when it will be broken by, uprooted by Him, they will get, go to the Goloka where from. So any connection. Then that does not mean that we'll go to offend the Vaiṣṇava, we shall consciously go and offend Vaiṣṇava.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: To get more blessings.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ha, ha. Should not be taken in that way, then it will be suicidal, inconsistent, with the thing. Just as "God is independent, God is free, He can do anything and everything; can He commit suicide?" Something like that. "Can God can commit suicide? If He does not do so then He's limited, not unlimited." But they commit suicide in Brahmaloka. Ha, ha, ha, ha. To the atheist also, they can't see Him, commit suicide. Gaura Hari.

...philosophy Bengal school. And Bengal means the philosopher, the highest philosopher was Mahāprabhu. So the Bengal school. Not Bengal, now it is, it has come to be Bengal, but the whole Arya vartha [?] is Gauḍa: Allahabad, the Gauḍa brāhmaṇas.

I wrote an article showing that it originated from Badarikāśrama, and it ended in Navadwīpa. There was also Māyāpur _____ [?] Anyhow the Bhāgavata school originated from Badarikāśrama, from the talk of Nārada and Vedavyāsa, and that culminated in... Oh, there also Sarasvatī _____ [?] Badarikāśrama is just on the banks of the river Sarasvatī, and here also this is Sarasvatī.

Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura, Jalangee, this name of the river, just Godruma and Māyāpur, this name is Jalangee. Jalan means water, gee means vāṇī, gee vāṇī [?] So Jalangee means vāṇī in the form of water. That is Sarasvatī, gee means Sarasvatī, gee vāṇī [?] Sarasvatī. So, this river is given the name Sarasvatī.

Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura says, pibo saraswati-jala, puline puline, gara-gari dibo, saraswati-jala [?] This river is Sarasvatī. So there also... there is also a Māyāpur in near Badarikāśrama, and here also Māyāpur; and there Sarasvatī river, and here Sarasvatī river. So Gauḍa means the whole of Northern India, is known as Gauḍa. And Drāviḍa, and in contrast the Bindhu hill southern portion is known as Drāviḍa. Gauḍa and Drāviḍa, two parts of India, Northern and Southern. So this, to differ from Drāviḍa Vaiṣṇavism, this Gauḍīya Vaiṣṇavism. That means Northern Indian philosophy. And that is Drāviḍa. From the Rāmānuja, Madhvācārya, Nimbarka, Viṣṇuswāmī, these four Ācārya all come from Southern India. So they've got their philosophy, this touch that they're all Southern or Drāviḍa Vaiṣṇavism. And in contrast with that, this is Gauḍīya means Northern Indian philosophy beginning from Vyāsadeva, Badarikāśrama, to Navadwīpa. That is the underlying meaning Gauḍīya Vaiṣṇava.

But now, it is generally, Bengal is known properly as Gauḍa-deśa, and that is all omitted. Anyhow Gauḍa means we're to take not this Bengal Vaiṣṇavism, that is very limited connection. tvaṁ tu rājan mariṣyeti, paśu-buddhim imāṁ jahi
[na jātaḥ prāg abhūto 'dya, deha-vat tvaṁ na naṅkṣyasi]

["O King, give up the animalistic mentality of thinking: "I am going to die." Unlike the body, you have not taken birth. There was not a time in the past when you did not exist, and you are not about to be destroyed."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 12.5.2]

Another revolutionary remark just at the conclusion of Bhāgavatam.

"You are going to die, you are going to die Parīkṣit Mahārāja. After all the day has drawn near, seven days passed and you are going to die. But I say you do not die. Keep up your, that consciousness. Don't allow yourself to come down in the material consciousness, that is animal consciousness, nothing more than that, paśu-buddhi. To be conscious of these material things that is equal to animal consciousness. Consciousness of flesh, blood, matter, all these things. Don't allow you to come down from the consciousness; cent percent, live in the conscious area. Everything floating on consciousness. Consciousness is the basic substance of things; that has been ever discovered, consciousness. Substantial, fundamental thing is consciousness. All are products of consciousness coming, arising from consciousness; and sometimes maintaining in the consciousness; then it enters into consciousness. Consciousness is the basic substance. Don't allow yourself to come down to the animal consciousness, beast, brutal consciousness, that matter consciousness."

That is a negligent part floating on the ocean of consciousness, your fossil, your body, everything. The body may fall off without your consciousness. Just as it may be possible that you are removing your coat from your body, and putting it somewhere, unconsciously. You are deeply meditating in something, and in the meantime, unconsciously, you have removed your coat. You do not know of that, you are in the midst of your engagement, but you have removed your coat.

Just as Śukadeva does not feel the necessity of clothing himself.

The snake sometimes they give up their over coating; unconsciously it may be done. Sometimes may feel some uneasiness in the subconscious region, they pass through a tree root, some gap, and pass through the gap, and that over coating is there and goes ahead. The serpent goes away, and his over coating is stopped in some place, it goes away, unconsciously.

So this body may drop down, you may not have any idea of that, unconsciously it may go. Or consciously also, because it does not affect your consciousness. Just as if you remove your overcoat, it does not affect you in any way. But sometimes gives you easiness.

So tvaṁ tu rājan mariṣyeti, paśu-buddhim imāṁ jahi. The basis of all religion is in this way, where this glamour of scientific civilization has nothing. Just as in a fire, some flame is rising and dropping, sometimes such things occurs in this globe, and goes down; vanishes. Again for long time, the whole world will vanish, either it will be reduce to water, air, in this way; or it will be burnt. We are told that in the course of the revolving of the planets, the earth will be placed in such a position, so many suns will come very near to this earth, and everything will be burnt to ashes. Not only the life, but the body will also, matter will be reduced to gas. In this way pralaya occurs. And sometimes the earth in its revolving course comes to such a position, that always raining, raining, raining, by over-flooding everything is rotten, and then everything reduced to water, and then forms gas, in this way.

All black marketing here. Things belong to One, and we're thinking this belongs to me, that belongs to you, that to third, in this way. The wholesale black marketing.

īśāvāsyam idaṁ sarvaṁ, [yat kiñca jagatyāṁ jagat
tena tyaktena bhuñjīthā, mā gṛdhaḥ kasya svid dhanam]

["Everything animate or inanimate that is within the universe is controlled and owned by the Lord. One should therefore accept only those things necessary for himself, which are set aside as his quota, and one should not accept other things, knowing well to whom they belong."] [Śrī Īśopaniṣad, 1]

This treacherous transaction in this world. This body does not belong to me, it does not obey my direction. And I think this is myself, and these are all belonging to me, and belonging to India, or to America, or to this, that. Wholesale black, false transaction, hoax. We're to understand this first, all hoax transaction, and we're to save ourselves from that. All false, going in the name of truth. We're to be saved from this false transaction cent percent. This mania, this belongs to that, this belongs to A-B-C-D, all belonging, all master, all lords. Ha. This great mania, we're to be saved from that, this great mania.

Then, it belongs to Whom? Who is the real owner? Who is the real Lord? And He's the Lord of mine also. And how to approach Him? Where is He? The Lord of truth, where is He? So that sort of serious transaction and enquiry should be made openly, in reality, not in imagination. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

First to get out of the hoax that this belongs to A-B-C-D, and then to search the owner, and what is my relation with that owner. Then we'll be able to understand that our Lord is very good natured, very sweet, and fulfilling - our fulfilment is in Him. He's so sweet, the centre is so near, so friendly, so sweet, we'll be able to know gradually. And that means in other words, that we'll live in the transcendental world. We shall find that there's a world, and my inner soul is a member of that happy world. Then again to search where I'm adjusted there, my inner soul is adjusted in that eternal pastimes, where, to find out, to be properly located. And then I'll be in the fullest attainment of life. In this way.

Infinite sky. _____ [?] Ha, ha. Where to take stand? The ground removed from under the feet where we are. We're standing on a solid earth, over the earth, but that's taken away, where I am. Where are we? An atom in the universe, no support. Ha, ha. Here in human body, then after death may be transferred somewhere, unknown quarter, from there again unknown quarter. In the time of eternity we're moving in this way, not conscious of our own self, our future, our past. Yet we boast much of our scholarship, and knowledge, and civilisation, and science. But what is the position of a man? What was his future, what will be offered, his past, and what will be his future? All unknown, uncertain. What position we have got? Ha, ha. No substantial position. This is what we are at present.

Just as a dust by a storm it is in a combination so many dusts, sands, by a storm removed, where, to what direction? Then in this way, no rule, no regulation, by chance, we're prey of chance. Our existence is at the sweet will of the chance of the forces of nature. No stable position of our own. And we're making boast, 'we're so and so. I can crush with atom bomb the whole world.' What does it harm, for the universal interest? Nothing. If the whole world is effaced, like a point, if the whole world that the atom bomb can swallow, a negligent point in the infinite. Who cares for that? Just as a mosquito we may kill with the fingers, so one world in consideration of the infinite, what is the value of this big world, for us?

Bigger, bigger, bigger. Sound also, so high class sound our ear cannot accept. And very small class sound our ear cannot accept. The more intense light our eye cannot catch. And very meagre light also eye cannot catch. Only the limited, between the infinite high light, infinite less light, only a middle portion particular that comes to our sight. And that also to our ear, everything in the middle, something negligible is given us wherever we be. Greater light, more intense light also we can't see in the darkness, and less light of course darkness. So sound also, most intensified sound we can't catch, our ear cannot catch. To certain extent it can catch. So where we are? No stand. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. So this is the world of so-called reality. The vastava satya. The communists are very fond of this physical existence, they know nothing. But this is such.

Devotee: _____ [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: _____ [?] They're not causing any harm to me at present.

Devotees: (Group laughter)

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol. So the inner guardian, inner man is very close to us, this is to show, but external we're so helpless, our position. But don't go that side to find, to search for your support, or your friend. Find inside, the stable friend is there. Firm achievement is possible. And He's with His affectionate eye looking over you.

tad viṣṇo paramaṁ padaṁ [sadā, paśyanti suraya divīva cakṣur ātatam
tad viprāso vipanyavo jāgṛvāṁśāḥ, samindhate viṣṇor yat paramaṁ padam]

["As the sun and sunlight is continuous over the skies as light-giver to us (for that sunlight is the universal form of the Lord) similarly, the Divine Lotus Feet of the Lord Śrī Viṣṇu is always spread widely (like a canopy) over our head."] [Ṛg-Veda, 1.22.20]

Go that side, enquire your support, inner side. Tad viṣṇo paramaṁ padaṁ sadā, paśyanti. A big eye of a guardian, He's watching you there. Paramātmā. Very close to you. Try to go that side, turn your inner eye that side, you'll find some stable position.

"Oh, there's the support, is it? I was searching for some support in the flickering, material aspect of life. That searching for what? That mental and physical body they're also false, and the foundation I was searching for, their support, that also false. But the reality is this side, both of mine as well as environment." A diabolical change, a revolutionary change will come in one's thinking. "Oh, everything, all assurance, everything optimistic."

Āścaryavat paśyati. When he comes to have such recognition in the beginning he's astounded. Āścaryavat paśyati kaścid. And when he wants to say to others, they're also are astonished. And those that hear from him they're also stupefied. "Is it, our foundation to stand is inside? Our hope of satisfaction is inside, not outside, not in the world, sought through our senses, but within? The world where we're standing really with our own personality real, that is inside." In this way.

āścaryavat paśyati kaścid enam, āścaryavad vadati tathaiva cānyaḥ
āścaryavac cainam anyaḥ śṛṇoti, śrutvāpy enaṁ veda na caiva kaścit

["Some see the soul as astonishing, some describe him as astonishing, and some hear of him as astonishing, while others, even after hearing about him, cannot understand him at all."]
[Bhagavad-gītā, 2.29]

And none can finish it, after hard struggle of knowing, cannot be finished, none-finish-able. Go on. The charm progresses like anything, no end. Nava navayanam. Every second it comes with new appearance and new prospect, every moment new prospect, with new appearance it comes to us. Cannot be stale. None can make Him stale. "Oh, it is already I know it, it is finished." Not that. Every second with new promise and progress and prospect it appears to you. So one is astonished. This is the character of the infinite. That is within, that wealth. And leaving that searching outside, what for? In the mortal world, in the world of corpse, dead body, corpse in the morgue, you have come to find solace in the morgue full of dead bodies?

Dive deep into reality, the wealth is within and it is very cheap at the same time. Everyone may find if eyes are turned inside, ample, infinite, no possibility of food crisis or any crisis of want. It is immense, infinite, ample, and vitality giving, soul feeding.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari.

And Mahāprabhu told that the sweetest of the sweet. Sweetest of the sweet, Lord. That higher embrace we can have. It is so sweet we can't over-estimate, we can't even touch a speck of it. He's Lord but so friendly and so sweet, that inestimably we may be gainer. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari.

"Turn your eyes towards Me."

Nityānanda Prabhu begging from door to door. "Oh accept, cast your glance towards Gaurāṅga Who has come to your door. And with what wealth He has come to give you, try to mind it, give little attention, and you'll be rich in unknown quality."

Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Nitāi Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol.

...

Whatever he says we're doing. "Go deliver lectures, or explain from Bhāgavatam, or do some collection for the Deities." We're doing that, but still these offences are coming, how, we do not know. He's responsible. That Guru Mahārāja told. But if a student complains against his teacher, "Oh, he's asking me to do so many songs, to get by heart, so many articles, and this grammar, and I'm doing all these things, still I fail, the teacher is responsible for that." It is something like that.

We're ordering you to engage yourself in the service of the Lord. And it is written in the scriptures and we also follow it. By doing this you'll get out of the present undesirable engagement and you'll make progress in the devotion of the Lord. For that purpose I have ordered, not to fulfil my, any separate interest.

Just as the teacher asks the student, "Do this, read this, and do this, all this, mark these sums, and get by heart. All meant only to learn. In the way of learning all these practices necessary. So I have also asked you to engage yourself in so many forms of services. And by these practices you'll be able to cross the māyā and to attain the land of divinity." So we do our best, but there is the free will and the impulse of the previous action of the jīva.

na kartṛtvaṁ na karmāṇi, lokasya sṛjati prabhuḥ
na karma-phala-saṁyogam, svabhāvas tu pravartate

["Due to their tendency towards ignorance since immeasurable time, the living beings act, considering themselves the doers or inaugurators of action. The Supreme Lord does not generate their misconception of considering themselves doers, nor does He generate their actions or their attachment to the fruits of those actions."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 5.14]

Even the Lord says, "I'm independent of their activities, their actions, and their consequence. Independent, I'm aloof. I'm not responsible for their actions, and for the consequence of their actions. They're left independent. Svabhāvas tu pravartate. The arrangement I have made for the free will. Do independently. The independent free will cannot be taken away, then it will be mud, it will be stone, no longer it will be a soul. A soul means endowed with free will. If free will taken off the soul cannot exist. It is something like fossil. So free will must be there and with free will you should come to serve Me. Free service, that is necessary, not forced labour. Devotion is not forced labour, but devotion is free service. Freedom is there of the jīva soul, then he'll be happy.

Otherwise devoid of freedom we force them to get, like fossil he won't feel any satisfaction in him. So free cooperation, free service, there is devotion. Otherwise no devotion, there's force, forced labour. So forced labour is no devotion, no service, no dedication."

So by nature of things He can't interfere, and He does not interfere, God even, what to speak of His devotees. But their good will, their good aspiration, that is enough, that is something, and with the help of that we can make fair progress. But our willing cooperation must be there. Otherwise this can never be devotion. Freedom cannot be snatched away from the soul. Free service, free cooperation, that is indispensable. _____ [?]

Gaura Sundar. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol.

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: Mahārāja, we see many wealthy persons they have the idea that by giving some pranami that they will receive unlimited benefits. So is that...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. That is utilised for the service of the Lord, then as a reaction of that their energy is utilised in the service of the Lord. They get something in return as reaction. And thereby from the lowest level they acquire sukṛti, and when sukṛti is sufficiently developed then it becomes śraddhā, and they come gradually this side.

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: What if, could they also be like puṇya karma, could that also be there?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That depends upon to whom he's offering the pranami. If the pranami's offered to a person who's engaged in worldly good things then it will be puṇya. But the energy which he supplies to a person who's in nirguṇa, who has no business but to serve Nārāyaṇa, Kṛṣṇa, then in return he gets some sukṛti, the unit of devotion.

Devotee: Mahārāja. What's the difference between puṇya and sukṛti?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Puṇya means sāttvic, good within this misconceived world up to Satyaloka. In this exploiting area that is also according to the intensity, good and bad. Most cruel exploitation, and reasonable exploitation, and very meagre exploitation. Sāttva guṇa, that is also exploitation. In the plane of exploitation, the most heinous and intense, by dacoits. And then there is something given and something taken. And who're engaged in avoiding exploitation, and the intensity of exploitation is reaching to a very lower degree, that is sāttva guṇa. In Mahā, Jana, Tapa, Satyaloka. But still it's within the area of exploitation. That is puṇyam. A man of public spirit, a man who devotes for the good cause in this world, worshipping for the other deities, they're in sāttva guṇa.

ūrdhvaṁ gacchanti sattva-sthā, madhye tiṣṭhanti rājasāḥ
jaghanya-guṇa-vṛtti-sthā, adho gacchanti tāmasāḥ

["Persons in the mode of goodness ascend (up to Satyaloka), those in the mode of passion remain in the middle (in human society), and abominable fellows of ignorant nature fall down to the lower planes (of hellish suffering)."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 14.18]

Three classes of person or individual. So sāttva guṇa is more renunciation and less exploitation, generally that is known as sāttva guṇa. And when connected with the nirguṇa plane, that is Hari, Nārāyaṇa, for His satisfaction, not to accept some mundane service from Nārāyaṇa. Not such attempt, but to satisfy Nārāyaṇa, that is devotion. Ādau arpyeta paścād kriyeta. Then it will be bhakti, devotion.

[sā cārpitaiva satī yadi kriyeta, na tu kṛtā satī paścād arpyeta]

[Śrīla Śrīdhara Swāmī, the renowned commentator of Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam stated: "Devotional services must be first offered to the Lord, then performed; not performed and offered afterwards."]

Whatever I shall receive by this action, the result will go to my Lord, and not to me. If with this spirit any activity is practised then it is devotion. Otherwise when the recipient will be anyone but Nārāyaṇa then it may be sāttva guṇa, and rāja guṇa, tāma guṇa, accordingly. So puṇya generally means merit, demerit, in this way, but within the jurisdiction of this illusory conception, illusion, misconception. Not proper conception of the truth, misconception of the truth, this puṇyam. Though sometimes we find in the śāstra the puṇya has been used in sense of sukṛti, very rarely.

mahā-prasāde govinde, nāma-brahmaṇi vaiṣṇave / svalpa-puṇya-vatāṁ rājan, viśvāso naiva jāyate

["O king, for those who have amassed very few pious activities, their faith in mahā-prasāda, in Śrī Govinda, in the Holy Name and in the Vaiṣṇava is never born."] [Mahābhārata]

Here this puṇya has been used as sukṛti, because the concern with Govinda, not with any worldly purpose, the connection. Just as Viṣṇu He's got His special acquaintance, but sometimes this word Viṣṇu has been used to mean Kṛṣṇa also.

vikrīḍitaṁ vraja-vadhūbhir idaṁ ca viṣṇoḥ, [śraddhānvito 'nuśṛṇuyād atha varṇayed yaḥ bhaktiṁ parām bhagavati pratilabhya kāmaṁ, hṛd-rogam āśv apahinoty acireṇa dhīraḥ

["One who hears with firm faith the supramundane amorous affairs of Lord Kṛṣṇa and the gopīs, as described by a pure devotee of the Lord, soon becomes freed from mundane lust and achieves divine love of Kṛṣṇa."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.33.39]

Here viṣṇoḥ means Kṛṣṇa. Vraja-vadhūbhir vikrīḍitaṁ. Pastimes with the gopīs - that is only confined to Kṛṣṇa. But the word Viṣṇu has been used for the ordinary persons to facilitate their understanding that Kṛṣṇa is not a human being. Though His ways are more or less same with human, He's aprākṛta, crossing this Vaikuṇṭha, adhokṣaja realm. To make us understand, the word Viṣṇu has been used. The commentators have written in this way. But generally the Viṣṇu means Kṣīrodakaśāyī Viṣṇu, or Nārāyaṇa.

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: Mahārāja. Who's that śloka composed by? Svalpa-puṇya-vatāṁ rājan. That śloka was composed in some Purāṇa?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: It is mentioned in some Purāṇa. Mahā-prasāde govinde, nāma-brahmaṇi vaiṣṇave...

Devotee: Mahābhārata.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Svalpa-puṇya-vatāṁ rājan, viśvāso naiva jāyate. Padma-Purāṇa, Viṣṇu-Purāṇa, in some Purāṇa. In Gauḍīya Kaṇṭhahāra you may find this.

Devotee: Guru Mahārāja. Conditioned souls they don't have a spontaneous attraction towards bhakti, towards Kṛṣṇa. It's bad if this attraction can be enforced, can be forced, it's bad?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ke bolchen?

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: _____ [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The expert may give that sort of pressure if he finds that particular case may have some benefit. The pressure he may enforce to some duty that will remain from the expert who will handle it. That if we give some pressure, apply some force, then he may go from here to there. That will depend upon particular case.

Devotee: And Guru Mahārāja. Also this freedom...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Here a Vaiṣṇava, who is cent percent Vaiṣṇava, any activity from him cannot but produce goodness, whatever apparently it may be. Hanumān is killing so many demons. The demons killed in his hand will get some higher chance. Because it's in connection of Hanumān and so it was necessary for the service of the satisfaction of the Lord it's guaranteed there. Do you find, follow?

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So it depends upon the person, who will give pressure or apply force to a particular person.

Devotee: And Guru Mahārāja. This freedom can be given openly because sometimes a kaniṣṭha cannot appreciate, he cannot act properly, he cannot utilise properly this freedom. But this freedom must be given?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ke bolchen?

Bhakti Vijñāna Bhāratī Mahārāja: _____ [?] Say it in a different way.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Make it more clear.

Devotee: Yes. You were referring to the freedom, this spontaneous service. Kaniṣṭha adhikārīs they cannot appreciate and utilise properly freedom. But freedom must be there, even if it's not properly utilised?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Freedom of the soul, and the present freedom of the mind. Freedom of the soul is necessary, and to awaken that, pressure may be given in the mental freedom. "Don't do this, do that." In this way, the egoistic freedom, freedom of the ego, that may be engaged to acquire the freedom of the soul. And in that process he'll ask, "Don't do what your mind dictates you to do. What I say, do that. Use your present ego in the action of setting aside your own impulse, your own tendency. And what I say, try to accept that. Utilise your present ego in this. And then by this process when your soul will be awakened he'll be able to understand my good purpose. At present you can't. You go on obeying what I say. Try to utilise your ego to do this, that one day in this process you'll find that your soul awakens and he'll appreciate this."

Devotee: Guru Mahārāja. Sometimes you've said that the last verse in the Bhāgavatam seems to advocate kaivalya.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Last?

Devotee: Yes, śloka, in Bhāgavatam, appears to advocate kaivalya.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Abdicate?

Devotee: Kaivalya. Can you explain that?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Abdicate?

Devotee: Advocate.

Devotee: Glorify, recommend.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Kaivalyaika-prayojanam.

[sarva-vedānta-sāraṁ yad, brahmātmaikatva-lakṣaṇam vastu advitīyaṁ tan-niṣṭhaṁ, kaivalyaika-prayojanam]

["This Bhāgavatam is the essence of all Vedānta philosophy because its subject matter is the Absolute Truth, which, while non-different from the spirit soul, is the ultimate reality, one without a second. The goal of this literature is exclusive devotional service unto that Supreme Truth."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 12.13.12]

That is the complete autonomy, kaivalya means, everything is in harmony with the Supreme Good. He'll come to such a plane where he'll be able to see everything having connection with Him. Suppose there is prison house, and there is some punishment, and it pains your heart to see the punishment. Suppose a mother is beating the child, your heart may be painful to see this. But when you can see the whole thing, the mother to correct him, this punishment is a good thing, this is not bad. The Government is punishing the prisoners, it is for the welfare of those that are being punished, so it is not a cruel action. If you connect it with the centre then you'll come to see that everything is beneficial, is good. Do you follow?

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In consideration of the interest of the whole, he'll not be disturbed very much seeing the punishment. The mother is whipping the child, he's not excited. Out of her affection she's punishing the boy, aiming at his future good. So he won't, may not feel disturbed. Something like this. Everything he'll see that the real purpose is known to One. Artheṣu abhijñaḥ svarāṭ [From Śrīmad- Bhāgavatam, 1.1.1] It's fulfilling His desire, His pleasure, and thereby it's successful, justification. The justification of any and every event he'll find in connection with the satisfaction of the centre. He'll learn to adjust everything in this way connecting with the satisfaction of the Supreme Will. Kaivalyaika-prayojanam. It's necessary to satisfy Him, so it's all right. He's not guided by any selfish interest, however small or big, great, no selfish interest, no local interest. Not guided by any local interest or provincial interest. But always he looks at anything and everything from the Absolute standpoint, Absolute interest. Artheṣu abhijñaḥ svarāṭ. Everything meant for Him. Reality is for Itself. So standard of good or bad should be measured by judging from the standpoint of the satisfaction of the Centre, of the Whole. Not any part, however greater it may be, any national, or social consideration, or individual consideration. But from the consideration of the Universal Centre. Everything for Himself. No local or provincial interest has to complain anything against that Universal Demand. Do you follow, no?

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [00:00 - 04:50 ?]

83.08.28.B

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ... so-called, the bosom friends, and samāj, and so-called higher dictatory scriptures. In the revealed scriptures giving so many laws and ways and regulations, they're also not sufficient. And so many friends where we live, the devotee lives, they have also got some position?

"But no. I am one and another side, all, good, bad, all one side. Dharma, religion, that good conception, good or bad one side, I am one side."

Absolute and Absolute Good is autocrat, not under law, whimsical. And we're to prepare to live with a whimsical goodness. And that is told to be the highest attainment of any soul, in Bhāgavatam, Mahāprabhu, in Vraja līlā.

So Hegel will come, "Die to live." To die a wholesale death and not keeping something aside. We'll have to die a wholesale death, only to have His grace. If He's pleased, making merry, ha, ha, playing.

Aesop's fables: "What is play to you boys is death to us." In Aesop's fables, have you read? The boys are throwing pebbles to some frogs. Some frogs they're enjoying and some boys also enjoying and throwing pebbles to the frogs and they're dying, hitting the head and dying. Then one of them told, "What is play to you boy, is death to us."

So what is play to Kṛṣṇa, we shall consider it to be death to us, and die to live. There the whole conception of this mundane self-centred life, self-interest life, will be nowhere, finished totally, total finish of all upādhis. Upādhi means relative conceptions of interest.

sarvopādhi-vinirmuktaṁ, tat paratvena nirmalam / hṛṣīkena hṛṣīkeśa-sevanaṁ bhaktir ucyate

["Pure devotion is engaging all the senses in service to the Supreme Lord Kṛṣṇa who is the Master of the senses. In such service, one is totally free from all relative conceptions of material self interest (upādhis), with senses purely engaged in the service of Kṛṣṇa."] [Nārada Pañcarātra]

Rūpa Gosvāmī is quoting this śloka from an ancient Purāṇa, and he's giving us:

anyābhilāṣitā-śūnyaṁ, jñāna-karmādy-anāvṛtam / ānukūlyena-kṛṣṇānu-śīlanaṁ bhaktir uttamā

["One should render transcendental loving service to the Supreme Lord Kṛṣṇa favourably and without desire for material profit or gain through fruitive activities or philosophical speculation. That is called pure devotional service."] [Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, 1.1.11]

What is the definition of devotion? Anyābhilāṣa, fleeting desires, then organised attempt for self-education, karma. Jñāna, that to depend on our own ability and knowledge and consciousness, conscience, for our own best benefit or destination or goal. To put one's own self to be the subject to judge his own fate, that is jñāna. Karma, jñāna, ādi, ādi means our yoga and our other things, anāvṛtam, these are all over-coatings. In the soul proper these elements are not found. There is kṛṣṇera 'nitya-dāsa', slave.

Mahāprabhu told:

jīvera 'svarūpa' haya-kṛṣṇera 'nitya-dāsa' [kṛṣṇera 'taṭasthā-śakti' bhedābheda-prakāśa']

["The constitutional nature of the jīva soul is that of an eternal servant of Kṛṣṇa; the jīva soul is a manifestation of divinity which is one with Kṛṣṇa and different from Him. The jīva souls are the marginal potency of the Lord."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 20.108]

Slavery of Kṛṣṇa, that is the innate nature of the jīva soul. So slavery means that, you must put yourself to the standard of slavery, nothing less. The play of His sweet will.

Once we were told that the British Government they had to appease the Shah of Afghanistan because of the Czar, he may come any moment through Afghanistan to India. And also, the neighbour, he wanted to satisfy the Persian Czar, the King of Persia. So once they invited the Persian King to England and tried to please him in various ways to get his sympathy for them, so he may not be converted towards the Czar's side, Russia. So they managed to show him many things and he was taken to the place where men with capital punishment were beheaded. The Czar was taken to that place, (the Tower of London) guillotine or something, and then shown that this is the place where so many big men, even one king was beheaded, Charles The First or something, in the time of Cromwell. The revolt came from the subjects side and Charles The First or someone was put to the guillotine.

When that was shown to the King of Persia then the Persian King he asked: "Oh, give someone there and behead him. Let me enjoy how it was done."

Then they were all astonished. "What does he say? For his pleasure we shall have to murder a man? What does he say? No, the British law won't allow that, that a man ..."

"Oh, you do not know how to keep the position of a king? I'm a Persian King and for my satisfaction you cannot sacrifice a human life? This is dishonour. Anyhow, if it is not possible for you, I'm giving one, take one of my attendants and show me how it is done."

Then they, with humility, they put to him that, "The law of our country can't allow this. You may do it in your own country, but here your men also cannot be murdered, killed, in such a way to please some man."

"Oh, you do not know what a king is."

So slave means such, slave means such. A little sweet will can kill his life, the slave.

Śrīdhara Swāmī has explained in Bhāgavatam.

iti puṁsārpitā viṣṇau, bhaktiś cen nava-lakṣaṇā
kriyeta bhagavaty addhā tan manye 'dhītam uttamam

["Hearing about Kṛṣṇa, chanting Kṛṣṇa's glories, remembering Kṛṣṇa, serving Kṛṣṇa's lotus feet, worshipping Kṛṣṇa's transcendental form, offering prayers to Kṛṣṇa, becoming Kṛṣṇa's servant, considering Kṛṣṇa as one's best friend, and surrendering everything to Kṛṣṇa - these nine processes are accepted as pure devotional service."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 7.5.23-24]

What are the forms of sādhana of Kṛṣṇa bhakti? How to attain? What are the means, what are the forms and means to attain, to get back our innate love towards Kṛṣṇa? To hear about Him, to talk about Him, to contemplate about Him. In this way, to praise Him, all these, so many, śravaṇaṁ kīrtanaṁ. But they will be devotional function with only one condition, otherwise they may be karma, they may be jñāna, yoga, anything else, vikarma. But one condition must be there to all these different forms of devotional activity. What is that condition? Ādau arpyeta paścād kriyeta.

[sā cārpitaiva satī yadi kriyeta, na tu kṛtā satī paścād arpyeta]

[Śrīla Śrīdhara Swāmī, the renowned commentator of Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam stated: "Devotional services must be first offered to the Lord, then performed; not performed and offered afterwards."]

The result you will derive from the function, this hearing, or talking, or thinking, or anything, one condition must be there. Ādau arpyeta paścād kriyeta, what benefit I shall derive from here, from this function, that will come to me? No. It will go to my Lord. I'm not a party. He's the party. I'm His property. I'm not holder of any property, or wealth, or anything, no possessor. I have no position of a possessor, I'm a possession. He's the possessor and I'm in His possession. Property, all property. He's the only possessor.

ahaṁ hi sarva-yajñānāṁ, bhoktā ca prabhur eva ca
[na tu mām abhijānanti, tattvenātaś cyavanti te]

["Because I alone am the enjoyer and rewarder of all sacrifices. But since they cannot know Me in this way, they again undergo birth, disease, infirmity, and death."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 9.24]

"The only enjoyer of every action is Me, Myself, none else."

You must be conscious fully of this fact, stern reality. Devotion is not a cheap thing, śuddha-bhakti, above mukti, liberation. The positive side is such where He's the Master, only one Master. "I'm monarch of all I survey." In His land. And we're to collect, to have visa in that land. Getting passport from our land where everyone is concerned with democracy, is supposed to have possession, democracy. Everyone is a proprietor, more or less, that is democracy. So taking passport from this land, "that I'm a proprietor" you are to take visa in the land where we're property. There is only one proprietor. That is the law there, only one law, His sweet will above law.

So Absolutes connection with His parts is such, Absolute means such. We may pronounce the word absolute, it is very easy, but if we are to understand, to enter into the meaning, then it will be such. So to get visa to the real, especially in Goloka. In Vaikuṇṭha some consideration, they're entering some sort of laxation should be given. But in Goloka, ha ha, that is very tight in that place, otherwise very free. Those that are tried: "Yes, they're wholly sacrificed souls has come, confidence, they're free." But only with that play, that heart, when such truth is realised fully and surrendered then they're free. Anything they may do but their heart must be in that plane, and their stand must be there, and then enjoy the freedom."

So much so that Yaśodā is whipping Kṛṣṇa. Yaśodā is whipping Kṛṣṇa but if we enquired at the bottom, where Yaśodā is taking her stand, then there the plane will be that. Crores of times Yaśodā can embrace death to remove a point of sweat from the brow of the son, so much affection. She's ready to die crores of times rather than to find a sweat of labour on the forehead of her son. That is at the background. Then He has given so much independence as to whip Him, such a play, such a play.

So if we can have some idea of the infinite broadness and width of the thing, then what value the incidents here have got? The Himālayas may be very big to our standard, but from the standard of the infinite if one rises very, very high, the Himālayas can't be seen, we can't see the Himālayas, so small. All relative.

So we must not allow ourselves to be cowed down. We must have to go, to walk on. We may fail any time, anywhere, it does not matter. It is my master's will. Still, I have no other alternative but to try for His mercy, for His grace. This is my natural position. No freedom that in any condition I can leave Him, no possibility, even constitutionally no possibility of leaving Him. If I think sometimes in ignorance that is a mania for the time being. But in fact it is impossible to disassociate with Him. That is further disturbance covered with ignorance. When ignorant we may think many things that have no value. Just as a play, the defeat that players, so many parties are playing and one party must win and another party must be defeated. But as we're told that in a player's mood we must accept this victory or the failure, player's mood.

The play of Kṛṣṇa, He's playing His līlā. When we're thinking that great loss, gain, all these things, then we're not seeing the līlā, we're aside that, not in the flow with līlā. Then not His līlā, then some other reason, some other objects, all these things within relative interest. And then there we find this is loss, this is gain, this is this, this is that. But only one līlā, nirguṇa, then everything is all right, everything is perfect in every inch of movement is fully perfect.

Once, we are told after the Kurukṣetra war, one brāhmaṇa boy, Utaṇka, when he came across Kṛṣṇa he told, "Oh Kṛṣṇa, I shall curse You!"

"Why brāhmaṇa, you want to curse Me?"

"Because You are the cause of all the disasters of Kurukṣetra. So many widows and orphans they're crying and showing so much distress. The bounds of their sorrow knows no end, and You are the cause."

Then Kṛṣṇa answered, "You brāhmaṇa, you have collected some power by your penances in sāttva-guṇa. That will be finished when you curse Me, but it won't produce any result in Me. I'm in nirguṇa.

The nirguṇa is such, ahaituky apratihatā. So causeless and which cannot be checked, irresistible. The wave of the most fundamental plane, that is bhakti, devotion. That is all following the sweet will of the centre, nirguṇa. That is causeless and that can never be opposed, that flow. Ahaituky apratihatā. You try to come to take your stand in that level. That is nirguṇa, that is bhakti, ahaituky, causeless. Eternally that flow is going on, and apratihatā, that can never be checked by anyone, irresistible. This is the flow and I'm taking My stand there. And anyone taking his stand in consonance, in harmony with that flow, he will be similar, can never be checked, can never be given any successful opposition. This is bhakti."

ahaituky apratihatā, yayātmā suprasīdati]

Bhāgavatam announces that, that that will ease our, that our great, or the highest function, that function will be the highest for us, paro dharma, duty. Duty must have its origin from that plane. The flow we must catch, we must read and catch and utilise that flow, dance in that flow. Sa vai puṁsāṁ paro dharmo. Everyone's highest duty will be that. Yato bhaktir adhokṣaje. Full submission to the unseen power, undetectable power, causal power, adhokṣaje. Ahaituky apratihatā, which has no cause, no rhyme no reason, automatic, eternal, and apratihatā, which can never be opposed by any forces here, apratihatā. Yayātmā suprasīdati. And there you'll find your soul's greatest satisfaction, your soul's real satisfaction you'll get, you'll feel only then when you can work in touch with that harmony. That most fundamental harmonious wave, if you can mix with, then you can feel the highest ecstatic feeling in your own heart, self. This is bhakti proper. So coming to such great idea of life, this small loss and gain, victory and defeat, we should not allow to disturb our march towards the truth.

Karmaṇy evādhikāras te, mā phaleṣu kadācana. "You give full concentration only to discharge your duty and never to the result. The result is with Me, all responsibility with Me. You are My soldiers. What I shall ask you are to do that. You may die, the victory may come afterwards. But you soldiers, many of you have to be finished, but the country as a whole will gain by sacrificing so many lives, important. So higher calculation is like that, ahaituky apratihatā yayātmā suprasīdati, and karmaṇy evādhikāras te, mā phaleṣu kadācana. Only the general says, March, go forward, onward. Yes, you are to go, mā phaleṣu, whether I shall gain in the long run or not, I have no right to calculate."

karmaṇy evādhikāras te, mā phaleṣu kadācana / mā karma-phala-hetur bhūr, mā te saṅgo 'stv akarmaṇi

["I shall now describe niṣkāma karma-yoga, the path of selfless action. You have a right to perform your natural prescribed duties, but you are not entitled to any fruits of that action. You should neither act with desire to enjoy the fruits of your work, nor, as a result, should you be attached to neglecting your duties."]
[Bhagavad-gītā, 2.47]

Two things you must be very careful about. What are they? One, "That because the result won't come to me, fruit won't come to me, why should I work? akarmaṇi." And at the same time, "No, I must get some share in the fruit." Those two things you are to avoid, "I must demand some fruit of my action." No, nothing. And at the same time, "Then I shall not do anything, non-cooperation." No, neither non-cooperation, nor selfish assertion. Such is devotion, such karma, such duty, you go on discharging. This is Bhagavad- gītā.

And one German scholar, I do not know his name, he told, "The Gītā is the highest religious book, because Gītā says you can't change the environment, you have no hand there. If you want peace you are to regulate yourself according to the environment. The whole thing, the whole gist of Bhagavad-gītā's advice is here. You try to adjust you, adjust with the environment, because you're not master of the environment. You may be master of your own. So all your energy should be devoted to regulate you and not the outside. This is the gist of the advice of Bhagavad-gītā and this is the key to success. And this is clearly, repeatedly said in Bhagavad-gītā only. So this is the best religious book in the whole world ever come." One German scholar said, when I was reading in the college I heard from some professor.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. So karmaṇy evādhikāras te, mā phaleṣu kadācana, and we must do smilingly. "Because I do not get any share or consequence in the fruit so I can't work happily." No. Vidya patam bhagavate pariksa [?] What scholarship, what knowledge you have acquired, the test will be here in the ideal of Bhāgavatam. The test will come. What sort of scholarship, new truth, you have researched, you are acquainted with what sort of truth? Your test is in Bhāgavatam.
Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: We hear from you.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ha, ha. Nitāi. Nitāi. My lecture is always vague, not very clear.

Devotees: Very clear, too clear. Dynamic. So clear that it makes me speechless.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Devotee: Something impossible. Once you said, you gave the example in the carnival they're advertising to climb up the bamboo pole, you gave that example, can't go up.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, bamboo, and it's smeared with oil and oily substance, and if anyone is catching they can't go up, but wherever they catch they're going down. Ha, ha.

Devotee: So what to do?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Guru Mahārāja, that's his example. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari bol. It is such. Only force from up can take me up. But this is what is inductive, the fate of inductive knowledge is such. With some sukṛti and previous action you catch something, but when you exercise your knowledge you'll have to go down, slip down. Ha, ha, ha. Only śrauta, the guardians, can help us, wholesale dependence on the guardians, Vaiṣṇava, so, so many guardians are necessary. Tad dāsa-dāsa-dāsānāṁ dāsatvaṁ dehi me prabho. The service of Your servant of the servant of the servant, please allow me that. So many guardians they will come, "Oh, he's slipping down, take him up." So many guardians will come. That is only, they're dependent, their grace, nothing in me. Dainyam, ātma-nivedanam, goptṛtve varaṇaṁ.

tṛṇād api sunīcena, taror api sahiṣṇunā [amāninā mānadena, kīrtanīyaḥ sadā hariḥ]

["One who is humbler than a blade of grass, more forbearing than a tree, who gives due honour to others without desiring it for himself is qualified to always chant the Holy Name of Kṛṣṇa."] [Śikṣāṣṭakam, 3]

Negativity, increase your negativity.

ye yatha patita haya, tava dayā tata tāya, tāte āmi supātra dayāra

["Your grace is given in accordance with the necessity of those who really deserve it. In that consideration, I have some claim. I am fallen of the fallen, the most fallen, so I have some claim to Your grace."] [Gītāmālā, Yāmuna-bhāvāvali, 19]

Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura is putting his demand in some indirect way, that: "Your promise is that whoever is the most fallen, You will come to his relief. So I am the most fallen. I think I am the most fallen, I realise, so I have got some claim. Please be gracious."

But this is not tactics but sincere feeling. "I feel that I am the most fallen. And I have heard that You are Lord of the fallen, deliverer of the fallen. So my Lord, may I not expect that You will come forward for my relief?" The sincere appeal. So find out that, "I am the most helpless, no worth, most insignificant position." Then the positive side will come to help me. "That is wholesale on the other side and nothing from my side. All disqualification in me. All good qualities in the Vaiṣṇava, my guardian." To increase, to march towards the negative, to find out the negative side of our existence. And only there in that way we can expect to have the grace of the positive world. So increase the hunger.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nirguṇa, guṇātīta, nirguṇa, guṇa means local, provincial, relative demands, provincial demands, from the imperial funds or power. And nirguṇa holds everything within. And that is good, reality, and "For Itself," "Reality is for Itself." The past and present, "For Itself" is future, and "By Itself" that is past, all come in the present tense, no past, no future. Reality is by Itself and the cause is within, and For Itself the future is within, deṣa-kāla-pātra - [time, place and circumstance], all one. Līlā, eternal līlā, pastimes, and you are a part of that, you can't have anything separate. Separate ego is also arranged there, but under Yogamāyā, under the influence of that layer, that plane, not on the external plane. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari.

... Bhāgavata is Rāmāyana or so. When Rāmacandra is informed that He is going to be installed king by Rāja Daśaratha, His father, His temperament was of what stage, and when he heard that no, instead of that He'll have to go to the forest for fourteen years banishment, His heart is equal. He did not rejoice hearing that He'll have to be king, a duty, He's going to discharge His duty. And when it was changed, "No, duty says You'll have to go to the forest," the balance of the heart is as it was. "So, this duty, all right." Not affected by the mundane joy or grief, equipoised. Going to accept as duty, "This is duty, this is duty." Only karmaṇy evādhikāras te, mā phaleṣu kadācana. Not disturbed. "That instead of capturing the throne I shall have to go to the forest, banished." Not changed in the heart. "All right." Karmaṇy evādhikāras te, mā phaleṣu kadācana. They come to show, to establish examples for us. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol.

So many advocates came up. "No, no." Like Lakṣmaṇa, "No, no, father is old, he has lost his senses, so we should not obey his order. You order me I shall remove the obstacles and I shall put You on the throne."

Another side says that, "Daśaratha, he did not utter, of course he was under obligation. Previously he told, "That whatever you'll want I must give." But such demand he could not accept and could not clearly say, "Yes, I'm giving. Yes, what I promised you I'm giving to you that word, fulfilling that word. That what you want Bharata will be king and Rāmacandra will have to go to the forest." But he could not speak it out because his heart was so depressed hearing such demand he could not utter a single word. So some say that, "Oh, Your father has not really pronounced the words so why should You go." There was some.

But Rāmacandra told, "No, no, if My father left some capital, as an heir I would have it. And if he left some loan then as heir I must have to take the loan. So My father he could not speak it out through the mouth but he was under obligation, and as his son I must have to clear that obligation. He has gone away and that is his debt to my stepmother, I must clear My father's debt, so I must go."

Then with Bharata and Vaśiṣṭha they again went to the forest to take Him back. And Vaśiṣṭha and others, the religious lawyers, they pleaded when Bharata told that, "You may engage me as Your representative. It is mentioned in the śāstra that one can give his representative for a particular. So I want to be a representative of You and live in the forest, all these things, and You please go." And Vaśiṣṭha and other śāstric scholars they sanctioned.

But Rāmacandra told, "Why do you? You are so many affectionate to Me that you are being prejudiced. When one is not able then the question of representative comes. And when one can do, take that responsibility and discharge his duty himself, then no necessity of any representative. I'm quite fit to do My duty. Why should I give any representative for this purpose? No." In this way.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Too much vilification, too much depression, very, very shameful condition. I'm put by the Divine Will. "Oh, it is of course by the Divine Will. Divine Will at its back so I must feel encouraged." Whatever on the surface, but Divine Will at the back, and that is all good. So I must relish, which is ostentatiously very bitter, but I must relish, because the Divine Will at the back. Kṛṣṇa's Will. Nothing can cross. Kṛṣṇa's Will is here. I must take it.

83.08.28.C_83.08.30.A

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ... your punishment. No, it is My reward. Others may think, say that it is punishment. But it is possible that punishment one may get as a reward and may be very happy. What is the instance?

Sanātana Goswāmī told, Jagadānanda, Mahāprabhu told, praised Sanātana and blamed Jagadānanda. Then Sanātana Goswāmī told, "Oh, it is my misfortune You are giving, supplying me so much bitterness in the form of, in the coating, in the dress of praising. But Jagadānanda's fortune is higher. You are putting blame on him, You are punishing him, saying ill words to him. And that means that You think him to be Your own, and I am at respectable distance. It is his good fortune and my bad fortune, my bad fate that You are praising me. You are keeping me at respectable distance, but You are punishing, using punishing words to Jagadānanda, that is, You are in his favour. He's Your own, You are treating him in such a very affectionate way."

So, it is difficult, but still it is the truth, very difficult but truth is here.

With inner satisfaction we are required to do. Hare Kṛṣṇa. agast karin aham niyamaya jivitam tavi joge [?] Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari bol.

To err is human, to forgive is divine. Forgiveness on their part, err on our side. We may err, we may commit mistakes, it is not very rare, every possibility of committing some mistakes. But divinity is there. His character is always to forgive and to extend grace to us from the deeper plane.

Sometimes if the dress of the boy is taken away he may feel disturbed, dissatisfied. Again if a new dress is supplied instead of that, a better dress, then he'll be ecstatic with joy. He does not know what is what.

Equally, adverse circumstances, our test is there.
kedo dukha me hari bhaja, suhkha me hari bhaje duhkha kasa se hari [?]

Concentration only on the surface without caring about the consequence, not come for any reward.

"But Your satisfaction, not any external reward, I have come for Your holy feet."

That should be our vow, our vow will be that and one will be fortunate if he has such principle in life.

"Come to satisfy You, not for any reward, either in name, fame, money, men, or anything else. My connection with You, that is of eternity, not a voluntary connection, that I can keep it, I can disconnect it, no. Eternal connection and the basis of such understanding that You are all, I am Your slave. Whatever You will order I shall do without caring for any good or bad concerning me."

This is śuddha-bhakti. Sometimes there must come some test, how far we are making progress really, may come and we are to stand erect.

"Oh, my Lord, yes, I am here, I am here. I am not washed away by the external wave."

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol.
Nitāi Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol.

So we may stop here today. Bhaktisiddhānta Saraswatī Goswāmī Prabhupāda ki jaya!

...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ... devotion proper, devoid of knowledge, calculation, does not care, jñāna- śūnya-bhakti. And Mahāprabhu asked us to take shelter in that plane. Our guardians will take care of us wholesale. To live under guardianship, that is the best position of so many tiny souls as we are.

The responsibility of your own charge, give it to the highest guardian. That is the most peaceful life, according to jñāna-śūnya-bhakti. Surrender to such extremity, to such extent, as forgetfulness in the grace of the Almighty, to live there. Automatic section of the world. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

The highest goal of entities like us is that. Don't take any responsibility. There are different forms also.

Eho bāhya āge kaha āra, ["This is superficial; go further."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 8.59]

Dāsya, sākhya, vātsalya, mādhurya, svakīya, parakīya, gradation. But the plane is altogether this jñāna-śūnya, self-forgetfulness, the plane of self-forgetfulness. Not only sacrifice, the Christian missionaries also say like that. That sacrifice is seen in the life of Socrates, sacrifice. But Christ's recommendation is the plane of self-forgetfulness, it is higher than that. Self-forgetfulness is higher than self-sacrifice. Self-sacrifice is the beginning, and in the higher stage self-forgetfulness. But that does not mean that there's no sentient activity, ha, ha. In that plane also fully conscious of their interest. One party, another party, competition, everything is there, but the background is such, and it is difficult to understand the background. Tam eva bhāntam anubhāti sarvaṁ. Whatever we find here, everything is there. But this is of opposite type, and the original is the ideal type. Tam eva bhāntam anubhāti sarvaṁ, tasya bhāsā. Keen competition is also there, in the plane the foundation is self-forgetfulness, the peculiarity is that.

[na tatra sūryo bhāti candra-tārakaṁ, nema vidyuto bhānti kūto 'yam agniḥ
tam eva bhāntam anubhāti sarvaṁ, tasya bhāsā sarvaṁ idaṁ vibhāti]

["In the transcendental abode of the Lord there is no need of sun, moon, or stars for illumination, nor is there any need of electricity, what to speak of ignited lamps. On the other hand, it is because those planets are self-illuminating that all effulgence has become possible. Whatever there is that is dazzling is due to the reflection of the divine abode of the Lord. The Supreme Godhead is so brilliantly self-luminous that neither the sun, nor the moon, nor stars, nor lightning have any power of illumination in His transcendental abode, and what to speak of fire. It is a fact that all of them get their power of illumination from His effulgence alone. In fact, it is only because of His existence that the whole universe exists."]

[Muṇḍaka-Upaniṣad, 2.2.10-2] & [Kathā-Upaniṣad, 2.2.25 - part 5, mantra 15]

Centre consciousness, and here, this plurality, this selfishness of the plurality. That is the difference.

[ataeva kāma-preme bahuta antara] kāma-andhatamaḥ, prema-nirmmala bhāskara

["There is a gulf of difference between lust and love; lust is dense darkness, love is the brightest sun."]

[Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Ādi-līlā, 4.171]

kāma-preme dekho bhāi, lakṣanete bheda nāi / tabhu kāma 'prema' nāhi haya

["My brother, lust and love appear as one and the same; yet, lust is never love."]
[Kalyāṇa Kalpataru, Upadeśa, 18]

Kāma-andhatamaḥ, prema-nirmmala bhāskara. Similar but not same, but opposite rather. That is to be understood, it is difficult. Aprākṛta, prākṛta vat, just like this extreme mundane but it is not so, don't mistake, it's difficult. Everything like this mundane world, but faithful to the centre to the highest degree. Everything is done for the satisfaction of the centre. And here, satisfaction of the so many meagre parts. Local interest and universal interest, that is the distinction, so much. To put food into the stomach, and to put food into the ear, or the eye, or anywhere else, this is sheer foolishness to put food into the eye, or ear, for their nourishment. But to put food into the stomach is the highest intelligence. Something like that. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

[yathā taror mula niṣecanena, tṛpyanti tat-skandha bhujopaśākhāḥ]
prānopahārāc ca yathendriyānāṁ, tathaiva sarvārhaṇam acyutejyā

["Just as if you pour water onto the root of a tree, the whole tree is fed, and just as when you supply food to the stomach, the whole body is fed, so if you can gain knowledge of the prime cause, Brahman, then you can know anything and everything."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 4.31.14]

yasmin vijñāte sarvam evam [vijñātam bhavati / yasmin prāpte sarvam idam prāptam bhavati]

["By knowing Him, everything is known - by getting Him, everything is gained."]

To know the centre. So our Guru Mahārāja said, "Religion is proper adjustment. Adjustment with the whole, with the centre particularly." Adjustment, proper adjustment, and the keen competition is also not eliminated in the adjustment. Adjustment does not mean there harmonious static condition, but it is dynamic to the fullest extent. Harmony is not a static thing, harmony can be dynamic.

As a machine when working it is in harmony, rather, the harmony has got its test when the machine is working, the harmony. When static it is undetectable whether it is harmonious or not. But when in dynamic condition the harmony has got its test. What is harmony? Movement, but no collision. Without collision free movement of every part, that is harmony.

...

... if not manipulated by intelligence, guided by intelligence, energy has got no meaning. Guidance is necessary. So also, guidance or intelligence has no meaning if it does not connect with fulfilment, or satisfaction, or happiness, or sweetness, prema, love. Everything is meaningless if that aspect is eliminated from life. Fulfilment is in love, in beauty, in sweetness, in charm, sat-cit-ānandam, fulfilment. And guidance next, then energy, third, karma, jñāna, bhakti.

Without bhakti in the conclusion everything is useless, no purpose served. Bhakti is fulfilment, devotion, and devotion means acceptance of higher entities.

Bhagavān means, bhajanīya-guṇa-viśiṣṭha. Jīva Goswāmī gives this explanation, meaning of the word Bhagavān. Another plane of life is opened. When we come in His connection our heart wants to worship Him, to serve Him. Such qualification is there, they want to surrender, sacrifice, give himself for the satisfaction of that thing. He's Bhagavān. A third plane of life is opened when we come in connection with the conception of Bhagavān. Bhajanīya-guṇa-viśiṣṭha. He has got such quality that automatically our aspiration will be to surrender and to serve Him. A new plane of life. We want that everything will serve me, that is the general tendency here. But if we come in connection with the conception of Bhagavān, then at once the whole thing will be opposite.

"I must serve Him." From the core of the heart such wave will come that "He wants service, He should be served by all means." That plane comes in the eye. Bhagavān, bhajanīya-guṇa-viśiṣṭha. Not self- aggrandisement, or survival of the fittest tendency of elimination, elevation, all disappears. And even the complete retirement, that also eliminated. "I shall enjoy a retired life, mukti, renunciation, retired life of peace." Peace means retirement from the life of labour. But no, again in some tendency awakens. "I must serve. I want a life to serve. I have come in connection with such beautiful, and connection with such noble conception, heavenly conception of heart. Heart, such a heart I have noticed there, I cannot give my heart to that." Bhagavān, and Svayaṁ Bhagavān, what to speak of Him? Madly, everyone is mad to serve, to render his service. That is the stage of Svayaṁ Bhagavān.

And Uddhava was astonished to find. "We have some experience of surrendering and serving the Master. But such mad tendency to serve the Master as I find in Vṛndāvana and among the gopīs, we can never imagine in our life. So Svayaṁ Bhagavān, they have come in connection with Svayaṁ Bhagavān."

Bhagavān As It Is, independent of the spectators. Svayaṁ Bhagavān means Bhagavān.

[Śrīla A.C. Bhaktivedānta] Swāmī Mahārāja told, wrote, Gītā As It Is. Not modified by the different interpreters or onlookers of different meanings, but As It Is. So Bhagavān As He Is, free from the relative conceptions of so many. He's such. And who comes in connection with that they become mad to serve. Self-forgetfulness is complete, merged, that is a class of merging. This mukti-karmī, the salvationist, they say of this physical merging, but real living merging is there, life retained still merging. Mayātma-bhūyāya ca kalpate vai.

[martyo yadā tyakta-samasta-karmā, niveditātmā vicikīrṣito me
tadāmṛtatvaṁ pratipadyamāno, mayātma-bhūyāya ca kalpate vai]

["One who is subjected to birth and death attains immortality when he gives up all material activities, dedicates his life to the execution of My order, and acts according to My directions. In this way, he becomes fit to enjoy the spiritual bliss derived from exchanging loving mellows with Me."]

[Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.29.34]

Viśate tad-anantaram.

[bhaktyā mām abhijānāti, yāvān yaś cāsmi tattvataḥ
tato māṁ tattvato jñātvā, viśate tad-anantaram]

["By the potency of that supreme devotion, he is able to completely know My nature of Almighty Lordship and majesty. Thereafter, acquiring the perception of his divine relationship with Me, he enters into a group of My intimate personal associates, whose nature is non different from Mine."]
[Bhagavad-gītā, 18.55]

That is not this physical, material merging, but merging in the dynamic characteristic of the Lord. Not static merging. They also merge, and, mayātma-bhūyāya ca kalpate: enters into the family life of the Lord, that is that sort of merging, in a dynamic system, to merge in a dynamic system, not in a static substance.

["If Mahāprabhu had not appeared then how could we sustain our lives? How could we live? What type of ecstatic rasa has He imbibed that we have been able to have a little taste? Without this our lives would be impossible. Who else could take us to the acme of realisation of the position of Śrīmatī Rādhārāṇī. She holds the highest position. She is the greatest victim to the consuming capacity of Śrī Kṛṣṇa. She stands as the greatest sacrifice before Kṛṣṇa's infinite consuming power. Rasarāj-Mahābhav - the rasa is there, and She is the drawer of that rasa from the storehouse. She has such negative capacity that She can draw out the rasa to the highest degree both in quality and quantity."]

"If Gaurāṅga did not come with all this astonishing findings then how could we live?" Vāsudeva Datta says. "How could we live? The very vitality of our life He has taken out to us, the inner most vitality, that we are so great, so loving, so noble. If He did not come then who would have known about our own nobility, that so much noble self is within us, so much dignified self is within us, we are so big, so great."

Our Guru Mahārāja, in Dacca University, he gave the heading of the lecture: "Gauḍīya Maṭha stands for the dignity of the human race, not slavery." You fool, you think it's slavery, Gauḍīya Maṭha preaches slavery. Not slavery as you understand but the dignity of the human race. That human soul, any soul, how higher he can get his chance and he can rise, get up. So much prospect a jīva has got. The adoration of the Almighty, of Svayaṁ Bhagavān. As you give, so you have. So much giving and so much having also there. The Svayaṁ Bhagavān, the God As He Is, is not bankrupt, that He's only gathering loans from different parties, not so.

Uddhava was astounded. Vāsudeva Datta says: "Śrī Gaurāṅga has taken for us such a proud and wealthy and noble self, our position, our ideal position of what is this. Then how could we live if I could not come to know my so much dignified position? Without knowing that, that is a life of death, life in death. Without proper knowledge of one's own self, own wealth, own noble self, that is a sort of life in death. He has given us our life. Otherwise we could not have lived without knowing that I am so noble. He has come with these tidings to us, Gaurāṅga. Now we think without that we could not live. I have got such a fortune, greatness, wonderful degree of fortune we have got. And Gaurāṅga is saying that. You Vasudeva, you people, you devotees, you do not know how great you are. With these tidings He has come to our door."

And Nityanānda Prabhu rolled from one door to another door. "Accept Gaurāṅga. What is going by your side, by the road of your gate, you do not know. Don't eliminate My friend, don't eliminate. Try to have and your joy, your fortune, will know no bounds. Don't avoid Gaurāṅga." Nityanānda Prabhu carried this news from door to door. "Don't avoid Gaurāṅga. You know not what treasure He has taken for you My friend. Accept Him, accept Him, take Him in, give yourself to Him. And what fortune you'll derive you cannot estimate. Accept Him, accept Him." This was the duty of Nityanānda, door to door. He has got inner appreciation for the breeze. By two sides of the Ganges Nityanānda Prabhu along the sides of the banks of the Ganges so many villages and inhabitants He appealed with utmost earnestness. "Accept Gaurāṅga, accept Gaurāṅga."

"Accept Gaurāṅga and you'll become heart of My heart."

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. This is the place.

kuliyā-grāmete āsi' śrī-kṛṣṇa-caitanya, hena nāhi, yā 're prabhu nā karilā dhanya

["At Koladvīpa - the Govardhana Hill of Vṛndāvana, concealed in Śrī Navadvīpa Dhāma - the Most Generous Absolute expressed Himself in His maximum generosity. Without considering any crime, He absolved whoever He found. He accepted them all."] [Caitanya-Bhāgavata, Antya-līlā, 3.541]

The most magnanimous expression came out here in Kuliyā when He dissolved so many Vaiṣṇava aparādhī. So many persons that committed offences against the Vaiṣṇava, here in Kuliyā and Govardhana. Aparādha-bhañjan-pāṭ, their greatest crime was pardoned here, forgiven here. So I have selected this position. All the serious, grave offences will be forgiven. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Govardhana, Girirāja Govardhana, very favourite, selected abode of our Guru Mahārāja. The Rādhā-kuṇḍa is the highest, but there our Guru varga, our senior and superior guides will be there, and we shall be a little far off. We cannot encroach that highest position. From there we shall come and serve them and go back. That is Govardhana.

nijana katoni varsan dehi govardhana stan [?] In his last days he liked very much to hear this poem of [Raghunātha] Dāsa Goswāmī and Rūpa Goswāmī, nijana katoni varsan dehi govardhana stan. And that is the meaning, Rādhā-kuṇḍa is the highest, but,

pūjāla rāgapaṭha gaurava bāṅge, [mattala sādhu-jana viṣaya range]

["The path of divine love is worshippable to us and should be held overhead as our highest aspiration."]

Giving respect to the highest position, to the superiors, we shall come down a little so our pride will be a little checked in normal position. There not in the verge, in the highest position, but a little less, trying to climb. Vaiṣṇava dāsa not Vaiṣṇava. That is the position very advantageous and intelligent position to be taken, that "I am not Vaiṣṇava, I am Vaiṣṇava dāsa." The promising, kiśora, not full youth but only climbing, going to the youth, kiśora. That is the best position, only progressing, not fully attained, but only going to get the full attainment, that position is good. Nijana katoni varsan dehi govardhana stan [?] Govardhana.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari.

... [Śrīla A.C. Bhaktivedānta] Swāmī Mahārāja, he mentioned in his diary or somewhere else that once circumambulation of Vraja-maṇḍala in Kosi or somewhere, Prabhupāda [Śrīla Bhaktisiddhānta Saraswatī Ṭhākura] told that: "Today in the evening I shall take a class." But many of the sannyāsīns went away to see the Śeṣaśāyī, and few remained to hear him.

Badrinārāyaṇa: ... temple in Vṛndāvana, it's in the Līlāmṛta [Vol 1, page 67] by Satsvarūpa Goswāmī.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I heard from someone that Swāmī Mahārāja mentioned that he stayed. I also stayed to hear Prabhupāda rather than to go to some other place and have darśana of Śeṣaśāyī.

To avoid that darśana Prabhupāda he himself told that, "This evening I shall take the class."

But some remained and some went. Because the next day we'll have to start to some other direction and that darśana will be avoided. And there, that's also an important place where Lakṣmī Devī is serving Nārāyaṇa, Śeṣaśāyī, Nārāyaṇa. And gopīs when they went to see they felt the highest degree of separation there.

yat te sujata saranam buhasta neshu, priyo dadhi mahi kat kadesu [?]
tena tabi mata citad batati na kincit, kutpalavi bham bhauma tadit bhava taya samunu [?]

There we heard from Prabhupāda a new meaning of Govardhana. Govardhana, he told that just as the breeding of the cow section does not care for any social rules, so also the devotees of Kṛṣṇa, they do not care for any social rules but go on extending their group. Neither brāhmaṇa, vaiśya, śūdra, kṣatriya, or vaiśya, caṇḍāla, mleccha, they do not care. Without caring for the social rule they go on increasing their own nationality, ha, ha, ha, their own group, own section, Kṛṣṇa bhakta, Kṛṣṇa conception. Without caring for any stage of environment they can try to continue to extend the thought of devotion to anywhere and everywhere without caring for the yogyatā, or the capacity of the disciples, without caring.

But there is one Lakṣmīdar śloka.

ākṛṣṭhiḥ kṛta-cetasāṁ sumanasā-muccāṭanaṁ cāṁhasām
ācaṇḍāla mamū kaloka sulabho vaśyaś ca muktiśriyaḥ no dīkṣāṁ na ca sat-kriyāṁ na ca puraścaryāṁ manāgīkṣate mantro 'yaṁ rasanā-spṛg eva phalati śrī kṛṣṇa nāmātmakaḥ

["The Holy Name of Kṛṣṇa is an attractive feature for many saintly, liberal people. It is the annihilator of all sinful reactions and is so powerful that save for the dumb who cannot chant it, it is readily available to everyone, including the lowest type of man, the caṇḍāla. The Holy Name of Kṛṣṇa is the controller of the opulence of liberation, and it is identical with Śrī Kṛṣṇa. Simply by touching the Holy Name with ones tongue, immediate effects are produced. Chanting the Holy Name does not depend on initiation, pious activities, or the puraścaryā regulative principles generally observed before initiation. The Holy Name does not wait for all these activities. It is self-sufficient."] [Śrīla Rūpa Goswāmī's Padyāvalī, 29]

The mantra, the sound of the Name of Śrī Kṛṣṇa is so powerful it does not care for any capacity of the soil. Anywhere it may be thrown down and it will spread out, this so powerful seed. Ākṛṣṭhiḥ kṛta-cetasāṁ sumanasā-muccāṭanaṁ cāṁhasām. Only those that have got some sort of previous sukṛti, they are attracted and captured by this Kṛṣṇa conception, the mantra of Kṛṣṇa conception where within the mantra where the subject matter is Kṛṣṇa. That only can attract a particular group.

As Acyutānanda told to a local headmaster, [after the headmaster said], "We are so near, we can't understand Mahāprabhu. But you have come, you are attracted from far away under the banner of Mahāprabhu. What is the cause?"

brahmāṇḍa brhamite kona bhāgyavān [jīva, guru-kṛṣṇa-prasāde pāya bhakti-latā-bīja]

["Wandering throughout the material universe, the very fortunate living entity who receives the grace of Guru and Kṛṣṇa receives the seed of the creeper of devotional service."]
[Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 19.151]

The answer. "It's not a question of locality. But in the whole of the brahmāṇḍa that peculiar qualification may be seen, kṛta-ceta, who has got some sukṛti, some sādhu-saṅga in any form or other. Only they're attracted, from all sections, only selected few they're attracted. Kṛta-cetasāṁ sumanasā-muccāṭanaṁ cāṁhasām. And very easily it can drive away the sinful tendencies, very easily it brushes away. Kṛta-cetasāṁ sumanasā-muccāṭanaṁ cāṁhasām means pāpa, or sin. Muccāṭanaṁ cāṁhasām. Ākṛṣṭhiḥ kṛta-cetasāṁ sumanasā-muccāṭanaṁ cāṁhasām. Ācaṇḍāla mamū kaloka sulabho vaśyaś ca muktiśriyaḥ. And it is open to all except those who can't speak, those who are not dumb only, they can have this chance of getting the Name, mute and dumb...

83.08.30.B_83.08.31.A

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...mukti is a foundation, and there stands a self structure. Vaśyaś ca muktiśriyaḥ. Only that can attract this. Mukti, liberation is no qualification. But after liberation the resources of the soul is there, and that can only serve and attract Him, this name, vaśyaś ca muktiśriyaḥ. No dīkṣāṁ na ca sat-kriyāṁ. Without taking to any formal dīkṣā, the mantra dīkṣā, sat-kriyāṁ, or any good activity like tapasya, going to the Himālayas, and fasting, and taking bath, all these formalities. Na ca sat-kriyāṁ, does not care for anything and everything. No dīkṣāṁ na ca sat-kriyāṁ na ca puraścaryāṁ. There are so many formalities of the scriptures, that it must be worshipped with this way, that way, the mantra. In a particular date, it should be treated in this way, that way, pūjā, mantra, all these things. It does not care for anything else. Na ca sat-kriyāṁ na ca puraścaryāṁ manāgīkṣate, mantro 'yam rasanā-spṛg eva phalati. Only anyhow if it can touch the tongue it comes to success. Mantro 'yam rasanā-spṛg eva phalati śrī kṛṣṇa nāmātmakaḥ.

[ākṛṣṭhiḥ kṛta-cetasāṁ sumanasā-muccāṭanaṁ cāṁhasām
ācaṇḍāla mamū kaloka sulabho vaśyaś ca muktiśriyaḥ

mantro 'yam rasanā-spṛg eva phalati śrī kṛṣṇa nāmātmakaḥ]

["The Holy Name of Kṛṣṇa is an attractive feature for many saintly, liberated people. That Mahā-mantra which is consisted of the Name of Śrī Kṛṣṇa, it is such. It is such, so extensive in its magnanimity it does not care for any formal approach. Anyhow, if it comes in connection, we will get the benefit. As autocrat and boundless mercy, the nature of Kṛṣṇa mantra is such. Is such, in any place, any time, the transaction may go on. Not this kali-kāl [?] Where all have failed but Kṛṣṇa mantra has got its, gloriously, it is such, no adverse circumstance can produce any obstacle to this, this is such. But only condition that sukṛti, sādhu-saṅga. Only one thing that to have the real thing, we're to have proper connection. It must be Kṛṣṇa Nāma and not any imitation, as we find amongst the sahajiyā section, imitation. Kṛṣṇa Nāma proper, that is so powerful.

So it is also said, nāmākṣara bahiraya batu nāma kabu naya [In Jagadānanda Paṇḍita's Prema-vivarta]. The physical sound may appear imitation but no effecting at the same time. Nāmākṣara, because that is not Kṛṣṇa. There is anyābhilāṣa, karma, jñāna in the layer, upādhi, on the cover and not in the spirit within. The thing it must be. Just as the greatest poison, cyanide acid, that can show its force, power. But if it's not a smallest portion of cyanide acid, that can show its force, power, but if its not the cyanide acid but some similar thing, then of course no result. It must be Kṛṣṇa Nāma, Kṛṣṇa. That sort of inner vibration must have to come. Kṛṣṇa, with the elimination of so many things.

Kṛṣṇa. gaurami gaurami mukhay boli de nahi choli [?] Not to canvass that I belong to Gaurāṅga, only canvassing, external bogus canvassing won't do. A very little quantity, but it must be the same thing, then it will miraculously work. We are only to be careful there. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol. Nitāi Gaura.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: So the real meaning of dumb, mukha, means no sādhu-saṅga, not only the tongue ability.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Not physically, the mentally dumb.

Devotee: Mahārāja. What do you mean exactly by bogus external canvassing?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Eh, what?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Gaurami gaurami. Bogus external canvassing. "I am Gaurami" you told, "Gaurami gaurami. I belong to Gaura." Bogus external canvassing. What do you mean exactly, he says.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is just as imitation trade may be. A particular thing. The Henry Ford car has got good name in the market. I'm also, to capture that good name, similar car I'm also producing and trying to give floatation to the market and to become rich. That is the competition of imitation things. Easily with less cost the imitation thing is produced and that comes in the market to compete with the genuine thing. Something like that. Gaurami gaurami _____ [?] That is not hypocrisy, that is treachery. To come with the thing in the market that, "Oh this sunlight soap, take sunlight soap from me with less cost. This is sunlight soap. I'm producing with less cost. You take all these things." In this way, try to capture the market, the foolish people, with imitation thing.

Devotee: But myself I am great part imitation and small part real devotion. So how to balance between becoming real devotee and performing service?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In association with real devotee, the real part will develop, and this will go away. Everyone in the beginning gets the small thing. But our adherence to that, and our negligence to the other part, that will help us. It's not in your case, it's everywhere. When one begins such life the smallest part in him only have. But the tendency, but the inner man must take side of that smallest part, and help him to get good association. And other undesirable things will die out gradually. Anartha, anartha-nivṛttiḥ.

Thereafter one is initiated by the spiritual master and executes the regulative principles under his orders. Thus one is freed from all unwanted habits and becomes firmly fixed in devotional service. Thereafter, one develops taste and then attachment. This is the way of sādhana-bhakti, the execution of devotional service according to the regulative principles. Gradually spiritual emotions manifest and intensify, then finally there is an awakening of divine love. This is the gradual development of love of Godhead for the devotee interested in Kṛṣṇa consciousness."] [Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, 1.4.15-16]

Anartha nivṛttiḥ, ādau sādhu-saṅga bhajana kriyā, then anartha-nivṛttiḥ. Development of a particular side, feeling the higher part and the lower parts fasting they will die, without food. We shall have to connect with the sādhu-saṅga. There the lower part will be well fed and they will grow. And without food these things will die out. Anartha nivṛttiḥ, bhajana kriyā, anartha nivṛttiḥ. Anartha nivṛttiḥ is the result of particular activity. Śravana kīrtana, etc, sādhu-saṅga, with the association of the pure devotee, the cultivation will go on, and the other things will gradually vanish.

Karmardy yasyamunti nasyanti sadbai may nisyanti [?]

Our Guru Mahārāja once told to one Kundanlal. He was twenty years assistant on Manchester Guardian, in England. And a spy student in Germany in the first great war. A gentleman in Agra town, when he came to Guru Mahārāja to take Harināma.

"Only we must allow Kṛṣṇa Nāma to land in our heart and He will capture gradually the whole of the heart. Others will have to walk out."

That prospect. The Kṛṣṇa Nāma means with the idea of purity and dignity, everything. Not only the sound, but with the prospect contained within the sound. When the real Name of Kṛṣṇa will land in the heart of a man, gradually the whole heart will be captured, conquered. Because none will be able to stand in competition with Him, they will have to retire, to close their doors of business, when Kṛṣṇa enters any heart. Such prospect, such facility, none can promise or give, the highest. So Kṛṣṇa is such, anyhow only landing and entering into the heart.

praviṣṭaḥ karṇa-randhreṇa, svānāṁ bhāva-saroruham dhunoti śamalaṁ kṛṣṇaḥ, [salilasya yathā śarat]

["When Kṛṣṇa enters the heart through the ear, He captures the lotus of the heart and then gradually makes all the dirt in the heart disappear. Just as when the autumn season comes, all the water everywhere becomes pure, so also, when Kṛṣṇa enters our hearts, all the impurities within will gradually vanish, and only Kṛṣṇa will remain forever."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 2.8.5]

Everything will be driven out, brushed aside. The prospect, the quality and quantity of the prospect is such, automatically, everyone, all the businessmen will have to go away. None can stand in competition with Him, Svayaṁ Bhagavān. He's Svayaṁ Bhagavān, the source of all goodness, of all maṅgala, goodness, and auspiciousness, everything, everything good, the source. He's the proprietor. All others they're...

One is producer of, and another purchases from him like broker. All other gods like brokers, take from Kṛṣṇa and they come in the market and distribute the things. When Kṛṣṇa Himself, the producer, Himself comes in the market, everyone will have to go away. Svayaṁ Bhagavān.

"Mayaiva vihitān in Gītā [7.22], kāmais tais tair [7.20]. Sometimes they go to so many gods, they're My agents, mayaiva vihitān hi tān, I supply those gods to continue their business. But antavat tu phalaṁ teṣāṁ [7.23], their store is limited, it is finished, but My store is Infinite. But they also do My business, takes from Me different things and go on with their business. I help, I'm at their backing. So more price, less gain. Direct customer of Me, then their position is otherwise. There are no things in the store, store is limited, come sometimes after. No such thing, always filled up. Yad gatvā na nivartante [Bhagavad-gītā, 15.6], opulence, always opulence.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Our Guru Mahārāja [Śrīla A.C. Bhaktivedānta Swāmī Mahārāja] told, "If anyone comes to the mandeer you must give prasāda. You cannot say that there is a shortage, because Rādhārāṇī is in charge of the temple."

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ha, ha. Hare Kṛṣṇa. I heard when I came in the beginning, one Bolan [?] Mahārāja, he was Vaiṣṇava Carana, he told that, "During Mahāprabhu's Janmatsava so many boys and girls, amongst the pilgrims of the locals, boys and girls are coming for prasādam. I'm distributing this prasādam, this _____ [?] some sweetmeat preparation, _____ [?] some halava, prasādam distributing. Coming, one boy and girl and sometimes men also coming, twice, thrice, they're coming and asking. Then I could recognise. "Oh, I have given you twice, don't come, don't come." And they're going away.

Then Kuñja Bābu was there, our Tīrtha Mahārāja, there as general secretary, he noticed the attitude of the distributor. He himself told, that distributor told it to myself direct. Kuñja Bābu asked, "Are you distributing prasādam or halava? What do you distribute? Mahāprabhu is there, it is infinite, so go on giving, twice, thrice, four times, or as much times as they come you go on distributing."

Devotee: _____ [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: At Mahāprabhu's marriage ceremony, some came once, twice, thrice, in this way. Then when it reached the ear of Mahāprabhu He told, "Thrice, everyone should be given thrice." He gave declaration, "Not only once, thrice." In this way. Infinite.

Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol.

Another type in Kṛṣṇa nature.

kṛṣṇa bole armai, agai magai visai su, amrta jali visnagi, sei bara mukha, [?]
ami vigraha sei murti visay kana jiva, sa caranamrta de avisay pralai [?]

ye yathā māṁ prapadyante, tāṁs tathaiva bhajāmy aham
[mama vartmānuvartante, manuṣyāḥ pārtha sarvaśaḥ]

[Śrī Kṛṣṇa says: "As a person takes refuge in Me and surrenders unto Me, I respond and reward accordingly. Being the ultimate goal of all philosophies and doctrines, I am the objective to be attained by all. Certainly, O Pārtha, everyone follows My various paths in all respects."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 4.11]

"Whomever will approach Me, with whatever attitude or aspiration, I respond accordingly, that is the general nature of Me."

Then also He says, muktiṁ dadāti karhicit sma na bhakti-yogam.

[rājan patir gurur alaṁ bhavatāṁ yadūnāṁ, daivaṁ priyaḥ kula-patiḥ kva ca kiṅkaro vaḥ astv evam aṅga bhagavān bhajatāṁ mukundo, muktiṁ dadāti karhicit sma na bhakti-yogam]

["Śukadeva Gosvāmī continued: My dear King, the Supreme Person, Mukunda, is actually the maintainer of all the members of the Pāṇḍava and Yadu dynasties. He is your spiritual master, worshippable Deity, friend, and the director of your activities. To say nothing of this, He sometimes serves your family as a messenger or servant. This means He worked just as ordinary servants do. Those engaged in getting the Lord's favour attain liberation from the Lord very easily, but He does not very easily give the opportunity to render direct service unto Him."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 5.6.18]

"Some people approach Me for bhakti, apparently. But I give them salvation, emancipation, and disperse them. Go. I am giving mukti. Why you want bhakti?"

That is also His dealing. And also He says, "One who comes to Me and he wants for this mundane prosperity, then I help him in such a way, why do you want this thing? Give up the idea of this mortal aspiration and accept My devotion."

Three types of nature He has expressed about Him. And that is according to the quality of the sukṛti of the man who is approaching. Only formally, "I want Your devotion," but at heart, aspiration for some other things, that is not compatible with the devotees.

"If something in his mind otherwise and he formally asks Me for bhakti, no, no, why do you take bhakti? Take mukti, go on."

Such a camp as ordered to Śaṅkara. lokarn madvi mukarn kuru [?] Not only his personal case but that sort of tendency is in general also, arrangement by Him. lokarn madvi mukarn kuru [?].

The segregation like the segregation of the serious patients from the ordinary type to save the ordinary type. In hospital, all TB, in a TB section, the mild patients are there, newly attacked, and the serious case is also there, hopeless. The hopeless and other case divided into two, that this will be. As injustice, if a serious case, a hopeless case is at the side by a new attacked case. So segregation is necessary, separation among the same is necessary.

So at heart, those that are not real devotees, they may be avoided to save this, the komala śraddhā, the soft type of devotee. If they get favourable condition, they will pass away to the highest position. But these people will disturb them. For this, that sort of arrangement. Lokarn madvi mukarn kuru [?]

"You, Śaṅkara, Mahādeva, you go and preach māyāvāda. That I am God. Who is God? I am God. That sort of gospel you go and preach."

So that serious case is taken away from another section. They will go on with that, and the others will be saved, the komala śraddhā, the beginners of the bhakti devotional school, they will be saved.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol. In this way we can trace partiality in the Supreme Authority, captured by the merit of the devotee, such things are there. A selection, gradation is always there. The ordinary mania that all is equal, all have equal chance, all is equal, that sort of mania has no place here. Selection, hierarchy is there, everywhere, and we must accept it as axiomatic truth.

Mahāprabhu is so much captured with the capacity of Rūpa Goswāmī, He taught him and also Himself inspired by inspiration He gave him everything about rasa-tattva. So much so, and again further He's recommending Svarūpa Dāmodara. "Really he's very meritorious to deal with the higher rasa."

So Svarūpa Dāmodara told plainly Rāmānanda Rāya, "Oh, it is your presence, your grace, we find there. Where He will get all these things, He says all these things, it is your grace we find."

Mahāprabhu flatly admitted. "Yes, what you have told it is all right. He's such a fit person to deal with this rasa that I have given him My whole capital, and you also give him." Mahāprabhu is madly recommending Svarūpa Dāmodara. yajñā patra ei bhakti paru taite [?] "Svarūpa Dāmodara, you also give all your hidden treasure to this devotee. He's really a man to deal with these things properly."

Wonderful. Though we have not gone through the higher teachings of Rūpa Goswāmī, this Ujjvala- nīlamaṇi and others. So we are told and from far away whatever we see how he has dealt with in details the mādhurya rasa, subtle stages of different characteristics, wonderful. The inner harem of the Lord, how it has been dealt there, it is simply wonderful.

Mahāprabhu confessing, "The whole of My heart, I have disclosed to him and you also help him."

Such recommendation, partiality to the proper person is there.

All equal, this is a bogus and non-productive idea of the half stupid. Never all equal. The gradation is there, everywhere. It is only a slogan of the māyāvādīs, all equal, Brahman.

Acintya-bhedābheda, bhedābheda, some points equal, some points different, always this is continuing, bhedābheda, and that is also beyond your conception. The bhedābheda, how much common and how much different, this is beyond your calculation. That is in the hand of that Autocrat, not under law, but sweet will there. So it is acintya, that not within law, that you will go and demarcate according to law, not that. It is in the free hand of the Supreme Lord, Autocrat. bhedābheda. Līlā. Līlā means above law, that is līlā, which is above law, yet sweet, yet it is sweet. And it has got some harmony, līlā, though above law but still harmony is there, consistency. Vyudha syamanyam tasmin noti tam [?] Always harmonising discordant element. That is His peculiar nature, and discordant elements get harmonised there. In Vedānta, Vyudha syamanyam tasmin nocit yam [?] It is not wonderful, it is not strange, but it is familiar to Him. Always we find that both opposite is meeting together in a greater harmony and then again the opposite meeting together, as a branch of branching.

We all for Himself, that is the creed. No individual prospect. All the prospects of all the individuals merged in Him. To seek for His pleasure, that is our highest object, aim of life in nutshell.

["Because I alone am the enjoyer and rewarder of all sacrifices. But since they cannot know Me in this way, they again undergo birth, disease, infirmity, and death."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 9.24]

We're fighting with each other. 'I'm enjoyer, he's enjoyer, he's enjoyer of seventy five degrees, he's of ten degrees, he's other degree, we're all enjoyers.' But no, all zero, cipher. Only one enjoyer and all to be enjoyed. Come to this spirit and you'll be peaceful. The realisation of this, not only negative side but positive side. Degree of self abnegation and searching after His satisfaction, that degree and hierarchy. Ultimately He's for Himself, we're all for Him, that is the creed.

Everything for Him, so no individual prospect ostentatiously. But in the inner world there is according to the degree of self-sacrifice and Kṛṣṇa searching, the degree of searching. The valuation will be there. So we have not room to complain that I'm sustaining loss or gain, individually. Everything by the sweet will, so no individual prospect and there, die to live. As much as we can forget our own special interest, we live so much. That is the principle, and as much as we can accept, then we can make progress in that way.

They have gained entrance into the land of dedication and are engaged there spontaneously in the Lord's loving service. Among all devotees, however, the gopīs are the highest, for they have forsaken everyone, including their families, and everything, including the strictures of the Vedas, and have taken complete shelter at the lotus feet of Kṛṣṇa, accepting Him as their only protection. Everything, ultimately, going to the grave. But there is a world where grave is unknown, nitya-līlā, pastimes going on eternally. And a particle of that soil is within me, I can trace it out now. It Upaniṣads says: buddhay ratma maham para [?] We're to understand what element practically our intelligence is. To catch it direct. It is from the background it is dictating. Our reason is dictating from the background. But we cannot come to understand it face to face, what is what element in me is there which is acting as reason. It is possible that we can feel that, we can come in direct contact with that. And then with the help of that reason, we're to go further up, to find our ātmā. Who am I? Neither this body, nor the mind, nor the intelligence, or conscience, that works from background. We're to cross that and in then the highest layer we shall find who we are. Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: We have got revolutionary change in our experience. Such a wonderful substance is there. And Paramātmā and Godhead is that side. On realistic basis we shall have our stand. Not theoretical, not abstract, not imagination, not poetry. But it's fact, and such a fact that this world under mortal influence, this is nothing. This is shadow, this is imagination, concoction. But fact is there, reality is there in that level, if we can come in direct contact with that soul which is within us. I myself am that, I must have realisation of my own proper self, then fully I shall have confidence that upward from here. The transient world lower side, and the upper side is substantial, and real and eternal substance world, upper side. And taṭasthā, the marginal position I hold in the soul which can contact with upper and lower, adaptability of both sides.

["O mighty Arjuna! Knowing the soul to be thus perfectly distinct from the intelligence, steady the mind with resolute intelligence and destroy the indomitable enemy, lust."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 3.43]

Kṛṣṇa's recommendation how to conquer all our greed for this mundane. At one stroke, the whole charm for the mundane world will be smashed, banished altogether, only when you come to understand that my soul is such noble, and dignified unit of a novel world, a new, unknown world, my soul. If you can find that basis then the other world's prospect will be open to you, in reality, not in imagination, not in poetry. And this charm for the wholesale of this mundane world will disappear altogether. Jahi śatruṁ mahā-bāho, kāma-rūpaṁ durāsadam. Your affinity, attraction towards this sense experience world will be finished for all. That is the key to success of controlling the charm of the mundane world, and our progress will be solid, fair, invulnerable, and prospering, prospect giving. 'Yes, another world is there.' It must come within our feeling.

Socrates had to invite death to say that, "Soul is immortal." The people of this mortal world could not forgive him for his statement that, "Soul is immortal." And that, in the name of religion, that man was killed, murdered, in the name of religion. _____ [?] That to say what is what, that soul is immortal, he was dealt with punishment of death in the name of religion. "He's disturbing our religious faith, that man is disturbing, so finish him."

And Christ also, little further, more. "God is there, not theoretically, but really He's there. Everything belongs to Him."

They all revolted. "Oh, so many gods to supply our lower whims. We give something, this cock or duck, as sacrifice and we get so many things from the gods. He says there's no other gods. There is another God, Supreme, and everything belongs to Him. Disturbing our religious faith. Finish him."

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Soul is there. God is there, in reality. And then the campaign to find out Him, that has real character. 'Yes, I'm marching towards God. This has got no charm, bhukti, mukti, dharma, artha, kāma, mokṣa, fourfold ends of life have no charm for me. I'm going to get the service of that noble truth. Sarva-dharmān parityajya [Bhagavad-gītā, 18.66] The whole energy of my life should be dedicated only to find out that exclusively.'

How to eliminate, what sort of things to be eliminated, that is mentioned there, in the definition of devotion. The search must be of this type. And that is existing from there also there is an attempt always to liberate souls from here. Anyhow we're to catch that agent. The agents

Thereafter one is initiated by the spiritual master and executes the regulative principles under his orders. Thus one is freed from all unwanted habits and becomes firmly fixed in devotional service. Thereafter, one develops taste and then attachment. This is the way of sādhana-bhakti, the execution of devotional service according to the regulative principles. Gradually spiritual emotions manifest and intensify, then finally there is an awakening of divine love. This is the gradual development of love of Godhead for the devotee interested in Kṛṣṇa consciousness."] [Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, 1.4.15-16]

When we can reach the stage of ruci, then our journey is almost safe. Up to that, before that, there may be many obstacles. As long as we cannot acquire ruci proper, our taste proper for the attainment of the higher entity, we're in danger. Any moment there may be some hindrance. So up to that we must strictly try to keep company with the divine association. We should not rely on us. We must keep ourselves under guardian so long. This clear consciousness we should possess, 'That I'm minor, I must be guided by a major. But when we come to the stage of that taste, ruci, then we can move a little freely, and help others also. Ruci, āsakti, bhāva, three middle stages. And the prema is the higher stage. In sādhana-bhakti we shall try to keep ourselves always as possible under a guardian, sādhu-saṅga. Gaura Hari bol. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol. It is reality. What is real, what is unreal, reality. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: _____ [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: _____ [?]

...

One devotee, he's giving a statement. "Oh, Kṛṣṇa, it is my duty to serve You wholesale. If in this matter anyone comes to challenge, I won't care. I won't care for anyone. Even Baladeva, even Lakṣmī Devī, if They come to push me away and to attempt to serve You direct, I won't allow Them to do so."

When Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu was being published here, written, one of my senior Godbrothers, Rāma Gopāla Datta, M.A, D.L [?], he was helping in doing all these things. He was puzzled. "What is this? A Vaiṣṇava must be humble. Humility and giving honour to other devotees, that should be his temperament. But what is this? He says, 'I don't care even for Baladeva, even for Lakṣmī Devī, what to speak of other devotees. I don't care them, it is my duty, I shall do it.' This is very much pride. It should not remain with a Vaiṣṇava."

So he came to me, I read twice, thrice, then found out what is the meaning. Then I told that, "His meaning is this, that he wants to say that Lakṣmī Devī, Baladeva, any other comes - you take a seat along with my Lord Kṛṣṇa. You are Vaiṣṇava, you are also object of my service. Service only reserved for me. I'm the servant. You are Vaiṣṇava, higher type. I shall serve you also. I don't, I can't allow - as long as I'm fit, I can't allow you to serve. Service is only my duty. And you all take a seat according to your relation there. I shall serve you all, in a group." Ha, ha. That is the temperament.

Then that gentleman, "Yes, yes. Here it is, the temperament is there."

[na me 'bhaktaś catur-vedī, mad-bhaktaḥ śva-pacaḥ priyaḥ]

["Even though a person is a very learned scholar of the Sanskrit Vedic literatures, he is not accepted as My devotee unless he is pure in devotional service. However, even though a person is born in a family of dog-eaters, he is very dear to Me if he is a pure devotee who has no motive to enjoy fruitive activity or mental speculation. Indeed, all respect should be given to him, and whatever he offers should be accepted. Such devotees are as worshippable as I am."] [Hari-bhakti-vilāsa, 10.127] & [Bhāgavatam, 7.15.2, purport]

"My devotees, they've got eligibility of accepting service as I do. They're one with Me. I'm not alone. If they're honoured, I'm honoured. If they're insulted, I'm insulted. This sort of organic relation with them."

In this way, one means not that Brahman sāyujya. But mayātma-bhūyāya ca kalpate.

[martyo yadā tyakta-samasta-karmā, niveditātmā vicikīrṣito me
tadāmṛtatvaṁ pratipadyamāno, mayātma-bhūyāya ca kalpate vai]

["One who is subjected to birth and death attains immortality when he gives up all material activities, dedicates his life to the execution of My order, and acts according to My directions. In this way, he becomes fit to enjoy the spiritual bliss derived from exchanging loving mellows with Me."]
[Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.29.34]

Viśate tad-anantaram.

[bhaktyā mām abhijānāti, yāvān yaś cāsmi tattvataḥ
tato māṁ tattvato jñātvā, viśate tad-anantaram]

["Only through love and devotion can I be understood as I am. Thereafter, fully understanding Me, you can merge into My entourage."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 18.55]

"That means enters My family, My group, of different categorises of service, servants."

A Vaiṣṇava is also to be worshipped along with His Master. It is also possible. So Kṛṣṇa, Rādhārāṇī with sakhīs They're all worshipped together, we shall understand. But they're so many in a serving relationship, but still to us they all deserve to be served by us. And that will be our good future if we get the service of the whole paraphernalia, Kṛṣṇa with His paraphernalia, His own group. That is laudable position of service.

So much so that [Raghunātha] Dāsa Goswāmī Prabhu, who has given the conception of the highest goal of life, he says, "If at least one the real, the most advanced serving element is not there, I don't want the Lord Himself. Varoru bakārināpi. [from Vilāpa-kuṣumāñjali, 102] If at least one higher serviceable element is not there, I won't like to go forward to serve Kṛṣṇa alone."

This is the temperament we should try to understand, what it this. Āśraya, viṣaya, āśraya together. That should be the object of us. The higher eternal servitors they should be included in the program of our service to the Lord. Everything connected. The throne, _____ [?] the tree, the water, the hill, the soil, everything to be served. Whole Kṛṣṇa is there. Only Kṛṣṇa the person, no. Kṛṣṇa and His own paraphernalia, that is Kṛṣṇa proper. So with the whole paraphernalia we want to serve Kṛṣṇa. So Kṛṣṇa in Vṛndāvana with the proper paraphernalia, with all His servitors of different types, we want to serve them. Our heart will be broader to accommodate that Kṛṣṇa, not only one single Kṛṣṇa, person, not that.

And their only hope is that one day they'll be able to reach the destination where they'll be able to serve Śrī Rādhā and Her Beloved. That is the aim, and their Gaura saṅkīrtana. And in a very big, dignified way the flag is fluttering there, high up in the sky, on the Ganges, on the summit of the Govardhana Giridhari.

It is mentioned there, and I was then only in a cottage, I wrote this, nineteen forty three, or so. And eighty three, forty years ago that came through my pen.

[śrīmac-caitanya-sārasvata-maṭhavara-udgīta-kīrtir jaya-śrīm

["On the banks of the Ganges in Koladwīpa, Nabadwipa, Śrī Caitanya Sāraswat Maṭh stands resplendent. The flag flies high, singing its glories around the world. There, the residents chant the glories of Lord Gaurāṅga and aspire to serve Śrī Śrī Rādhā-Govinda in the line of Śrī Rūpa."]

So what you claim at present that this will be here. And you will try to distribute, to extend your Gaura vāṇī from here to the world. That is divine arrangement. I keep it on my head.

Badrinārāyaṇa: Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Devotee [Haṁsadūta Mahārāja?]: So maybe I can serve your pen. I'm so, we're so new that we cannot even serve. We cannot serve you. If we can serve your pen, then we're doing - maybe we're getting some opportunity to come near.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I consider to be your property.

Devotee: No, no.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The property of the Vaiṣṇava.

Badrinārāyaṇa: Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Devotee: I came here with the hope against hope. I was hopeless. And now I'm getting hope that I'll get some service, then I'll want to live, because I didn't want to live any more.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja:

aher iva gatiḥ premṇaḥ, svabhāva-kuṭilā bhavet [ato hetor ahetoś ca, yūnor māna udañcati]

["Just as a serpent naturally moves in a crooked way, in a zigzag way, the nature of love is naturally crooked. It is not straight. So the concerned parties quarrel, sometimes with cause and sometimes without cause, and separation comes. Separation is necessary for the transcendental pastimes of Rādhā and Kṛṣṇa."]
[Ujjvala-nīlamaṇi]

Rūpa Goswāmī says, the course of the love is in a crooked way, just like the serpent. Serpent does not go straight, but naturally in a crooked way. So the prema, the love, the higher devotion, her nature is such. Sometimes thinking that I'm nowhere, sometimes I have great hope in my possession. So many, that is the pleasure of Kṛṣṇa, at His sweet will, free will, taking high and taking low, in this way going.

Devotee: And now I'm becoming hopeful. This is making me hopeful, if I can give some...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You've become hopeful you say. It is already there, but still 'you are hopeful' means the world at large is hopeful. Ha, ha. Hmm?

Devotee: I don't know.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: They'll derive the benefit of your hopefulness. What do you think?

Badrinārāyaṇa: Hare Kṛṣṇa. Yes Mahārāja. The hope of a Vaiṣṇava.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The hope, you want to give it, give Mahāprabhu to the world _____ [?]
Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol.

Asato ma _____ [?] In Upaniṣad. As if the existence in coming of non existence, asato, even we cannot detect, that is asato, we can't trace, that is asato. _____ [?] some visible thing coming out.

When Vyāsadeva before delivering his Bhāgavatam, the greatest book in the world, of highest thought, Vyāsadeva after giving so many things, Vedānta, Bhagavad-gītā, Mahābhārata, he's finding himself...

Devotee: Empty, vacant.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...unsatisfied. Vyāsadeva himself, Veda, Upaniṣad, Purāṇa, Mahābhārata, Vedānta, everything given by him, still he finds...

Badrinārāyaṇa: Some dissatisfaction.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...dissatisfaction within him. Then that is the foundation of the great Bhāgavatam. So when we're to construct a big building we're to dig deep, go down. To go up, go down. So sometimes this is the play, līlā of Bhagavān, what He does. _____ [?] Work is known by its fruit, its result. Hmm. What is bad or good is known by the consequence - it is read. Gaura Hari. Nitāi Gaura Hari.

Devotee: OK. Let me see now if I can go up. I've been going down too long, so deep, depression.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: All right. It is the crooked type of progress in the Vaiṣṇava world. Whose going up he'll go, "No, I'm going down. I'm going down."

[Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu said: "My dear friends, I have not the slightest tinge of love of Godhead within My heart. When you see Me crying in separation, I am just falsely exhibiting a demonstration of My great fortune. Indeed, not seeing the beautiful face of Kṛṣṇa playing His flute, I continue to live My life like an insect, without purpose."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 2.45]

"I'm a hypocrite."

Devotee: Yes. I was thinking in this way.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: "I'm a hypocrite. Hypocrisy is not leaving Me. What I'm showing it is a show that I feel tears, I cry, I madly dance in the Name of Kṛṣṇa. All hypocrisy. For the publicity of the people I have got that divine love, it is canvassing to the people for My own name and fame. I'm a hypocrite."

And it's said by Mahāprabhu Himself. Why? "He's so great. I could not touch even a smallest part. I'm so much proud. I could not have stood by His appreciation. I'm living, moving, eating, and dancing, and I say that I've got touch of Him. Nonsense. Only canvassing Myself that I have got divine love. That is so great one cannot tolerate the touch of that highest fortune _____ [?] So great, so high."

And Rādhārāṇī Herself says, "Only people call bad name for Me that I have got connection with Kṛṣṇa. My friends, believe Me, I say I've not the least love for Him, not the least. He's so great, so noble. What little thing I can do to give to Him? What little service I can render? Only people say that I'm His favourite, I can do His service satisfactorily, they say. But I know very well that I cannot do anything what I should have done."

That is the case, because that is infinite. So our highest masters they're of such temperament, what about us. Ha, ha. We're approaching towards that unknown and unknowable sweetness, or beauty, or harmony - march towards unknown harmony and sweetness, Kṛṣṇa, towards the unknown centre. Still, we can't back out. It is so sweet and little taste won't allow us to back out. It's nature is such. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Śukadeva Goswāmī says, "I have no charm for anything else in this external world. But my taste is captured by some high ideal I can't avoid. I do not want anything, even a cloth to cover, nothing. But my mind, such independent mind is forcibly snatched from me and made captive there. So high kind of sweetness, never to be found in this mundane. You all know how I'm indifferent to the mundane temptation, no mundane temptation, still I'm captivated somewhere else. I can't leave such sweetness."

[Kṛṣṇa-Karṇāmṛtam, 92]

Sweet, sweet, sweet, sweet, sweet. In this way. Bilvamaṅgala Ṭhākura's going on, on, on. Ha, ha.
That book has been published in Bengali, this Bilvamaṅgala Ṭhākura's Kṛṣṇa-Karṇāmṛtam. Mahāprabhu took it from southern tour to Bengal. Kṛṣṇa-Karṇāmṛtam, it is nectar in the ear, about Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa nectar through the ear. That is the name of the book. Recently it is finished, and that may be translated into English to capture the whole fortunate souls, Kṛṣṇa-Karṇāmṛtam. And Brahma-saṁhitā. Ke?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: My end is drawing near.

Badrinārāyaṇa: Hare Kṛṣṇa. We don't want to hear that Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You are beginning this kind of propaganda. Mahāprabhu's will, His will, try. What is what we don't know _____ [?]

Badrinārāyaṇa: Without you we can't go on Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ha, ha, ha. It's His will.

Devotee: Without you there's nothing to distribute.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. If He likes to make me stay and something more, maybe. Anything is possible.

Badrinārāyaṇa: So we're praying.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Gaura Hari bol. Nitāi Gaura Hari. When I was twenty two, one sādhu astrologer told that I'm to live for ninety two years. At that time I'm below twenty two. But I could not think in the course of my life that I shall reach that standard. Now I see that I'm nearby that, ninety two.

Devotee: Maybe a hundred and two.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And he told also, ātmā darśana ātmā satkatka. You will have direct vision of your soul, of the soul world. And third, at the end of your life you'll have to suffer something from rheumatism. Three things he told. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Badrinārāyaṇa: No rheumatism yet Mahārāja. Ātmā darśana is there, but no rheumatism.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ha, ha. Lastly, but afterwards it may come, don't know, may not come also.
Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol.

Badrinārāyaṇa: _____ [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: _____ [?] May be given to you, and other friends also.

[śrutim apare smṛtim itare, bhāratam anye bhajantu bhava-bhītāḥ]
aham iha nandaṁ vande, yasyālinde paraṁ brahma

[Raghupati Upādhyāya says: "Those who fear rebirth in this world may follow the advice of the Vedic scriptures - others may follow the Mahābhārata - but as for me, I follow Nanda Mahārāja, in whose courtyard the Supreme Absolute Truth plays as a child."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 19.96]

When Mahāprabhu was coming back from Vṛndāvana He met in Allahabad, in Prayāga, one scholar devotee from Tirhuṭiyā, some district in Behar, Tirhuṭiyā. Tirhuṭiyā Paṇḍita. Raghupati Upādhyāya his name. Mahāprabhu asked him - Mahāprabhu has gone that side, this intimation is spread all through, and the local devotees have come to have a darśana of Mahāprabhu. Raghupati Upādhyāya has also come there to meet Him from Tirhuṭiyā. The wonderful display of devotional symptoms they heard, and they wanted to see Mahāprabhu.

And when met, Mahāprabhu just to test He asked, "Who is the destination of our serving line, fulfilment where?"

Then Raghupati Upādhyāya came out with his own feeling, internal sanction, he told. "Śrutim apare smṛtim itare, bhāratam anye bhajantu bhava-bhītāḥ. According to my consideration I think those that go to get something from śruti, revealed truth, śruti, smṛti and the śruti when mixed with the habits of daily life, that has become smṛti. Śruti, to practice in our daily life, transformed in such way, that is smṛti. And bhārata, to attract those that have no entrance, admission into the higher revealed knowledge, śruti, smṛti, they're out castes, for them in story form the truth has been distributed. That is in Mahābhārata. And there is also Bhagavad-gītā there. Bhāratam anye bhajantu bhava-bhītāḥ. Let those that are afraid of their mortal life go to the śruti, smṛti, bhārata, etc. According to my consideration, those that are afraid of mortal life, they will run after these scriptures to find out some solution of their mortal life, that is liberty, emancipation. It is for them.

But my concern is not that. Let them do that. I consider them they're all mumukṣus, they want to get out of this mortal difficulty in this world. But my internal taste is something else. Aham iha nandaṁ vande, yasyālinde paraṁ. I'm not satisfied at all with the gift, with the proposal that comes to us through śruti, smṛti, bhārata, etc. My inner thirst is to have the service of Nanda Mahārāja, where we see, we're told that Param Brahman has Himself come to crawl in the compound of his house. What wonderful thing is this. They're searching after Param Brahman through śruti, smṛti, bhārata, etc. 'Where is Param Brahman?' They're searching for the unknown and unknowable. And here we're told that Param Brahman Himself has come down and crawling in the compound of His father Nanda. How wonderful is this. I want to take the feet dust of Nanda Mahārāja. Yasyālinde paraṁ brahma."

And what to speak, and who is to believe, there is another development here.

kam prati kathayitum īśe, samprati ko vā pratītim āyātu
go-pati-tanayā-kuñje, gopa-vadhūṭī-vitaṁ brahma

["To whom can I tell it, and whoever will believe it, that the Supreme Absolute, Param Brahman, the Paramour of the damsels of Vraja, is enjoying in the groves on the banks of the Yamunā?"]

[Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 19.98]

"People, they're so eager, so earnest in search of Param Brahman, and what do we hear? That Param Brahman has come here in Vraja and He's searching after the love of the damsels of Vraja. Eh? Gopa- vadhūṭī-vitaṁ brahma. The Param Brahman is hunting after the girls of Vraja? To whom should I speak it? And who will believe it? This is very, very astounding, that we search for Him and we do not get Him anywhere, and here Param Brahman He's searching, He's hunting after the girls of Vraja. It is the most astounding thing. So I do not - I eliminate everything from the list of my search. Only I try to concentrate in Vṛndāvana - what is there, where Param Brahman is, seems to be so easily had, and in a simple and plain way we can have Param Brahman. Is it possible? The impossible has come to be possible, to be fact? The impossible has come to be fact here in Vṛndāvana? Unthinkable. So this is my finding my Lord."

That Raghupati Upādhyāya opened his heart to Mahāprabhu Śrī Caitanyadeva.

"This is my heart's tendency, I told it to You, of Nanda Mahārāja."

And he had only a point of this kind of sukṛti that can take us direct there eliminating śruti, smṛti...

83.09.01.B

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Only,

brahmāṇḍa brhamite kona bhāgyavān jīva, guru-kṛṣṇa-prasāde pāya bhakti-latā-bīja

["Wandering throughout the material universe, the very fortunate living entity who receives the grace of Guru and Kṛṣṇa receives the seed of the creeper of devotional service."]
[Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 19.151]

Sādhu saṅga, only to hear, only to listen to the līlā, pastimes of the Param Brahman in Vṛndāvana. Who have got, felt some attraction for that type of līlā, Param Brahman, as in Vṛndāvana, a very little, a minutest drop, nothing necessary for them, only to hear it, to give statement, repeat. Kīrtana, smaraṇa, with sādhu saṅga, with proper enquirers, nothing else necessary, who can get.

Yasyālinde paraṁ brahma. Raghupati Upādhyāya. Jñāna śūnya bhakti. Only genuine drop of attraction towards this great and sweet līlā of Kṛṣṇa, Param Brahman. Yasyālinde paraṁ brahma.

kam prati kathayitum īśe, samprati ko vā pratītim āyātu
[go-pati-tanayā-kuñje, gopa-vadhūṭī-vitaṁ brahma]

["To whom can I tell it, and whoever will believe it, that the Supreme Absolute, Param Brahman, the Paramour of the damsels of Vraja, is enjoying in the groves on the banks of the Yamunā?"]
[Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 19.98]

Who will care to trust in these things, samprati, now? But afterwards, there is a hint, after the appearance of Mahāprabhu, then it will be easy to think that this is so. So samprati ko vā pratītim āyātu. Now none will believe this, but after Śrī Caitanyadeva will come to inaugurate this to the ordinary public, then people will somewhat believe it. That is the hint there. Samprati ko vā pratītim. Afterwards people will believe. Now none want to believe it. Nanda Mahārāja. Śukadeva Goswāmī. Parīkṣit Mahārāja says,

nandaḥ kim akarod brahman, śreya evaṁ mahodayam
yaśodā ca mahā-bhāgā, papau yasyāḥ stanaṁ hariḥ

["Having heard of the great fortune of mother Yaśodā, Parīkṣit Mahārāja inquired from Śukadeva Gosvāmī: O learned brāhmaṇa, mother Yaśodā's breast milk was sucked by the Supreme Personality of Godhead. What past auspicious activities did she and Nanda Mahārāja perform to achieve such perfection in ecstatic love?"] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.8.46]

Parīkṣit Mahārāja he can't contain himself but asks this question to Śukadeva. "What do you say? Brahman, Param Brahman, unknown and unknowable, mainly we know about Them. And what do you say? That Param Brahman Himself has come here to show His pastimes in this way? So what merit the Nanda Mahārāja acquired? Nandaḥ kiṁ akarod brahman. What sort of sādhana, the realisation did Nanda do, what sort of sādhana? Nandaḥ kiṁ akarod brahman, śreya evaṁ mahodayam. Producing such a great fruit, such sādhana, such sort of realisation, what Nanda has done? Yaśodā ca mahā-bhāgā. At the same time the fortunate consort of Nanda, what she did? Papau yasyāḥ stanaṁ hariḥ. You say the Hari Himself has sucked the breast of Yaśodā. Unbelievable things. Then what did they do in their previous life? I want eagerly to know that. That Whom we're searching, and searching, and searching, and searching, and He Himself come so familiarly to the person. Then what type of sādhana, the realisation, the trial, the endeavour they did that Hari can be got in such a way? Papau yasyāḥ stanaṁ hariḥ."

All wonderful, land of wonders. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Vṛndāvana. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

And the cowboys, ha, ha. [Śrīla A.C. Bhaktivedānta] Swāmī Mahārāja has written. "After finishing this duty what is given to me by my Gurudeva, then I shall join with You again in the forest of Vṛndāvana. And I shall have a free play with You. Luṭāpuṭi. We shall quarrel, we shall fight with one another. Sometimes You will be defeated, sometimes we will be defeated. Rolling, running, in such a way we shall again be with You in Vṛndāvana."

He has expressed his internal sentiment there in that book [Songs of the Vaiṣṇava Ācāryas, p 26-28]

"Let me finish the duties that have been entrusted on me by my Gurudeva Who is very, very beloved to You. And if I can discharge this duty successfully She will be - Rādhārāṇī, my Gurudeva - will be very much pleased. And You also must want that at heart. So please come to help me in this uncommonly difficult campaign my Lord. My friend, my Lord, come to help me in this great task."

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Sacrifice is so great and intense that the master and the man almost in the same level. No difference between master and man in Vṛndāvana. The servitor and the served, no such difference. Sometimes they're climbing on the shoulder of the served. In this way. But at the bottom the highest quality of sacrifice for the Lord is there, otherwise it cannot be conceived at all. And that is all sweet. Sacrifice is no sacrifice because the sweet element - the element within the service is so sweet that they cannot understand at all that they're doing any labour. That is no labour, all enjoyment life, no labour, all enjoyment. It seems like that, the service is so sweet, so sweet, and peculiar type.

There is on the cauldron the milk, and by the heat milk overflows, and Yaśodā running to save that milk. And already she had in her lap Kṛṣṇa sucking her breast. She threw Him away and ran to save the milk. It's very peculiar.

[This was spoken by Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu while in trance in the mood of Śrīmatī Rādhārāṇī, in the company of Svarūpa Dāmodara and Rāmānanda Rāya.]
[Jagannātha-vallabha-nāṭaka, 3.12-3] & [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 2.37-8]

Rāmānanda Prabhu [Mahāprabhu] says, "Suddenly He came with amazing sweetness with His appearance. And at that time two enemies attacked Me, one ānanda - that internal ecstatic satisfaction, and another - madana, in mādhurya rasa, that internal heart giving tendency, that came. The two tendencies came at once in Me, and they acted like enemies. They disturbed Me so much that I could not have a clear look I could not have. My mind was so much dispossessed by these two apparent enemies. One is ānanda, ecstatic joy, and another is madana, the tendency of surrendering wholesale for His satisfaction. And I could not have a clear and distinct darśana, sight of Him.

But now I have thought that I shall do some remedy. What is that? Punaḥ yadi kona kṣaṇa, kayāya kṛṣṇa daraśana, tabe sei ghaṭī-kṣaṇa-pala. I think I shall worship the very time when He comes, He appears. I shall try to satisfy the time, and if time is satisfied and stays for long time, then I'll have a darśana for long time. So I have settled in My mind - not the Lord, but I shall concentrate all My energy to satisfy the time. And if time is satisfied and he stands, he's pleased with my reverence, then automatically He'll be there. Punaḥ yadi kona kṣaṇa, kayāya kṛṣṇa daraśana, tabe sei ghaṭī-kṣaṇa-pala. However smallest portion of time that may be I shall try to make it linger by My offering honour to him. Ghaṭī-kṣaṇa-pala."

["While spiritual awareness is like night for the living beings enchanted by materialism, the self-realised soul remains awake, directly relishing the divine ecstasy of his un-interrupted spiritual intelligence. On the contrary, the wakefulness of materialistic persons addicted to sense enjoyment is night for the self-realised person who is completely indifferent to such pursuits. The realised souls, indifferent to the mundane, are ever joyful in the divine ecstatic plane, while the general mass is infatuated by fleeting mundane fancies devoid of spiritual joy."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 2.69]

The worldly people will say. "Oh, they're idle thinkers, they're not realistic in their life at all, visionaries. Those are visionaries discouraging this political movement. We're to stay here in the concrete world. We shall have to take our food and clothing. These fellows robbing the society, taking food not less in quality than others. And this sort of poison they're spreading around. Visionary."

But the visionaries say, "We're not visionary. Visionaries are you all, because you yourself admit that this earth, the sun, the whole world, always dying and one day it will disappear totally. With all the boast of your scientific enquiry, this civilisation, you yourself admit that everything will go away. And we're an intelligent section, we're searching for some soil while at that time also we can stay, we can live, we're trying to find out. When the earth will be bombed by atom bomb we shall go to the moon and stay there. Something like that. When we'll bomb to finish this earth, the whole solar system will vanish, but we shall stay in a soil, we're searching for that.

[na tad bhāsayate sūryo, na śaśāṅko na pāvakaḥ] yad gatvā na nivartante, tad dhāma paramaṁ mama

["My supreme holy abode is that place which the surrendered souls reach, never to return again to this deathly plane. Upon going there, one never returns to this material world. Neither sun, nor moon, nor fire - nothing can illuminate that all-illuminating supreme abode."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 15.6]

Mṛtyum jaya deśa, the land of the conqueror of death. Mṛtyum jaya, who has conquered the death. The land of them who has conquered the death. That plane we're searching for you. At that time you'll come to us and we shall give admission to you there. Hare Kṛṣṇa. In the bombing, when the atomic war will begin, they're preparing some underground safety place. But ours is not underground, it is all transcending plane, and any time anyone may have that plane for their livelihood. And that is more wonderful, and more giving. After all we're all searching after happiness, joy, and that is the plane of joy and happiness.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Politics must have its guidance from the spiritualist, the brāhmaṇa section. Brāhmaṇa means who is supposed to have appreciation for the unknown conscious region, they're brāhmaṇas. And politics must be under them. The brāhmaṇas will show, "Oh, you are fighting for which that is all transient, negligent thing. You're fighting for negligent things. These have got no such importance." Always their example, the example of the higher class always creates some impression to this world, that this material life is not very high and desirable. That is the only standard, in the forefront, and the management under that, then management has some moral value. Otherwise 'this is all, and nothing else' then anyhow this dacoiting, looting, all these things will prevail, no morality, no God.

One Mr. Comte in France he told that, "God fearing will help you to maintain the peace of the land. It will work for police, as police. It's for the police to maintain the peace, but God fearing will help there. If you do not believe in God, still, God fearing if it's in the country it will help a great deal to maintain the peace of the land, law and order, this God fearing. So it is not bad, try to keep it in the society, it will help you in the negative side also in such way. The people will automatically have fear of God they will go on in the moral way. Otherwise if you banish God then they'll be all looters, self seekers, and you won't be able to manage them, control them."

So in varṇāśrama the first rank they're showing the real happiness is on the unseen land, upward. Then the politics, political person will be able to easily control the mob. And under them the financier. And then under all the general labour, the general labour should be at the bottom. And a little above them the financier. Above them the kṣatriya, the political persons. And above all persons that believe in the unseen happiness. In this way an army will march from nescience to science, from ignorance to knowledge, consciousness. Varṇāśrama is an army, where differently the air army, the navy, the land soldier, the horse, the elephant, all these things. So generally four sections. The first rank the believer in the unknowable ecstasy, "This is not all - mind it," they're the leader. And next the organiser. The third the financier. And the fourth general labour. In this way it has been organised in India that the whole nation will march from ignorance to light, from darkness to light.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Nitāi Gaura Hari.

kṛṣṇa bhuli sei jīva anādi-bahirmukha, ataeva māyā tāre deya saṁsāra dukḥa

["Forgetting Kṛṣṇa, the living entity has been attracted by the external feature from time immemorial. Therefore the illusory energy [māyā] gives him all kinds of misery in his material existence."]

[Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 20.117]

"The want of Kṛṣṇa consciousness is responsible for all the troubles in the world." Mahāprabhu says. Gauḍīya Maṭha is trying to do that, to remove the fundamental difficulty. At the root of all these disturbance that they do not know what is their object. Whom they're finding He's Kṛṣṇa. Because they do not know. The only necessity is to connect them - that what you want, He's Kṛṣṇa. You do not know. But your inner search you cannot ascertain the inner search is only for Kṛṣṇa. Without Him nothing can satisfy you, even not Nārāyaṇa, even not Rāmacandra.

akhila-rasāmṛta-mūrtiḥ [prasṛmara-ruci-ruddha-tārakā-pāliḥ
kalita-śyāmā-lalito rādhā-preyān vidhur jayati]

[" 'Let Kṛṣṇa, the Supreme Personality of Godhead, be glorified! By virtue of His expanding attractive features, He subjugated the gopīs named Tārakā and Pāli and absorbed the minds of Śyāmā and Lalitā. He is the most attractive lover of Śrīmatī Rādhārāṇī and is the reservoir of pleasure for devotees in all transcendental mellows.'"] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 8.142]

All different types of rasa in details, it is only found in Kṛṣṇa. All the rasa, all the inner demands of our heart when it takes purification, then the product is Kṛṣṇa. Everywhere, the inner demand of every heart is a common thing, and He is Kṛṣṇa, the sweetness personified. Sweetness, charm, beauty, mercy, affection, harmony, personified. And you know consciously or unconsciously your thirst is only for Him. So akhila- rasāmṛta-mūrtiḥ. The scientific definition of Kṛṣṇa is this. All sorts of rasa - rasa means for which you feel taste, when that is personified, is given life, then you'll find He's Kṛṣṇa. So Kṛṣṇa is not being thrust on you, not a burden on your head. The scientific research scholars, spiritual research scholars, by His Grace, they have understood this thoroughly and trying to inform you. That what you want, you think that this thing, that thing, third thing, fourth thing, no, ultimately it will come to the conception of Kṛṣṇa consciousness. Nothing less can satisfy you. This has been thoroughly examined and investigated and the result is this. It is given by the spiritual scholars, the sādhus.

kurvanty ahaitukīṁ bhaktim, ittham-bhūta guṇo hariḥ

["Those sages who, being merged in the bliss of the spirit soul, are totally free from the binding knot of mental images - they too engage in the unmotivated service of Śrī Kṛṣṇa, the performer of marvellous deeds. This is but one of the qualities of the Supreme Lord Hari, who charms the entire world."]
[Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.7.10]

prāyeṇa munayo rājan, nivṛttā vidhi-ṣedhataḥ
nairguṇya-sthā ramante sma, guṇānukathane hareḥ

["O King Parīkṣit, mainly the topmost transcendentalists, who are above the regulative principles and restrictions, take pleasure in describing the glories of the Lord."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 2.1.7]

It has been seen, examined, thoroughly investigated, that even those persons who do not want anything else, self satisfied, their heart is also attracted towards Kṛṣṇa consciousness. It has been investigated, that those that do not want anything else, self contentment, but when they anyhow come in connection with Kṛṣṇa consciousness they're hankering towards that.

And Śukadeva says that, "Myself, I'm the witness. I have no aspiration for anything in this world, even not a cloth. What to speak of money, or a house, or anything else, even I do not want a cloth to cover me. Nothing necessary to me in this world. But my heart was attracted towards something and I'm helpless there. Helplessly I fell prey to that sort of consciousness."

pariniṣṭhito 'pi nairguṇye, [uttamaḥ-śloka-līlayā
gṛhīta-cetā rājarṣe, ākhyānaṁ yad adhītavān]

["O saintly King, I was certainly situated perfectly in transcendence, yet I was still attracted by the delineation of the pastimes of the Lord, who is described by enlightened verses."]
[Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 2.1.9]

"Fully established in non aspiration of this world as a whole, still, pariniṣṭhito 'pi nairguṇye, uttamaḥ- śloka-līlayā, gṛhīta-cetā rājarṣe. My heart has been snatched away from the equilibrium of mind. I had some sort of equilibrium, balance in my mind, but the balance is disturbed, equilibrium disturbed. And some attraction came from upward and snatched me that side, dragged me down."

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. The higher consciousness, higher feeling, higher sentiment, higher intelligence, all higher. Culminating in harmony, in love. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

So Caraka Ṛṣi said that, "This epidemic, what is the cause of the epidemic?" Caraka is an Indian doctor of exceptional quality, capacity. He remarked that, "What is the cause of the epidemic?" He says, "When those advocates of truth, justice, they commit something wrong, then that sort of sound creates anomaly in the vibration of the atmosphere. Who are exponents of justice, who have gone to help justice, they're the party to help injustice. Such treachery creates a particular disturbance in the vibration of the atmosphere. And from that air contamination the water is contaminated, and by water the land, and the trees, and the foodstuff, all contaminated by that sort of poison. And then it creates when they use that water, food, etc, epidemic comes, the wholesale disease springs up." This is the finding of Mahāṛṣi Caraka, the ancient medical authority.

Acyutānanda, he mentioned this in an article, hearing from here. And he told that that was very much appreciated. Ha, ha. Our sound may be the cause. A sound is good, can create goodness, and sound can create badness. Sound is the causal plane in this world. So if we accept the sound as the medium towards the highest original plane we can march on, that side, that direction. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

And in rāja, tāma connection becomes jīva. When jīva is free from rāja, tāma, he becomes Brahman, and then he goes above God. God is only Brahman in sāttya guṇa."

_____ [?] [Kṛṣṇadāsa] Kavirāja Goswāmī Prabhu - "It's wonderful that I'm writing. I'm so old, my hand is trembling, eye cannot see, memory failing, still I go on writing this book. It is very, very strange. Someone is doing work through me, utilising me."

Sanātana Goswāmī Prabhu also says, "What a mean and insignificant fellow I am. And I'm giving the description of so many queens of Kṛṣṇa, Satyabhāmā, Rukmiṇī, Jāmbavatī, where they're in the most confidential circle of Kṛṣṇa, in the harem of Kṛṣṇa, those ladies, and I'm giving description about them? What audacity I've got. But my readers, it is not mine. Someone is forcing me to write all these things. It's coming from some other quarter. I'm only the instrument. Otherwise what audacity I may have that I shall know and write about the character of the distinctive characteristic of those ladies in the harem of Kṛṣṇa. Is it possible? But someone is forcing me to go on with the pen in a particular way."

That is the thing, who can give himself at the disposal of that transcendental thought, of knowledge, they have to be instrumental. And the transcendental truth will come down to explain itself through a particular person, agent, in that way. The revealed truth comes in that way, scriptures come in that way. Of course there's degree, there's possibility of comparative study. But all of them are coming down, controlling the agent, they come through them. That is, revealed truth means that. They're mere instruments. And truth likes to come down from higher to lower through them. That is scripture, that is revealed truth. And there is also gradation of different type, different section, different plane, and there also comparative study is possible. That is also made by the same truth through some agency how the gradation is there. Ke?

Devotee: Saranga dāsa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. To have faith in this, that requires fortune, bhāgya.

brahmāṇḍa brhamite kona bhāgyavān jīva, [guru-kṛṣṇa-prasāde pāya bhakti-latā-bīja]

["Wandering throughout the material universe, the very fortunate living entity who receives the grace of Guru and Kṛṣṇa receives the seed of the creeper of devotional service."]
[Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 19.151]

Ordinary people they cannot put faith in these tales. "Oh, they're all stories, tales. What value it has got? Only abstract thinking - near about hallucination. But what is the difference between hallucination and your transcendental statement? They're one and same. They're all hallucination." But,

yā niśā sarva-bhūtānāṁ, tasyāṁ jāgarti saṁyamī
[yasyāṁ jāgrati bhūtāni, sā niśā paśyato muneḥ]

["While spiritual awareness is like night for the living beings enchanted by materialism, the self-realised soul remains awake, directly relishing the divine ecstasy of his un-interrupted spiritual intelligence. On the contrary, the wakefulness of materialistic persons addicted to sense enjoyment is night for the self-realised person who is completely indifferent to such pursuits. The realised souls, indifferent to the mundane, are ever joyful in the divine ecstatic plane, while the general mass is infatuated by fleeting mundane fancies devoid of spiritual joy."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 2.69]

Ordinary persons find night, and there are some who can see, and that degree of light. And as general persons when they find day, that is night to some people. So some consciousness - they have got recognition of such revealed truth that this is reality, and what you say to be real that is transient. All is changing, dying, evaporating. And ultimately you also admit that this will all vanish. The whole solar system, the concrete solar system of your thinking, that will go nowhere one day. I also know, you also admit that.

So there is time, and we've got opportunity to find out some other soil where to go and to take our permanent residence. We're in search for that.

Just as being afraid of the war of atom bomb, underground rooms are being prepared. If such fighting begins then we must enter into underground with arrangement of some oxygen and food.

So when the whole world will vanish, then from before we're searching for some soil. And we're known, we're given assurance, that is a permanent and very happy soil. And we can trace within you also a portion of that, ātmā. We can eliminate the world, then the senses, then the mind, then the wisdom, and above wisdom there is some light, spark. Spark of knowledge, divine spark, and we're told that you are that spark. And you as spark, the source of spark is there above your head. That is the land, that is the soil for which you are meant to live.

[na tad bhāsayate sūryo, na śaśāṅko na pāvakaḥ] yad gatvā na nivartante, tad dhāma paramaṁ mama

["My supreme holy abode is that place which the surrendered souls reach, never to return again to this deathly plane. Upon going there, one never returns to this material world. Neither sun, nor moon, nor fire - nothing can illuminate that all-illuminating supreme abode."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 15.6]

"A very sweet soil to live in." Kṛṣṇa says. "None will come to push you down from there. Na nivartante." And here within this circle of material going up, down, according to action, reaction. Going up and down, up and down, dying, dying, dying. Janma-mṛtyu-jarā-vyādhi [Bhagavad- gītā, 13.9] This is concrete. Real intelligence can detect all these defects of this life. So life has got higher prospect, try for that. This is nothing. What is there? Āhāra, nidrā, bhaya, maithuna (eating, sleeping, defending and mating). Āhāra, to relish the food. Nidrā, to enjoy the sleep. Bhaya, and then apprehension, always from all sides that some injury, harm may come to me in any form, this bhaya. And then maithuna, and to be united with a lady, and lady with a gentleman. But these are such pleasure is to be found all transient. That is always, even the animal circle, even in the tree circle also it's to be found, all these things.

But in human species you can search for your own home, sweet home, so try that. Find out your way and means how to reach your sweet home. That is permanent, sat, then cit, that is full of consciousness, knowledge. Ānandam, and that has got its fulfilment, ānandam. Don't want anything else but that fulfilment. You'll find that all the necessities you find in yourself, feel in yourself, has got its satisfaction there. The wholesale satisfaction of your inner demand is to be found only in the land of Kṛṣṇa, nowhere else. The subtle-most demand in your heart, everything in details will have its full satisfaction there. Kṛṣṇa is such. Without Him you are negative, your nature is a negative one, hankering, hankering, hankering. Ke?

That is the cause of suicide.

Devotee: I see.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Nothing in spirituality here. Only to join a particular association, that does not mean that one is relieved from all his previous tendencies of mind. Some previous bad tendencies were there. He could not have sufficient tolerance, forbearance, could not put sufficient faith in the dealings of the Lord. That whatever comes to him according to his previous karma that should be tolerated. And we must go on putting our faith and prayer towards the Supreme.

tat te 'nukampāṁ [susamīkṣamāṇo, bhuñjāna evātma-kṛtaṁ vipākam
hṛd-vāg-vapurbhir vidhadhan namas te, jīveta yo mukti-pade sa dāya bhāk]

[Lord Brahmā said, "One who, in the hope of achieving Your grace, goes on enduring the inauspicious fruit of his own karma, and passes his days practising devotion unto You in every thought, word, and deed - such a person is heir to the land of freedom: he attains to the plane of positive immortality."]

[Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.14.8]

Whatever adverse circumstances we fall in we must not back out. But we go on praying. "My Lord, my previous karma, the result is causing suffering. But You please protect me." While continuing that troublesome mental stage he won't lose his balance of mind, not lose his patience. He must go on praying. "Lord, this trouble, even leprosy, even severe pain due to anything else, that is due to previous karma. And that I must suffer. I don't like that will be taken up by anyone, to distribute that to any other agency. What I incurred, good or bad, I must suffer that, I won't transfer that to anybody. Nor I like that the Lord will come and purify them. Why? Why He'll come to purify? I shall have to suffer what I already - what has come as the misdeeds of my past life. I shall try to satisfy Lord, I won't go to smear Him with these bad things. "Here, You take all my sins. All the sins I give to You." This is not well for a pure devotee, he does not like that. "Oh Lord, remove my sins." No. "All the sins that I've committed I shall suffer. Only I want Your sweet connection, I may not forget You, and I can satisfy You, I can serve You. And not that You will serve me. Nāmno balā pāpa buddhiḥ. "I shall take the Name and Name will purify me. And I shall go on committing sin, and take the Name and the Name will purify my sin." That is offence. We won't ask God to take our sin, to purify our sin. I shall suffer that. But I want the connection."

And gradually these limited things will disappear. Mundane things are limited, they'll have to disappear. And I with pristine glory I shall enjoy the atmosphere of the purest devotees. Śuddha bhakti is such. They want only to serve, no selfish idea, nothing of the kind, only that, to satisfy Him.

Vidagdha Mādhava: Guru Mahārāja. There are friends of this person...

Vidagdha Mādhava: Right on the other side of the bridge, just on the other side, nearby the bridge.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Heinous dacoit. One man killed on the spot.

Vidagdha Mādhava: Very bad. Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ladies are also disturbed, snatching...

Vidagdha Mādhava: Molested.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...the earrings etc. In this way heard, how the administration going, the collective result of our karma. None to blame. This is the direction of Bhāgavatam. None to blame. A bad workman quarrels with his stools. As I eat, according to this, following my system stools come. No crime of stool. It is a necessary product of the food. So karma is like stools. As we do, so we earn the environment and the reaction. As we act, reaction similarly comes to us, individually and sometimes collectively. All like stools, all the results, all the environment. We earn such environment so none to be blamed.

But everywhere the Grace of the Lord to be traced. In the iron age also, in the worst period of our life, but the Lord is there waiting to help me. Only we must look after His Grace, and with all sincerity. He's everywhere waiting.

"My boy, look at Me. Don't make much of the environment external, dive deep. I'm very near to you. You have cast aside your focus, your consciousness cast aside, outside. Make it internal and you'll find I'm here. Make it above. You're looking down to secure your servants and comforts, looking down. But look up for higher existence than you. You'll find Me in that plane. Look up, don't look down for enquiry of servants. You become a master and you're in search for servants, serving things you're hunting after. But just take the course of the opposite, become servant and search for your Master, your Lord. Then you'll be taken, uplifted, taken up on higher soil. If you like higher soil to live in you'll have to serve. And you like mastership then you'll have to come down in the lower where you can be a master."

It is scientific thing, no exaggeration, no imagination. Because you always want to enjoy, you can enjoy only those that are of lower position, so mean association is inevitable to you. Prepare for higher service. Then you'll be able to come in contact with the souls higher positioned soul. Higher sacrifice, sacrifice, by sacrifice you go up. And by enjoying spirit you'll have to go down. So understand what is service, what is exploitation, what is enjoyment, and what is service. Service is pure, and there, there is also joy, ecstasy, that is of pure type in the service.

Just as in earning money, by labour, that is good, better, than securing money by thieving, stealing and committing dacoiting. That is bad. Rather to labour and to earn and to live on that, it is little better.

So when we accept the creed of slavery to the highest then that is the best. It is virod alaṅkāra [?] How to become a slave, to attain the best position, is a mockery. To become a slave, to attain the highest position, what do you say? It is impossible. But slave to whom? The Absolute Good, to have connection with Him.

And it is, Milton says, or someone, "It is better to reign in hell than to serve in heaven."

But just the opposite. "Better to serve in heaven than to reign in hell." That is ours, to serve in heaven, higher heaven, to serve. Automatically, if to have a higher connection we must approach him as a small person. And we can boast 'I'm the Lord.' That must, cannot but be a lower area, it is easy to understand.

Devotee: Guru Mahārāja. What's the difference between being told by a pure Vaiṣṇava to chant Hare Kṛṣṇa and receiving Hari Nāma from the pure Vaiṣṇava?

kṛṣṇeti yasya giri taṁ manasā[driyeta, dīkṣāsti cet praṇatibhiś ca bhajantam īśam śuśrūṣayā bhajana-vijñam ananyam anya-, nindādi-śūnya-hṛdam īpsita-saṅga-labdhyā]

["One should mentally honour the devotee who chants the Holy Name of Lord Kṛṣṇa, one should offer humble obeisances to the devotee who has undergone spiritual initiation [dīkṣā] and is engaged in worshipping the Deity, and one should associate with and faithfully serve that pure devotee who is advanced in undeviated devotional service and whose heart is completely devoid of the propensity to criticise others."]

[Śrī Upadeśāmṛta, 5]

Wherever we shall have in the Name of Kṛṣṇa we shall adore him in mind. Dīkṣāsti cet. But if he's connected with a noble Guru, has connection, then we shall bow down to him. Praṇatibhiś ca bhajantam īśam śuśrūṣayā. If we have any devotee who is without break continuous in his service then we shall try to serve him. Continuous serving mood, if we find any devotee towards his Lord, we shall go to serve him. Śuśrūṣayā bhajana-vijñam ananyam anya. And if we can find by our rare fortune any person who is always deeply engaged in Kṛṣṇa consciousness then we shall try in any way to get some favour from him.

Mahāprabhu says, "Wherever you hear the Name of Kṛṣṇa once you may think that he's within our group, friend. And when you find taking the Name of the Lord always - outside he may engage himself in several different type of services, but internally taking the Name, then you'll know that is the middle Vaiṣṇava, and try to serve him. And whenever by fortune you can find any devotee coming in contact with him you will feel tendency of Kṛṣṇa Nāma within you, yāṅhāra darśane mukhe. Whenever you come across to see such type of devotee that you will feel within your self to take the Name of Kṛṣṇa, he's the highest type of devotee in Nāma bhajan."

Vidagdha Mādhava: Guru Mahārāja. I think you mentioned there were some things can be done to remove some of the reaction for this boy taking his life. Within the next year, something can be done?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I don't follow what you say.

Vidagdha Mādhava: This boy took his life, so he has to face the reaction for that.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: We can do to satisfy Kṛṣṇa and His devotees, praying for him, we can do. We can pray, we can offer something for the satisfaction of Deity. Whether we have done anything wrong in us for which that person was pressed to commit such thing. Whether I'm a party, or I have got little contribution for such drastic event. We shall try to pray to the Lord, "Please be gracious to that child who came to this holy association, but his fate dragged him away from such holy life, from the possibility of such holy association for his whole life. Let his soul may be helped."

We may do our duty in this way. Good will for him, prayer to the Lord. And we also must be careful that such things may await any one of us. So we must not be proud, we'll learn to be humble, and patient, and forbearing. And conscious of our past deeds it may not carry us from here to any other place. So we shall try to satisfy the Vaiṣṇava and Kṛṣṇa. And try to learn modesty, humility, that such a rush of self dissatisfaction may not arise. There was some disappointment led him to commit such wrong thing, disappointment. So good association, that under any circumstances we remain faithful to the Lord, to the creed, to Guru, to Vaiṣṇava. Such spacious and generous conception of Kṛṣṇa consciousness, all accommodating characteristic of Kṛṣṇa consciousness we must try to understand, follow.

Come what may. Taror api sahiṣṇunā. I must not give any opposition to anyone, but still any trouble comes from the environment towards me, like a tree I shall have to forbear. Like a tree, the branches are cut off, no water poured into the root, tree won't say anything, go on in its way. Taror api sahiṣṇunā. Amāninā. Because the goal is very highest, a long way it may be. Different planes we're to cross and to reach there, so patience necessary, forbearance necessary. As valuable the achievement, the requirement should also be of that great type, that magnitude. It is not a sweet-ball, Kṛṣṇa consciousness is not a sweet-ball that I shall put into the mouth and send it to the stomach. So we must be serious in our thought, what we have come for. If we can consider that is the highest destination, then we should be ready to pay for that. Why we should be so much impatient? If anything else comes to hinder me, to oppose me, I shall very mildly, and with humility I shall take this fuss, all these difficulties on the way. 'I shall want to get rose but without thorn.' So it should be warning to us, we must be careful. Kṛṣṇa is showing such instances before me, to teach me that I may not be impatient. Patiently, carefully, consciously, and with the association of the higher persons we can only march on. So try to make progress. Kṣurasya dhārā niśitā duratyayā.

[uttiṣṭhataḥ jāgrataḥ prapya varāṇ nibodhataḥ
kṣurasya dhārā niśitā duratyayā durgaṁ pathas tat kavayo vadanti]

["Awake, arise: Having obtained the human form of life, you must not sleep in the darkness of ignorance. Awaken knowledge of your real self by associating with great souls and obtaining their mercy. This material creation is as sharp as a razor's edge, for it is the cause of many miseries. It is impossible to cross over without transcendental knowledge. Therefore one must take shelter of the great learned transcendentalists who forever sing the praises of that Supreme Person who is the destroyer of birth and death."]

[Kaṭha-Upaniṣad, 1.3.14]

Upaniṣad says, "Just like a blade of the...

Devotees: Grass?

Vidagdha Mādhava: Oh, razor blade.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Kṣura means by which we shave - razor, the razors fine edge. Kṣurasya dhārā niśitā duratyayā. That is very difficult to pass over that. It is like that, Upaniṣad says. Very sharp, we're to pass over. So many subtle things are there. We must be very careful. If we be a little...

Vidagdha Mādhava: Inattentive. Careless.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Careless, then it will cut and blood will ooze. So we'll be all conscious, all alert, in our way. If you go that side offence will come to the Vaiṣṇava, to Dhāma, to Deity, all these things, all careful. They're passing over the blade of the razor, with so much care that only inclination this side, that side, will punish me, destroy my object. All alert, very, very careful. Very subtle, very soft thing. So,

tṛṇād api sunīcena, taror api sahiṣṇunā [amāninā mānadena, kīrtanīyaḥ sadā hariḥ]

["One who is humbler than a blade of grass, more forbearing than a tree, who gives due honour to others without desiring it for himself is qualified to always chant the Holy Name of Kṛṣṇa."] [Śikṣāṣṭakam, 3]

No room of any complain from outside we shall create. Our behaviour will be such. Only when we shall find that any assault towards Guru, Vaiṣṇava, we may lose balance, even we shall offer death to - so that they may not be insulted. Our patience may be, that will satisfy the Lord.

"To save the prestige of My servant he's sacrificing himself. He'll be rewarded, highly. And for his own case, there should not be any complain in this. Such way he'll try to move. For his personal account he won't spare a paisa, pence. But for the service of the Lord he'll give anything and everything, any amount. Sādhu, Guru, Vaiṣṇava, for their satisfaction any amount...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. _____ [?] You may offer that to me.
kesa sadvam śrī-gurave namaḥ. All these articles I offer to my Gurudeva as dakṣiṇā.
Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Praṇāmas.

Devotee: _____ [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ajñāna-timirāndhasya jñānāñjana - śrī-gurave namaḥ.
Now, whatever Vaiṣṇava you find you give your praṇāma to them. And go to near the temple - just on the front of the temple Nat Mandir, and there you take the Name. And then afterwards you may take your prasāda, along with other devotees.

Devotee: _____ [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: _____ [?]

Devotee: Your name is Muralidar _____ [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Muralidar. Married?

Muralidar: No, single, brahmacārī.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Muralidar dāsa Brahmacārī. Gaura Hari bol.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: ... therefore that is not sāyujya karmaṇa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Not sāyujya karmaṇa. So _____ [?] but he's altered such from this side, that is entered Brahman. And then from Brahman he goes upwards, not sāyujya, not buried on that place, and the possibility of going further, up. sri krsya mantra kalibhi upasyadi brahma nibhana uchati [?] Suppose in the last time he had some memory of Kṛṣṇa or Nārāyaṇa or some devotee, that will fetch him upward.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yes. Then one more question. In this next one,

jyāyasī cet karmaṇas te, matā buddhir janārdana
tat kiṁ karmaṇi ghore māṁ, niyojayasi keśava.

["O Janārdana, O Keśava, if You consider that resolute and determined spiritual intelligence (vyavasāy-ātmikā-buddhi) is better than action in goodness and passion, then why do You engage me in the violent activity of warfare?"] [Bhagavad-gītā, 3.1]

So in the pada cet [?] there is karmaṇaḥ rājasik or sāttvika karma apeksa then buddhi sāttvika jñāna.

Then _____ [?]

Then in the Vamanvas [?] it is told, _____ [?]

So in the pada cet [?] buddhi is given as sāttvika jñāna. And in the Vamanavad [?] it is given as vyavasāyātmikā buddhir. But sāttvika jñāna is the same as vyavasāyātmikā buddhir?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Not always.

vyavasāyātmikā buddhir, ekeha kuru-nandana
bahu-śākhā hy anantāś ca buddhayo 'vyavasāyinām

["O beloved descendant of the Kuru dynasty, the intelligence of those who are on this path of exclusive devotional service unto Me is one-pointed and firmly situated in Me, since I am its only goal. But the intelligence of those who avoid exclusive devotional service to Me is splayed and characterised by endless desires because of its absorption in innumerable sense objects."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 2.41]

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yes. that is above sāttvika buddhir.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Vyavasāya, vyavasāya means udyam [?], enthusiasm. Here only one ended. The vyavasāyātmikā buddhir, the enthusiasm only towards one particular end, not multifarious aims, objects of life, but only one.

He says that, "If you think that this is better then how do You ask me to be engaged in the war, in the fighting, this karma?" Tat kiṁ karmaṇi ghore māṁ, niyojayasi keśava. [Bhagavad-gītā, 3.1]

kiṁ karma kim akarmeti, kavayo 'py atra mohitāḥ
[tat te karma pravakṣyāmi, yaj jñātvā mokṣyase 'śubhāt]

["Even very learned men are baffled in ascertaining the nature of action and inaction. Some cannot comprehend action, while others cannot comprehend inaction. Hence, I shall now teach you about such action and inaction, knowing which you will attain liberation from the evil world."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 4.16]

What is karma and what is not karma it is very difficult to understand. By karma, only physical attempts should not be considered. But really the mind is there and that is the real seed of karma, the real cause is in the mind. The physical is innocent. The culprit is the mind. If you do not move your physical limbs but you go on mentally planning and planning, so you are committing karma. And if in mind you are clear to obey the direction of the God or dharma, and then physical activity has no value. Mind is all important, internal, that plan, purpose, impulse, saṅkalpa, that is all important thing. So the object is divine and the activity may be mean, even killing, stealing, killing, murdering, if for the Absolute Good, then it is all right. In this way it is going to be explained. The mind is everything in karma, not the physical attempts.

"So if you engage yourself in the fighting with some higher purpose then it cannot be considered as karma. At the same time if you sit without any physical attempt, but mentally you are planning you are doing karma. Karma is to be traced in the mind and not in the body, the body is innocent. As the mind says, it only serves that. But for higher end of life also the body may do."

[yasya nāhaṅkṛto bhāvo, buddhir yasya na lipyate] hatvāpi sa imāl̄ lokān, na hanti na nibadhyate

["He who is free from egotism (arising from aversion to the Absolute), and whose intelligence is not implicated (in worldly activities) - even if he kills every living being in the whole world, he does not kill at all, and neither does he suffer a murderer's consequences."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 18.17]

Destroying the whole universe he may not do anything, it is also possible. Only physically, mentally he's possessed by the Supreme Authority and he's doing. So physical activity should not be considered to be the criterion of ones action, good or bad. That has been traced there. What is there, after?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: There's still one difficulty though Mahārāja. This one difficulty, this buddhi is given as sāttvika-jñāna in the pada cet [?]. But in the amu varj [?] it's given as vyavasāyātmikā...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Vyavasāyātmikā buddhi, above sāttvik, nirguṇa.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yeah.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Vyavasāyātmikā buddhir, ekeha kuru-nandana, [Bhagavad-gītā, 2.41], only one, to satisfy Him.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: That means in the pada cet it's general reference only?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What is the next śloka?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Next śloka is, vyāmiśreṇeva vākyena, buddhiṁ mohayasīva...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja:

vyāmiśreṇeva vākyena, buddhiṁ mohayasīva me tad ekaṁ vada niścitya, yena śreyo 'ham āpnuyām
śrī bhagavān uvāca

["My intelligence is confused by Your words. They appear to be ambiguous, sometimes supporting action and sometimes supporting knowledge. So please instruct me which of these two paths is most beneficial for me."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 3.2]

Then?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Loke 'smin...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja:

śrī bhagavān uvāca
loke 'smin dvi-vidhā niṣṭhā, purā proktā mayānagha jñāna-yogena sāṅkhyānāṁ, karma-yogena yoginām

[The Supreme Lord replied: "I have already described the two types of faith to be found in this world. I have established that the learned who are aware of the conscious world, and those who are mainly active in the mundane plane, both engage in the (rudimentary) practice of the path of devotion (sādhana bhakti-yoga) by respectively following the path of knowledge and the path of selfless action offered to the Lord. Actually, the staircase leading to the land of dedication is one, while only faith is twofold, according to the steps attained by the aspirants."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 3.3] na karmaṇām anārambhān, naiṣkarmyaṁ puruṣo 'śnute na ca sannyasanād eva, siddhiṁ samadhigacchati

["Without performing scripturally enjoined duties, one cannot attain knowledge leading to freedom from action and reaction. How can a person of impure heart obtain perfection by abandoning his prescribed duties?"] [Bhagavad-gītā, 3.4]

Pacitya suddhi [?] two phases, one sāṅkhya-yoga, "Neti, neti, neti. This is ātmā." To find out that plane and to do accordingly. Another, karma-yoga, to do everything without attachment, and the aim will be higher. Not for karmana-vasana. This ordinary purpose of life is eliminated and _____ [?] śāstra has said naiṣkarma, without, "Because the scriptures have ordered me I'm doing. It is my dharma. I have no separate interest within me. Only by the order of the scripture I'm doing." This is dharma. In Bhāgavatam also.

etāvān sāṅkhya-yogābhyāṁ svadharmma-pariniṣṭhayā janma-lābhaḥ paraḥ puṁsām ante nārāyaṇa-smṛtiḥ

["The highest perfection of human life, achieved either by complete knowledge of matter and spirit, by practice of mystic powers, or by perfect discharge of occupational duty, is to remember the Personality of Godhead at the end of life."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 2.1.6]

Śukadeva Goswāmī says, Sāṅkhya-yogābhyāṁ svadharmma-pariniṣṭhayā. These three things may take us up to this stage. What three things? Sāṅkhya-jñāna, neti, neti, this is pāñca-bhut, this earth, air, all these material things, then there is mind, then there is intelligence. All these are material, eliminating them there is ātmā. In this way elimination. "I have no interest here, here, here, all stages eliminated." This is sāṅkhya- jñāna. And yoga also by prāṇāyāma, pratyāhāra, to enquire the inner stuff within, that is another thing, yoga. It also takes the jīva to the level of his own position, eliminating the negative side. Sāṅkhya-jñāna eliminating the negative side, and yoga by internal enquiry of the Paramātmā, that also eliminated from the negative connection. And the svadharmma as it is in the śāstra, "Brāhmaṇa should do this, kṣatriya should do this." Yudha vigraha sasan [?] And the brāhmaṇa, Yatra brahma patigraha [?] Śāstra as it is mentioned in the karma-kāṇḍa. If without any karmana, as duty it is given by the śāstra, with this spirit if one does, then all these three takes us to the same level, tirtha-suddhi [?] Then, Nārāyaṇa bhakti, Nārāyaṇa smṛtiḥ, then begins positive side. And this is all withdrawn from the negative side by three means, sāṅkhya, yoga and svadharmma, in Bhāgavatam. Here also sāṅkhya and karma yoga. If we do the imperative duties that come to us only as duty and not any special purpose, then the karma is karma yoga, this karma yoga and sāṅkhya.

sāṅkhya-yogau pṛthag bālāḥ, pravadanti na paṇḍitāḥ [ekam apy āsthitaḥ samyag, ubhayor vindate phalam]

["The learned do not support the opinion of the childishly foolish mundane rationalists [known as karma-mīmāṁsakas] who hold that the path of renunciation [sāṅkhya-yoga] and the path of action [karma-yoga] are separate. One who carefully follows either of these paths will achieve the same result."]
[Bhagavad-gītā, 5.4]

It is also mentioned hereafter, yoga and sāṅkhya-jñāna, aṣṭāṅga, is one and the same.
And niṣkāma-karma dharma parin _____ [?]
Withdrawn from the negative side we may come to the absissa, then Nārāyaṇa smṛtiḥ by bhakti we can make progress towards that. Now you try to understand.

vyavasāyātmikā buddhir, ekeha kuru-nandana
bahu-śākhā hy anantāś ca buddhayo 'vyavasāyinām

["O beloved descendant of the Kuru dynasty, the intelligence of those who are on this path of exclusive devotional service unto Me is one-pointed and firmly situated in Me, since I am its only goal. But the intelligence of those who avoid exclusive devotional service to Me is splayed and characterised by endless desires because of its absorption in innumerable sense objects."]
[Bhagavad-gītā, 2.41]

Those that have got proper energy, there the object of life is one. And when scattered, disturbed, energy drawn by different directions, that gives these trifle results of our karma.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Then, my question is, then why in the pada cet [?] for buddhi have we got sāttvika-jñāna?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Sāttvika - what is the original śloka?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja:

jyāyasī cet karmaṇas te, matā buddhir janārdana
tat kiṁ karmaṇi ghore māṁ, niyojayasi keśava.

["O Janārdana, O Keśava, if You consider that resolute and determined spiritual intelligence (vyavasāy-ātmikā-buddhi) is better than action in goodness and passion, then why do You engage me in the violent activity of warfare?"] [Bhagavad-gītā, 3.1]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: In the pada cet [?] he Keśava, he Janārdana, rājasik or sāttvika karmapeksa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: "If buddhi-yoga is better then why do You engage me in this dangerous battlefield?"

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: "If sāttvika-jñāna is better than rājasik and sāttvika karma, then why do You engage me?"

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Sāttvika-jñāna, where do you get sāttvika-jñāna? Buddhi-yoga.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: In the pada cet it is given, karmanah rājasik or sāttvika-jñāna apeksa, then buddhi, sāttvika-jñāna, jyāyasī cet karmaṇas te, matā buddhir janārdana.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja:

jyāyasī cet karmaṇas te, matā buddhir janārdana
tat kiṁ karmaṇi ghore māṁ, niyojayasi keśava.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yeah. _____ [?] Different?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ha, ha. Sāttvika-jñāna, that is also within māyā, sāttva-guṇa, sāttva, rāja, tāma. So here the purpose cannot be that, that is because sāttvika is within māyā, so vyavasāyātmikā.

Vyavasāyātmikā jñāna?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: No, vyavasāyātmikā buddhir.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: A little after, that conclusion will come, vyavasāyātmikā buddhir, ekeha [Bhagavad-gītā, 2.41]. Go on reading.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: After. But my problem is why in the pada cet [?] and anuvar [?] there is different meanings for the word buddhi?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: By sāttvik, not, just as in many places sāttva has been used for śuddha-sāttva.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Ah, this question.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Sāttva is śuddha-sāttva. Vyavasāyātmikā buddhir, that is more of śuddha-sāttva characteristic.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Then it's all right. Pure goodness.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Just as Viṣṇu is called sāttva-guṇa Avatāra, Kṣīrodakaśāyī, sāttva-guṇa, but He's always śuddha-sāttva.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: All right, now I understand.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Just as the sun is seen through the cloud, not real sun, but from the zone of māyā the real sun cannot be seen, it is sāttva. But Viṣṇu is always nirguṇa - He's told as sāttva-guṇa Avatāra. Because within this rāja and tāma, that sāttva is seen to be mixed sāttva, not pure sāttva, viśuddha-sāttva.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: From our vision it is sāttva. _____ [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: _____ [?]

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: In English, how to translate sthita prajñā? [Bhagavad-gītā, 2.55]
Generally, "A man of steady intelligence."

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Sthita prajñā, properly adjusted.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Properly adjusted. Oh, that's good. Because generally they say, "A man of steady intelligence." But I'm not satisfied with steady intelligence. Properly adjusted, that we'll...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Not influenced by separate interest. That is mukta, sthita means nirguṇa, that is properly adjusted. Peculiarity there, with the Absolute, with the Centre. Properly adjusted, absolutely adjusted in the connection of the Absolute interest. Only final adjustment with the Absolute consideration, proper adjustment, adjusted properly.

...

From the Absolute standpoint it is līlā, everything is done by His sweet will. But the difference for us that we can't dive deep to feel it. So many prejudices, or local interests, of different types, that comes to cover our calculation. The difficulty is there. Māyā means that. Prejudice of different types. All false, local calculation, that is making far away. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol.

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: And the false local calculation, that is overcome by...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: We're to try to overcome, to raise ourselves above the interest of local calculation, and to reach up to the plane where universal flow is going, nirguṇa. And there is also differentiated character. In Vaikuṇṭha, our attraction towards rules and regulations, and above that the innate flow of love. And again there are sub-divisions, different camps, different types of service.

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: Harmonising.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In every camp there is possibility of particular perfection. But ultimately the zenith is in the service of Rādhārāṇī. Within the rasa, different rasa, then mādhurya-rasa, the all- comprehensive which has got everything in it, it is possible. And there also differences, differentiation. So we're to eliminate, eliminate, elimination and acceptance, up to rādhā-kaiṅkaryyaṁ. Elimination and acceptance, even in the positive world, what to speak of this negative side. And the middle, that is a stage of equilibrium, something like mukti, or nirviśeṣa, non-differentiated area, but that is also local, temporary.

No permanent solution until we reach the dynamic world of service. Utility is there. The world is not without any object. The Buddhist, the Śaṅkarites, as they conceive that only to merge into zero conception, that is everything, that is the highest end, to stop. Stoppage of everything, that is their conclusion. It cannot be, it has its purpose. To become zero cannot be the end of life. Samādhi, stop of all movement. Movement, plurality is that. It is not. Plurality may work in harmony, and that is the success, harmony and plurality, and movement and no hitch. Here in this world movement means aggression. But there it is not, the opposite. Movement means sustenance, sevā, service, everything is helping others, sustenance, movement means. And here movement means dissipation, movement means aggression, exploitation.

["In the transcendental abode of the Lord there is no need of sun, moon, or stars for illumination, nor is there any need of electricity, what to speak of ignited lamps. On the other hand, it is because those planets are self-illuminating that all effulgence has become possible. Whatever there is that is dazzling is due to the reflection of the divine abode of the Lord. The Supreme Godhead is so brilliantly self-luminous that neither the sun, nor the moon, nor stars, nor lightning have any power of illumination in His transcendental abode, and what to speak of fire. It is a fact that all of them get their power of illumination from His effulgence alone. In fact, it is only because of His existence that the whole universe exists."]

[Muṇḍaka Upaniṣad, 2.2.10-2] & [Kaṭha Upaniṣad, 2.2.25 - part 5, mantra 15]

The existence, real existence of the truth, and the existence is wholesome. Not only nothing, not even injurious, but it is wholesome existence. Everything is good. All great movement, waves of grace of the Lord. Everything!

[Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.14.8]

Try to find out that everything, every wave is favourable to you. The solution is there. Every wave is favourable to you. No apprehension of unfavourable - about anything. Adjust yourself in such a way. That is what is necessary for you and for all. Tat te 'nukampāṁ susamīkṣamāṇo. Everything is positive and everything is good. To read negative and to read bad, injurious, that is our false ego. We're to get out of that, the false calculating ego, that is the ego in bondage. Ego in bondage means the ego calculating false, false misreading, miscalculating, misdeeds. Only through the help of the agents of the harmonious world, and by the advice in the books that come from that harmonious world, with the help of sādhu, śāstra, we can get relief of our present diseased condition. We're in disease, hṛd-rogam, heart disease, the disease in the centre, heart, the feeler. That has been accepted as the centre, the heart, the feeler. And the brain, the calculation, the brain like computer if it works as well, if it can read the environment through the heart normal, through the normal heart.

bhidyate hṛdaya-granthiś, [chidyante sarva-saṁśayāḥ
kṣīyante cāsya karmāṇi, mayi dṛṣṭe 'khilātmani]

["The knot in the heart is pierced, all misgivings are cut to pieces and the chain of fruitive actions is terminated when I am seen as the Supreme Personality of Godhead."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.20.30]

Gaura Hari bol. Wonderful śloka. Bhidyate hṛdaya-granthiś. Your heart is sealed, the feeling portion, the reading portion of you is sealed. Break up the seal, then you will come to feel everything is your friend. Bhidyate hṛdaya-granthiś. Our attempt should be to break the seal by ego. The real ego has been covered. That seal should be broken! Natural feelings should be allowed to flow out, to feel. Bhidyate. Then you will find everything is all right. Your brain will say, "Yes, now I find every calculation gives the desired result." The computer will say, and the heart will be opened. Heart will be opened, the ego, the selfish heart. But within the heart, that will be broken, the cover will be broken, seal will be broken. The natural flow will come to feel properly what is good, what is bad, what is tasteful, what is bitter. The real heart from within comes to justify. Then the brain will see everything is all right, subservient to the feeling, ānandam. Sat, cit, cit-caitya, knowledge. Above that central thing is ānandam, happiness, blissfulness, pleasure, joy. That is the thing for which everyone is trying their best, that feeling, heart's food, not brain's food. Heart's food we're searching for. And that misrepresentation of the heart, that ego, that is the worst enemy, unsatisfied, and giving reports: "This is not good, not good, not good." And we're running hither thither: "What is good?" To search for that. But, when the proper heart from within comes out, bhidyate hṛdaya-granthiś chidyante sarva-saṁśayāḥ: all doubts cleared, "Oh, we're in perfect harmony."

Kṣīyante cāsya karmāṇi. And the past dues will all be cleared immediately, past dues of our karma, the reaction, what was to come on me to have its realisation, that will finish in no time. We shall live in the eternal harmony. Like some evil dream, something came in the middle, like a bad dream. Now I'm awake and no bad dream is here - eternal connection. Hare Kṛṣṇa Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari bol. That wonderful śloka.

bhidyate hṛdaya-granthiś, chidyante sarva-saṁśayāḥ
kṣīyante cāsya karmāṇi, [mayi dṛṣṭe 'khilātmani]

Karma, that is reaction which I'm to clear off from my previous activity. That will also disappear and the harmonious outlook will come in me. And how it can come? When the heart will be opened. We're to break open the heart. Heart, that feeling, that is the most original thing in us which feels joy, pleasure or pain. That feeling of pleasure and pain, that is the most important factor, heart.

[yato vāco nivarttante, aprāpya manasā saha]
ānandaṁ brahmaṇo vidvān, na vibheti kutaścaneti

["As one gets subjective realisation of the transcendental blissful aspect of the Supreme Divinity, he sheds fear completely for all time. Such a realised man of wisdom is freed totally from negative thoughts. Having his thoughts fully attentive to the All-Blissful Divinity, he is spared from such torture. Such is the secret doctrine."] [Taittirīya-Upaniṣad, 11.9.1]

When we can come to such conclusion, that the Infinite, the Greatest, is really ānandam, not pain. The whole is pleasure, no pain, then all apprehension of pain will disappear. It's all pleasure, no pain. Gītā is always asking us, "Concentrate in you. No complaint against the outside environment, but everything is in you." So be attentive to you, to your ego. No necessity to correct your outside environment. We're always dissatisfied with the environment and want to correct them to suit our purpose.

No! Your taste is bad. Everything is all right. Your taste is bad. Just as Rūpa Goswāmī has given one analogy. One who is attacked with bile, the sugar candy that will taste bitter. When the attack of bile is gone, disappears, then the sugar candy will taste sweet. So bitterness is not in the sugar candy, but it's in the tongue. So take that sugar candy, that is the medicine of that bile disease. So, take the Name, now it is bitter, but you go on taking in a particular process and the Name will cure your bile disease and it will seem to be tasteful. You will be able to feel, "No, sugar candy is tasteful." So the wrong is in us, in the tongue, and not in the sugar candy.

[syāt kṛṣṇa-nāma-caritādi]-sitāpy avidyā-, pittopatapta-rasanasya na rocikā nu kintv ādarād anudinaṁ khalu saiva juṣṭā, svādvī kramād bhavati tad-gada-mūla-hantrī

["The Holy Name, character, pastimes and activities of Kṛṣṇa are all transcendentally sweet like sugar candy. Although the tongue of one afflicted by the jaundice of avidyā (ignorance) cannot taste anything sweet, it is wonderful that simply by carefully chanting these sweet Names every day, a natural relish awakens within his tongue, and his disease is gradually destroyed at the root."] [Śrī Upadeśāmṛta, 7]

There is an attack of ignorance, bile of ignorance, and go on taking and the bile's disease will be off and you will get the taste of sweetness from that thing. So it is, though on the whole, Kṛṣṇa consciousness, God consciousness, may not be sweet, still, by the help of our previous sukṛti, and also our reason based on that sukṛti, go on with sādhana-bhakti. And we shall no sooner reach in a stage where we'll be able to find, "Oh, it is very sweet. Kṛṣṇa consciousness is very sweet, very beautiful." The whole process of sādhana is like that. Avidyā, ajñāna, due to miscalculation we suffer, we feel pain, but the pain is outside, it is sweetness. With such attitude we're to approach. And the favourable association can keep our strength for investigation what will be necessary to attain the goal. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol.

Today is the day of appearance of Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura. In this modern age, he came with this full truth. It is he who foretold that: "Those days are not far off when we'll be able to see that the foreigners, the Europeans, Americans, they're also coming to join under the flag of Lord Caitanya and go on with Kṛṣṇa saṅkīrtana." He could foresee that such a natural and easy thing, why it should not be understood by the sincere intellect. It must be understood, cannot but be understood. There are men, well-meaning persons, they cannot but understand this sort of universal love. The Lord is love and let us be happy in His connection and go on with the life of love. Love should not be appreciated by the persons? It is impossible. So no sooner, all sincere intelligentsia will come to appreciate what is given by Mahāprabhu, the doctrine. And along go on singing the glories of Śrī Caitanyadeva.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ... remember, in this. Swāmī Mahārāja came here once with about a hundred and fifty devotees, took prasādam also, and lectures were also delivered. One lady, I do not remember her, she told that, "We're attracted by this idea from Swāmī Mahārāja, Kṛṣṇa consciousness, that we can live with God as family man. That attracted me. Is it possible? Where is God? Unknown quarter. His every ways are unknown. We're very far, far off in the lower position. But such prospect we have got that as family man we can live with Him and serve Him. Then what more we want? This appealed to the core of my heart and I came out. I want such God. I want to live with Him as family man, with God. So Kṛṣṇa consciousness of Godhead can accommodate our family life with Him. What more may we want? I have come to serve that."

Mayātma-bhūyāya ca kalpate.

[martyo yadā tyakta-samasta-karmā, niveditātmā vicikīrṣito me
tadāmṛtatvaṁ pratipadyamāno, mayātma-bhūyāya ca kalpate vai]

["One who is subjected to birth and death attains immortality when he gives up all material activities, dedicates his life to the execution of My order, and acts according to My directions. In this way, he becomes fit to enjoy the spiritual bliss derived from exchanging loving mellows with Me."]
[Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.29.34]

"As if they're My own, as if they're My own soul, ātma-bhūyāya."
"Viśate tad-anantaram, enters into Me."

[bhaktyā mām abhijānāti, yāvān yaś cāsmi tattvataḥ
tato māṁ tattvato jñātvā, viśate tad-anantaram]

["By the potency of that supreme devotion, he is able to completely know My nature of Almighty Lordship and majesty. Thereafter, acquiring the perception of his divine relationship with Me, he enters into a group of My intimate personal associates, whose nature is non-different from Mine."]
[Bhagavad-gītā, 18.55]

Enters into that conception of Godhead, that means His family, family life with Him. How good is it? All sorts of our enquiries and inner aspiration may be satisfied with Him.

akhila-rasāmṛta-mūrtiḥ [prasṛmara-ruci-ruddha-tārakā-pāliḥ
kalita-śyāmā-lalito rādhā-preyān vidhur jayati]

[" 'Let Kṛṣṇa, the Supreme Personality of Godhead, be glorified! By virtue of His expanding attractive features, He subjugated the gopīs named Tārakā and Pāli and absorbed the minds of Śyāmā and Lalitā. He is the most attractive lover of Śrīmatī Rādhārāṇī and is the reservoir of pleasure for devotees in all transcendental mellows.'"] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 8.142]

All different types of aspiration within us can find fulfilment in Him, the wholesale, exhaustively, nowhere else. Only in Him, akhila-rasāmṛta, in Kṛṣṇa. All, gross or subtle, however subtle it may be, so many earnest aspirations within us, and everything may have fullest satisfaction only in His connection, and He is Kṛṣṇa. Who is Kṛṣṇa? Who can attract all naths within us and give satisfaction to that. The whole nervous system in its fullest extent can be attracted and given their satisfaction. He's Kṛṣṇa.
Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari.

In this age he was the pioneer of śuddha-bhakti, pure devotion. Pure devotion, uncontaminated, unmixed with jñāna, yoga, karma, etc, what is pure devotion based on complete surrender. By surrender we gain.

And Gauḍīya Maṭh is preaching slavery. There was a rumour long past, the Ramakrishna Mission and others said, "Oh, Gauḍīya Maṭh is preaching slavery, Kṛṣṇa dāsa. We are so 'ham, we are the biggest, so 'ham, brahmāsmi, I'm the greatest. Instead of that they say you are slave to that Kṛṣṇa, they're preaching slavery."

Our Guru Mahārāja told that, "Gauḍīya Maṭh stands for the dignity of the human race, for all animation." Most dignified position, slavery, surrender. Surrender to what? To the Absolute Good, Absolute Centre. Surrendered life, selfless, wholesale selfless surrendered life to the whole, how pure?

Ha, ha. And that, "I am the Brahman," that impossible thinking, ha, ha, that is the greatest disease, that: "I'm the biggest. I want to be monarch of all I survey. I'm the most heinous exploiting agent. I'm Brahman."

Gauḍīya Maṭh preaches complete self-abnegation, self-surrender, to the prime cause, to the Absolute Centre. That is divine, to give is divine. And the aspiration that "I shall get," that is devilism. "I want to lord it over everything" that is devil spirit. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol.

You have appreciated Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura's Life and Precepts very much?

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: Very much.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In short, how it is represented, the Life and Precepts of Śrī Caitanyadeva.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: A few years ago I was very much attracted to Bhaktisiddhānta Saraswatī Ṭhākura's writing. Then more recently Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura's writing has become very relish-able.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: More attractive to you?

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: Very relish-able, yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Very simple.

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: Very simple and very organised.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The Ācāryas that come, sometimes they make it clear, and sometimes they make it complex, purposely.

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: Bhaktisiddhānta Saraswatī Ṭhākura was...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Has made it complex.

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: Very complex, very developed.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Very ontological aspect, he has dealt much. But in the simple way Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura has distributed. It is necessary, analytic, synthetic, because in a simple way there is possibility of becoming sahajiyā. We can take it like this mundane thing, but this is all aprākṛta, the other side of the globe, it is such.

kṛṣṇera yateka khelā, sarvottama nara-līlā, nara-vapu [tāhāra svarūpa
gope-veśa, veṇu-kara nava kiśora, nata-vara, nara līlāra haya anurūpa]

["Lord Kṛṣṇa has many pastimes, of which His pastimes as a human being are the best. His form as a human being is the Supreme Transcendental Form. In this form, He is a cowherd boy. He carries a flute in His hand, and His youth is new. He is also an expert dancer. All this is just suitable for His pastimes as a human being."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 21.101]

Very similar, but not same, far, far off, but similar.

kāma-preme dekho bhāi, lakṣanete bheda nāi, tabhu kāma 'prema' nāhi haya

["My brother, lust and love appear as one and the same; yet, lust is never love."]
[Kalyāṇa-Kalpataru, Upadeśa, 18]

Roughly calculating there is no difference between lust and love, but still, you carefully note that lust is not love. One is connected with this lower feeling, this flesh and blood, and another, the highest reach of the souls.

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: The sentiment is similar but...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Similar but opposite.

Aprākṛta, aprākṛta vat, very similar to mundane but not mundane. That is the highest position.

So Caṇḍīdāsa says: sava rupare manu su satya taro pare nai [?] Of all existence this human form that is the highest, even above God conception. In the ideal human conception is above all, even above God conception. Here we're to understand.

Śukadeva Goswāmī who is supposed to be always constant in the position, along with Brahman. No mundane reference in his consciousness, wholesale conscious character. No charm for any mundane attraction, always he's in the plane.

Śukadeva's personality was necessary to inaugurate Kṛṣṇa conception of Godhead. Because everyone knew that he had not the least attachment for this mundane. And what is very similar to mundane, that is to be given to the world as the highest conception of Godhead. So that man, who had not the least attraction, and he did not come down to this level of mundane enjoying movement, always continuous flow of spiritual connection. He did not care to wear a cloth even. No attraction, careless wholesale. He was selected to give out to the scholastic section that the highest type of the līlā of Godhead is like mundane.

Giving some hearing, Parīkṣit Mahārāja says: "How do you say that Kṛṣṇa, that Parabrahman, that highest conception of Absolute is crawling in the compound of Nanda and sucking the breast of Yaśodā? The yogīs, jñānis, they're trying their utmost lives together, life after life dedicating to find that thing over and above their own soul, trying so hard. Sometimes they meet for a second and then again separated. And that thing is crawling you say, that Paramātmā, above that Godhead Kṛṣṇa. How is that possible? Then what type of sādhana, what type of means they have adopted to attain that end?"

nandaḥ kim akarod brahman, śreya evaṁ mahodayam
yaśodā ca mahā-bhāgā, papau yasyāḥ stanaṁ hariḥ

[Having heard of the great fortune of mother Yaśodā, Parīkṣit Mahārāja inquired from Śukadeva Gosvāmī: "O learned brāhmaṇa, mother Yaśodā's breast milk was sucked by the Supreme Personality of Godhead. What past auspicious activities did she and Nanda Mahārāja perform to achieve such perfection in ecstatic love?"] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.8.46]

"It is impossible! Then all other endeavours are useless? This is tapa, japa, dhana, so many means to get that Absolute Truth, they're useless? By them we're told that for a second or so, they're connecting saying something I have experienced, however little it may be, some wonderful things I experienced for a second. Such is the history of the holy men we're acquainted with. And you say that very thing He's crawling on the compound of Nanda and He's sucking the breast of Yaśodā? And Yaśodā running to whip Him, and He's crying: "I won't do My mother for any longer this offence. Please spare Me this time."

Is it possible? A farce? Who'll come, a sane man will come to understand, to accept that as Divinity? What do you say? If it is possible then how wonderful sādhana is there, I want to know that by which the Godhead can be controlled in such a way. Is it possible? How wonderful that is. It is impossible. To make the impossible possible, if there is any means I want to know that. Why, how is that?"

Ha, ha, ha. The life of self-surrender. Not keeping up ones own ego to connect with some higher thing and try to utilise that for his own purpose? No! Complete surrender. Die to live. How to die and what is death, that is to be considered. What is surrender? What is that death? Then die to live by which we can live properly by that surrendering. That is the basis, wholesale, wholesale, the degree of surrender, the degree of surrender, that is the basis to get all these things. Give and you'll get, give and get, ha, ha. You are to give as a proper gift, not only ordinary useless things but the most wholesale. You are to give yourself wholesale. Or as in Hegel's very good words: "Die to live."

Ātma nivedana dainya ghucāo jañjāl. Jañjāl, difficulties are coming, but, the only way to do away with them is to give yourself more and more and more. There lies the solution! Difficulties are coming and what is the cure for that? Give more, learn to give more.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Nitāi. Nitāi.

Individuality is also there, but on the surrendered plane. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

To die in the physical sense is nothing. Mahāprabhu says, sanātana, deha-tyāge kṛṣṇa yadi pāiye, koṭi-deha kṣaṇeke tabe chāḍite pāriye, [deha-tyāge kṛṣṇa nā paī, pāiye bhajane, kṛṣṇa-prāptyera upāya kona nāhi 'bhakti' vine]

["My dear Sanātana," He said: "If I could attain Kṛṣṇa by committing suicide, I would certainly give up millions of bodies without a moments hesitation."] ["You should know that one cannot attain Kṛṣṇa simply by giving up the body. Kṛṣṇa is attainable by devotional service. There is no other means to attain Him."]

[Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Antya-līlā, 4.55-56]

Sanātana Goswāmī wants to teach us. When he came from Vṛndāvana to Purī to have darśana of Mahāprabhu he came in the way by which Mahāprabhu went from Purī to Vṛndāvana, that jungle way. And there, taking water from different places, or different types of food, he got some itches on his body. And also something oozing from the body. And Mahāprabhu when He met him He used to embrace, and that oozing juice, Mahāprabhu's body was smeared by that. Sanātana Goswāmī felt much pain. "What is this Mahāprabhu?" Sanātana Goswāmī, to avoid His welcome he went to go away but forcibly Mahāprabhu took him and embraced him. And those things used to touch His body and he was very much pained by that.

Then Sanātana was consulting with Jagadānanda Paṇḍita. "I came to get something but by my misfortune I'm committing some offence. This bad juice, that is touching the divine body of Mahāprabhu committing offences. So I must go back, or perhaps it would be better if I give away this body just in front of the wheel of the Jagannātha cart, it will be smashed to death and I shall get a good next birth, very happy."

And anyhow that came to Mahāprabhu that Sanātana was saying like that. Mahāprabhu was very much excited. "What do you say? You have come to such conclusion, a fools conclusion."

sanātana, deha-tyāge kṛṣṇa yadi pāiye / koṭi-deha kṣaṇeke tabe chāḍite pāriye,

"If it is possible for anyone to achieve Kṛṣṇa only by giving this physical body then in a second, I want to die crores of times. It is not so easy! What is the value of this body? This has got some negative value. Then I shall sacrifice this body crores of times in a second if possible, if I get the grace of Kṛṣṇa. So this is not the way at all. This is not much, a big thing, it's not a valuable thing - this is a negative representation. What is this? It's nothing! He wants the inner attention." Deha-tyāge kṛṣṇa yadi pāiye, sacrifice of the physical.

dhana-śiṣyādibhir-dvārair yā bhaktir upapādyate, [vidūratvād uttamatāhānya tasyāś ca nāṅgatā]

["If one relies on ones disciples or wealth to attain bhakti, his devotional practice will certainly become slackened. One cannot claim that one is engaged in devotional service simply on the basis of engaging ones money or disciples in bhakti. To rely on money and disciples to perform devotional service in ones place is not considered to be a branch of pure devotion."] [Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, Pūrva-vibhāga, 12.128]

Rūpa Goswāmī says, "Whereby we can feel, have some type of attraction towards Him by sacrificing dhana - money, ṣiṣya - and men that are submissive to me, by them, by their good work produced by them, ṣiṣya dibhirdāraiḥ. Or by good wife, my wife may be devotee and I may think that by that connection I will get devotion. Or my disciple will be a devotee and in that way I shall acquire some devotion. No! That is small, lower type of devotion, not pure. So you are to give everything, not by second representation, not by representative, you yourself have to give away to Him, everything. That will be pure devotion."

So devotion means sacrifice, dedication. Death, wholesale death of the ego. Ego is to be dissolved completely into the fire and the alloy will vanish and the bright gold will come up. Ātma-nivedanam, śaraṇāgati, that is the only way. Prapanna-jīvanāmṛtam, when we want to be śaraṇāgata, to take shelter under His feet, that is also analysed in six ways and to understand them separately and take up all these things for our good. What is that surrender? How to taste it? And who are the other stalwarts that came in this way? How they dealt? What was their character? How their movement? To get encouragement from that, that unknown wholesale giving, unknown path. But there are so many light houses, the light houses are there, the stalwarts, looking at them we shall make progress on that way. How giving we can live, give and live.

Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura says in one of his songs,

[keśava tuwā jagata bicitra karama-vipāke

"Keśava tuwā jagata bicitra. Oh, Lord! Your creation is a very wonderful type, different and variegated. Tuwā pada-bismṛti, ā-mara jantraṇā, pekhaluṅ raṅga bahu citra. My real pain is out of separation from You. And here I'm seeing diverse character of different type, different sectarian views. Tuwā pada-bismṛti, ā-mara jantraṇā, kleśa-dahane dohi' jāi. But the real purpose of all these pains, only our separation with You. Tuwā pada-bismṛti, ā-mara. If we're to diagnose properly, then only our separate existence from You, separate consciousness, that is the root of all this painfulness. Kleśa-dahane dohi' jāi. And kapila, patañjali, gautama, kaṇabhojī, jaimini, bauddha āowe dhāi'. I'm suffering from Your separation, but so many doctors of different types come, they're running to me to cure me. Kapila, sāṅkhya, Patañjali, yoga, Gautama, nyāya, kanabhaji. _____ [?] Everything produced from combination of atoms, kanabhaji. Bauddha, that is, the dissolution of the mental system ends everything. Jaiminī, "Though good activity is transient, but still, what to do? Go on doing good activity and try to live happily; no other end of life." Bauddha āowe dhāi'. Tab koi nija-mate, bhukti, mukti jācato. They come apparently to represent You, but when they give delivery to things, we find that either the enjoyment or salvation; exploitation or salvation, that is in their fund, nothing else. In whatever dress they may couch, but ultimately if it is analysed we find either exploitation, pleasure, or this total dissolution into cypher, something. Bhukti, mukti jācato, pāta-i nānā-bidha fānd. But to take us to that goal, only these two goals, they create various kinds of charming traps to catch us. But ultimately they lead us to these two, nothing else. Either the higher pleasing life in the subtle world for the time being, or complete annihilation, effacement. Bhukti, mukti jācato, pāta-i nānā- bidha fānd. Baimukha-bañcane, bhaṭa so-sabu. Why they are? This is viewed from the Universal standpoint. They have come to segregate those that are not sincere. Those that are sincere they won't be affected by their canvassing. So baimukha-bañcane, they come for only those half-hearted persons and take them away from this camp, that the devotees may go on in their own way peacefully. They can't come to disturb them, they go in their own path. That is the underlying purpose of You. Baimukha-bañcane, bhaṭa so-sabu. Niramilo vividha pasār. They've created multifarious very charming things for canvassing. Vividha pasār. Daṇḍabat dūrato, bhakativinoda bhelo, bhakata-caraṇa kori' sār. But anyhow, I might have been saved. I understand that definitely that only the feet dust of Your devotees that is everything for me, and nothing else I want, only the holy feet dust of Your devotee, bhakata-caraṇa. No other alternative, no other ambition I have got. I have got this sort by Your Grace." Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura discarded.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Nitāi. Gaura Nitāi. I composed one poem of eleven stanzas about Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura. Prabhupāda, my Gurudeva, appreciated that very much. And he told to someone that, "It is not he that has written, Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura has written through him." And some other place he has told, "Oh, I'm confident that what I came to inform, teach the people, that will be left after me." And to me, while reading he told, "A very happy style you have given to the śloka." There it is mentioned, dharmaś carma gato ['jñātaiva satatā yogaś ca bhogātmako jñāne śūnya-gatir japena tapasā khātir jighāṁsaiva ca dāne dambhikatānurāga bhajane duṣṭāpacāro yadā buddhiṁ buddhi-matāṁ vibhada hi tadā dhātrā bhavān preṣiṭaḥ]

["O Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura, you appeared at the hour of our greatest need. At that time, everyone practised body worship and flesh religion, which any honest man will admit is ignorance. The yogīs were cheating the public with cheap miracles, exploiting them for money and pleasure. The philosophers, bewildered in trying to capture the infinite, found that their knowledge had led them to the void of nihilism. The mutterers of mantras were working to become well known japa chanters. Ascetics practised murderous torture for spiritual suicide. The proud gave in charity only to secure their fame. And all these abominable acts were performed in the name of anurāga bhajan, the highest devotion to Godhead. At that dark hour, when all good intelligence had been spoiled by misconception, you were sent by the will of Providence."]

And what is the achievement of pure knowledge? That is to be resolved in nil, in zero. That is the highest achievement of knowledge, to take us to cipher, śūnya-gatir. Śūnya-gatir, japena tapasā. And by this japam and this tapa, penances, khātir jighāṁsaiva ca. But to get some prestige, popularity by japam, one who's making japam, his attention is that appreciation of the people, popularity seeker. And tapasā, his penance of vindictiveness, that penance was used in tapasā, jighāṁsaiva ca. Dāne dambhikatā. And the gift, donation, that took the shape of Brahman. "I can give so much. I'm a great giver in this." Fame seeker. "I'm a great man. I have made gift to so many places." In this way a class of ego they're creating. Dāne dambhikatā. Anurāga bhajane. And in the name of this loving service, duṣṭā-pacāro yadā, these mundane practices took place, went on in the name of anurāga bhajan. Dhātrā bhavān preṣiṭaḥ. Then the next śloka.

Then the next. [Śrīmad-Bhaktivinoda-viraha-daśakam, 6] "You have done a great help to the worldly people by composing many devotional scriptures, books, and some other things, many things, etc. But Ācārya Rāmānuja, the great scholar, and so many others they also did, but your greatness and nobility is not to be limited there." Nārāyaṇa Himself, the predominating Lord of the Vaikuṇṭha planets, whose lotus feet are worshipped and served by His unexcelled bee like devotees, is only a partial representation of the original Personality of Godhead. The original or full-fledged aspect of divinity is Kṛṣṇa. [Śrīmad-Bhaktivinoda-viraha-daśakam, 7]

The Brahman has been considered by the Vedic scholars to be the halo of the Absolute. And the great yogīs, with great trouble they're searching after Paramātmā, all-pervading Spirit, all-comprehensive and all-permeating. With great penance they're searching after. That is a partial representation of Nārāyaṇa, who by the great, who are above this salvation, their personality, they're engaged in serving Nārāyaṇa in a happy way. But that Nārāyaṇa, whose original full-fledged aspect, Kṛṣṇa, you have come to give that. Not this Paramātmā, nor Brahman, nor Nārāyaṇa bhakti, but Svayaṁ Bhagavān, Who is the very full representation of the different types they are. That original conception of the Absolute, Svayaṁ Bhagavān Kṛṣṇa, who is All-Ecstasy, you have come to give that thing to the public. And that is also in Vṛndāvana, the highest of the highest sphere, where He's receiving different types of services including vātsalya, filial service. And where Rādhārāṇī with all of Her paraphernalia is giving Him the highest form of affectionate service, you can give us the position of service in that plane."

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: Next week I have a speaking engagement with a civic group. A group of business men in a town close to us, to our temple, they call themselves the Rotary Club, it's an international group. And they try to do good works for the community. Their goal is to provide services for the community which will upgrade the standard of the community. So they asked me to come and speak about some of the...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You will ask them, We want thorough treatment. Who is the party? Party is the soul, not this body or the mind. But the soul is the party and the thorough cure of the soul from the disease of this contamination with matter. Independent of matter soul can live happily. And his connection with matter is the trouble and the cause of all his troubles. Either our diagnosis of the disease of the society is different from you do. We see that a mad man, he's engaged in the street in picking waste paper and this brick bats and something. But if I put some brick bats and some paper in his hand to help him, that is not proper help. To help him, try to remind him of his home. Back to home, back to God, back to home. And there is no scarcity of anything. A solvent home you have got, and you must go back there. And don't wander in the street and try to collect these brick bats and these paper pieces and the cloth pieces. So something like that, our social work.

Once when I was in Madras Maṭh our Guru Mahārāja was going to visit the Maṭh and we had a procession from the station to Maṭh. I approached the boy scout leader to join in our procession.

Some Maharastri gentleman he told, "We do only social works, nothing to do with religion."

I asked him, "We're also doing social works," I told him, "but of different type. And what sort of different type? Only you the human species, dog species, cow species, ass species, so many, horse species. You want to keep the dog as dog and render service to them. And our programme if there is possibility of the attainment for the dogs to human species, if they can be lifted to human society, we try to help in that way. The dog should not continue to be dog, but we shall help the dogs in such a way that the dog can be converted into human. In this way our social service." Do you follow?

So our service, our angle of vision about the human beings is not limited in its prospect of prosperity, prosperous life in this human body. But he has got great prospect. The soul is the proper person within, and not the body, and not the mind, but the party is the soul. Who is suffering good or bad, or happiness, or pain, or pleasure, so the suffering going to the feeler. Feeler means the soul, feeler is the soul, so he's concerned with good and bad, or pleasure and pain. How to help the soul be cured wholesale from the pleasure and pain?

According to that we have made our programme. This sort of social work. We do social work, but social work of this type. That thorough help, not temporary, not for the time being and again the pain will come, not that. The greatest, prosperous and happy life in mundane world, that is also miserable, according to us. Our standard of happiness is higher. Even a king, even a scholar, even a young man, who has got overflowing energy and running hither thither, he's also in need of help. So the standard of happiness here is, to our consideration, that is painful stage. Happiness in the mundane, that is pain, in our consideration. Just as painful person who has got disease feeling pain and given morphine injection, and for the time being he's not feeling pain. But pain is there, only morphine has seized the pain. So the pain is there within. They cannot feel for their intoxicating, their exploiting tendency at present, but the reaction will soon come and he will have to feel pain.

So radical cure, of the being, that is in our consideration, we do such social work. Try to find it. The great Ṛṣis, the Messiahs, the Christ, Mohammed, they also came to relieve the people from pain. But what type of help they recommended, higher type. So many lākhs and crores of people they at least mentally, formally say, that we're followers of Christ, followers of Mohammed, followers of this and that. So they have got some recognition there. And that sort of social work what is necessary to render real help to the people. And this is sham help, temporary help. And sometimes this sort of help does more harm, because with this help they become mad in their pride and energy and commits some nuisance.

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura in his Śiksāmṛtam, he's telling there are many things that one can do. In the initial stages of the book, in the first few chapters, he's telling that one can set up passage ways for the public, can light streets for the public, that these are good works. And these are the kind of works that these civic groups engage in, this kind of thing.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That's puṇyam, sāttya guṇam, that is also temporary. For the time being some relief, but no permanent value, very transient, temporary value. That is sāttya guṇa, within this mundane, within ignorance, jurisdiction of ignorance.

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: Yes. The negative side, then you're doing something good on the negative side.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: It is only being utilised in canvassing, to give some bait...

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: To draw them to the transcendental side.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: To invite some people with some temptation, and then to speak to them about what is real truth. Haridāsa Ṭhākura used to invite the boys and gave them lāḍḍu, and then after the boys have got lāḍḍu they're very happy. Then he used to say, "Take the Name of Kṛṣṇa." Laddu dui asi dui laya harināma. The temptation, the lāḍḍu, he gave them and then the child was cheerful, go on dancing, Kṛṣṇa Nāma, Kṛṣṇa Kṛṣṇa. It may be used for this purpose.

This temporary happiness given to them that they'll be pacified, now listen to what is real happiness, in this way.

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: So such a group should be approached with that attitude? Such a group, a civic group, they're professional people, they're civic minded, they're doing good in the community. They're householders, they're engaged in so many activities, but they're interested in doing something higher. Should they be approached with the idea that these things that you do...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Everyone should be approached with this idea, this higher idea.

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: But with the bait or the stark reality?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But according to the capacity and standard of the people, we shall approach them in different ways. One who has got money, we shall try to get some energy from him. Suiting his purpose, to get some energy and utilise in higher things, the sukṛti will go to him. He may not know but sukṛti will be done. Unconsciously he will get some benefit of higher type though he may not know because his energy is utilised for higher purpose. That is sukṛti, he may not know but his things are utilised for the highest purpose. As a reaction he gets something, that is sukṛti.

Without śraddhā, he has got no śraddhā, he's not coming consciously, but unconsciously, to do something to him, to give injection. The patient is unconscious, the doctors give some injection. Something like that. That is sukṛti. He cannot appreciate Kṛṣṇa bhakti but still he may do as a school, the dispensary, or feeding the students, there are so many students. "You please help them for feeding." And he's giving. "Oh for feeding I can give. I have no faith in religion. But education, any type, I can give something for the feeding of the students."

Whatever the position does not matter. In this way he's giving and that is sukṛti. Unknowingly, unconsciously, ones energy is being utilised by the cleverness of the Ācārya as sukṛti. Jñāta and ajñāta, sometimes conscious, sometimes unconscious, does not know anything, sukṛti. The cows are giving milk and their milk used in the service of the Lord, or the devotees. The cows are not knowing but some sukṛti is being done in the soul of the cow. In this way, ajñāta sukṛti, jñāta sukṛti, conscious and unconscious.

Then faith comes. Sukṛti sufficiently accumulated then comes śraddhā, faith. That yes, if one thing is done, the whole can be done, satisfied. It is possible. That is śraddhā. If I know God everything is known because everything is within His sweet will. "Let there be light." There was light. "Let there be water." There is water. So if I know the cause of the water and light, that is God. If I know Him, serve Him, everything is served. Everything coming out of His sweet will and again entering into Him. All these things. So that is śraddhā. To have such a faith that if I attend one, whole one attended. That is śraddhā, that is faith proper. And the structure will be built on that faith, that is devotion. If I do my duty towards Kṛṣṇa, everything is done. Kṛṣṇa consciousness covers the whole thing within it.

I heard from Akṣayānanda Mahārāja today that Harikeśa Mahārāja - do you know him?

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He and perhaps his group in Russia, they're put into prison house. One gentleman has written to Akṣayānanda Mahārāja from London, he has seen in an Australian newspaper that Harikeśa Mahārāja he has secretly, privately, he was making disciples. And the disciples are washing his feet and drinking the water. That picture has been given in the paper. And the Russians say that they're all CIA of America, has come here. All Americans have come here and they're preaching anti communist creed here to weaken our nation. So they have been put into prison house, the whole group, including the Russians also that followed them. This news given this morning by Akṣayānanda Mahārāja. He's got a paper cutting from London, the paper is from Australia.

Vidagdha Mādhava: The movement has been forced underground. In Russia now six of the devotees have been arrested and taken to labour camps. And also in Russia they give drugs. If they cannot brainwash the devotee they give so many drugs they turn his brain into vegetable.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The Russian disciples they're also being treated that their brain has been disordered, they're under treatment for brainwash. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Harikeśa Mahārāja comes from what part of America?

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: New York. He's a good friend of Śrīla Haṁsadūta Mahārāja. He's very intellectual.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Harikeśa. I know him by his name, I have heard. Might have come here also but I can't remember.

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: I don't recall that he ever came here. He was conducting the German yatra, north European yatra, Germany, Denmark, Norway, like that. And Bhakti Sudhīra Goswāmī took sannyāsā initiation, I think from Harikeśa Mahārāja, when he was working in Yugoslavia or somewhere.

Mahārāja, yesterday Vidagdha and myself went to Kṛṣṇanāga and I saw this one Mūrti of Mahāprabhu in the six armed form, ṣaḍ-bhuja. So I thought that it would be very nice for our temple in Malaysia. Because we call the temple, Temple of Śrīman Mahāprabhu. And I thought it would be nice to put in the temple room as a Mūrti, put on a table in a class casing. Do you think that is nice?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, you may do, not objectionable. That was shown to Murāri Gupta who was a devotee of Rāmacandra. Murāri Gupta, he was a staunch devotee of Rāmacandra, Rāma rule. And Mahāprabhu sometimes showed that, "I am Rāma, I am Kṛṣṇa, I am Nimāi Paṇḍit, or Gaurāñga." So both, done in this way, and the vamśi, and duṇḍa, kamaṇḍalu, sannyāsā.

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: Since most of the people that come to the temple they are Tamils, they know something of Rāmacandra, they know little bit about Kṛṣṇa. So I thought it might be very nice thing.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. How to deal with the basic portion, lower type, to establish that He is Godhead, it will help. But He has come as human being, in the garb of human being to distribute love of Kṛṣṇa, Divine Love. That Mūrti is not very suitable for that purpose. But to establish the position that He's not a human being, He has got His Divine aspect, it will help that well. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Nitāi.

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: When we approach the public in a civic group, or some other kind of organisation, should we approach with the mood that I want to attract just one person to Mahāprabhu's concept, or...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I think it will be better as our Guru Mahārāja did in that posture to install the Deity in the temple. In paper you can show so many things. What you say on this Murāri Gupta, this six handed Mahāprabhu, that in your Sādhu-Saṅga paper, here and there, in the books also, that you can have. In the temple as our Guru Mahārāja established, that should be more suiting. Rādhā-Kṛṣṇa-milita not that Rāmacandra, Kṛṣṇa and Mahāprabhu are one and the same, but here Rādhā-Govinda-milita Mahāprabhu, that is the highest position. So when to worship in the temple, that Rādhā-Kṛṣṇa.

rādhā kṛṣṇa-praṇaya-vikṛtir hlādinī śaktir asmād
ekātmānāv api bhuvi purā deha-bhedaṁ gatau tau caitanyākhyaṁ prakaṭam adhunā tad-dvayaṁ caikyam āptaṁ
rādhā-bhāva-dyuti-suvalitaṁ naumi kṛṣṇa svarūpam

["I worship Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu, who is Kṛṣṇa Himself, enriched with the emotions and radiance of Śrīmatī Rādhārāṇī. As the predominating and predominated Moieties, Rādhā and Kṛṣṇa are eternally one, with separate individual identities. Now They have again united as Śrī Kṛṣṇa Caitanya. This inconceivable transformation of the Lord's internal pleasure-giving potency has arisen from the loving affairs of Rādhā and Kṛṣṇa."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Ādi-līlā, 1.5]

That is the highest conception, representation of Mahāprabhu and this [ṣaḍ-bhuja] is in the lower to show that Mahāprabhu is Rāma, Mahāprabhu is Kṛṣṇa. And not representing that Rādhā-Kṛṣṇa combined, that highest phase is not to be deputed here. But that is what we want more. _____ [?]

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: Because we come in contact with people who voice willingness to surrender, to do sevā. But we find out through the course of our acquaintance with them that their surrender is not very deep. So we desire the association of those who have a deeper understanding of...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: As much as we get we should utilise that, as much. And we shall depend on the Divine Will. We shall go on working according to the dictation of our conscience. And the consequence left on the will of Kṛṣṇa. Always, that should be the main tenor of all our activities to be, then it will be service, not expectation too much for the results. Well and good, if Kṛṣṇa wills it will come. Or I'm sparing much labour to one, to A, with less labour, B comes, and this occurs sometimes. That depends on Him. Work with us, and the result with Him.

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: Yesterday you were saying that what we're seeing, what we're getting from the environment...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja:

karmaṇy evādhikāras te, mā phaleṣu kadācana
mā karma-phala-hetur bhūr, [mā te saṅgo 'stv akarmaṇi]

["I shall now describe niṣkāma karma-yoga, the path of selfless action. You have a right to perform your natural prescribed duties, but you are not entitled to any fruits of that action. You should neither act with desire to enjoy the fruits of your work, nor, as a result, should you be attached to neglecting your duties."]
[Bhagavad-gītā, 2.47]

Never entangle with the results of karma. Mā te saṅgo 'stv akarmaṇi. At the same time don't leave karma. Go on doing but without any expectation about the consequence. According to your conscience go on. And that will come according to the will of Kṛṣṇa. You're working for Kṛṣṇa, not for anything else. This sort of temperament should be always respectfully maintained. That every work not separate from His will, to satisfy Him, whatever I'm doing. To Him, to Vaiṣṇava, to Guru. All the activities should be with such sort of aim that I'm doing this to satisfy Vaiṣṇava, Guru, Kṛṣṇa, because I'm ordered to do so. If He likes to say that He wants to withdraw me from this field, "Yes at once I am ready." No love for the activity in a particular locality, always openness. I'm doing His satisfaction, working for Krsna, not captured by the local interest. Everywhere local interest comes to capture us. We shall be free. Our aim will be located to higher, not in any mundane hopeful plane.

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: But we don't want our surrender to be lip transaction, we don't want to be just speaking, our surrender.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Because I'm asked to do so I'm doing so. If I'm asked to withdraw, I'm ready. No local interest, no local love, captured by the local, however good or bad. I'm servant of Him, and slave.

I can only inform Him, "The position of this work in this place is such. If I'm withdrawn it may suffer to certain extent." At most I can inform Him.

But still if He says, "No, no, not necessary."

"Yes I am ready." That should be the clear position.

When Guru Mahārāja went there in Alhanāth near Purī, Jagannātha temple, eight or ten miles off, one devotee named Bipim Brahmacārī, he was so very busy about the activity there, too busy, fully booked, engaged always, no leisure. Then some devotee asked Guru Mahārāja, "He's so busy here. Has he got any local attachment of the place?"

Then to test that, Guru Mahārāja called for him, he came. "You Bipim, I'm thinking that you'll have to go to Māyāpur for service."

"Yes Guru Mahārāja. When shall I go?"

Then he says, "No, not necessary, you remain here."

Only to test whether local attachment has attacked or not, but when satisfied.

"Yes I'm ready, whenever you ask me I'm to go. When I'm to go, please say?"

But, "No, not necessary, you remain."

So we shall work in any area, but we should not gather any local interest. Interest will always be in the centre. I'm His servant. Because He has asked me to do all these things, these things have got value. If He asks me to withdraw, this will be useless. However better it may seem to me in my calculation, important activity, but the spirit will be drawn when He withdraws. Always towards the centre. Do you follow? Because He asks you to do so it is bhakti, it is devotion, not the practices, but the very life of the service is His order, His will, the centre, all reverential thing.

Devotee: _____ [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: _____ [?]
Nitāi Gaura Hari bol. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol.

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: We become tied down in local interest, that means that we're too much concerned with the elevation of that particular group of people.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Particular group, those people, not universal, a particular group. Some obligation, some sort of special relationship with the land, with the people, with particular sect, particular association, facility, we're attached to all these things. But we should mind that we're a slave to One, and here only for His will, and if He wants to immediately transfer I shall go there. I'm not indebted to anything else but Him. I'm His slave.

"I find this place is suitable to work in." At least I may, at most I may inform this to Him. "This is my favourable field, ānukūlyasya saṅkalpaḥ, this is favourable for my temperament to work."

In spite of that, "No, you must go there."

"Yes." That should be the attitude. Not love for any particular type of activity. Whatever He requests me to do I'm ready, independent of the success or failure. That is in His hand. I'm only to show that I'm wholesale cent percent His slave, His man. That is what is necessary in me.

tam bivina karana he he radha ramana [?] "Oh You Lord of Rādhā, I belong to none but You. None can have any influence on me but You. Your slight suggestion is the highest thing in me.

In the prospect of different classes, that has got no charm, no temptation for me. I want You. I want my position in the higher sphere, not that I want to be lost in this desert. Higher and higher sphere. When by test I shall pass, I may be taken to the higher post, and I may be entrusted with more faithful service, duty there. Anyhow my concern is with Him, with the Centre."

Generally for Kṛṣṇa consciousness, then it may be transferred, when there I may be posted to some other position, in the Rādhārāṇī's camp, from there in particular group where different types of service are being done, planned and being done there. So somewhere some bedding, somewhere this ornamental, environment, temperament, somewhere food department, so many departments there. I may be posted in some place according to my inner necessity. And the immediate superior will be my guide at that time, within the system of Krsna consciousness. In sākhya rasa, also in vātsalya rasa, dāsya rasa. The direct service of Krsna. In the preaching camp also when Krsna comes as Mahāprabhu to preach, there also different groups, departments, I may be entrusted. Some by their śāstra writing, Rupa and Sanātana. Or like Nityānanda to approach the people and say to take the name of Gaurāñga and Kṛṣṇa. Different departments. According to His will I shall be doing. But always direct connection I shall keep with the Centre.

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: You once advised me, that wherever I go, whatever I do, whomever I meet, whatever crowd of people I associate with, I should always look for that person who can give Kṛṣṇa to me, who can give me spiritual realisation.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, who can give me help in that direction. With that agent, connecting with him I shall begin any work.

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: But we find in the practical...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That should be happy and progressive.

Devotee: _____ [?]

83.09.21.B_83.09.22.A

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari.

Vidagdha Mādhava: Swāmī Mahārāja, he has shown the way to distribute thousands and millions of books. He's actually making them very colourful with pictures. He's showing like that.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi.

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: So as we associate with these different groups of people we are...

...indication of support for Kṛṣṇa consciousness. Then repeatedly we're disappointed in a sense that most of the support, or most of the people that we contact, they're not very sincere. They may give some support, they may get some sukṛti, maybe ajñāta sukṛti, maybe jñāta sukṛti. But their sincerity is missing, or deep sincerity, or deep understanding, and this we find not very satisfying.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What to do?

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: What to do? We're successful in our campaign but we don't...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: At most you can change your locality. You may be trying somewhere and little this side, you may go and try another field, then on the third field, at most you can do like that. Ultimately it is all prearranged. Ha, ha. You think all prearranged.

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: That is what I'm doing by Your Grace. It seems that to find a sincere soul is so rare that we have to scour the globe to try to find one or two.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Koṭiṣv api mahā-mune.

[muktānām api siddhānāṁ nārāyaṇa-parāyaṇa, sudurlabhaḥ praśāntātmā koṭiṣv api mahā-mune]

["O great sage, among many millions who are liberated and perfect in knowledge of liberation, one may be a devotee of Lord Nārāyaṇa, or Kṛṣṇa. Such devotees, who are fully peaceful, are extremely rare."]
[Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 6.14.5] & [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 19.150]

It is said, already noted in the scripture. What you are searching after, the percentage is very, very few. It is not so easy to find them. Mahāprabhu after surveying the whole of South India He came. And Sārvabhauma Bhaṭṭācārya, that giant scholar, went to do some service by oiling His feet.

Then Mahāprabhu had a private talk with him. "Sārvabhauma, I made such a big tour, but I could not find any devotee of your type, only with the exception of one, Rāya Rāmānanda. Only one I found in My whole tour for two years in the land of the Vaiṣṇava and Ācārya. Rāmānuja, Madhvācārya, all the Ācāryas come from South India. And in that land I made such an extensive tour for two years, but I could not find a single Vaiṣṇava of your standard." Sārvabhauma was māyāvādī, he had been converted by Mahāprabhu to a particular stage of Vaiṣṇavism. And He told, "I could not find a single Vaiṣṇava of your type, only with the exception of Rāmānanda Rāya, he gave Me great pleasure."

Sārvabhauma answered, "So I asked You my Lord to meet Rāmānanda there."

"Yes, you did, and I was satisfied meeting him only. So I could not find a single Vaiṣṇava of your type."

In His whole tour, Mahāprabhu said Himself.

So a Vaiṣṇava of higher type is not to be found here and there like this ordinary. But as much as possible let us hope one day they will also rise to higher standard. But still we may be concerned that this is the highest type of Vaiṣṇava, what Mahāprabhu told, it is very rarely to be found. In ISKCON also at the call of Swāmī Mahārāja so many came, but they can't stand, they're dispersing gradually, going to lower level. It is not very easy to appreciate and stand in the same plane and level, difficult. But still as much as done, that is enough, that is also most valuable. If for a minute, for second, we're in connection with that highest thought, that is not to be undermined. Again that will take me in future births. That slight connection for the time being, that is also of rare value, because these things very rarely come to this world to give that connection. So high degree of self surrender through love. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari bol. In the golden age also the meritorious persons they hanker for a birth in Kali-yuga. In the golden Satya-yuga.

kṛtādiṣu prajā rājan, kalāv icchanti sambhavam, [kalau khalu bhaviṣyanti nārāyaṇa-parāyaṇāḥ, kvacit kvacin mahā-rāja, draviḍeṣu ca bhūriśaḥ tāmraparṇī nadī yatra, kṛtamālā payasvinī kāverī ca mahā-puṇyā, pratīcī ca mahā-nadī ye pibanti jalaṁ tāsāṁ, manujā manujeśvara prāyo bhaktā bhagavati, vāsudeve 'malāśayāḥ]

["My dear King, the inhabitants of Satya-yuga and other ages eagerly desire to take birth in this Age of Kali, since in this age there will be many devotees of the Supreme Lord, Nārāyaṇa. These devotees will appear in various places but will be especially numerous in South India. O master of men, in the Age of Kali those persons who drink the waters of the holy rivers of Draviḍa-deśa, such as the Tāmraparṇī, Krtamālā, Payasvinī, the extremely pious Kāverī and the Pratīcī Mahānadī, will almost all be pure hearted devotees of the Supreme Personality of Godhead, Vāsudeva."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.5.38-40]

They want a birth in this iron age, the golden age people. Some section of golden age people they aspire after a birth in this iron age. What for? A special grant, an extraordinary class of grant has been made by the Lord in this Kali-yuga.

kaler doṣa-nidhe rājann asti hy eko mahān guṇaḥ [kīrttanād eva kṛṣṇasya mukta-saṅgaḥ paraṁ vrajet]

["O King Parīkṣit, the age of Kali, the repository of all evils, has but one glorious characteristic: in this age, those who simply chant the Holy Name of Kṛṣṇa are liberated and reach the Supreme Lord."]
[Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 12.3.51]

One special quality this Kali has got what others may not have in any time. And that direct by through the sound, taking the Name one can attain the highest position. So what Mahāprabhu distributed in Kali-yuga, that is not even to be found in golden age Satya-yuga, Tretā, all. It is so very valuable a thing. So a seconds connection with that very high thing, that is more than many things.

karmaniya sadhyana sadgati lekha bhavati bhava nava taru nenai [?] Even a seconds association with a sādhu, that is not lost, that is kept, and one day that will assert gradually and take me to the highest position.

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: So they're wanting to come to Kali-yuga because there's a higher position?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: For the rare chance, a chance of rare improvement, or facility, attainment. A very valuable attainment, possibility is there in Kali-yuga what is not found in other good ages ordinarily.

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: Who is that group in Satya-yuga?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: They have got some sukṛti, previous sukṛti, anyhow some intuition within them, that what is distributed as a special grant in Kali that is the highest realisation. This sort of understanding in the underground consciousness, that is gathered by sukṛti, unknown sukṛti. Anyhow without their consciousness they have been utilised for the, by the higher devotees, their energy connected in some way or other with the devotees of that type, unconsciously. And that is kept there under intuition, suppressed intuition and from that intuition suggestion comes. "Let us have a birth there." There something peculiarly wonderful achievement and that is most tempt-able thing to achieve that inner suggestion.

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: And the place they are, Satya-yuga, it's not so high?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: They're not pleased with meditation, meditation, meditation, of the Deity, meditation of the quality, this, that, an ordinary order. This love, highest divine love dealing is not there. There is only the direct transaction with the highest form of Divine Love is in Kali. Love is greater. There are so many other, they're also power seekers, so many other tempting things are there. May go to Nārāyaṇa, to Rāmacandra, to Dwārakeśa, this, that, and so many types of achievements. But the Kṛṣṇa connection, the Vraja connection, the wholesale surrender, and what is the outcome there, that is not to be had anywhere and everywhere. Ha, ha. Svayaṁ Bhagavān Kṛṣṇa.

nandaḥ kim akarod brahman, śreya evaṁ mahodayam
yaśodā ca mahā-bhāgā, papau yasyāḥ stanaṁ hariḥ

["Kṛṣṇa is said by authorities to be the Supreme Absolute Truth, and that Absolute is crawling in the courtyard of Nanda Mahārāja and sucking the breast of Yaśodā. What type of sādhana, what type of means have they adopted to attain that intimate end?"] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.8.46]

So, he can attend with that truth which is impossible to think, that Yaśodā whipping and He's crying, weeping and whipping and, "O mother I won't do this thing." With this type of closest connection, with the Supreme. And some other position also. It is not to be found anywhere. So Raghupati Upādhāya says, "Those that are afraid of this mortal world, let them take resort to Mahābhārata, Gītā, Vedānta, Purāṇa, etc. But I don't care for that. I want the charm underlying the pastimes that is found in the house of Nanda."

śrutim apare smṛtim itare, [tam anye bhajantu bhava-bhītāḥ
aham iha nandaṁ vande, yasyālinde paraṁ brahma]

["Those who fear rebirth in this world may follow the advice of the Vedic scriptures - others may follow the Mahābhārata - but as for me, I follow Nanda Mahārāja, in whose courtyard the Supreme Absolute Truth plays as a child."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 19.96]

"Śruti, Smṛti, Purāṇa, so many things, they're also giving very high things but that is tasteless to me. I want this Nanda and Yaśodā. How they have got that very thing, which is so precious, and which is sought in such a grand and most painful way to reach there? And that thing has come here, and easy thing like you and me, in this way. A family life we see that Parabrahman. Is it reliable? If it is so I want this and nothing else, no other. The achievement of Vedānta, the achievement of Mahābhārata, the achievement of Gītā, or achievement of other Purāṇa, I don't want. But Bhāgavata has given the family life with the son's play, that is the most charming. I don't go to this Veda, or the Purāṇa, or the Smṛti, or the Vedānta, the tarka, the reasoning, the reasonable aspect to understand the Absolute. All dismissed. Only I want this, intimate family life with the Lord."

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: But in Satya-yuga ninety per cent of the association is pure devotee.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Not this type of devotee. This type of devotee is unknown. In Satya-yuga the mass is of better character, amenable. Not much trouble in the administration, or in the social dealings. That is Satya-yuga, all God fearing in general. But that does not mean the highest standard of theism is there. It is not so. The majority are religious minded, that is Satya-yuga, but the standard of theism, religion, that is not very high. That is independent of any yuga but has special connection with Kali-yuga, by the special, sweet will of the Lord.

When Kali-yuga is coming, approaching, all the good men, the Ṛṣis, they're feeling much pain within their heart. "The Kali-yuga is coming, how the people will have to suffer. They'll do so many various wrong things and they'll have to suffer the consequence. How to save them?" The Ṛṣis are approaching towards Vasudeva. "The Kali-yuga is coming very soon. How those selfless people, unfortunate people can be helped?"

To consult with Vasudeva, the leaders of the Ṛṣis, they have come. And at that time Vasudeva has gone to take bath in Saraswatī River. The Ṛṣis impatiently they went to the river, ghāt, and there they found that Vasudeva is taking bath and says, "You Kali, you are very fortunate, you śudra you are very fortunate, you strī, women, you are very fortunate." He's uttering these words and taking bath.

They were surprised, the Ṛṣis. "We have come, how to help the Kali, the śudras, the strī and these Kali-yuga persons, and Vasudeva he says that. "You Kali, you are fortunate, you śudra of lower class you are fortunate, you woman section you are fortunate." What is this?"

Then Vasudeva came out. They're standing on the banks of the river. Then after giving and taking formal respect, then asked, "You have come to see me, any particular purpose?"

"Yes. We came for particular purpose. But before that we want to hear from you. While taking your bath you were chanting these expressions, the kali dainya, women you are dainya, fortunate. What is the meaning of that?"

Vasudeva said, "Because I saw the Lord has made some special sanction for the Kali-yuga and that surpasses the fortune of the other yugas also, if it can be utilised."

"Is it so?"

Then in his āśrama they came and it was discussed elaborately. How? What sort of fortune? What is the special grant for the jīva in this Kali? And they went back satisfied. "Yes. The special incarnation is, deputation coming to help the Kali."

So when ordinary persons, good persons, their heart cries for the pain, misery of the Kali-yuga, the Lord also is there. His heart also means to help the Kali who are especially under misfortune. And it has been, it is divine provision, providential arrangement, that this will be distributed, the highest thing will be distributed in the worst of the time. The best thing in the worst. asatu sada jayata [?] Misery attracts, when the famine attracts the king's donation, special donation, something like that.

Gaura Hari. Nitāi. Nitāi. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. I shall close now.

The whole of his life he took the Name of Kṛṣṇa, Hare Kṛṣṇa mahā mantra. But just at the time of his disappearance he took the feet of Mahāprabhu's grace, best, and his look, eyes fixed in the eye and face of Mahāprabhu and,

'śrī-kṛṣṇa-caitanya' śabda karite uccāraṇa, nāmera sahita prāṇa kaila utkrāmaṇa

["While chanting the Holy Name of Śrī Kṛṣṇa Caitanya, he gave up his air of life and left his body."]

[Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Antya-līlā, 11.56]

And when he took the Name of Śrī Kṛṣṇa Caitanya, the life vanished. The whole life with most earnestness, ideal earnestness, he was taking the Nāma of Kṛṣṇa. But the last moment he took the Name of Kṛṣṇa Caitanya. Then who is Kṛṣṇa Caitanya? We are reminded, who is Kṛṣṇa Caitanya. And the result, the consequence of the whole life, taking the Holy Name, Divine Name, the last result, the fruit, ripe fruit came as Kṛṣṇa Caitanya and he disappeared with the sound. This is peculiar thing. And Mahāprabhu Himself went to the prasāda dealers.

'haridāsa-ṭhākurera mahotsavera tare, [prasāda māgiye bhikṣā deha' ta' āmāre']

["I am begging prasāda for a festival honouring the passing away of Haridāsa Ṭhākura," the Lord said. "Please give Me alms."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Antya-līlā, 11.74]

"I have come to beg some prasāda from you, to do the festival of Haridāsa Ṭhākura."

Mahāprabhu Himself has come to beg. The dealers, they have come with full pot to give Him.

Then Svarūpa Dāmodara he stopped them. "No, no." He made some sign. "Don't give to Him. I am making arrangements to take."

Then he came to Mahāprabhu. "You go and they will all give and I am taking with persons whatever necessary I am taking. You please go home to Your own quarters."

Then sitting along with the devotees, Mahāprabhu took that prasādam and told, "Whoever in connection with Haridāsa Ṭhākura, they will all get Kṛṣṇa prema, in any connection. Whoever has taken him to the burial ground, whoever has helped with throw of little sand to the burial ground. And whoever has come to take this prasādam, any way connection with Haridāsa Ṭhākura, will give you best reward in the Divine Love."

They heard like that. Gaura Hari bol. Nitāi. Namācārya Haridāsa Ṭhākura. And he was the greatest sufferer. He was a Mohammedan by birth, or by social custom. Some say brāhmaṇa's son in childhood he was stolen by some Mohammedan. Anyhow, he was in the Mohammedan society. And they saw that, "We convert Hindus to our religion and Hindu converted into Mohammedan?" Could not tolerate, so severe punishment was dealt to him. He was whipped in twenty-two markets, showing to the people no such commitment can ever happen. But still Haridāsa Ṭhākura he could not leave this Kṛṣṇa Nāma. Was so heavily punished, still he retained his attachment towards Kṛṣṇa. And Mahāprabhu took him to Purī where they're mainly Hindu population and hater of Mohammedans. But Mahāprabhu made arrangements for a special place through the help of the Rāja Guru and the king to allow Haridāsa there, for twelve or eighteen years or so. And he passed away before Mahāprabhu. Other devotees they passed afterwards, but Haridāsa Ṭhākura passed away just before Mahāprabhu. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Nitāi. Gaura Hari bol.

[SCSM Kīrtan Guide, 4th Edition, page ii]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: A similar śloka, that is in the praṇama mantra, the list of obeisances to Guru paramparā I have composed. Śrī-siddhānta, the great Vaiṣṇava who was known as siddha Bhaktisiddhānta Saraswatī in the list of Guru paramparā. Māyāvāda-timiṅgilodara-gatān. His general activity was to save and to deliver those people who are diving in the ocean, who have dived in the ocean of māyāvāda. That everything is māyā, māyā, all misunderstanding. And above māyā, what is unknown and unknowable non-differentiated entity, this is māyāvādā. Whatever is known comes within the jurisdiction of our subject, our thinking, that is all māyā. And beyond māyā only non-differentiated, non-specified thing, unknown and unknowable, never knowable and known.

So Kṛṣṇa līlā, Nārāyaṇa, Gaura, all these religious conceptions, they are within the māyā but holding the higher position in the māyā, sātya-guṇa. Nārāyaṇa, Viṣṇu, all these in sātya-guṇa, rāja-guṇa, tāma-guṇa, sātya-guṇa, divisions. In sātya-guṇa, all these religious conceptions. But nirguṇa means summation of all negation, no positive assertion there, this is māyāvāda.

So māyāvāda timiṅgilo, timiṅgilo you know which can devour the whales. In ancient India there was a conception that in the ocean, not only the whales are the biggest fish, but there is another type which can devour even these whales. Timiṅgilo, gil means swallow, devour, who can swallow the great whales also. So big. So māyāvāda, in the religious conception it is like timiṅgilo.

They accept all religious concepts. "Yes you come, it is also a particular section but it is also māyā. And above māyā there is Brahman, unknown and unknowable, some conscious substance which can never be known. You admit that and we accept you, whether you are worshipper of Gaṇeśa, or Śakti, or Viṣṇu, or Śiva, or Kālī, or anyone like Jesus, or Mohammed, it does not matter. But ultimately this is all different types of conceptions about religious matter. But ultimately you are to accept unknown and unknowable in the highest. This is all in this misconception area, a degree of misconception."

So this is timiṅgilo, the devourer of so many whales. Māyāvāda-timiṅgilodara-gatān uddhṛtya jīvanimān. And you delivered them from this misconception. Vibudha-bahula-mṛgyā-mukti-mohānta-dātrī.

You liberated them from this great ignorance that the highest position is summation of all negation. No real positive is there. This is negative side. Positive is there, and the positive is differentiated and specified. There is subject, object, and so many divisions for the - only difference, here exploitation, there dedication. Tam eva bhāntam anubhāti sarvaṁ.

["In the transcendental abode of the Lord there is no need of sun, moon, or stars for illumination, nor is there any need of electricity, what to speak of ignited lamps. On the other hand, it is because those planets are self-illuminating that all effulgence has become possible. Whatever there is that is dazzling is due to the reflection of the divine abode of the Lord. The Supreme Godhead is so brilliantly self-luminous that neither the sun, nor the moon, nor stars, nor lightning have any power of illumination in His transcendental abode, and what to speak of fire. It is a fact that all of them get their power of illumination from His effulgence alone. In fact, it is only because of His existence that the whole universe exists."]

[Muṇḍaka-Upaniṣad, 2.2.10-2] & [Kathā-Upaniṣad, 2.2.25 - part 5, mantra 15]

What is not there in the cause, how can it come in the effect? So there is also movement and this is the perverted reflection here in the mortal world, but originally that must be there. What is not in the cause can never come in the effect. And that is supposed to be the cause, then this differentiation, specification, all these things, must be there. That cause must contain what we find in the effect, in any form or other.

Devotee: So what is the meaning of this line then, māyāvāda-timiṅgilodara...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: "Timiṅgilodara-gatān. Who are already within the belly of the māyāvādins, of those nihilists, spiritual nihilists, he took them out from that belly. Ra-gatān uddhṛtya jīvanimān. Then in the ocean of the Divine Love of Kṛṣṇa you put them and help them to take bath and have their pastimes in that ocean of love of Kṛṣṇa. The ultimate cause is love, and you can swim there in that ocean of love. And that sort of happiness you gave to innumerable persons that were captured ultimately by māyāvāda. Who did this, I signed on myself in the service of his feet."

Then there is another.

83.09.22.B

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...centre of activity in Gauḍa, in Bengal. Navadwīpa Dhāma was the headquarters of his līlā, activity. Śrī gauradhāma sthitiḥ. Sachāstraikavṛtiḥ. He engaged himself only in the propagation of the holy scriptures, śrauta kṛtiḥ, not ordinary writings of the ordinary people, but all śrauta kṛtiḥ, sachāstra, who that are dealing with eternal substance. Not transient, like scientific books dealing with the researches of this mundane world. He was dealing thoroughly, devoted his life thoroughly in dealing the revealed scriptures, sachāstraikavṛtiḥ, that was his vow, sachāstraikavṛtiḥ. Kusaṅga viratir. And he was very eager to give up the association of the evil persons, abhakta, that are animistic to the divinity. He kept him aloof far from the worldly people. Duḥsthabyathā-niṣkṛtiḥ. But he was very eager to remove the misery of the suffering souls. That was his business, busily engaged in. Duḥsthabyathā-niṣkṛtiḥ. To take out the pain from the heart of the people at large, that was his nature. Duḥsthabyathā-niṣkṛtiḥ.

Śrī rūpaik-ratiḥ. The inner heart, inner tendency, was common with the aspiration of Śrī Rūpa Goswāmī. There the harmonising, his inner heart has harmony with that what was given by Śrī Rūpa. Sanātana-natiḥ. And he had respect for Sanātana Goswāmī, who related what is our place and position in the universe, the eternal and here. Sanātana-natiḥ. Had obeisance towards him. Śrī jīvatejasthatiḥ. And his very nature was like Jīva Goswāmī, who could not tolerate any dishonour to the Vaiṣṇava. Always trying to maintain the honour, the invaluable, supernatural position of the Vaiṣṇava, very eager. And for that he used all his might to establish the honour of the Vaiṣṇava. That was his nature.

Like Śrī Jīva Goswāmī, who fought with the Digvijayī scholar in order to keep the honour of Rūpa and Sanātana who gave signature without sitting in a table of discussion with the Digvijayī Paṇḍit. This Digvijayī, a scholar, when he thinks himself a very big scholar, he, like so many heroes they're also out to fight with the paṇḍits of different places and takes the glory that he's the best scholar of the day. Fighting and defeating all the scholars here and there.

So one Digvijayī Paṇḍit came and then went to discuss with Rūpa and Sanātana. "You must sign that you are reluctant to discuss with me."

Rūpa and Sanātana gave their signature. "We do not want to. You are a big paṇḍit. We do not like to sit in discussion with you." They gave.

But when he went to Jīva Goswāmī, people told that, "He's their disciple, Jīva Goswāmī, he's also a big scholar. So until and unless you defeat him, you can't get the degree that you have defeated all the scholars in Vṛndāvana."

So he approached Jīva Goswāmī and he asked him. "Your Gurus, the Rūpa, Sanātana, they have already given signature, so I think you should also give your signature here under them."

Jīva Goswāmī he wanted to see, and he got it, and he tore to pieces. "You do not know, you fool, why they gave their signature. They think that to sit in discussion with you is waste of time, so they avoided you. But to keep their honour, to know, to inform you who they are, how dignified position, you must come with me and defeat me. Then you'll use that signature for your prestige, otherwise not."

Then Jīva Goswāmī sat in discussion and defeated him, there. "And now you understand that my Gurus, Rūpa, Sanātana, why they gave signature to avoid a proud man like you. They gave signature, not that they're not scholars."

So, śrī jīvatejasthatiḥ. Who had the valour and the spirit like that of Jīva Goswāmī. And his activity was like that to establish the prestige and the position of the Vṛndāvana Goswāmīns, Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura, all those, he was ready to fight with anyone and everyone. That was his śrī jīvatejasthatiḥ. Śrī siddhānta sarasvatī. By name he was known here as Śrī Bhaktisiddhānta Sarasvatī. Guruvaru. Our Gurudeva. Gaudīya-goṣṭhīpatiḥ. The master, the king of the Gauḍīya Sampradāya."

[gaurāṅgaika-gatir vrajāśritamatiḥ śrī gauradhāma sthitiḥ

[Śrī Gauḍīya Gitānjali] & [Sādhu-Saṅga, 3.1, 1985, p 12]

And that was another śloka. In this way I composed some here and there, so many.

Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol.

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: What was the outcome of the paṇḍit?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Eh?

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: The paṇḍit who was defeated by Jīva Goswāmī.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: _____ [?]

Devotee: _____ [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: It is referenced, in Bhakti-ratnākara the reference is there. I don't...

Devotee: Dayādhara Prabhu is asking 'what is the result?'

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Na, the name of the paṇḍita? You want to know the name of the paṇḍita?

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: No, not necessarily. I wanted to know his reaction.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: His reaction? He fled away. Another paṇḍita who came to fight in Navadwīpa and he had a sitting with Mahāprabhu, he was Keśava Kāśmīrī, a big paṇḍita. He was converted by Mahāprabhu. With a talk with Mahāprabhu he had reaction. But this paṇḍita his future not known, he fled away. But who fought with Mahāprabhu, another Digvijayī, his reaction was great, and he left everything and went privately he departed from Navadwīpa and he was Keśava Kāśmīrī by name. And many say that he entered, or he was within the Nimbarka Sampradāya. And he began his life in devotion in the Nimbarka Sampradāya, Keśava Kāśmīrī.

Devotee: Mahārāja. Next verse is composed in praise of Śrīla Gaurakiśora Dāsa Bābājī Mahārāja.

namo gaurakiśorāya bhaktāvadhūta mūrttaye gaurāṅghri padma-bhṛṅgāya rādhā-bhāva-niṣevine

["I bow to our Guru, Śrīla Gaura Kiśora Dās, the pure devotee beyond social class; the bee in the lotus of the feet of Śrī Gaurāṅga, who deep in his heart serve Śrī Rādhā forever."]
[SCSM Kīrttan Guide, 4th Edition, p iii]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The Guru paramparā, after our Guru Mahārāja, his Guru Gaura Kiśora Dās, for him one poem composed by me. Namo gaurakiśorāya. I show my obeisance to our Guru's Guru Gaura Kiśora Dās. Sākṣād vairāgya mūrtaye. His physical nature was of very abnegation type. Vairāgya means indifference. Indifference to the extreme was found in his outer characteristic.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: _____ [?] Namo gaurakiśorāya sākṣād vairāgya mūrtaye.

Devotee: Vipralambha-rasāmbhodhe, pādāmbujāya te namaḥ _____ [?]
Namo gaurakiśorāya bhaktāvadhūta mūrttaye.

[namo gaura-kiśorāya sākṣād vairāgya mūrtaye vipralambha-rasāmbhodhe, pādāmbujāya te namaḥ]

["I bow to your lotus feet, Śrīla Gaura Kiśora Dās Bābājī, the embodiment of renunciation and the ocean of sacred rapture in separation."] [Śrī Chaitanya: His Life & Associates, p 240]

Bhaktāvadhūta mūrttaye. Avadhūta means above paramahaṁsa, whose abnegation, indifference to the world, is so higher that sometimes people mistake that they're connecting with some filthy things.

Our Gaura Kiśora Bābājī Mahārāja, Gurudeva of our Guru Mahārāja, he used to stay in a room in a particular dharmaśālā, public rest place. And near the latrine, where general people did not like to approach, for its nearness to the public latrine. So he did not care for that.

Then when people asked him, "Why have you selected this nasty place, room, just adjacent to the public latrine?"

"This is better. The bad scent, that is more serious that comes from the evil mind of the people." That was his answer. "That is more nasty. The heart of the ordinary people, sinful people, that is more nasty than this physical nastiness of the latrine." Eh? Do you follow? Ha, ha. "That is more harmful, more injurious. This is injurious to the body, but that is contaminating the mind, so that is more dangerous thing." That was his answer. "To avoid those worldly men who have got some bad contamination, I keep nearby this nasty thing."

Avadhūta, so that is the standard of the avadhūta in whose dealings people find that he's fond of some nasty things. But his heart was something else, within. Within something, but externally they're mixing with nasty things of this world. Bhaktāvadhūta mūrttaye, gaurāṅghri padma-bhṛṅgāya. You are the bee in the lotus of the feet of Śrī Gaurāṅga. Rādhā-bhāva-niṣevine. And always you're trying to foster in your heart the pastimes of Rādhārāṇī. You're trying to engage yourself in the service, at your heart, about Rādhārāṇī."

Then next, then after that, Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura.

Devotee:

vande bhaktivinodaṁ śrī-gaura-śakti-svarūpakam
[bhakti-śāstrajña-samrājaṁ rādhā-rasa-sudhā-nidhim]

["I bow to Śrī Ṭhākura Bhaktivinoda, Mahāprabhu's love divine personified.
He's the king of all knowers of the purpose of the Scriptures, and he is the ocean of Śrī Rādhā's devotion."]
[SCSM Kīrttan Guide, 4th Edition, p iii]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: "Vande bhaktivinodaṁ. I bow down to Ṭhākura Bhaktivinoda who is the representation of devotion of Śrī Mahāprabhu in original form. Gaura-śakti-svarūpakam.

Devotee: Bhakti-śāstrajña-samrājaṁ.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And he's the emperor of all those that have got some knowledge about bhakti siddhānta. Bhakti-śāstrajña-samrājaṁ. King of the knower of the purpose of the devotional scriptures.

Devotee: Rādhā-rasa-sudhā-nidhim.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Rādhā-rasa-sudhā-nidhim. And where we can locate the infinite divine līlā of Rādhārāṇī within his heart. This is our Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura. Rādhā-rasa-sudhā-nidhim. The ocean of the ecstatic joy which can be derived by the service of Rādhārāṇī. This is his personified. And he's the king of the knower of all the revealed scriptures. Bhakti-śāstrajña-samrājaṁ. Those that know the real purpose of the revealed scriptures, he's the king among them, Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura.

Devotee: Then next verse.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then Jagannātha Bābājī.

Devotee:

gaura-vrajāśritāśeṣair vaiṣṇavair vandya-vigraham
[jagannātha-prabhuṁ vande premābdhiṁ vṛddha-vaiṣṇavam]

["The great venerable Grandsire of pure devotion, loved by all Vaiṣṇavas of both Navadwīpa and Vṛndāvana - I worship the feet of that great Vaiṣṇava Guru, the ocean of love, Śrīla Jagannātha Prabhu."]
[SCSM Kīrttan Guide, 4th Edition, p iii]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: All the Vaiṣṇavas that are staying either in Vṛndāvana or in Navadwīpa, he commanded, the old Vaiṣṇava, Jagannātha Bābājī, he commanded respect of all the Vaiṣṇava both in Vṛndāvana and Navadwīpa. And he was very old.

Devotee: Jagannātha-prabhuṁ vande premābdhiṁ vṛddha-vaiṣṇavam.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And who is the ocean of divine love, and he's the aged among all the Vaiṣṇavas existing. That is Jagannātha Bābājī.

Devotee: And who is old Vaiṣṇava.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He lived about a hundred and twenty five years. Jagannātha Dāsa Bābājī. And he commanded respect from all the Vaiṣṇavas in Vṛndāvana as well as in Navadwīpa. These two places of Gauḍīya Vaiṣṇava, Vṛndāvana and Navadwīpa generally, and he commanded respect of all, and lived long time. And he was also...

Devotee: Jagannātha-prabhuṁ vande premābdhiṁ vṛddha-vaiṣṇavam.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ocean of divine love, he was.

Devotee: And he was the senior-most, oldest Vaiṣṇava.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura had his connection. His Guru was Bipin [Bihari] Goswāmī, one gṛhastha Goswāmī, but in his last days he was indifferent to him, seeing his characteristic. And connected him with Jagannātha Dāsa Bābājī.

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: Śikṣā?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Śikṣā Guru. And took veśa also from him, took this bābājī-veśa. That is a form of sannyāsa. As Rūpa, Sanātana, Jīva Goswāmī, they took bābājī-veśa, not sannyāsa, not red but white cloth, as found in Vṛndāvana. So bābājī-veśa. So Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura in his last days he had connection with that Jagannātha Dāsa Bābājī. And being indifferent to his previous Guru as when he was a householder, from householder Guru he got here in Bhagna Para, one Bipina Goswāmī, whose name is mentioned in Caitanya-caritāmṛta's commentary, Bipina Goswāmī.

Devotee: Yes Mahārāja, complete.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And then Pañca Tattva _____ [?]

Devotee: Then vāñchā-kalpatarubhyaś ca.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Vaiṣṇava, then Pañca Tattva.

Devotee: Now you can rest Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: _____ [?] śaraṇāgati _____ introductory śloka [?]

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura, he selected Jagannātha Dāsa Bābājī for what reason?
He left one Guru and went to another Guru.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: As his veśa Guru, sannyāsa. He was gṛhastha and he took sannyāsa, so it is a custom the sannyāsī must take sannyāsa from a sannyāsī Guru. A gṛhastha Guru cannot confer sannyāsa. That was the custom, it is custom. A Guru is a gṛhastha, and how he can give the sannyāsa? So it is a general custom here, it is no objection. When he goes to Vṛndāvana he takes shelter under sannyāsī Guru, take mantram. He has got sannyāsa mantram. Sannyāsī has got a mantram. He has to take that mantram from Guru, but gṛhastha Guru cannot give. Ke?

[6–7) Birth after birth, let me be a speck of dust at the supremely magnanimous lotus feet of the universal Guru, Bhagavān Śrīla Bhakti Siddhānta Saraswatī Ṭhākur, who uplifted the conditioned souls submerged in the ocean of their whimsical activities to the lotus feet of Śrī Gaurāṅga and enlightened them about the greatness of śaraṇāgati.]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Svairācārābdhi-saṁmagnān, jīvān. The people that are drowned in the ocean of svairāca, that whatever they like they do, not following any system of karma. Whimsical activity, sensual activities. Who are already drowned in the ocean of sensual activities, getting them, relieving them from there, put into the lotus of the feet of Mahāprabhu where śaraṇāgati, the surrender - put him in the lotus of surrendering in the feet of Mahāprabhu. Uddhṛtya. Gaurāṅghri-paṅkaje. Jīvān gaurāṅghri-paṅkaje, uddhṛtya śaraṇāpatter, māhātmyaṁ samabodhayat. They rescued them from the ocean and put into the lotus holy feet of Mahāprabhu, and then began to preach to them what is the efficacy and goodness of the surrendering, of the surrendered soul. Taking them out of the ocean, put them on the lotus, in the ocean of lotus feet of Mahāprabhu. And then began to canvass them about the greatness and the glory of the surrendered souls.

Devotee: Uddhṛtya śaraṇāpatter, māhātmyaṁ samabodhayat.

Devotee: Yas tasya bhakti-siddhānta.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: This is the nature, this is the activity what Bhaktisiddhānta did in this world. Who are diving deep into the ocean, to collect them, and put in the lotus feet of Mahāprabhu. And then preach about the greatness, nobility of śaraṇāgati, surrendered soul, from whimsical action to surrendered stage. That was his characteristic, to take us, we're whimsically moving hither and thither, no rules, no regulations, to collect us and put in the lotus feet of Mahāprabhu. And then began to canvass what is the goodness in śaraṇāgati, the life of a surrendered soul. That was his purpose of life.

Śaraṇāgati is a book, Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura, I composed a commentary. And there in the beginning this śloka about my Guru Mahārāja obeisance.

Devotee: Yas tasya bhakti-siddhānta-sarasvatī-prabhor guroḥ.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Atyudāra-padāmbhoja-dhūliḥ syāṁ janma janmani. This is the characteristic of Bhaktisiddhānta Saraswatī. And his very rare shelter for the souls I pray that I may have shelter there in his foot. Dhūliḥ syāṁ janma. I want to be a dust in the holy feet of such Gurudeva, my Bhaktisiddhānta Saraswatī. That is the prayer.

Devotee: _____ [?]

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: Mahārāja. I had a slight argument with Mahānanda Prabhu over some Deity service. So I wanted to have some clarification. He says that you say that the Deity should be worshipped in a very humble way.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Humble and careful also.

Devotee: In a simple way.

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: Hmm. Simple. So I had some - I wrote to you once, I had some sapphires that I wanted to make..

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But you want to do it in a royal style?

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: Not royal, but I want to do some things nice.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You see, in Vṛndāvana when Rūpa, Sanātana, requested by Mahāprabhu, they're leaving His own association reluctantly, they were requested to go to Vṛndāvana and to preach, and several other activities were given to them. But Sanātana was wandering in Vṛndāvana and trying to find out the places of Kṛṣṇa līlā which is now forgotten by - all these things, so many others, and also to establish Deity worship.

Then he used to move through the whole of Vṛndāvana, and his behaviour, conduct, was so humiliating and amiable that everyone loved him, and used to say, "Our old father. Guru Baba. Old father." That was the common name of Sanātana Goswāmī throughout the whole of Vṛndāvana. In one word, "Our old father." Very, very popular, from the child to the old.

But in one householders house there was Rādhā-Govinda, Rādhā-Madan-mohana. And a daughter-in-law in that house she was a good devotee, she generally used to serve that Rādhā-Govinda, Rādhā-Madan- mohana.

That Sanātana used to visit, and that Rādhā-Govinda gave a dream, both to the lady and to Sanātana.

To Sanātana the dream came, "I want to take your service."

And this lady, daughter-in-law, the householder, she also got that, "I want, I'd like to go to Sanātana to accept his service. When he comes to you please hand over." Of course the lady she swooned, she could not contain her consciousness when she got this shock.

Sanātana also came with that object and informed that, "I had a dream last night that Madan-mohana wants to go to me. And now what you will do? You judge and settle."

Then the gṛhastha lady, "Yes, we have got also such command in dream. So He's free, He can do anything and everything. He wants to grace you, and to deprive us from our service. What we can do? He's free. Autocrat." So handing over that Rādhā-Madan-mohana Vigraha to Sanātana, and the lady lost her consciousness and fell down.

What to do? Sanātana took Him. And in his cottage in one portion he put Him there. Then, he's a beggar, whatever some flour, he - before this he used to take some bread from the householders. But now because to offer fresh things to the Deity so he used to collect some flour, etc. And with the flour he with mixing some water and then putting in the fire he used to offer to the Madan-mohana, and he himself ate that.

After some time Madan-mohana gave another dream. "O Sanātana, I can't eat these things which you offer to Me, I can't relish. Put at least some salt there, otherwise I can't do."

What to do? "O, You want me to eat salt?"

"O, that salt is not much. But don't want anything else. So put some salt within that wheat ball, flour ball, put salt and put it into the fire and offer and eat, take the prasāda."

After some days Madan-mohana said in a dream, "Sanātana, I can't eat only with mere salt, add some ghee, otherwise I can't eat, swallow it."

"O, You want to feed me. This is Your tactic. How is it possible? I'm a beggar. Where should I get any ghee? Then I shall take You to that same house where You were eating in unlimited way."

In this way, but quarrelling with Deity in his mind, but anyhow got some ghee. He also accepted. Took with some ghee and salt and that ball of flour put into the fire and he offered and he took it. In this way.

Then he again did something. Some rich man came to visit the place, and seeing, "In a cottage you have put Madan-mohana, so beautiful Deity. I shall construct a temple."

In this way gradually developed. But everything should be devoted to be offered to Him. But we must be careful thereby we may not acquire habit of such rich living, rich life. Afterwards there was that royal style of service of Govinda, Madan-mohana, gradually growing there. But they were like bābājī, a beggar, they used to live in such a simple way, poor way. Gradually everything may come, according to His wish. Tat paratvena nirmalam.

[sarvopādhi-vinirmuktaṁ, tat paratvena nirmalam / hṛṣīkena hṛṣīkeśa-sevanaṁ bhaktir ucyate]

["Pure devotion is service to the Supreme Lord which is free from all relative conceptions of self interest."] [Nārada Purāṇa]

Everything is pure if it is meant for Him. The percentage of the purity, the degree of purity depends how much it is meant for Him, and not for the worshipper or others. The measurement is there, measurement, the surrender, the degree of sacrifice, how much? Purity depends on that measurement.

...

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: ...confused me even further.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Eh? Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura?

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: Yes. After Mahānanda Prabhu and myself had this discussion, then I read Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura, I became even more confused. Because he says in the Śikṣāmṛtam, in one place he says that, "It is an offence not to worship the Deity according to your means."

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Not to worship the Deity?

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: According to your means. In other words, if you have money but you don't worship according to your own means...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Beyond your means?

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: Not beyond your means, worship according to your means.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: According to your position.

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: Ah. If you have money then you should have some opulence for the Deity. If you don't have money then no, you should not have. Like that.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Bhāva-grāhī-janārdanaḥ. There is another saying, in the Purāṇa, quoted by Jīva Goswāmī. In Pratistanpur [?], perhaps in the south, there was an old town and there was a brāhmaṇa who used to worship mentally. One day the brāhmaṇa in his meditation he's offering some paramānna, sweet rice, and suddenly in his mind it seemed to him that it's very hot, too hot. Then in the meditation also he put his finger in that boiled sweet rice, and his finger was burned. Do you follow?

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: Hmm. Subtle.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Physically, while everything is going on mentally, but when he went to test, the mental conception is so much substantial that when he's putting his finger to test whether it is too hot to be taken in the mouth, his physical finger was burned by physical fire. So much degree a meditation can reach that it come to such. Everything that is subjective evolution. Everything transcendental comes to this world, it descends.

When Dhruva, according to Nārada's mantram, he wanted to meditate, suddenly he found the object of his meditation, that Nārāyaṇa, padma-palāśa-locanāt, come within his mind. And then that mental conception was so much intense when he opened his eyes he found He's standing before him.

But that does not mean that He has come from somewhere, from some corner of the physical world. It is coming from subconscious region to our consciousness and becoming so much intense capturing the senses, mental. And then more intense then capturing the physical senses. So everything is like that.

So only to help our mental conception physical things are necessary for the lower section of the worshipper, kaniṣṭha adhikārī. And for the sannyāsīns the mental, for the sannyāsīns. Prasāda also. A kaniṣṭha adhikārī, a beginner, he'll gather the things and offer to the Deity, and then he'll take, he'll have impression that I'm taking prasāda. But a sannyāsī he's got no Deity, he's wandering, preaching, and whenever anything comes to him he's offering mentally to the Deity and taking prasāda. And the paramahaṁsa he's not only also not offering also, whatever comes to him, "O, God sent today this prasāda for me." He's taking. No offering mentally, and no collection physically. Physical transaction in the first, lower stage. And mental adjustment in the middle. And the paramahaṁsa, the higher devotee, he's already adjusted. Whatever coming to him sent by Kṛṣṇa, prasāda, he's taking. No formal offering, neither gathering things from the world. This is highest thing.

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: Then I'm even more confused now. Because this Mahānanda Prabhu he offers so much prasādam to the Deities, and he takes so much prasādam.

Devotees: (Group laughter)

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: And he relishes so much. But he does not want me to put on...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: This physical connection that is kaniṣṭha adhikārī, lower section.

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: Yes, but then he does not want me to make a silver plate and put sapphire...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And madhyama adhikārī he won't care, wherever he'll go, here, there, for the work of Mahāprabhu, preaching for the people, and whatever will come he'll offer and take. That is for the middle section. But he has got a good feeding tendency for himself, so it is better to before feeding himself to offer it to the Deity.

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: ...people who live around the temple they think it's a very good bargain. They like Mahānanda Prabhu's prasādam.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But if it's meant that these rich dishes can be distributed to the people, and it will be easy to have intimacy with them, and we shall get them for the service of the Lord, then that will fetch another meaning. Not for himself, but to entrap the persons by good dishes and to try to engage them for higher service. Then it has got its justification in another way.

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: That may be his...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Or if for only his tongue, of course it is not good.

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: No, not at all.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But if it is unavoidable it is better to offer and then to take. The relation is there.

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: Yes, yes, yes. He's doing for the preaching, but he's not averse to relishing it himself.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ha, ha.

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: Ha, ha, ha. But he does not want to...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Mahāprabhu's general direction to Raghunātha dāsa. Mahāprabhu gave him instruction that, "I appoint Svarūpa Dāmodara for your spiritual education."

Then still [Raghunātha] Dāsa Goswāmī he was roaming about.

"What do you want?"

"I want some direct advice from You how I shall go, how I'm to go on."

Then Mahāprabhu, "I've already given you in the custody of Svarūpa Dāmodara. He knows much, even more than Myself. Still if you've got special regard for My advice I generally give this advice to you."

grāmya-kathā nā śunibe, grāmya-vārtā nā kahibe [bhāla nā khāibe āra bhāla nā paribe amānī mānada hañā kṛṣṇa-nāma sadā la'be vraje rādhā-kṛṣṇa-sevā mānase karibe]

[Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu told Raghunātha Dāsa Goswāmī: "Don't indulge in worldly talk, don't hear worldly talk. Try your best to avoid mundane matters. Don't eat delicious dishes, but take whatever ordinary food may come of its own accord; and don't dress luxuriously. Always try to take the Name of Kṛṣṇa with the attitude of giving respect to others, without expecting respect from anyone. Be humble, but never aspire after respectful dealings from others. In this way, try to take the Name of Kṛṣṇa constantly. And within, try to serve Śrī Śrī Rādhā-Kṛṣṇa in Vṛndāvana. Mentally, be in Vṛndāvana rendering Service to Śrī Śrī Rādhā- Kṛṣṇa-līlā."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Antya-līlā, 6.236-7]

"Don't allow yourself to mix with these mundane topics, neither listen nor participate. Nā śunibe, grāmya-vārtā nā kahibe. Bhāla nā khāibe āra bhāla. Don't eat anything tasteful. And don't use any gorgeous dress, rich dress. Amānī mānada hañā kṛṣṇa-nāma sadā la'be. And you try to take the Name of Kṛṣṇa constantly with the attitude of such humility that don't disturb anybody, and don't allow you to be disturbed by the behaviour of others. Amānī mānada. Don't hanker for any respect outside, and neither you lack giving respect to others. Always give respect to others, and don't hanker respect from anyone. Amānī mānada. In this attitude you go on taking the Name of Kṛṣṇa incessantly. And vraje rādhā-kṛṣṇa-sevā mānase. And in the middle, within your heart, try to understand what is Rādhā-Kṛṣṇa sevā. Rādhā-Govinda sevā, that is not to give vent to others, to advertise. Keep it within the core of your heart. And there you try serve Rādhā-Kṛṣṇa."

And that was the concise advice to Dāsa Goswāmī by Mahāprabhu. So bhāla khāra bhāla para, good dress and good eating, it is not good generally. At the same time Mahāprabhu says somewhere, Akonta bhuliya khara prasādam seva utka kori nama sankirtan [?] "Fill your belly as much as you can, up to throat. And also, don't be miser to use your energy fullest, and cry aloud 'Kṛṣṇa, Kṛṣṇa, _____ [?]' To use your energy to the fullest degree, and take from the store of Kṛṣṇa as much as you can, take it. Utilise energy for the service of Kṛṣṇa in any stage of life. And don't be self centred, be God centred."

Elephant and ant. Elephant eats much but gives her service also. And ant cannot eat much but may bite a devotee. So less eating is not very important thing. Nor in the store of Kṛṣṇa no want of things, supply. So whatever suits you take that sort of energy and use it to the fullest extent for the service of Kṛṣṇa in any duty. But generally from your particular case you are tempted by the taste, and this, atyāhāraḥ prayāsaś ca, [prajalpo niyamāgrahaḥ jana-saṅgaś ca laulyaṁ ca, ṣaḍbhir bhaktir vinaśyati]

["One's devotional service is spoiled when he becomes too entangled in the following six activities: (1) atyāhāra - eating more than necessary or collecting more funds than required; (2) prayāsa - over-endeavouring for mundane things that are very difficult to obtain; (3) prajalpa - talking unnecessarily about mundane subject matters; (4) niyamāgraha - practising the scriptural rules and regulations only for the sake of following them and not for the sake of spiritual advancement, or rejecting the rules and regulations of the scripture and working independently or whimsically; (5) jana-saṅga - associating with worldly-minded persons who are not interested in Kṛṣṇa consciousness; and (6) laulyaṁ - being greedy for mundane achievements."] [Śrī Upadeśāmṛta, 2]

Three vega, udara-upastha, jihvā vega. Tongue wants to eat sweet things, tasteful things. And belly also wants to get more, to fill up, this is udara vega. Jihvā, udara, and they produce some bad effect in the union of men and women, upastha vega, they generally produce.

[vāco vegaṁ manasaḥ krodha-vegaṁ, jihvā-vegam udaroprastha-vegam etān vegān yo viṣaheta dhīraḥ, sarvām apīmāṁ pṛthivīṁ sa śiṣyāt]

["A sober person who can control the urge to speak, the mind's demands, the actions of anger and the urges of the tongue, belly and genitals is qualified to make disciples all over the world."] [Śrī Upadeśāmṛta, 1]

So by controlling the food we can also - it may be help to control the other senses also. So generally we shall not eat much. But if independent of other misuse we can utilise the full food energy for the service of the Lord no objection. The very spirit of the thing should be taken, and not only form. The amount of service, the quality service.

In our Maṭha, those that did brain work they were given some milk. And those ordinary physical, they may eat this curry and this dāl, sufficient for them. But those that will have to do this writing and this reading, all these things, some milk food is necessary for their brain. In this way, this is yukta-vairāgya, according to necessity. Anyhow the purpose will be the service of Kṛṣṇa and the Vaiṣṇava.

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura says, "Vaida bhaktas should guard themselves against offence in serving God and chanting Nāma. Offences arising during service, and offences arising while chanting Nāma, are shown separately."

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura also has written in Kṛṣṇa-saṁhitā in the end. Bhāvagrāhi, sāragrāhī, two sections. There is a section who bears the burden in the memory so many advices of the scripture, one section, bears the burden in the memory. Another who understand the very gist, the substance of the advice, sāragrāhī. The sāragrāhī section also may be divided into many sections, though even apparently they're engaged in the physical affairs, but at heart they're there. It is possible. Doing, even as a king he's conducting the government administration outwardly, but inwardly he may have his life in Vṛndāvana, even in the secret camp of Rādhārāṇī, Kṛṣṇa, service. It is also possible.

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: So his understanding is more developed, than the one carrying in the memory.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ah. Carrying in the memory, lower. But who has got the very gist, very substance within, they can withdraw from the physical connection and devote most intensely for the service of the Lord. And when they come outside then he's also conducting administration and so many business also. It is also possible they say. They're sāragrāhī. Double phase of life is also possible. Though they're seen in the public works and affairs, or in his family affairs, so much engaged, but it's possible that when they have finally got that pure conclusion, this is all mortal and that is real. And when they attain that real they can do it fully, and their existence in the outside is formal one. It is also possible.

So in different type of cases, but real thing is that the degree of purity in the surrender and service, whatever be the outward adjustment. The internal adjustment is independent of outward expression. It is possible, but not always. Specially in the lower case, physical adjustment helps the inner. We shall try to convert our valuation of the physical things to help us to reach the internal valuation of everything.

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: He says, Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura says, "According to Varāha-Purāṇa and Padma- Purāṇa, offence of service is five-fold." And then the first one he says, "Want of taking care according to ones mite." He's talking about Deity service, or he's talking about vaida bhakta, more generally. He says, "Want of taking care according to ones mite." And then he explains. "There is wealth but no timely festival is performed about the Deity. In spite of ability service is made by inferior kinds of materials."

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Vittha śāthya, to deal miserly.

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: Yes. So he's saying, "You have ability to serve Deity nicer...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: "But you do not care." That is you are not using yourself fully, not dedicating fully according to your capacity. That is miserly dealing about that. Of course that is bad.

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: But then on the next page he says, "During service you should consider yourself as the most humble servant of God. Without doing this, if you praise yourself or consider yourself as superior worshipper, there will be pride at the time of service. If you worship with many materials with pomp and show, thereby thinking yourself great, then it is also a pride in service."

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, of course. The common thing that is according to your surrender everything will be useful. Your understanding, your realisation about truth, the real realisation, it will depend on that, the common thing. So many stages it may take.

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: These items that I wanted use in Deity service, they were items I had bought in order to sell to make money. But I was unable to sell and make a profit, so...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Not only money making business, it should not be thought so low, it has got its benefit, but still it is meant for the lower section of devotee.

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: Yes, yes, yes, yes. But I had done this.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja:

arcayam eva haraye, pūjām yaḥ śraddhāyehate na tad-bhakteṣu cānyeṣu, sa bhaktaḥ prākṛtaḥ smṛtaḥ

["A devotee who faithfully worships the Deity, but does not properly respect the Vaiṣṇavas or the people in general is called a materialistic devotee, and is considered to be in the lowest position of devotional service."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.2.47]

Who are making much of the idol worship, and disregard the devotees, they're of lower type. But the higher type they'll regard more the devotee than the Arcā. Because in the devotee also there is also expression of the Deity in more original form. In the heart of the devotee there is the Deity Who is guiding him always. And that is higher expression of the Deity than in the physical plane. So the middle class of devotee he will have greater appreciation for the devotee than the Śrī Mūrti. Ignoring devotee, if he goes to worship the Deity that commits offence.

When I first came to the Gauḍīya Maṭha there in Calcutta in a hired house, Mahāprabhu's Mūrti was in an out room. And our Guru Mahārāja used to live on the first floor, only one room there on the roof, and he used to stay there.

I asked one day one gentleman, I'm coming and going, "This Mūrti of Mahāprabhu it is made of the wood, or earth, or minerals, what is it?"

He was enraged with me. "What do you say? Sākṣād Mahāprabhu, He's Mahāprabhu Himself. Don't think of wood and this or that."

"Is it?"

"Yes. Mahāprabhu Himself is there. Don't think otherwise."

"And if Mahāprabhu Himself is here, then who is the best devotee amongst you, your Gurudeva, he must remain with Mahāprabhu. Can we not expect like that? Mahāprabhu Himself is there, and best devotee amongst you he must be with Mahāprabhu. But he has engaged one of his junior devotees to take care of Mahāprabhu, and he's above. What is the reason?"

Then he told me. I could catch somewhat. "That he's also near Mahāprabhu always in his heart. And that is the higher expression of Mahāprabhu, than this." I could follow somewhat.

So in the heart of the devotee there is also Mahāprabhu. And that is more living Mahāprabhu than in this Deity. So Mahāprabhu, Kṛṣṇa, all, it is going to the natural conception of sat, cit, ānanda, cetan, spiritual. And He has come down for the lowest section in this form to take physical service from us. He has come down to attract the lowest type of devotees He has come down. But higher form of devotee, without the Śrī Mūrti, they can go on with their services. And the highest class, everywhere they cannot see anything which is not connected with God. Everything connected with God. The highest class all connected with God. In this way. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Whenever any forest He sees, "O, Vṛndāvana." Any hillock, "O, Govardhana." Gives that sort of impression in Him, and He enjoys that līlā, everything.

A naughty boy is moving here and there against the memory of Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa was such, ha, ha. Very over energetic, and doing this and that, and destroying, breaking so many utensils. And so many things wasting. And disturbing mother. A little boy Kṛṣṇa. These things will come. Gaura Hari bol. So I close here.

...

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: The devotee is always going to worship, do bhajan in the evening. But if he chances on Hari kathā then he does not care for the bhajan, the pūjā, the arcana, like this, if he happens on Hari kathā. Because all of these things are - the goal is Hari kathā.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Kīrtana is better than arcana. He's engaged in Hari kathā with a devotee, and the time of āratīk or sandhyā that is crossed.

That He won't mind it, the Lord won't mind it. "You're engaged in another form of worship. He was talking, he was also making a pūjā of Mine in another form." He'll take like that.

That sincerity of the heart, that is all. Ha, ha. You see, once Kṛṣṇa was guest at Vidura's house, Vidura was out for begging, and Vidura's wife was there. Kṛṣṇa suddenly came. And Vidura's wife perhaps was in the bathroom, she was forgetful of the... Kṛṣṇa has come, His voice perhaps she could catch, and she... they were very poor, their style of life was very, very poor, no cloth.

But she's forgetful of her own position she's coming out. Kṛṣṇa has to throw His over cloth to her body, and then was wrapping her body with that cloth. She came to Kṛṣṇa and after making Kṛṣṇa to sit somewhere, then how to serve Him? Apparently nothing they had in the room, only some plantain fruit. Then she took that plantain and she's uncovering the plantain and instead of giving the fruit to His hand she's giving the cover to His hand. And Kṛṣṇa is eating that cover of that plantain.

Just at that time Vidura and Nārada, both of them reached there and they found this scenery.

Then Vidura cried aloud, "What are you doing? Leaving the fruit you are giving the cover to Kṛṣṇa and He's eating."

But He's unconscious about that. "Yes, am I doing like that?"

Then Nārada remarked, "Here she's forgetful of her own self with the joy suddenly finding Kṛṣṇa in her house, overjoyed, lost all her senses. I don't blame her. But our Lord, what He's doing? How He's eating the cover? Why He cannot suggest that, "O, give the fruit not the cover." I blame not the devotee but the Lord."

Then Kṛṣṇa remarked, "Nārada, I'm neither eating the fruit nor the cover. I'm eating her devotional sentiment."

Then how to assert things, what is what?

patraṁ puṣpaṁ phalaṁ toyaṁ, yo me bhaktyā prayacchati tad ahaṁ bhakty-upahṛtam, aśnāmi prayatātmanaḥ

["Certainly, if one offers Me with devotion a leaf, flower, fruit, and water, I partake of that whole offering from such a pure hearted and affectionate devotee of Mine. With heartfelt love, I graciously accept."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 9.26]

"Whether it is a leaf, or it is a flower, or it is fruit, or it is water, it does not matter. But what is given, offered to Me with devotion, with dedication, I accept that. Bhāva-grāhī-janārdanaḥ. Only I take that mental emotion, that regard towards Me. I eat that, and not the outer representation."

Something like that. Gaura Hari bol. So I close here. Eh?

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: I had one more question.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ha, ha, ha, ha. What is that?

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: I just wondered if you could elaborate. Because the first time I ever hear of this, Bhaktivinoda is telling that there are, he says, "Knowledge by senses is possible to all jīvas having senses. Knowledge of feelings of the external world is carried by senses through the nerves to the brain. These feelings are carried from the external world by the first faculty of mind which is the inner sense. Then, by the second faculty of mind these feelings are kept in memory. By the third faculty they are united and separated."

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Assimilation.

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: Ah. "Resulting in imagination and contemplation. The fourth faculty determines the quality of these feelings and minimises their number." Differentiation I suppose. "And again dividing these feelings increase their number. By the fifth faculty a common meaning is obtained from these assorted feelings. This is called reasoning."

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Psychological analysis. That is applied in the experience of this world. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: This is all the subtle body. So, but I never hear this division before, five faculties. But then he goes on to say that, "Man is not satisfied by that."

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: This is inductive process. But deductive process is independent of this. Knowledge coming down from higher to lower. This is the āroha-panthā, the ascending method, from the world of experience it is going for higher utility in the human plane. Not possible in the animals also with such analysis. But the deductive knowledge is something else, deductive, descending from higher to lower, śrauta siddhānta. It captures the centre and then it comes to the senses. From higher to lower. And this can help to certain extent, to help the people of the worldly scholars, these analytical things may be used. They're collected from outside and through this particular process it comes to some universal position, and reckoned that this is this, this is that, of different kinds. They're all deeply ascending method collected from outside. But the descending process first captures the centre heart, and then it extends itself to every quarter and corner, to the physical plane, then come to the senses also. And without coming to the level of senses also it can fill up the whole heart and whole mental system.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Ke?

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: ... appears contradictory. It's confusing to me. He says something about power.

"In the original decision of tattva, or truth, there is no other independent being than God. He's all powerful. Out His unthinkable infinite power all jīvas and jagat have sprung up. Power is not different from the powerful. When jīva and jagat are the evolution or pariṇāma of God's power, then they cannot be separate entities if judged from the angle of root or first cause. But if judged impartially power cannot be said as powerful."

One he says, "Power is the same as the powerful." Then he says...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is applicable everywhere. Every stage that is applicable. Taṭa-stha, a relative and absolute consideration. Acintya bhedābheda. So Mahāprabhu in a generalised statement He represented that everywhere there is common and difference. And that is acintya, unthinkable, because that depends on the sweet will of the Lord. Everything is different in some way, and common in some. You can compare anything with everything, something common something different.

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: Hmm. Depending on angle of vision.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And depending on the sweet will, so it is acintya, not comprehensible within you in any time.

mayā tatam idaṁ sarvaṁ, jagad avyakta-mūrtinā mat-sthāni sarva-bhūtāni, na cāhaṁ teṣv avasthitaḥ.

na ca mat-sthāni bhūtāni, paśya me yogam aiśvaram [bhūta-bhṛn na ca bhūta-stho, mamātmā bhūta-bhāvanaḥ]

["In an unmanifest manner, I pervade this entire universe, and everything conceivable is situated within Me - and yet, I am not situated within that total entity."] ["And again, that is also not situated in Me. Just behold My inconceivable simultaneous one and different (acintya-bhedābheda) nature as the perfect, omnipotent, omniscient originator and Lord of the universe! Although My very Self is the mainstay and guardian of all beings, I am not implicated by them."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 9. 4-5]

"I'm everywhere, I'm nowhere. Everything in Me, nothing in Me. Try to understand My peculiar position, you Arjuna, what am I."

This is inconceivable, the relative and absolute principle, it depends on His sweet will. The key in His hand. It's applicable everywhere, from gross to subtle-most.

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: So we're independent, but yet we're slave.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Also slave, both existing together, sometimes this side, sometimes that side. Everything is possible.

Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura has written in one place that, "Even if He wishes the whole plane of jīva śakti, the jīva potency, may be destroyed."

In philosophical jugglery also, "God is free, can He commit suicide?" Ha, ha, ha. The questions were there. "If He's free then He can commit suicide. And if He committed suicide then He's no more." Ha, ha. These are fallacies, disease of the thought. But in other words He commits suicide in Brahmaloka. In Brahmaloka is there, non-differentiated plane, there is suicide, after suicide He's represented there, as non-differentiated Brahman. And highest assertion in Kṛṣṇa conception.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Nitāi. Nitāi.

This is a very peculiar śloka and the basis of all philosophical thought.

"I'm everywhere, I'm nowhere. Everything in Me, nothing in Me."

Contradiction, a pure, straight contradiction, and that is harmonised.

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: Inconceivable.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: "Try to understand what is My peculiar position, Arjuna. I'm not mad that I'm giving contradictory statements to you. The inner substance try to catch. Everywhere, I'm everything, I'm nothing. Everything in Me, nothing in Me. What is this? Pure contradiction. I'm there."

Then what am I? Try to adjust. What can go beyond the jurisdiction of this statement? Nothing.

... intact, to purify spiritually, Ganges water. So Vaiṣṇava not baring mentally or physically he should be weighed. But soul's property is devotion. Vaiṣṇavism is souls function, the quality of the soul, neither the mental system nor the physical system. Physically he may be blind, he may be lame. Mentally also he may be little lower, and little greedy also. But that won't disturb his Vaiṣṇava characteristic, that is faith, faith in Kṛṣṇa.

["Being situated in his original Kṛṣṇa conscious position, a pure devotee does not identify with the body. Such a devotee should not be seen from a materialistic point of view. Indeed, one should overlook a devotee's having a body born in a low family, a body with a bad complexion, a deformed body, or a diseased or infirm body. According to ordinary vision, such imperfections may seem prominent in the body of a pure devotee, but despite such seeming defects, the body of a pure devotee cannot be polluted. It is exactly like the waters of the Ganges, which sometimes during the rainy season are full of bubbles, foam and mud. The Ganges waters do not become polluted. Those who are advanced in spiritual understanding will bathe in the Ganges without considering the condition of the water."] [Śrī Upadeśāmṛta, 6]

Svabhāva means that nature. Vapuṣaś ca doṣair. And physical defects, deficiency. Na prākṛtatvam iha bhakta-janasya. We should not go to give our judgement seeing all these things taking into account. 'Why a Vaiṣṇava should be blind? Why the Vaiṣṇava should be lame, or deaf? Why that Vasudeva Vipra was attacked with leprosy? Why that Sanātana Goswāmī had so many itches oozing so much bad juice from the body? Why that Vaiṣṇava is attacked with fever? Why Mahāprabhu had fever when He was going to Gayā?' All these things not to be accounted.

Just as Kṛṣṇa also told, "O, I have got a severe headache." Kṛṣṇa also told of His headache, also in Vṛndāvana, sometimes told, "The dust of the holy feet of My devotee will cure."

And here also Mahāprabhu told, "The foot-wash water of the brāhmaṇas will cure My fever." When going to Gayā.

And Vṛndāvana also wants Kṛṣṇa, he fainted. And in another body He came as a physician, and He came to see and He expressed the opinion, "O, a serious disease, and it can only be cured by a medicine, but for that medicine some water is necessary carried from Yamunā by one lady who is chaste beyond any doubt. She should carry by an earthen pot which has so many pores, thousand pores, in an earthen pot. And a chaste lady will carry water from Yamunā in that pot. It is necessary, and I shall give some medicine, then the boy will be cured. Otherwise no further."

Then Yaśodā she looked around. She asked Kuṭilā and Jaṭilā, [Rādhārāṇī's mother-in-law and sister-in-law] they were blaming Rādhārāṇī always for Her character. So Yaśodā she found among the crowd that Kuṭilā and Jaṭilā. With folded palms she prayed to Jaṭilā, she was advanced stage, age.

"Your character is beyond all suspicion. Please save my Son. Go with this porous pot and carry some water from Yamunā."

Then Jaṭilā told, "How is it possible? So many holes, pores, how water can...?"

Then the physician, Kṛṣṇa, told, "Yes, it will be possible if one is a chaste lady, then she's be able to do."

Then Jaṭilā anyhow entreated by Yaśodā extremely, she tried but no water. She's taking water but the water going away through the pores, holes. Then impossible, what to do, so many followers also went. Then next Yaśodā appealed to her daughter Kuṭilā.

She also, "This is absurd, impossible. How can anyone fetch water in a porous pot?" So anyhow by the request of Yaśodā she cannot avoid, so much earnest appeal. She tried, but the same thing. Then no one in the crowd agrees to go to fetch water...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...your knowledge will come, will try to do here. It is above. And all sincerity. No pleading of the barristers or advocates about law. Simple, sincere. No diplomacy. Everything is there, but not like this. Diplomacy is also there, but all sweet. Just as the leaf of this neem tree, tamarind little sour, the neem is bitter, but if it is made of sugar, then it is not bitter, it is not sour. Something like that. All possible fashions there but the very material is sugar. The cost is the highest cost; wholesale presentation, then you can get. Not partial value, that I shall purchase that thing partially. Existence, independent existence cannot be maintained. Nor treachery may enter there. Through sincerity, it is sincerity of such a degree that treachery is not possible. Wholesale giving, wholesale surrender. The land of wholesale surrender, and there is play of diplomacy. No separate interest, all show. _____ [?] Difficult. But looking at the other stages of existence we have to be assured of that highest goal. Aprākṛta. Prākṛta vat, the difficulty is there, we have to differ from sahajiyā section. Prākṛta vat, just like mundane, there's the trouble, the highest transcendental quarter is very similar to this mundane. They're extremely selfish, that extremity; and extremely God-ward, Godly. That extremity, extremely, there is the similarity. Extremely selfish and extremely Godly. In that extremity, there is some similarity. But just opposite.

[ataeva kāma-preme bahuta antara]

["There is a gulf of difference between lust and love; lust is dense darkness, love is the brightest sun."]
[Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Ādi-līlā, 4.171]

Farthest distance, but similarity, that extremely in character, extreme character. Enjoyment, exploitation at its highest intensity. And that is also sacrifice for the highest extreme pleasure of Kṛṣṇa. So Mahāprabhu said, brahmāṇḍa brhamite kona bhāgyavān jīva, guru-kṛṣṇa-prasāde [pāya bhakti-latā-bīja]

["Wandering throughout the material universe, the very fortunate living entity who receives the grace of Guru and Kṛṣṇa receives the seed of the creeper of devotional service."]
[Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 19.151]

Bhāgyavān, unknown good fortune which is not to be traced now, the seed of good fortune. Guru-kṛṣṇa- prasāde pāya bhakti-latā-bīja.

["When a person receives the seed of devotional service, he should take care of it by becoming a gardener and sowing the seed in his heart. If he waters the seed gradually by the process of śravaṇa and kīrtana, the seed will begin to sprout."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 19.152] upajiyā bāḍe latā 'brahmāṇḍa' bhedi' yāya, 'virajā,' 'brahmaloka,' bhedi' 'para-vyoma' pāya tabe yāya tad upari 'goloka-vṛndāvana', ['kṛṣṇa-caraṇa'-kalpavṛkṣe kare ārohana]

["The creeper of devotion is born, and grows to pierce the wall of the universe. It crosses the Virajā river and the Brahman plane, and reaches to the Vaikuṇṭha plane. Then it grows further up to Goloka Vṛndāvana, finally reaching to embrace the wish-yielding tree of Kṛṣṇa's Lotus Feet."]
[Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 19.153-4]

To dive deep into reality, I told. Mahāprabhu's characteristic showed us how one can dive deep. How much diving into the depth is possible, that is shown clearly in the life of Mahāprabhu in His search for Kṛṣṇa. He's unconsciously jumping in the ocean, thinking Yamunā. The thorny place He's running through. Sometimes unconsciously hands and feet enter into the body, and falling on the gate of Jagannātha. Sometimes rubbing His face on the walls, can't find any door. Sometimes crossing over unconsciously with the compound walls and running hither, thither. How much withdrawn consciousness, withdrawn from the world of our reality. Dive deep into where? Kṛṣṇa consciousness, how powerful it is.

And so sweet consciousness He's experiencing there, when He comes out to this worldly consciousness by the attraction of the Kṛṣṇa Nāma uttered by Svarūpa Dāmodara and higher grade of their personality.

"Oh, this noise! How sweet experience, inconceivable, I was feeling, and where have you taken here? And you were creating some noise in My ears, disturbance."

Diving deep into Kṛṣṇa consciousness to what degree, what intensity? It is possible.

We go to have a darśana of Jagannātha. Mahāprabhu when came to have darśana of Jagannātha first, from few, one or two miles began to run by the attraction. Entered surprisingly in the temple, and went to embrace the body but fell, fainted. He was not a fool. Even in the external sense, the brightest scholar of the ordinary historian, wrote it. Born of a brāhmaṇa family at Navadwīpa and was the brightest scholar of the day. And His jñāna-śūnya-bhakti, that jñāna, that scholarship, where? Running to embrace the Deity and fainted. How deep, what sort of depth is there? Dive deep into reality, to have the experience of the holy pastimes of the Lord. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. And He says, na prema-gandho 'sti [darāpi me harau, krandāmi saubhāgya-bharaṁ prakāśitum vaṁśī-vilāsy-ānana-lokanaṁ vinā, vibharmmi yat prāṇa-pataṅgakān vṛthā]

[Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu said: "My dear friends, I have not the slightest tinge of love of Godhead within My heart. When you see Me crying in separation, I am just falsely exhibiting a demonstration of My great fortune. Indeed, not seeing the beautiful face of Kṛṣṇa playing His flute, I continue to live My life like an insect, without purpose."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 2.45]

"Not a little drop of divine love is within Me. I'm shedding tears so much. It is all show, all show to capture popularity, that I have got. That rare divine jewel I have got in My possession. To canvass to the people, this is My mercantile hypocrisy, to canvass Me to the people, "I'm a devotee."

Then where the standard of purity lies? Pavitra, śuddha-bhakti, where is the standard? Hare Kṛṣṇa. Inconceivable, acintya, acintya bhedābheda. So bhakti, pure devotion to Kṛṣṇa is somewhat of this type. We may not make any bad bargain, beware of bad bargain.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari.

ātmārāmāś ca munayo, nirgranthā apy urukrame
[kurvanty ahaitukīṁ bhaktim, ittham-bhūta guṇo hariḥ]

["Those sages who, being merged in the bliss of the spirit soul, are totally free from the binding knot of mental images - they too engage in the unmotivated service of Śrī Kṛṣṇa, the performer of marvellous deeds. This is but one of the qualities of the Supreme Lord Hari, who charms the entire world."]

[Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.7.10] & [Śrī Śrī Prapanna-jīvanāmṛtam, p 176]

Śukadeva in his assembly of the great religious scholars, "It is unknown and unknowable, but still there are signs here and there, where the stalwarts, who commands the great religious prestige, they are attracted towards that, somewhat, in some corner in the spiritual world. Ātmārāma, self-satisfied. Nothing within this mundane world but they feel attraction towards that. My case is so, such. I'm clear, my life is clear to you all. I have no affinity for this world, anything. But some regard for transcendental has captured me wholly."

prāyeṇa munayo rājan, nivṛttā vidhi-ṣedhataḥ
nairguṇya-sthā ramante sma, guṇānukathane hareḥ

["O King Parīkṣit, mainly the topmost transcendentalists, who are above the regulative principles and restrictions, take pleasure in describing the glories of the Lord."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 2.1.7]

Like this mundane līlā, activity, play. But it's towards some higher unknown quarter it is to be located. That central and pure, divine quarter. Such is the thing. Throw off this Veda, the Upaniṣads, there is so many scriptures, holy scriptures. Aham iha nandaṁ vande, yasyālinde.

[śrutim apare smṛtim itare, bhāratam anye bhajantu bhava-bhītāḥ
aham iha nandaṁ vande, yasyālinde paraṁ brahma]

["Those who fear material existence worship Veda, some worship Smṛti, and others worship the Mahābhārata. But I choose to worship Mahārāja Nanda, because in his courtyard the Supreme Cosmic Truth, Param Brahma is playing."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 19.96] & [Padyāvalī, 126]

They're all interested people who want to get above this mortal world, they are after this Veda, Upaniṣad, Koran, Bible. But who has got no fear of this mundane, I want to fall on the feet of Nanda Mahārāja. Where the Parabrahman, tale of the wonderful story is crawling on the ground and sucking the breast of Yaśodā. In such a concrete way it can be handled, impossible. Why I should go to read Koran, Bible etc.? I find here concrete thing. That Parabrahman, the wonder of the wonderful. So anyhow, leaving everything aside I want to take shelter of that Nanda and Yaśodā. The direct attempt. Why the indirect path I shall lose my, waste my labour? Hare Kṛṣṇa. Jñāna-śūnya bhakti. Anyhow fortunately try to have a devotee's association and nothing will be necessary. By following him you will be able, through that quarter, the shortest route. Jñāna-śūnya.

"Eho bāhya āge kaha āra." Eho bāhya, eho bāhya, eho bāhya [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 8.59]

They may connect gradually or may not connect. May take other way. But if I accept this path, life is ensured. Devotion, pure devotion, pure devotee. Company, association, service of the pure devotee, life is ensured. And in other processes, may or may not be, many troubles, difficulties.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Nityānanda. Such Gaurāṅga, Nityānanda wants to distribute to us. From door to door He's wandering, door to door in this Navadwīpa Dhāma. "Anyhow have some recognition, have some relationship with Gaurāṅga. You don't know what gain you will have in future life! Accept Gaurāṅga, He has come here to your door." With folded palm Nityānanda appealing fervently. "Only connect, have any connection with Gaurāṅga, My Lord Gaurāṅga. And nothing you will have to do, only some connection with Gaurāṅga you have. You do not know what highest thing is wandering by your door here." Nityānanda Prabhu, He appealed in the fervent way, fullest degree of His heart. "Anyhow don't dismiss Gaurāṅga. He has come to your door. You do not know what you can get in your future life. What fulfilment of life He has taken for you. You souls fortunate." Navadwīpa in the banks of the Ganges Nityānanda was wandering, roaming.

"My very inner life and bosom, if you connect yourself anyhow with Gaurāṅga, your place is in the throne of My heart. I shall worship you."

preme matta nityānanda kṛpā-avatāra, uttama adhama kichu nā kare vicāra

His benevolent nature does not discriminate between high and low, or qualified and unqualified."] ["He simply delivers, from material existence, anyone who comes before Him and falls at His lotus feet surrendering themselves to Him with all sincerity. Therefore He also mercifully delivered me who am so fallen and disqualified."]
[Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Ādi-līlā, 5.208-9]

Whoever is coming across His view, He cannot but connect, grace, show His grace towards him. His grace means Gaurāṅga's grace. Gaurāṅga's grace means Rādhā-Govinda, in different, common and little distinction in the play, of same rasa. In one place They're tasting One Another, in another place it is being distributed to others, the same rasa.

Nitāi Gaura Hari bol. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol.
Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Jaya Nityānanda Prabhu.

...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ... Caran dāsa's Guru was Bhāgavata Bābājī. They are disciple of Jagannātha Dāsa Bābājī. Bhāgavata Dāsa Bābājī, he accepted anyhow, he was not really pure, but still the Rāmadāsa Bābājī, he came in the line of Bhāgavata dāsa Bābājī and Caran dāsa Bābājī. And that Caran dāsa, he devised that, nitāi gaur rādhe syāma hare kṛṣṇa hare rāma, nitāi-rādhā, gaur-syāma. So this fundamental blunder in the siddhānta, that can never be encouraged, so we cannot have any connection with them.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: So Bhāgavata Mahārāja was veśa guru of?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Bhāgavata and Gaura Kiśora Bābājī they were Godbrothers in veśa from Jagannātha Bābājī. Two disciples, Bhāgavata dāsa and from Bhāgavata dāsa came Caran dāsa. From Caran dāsa came Rāmadāsa. Caran dāsa he founded that mantram and different things, so he was _____ [?]

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: And Bhāgavata Mahārāja was veśa śiṣya of Jagannātha Dāsa, no?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Bhāgavata dāsa he was a _____ [?] criminal pleader in Mymensingh court. Then he left and went to Vṛndāvana and took veśa from Jagannātha Dāsa Bābājī.

But Caran dāsa, his history is otherwise. He was a _____ [?] something, and he was working under the zamīndār of Jessore. And there was a riot, and that gentleman, what his name was previously, that Caran dāsa, he committed a murder. And he absconded, and in the meantime he was in Vṛndāvana in disguise. Then when after twelve years he was safe from criminal orders, then he again went to home and after a few days he again came back. So this took veśa from that Bhāgavata dāsa. And he began to preach very forcefully. He was a man of gigantic type. And of high voice, he began to chant and dance, and he created that nitāi-gaur-rādhe-syāma, all these things. And he wanted Prabhupāda also to support him, Bhaktisiddhānta...

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yeah, but Prabhupāda smashed him.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ... from the beginning he approached him and asked him "Where have you got this? Is it mentioned in the śāstra? You have created a new mantram?" And so many things were charged.

And that man was also characterless. He asked that, "You should not build a paka latrine." Meaning that don't marry. "Whenever there is necessity to pass stool, wherever you are, you may pass the stool. But don't built any permanent latrine. That is, don't marry." That was his idea we're told.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: So that Bhāgavata Mahārāja was veśa śiṣya of Jagannātha Dāsa then, is it?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Bhāgavata dāsa Mahārāja and Gaura Kiśora Bābājī, both took their bābājī veśa from Jagannatha Dāsa Bābājī. And Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura later he connected with Jagannātha Dāsa Bābājī, directly. Jagannātha Dāsa Bābājī lived for one hundred and twenty five years, very, very old.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yes, I heard it. We were told that Gaura Kiśora Dāsa Bābājī and Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura were good friends, as brotherly friends.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Godbrothers. Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura, later he took veśa from Jagannātha Dāsa Bābājī. And Gaura Kiśora Dāsa he took veśa from Bhāgavata dāsa Bābājī, so little junior. Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura took veśa direct from Jagannātha Dāsa Bābājī, so he comes in the standard of Bhāgavata dāsa realm, Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura. And Gaura Kiśora Dāsa Bābājī comes from Bhāgavata dāsa, so a little lower rank. And Gaura Kiśora Bābājī he used to hear Bhāgavatam from Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura in Svānanda-sukhada- kuñja, in Godrumadwīpa. There is a small paka, room is built there in Godruma where Gaur Kiśora Bābājī used to take his seat and hear Bhāgavata explanation from Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Then if these people would give up that conception, then we could allow them to stay with us?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: If they disassociate with them, they may be accepted. _____ [?]

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yeah. I was worried about that. I knew there was something wrong, nasty. Hare Kṛṣṇa. That we shall see. Caran dāsa. And Sakhībhekī is another, not the same one?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Sakhībhekī was another. Lalitā Sakhī. He was also living in the same place, that _____ [?] same place, Sakhībhekī. I saw him, before joining Gauḍīya Maṭha, once I visited this Navadwīpa to find out any sādhu, if I can take initiation. I went to see Caran dāsa's camp and I found that Sakhībhekī, Lalitā Sakhī, he passed in the name of Lalitā Sakhī..

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: So he was a friend of Caran dāsa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Contemporary. So in Navadwīpa we see now and then quite a few bābājīs are walking around. They're in that line, or maybe Lalitā Prasāda line?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: All mixed together. Some others came, disciples of so many Goswāmīs, the flesh Goswāmīs.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yes. They wear this Rādhā kuṇḍa, not gopī candana tilaka. And of course we adore Rādhā kuṇḍa tilaka, but then we see on them and it gives it aslisa dosa. What can be done?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: We may say we are generally, not particularly Rādhā kuṇḍa, it is very, very high. But we may not disregard it, Rādhā kuṇḍa.

Don't venture to assert that I'm holding such and such position, because it is uncertain. Super subjective. Always we must think like that. That wherever I am, that is a grant, a gracious grant. If necessary, next moment I may be thrust down from that world of thought, pushed down.

Rāmānanda, tabe sei-kṣaṇa-ghaṭī-pala. "I have worshipped the time, to fix it, so automatically the Kṛṣṇa conception will be in the background. If I can make the time a little permanent, propitiate the time, and to make it stand, wait for some time."

Hare Kṛṣṇa. _____ [?] Strategy, what is strategy? What is the meaning of strategy?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Adopting some very intelligent method, some very clever course of approach, special approach.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The cleverness in this line we hear that we shall try to see that it is the property of my Gurudeva, not mine. He's there. Guru jana sine puna sobha pai sata guna [?] Shines very beautifully on the head of Gurudeva. We are required the regulate our vision in that way, that he's there. So Guru jana sine puna sobha pai sata guṇa [?] Very beautifully that can be seen, can be traced there, on the head of my Gurudeva, there his abode. But just beyond my touch, transcendental. Come very close to Gurudeva, he has come down, so far.

Gurudeva in his personal capacity in Vṛndāvana līlā, he may be seen as a particular mañjarī. Prabhupāda told once that, "My Gurudeva is Guṇa Mañjarī, Gaura Kiśora. But if we can look at him at heart, in a very spacious way, very generous way, then I can find Rādhārāṇī in her." Mañjarī, they are supposed to represent the partial līlā, not the general. But he told, "If I look with a very high tension, broader outlook, I can find Rādhārāṇī in her."

Antaryāmī, in that way. She's representing Her, Her whole heart is devoted to Rādhārāṇī. In that way we can follow. And everywhere we can, if possible, everywhere we can see that.

Mahaprabhu says, "You are mahā-bhāgavata." – to Rāmānanda Rāya. "Wherever you cast your glance, you find Kṛṣṇa easily."

[rādhā-kṛṣṇe tomāra mahā-prema haya] yāhāṅ tāhāṅ rādhā-kṛṣṇa tomāre sphuraya

[Lord Caitanya Mahāprabhu continued, "My dear Rāya, you are an advanced devotee and are always filled with ecstatic love for Rādhā and Kṛṣṇa. Therefore whatever you see — anywhere and everywhere — simply awakens your Kṛṣṇa consciousness."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 8.277]

Deeper sight, insight, eliminating, everything, when we are thinking of Her. By Her grace it is possible, it may be possible for us to think about Her. And that may be more intense, spacious, by which we can have some estimation or some conception of Her. In this way everything, Vaikuṇṭha darśana means this, transcendental view. But something, some sort of ecstasy is there that these so-called concrete things does not capture our mind, our heart. And that is more than imagination, that can attract us, so that is reality.

And this is rubbish, these concrete things, they seem to be rubbish for their character, the mortal characteristic and so many other. This is our opposition. Soul will have contact with soul; that is natural. But soul, forced to come down in the material conception; that is abnormal, that is māyā, illusion. Soul cannot feel himself. Soul is forced to focus to feel fossil. What is this? Soul cannot move in his own soil? Soul is forced to move in the soil of the fossil, that's abnormal. Then soul must live in his own soil and then he can go up to the higher soil.

Even we're told in this worldly kāma śāstra of Bharata bhumi, the lady-love, they're also, ladies are also classified, and men are also classified.

Generally in four headings; men, arsrajatiya [?], the lowest, in the type of horse. Then the next higher is visajatiya [?], ox-class section, that is little better. And then mrgujatiya [?], this deer, they're second class. And the first class sasojatiya [?]. Saso means carcase [?], hare. The four classes of men.

And the women are also four classes; hastini [?], the most crude class, fourth class, hastini [?]. Then next higher is sankini [?] And the second class is citragnini [?] And the first class is padini [?]

And the classification is according to their temperament of gratification in the gross. And the higher class, their union and their pleasure is only singing, dancing and talking, not gross sense experience. Higher class, only they are satisfied with talking, conversation, these things, giving, taking; in this way. And the grossest sense experience, carnal desire, that is in the lowest. So accordingly that has been classified. So the fine things satisfy us, that must be higher class, not existing in the fossil world. High thinking men they're always busy. Newton, Einstein, in their zone they're always engaged with fine things, not so very gross things here.

So in this way it may be conducted in the spiritual side. Their satisfaction is therein with the fine things. They do not require for their satisfaction anything gross. That existence is higher existence. Satisfied with the high ideals, they can live, move, everything. Always, twenty-four hours they can retain that position and from there again to higher, in this way. But a gross mentality they cannot maintain that sort of life in the very subtle world. They want gross things for the tongue, for the nose, this sensual attraction is the main thing in their life. Some more attached towards tongue, some towards touch, some towards sight, in this way, in the level of the sense experience. But higher type of creation they find their satisfaction in the higher plane. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari.

So Prabhupada told, "If I look at my Gurudeva with some higher aspiration I can find Rādhārāṇī in her." That was his expression. "In her." That look deeply at his heart, inner existence...

83.10.05.B

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...in the service of Rādhārāṇī. In this way. Rādhārāṇī means this aṣṭa-nayikā, their different departmental service, of departmental sentiments etc, full found in Rādhārāṇī. Others a partial distribution, not holding all the rasa to serve Kṛṣṇa. Partial presentation more or less.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Aṣṭa-nayikā. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol.

At the same time Prabhupāda uttered, "What other mañjarīs do I don't know. I'm indifferent to that. But in my Gurudeva, though he's externally mañjarī, I can find in there full thing in his heart. But what the other mañjarīs, what are they doing, and what position they hold, I do not know. I'm quiet indifferent." That also. High things. Ha, ha. But relative to Absolute. _____ [?]

Devotees: _____ [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That gentleman from Samājbhari [?] he may be given if he lives here and takes some food, may be given this cultivation, activity outside. Not connecting with the Deity or food, prasādam, not that connection. External, just like labour.

Samāj means samādhi, tomb. From the tomb of Caran dāsa it has got the name of Samājbhari.

Vidagdha Mādhava: Are doubts after one has begun the process of devotional service, are doubts necessarily bad or are they part of developing faith? A deeper faith? If doubts come...

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: _____ [?] Is it necessary, or if we still have some doubt, when even advancing, progressing, it seems, is it necessary that doubt will also be there? Will it help us?

Vidagdha Mādhava: Is it good or bad or...

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: _____ [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Doubt?

Devotees: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What does he say? In the progress, when I'm in the progress a doubt may continue?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yes.

Vidagdha Mādhava: Different ones may come sometimes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Different planes, doubt, according to plane it may change. Some quarter is unknown, and which is unknown, there may be some doubt. Possible doubt may enter there.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Na prema-gandho 'sti darāpi me harau, [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 2.45] That is also a kind of doubt? _____ [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: "I don't know Him. I can't know him. Can't get Him."

Chidyante sarva-saṁśayāḥ [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.2.21 & 11.20.30] In a general way, all doubts cleared. That may be applied to the basic, or fundamental position, if there is no God, yes God is, and God is almighty. In the basic understanding no doubt. And I'm His slave, servant. I'm subordinate and He's master. These things clear. But how much He's gracious to what type of devotion, all these things, still it will be unknown. And where there is the unknown relation there may come doubt.

Even so many Vaiṣṇava Ācāryas, Madhvācārya did not speak of any Svayaṁ-Bhagavān. Rāmānuja also, that Kṛṣṇa is incarnation of Nārāyaṇa, that is their feeling. So about the general fundamental principles they are beyond doubt. Rāmānuja's position, but still for the highest conception there is doubt, there is misconception. In this way.

Vyāsadeva gave so many things, even Gītā, Vedānta, but still when Bhāgavata came, he told plainly that, "What I gave so long, that is not everything, not perfect. Now what I'm going to give, that is perfect."

In this way gradation is always there. Guru-tattva is not limited, Vyāsadeva not limited, Bhagavān not limited.

As Caru Swāmī says, 'Yesterday's Guru, today's Guru and tomorrow's Guru.'

Every day's Guru may give some new light, a dynamic, living Guru. But static Guru, dull Guru, that may be static, stereotype. Disciple also living, Gurudeva also living. Living means progressing. And a śiṣya means new light he'll receive and make progress towards the high. And the highest position has got no limit.

As Mahāprabhu says that, "I do not get even a drop of prema."

This is the idea. As Newton told that, "I'm just on the verge of the ocean of knowledge."

That should be the practice. Who says 'I know everything,' he does not know anything.

'I do not know' - there is possibility of my...

Because the known thing is infinite, and who is making assertion, he's finite only. So as much as he's in connection with the infinite, there he's true. And detached from the infinite, there he's undone.

All crying, Mahāprabhu and Rādhārāṇī, the highest ideal of two types. What do They say?

"I can't have." Rādhārāṇī also says, "They say that I'm in connection with Kṛṣṇa. But My heartfelt cry that I did not come to touch His feet."

So much hankering, so much degree of hunger is there for the service. Personality representing infinite, what is this? Everything is infinite if it's to be looked to from that standpoint. Kṛṣṇa is infinite, and Rādhārāṇī is also infinite to us, to Kṛṣṇa also, in something.

Infinite minus infinite is infinite. Infinite plus infinite is infinite. If we take infinite from infinite, minus, that is infinite. What is this? Only from the position of zero we can follow to certain degree. A zero added to zero is zero. A zero minus zero is zero. Zero into zero is zero. Zero divided by zero is zero. That we can understand.

But opposite, infinite, un understandable, it is so. So dealings of the infinite, to approach that, everything is infinite, every point is infinite, everywhere there is.

In Māyā's Essay we read, "Everywhere there is centre, nowhere circumference." The position of infinite has been given in Māyā's Essay, we read in school. That everywhere there is centre and nowhere circumference. We may approach to infinite with such idea. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Still it is not imagination, it is reality. And not only that, that is controlling everything. So we have got our interest. We can't reject its relationship.

Athāto brahma-jijñāsā. It is the demand of our reason to understand the infinite. Where from I have come, where I am living, where to go? Any sane man cannot avoid all these questions. So, if we're to go on little reasonably and systematically then it comes to brahma-jijñāsā, or kṛṣṇānusandhāna, culminating. If it is reasonable it is rational, that to enquire about the environment where we are. If it is rational, then it is rational that we search after Kṛṣṇa. And Kṛṣṇa is raso vai saḥ.

ko hyevānyāt kaḥ prāṇyāt yadeṣa ākāśa ānando na syāt eṣa hyevānandayati]

["Śrī Kṛṣṇa is the embodiment of all ecstatic bliss; He is the reservoir of all pleasure. Having derived ecstasy from Him, the individual souls become blissful. For, who indeed, could breath, who could be alive if this Blissful Lord were not present within the hearts of all souls. He alone bestows ecstasy."]

[Taittirīya-Upaniṣad, 2.7]

We cannot eliminate our hankering for pleasure, for happiness from us. And that is search for Kṛṣṇa, in a systematic way, search for Kṛṣṇa. What is, that our intrinsic, born of our innate tendency to get pleasure, or joy, or happiness, or something like that. If it is true then it must become scientifically to the extent of search for Kṛṣṇa. Only a developed conception of our innate, most innate unavoidable tendency or existence within. That is search after Kṛṣṇa, on the systematic and developed position. That is our life extended, what we are, if that is analysed and developed, then it cannot but come to search for Kṛṣṇa. None can deny, that I don't want it. But your very existence is that. You can't deny. Your material hankering, self-satisfaction. Self-satisfaction, you are trying.

Śrī Guru and His Grace, in my article, I wrote it in Madras. I began, "To err is human. Not to err is also an internal tendency in him. Then how not to err? To seek that process, Guru comes. From where I am to get that, that I may not err?"

Professor Sanyal appreciated the article very much. "Oh, so much argumentative article Śrīdhara Mahārāja can write." Ha, ha. He expressed his astonishment.

So began from that plane. To err and not to err. We're in want but we're also to remove that want. Two phases, that we're in want, and also our inner tendency to remove that want. We can't deny it. And from there it will take birth, and when in a systematic developed form, it cannot but come to search for Kṛṣṇa. The brahma-jijñāsā, Paramātmā jijñāsā, Vāsudeva, Nārāyaṇa, all passing in the way. And the acme it will come as Kṛṣṇa, He's autocrat, He's all-good, He's independent, so many things will come to constitute He's Kṛṣṇa.

akhila-rasāmṛta-mūrtiḥ [prasṛmara-ruci-ruddha-tārakā-pāliḥ
kalita-śyāmā-lalito rādhā-preyān vidhur jayati]

[" 'Let Kṛṣṇa, the Supreme Personality of Godhead, be glorified! By virtue of His expanding attractive features, He subjugated the gopīs named Tārakā and Pāli and absorbed the minds of Śyāmā and Lalitā. He is the most attractive lover of Śrīmatī Rādhārāṇī and is the reservoir of pleasure for devotees in all transcendental mellows.'] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 8.142]

So it is unavoidable, inevitable. It is not thrust on anyone's brain and that by brainwashing it will vanish. It is not of that type. It cannot be oust of one's sane brain.

Nitāi Gaura Hari bol. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol.

... wanted to send me to the foreign countries for preaching.

But I hesitated that, "I'm not fit to preach in the west." I replied. "So anyhow, but if you order I must go." That was my expression.

Then he sent some other gentleman who has established a Maṭha in London, Vinode Vani Maṭha. That Vinode Vani [dāsī], Mrs [Daisy] Bowtell, she took Hari Nāma in nineteen thirty six, and she dedicated her house for the Maṭha purpose, and still that is there. Only one brahmacārī from Bagh Bazaar temple, he's in protection of that place.

But in my last days, though I'm here, but anyhow the burden of preaching to the west automatically came to my head.

Swāmī Mahārāja also requested several times to go to the west. Even so that, "You take the chair of the president, I shall work under you, or along with you."

But I did not feel any inspiration from the upper. "No, it is not possible." In young age I avoided, and in old age it is not possible. But the divine will is otherwise. He's thrusting over me some sort of service for the westerners. And what to do? As much as I can I'm trying to help them.

Devotee: Kṛṣṇa could not keep back the treasure.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: This is the position. And they're taking so many tapes from here and preaching outside. In this way it has begun. But some sort of party feeling has grown. And ISKCON, instead of thinking me as their friend, they're thinking otherwise, to my great misfortune.

Anyhow, who are coming to me, I cannot but to help something, as little as I've got for my own. That is my position. Poor man, passing my days with the scriptures, at this time. Through the scripture we get the association of the higher past nobles, and my life is mainly like that. To associate with the noble personages of the ancient time through their voice, through their writings. In this way I'm passing my days, generally. And by their grace I also find many a time a new light within them.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari bol.

This Bhakti Sudhīra Mahārāja, he was the pushing man. He began preaching in my favour there in the beginning. He collected the tapes from the time of Swāmī Mahārāja. He was in charge of an important centre where the tapes recorded in the time of Swāmī Mahārāja were preserved, I heard. And finding those tapes he got impression and he began to preach in my favour.

Swāmī Mahārāja also was very intimately connected with me. When he was in Allahabad as agent of a big medical firm I met him first there. And connection with this Maṭha began at that time. After that in Allahabad he took initiation from Guru Mahārāja. Then afterwards he took, he moved, when he was in Bombay, then left Allahabad and went to Bombay for business purpose. There also I'm in charge of Bombay Maṭha in closer connection. Then leaving Bombay, came to Calcutta, began his business, laboratory. And just the next building of his house, dwelling house, there was his laboratory. Ground floor laboratory and first floor, four rooms we took on rent and lived there for some time. At that time closer connection with him. He was translating Gītā and Back to Godhead first issue published from there. And my article was there, nineteen forty three, four, something like that. In closer connection. After preaching for some, from the west he came here direct, so many photos are there, group photos. I tried to give here a reception from the municipal office, from Navadwīpa municipality. I made arrangement to receive him, gave reception.

And I also suggested Acyutānanda selected the place where now ISKCON temple Chaitanya Candrodaya, I selected the plot for him, tried to acquire land there in that place. And with Acyutānanda. And Jayapatāka says that I also just reached the helm at that time. And both of them acquired land there. And gradually going. Several times I was to visit Swāmī Mahārāja when he used to come. He used to take me there. Closer connection.

Devotee: I have met one disciple of Śrīla Prabhupāda, one old disciple, first time he has heard of you. I have given him some tape in Vṛndāvana and he was immediately attracted.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: We were attracted by the teachings of our Guru Mahārāja. Only attracted by the principle he was preaching, we came. Especially myself, attracted by the ontological aspect. Where we are, what is our destination, how to attain that destination? Sambandha, abhideya, prayojana. The Vedic literature has tried to understand things in this way; three divisions, sambandha, abhideya, prayojana. In sambandha, where we are, what I am, what is my position in the whole, in the absolute? And the second; what is amiss with me, wrong with me, how to redress that? And then the third; what is the highest end of our life, what is the destination, prayojana, the aim of life? Who are we, what is the highest position, and how to attain that? Three things to be considered, and it is necessary for everyone to try to live in eternity, to have conception of eternal life. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Who are we? Hare Kṛṣṇa. In Bhagavad-gītā and Upaniṣad,

indriyāṇi parāṇy āhur, [indriyebhyaḥ paraṁ manaḥ
manasas tu parā buddhir, buddher yaḥ paratas tu saḥ]

["The learned proclaim that the senses are superior to inert objects, the mind is superior to the senses, and the faculty of resolute intelligence is superior to the mind. And he who is superior to the intelligence is the soul himself."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 3.42]

Who are we? To help us to understand. You see the world of experience, but your senses are more important. Without your senses the world is nothing to you, in which you think you are living. So your senses are more important than the outer world. Indriyāṇi parāṇy āhur, indriyebhyaḥ paraṁ manaḥ. Then your mind, mental faculty; to take something, to dismiss something, that principle within you that is more important than your senses. That is sitting in the centre, and through the channels of your senses you are introduced to the environment. Manasas tu parā buddhir. Then the faculty of judgement is higher than your mind. Your mind only wants something, and does not want something. But judgement faculty, reason will say "Don't want this, you try to get that." That is higher thing within you, try to understand that. Buddher yaḥ paratas tu saḥ. That is intelligence, and go further up; there you are. You are not the world of your experience, not the senses, neither you are in the mental impulse, nor you are in the reason. But above that, beyond that, try to enquire who are you. Buddhir ātmā maham para. And in Gītā, buddher yaḥ paratas tu saḥ. Saḥ eva, you are there. What is above intelligence, you are there, your personality, your person. Try to understand what is that thing. That is like a spark of consciousness, spark of light, the feeler who can feel, bhokta.

kārya-kāraṇa-kartṛtve, hetuḥ prakṛtir ucyate
puruṣaḥ sukha-duḥkhānāṁ, bhoktṛtve hetur ucyate

["Material nature has been delineated as responsible for the cause of the domineering force of the senses, and the effect as the material body; and the (conditioned) soul himself is known to be responsible for his accrued happiness and unhappiness."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 13.21]

The feeler is the puruṣa, the person, puruṣa ete, who is living. This is all abode. And who is living in this abode, in the house, the person, he's the enjoyer, of good and bad, peace and pain, peace and trouble, something. The feeler, that is puruṣa, that is you, a person is that. And what is felt, that is prakṛti. Energy is prakṛti, potency. And the feeler of all the activities, that is the person, you are that, soul. Soul is the feeler, sukha duḥkha, pain and pleasure, the feeler, you are the feeler. And whatever is being done here, that is the result of prakṛti, potency.

kārya-kāraṇa-kartṛtve, hetuḥ prakṛtir ucyate
puruṣaḥ sukha-duḥkhānāṁ, bhoktṛtve hetur ucyate

Combined by these two; energetic-al movement and the feeler of that movement. So whatever is going on, happening here, they are all development of energy, prakṛti, force. And categorically different thing is the feeler, the onlooker of all these happenings, events. Drāṣṭā, śrotā, bhokta, that is the qualification of a person. Take him out, this is all blind movement, no purpose. But that puruṣa, that feeler is in relativity with this mundane. He's attacked with some mania, to become 'monarch of all I survey.' Exploitation, that 'I must be master and everything, whatever I feel, I see, that must be subservient to me.' That tendency is the root of all his evils, has taken him in connection with this mortal world, treacherous world. Now this; now that, changing its position every second, frustrating us. Frustrating, and when we're in connection with this exploiting atmosphere, we're fettered by ignorance and we're influenced by a force of action and reaction. By exploiting we're losing our intrinsic position, incurring loan. Enjoy means to take loan from the environment, and to clear up the loan we're to go down, to clear. I'm in higher position I'm exploiting that of the lower position, and to clear the loan I shall have to go to lower position, and he's coming higher and exacting the loan.

ābrahma-bhuvanāl lokāḥ, punar āvartino 'rjuna
[mām upetya tu kaunteya, punar janma na vidyate]

["O Arjuna, from the planet of Lord Brahmā downwards, the residents of all planets are naturally subjected to repeated birth and death. But, O Kaunteya, upon reaching Me, there is no rebirth."]
[Bhagavad-gītā, 8.16]

In this vicious circle, going up and down; action, reaction, action, reaction. Vicious circle. To get out of that vicious circle, that is to get out of the mania of exploitation. 'I am master.' No.

Buddistic, Śaṅkarites school, they try to show the path of renunciation. 'Disconnect you with this evil vicious circle. Give up the principle of exploitation. Don't allow yourself to exploit anything. Retire in the deep slumber-like position, samādhi. Don't awake in this mischievous world. They will all attract you to enjoy, offer, 'Enjoy me!' And you're in the trap when you're going to enjoy and then you're being enjoyed. So don't allow yourself to be enticed by the mania of exploitation or enjoyment. But try to retire finally, no charm. 'I don't like this useless movement, action reaction. I am disgusted. So slumber, deep slumber. Never rise from sleep.'

But the Vaiṣṇava school, they are the fortunate who got connection of the superior world. From soul, Supersoul, that can come down, he cannot go up. And when they come down here, gave some news of the upper position, and they then come to know that there is just a opposite form of life. Life of exploitation, life of dedication, the opposite, that is the positive and proper life. And this is a vitiated, where everyone wants to live at the flesh of another, at the cost of another, wants to live. That is a vitiated, a lower form of, mean form of life. But the higher, noble form of life is to give, to dedicate. There is higher, noble life on the upper world. The soul, Supersoul, Super-Supersoul, in this way.

Here also has developed the ether, the air, the fire, the water, the earth. And from earth also some mud, stone, developed in the material. There also in the spiritual higher substance there is also development, developed condition. Then Brahmaloka, Vāsudeva-loka, Vaikuṇṭha-loka, Ayodhyā, Dvārakā; Vṛndāvana; all going up. And the standard is of dedication. As much as dedication, self-surrender, he will get more and more. And dedication not temporary, not wilful dedication for the time being, but eternal. And eternal life in that plane is possible. Die to live. As much as you can forget, be self-forgetful of your nasty present ego, it is dissolved, higher form will come from within, higher self. Noble self can come within and you'll find that that is the member of that world.

In this way we can, with the help of the sādhu, Guru, we can have real progress in that line. This what seems to be concrete to us at present, this will vanish. Everyone, the scientists as well as spiritualists, they all say that this was created and this will be dissolved. But that fine thing, that is not to be dissolved; it is eternal, not created. So no possibility. So if we can find our position in that subtle world, that is really a real world. That is concrete and this is all illusion.

yasyāṁ jāgrati bhūtāni, sā niśā paśyato muneḥ

["While spiritual awareness is like night for the living beings enchanted by materialism, the self-realised soul remains awake, directly relishing the divine ecstasy of his uninterrupted spiritual intelligence. On the contrary, the wakefulness of materialistic persons addicted to sense enjoyment is night for the self-realised person who is completely indifferent to such pursuits. The realised souls, indifferent to the mundane, are ever joyful in the divine ecstatic plane, while the general mass is infatuated by fleeting mundane fancies devoid of spiritual joy."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 2.69]

The materialists they're awake in this world of matter which is sure to be dissolved. And the spiritualists they try to live in a subtle form which is like imaginary at present, but that is concrete, not to be dissolved. And if we can develop our internal self to that extent, then we...

83.10.11.A

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...portion of my own inner self, I'll be sure that the paraphernalia is also similarly sure and concrete and reality. So dive deep into reality. This is outer cases, eliminate this body of flesh and blood, all external. Go on within, in the mind, from mind to intelligence, from intelligence ātmā, from ātmā to Paramātmā, Vāsudeva, then Vaikuṇṭha, Lakṣmī-Nārāyaṇa, in this way rasāmṛta-murtiḥ. The rasa, inner demand everywhere is for ecstasy, is for ānandam, that is happiness, joy. That is the inner-most principle everywhere. Everyone is searching for maximum pleasure, joy. And according to that the standard will be measured, what is what.

Just as gold is the standard, the mark is there, and the rouble, the pound, the dollar, but the common measurement is gold. Something which as got real value, instead of papers and stamp.

So the rasa is the measurement like gold standard. And thereby we're to judge the value of things, how much rasa. Rasa is the most intrinsic necessity, necessary thing for our satisfaction, not knowledge. And rasa is mercy, or beauty, or love, rasa - similar thing. And our inner hankering, our inner cry is for that rasa, that beauty. Reality the Beautiful, and Reality the Love Divine, harmony. So that is the inner hankering, demand, or cry, and we must march towards that, consciously not blindly, eliminating all unnecessary things of different gradation.

That from Bhāgavatam the full fledged theism, Śrī Caitanyadeva came, Kṛṣṇa as Caitanya came and pointed out. "This is your destination My boy, My friends, this is your destination. Try - eliminate all other proposals that will come to you on the way."

anyābhilāṣitā-śūnyaṁ, jñāna-karmādy-anāvṛtam / ānukūlyena-kṛṣṇānu-śīlanaṁ bhaktir uttamā

["One should render transcendental loving service to the Supreme Lord Kṛṣṇa favourably and without desire for material profit or gain through fruitive activities or philosophical speculation. That is called pure devotional service."] [Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, 1.1.11] & [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 19-167]

& [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.21.11, purport]

Gaura Hari bol. So who will come to seek the same thing, the destination, they're our friends. By mutual help we shall march towards that. That is our campaign. This is ISKCON. Search for Śrī Kṛṣṇa. In Vedānta search for Brahman. Brahman means all accommodating, all comprehensive Brahman, athāto brahma- jijñāsā. And Mahāprabhu, when that brahma-jijñāsā of Vedānta came in the hand of Mahāprabhu He gave kṛṣṇānusandhāna, the living Brahman, not abstract. Not only the power of knowledge, but power of heart. Heart is the main thing, not the brain. Brain utilised for many things, but the recipient is the heart. Heart's satisfaction can really give us fulfilment. So when that brahma-jijñāsā, the enquiry after the all comprehensive which is comprehending everything, what is that, where we are? When it came to Mahāprabhu it became 'where is Kṛṣṇa?' My beloved friend, the Lord of My heart.' That was transformed into Kṛṣṇa, Brahman, the Lord heart. Brahma Vedānta, brahma-jijñāsā, that intellectualism came here in the form of service for the Lord, dedication for the Lord wholesale, and to be gratified, enlivened, got life. The Vedānta got life in Bhāgavatam. And Mahāprabhu's Personality came, how to do that practically. He hinted, came and by His own practice He taught us. In this way we shall go on Kṛṣṇa. Through the Name, through the service of the devotees, śravaṇa, kīrtana, Name, and everything connecting this heart's satisfaction. Kṛṣṇānusandhāna. Lord of our heart, we must search for Him.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari bol. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol. Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa.

...automatically, we may not care for these little comforts here and there, more than that.

Devotee: Yes, something higher. Yet such high comfort you're giving us, we cannot compare to the best comfort in the material world.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: A sincere man will look after that. That is all. Anyhow to go on with this material life, but our attention will be towards that. Food and comfort for the self. Bodily comfort and food etc anyhow of middle class, not very bad and not very good. Anyhow to...

Devotee: We found very good. We've already feasted three times. Very good food here, everything.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Gaura Hari.

Devotee: Because of Your Grace we're having this hope of proceeding towards what you have described to us. Otherwise we could not go on, because we would not see where we're going. But you're describing to us where we're going. Therefore by Your Grace we're feeling some necessity to go that way.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol. Kṛṣṇa is dealing correspondingly with you. As we deserve so we have.

Devotee: Ha, ha, ha. I do not deserve but by causeless mercy He's brought me here.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then what has taken you here? Eh? You don't be ungrateful to your inner hankering. So many things to hanker after. That noble awakening within you, ignoring the charming environment and taking you to somewhere else. Śraddhā, faith, that is our guide, faith.

Devotee: I have no choice. By your charm you have forced me.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: _____ [?] easily got.

[Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 19.151]

While wandering through the eighty four lākhs of species, so many different births, innumerable, very fortunately can get, have, a point of that faith, a drop. A drop of that faith, that is acquired unconsciously by the grace of the devotees, the divine agents, anyhow acquired, differently. Suppose I'm a cow, my milk is taken for the service of Kṛṣṇa: I'm a creeper, my body has been cooked for the curry of Kṛṣṇa: in this way unconsciously I have collected. Anyhow my energy is taken towards Kṛṣṇa's service by the so many agents that are moving here to distribute Kṛṣṇa. In this way we have collected that faith, sukṛti. Sukṛti can produce that faith, and when faith comes we associate with persons that have similar faith. And then by their help, glory.

Different stages of this material life of exploitation here we're to pass through and goes to Vaikuṇṭha, then to Goloka, in this way. So you also should be grateful to your faith that was acquired by the grace of so many sādhus, saints, in your past. It is their grace, accumulated, combined, has opened your inner tendency. Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...and joined the allied party, thinking that the allied party is sure to win the war. So you may, if you join this recruitment list, then you'll have great prospect in your future life. You students consider and come. In the first great wartime Wilson was the President, and the second perhaps Roosevelt, maybe? Second great war? Who was the President, Roosevelt? And the General in the second great war was Eisenhower was the Commander in Chief of the whole allied party. And the first great war General _____ [?] he was the Commander in Chief of the whole of the allied party.

And Kaiser, then Makinson [?], Goering. No, Goering with Hitler. Kaiser, his Makinson [?], I forget.

With Hitler, Goering, Goebbels, the Generals. And the first was Hindenburg, he was the General appointed on the eastern side. And he captured twenty thousand perhaps of Russian soldiers in _____ [?] Hindenburg. And there was revolt in Russia at that time. Hindenburg, big General on the eastern side fighting with Russia. Czar at that time.

His part came from very small occasion. Serbia and Austria. Austria a very big area. Serbia was small. But Austrian Prince went to visit Serbia - he married there, and anyhow Austrian Prince was _____ [?]
And that was the spark of the conflagration of that first great war. Austria declared war against Serbia. And Serbia is that Slav country, Slav nationality. So Russia came to side Serbia. As Russia came, Germany at once sided Austria, Austria and them combined at that time, a big area, Austria __ [?] When German Kaiser came to help Austria, then France joined Russia, that Serbia. British kept aloof for the time being. But Kaiser, German nation they're very gifted nation, Germany.

Badrinārāyaṇa: Guru Mahārāja. Śyāmānanda prabhu is German by birth.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ah. Some mystic connection there is between Germany and myself. I do not know why. When I was a student in the school, when I read about Germany, some sort of mystic connection. Later I knew that they're great appreciator of the Hindu civilisation, Hindu culture, Vedic culture. They're called Huns. "Furious Frank and fiery Huns." I read in an English poem. "Furious Frank and fiery Huns."

['Tis morn, but scarce yon lurid sun, can pierce the war-clouds, rolling dun, where furious Frank and fiery Hun, shout in their sulphurous canopy.]
[From the poem Hohenlinden (1803) by Scottish poet Thomas Campbell, 1777–1844]

They're known as Huns. Huns means haṁsa. In the beginning there were two sections in the civilised nation, two developed, haṁsa and paramahaṁsa. In Bhāgavatam we find in the beginning of the first Satya- yuga there were only two divisions in caste, paramahaṁsa and haṁsa. Hans, haṁsa has been known as Hans. Rajaput they're also told they come out of Hans origin.

And Swāmī Mahārāja has told that when Paraśurāma He began to exterminate the kṣatriyas from India, many kṣatriyas they migrated towards Germany and settled there. They're of Indian origin, direct.

Hans, fiery Huns, so they're appreciator of Indian culture.

I loved Hitler also, liked him very much, because for his social reformation.

He asked all the ladies, "Go to the family, from the office and other positions. Go to the family, give me good children, I shall reward you." He sent all the ladies back to the family. "I want good children."

And also he ordered to sterilise the diseased and ordinary undesirable persons for marriage.

"No. I don't want that Germany will be filled up with diseased persons. I want that Germany will be filled with brilliant and able young men."

Devotee: _____ [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Oh. These were very appealing to me, that quality I... At that time I was preaching in Karachi, I had a discussion with some British officer. I told him that I appreciate these dealings of Hitler very much. He's sending the ladies to the family, and he wants to sterilise the undesirable persons, not allowed to produce any bad defective children in the country.

"I want that the whole country will be filled up with strong and brilliant young men."

Prajar grha-medhinah [?]. Marriage is not for sense pleasure. Marriage is meant to produce children. And children, that should be the aim of marriage. The aim of marriage will be to get good children. Prajar grha-medhinah. Where it is in Bhāgavatam. Prajar grha-medhinah, Raghu vaṁśa, and _____ [?] in Bhāgavatam. The marriage meant not for sense pleasure but to produce good children.

And in Gītā [10.28] also prajanaś cāśmi kandarpaḥ. "I am kandarpaḥ. I am that lust, that principle, but only where it is required for - to produce children, and not for any sense pleasure."

In Bhāgavatam,

kāmasya nendriya-prītir, lābho jīveta yāvatā [jīvasya tattva-jijñāsā nārtho yaś ceha karmabhiḥ]

["Life's desires should never be directed toward sense gratification. One should desire only a healthy life, or self-preservation, since a human being is meant for enquiry about the Absolute Truth. Nothing else should be the goal of one's works."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.2.10]

Sense pleasure is not the object of life anywhere.

So Hitler did it. "I want good children in Germany, and not for sense pleasure. Who has got money he will marry and diseased children he'll produce, I can't tolerate that, barred." That was his idea.

German thoroughness, there is an expression, German thoroughness. What they do they do perfectly. In British period also here, Japan gave things very cheaply but they're not very useful. You want, get, supply good things but costly. Cheap and good things supplied only Germany.

After first great war Germany of course was bound to pay an innumerable quantity of loan, debt to clear. It was the burden of great debt, to cover the cost of the war was thrown on his head. What to do? He'll have to clear. But anyhow he managed, Germany, she managed that. "I shall pay off the debt as you've fixed, not by money but by supplying industrial things."

They had to agree otherwise at present that devastated Germany how can she pay by money. So industrial things they wanted, they admitted that. "Yes, you'll give up things."

But German commodities as loan they took, England, France, they took, and when they began to sell in the market that had the first choice. And their own industry began to die. Ha, ha, ha. So much so that at last they abolished that, "No, we don't want any loan from you. No industrial things we're going to take. Our market is finished."

Germany. And that Hitler classification. Clever and industrious. He told, "I try to fill up all my worker's position from this section." He classified them. "Clever and industrious, clever and lazy. Stupid and industrious, stupid and lazy." Four classifications.

"So clever and industrious I want to fill up my whole acting campaign. And clever and lazy, I want to make them as leader of the department." A peculiar thing. "Because they're clever they'll be able to manage the office, and lazy, they'll not be spent up, their energy will be saved. They'll always save their energy, at the time of need I shall get their help. So I make them the officer class, from the clever and lazy, officer class." This is peculiar thing, clever and lazy, from that section officers are selected. "And clever and industrious they fill up the general workmen."

"And stupid and lazy, if I can I shall try to find something, some job for them. But stupid and industrious, I keep them far away. Because industrious they must do something, and stupid they'll do wrong. So another group will be necessary to undo their action. So stupid and industrious I keep very far away."

And we also think stupid and industrious is the karmī class. And stupid and lazy is the jñānī, the renunciationist, stupid and lazy. And clever and industrious are the Vaiṣṇavas. And clever and lazy is Kṛṣṇa.

Devotees: (Group laughter)

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ha, ha, ha. One Vaiṣṇava classified in this way. Ha, ha, ha.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari.

Eisenhower he was a German by birth, but he had that task to fight against Germany. He was German by birth, Eisenhower.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. And Einstein, first he was in Germany, but afterwards he fled from there. He was Yehudi by birth. So when Yehudi murdering campaign, that is a very black spot on Hitler, heinous actions. Because in the first great war Yehudis they betrayed Germany. I was told at that time. So in this second great war Hitler was very much, too much anti Yehudi. So much so that heinously murdering them in cold blood. Ke?

Badrinārāyaṇa: Akṣayānanda Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Oh. At last Akṣay...

...

...if some filth thrown that side, that will surely come over my body and make me dirty.

So these Ācāryas are direct appointment of Swāmī Mahārāja. In the first occasion I...

...

Wholesale faith and wholesale surrendered to the divine idea, personified in one place. And I'm asked, just as we can give up one suit or shoe, leaving one and take another. To change Guru like that is horrible thing. Crush the innermost sentiment of the soul. The finest sentiment in the soul will be there, and if that is to be plagued like this that is very, very intolerable, disastrous, unfortunate. What can we do?

Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol.

Then the next man is Kīrtanānanda...

...

Ha, ha, ha. Hand shaking of different kinds. It may be formal. Suppose Reagan comes to see the Russian President, for courtesy, formality sake, may shake hands, but the opposite.

Devotees: (Group laughter)

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: It may be formal, and it may be real, hand shaking.

When Lal Bahadur Shastri, for one year he was the Prime Minister, he went to visit Russia, and he gave namas te, not hand shaking, namas te. And that was very much appreciated by them. By hand shaking and the courtesy as namas te, folded palms from far away without touching the body. Some made some remark there may be some contagious disease also by hand shaking. That is not very good. But namas te from far away, that sort of courtesy that is well and good.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Giving fitting honour to our leaders from a distance.

Mahārāja, I also have one letter from Mañjuālī.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. What is that?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: She's in England now.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: How long, how many days?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: She hopes to leave London by the sixteenth or seventeenth, that's within only three or four days.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: She's expected here?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: No. To leave there, to leave London.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: To leave London.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Sixteenth or seventeenth.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Sixteenth or seventeenth. Then from there to India? Direct?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yes. But the plane ticket is a little uncertain. So - got this letter from America.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Any possibility of her meeting with Jayatīrtha Mahārāja?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Doesn't say that.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Or Vaiṣṇava Charan?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: No.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Jayatīrtha Mahārāja may try to see Vaiṣṇava Charan at least.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: She's staying with Aranya Mahārāja and maybe with Mr. Sharma.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hmm, that's good. Gaura Hari.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: But the men of Jayatīrtha are giving some trouble to Aranya Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Jayatīrtha?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yeah. They want one of his - he had a big painting, a life size photograph of Swāmī Mahārāja. Aranya Mahārāja has got that. So Jayatīrtha's men say that 'You must give us that big picture, otherwise we'll go to court.' Childish dealings.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: They're asking Aranya Mahārāja?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yeah. They're threatening him.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yeah. It's a special picture which they like very much also. It's a like, big like.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, but Aranya Mahārāja he's continuing to be the disciple of Swāmī Mahārāja.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yeah. Of course.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then, why? They may go to court, but how they can ask him to remove that?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Idle brāhmaṇa. Also one letter from Sudhīra Mahārāja. You might have heard it.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What is there? I forgot.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: That in Africa, Yudhāmanyu says there's one boy there, Tulasī dāsa, one ISKCON man, Tulasī dāsa, he had Yudhāmanyu arrested for distributing Search For Śrī Kṛṣṇa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. He was?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: He was arrested, Yudhāmanyu was arrested by the order of this Tulasī dāsa, in one shopping centre in public place in Africa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So none will be allowed to sell any other book?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: How it can be the law? I can't understand.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Well, because the police they do not this selling anyway, they don't like the book selling anyway, so Tulasī dāsa has made this cross, tactic...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So they're trying to oppose this book, by hook or by crook?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: A dangerous bullet.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Dangerous bullet. Cannon.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Cannon. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari bol.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: That's all the news.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari.

Acyutānanda remarked a very good expression. "Kṛṣṇa dancing." When he was sent to Dāmodara Mahārāja by me for the negotiation of the land at that place where ISKCON is at present, for some days he had to stay there. And Dāmodara Mahārāja giving some food he fled away for bhikṣā or something. And what was given to him that was finished, and after few days fasting he came here suddenly.

Then someone asked, "Why did you stay there for - one day nothing, you could have come earlier? Why after two days fasting you've come here?"

"Kṛṣṇa dancing, He's dancing, He has no time to cast glance to any. He's mad in His own dance. And also dancing in that flow He's pushing so many things in different directions. He does not care for it. He's dancing in His own sweet way. And by that wave so many things are thrown aside by His autocratic type of dancing. So no attention possible for Him to give to us. Whether I'm fasting, or I'm dying, or I'm living, does not matter to Him. He's dancing in His own way, careless of the environment."

I also read in B.A. class in the Preface of a book, Mudalakha [?] the author was a Śivaite, devotee of Śiva. In the introduction he wrote one poem, there he told that, "Śiva wanted to dance, Mahādeva, Rudra, who is supposed to be the destroying agent of the whole creation, Rudra. He wanted once to dance with His full sentiment. But if he pushes, moves his legs a little strongly then the earth going down. If he throws his arms and hands over, so many stars are being displaced. Then what to do? The poor Mahādeva wanted to dance but he could not get the opportunity to dance in his fullest way."

So big vibration flows are like that, nirguṇa. That is nirguṇa is the highest type of automatic flow. And we're asked to join the dancing in that plane. That is the dancing of Kṛṣṇa. The most fundamental plane having its flow, not ether, but further, more, most fundamental plane. That is bhakti, devotion. That is For Itself. Reality is For Itself. This kind, the flow of this quality. Everything For Him without caring so many local interests and provincial interests of so many other agents. Ahaitukī apratihatā.

sa vai puṁsāṁ paro dharmo, yato bhaktir adhokṣaje
ahaituky apratihatā, yayātmā suprasīdati

["The supreme occupation (dharma) for all humanity is that by which men can attain to loving devotional service unto the transcendental Lord. Such devotional service must be unmotivated and uninterrupted to completely satisfy the self."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.2.6]

The great declaration of Bhāgavatam, Śukadeva. Already there is the fundamental plane, the flow, the dancing is going on there. Everything wants to satisfy the whole, not any partial demand, not provincial interest, but the Absolute Interest. And everything is dancing to satisfy that most fundamental plane that is Kṛṣṇa, the Autocrat.

Ahaitukī apratihatā. What is bhakti, devotion proper? What is the absolute duty of the jīva soul, of all of us, absolute call of duty, absolute nature of duty? What is that? Sa vai puṁsāṁ paro dharmo. The highest duty of everyone is this. What is that? Paro dharmo, yato bhaktir adhokṣaje. Our adherence, our faithfulness, our submission to the unseen, to the transcendental. What cannot be reckoned by any interested sentiment of us. Yato adhokṣaje. Ahaitukī and apratihatā. And that is causeless, and that is eternally flowing, no beginning, no end. And none can oppose it. Irresistible. Causeless and irresistible. That is no past, all present, no future, all present. No transformation, always new brand continuing, continuous flow, nitya, eternal. The eternal most fundamental flow for the satisfaction of the Absolute Whole. That is the most undercurrent fundamental wave. And we, leaving all our provincial and local interest to join that. That is what is necessary, that is śuddha bhakti. Kṛṣṇa is dancing and we're to connect us in that sort of wave of dancing.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Mahārāja. _____ [?]

Devotee: _____ [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Sa vai puṁsāṁ paro dharmo, yato bhaktir adhokṣaje. Adhokṣaja means transcendental, which is not to come with your sense perception, whether gross or fine, whether physical or mental, beyond that. Beyond that a flow is going on that is nirguṇa. Guṇa means that separate interest, local, provincial interest, group interest, extended selfish interest. No. Wholesale.

So Hegel says in his philosophy, "Reality must be By Itself and For Itself." That will be the main sign of reality. If He exists to satisfy any other thing then that will be higher. And if He's caused, created by another then the creator will be higher. So if we say anything absolute then the cause is within, and the future, the satisfaction, the purpose of existence, also within. These two things must be given - Everything is For Himself, For Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa prīti. Every point in the Absolute Existence, they enquire after satisfaction of the Whole.

ahaṁ hi sarva-yajñānāṁ, bhoktā ca prabhur eva ca
[na tu mām abhijānanti, tattvenātaś cyavanti te]

["-Because I alone am the enjoyer and rewarder of all sacrifices. But since they cannot know Me in this way, they again undergo birth, disease, infirmity, and death."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 9.24]

"I'm the enjoyer of everything here. And you come to harmonise with Me in that way, you'll be saved, you'll be normal. Otherwise you'll be abnormal and there'll be hitch between you and ABC, so many. But that plane you must find out, and you must tune yourself with that layer."

That is what is nirguṇa, this is nirguṇa. And not summation of all negation as the Buddhists or the Śaṅkarites, 'summation of all negation, sum total of all negativeness, that is nirguṇa, that is zero, an abstract philosophical zero.' That is not nirguṇa. Zero is not nirguṇa. But it is positive, and it is full fledged flow, and it is For Itself, and it is eternal. That is the concrete thing underlined. And that is beautiful, that is love. That is not power, neither power nor knowledge only, intellectualism. But that is love, that is beauty, all attractive, all accommodating. And that is the highest force, highest justice, all within that. Justice as well as power are subservient to that beauty, such absolute beautiful. Harmony, beauty, love, affection, all similar things.

And that is the finding of Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam. And Mahāprabhu Śrī Caitanydeva recommended for us only the same. Try to go that side. Try to achieve the wholesale. The whole fortune you may get there, highest fortune of all of us is there. That is His call, approach generally through the sound, that will be easy. Without approaching - eye experience, but ear experience you try to use, it will be very simple. Very simple to try to utilise the ear experience. Then all other experience also may be used to help it, the eye experience, the Śrī Mūrti, Arcā, so many other experience may be utilised. But ear experience should be given the lead of your approach towards that world. With the subtle most, hear, the ether, sound, and nearer to that most subtle sense experience is sound. So with sound only you can approach, but sound must be surcharged with truth, not false sound, nāmākṣara, nāmāparādha. No.

Where did you get the proper sound, Vaikuṇṭha śabda, the sound which is surcharged with Divinity? Through the agent, sādhu, Ṣaḍ Guru. With the help of the scriptures you're to understand Ṣaḍ Guru, the real bona fide agent, and connecting through him you may take the course of the sound experience mainly. The scripture, that is also sound, visualised sound, scripture is.

So anyhow, that is the world, that is your inner most hankering there for beauty, for affection, for love. Neither for justice, or knowledge, nor for power. Power cannot quench your thirst, and knowledge also can't quench your thirst. But without knowledge, without power, only that love can quench your thirst, independent of knowledge and power.

Karmīs, they're seekers after power, they want to become masters of potency. And the jñānīs their ultimate goal to know things and finish the negation. All that experience to be cast off, nothing to keep, they find ultimately. Justice says all dismissed, there's some sort of defect, dismiss it. Neti, neti, neti. In this way. Tamna, tamna, tamna. This is not, this is not, this is not. In this way, in this process they'll eliminate everything and go to nothingness, nothing is good. So all things of experience eliminated, only knower alone, that is samādhi. Subject living alone, divorcing all sorts of environmental experience, that is known as samādhi. If you wake, that is deep slumber, if you wake you will be conscious of so many things and they're all mortal, you're contaminated. So you're not to wake, not to come in connection with the environment. If you do that you'll come in connection with the mortality, with the change undesirable.

But the Vaiṣṇavas say that soul eliminating all this mortal environment, he can with the help of the higher agents, if he can secure a visa then he can enter another land, happy land. The passport won't be effective. Visa is necessary to enter there. And visa is given only to them who will have some contribution to that particular land. With this consideration visa is given. So when we shall be prepared to do something good for the land, that is serve the land, then we'll be allowed there. So with the spirit of service, that is the inner most function of the soul, we can come across that spiritual land, land of dedication. Land of exploitation, land of dedication, in the middle the abscissa, the land of renunciation condition. Mainly these things. Bhoga, bhukti, mukti, bhakti. Bhukti, bhoga, enjoyment. Mukti, renunciation, release, relief from reaction. And then bhakti, dedication. By dedication we can enter, have the opportunity of entering into another land, another plane of life, which is grand. But there is also sense of duty and some regulation in the beginning, but...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...enters into labour, dedication, then no regulations, no duty consciousness - all disappears, only labour of love. If we do not do our service we don't feel any better within us. That is rāga, anurāga, that is the labour of love. They cannot sit idle, they cannot but do the sweet service of the Lord. Very sweet, sweetness is the urge which gives them impetus to work for his Lord. That is the highest position of life, labour of love, sweet labour of love. And that is all satisfying. That is found in Vṛndāvana, Vraja, or Goloka, the higher sphere.

Vaikuṇṭha has got straight angle hemisphere, two and a half rasa, śanta, dāsya, sākhya half is found in Vaikuṇṭha. No confidential service, half confidential, and mainly with the attitude of Master and man the service is done. And also respect is there.

But in the other half more friendly, then it takes the shape of filial service, affectionate. And then in the service of consort-hood, the wholesale transaction is possible there. There are also different groups. We're told that the main group of the highest type of service is in the camp of Rādhārāṇī. Our attraction is that line, our Guru Mahārāja. In our Guru Paramparā we find that, in the Guru Paramparā.

mahāprabhu śrī-caitanya, rādhā-kṛṣṇa nahe anya rūpānuga janera jīvana viśwambhara priyaṅkara śrī-swarūpa dāmodara, śrī-goswāmī rūpa-sanātana

["Mahāprabhu Śrī Caitanya is non-different from Śrī Śrī Rādhā and Kṛṣṇa and is the very life of those Vaiṣṇavas who follow Śrī Rūpa Goswāmī. Śrī Svarūpa Dāmodara Goswāmī, Rūpa Goswāmī, and Sanātana Goswāmī were the givers of great happiness to Viśvambhara (Śrī Caitanya)."]

[Brahma-Mādhva-Gauḍīya Sampradāya, 6] [Compiled by Śrīla Bhaktisiddhānta Saraswatī Ṭhākura]

[Songs Of The Vaiṣṇava Ācāryas, p 90-2]

All in the camp of Rādhārāṇī's sweet service rendered by heart. The acme, highest conception of the realisation possible ever in the whole. Rādhā dāsya, Rādhā kaiṅkaryyaṁ. So not to be pushing enough to approach direct towards Kṛṣṇa, but to try to enter into the camp of Rādhārāṇī and there to become adjusted in any particular line of service there. Also many things in details are there. So mainly we're part of potency, and the whole potency is represented by Rādhārāṇī in its fullest form. And anyhow to be adjusted there within Her camp, that should be the highest aim. Gradually we shall understand that. It is mainly given in the Guru Paramparā, and in the mantram also which we get from Guru. There also the meaning is there in that, and it will lead us there. So the formula is there, and by the formula we shall give attention, and we shall try to find out what is within. And also what is within in me.

'My finest element in me, and the finest element in the formula, that will be connected and harmonised, adjusted. This is my goal. And I'm also mixed with so many things, thoughts and ideas, but my inner existence is found in this formula. Eliminating all these outer dress, I shall try to find out myself, according to this formula. This is - here is myself. I have acquired foreign things, so many, wandering in this material world of exploitation, but this is all foreign, unnecessary. Eliminate, eliminate. And what am I? It is mentioned in the formula. That is my inner self, and I must reach that goal.'

Hare Kṛṣṇa. And all our spiritual advices in the line of Guru Paramparā, they're also in that line. Any way we shall have to go to merge in that line, following them, we shall be their followers, strict sense followers.

Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol.

Long and short of the whole thing is like this.

Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol. Ke?

_____ [?] The success of karma is in jñāna, in attainment over jñāna.

na hi jñānena sadṛśaṁ, pavitram iha vidyate
[tat svayaṁ yoga-saṁsiddhaḥ, kālenātmani vindati]

["Among the aforementioned practices of sacrifice, austerity, and yoga, there is nothing as pure as divine knowledge. After a long time, a person who has achieved perfection in his practice on the path of selfless action realises such knowledge spontaneously within his heart."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 4.38]

But proper jñāna is sambandha jñāna. And this is artificial, undesirable jñāna, which is going towards Brahman conception and limit that. And gradually from the material conception comes to spiritual conception, and then that Brahman and jīva in the same rank. And again Parabrahman, Vāsudeva, Nārāyaṇa, in this way it is proceeding towards.

[śreyān dravyamayād yajñāj, jñāna-yajñaḥ parantapa]
sarvaṁ karmākhilaṁ pārtha, jñāne parisamāpyate

["O Arjuna, subduer of the enemy, of those various sacrifices, the sacrifice of knowledge as mentioned, brahmāgnāv apare [Gītā, 4.25] is far superior to the sacrifice of various articles, indicated by brahmārpaṇaṁ brahma haviḥ [Gītā, 4.24], because all action ultimately culminates in knowledge."]
[Bhagavad-gītā, 4.33]

tat svayaṁ yoga-saṁsiddhaḥ, kālenātmani vindati [Bhagavad-gītā, 4.38] śraddhāvān labhate jñānaṁ tat-paraḥ saṁyatendriyaḥ jñānaṁ labdhvā parāṁ śāntim acireṇādhigacchati

["After internal purification through non-fruitive action, genuine knowledge arises. Such knowledge is attained by the intelligent, sense-controlled theist who accepts this scriptural purport, and who with sublime faith remains devoted to the path of selfless action. He swiftly attains the profound tranquillity of eradicating the vicious cycle of recurring birth and death."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 4.39]

Then, jñānī namapi.

koṭi-jñāni-madhye haya eka-jana 'mukta' koti-mukta-madhye 'durlabha' eka kṛṣṇa-bhakta

["Out of many millions of such wise men, one may actually become liberated, and out of many millions of such liberated persons, a pure devotee of Lord Kṛṣṇa is very difficult to find."]
[Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 19.148]

In this way gradation is passing through, that sort of jñāna, not artificial jñāna, abnormal jñāna. Knowledge proper, which is not promised to avoid personal conception of the Absolute, that sort of jñāna.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Niṣkāma karma proper therefore means bhakti.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Niṣkāma karma, that is which is ordered by the Vedas in varṇāśrama, to do that without any particular object, or aim.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Duty.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Because the Vedas have asked me to do I do. That is niṣkāma. Then knowledge proper will come out of that. And that knowledge also if rightly followed, then Parabrahman jñāna will come. After Brahman there is Parabrahman. In this way in a fair way it will make progress. And that is unfair way, jñāna yoga. In that chapter perhaps jñāna yoga is being dealt _____ [?]

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: ...means that the actual jñāna yoga is...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Niṣkāma karma _____ [?] Not forced knowledge but automatic outcome of niṣkāma karma. That is sure to lead towards bhakti.

loke vyavāyāmiṣa-madya-sevā, nityā hi jantor na hi tatra codanā
[vyavasthitis teṣu vivāha-yajña,-surā-grahair āsu nivṛttir iṣṭā]

["Everyone is naturally inclined to have sex, eat meat, and drink wine. There is no need for the scripture to encourage these things. The scriptures do, however, give concessions to people who are determined to do these things. The scriptures therefore grant a license to enjoy sex by allowing sexual intercourse with one's lawfully wedded wife at the proper time of the month. They grant a license to eat meat to those who perform a certain kind of sacrifice, and a license to drink wine to those who perform the Sautramani sacrifice. The purpose of granting these licenses for sense gratification is only to restrict these activities and encourage people to give them up altogether. The real intention of the Vedic injunctions regarding sex, meat-eating, and wine-drinking is to make one abstain from these activities."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.5.11]

Just as according to the classification, the stage of the audience, instalment is given, something.

parokṣa-vādo vedo 'yaṁ, [bālānām anuśāsanam
karma-mokṣāya karmāṇi, vidhatte hy agadaṁ yathā]

["Childish and foolish people are attached to materialistic, fruitive activities, although the actual goal of life is to become free from such activities. Therefore, the Vedic injunctions indirectly lead one to the path of ultimate liberation by first prescribing fruitive religious activities, just as a father promises his child candy so that the child will take his medicine."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.3.44]

In the mind, just as a scholar is giving training to a boy, he knows much, but in that way he's giving some small instalment to him. But in his mind that gradually he'll lead to this side, that thing, adhikāra. Niṣkāma karma, then jñāna, and jñāna proper, when he's guided towards Bhāgavata, Personal God, not impersonal. Impersonal, that is an artificial thing. In general the natural way must go to - jñāna means person. As I say, that I'm a person, I'm a particle of knowledge, I'm a person. And the ocean of knowledge, that is not person, that is substance like ocean water, or ether? But a particle, I'm endowed with individuality, so,

bahūnāṁ janmanām ante, jñānavān māṁ prapadyate
vāsudevaḥ [sarvam iti, sa mahātmā sudurlabhaḥ]

["After many, many births, the knowledgeable person (who happens to attain the association of such a pure devotee) finally comes to understand that the whole universe of moving and stationary being is of the nature of Vāsudeva alone, inasmuch as all are subordinate to Vāsudeva. Having grasped this conception, he surrenders unto Me. Know such a great soul to be extremely rare."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 7.19]

When a jñānī can feel that He's Vāsudeva, it is not Brahman, inner substance of spirit. But spirit means automatically person. He's a big person. Big knowledge means big person, the biggest person. Knowledge means person. I'm a particle of knowledge, I'm person. So knowledge means personality. Anu caitanya is anu person, and bṛhat caitanya is bṛhat person. He's Vāsudeva.

Then bhakti begins, head bends to His feet. Otherwise I'm one, I'm a particle of the ocean of consciousness, all inert thing, or impersonal, one and the same. But the big person, the ocean is personified, and I'm a spark, or drop personified, anu caitanya, and the ocean's personified, so I must submit to the ocean. That is the natural flow of the knowledge proper.

Vedic knowledge is drawing towards that direction. So jñāna yoga means knowledge of that type. And this is mislead knowledge which is taking towards brahma jñāna, so 'ham. So 'ham, it is all right, so 'ham, but what is sa, there the difference. 'I'm spirit,' so far common, but there is also qualitative difference, in spiritual substance. Just as in material - material stone and water is not same thing. Ether also material and stone also material. So in the spiritual substance also gradation, taṭa-stha. Then Vaikuṇṭha spirit, then Goloka spirit, then differentiation there.

And Kṛṣṇa also. Kṛṣṇa in Vṛndāvana, and when Kṛṣṇa in Vaikuṇṭha They're different Kṛṣṇa. They're inseparable, all Avatāra, They're rather treated as functional position. Kṣīrodakaśāyī Viṣṇu, Kāraṇārṇavaśāyī Viṣṇu, They're all Supreme, but Supreme with the difference in function. We're to take like that. Even Kṛṣṇa conception there is gradation. Svayaṁ-Bhagavān only by the side of Rādhārāṇī. Svayaṁ-Rūpa, then Svayaṁ-Prakāśa, Prabhāva, Vaibhava. In this way in Kṛṣṇa conception also there is gradation.

So in realisation there is always gradation. But they cannot be divided into separate parts, so we're to think like limited function, and bigger function, in this way small and big. In this way we're to think.

Nārāyaṇa and Kṛṣṇa, continuous, same one, but functional difference.

Just as king in the court, king in the harem, different man, but same man. He's in the court, he's in the war field, battle field, and also he's in the - making donations, or in family interest with wife and children. There's difference there, so many, such difference we may think about him.

Universe has got its own interest, He's moving in that way. And I'm trying to thrust my interest over it. It is imaginary, futile, it is mania, and we're suffering from mania of māyā, all imagination, illusion, svapna-vada, like dream. Dreaming coming from within. We see in a dream so many facts outside me, but really it's coming from me, from within, not in the outside world. So also whatever we do here, the universal movement is not affected at all. All concoction.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In our Guru Mahārāja's time we did not observe all these things. Here also we don't observe. Did Śyāmānanda Prabhu come back?

Badrinārāyaṇa: Yes Mahārāja, yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: She has got no question?

Devotee: ...heard that Śrīla Prabhupāda mentioned that there are Deities of Lord Kṛṣṇa on every single continent, but that some are known and some are hidden. Do you have anything to say on this?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What does she say?

Badrinārāyaṇa: She said that she's heard Śrīla Prabhupāda Swāmī Mahārāja said that there are Deities on every continent, all over the earth. But some are hidden and some are revealed. Do you have anything to say about that? The Deities of Kṛṣṇa?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Not clear. Deities of Kṛṣṇa everywhere it may be, if we've got the eye to see. Otherwise how can They be everywhere? Sarvatya krsne murti kali jal mal _____ [?]
Everywhere the Śrī Mūrti of Kṛṣṇa is dazzling in Its Own glory. But only those can have a view of that whose eyes are clear, not covered with so many thousands of prejudices. Viṣaya dhuli te _____ [?]
So many prejudices, so many demands, desires, that are covering our mental eye, rather the eye of the soul. The real seer inside is the soul, and so many thick prejudices, good, bad, are covering our eyes so we can't see Him. If that is cleared, the prejudices are removed, then we can see that Kṛṣṇa is there, everywhere. He's everywhere.

Mahāprabhu when He's seeing a forest, "O, this is Vṛndāvana." Any hill, "O, Govardhana." Any river, "O, this is Yamunā."

Everything, always the seer, always on the level of the standard where he can have direct contact with Kṛṣṇa, the Loving Autocrat. The Autocrat, the Beautiful, everywhere He is. He's my Master, He's my Lord, and I can't see Him. He's my owner, everything, and I can't see Him. What a farce. Why such? I have made Him a foreign thing. I have, rather, made Him far away, far away.

Now the question will come. If anyone being in connection of Kṛṣṇa, can he come far away? The māyā can handle and overtake him, or her? So it is told anādi-bahirmukha. Our position is in the taṭastha, in the marginal plane. But our two kinds of opposite adopt-ability. In the inner most plane there is Kṛṣṇa, and the outer most plane we can come to this world of māyā.

Just as a jīva, a soul, in human position he may be of different mentality, sometimes woman mentality, sometimes man mentality. Sometimes a cow, the bird, the tree, he's accommodating with his paraphernalia in different ways here. It is possible. The soul is one, but sometimes the soul, sometimes a man he's a king, sometimes he's a beggar, but that man mentality is there. And sometimes a politician, sometimes a philanthropist, but the central soul is a separate thing. But adopt-ability makes him to be shown in different plane, in different way. So also not only human species but so many species also.

So the soul may have different planes and position and understanding, and achievement differs accordingly. And the soul when outside focus, and inside focus he can see many things upwards. When with the tendency of exploitation he comes into some world. And when the tendency of dedication is utilised he enters into another world. And there also the Vaikuṇṭha, Goloka, all these things in the Kṛṣṇa world, they come to be the object of our experience.

So my inner most wealth or property is Kṛṣṇa. If we can see, look at the deepest insight. And with the tendency of exploitation we come outside. And by the help of the dedication tendency, that Yogamāyā, centre carrying current, out carrying current, in carrying current. If I take advantage of the in carrying current I can go and see Kṛṣṇa. And out carrying current I can go to the other things. At present our condition that we're in the midst of deep out carrying current. And anyhow by my previous action I have come across some agent who are saying about my inner wealth. And with the help of the in carrying current, the current of dedication, we can enter into another world where everywhere there is Kṛṣṇa. Everywhere my Lord is there.

I'm to be exploited by Him. I'm not an exploiting agent, but I'm to be exploited. I'm potency, I'm not potency possessor. Potency possessor is He. And I'm a kind of potency to be utilised in His service. That is what is necessary. So He's there, but we cannot see Him. We see so many things according to our position. Our different positions are showing different things outside. But if we can be placed in normal position we can see that Kṛṣṇa is everywhere. He's everywhere, at the back of everything He's there.

Stava jangam dakhe nadaketi murti sarvatya svure ta istha deva sphurti [?]

On the background, He sees everything. Apparently we see this matter and life, material cover and then mental cover, all these things. But nadaketa murti, but deeper vision will see no, Kṛṣṇa is at the back of everything, otherwise nothing can exist if He withdraws. But depth of intelligence, depth of our sight, our seeing is different.

Just as the politicians see, that Korea there was a plane crash, some say that American misdealing is at the bottom. In an ordinary plane they put some political inspection. And some say Russia's misunderstanding is the cause of the slaughter, all these. The backside, one reads backside. Here is Mr. Reagan. Here is Mr. Russia. In this way, at the background. Superficially is something, and deeper vision says that no, at the root is another energy.

Similarly, we see generally many things apathetic to our interest, clashing to our interest.

But Gītā says, "Be indifferent to your environment and go on with your duty."

But Bhāgavatam says, "No. Everything is positively good to you. Try to find out that. Nothing is bad. Through every incident Kṛṣṇa's will is approaching you. You try to find out that."

tat te 'nukampāṁ susamīkṣamāṇo, [bhuñjāna evātma-kṛtaṁ vipākam
hṛd-vāg-vapurbhir vidhadhan namas te, jīveta yo mukti-pade sa dāya bhāk]

["One who, in the hope of achieving Your grace, goes on enduring the inauspicious fruit of his own karma, and passes his days practising devotion unto You in every thought, word, and deed - such a person is heir to the land of freedom: he attains to the plane of positive immortality."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.14.8]

With sincere attention you try to find, try to read your environment, everywhere there is good will of Kṛṣṇa. If you can try to read your environment in this way, very soon you'll find 'yes, really it is so.' All transaction with you only coming from Kṛṣṇa. All affection, and no bitterness. We're taught to read the environment in this way. If you can follow this path you will find very soon that you are free from all wrong prejudices, and you'll be in the domain of Kṛṣṇa. Try to find out, with your best sincerity, try to read the environment. It is Kṛṣṇa at the back. All good, nothing bad. Try to take up in this way.

That is search for Kṛṣṇa, and He's there. Search for Kṛṣṇa. Don't search for your temporary satisfaction, pleasure, or any retirement, rest. Neither temporary pleasure nor rest, but always search for Kṛṣṇa, to serve Him. And Kṛṣṇa will be in your sight in no time. Search for Kṛṣṇa. Brahma-jijñāsā. Enquire about where you are. The All-Comprehensive Entity, which includes your existence and all the existence of the whole. Enquire about brahma-jijñāsā. And search for Śrī Kṛṣṇa, not the All-Comprehensive Principle, but the heart's satisfying Lord, where is He? Try to search Him and you'll find Him.

You'll find it is mentioned in Bṛhat-Bhāgavatāmṛtam, one soul through a particular process of sādhana, first meeting with Kṛṣṇa. When Kṛṣṇa coming back with the cows from the forest to home, in the way, that soul had got his emancipation and connection with Kṛṣṇa. Suddenly Kṛṣṇa found him and embraced him. And with the ecstasy of His joy He fainted, Kṛṣṇa fainted.

Balarāma only could detect that. "That a newcomer, a new friend has joined Our līlā. From long, long bondage he's released and he joined, and met Kṛṣṇa here. And Kṛṣṇa is so satisfied to find that old friend that with the ecstasy of joy He's fainted." Then Balarāma managed to take Him in the consciousness.

Then Kṛṣṇa began to say, "My friend, how could you pass so many days forgetting Me? How was it possible for you? I'm longing for you for so many days. And you were - I know everything, but when for search of Me you were begging from door to door, and some were treating gently, and some were harshly. All I know My friend. Anyhow after long separation you have joined us. Come, come after." In this way.

He's waiting with His hankering heart to meet every one of us. He's infinite, He can accommodate all of us with our full satisfaction. No bankruptcy there. Our heart's full thirst, we can be satisfied in Him, every one of us, thinking that as if He's only for me.

So we're told that the other world, that the motherly affection, she's waiting for the son who has left her and wandering in the street, lost. Son is lost, wandering here, there. Mother with affectionate heart waiting to get the son back. And when the son comes, she's always watching, she's ever ready to accept, to take him in the lap. Something like that.

That is everything. This is meek and in a partial consideration. Māyā is in the negligent part. Just as prison houses occupy the negligent part of a country. Free souls are moving in the broad land. And here and there the prison houses. And when one is released from the prison houses he comes to live in the country at large.

Infringement, hater of our own self satisfaction in exploitation, or renunciation, two phases. Either to lord it over everything, or to go to sleep, but both is abnormal. Only to be always attendant in our own function, what is attached in the universal necessity. We shall be always alert there, to do my function towards the universe. And the universe is Kṛṣṇa, His interest, He's personified, everything, every interest personified, universal interest personified there.

Some sham love, imitation love we find here, and we're mad for that. But love proper, how beautiful, how attractive that must be. And the centre of all such real love, how much beautiful, desirable, will that be. A drop of love, here, there, Romeo, Juliet, Dusanta, Śakuntalā, in the drama we find so many ideals of mundane love here. But love proper, how desirable that'll be, and when that is personified how beautiful that should be.

Can't see? Eh? When we're in that plane we can see Him, and nothing else. He and His paraphernalia, His līlā. But searching another plane.

Just as a dog cannot understand the ways of the human society, our position is like that, somehow or other. A dog mentality can be transformed into human mentality, then of course the dog can see, feel, things of the human society, good, bad, everything. So stage of consciousness.

Kṛṣṇa jñāna. And from here to reach to that level, sādhu saṅga, then bhajan, then anartha-nivṛtti, niṣṭhā, ruci, bhāva. When we reach the stage of bhāva bhakti then we can have some glimpse. And then prema, then we can be lifted in that plane, we can see Kṛṣṇa. And prema, sneha, mana, pranaya, rāga, anurāga, bhāva, mahābhāva. So many stages there are in Kṛṣṇa conciousness. Everywhere development to be traced in this way from one to another. In the passing road we're to finish, and then we can have that.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...may be felt in picture. But in reality if we want to have that we're to march the long way mentioned, in this way. In Caitanya-caritāmṛta [Madhya-līlā, 19.151] it is said, brahmāṇḍa brhamite kona bhāgyavān jīva, guru-kṛṣṇa-prasāde pāya bhakti-latā-bīja

["Wandering throughout the material universe, the very fortunate living entity who receives the grace of Guru and Kṛṣṇa receives the seed of the creeper of devotional service."]

While travelling through this brahmāṇḍa, this worldly area of eighty four lākhs of species, one fortunate soul can get a seed from Ṣaḍ Guru, a bona fide agent of the Vaikuṇṭha world, of the transcendental world.

mālī hañā kare sei bīja āropaṇa, [śravaṇa-kīrttana-jale karaye secana]

["When a person receives the seed of devotional service, he should take care of it by becoming a gardener and sowing the seed in his heart. If he waters the seed gradually by the process of śravaṇa and kīrtana, the seed will begin to sprout."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 19.152]

He puts that seed into his heart, and accepts it in his heart, and nurtures it, just as with water and fertiliser. Then the sprout will come and the creeper will grow. Virajā brahmāṇḍa bhedi' yāya.

[upajiyā bāḍe latā 'brahmāṇḍa' bhedi' yāya, 'virajā,' 'brahmaloka,' bhedi' 'paravyoma' pāya tabe yāya tad upari 'goloka-vṛndāvana', 'kṛṣṇa-caraṇa'-kalpavṛkṣe kare ārohana]

["The creeper of devotion is born, and grows to pierce the wall of the universe. It crosses the Virajā river and the Brahman plane, and reaches to the Vaikuṇṭha plane. Then it grows further up to Goloka Vṛndāvana, finally reaching to embrace the wish-yielding tree of Kṛṣṇa's Lotus Feet."]
[Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 19.153-4]

It will pass through different stages of this exploiting world. Bhūr, Bhuvaḥ, Svaḥ, Mahā, Jana, Tapa, Satyaloka. Then Virajā, the stage of equilibrium, buffer state, abscissa. Virajā, Brahmaloka, then Paravyoma, then the world proper. Paravyoma. That the exploiting negative side, and dedicating positive side. He enters into dedicating life, latā. Then, tabe yāya tad upari 'goloka-vṛndāvana'. And passing through Paravyoma in its lower stage of dedication, he enters into the loving stage of dedication where the duty, where we render service not as duty but out of love. That is the domain of Kṛṣṇa, Goloka, Vṛndāvana, enters there and touches the feet of Kṛṣṇa. And then so many fruits the creeper can produce in connection with Kṛṣṇa. And that fruit of different types comes, and this man who has grown that creeper, he can taste of that fruit.

'prema-phala' pāki' paḍe, mālī āsvādaya / latā avalambi' mālī 'kalpa-vṛkṣa' pāya

["When the fruit of devotional service becomes ripe and falls down, the gardener tastes the fruit and thus takes advantage of the creeper and reaches the desire tree of the Lotus Feet of Kṛṣṇa in Goloka Vṛndāvana."]
[Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 19.162]

And ultimately with the help of that creeper, the man himself can go there, and live there finally. This has been, in a figurative way, this has been extended to us for our understanding. What is the matter? How we can go there. Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura, je-dina gṛhe, bhajana dekhi, gṛhete goloka bhāya [caraṇa-sīdhu, dekhiyā gaṅgā, sukha nā sīmā pāya]

["Goloka Vṛndāvana appears in my home whenever I see the worship and service of Lord Hari taking place there. When I see the Ganges, that river of nectar emanating from the lotus feet of the Lord, my happiness knows no bounds."] [The Songs Of Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura, p 37-38]

Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura says, "When I see in my own house here the real temperament of Kṛṣṇa bhajana, it seems that Goloka has come down here. Kṛṣṇa with His paraphernalia He has come down to show His grace to me here. He can do anything, everything, He can come everywhere."

The king can enter, as king, his representative he can enter the prison house any moment he can come to see particularly. I'm under the law of prison house, but high officers or king, he's not under the law of prison house. He can come and go, anywhere, to see any culprit. And when he likes he can release anybody any time. When he thinks that he's no longer a culprit he can take him away with him, personally. So many things.

When our inner fortune will awaken we'll be able to see things. 'This is Dhāma, Gaṅgā, the play of pastimes, the place of pastimes of Mahāprabhu, His Vigraha. These creepers, trees, all connected with Mahāprabhu Śrī Caitanydeva. Navadwīpa.' Navadwīpa Dhāma, another representation of Vṛndāvana, something more. In Vṛndāvana in a fixed group they're enjoying that divine rasa. And in Navadwīpa not only enjoying but that very rasa is being distributing here for the public, so generosity here, more magnanimity. It is no other ontologically than Vṛndāvana. Whatever we find in Vṛndāvana in Kṛṣṇa, that thing only dealt here, with this difference, that magnanimously it is open to the public.

"How public can go to Vṛndāvana direct, in the special train, this is Navadwīpa Dhāma. No other concern, no other destination." Mahāprabhu declared, "Only Vṛndāvana is our destination, no stoppage anywhere else, direct special train to Vṛndāvana. That is the acme of our realisation." He announced. "And how to go there? Come, I'm giving admission ticket, and do this and that, this is the fare. You want it sincerely." Laulyam api mūlyam ekalaṁ.

[kṛṣṇa-bhakti-rasa-bhāvitā matiḥ, kriyatāṁ yadi kuto 'pi labhyate
tatra laulyam api mūlyam ekalaṁ, janma-koṭi-sukṛtair na labhyate]

["Pure devotional service to Kṛṣṇa cannot be obtained by performing pious activities even for millions of births. It can be purchased only by paying one price: intense eagerness. Wherever it is available, one must purchase it immediately."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 8.70]

"You desire, you hear about the nobility of the thing. And if you say, 'yes I want,' your sincere hankering that is the ticket, and I shall book you. Laulyam api mūlyam ekalaṁ. Only your sincere hankering, that is the ticket, nothing else necessary. Laulya, that is the seed of love, our sincere greed, innermost urge to have a thing, that is what is wanted, nothing else. That is the coin, all others are auxiliary things. You are traced in your taste, where your real inner taste is you are there. And I want that. If you give Me that I shall at once book you to Vṛndāvana. You'll get Kṛṣṇa."

Innermost hankering, neither knowledge, nor your energy in the form of wealth, men, and other things, power, nothing else. Only the inner man, innermost taste for the thing, that is what is necessary. That is the wealth of that land. Without that none can live there. Sincere hankering.

["I am not a priest, a king, a merchant, or a labourer (brāhmaṇa, kṣatriya, vaiśya, śūdra); nor am I a student, a householder, a retired householder, or a mendicant (brahmacārī, gṛhastha, vānaprastha, sannyāsī). I identify myself only as the servant of the servant of the servant of the lotus feet of Śrī Kṛṣṇa, the Lord of the gopīs, who is the personification of the fully expanded (eternally self-revealing) nectarean ocean that brims with the totality of Divine Ecstasy."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 13.80]

Neither intellectualism is necessary, nor the political knowledge, neither financial knowledge, vaiśyo.
Or skill in labour, nothing is necessary. Only this is necessary. So brāhmaṇa, kṣatriya, vaiśya, śūdra, mleccha, nothing is necessary. The innermost awakening of the heart. There is Kṛṣṇa. And that is the qualification which can admit, give us admission in the school of the pure devotion.

Vidagdha Mādhava: Guru Mahārāja. There's sādhu saṅga and different ways of developing this hankering. Could you...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is only sādhu saṅga, śravaṇa kīrtana, etc., what is done under the guidance of sādhu. Devotion is devotion's cause. Bhaktyā sañjātayā bhaktyā.

[smarantaḥ smārayantaś ca, mitho 'ghaugha-haraṁ harim
bhaktyā sañjātayā bhaktyā, bibhraty utpulakāṁ tanum]

["The devotees of the Lord constantly discuss the glories of the Personality of Godhead among themselves. Thus they constantly remember the Lord and remind one another of His qualities and pastimes. In this way, by their devotion to the principles of bhakti-yoga, the devotees please the Personality of Godhead, who takes away from them everything inauspicious. Being purified of all impediments, the devotees awaken to pure love of Godhead, and thus, even within this world, their spiritualised bodies exhibit symptoms of transcendental ecstasy, such as standing of the bodily hairs on end."]
[Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.3.31]

Nothing than bhakti can produce bhakti, only bhakti can develop bhakti. So from sādhu saṅga. Just as light - a candle is lit from another light. So in the heart of sādhu the light is there, Kṛṣṇa consciousness, and from there this candle can be lit, in this way. Or the innate, it is under deep cover, anyhow to discover it. It is elementary thing, fundamental element. Nothing can produce devotion. It is the most fundamental plenary substance, dedication. Dedication. Many can stay in a harmonious place only through the nature of dedication. Otherwise disorganised, dispersed, scattered. How many means outcome of the dedication of all the units together. So bhaktyā sañjātayā bhaktyā, so dedication only helps dedication. No exploitation, nor renunciation, can help dedication. Dedication is the original subject anywhere to be found.

In the sādhu, his dedicated life, that association may help your inner dedicating spirit. Or the scriptures, that also in a passive way can help your dedicating principle within to awaken. In this way, association. It is within me, and our external association to strengthen that, to develop that, similar things are necessary. By associating which I can increase the inner strength of my inner principle.

sādhu-śastra-kṛpāya yadi kṛṣṇonmukha haya [sei jīva nistare, māyā tāhāre chāḍaya]

["If the conditioned soul becomes Kṛṣṇa conscious by the mercy of saintly persons who voluntarily preach scriptural injunctions and help him to become Kṛṣṇa conscious, the conditioned soul is liberated from the clutches of māyā, who gives him up." [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 20.120]

Sādhu-śastra, when in passive or in active form, there is dedication, that will awaken my dedicating principle within, make it dynamic. It is now something like static, paralysed, in meagre stage, and that must be made active, developed form.

Sādhu saṅga, or śāstra saṅga, that does not only mean physical connection. There also must be inner hankering, where there'll be dedicating spirit. One cannot have the association of the sādhu by the spiritual exploiting a sādhu, or being indifferent to a sādhu. But earnestly to utilise his precious influence, śraddhā, otherwise that will be aparādha, offence against sādhu, or śāstra. Only physical connection is not saṅga, association proper. Association means our earnest necessity. We must be conscious of our earnest necessity, that I shall want some help from him, with this spirit. I want to emulate my condition. Only physical nearness that does not mean sādhu saṅga.

Then the librarian of a religious library he may not do sādhu saṅga. But so many mosquito and bugs they're now taking sādhu saṅga, they're very physically close. The inner transaction must be present there. The appreciation of sādhu, that is śraddhā, faith. We must associate with the sādhus with the interest of some higher faith development. And the faith means the principle of surrender. If I find any goodness I want to surrender myself, and not to exploit that thing for my lower purpose. Faith's symptom is to have a thing by surrendering, higher thing. Faith necessarily takes us to higher association, so if we find any higher I want to surrender, I don't want to exploit. If I approach a sādhu to exploit then that will be offence. But sādhu saṅga will be when I shall feel superior position, I want that high divine thing, I want to surrender. I don't want to keep my separate account. I shall want to merge into his divine account.

Badrinārāyaṇa: At what age is service to Kṛṣṇa most desirable?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What age? Ha, ha. No question of age. Prahlāda Mahārāja, Dhruva, they were child. Life is continued from previous, development of previous life also can come in this life. So age is not a factor. _____ [?]

...

Under the guidance of a proper agent of the transcendental world.

tad viddhi praṇipātena, paripraśnena sevayā / upadekṣyanti te jñānaṁ, jñāninas tattva darśinaḥ

["You will be able to attain all this knowledge by satisfying the enlightened spiritual master with prostrate obeisances, relevant enquiry, and sincere service. Great souls who are most expert in scriptural knowledge and endowed with direct realisation of the Supreme Absolute Truth will teach you that divine knowledge."]
[Bhagavad-gītā, 4.34]

Knowledge is our guide, that is general conception, the knowledge guides us. But Bhāgavata comes to say that knowledge cannot guide to our highest destination. To certain extent, it is fallible. But real guide is our inner taste, our ruci, our heart's necessity, ruci, lobha, and that leads only to the land of beauty. Knowledge cannot give full satisfaction to our achievement, neither power nor knowledge. That is the revolutionary finding of Bhāgavatam, which claims to be the ripe fruit of the whole revealed doctrine. Revolution is there.

So knowledge is the source of power. Knowledge can produce power. Knowledge is of higher plane, it can play with power. And potency holds the higher position than power, can create power. So knowledge had the supreme position so long. But Bhāgavata came with another revolutionary declaration, and no, knowledge is actuated...

Devotee: _____ [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: When I was a student of seventh class I heard one śloka, perhaps from any part of Veda, revolutionary.

Satyam briyat priyam briyat, ma briyat satyam apriyam [?]
Priyam ca namritam briyat, tesa dharmasya sanatana [?]

What is real sanātana-dharma? Satyam briyat. Speak truth. Then next, priyam briyat. Not only the naked truth but priyam, what is favourable, what is tasteful, soothing, affectionate, priya, pleasing. Ma briyat satyam apriyam. Never speak truth which is unpleasant. That gave a suggestion to my brain in that young age. Satya, one must say truth, this must be the universal statement. Then, the priya, it must be pleasing. What is pleasing to others say such truth. That qualification to the truth is necessary which is not absolute? We shall speak the truth, that must be absolute teaching, advice, but that is going to be modified, 'it must be pleasing.' What is this? Truth is not independently highest thing? Satyam briyat, always try to speak truth. Then priyam briyat, you'll remember that you must say what is loving, what is pleasing. Ma briyat satyam apriyam. Never speak truth so harshly, with harsh truth which is not pleasing, apriyam, don't speak. And priyam ca namritam briyat. At the same time don't be a sycophant, only you'll talk pleasing eliminating the truth, neither do that. Tesa dharmasya sanatana. The real purpose of our duty, direction, how we shall go on, in the line of our direction is such from the śāstra. So priya means that is pleasing, that has got a supreme position. And beyond truth I came to know jñāna śūnya bhakti.

Kṛṣṇa is asking Yudhiṣṭhira, "Speak lie." Ha, ha. To Droṇācārya. Aśvatthāmā hatta. The Raja was a big hero, invincible. But to kill him some tactics necessary, that some inactive temperament must be created in him. And when Bhīma killed an elephant whose name was Aśvatthāmā. Aśvatthāmā means Aśvat thāmā, Aśvatthāmā when he was born Droṇa's son he cried in the voice of a horse, Aśvat thāmā. So this elephant parts he used to sound like imitating horse, so its name was also Aśvatthāmā. So when that Aśvatthāmā elephant was killed they reported it to Droṇa that Aśvatthāmā is killed.

Devotee: _____ [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then when this was put to Droṇācārya he did not believe. "No. Aśvatthāmā he won't die in this age, so he can't die. I know he's one of the _____ [?] immortals, of the whole age."

"No, no. Aśvatthāmā has been killed by Bhīma."

Then, "I don't believe you. If Yudhiṣṭhira says then I'll believe you."

Then party requested Yudhiṣṭhira to say that Aśvatthāmā is dead.

Kṛṣṇa also, "You say, if you want to conquer the battle, you must have to take such tactics. Otherwise Droṇa is invincible."

By the pressure of Kṛṣṇa, Yudhiṣṭhira Mahārāja told, "Aśvatthāmā hatta, but it is elephant."

But when that first syllable, especially 'Aśvatthāmā hatta,' then they beat the drum, and Droṇa heard only that part, 'Iti Gaja.' The 'Aśvatthāmā is killed, but it is an elephant,' that part he could not hear, Droṇācārya.

So in Kṛṣṇa conception of Godhead, as in Rāmacandra conception of Godhead, we find this nīti, this moral conduct, has been laid much stress by Rāma Avatāra. But in Kṛṣṇa Avatāra we do not see like that. Moral or immoral, mixed march towards truth which is not under the laws of so-called truth. Above truth of your conception. Real truth is of Autocrat. Everything For Himself. The nature of real truth, above law, a dynamic autocracy. So obeying the moral laws in your plane, that cannot help. That is total submission, surrender, to that autocracy Who is not under any law. No law in His country, He's despot, autocrat. Whatever He likes that is more than law. So the highest realm is not under the guidance of your law which you experience here. Surrender. Good or bad, what you conceive here all false. It is all false. His sweet will is everything. This is the proper news of the highest quarter, that His sweet will. So anyhow, by hook or by crook you surrender to Him, without any special attraction to so-called truth that is found in your society. That has got no value.

'dvaite bhadrābhadra-jñāna, saba-'manodharma' ['ei bhāla, ei manda',-ei saba 'bhrama']

["In the material world, conceptions of good and bad are all mental concoctions. Therefore, saying, 'This is good, this is bad,' is a mistake."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Antya-līlā, 4.176]

It is all mental concoction. All law is law so long as it's backed by His sweet will. Otherwise no value. The Supreme Sanction must be at the back of so many laws of conduct. If that is withdrawn it is nothing. So He's above law, and surrender to Him, that is the most universal thing. And this is all partial, and temporary, not eternal. Such conception came from Kṛṣṇa. Through stealing, through speaking lie, all these things, He's marching towards His goal, without attaching much value to all this. That is nirguṇa, above all so-called qualities, or good attributes what you say.

Devotee: We can tell lie for the good of the humanity.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You know humanity, but humanity is a negligent part of the infinite. What position has humanity? This is a mania of the present so-called civilisation. But the vegetable kingdom, the animal kingdom, they're all divorced? Eh? Who is human being? Who is he? The next day a man after death he will go to become a dog. Then? You will abhor him? Your father after death he went to the dog species. Then? Or serpent, in this interchange of birth, who are the human beings? Who are they? They're the most notorious exploiting agents. They're robbing the whole animal and vegetable kingdom, and everything. They're the first class robbers, human beings means. This is a row of the day. These few human beings, everything is meant for them. Who are they? In the infinite, what is their position? So many living things, if you kill a goat, or any animal to feed human beings, there is no vibration when he's crying, wailing? The goat is wailing, wailing, crying in pain, and you're killing to feed humanity, eh, no reaction? That sort of painful vibration in the atmosphere, no reaction of that? Even the meek vegetable kingdom they're also dealt roughly, there is also reaction. Human beings means the first class robbers, in the name of human beings.

Human life is valuable, it is mentioned in the śāstra, but what for? Just as you say that in human life you can, you have the possibility of knowing the truth, so it has got some value. Otherwise they're exploiting, the first class exploiting section in the society. But their position is higher, it is admitted. Why? From there, that is the gate of emancipation, liberation. From human being, human species, you can come in contact with a real sādhu, and scripture, and thereby you can work out your salvation from this prison house. That is human here. But if you lose that chance then you're worst culprit.

Pasubi samana āhāra, nidrā, bhaya, maithuna ca saman _____ [?]

This is common. The āhāra, to eat. Nidrā, sleep. Āhāra, nidrā. Bhaya, fear. And maithuna, to produce child. This is common of human beings and animals, all. But, dharma hete sami kovi sesa [?]

One thing is speciality in them that they can find out the religious life, what is not found in the animal kingdom, or vegetable kingdom. This is āhāra, nidrā, bhaya, maithuna ca saman _____ [?]
dharma hete sami kovi sesa _____ [?] But their religious consideration minus human beings they're all animals. Animality and rationality. If rationality fails to accept the higher call then they're all so-called animals. So sudurllabhā, but valuable that only in human position they can have the chance of enquiring into truth, which in other sections we do not find. So it is valuable.

Just as when a party is playing football, when the ball went just near the goal, but if it missed the chance then there's much disturbance. "O, coming near the goal, goal was not given." So repentance.

So when moving through eighty four lākhs of species one has come just near the goal, human form, from where he can contact with the divine agent and the śāstra and can work out his salvation, if he misses that chance then it's a great loss. We're to mourn. In that sense if we kill a human being we commit more offence, than killing an animal or a vegetable. Why? It is nearer the goal, valuable. But if he returns from there we repent. But for the goal, the valuation is there. Otherwise nothing. If coming near the goal, it again comes to the broad field, wide field, the vegetable and the animal, then that is useless, no value. But you can catch that, then it is valuable.

The fossilism, when we accept the philosophy of fossilism, everything has come from, developed from the fossil, no God. Then the highest section is human beings, and everything meant for them. But they're the product of the fossil, that is the old material world is evolving, and the human race that is the most advanced stage of the development of the fossil. So they may think that 'we're the lord of the whole, and everything meant for us.' That is pure atheism.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Ha, ha. Nationality, humanity, no number of farce can make the infinite. No number of finite can make infinite. Infinite is - is the difference - finite and infinite is fundamental. No number of finite can make infinite. Infinite is not the sum total of finites. Just as one is not the sum total of innumerable zeros. Innumerable zeros, that cannot produce one. So innumerable finites cannot produce infinite, it is something else.

[Śrī Īśopaniṣad - Invocation]

You take infinite from infinite, the remainder is infinite. Can you conceive? Present mathematicians also admit this, and this is from Veda, Upaniṣad. Pūrṇasya pūrṇam ādāya, pūrṇam evāvaśiṣyate. We can understand only from the example of the zero. Zero plus zero, zero minus zero, zero into zero, everything is zero. Such is the nature of infinite.

And the Lord is such, He says, "That infinite is My bed, that Ananta Śeṣa. I lie down on infinite. So infinite won't do."

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So you are deceiving you _____ [?] You are committing suicide, so you should cry. If you come to proper sense you should cry.

"That what have I done for me, and for others also? Nothing. I'm marching towards negative side, undesirable side. All my energy I'm engaging only for the loss of myself, and also the environment. Suicidal march, we're all engaged in a suicidal march. Whatever we're doing that is pernicious to me, as well as to the environment. So I should cry for that, repent."

That should be the normal tendency of the world. We should repent for our past deeds.

"What have I done to help my own soul, or for the outside world? Are they flesh and blood, or the soul living inside? Who is the party? The inner soul, he's the party, his benefit, who is the beneficiary? Beneficiary is the soul, but we have taken the flesh and blood, and the mental system beneficiary, at the cost of the soul's interest. So opposite direction we're marching. So we come to senses, then we must cry, repent. What have I done so far?"

A sane man he must cry, he should cry, what he has done, for him or for others. Just the opposite. So read and cry.

When Mahāprabhu showed, when He came back from Gayā - before that He was talking with this, that scholarly conversation, this, that, came from Gayā. He once met Gadādhara Paṇḍita. Gadādhara Paṇḍita's very sober, meek, gentle, from childhood, and religious minded.

"Gadādhara. My life has been spoiled so long. My past days I have spoiled Gadādhara. You are very happy. You are so good. From the very childhood you are religious minded. But what have I done? I have talked, discussion with the scholars, and I could boast that I'm a big scholar. Talking with them I've spoiled My time so long I'm lost. But you Gadādhara from very childhood you were utilising your time. You're religious minded from the very beginning." Mahāprabhu says for us. "I've spoiled My whole time." And He's crying. "What have I done?"

So read and cry. Then we can see that now He's come to His senses. He's crying, He has come to His senses. He's repenting His past life. Now He's normal, crying He's normal. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

The highest quarter where Kṛṣṇa līlā is found, that is found in human form. And from that this human section has been created. So you human section you're very fortunate that in imitation of the highest līlā you have been created. The original is in this form, Vṛndāvana līlā, in human form, and human society. That is the highest, and you have come here, that perverted reflection, so you are fortunate. Kṛṣṇera yateka khelā, sarvottama nara-līlā. Braja līlā, the highest quarter, that is in human society not God society. So human society can feel pride, feel themselves proud that they're after that highest pastimes of the Supreme Entity. That is the meaning.
And not that all human forms are more than Gods. 'And if we serve them, we satisfy their senses, then we'll be taken to the highest quarter.' What is that? Is this the highest quarter? 'I'm here, and how I'm happy, we know ourselves. So the human position is the highest position. If we serve the humanity we do the best utility of our energy we're there.' So no other further, higher region to live, to aspire after? What is this? This is suicidal argument, to serve humanity. 'I'm also human, this is the highest stage, I'm there. Then after serving human beings, what more development I shall have? This is the limit.' What is this? Ke?

Devotee: _____ [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: _____ [?] When Karṇa had insulted Yudhiṣṭhira in the battle of Kurukṣetra, Yudhiṣṭhira came back from the battlefield. Afterwards Arjuna came with Kṛṣṇa.

Then Yudhiṣṭhira told Arjuna that, "Your Gāṇḍīva is useless. You are proud of your possession of this Gāṇḍīva, and you were there, and Karṇa has insulted me. Where were you with Gāṇḍīva? Don't speak so high of your Gāṇḍīva, it does not sound well."

But Arjuna had some previous promise that, "Whoever will talk ill of my Gāṇḍīva, insult my Gāṇḍīva, I shall behead him." And Arjuna remembered that promise. "That I have a promise, whoever will blame my Gāṇḍīva I must behead him. With this honour, this commitment to Gāṇḍīva I have got that." So Arjuna, to fulfil his promise he was going to draw his sword to behead Yudhiṣṭhira.

Kṛṣṇa was there. "What do you do My friend? You are going to keep your promise, to behead your elder brother, to keep your promise? You fool, how many promises have you made previously? Did you not promise previously that you'll make your elder brother the emperor of India? Did you not promise this? What about that promise? Eh? And you're going to carry out this promise? So what to do? To keep that promise, or keep this promise? And so many other promises also you've made. What to do, you like at present?"

Then Arjuna was puzzled. "Then what to do? I have made promise. What can I do?"

"Eight types of death there is. One of them is to admire ones own self. Do that. That is a kind of death. Do that, admire your self, your qualities, qualification. And that is like a death to a gentleman, to admire his own self. Do that sort."

Then Arjuna began that, and that was released from the...

This type of direction from Kṛṣṇa, not this material law abiding, the promise. The spirit, the purport, is more valuable than the form. The spirit is more valuable than the form. That should be kept in mind always. Sometimes we _____ [?] we sacrifice ourselves on the altar of form, neglecting the spirit, that is misguidance.

[śreyān sva-dharmo viguṇaḥ, para-dharmāt svanuṣṭhitāt]
sva dharme nidhanaṁ śreyaḥ, para-dharmo bhayāvahaḥ

["It is better to carry out one's own duties a little imperfectly rather than faultlessly perform another's duties. Know that even death is auspicious in the discharge of one's duties appropriate to his natural position in the ordained socio-religious system, because to pursue another's path is perilous."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 3.35]

"Yes, where you are, do the needful of the immediate call. That is good. But,"

sarva-dharmān parityajya, mām ekaṁ śaraṇaṁ [vraja
ahaṁ tvāṁ sarva-pāpebhyo, mokṣayiṣyāmi mā śucaḥ]

["Totally abandoning all kinds of religion, surrender exclusively unto Me. I will liberate you from all kinds of sins, so do not despair."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 18.66]

"That is temporary. But universal call is there on your head. Give up every, all sorts of duties and try to come, march towards Me. That is the main guidance, main direction. Give up everything and come to Me. And because you may not go down, so to maintain your position it is said, sva dharme nidhanaṁ śreyaḥ. To keep your stand at the cost of your life, don't go back. This is for that purpose."

And march towards the Absolute, that is universal call. So all sorts of so-called sacred duties we must give up when we'll march towards the Absolute Truth. Everything For Himself. Not for me, not for my wife, or children, or father, or my nation, or this human section, or the god's section. None, but for that one Absolute. Everything For Him. That is the truth. And every part will come to be Absolute. And, "O, come to serve me. Everyone. The nation will say, the country will say, the religious section will say, come to serve me." Not that. Only one to be served. And what is that thing? That is to be found out.

And Mahāprabhu says that, "That is love, affection, beauty, harmony. Neither power, nor knowledge, nor justice."

We're to discriminate here. What is the conception of the Absolute? What is the urgent tendency of our inner self? What is the real need of my inner self? We're to examine, we're to analyse, we're to ascertain that. Inner hankering. All hankering is satisfied.

bhidyate hṛdaya-granthiś, chidyante sarva-saṁśayāḥ
kṣīyante cāsya karmāṇi, mayi dṛṣṭe 'khilātmani

["The knot in the heart is pierced, all misgivings are cut to pieces and the chain of fruitive actions is terminated when I am seen as the Supreme Personality of Godhead."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.20.30]

When we come in contact with that plane, then we find wonderfully these things. Bhidyate hṛdaya- granthiś. From long, long time, the real heart is sealed by the external ego outside. And internal ego has been covered. There is a seal, the seal is broken, and the natural flow from within the heart comes out, and runs towards his own elementary existence. Chidyante sarva-saṁśayāḥ. It is so natural, flow is going towards the centre of that plane, that no doubt has got any room to come there. It is automatically proved. No suspicion, no doubt, they all disappear. The natural flow of the inner heart is going towards his own elementary source. Then all doubts and suspicions they fly away, no trace, sarva-saṁśayāḥ. And kṣīyante cāsya karmāṇi. The tendencies of our past duties, the reaction, they also evaporate, if you come in connection with the Absolute, Śrīmad Bhāgavata says. You are one, a drop of water when it comes in contact with the ocean, one, something. The inner feeling of the ecstasy meets the ocean of ecstatic joy, one, natural. No proof, no evidence is necessary, it is automatic. He's his own.

Hṛdaye nābhya nujñāto. In Manu-saṁhitā [2.1] Manu says, "What is dharma, you will get your approval from your inner heart. That is one of the symptoms." Vidvadbhiḥ sevitaḥ. Manu says the definition about dharma, what is religion. Vidvadbhiḥ sevitaḥ, veda-vidbhiḥ. Which is approved by the revealed scriptural scholars, not these mundane scholars of the empirical world, but the scholars of the revealed scriptures. They must approve. Here all mundane, all in doubts and falsehood. But independent of falsehood, doubt, there is a standard world, and they can extend the true, proper knowledge here. And who are experts in that knowledge which is over suspicion and over limitation, scholars who are expert of that, there must come approval from that. That is revealed religion, one symptom. Vidvadbhiḥ sevitaḥ. Sadbhir. And who has got their practical life, not only theoretical scholarship about the Vedic scripture. But their real practical life they're leading according to the scriptural rules, approved by them, sevitaḥ sadbhir. How, what sort of sādhu, saint? Nityam adveṣa-rāgibhiḥ. Who have got no aspiration, neither hatred, for the worldly things, adveṣa-rāgi. Neither hankering for the material achievement, nor apathy, abhorrence for the environment. Such who are in balance, such saints must have approval. Adveṣa-rāgibhiḥ. And hṛdayenābhyanujñāto, and the last symptom, that your inner heart will approve. "Ah. I'm searching such things." So you are the real test, your heart is the real test to give judgement that whether it is good or bad. This is dharma."

vidvadbhiḥ sevitaḥ sadbhir, nityam adveṣa-rāgibhiḥ
hṛdayenābhyanujñāto, yo dharmas taṁ nibhodhata
[Manu-saṁhitā, 2.1]

"The religion of such characteristics, such symptoms, I'm going to say to you." In this way Manu begins his religious book Manu-saṁhitā. "In our heart's approval, that seal of the present ahaṅkāra, ego, that will be broken, and the inner flow will come and he'll select his own plane and mix. Then all suspicions will be removed. And then all the debts in the form of prejudice, previous karma, that were trying to draw their own plane, they'll also evaporate, disappear."

If you come to connect yourself with Kṛṣṇa consciousness, Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam says, the Kṛṣṇa consciousness is such, if you come to approach it to certain extent then you'll find this change within you. A natural progress you'll be able to feel, not any artificial progress, all clear on all sides, your march.

Here I close. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol.

yadi gaura nā hoita, tabe ki hoita, kemone dharitām de [rādhāra mahimā, prema-rasa-sīmā jagate jānāta ke madhura vṛndā vipina mādhurī praveśa cāturī sāra baraja yuvatī bhāvera bhakati śakati hoita kāra]

Vasu Ghosh says, "If Gaurāṅga did not appear in this world then how could we live? Who could give us such high type of nectar? Prema-rasa-sīmā. The acme of the divine love. And rādhāra mahimā. And what is the magnanimity, magnanimous position of Rādhārāṇī? How Her sacrifice is the highest? That type of sacrifice, that sweet sacrifice can bring up such sweetness. As much as we can sacrifice, so much sweetness we can get in return. How sweet. All these things, who used to know, to bring to our door, if Gaurāṅga did not appear? Then how could we maintain our life, how could we live? That is worth living, otherwise life is worth nothing, it is zero. Gaurāṅga has taken to our door that life is worth living, it has got such great prospect, such sweet prospect. It is Gaurāṅga Who has taken to our door. Otherwise how could we live? This is my ancestral property and I was dispossessed of that so long. And Gaurāṅga even took it to us, this property, our inner property. Who is He? What sort of friend is He to us, all mankind and animation?"

So Kṛṣṇa Himself has come as the preacher, of Him. He has come to canvass Himself. Ha, ha. Kṛṣṇa has come, Kṛṣṇa and Rādhārāṇī combined has come here to canvass Themselves for the good of the people. What are They, how generous and benevolent? Gaura Hari kī jaya!

Vidagdha Mādhava: Jaya Oṁ Viṣṇu-Pāda Paramahaṁsa Parivrājakācārya Aṣṭottara-śata Śrī Śrīmad His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī kī jaya!

Devotees: Jaya!

...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ... Bhīma and Hanumān. Madhvācārya himself said that, "Rāmacandra, Hanumān. Kṛṣṇa, Bhīma, and Vyāsa and Madhva." Their sampradāya in that way, Madhvācārya is incarnation of Hanumān and Bhīma.

His physical force was also very, very great. It is written that one piece of big stone, what twenty persons could not move, he only with his left hand removed that stone, replaced from one place to another. Such physical strength he had. _____ [?] he's supposed to be the most strong amongst the gods.

So Madhvācārya he took sannyāsa from one māyāvādī disciple of Śaṅkarācārya, Acyutaprakāśa. But his inner tendency was from his childhood towards Vaiṣṇavism. He went to meet Vyāsadeva. Vyāsadeva of course living for the whole age, seven or more there are, one is Vyāsa. And anyhow he could meet Vyāsadeva in Badarikāśrama. Just above Badarikāśrama that Vyāsa kṣetra sannyāsa place. And when he came back from there he declared war against Śaṅkara philosophy. First he converted his sannyāsa Guru, Acyutaprakāśa. His sannyāsa Guru was converted by him, and his name was given as Padmanābha. And next, many scholars of the time were converted by him. He started one Brahmā sampradāya. By the name of Brahmā sampradāya he started his new line of thought, mainly opposing Śaṅkara.

So 'ham. Śaṅkara says, "Brahman and jīva are one and the same."

"No, this is two, different. _____ [?]

The principles have been depicted in such śloka, Madhvācārya. And preached very vigorously against Śaṅkara, especially in the south. Their favourite place of pilgrimage was Gayā.

And Īśvara Purī, Mādhavendra Purī, they took sannyāsa from that - came in connection with Madhva sampradāya. And from there Mādhavendra Purī, Īśvara Purī. From Mādhavendra Purī the initiation of Īśvara Purī, who is the spiritual guide which Mahāprabhu has accepted, and Nityānanda and Advaita. All These three, Īśvara Purī, Nityānanda Prabhu, and Advaita Prabhu, They're disciples of Mādhavendra Purī. And Mahāprabhu took initiation from Īśvara Purī. In this way, formally, the Gauḍīya sampradāya is emanating from Madhva sampradāya.

But Mahāprabhu's sampradāya has got some speciality. What was first felt from Mādhavendra Purī it could be traced, premankur, the prema pradhan. In the Madhva sampradāya, prema, that divine love is not given the highest position, so considerable position. But from Mādhavendra Purī we find that the love of Vṛndāvana, that has been given the supreme position in the sampradāya, line. And from there Īśvara Purī, and from there Mahāprabhu, Advaita Prabhu and others, and They began to preach about Kṛṣṇa conception, Vraja līlā. So Gauḍīya sampradāya is branching from Madhva sampradāya.

Formerly four sampradāyas, Śrī, Brahmā, Rudra, Sanaka. Śrī sampradāya Rāmānuja. Brahmā Madhvācārya, and Nimbarka sampradāya Catuḥsana, and Rudra sampradāya Viṣṇusvāmī. Śrīdhara Swāmī's _____ [?] comes from Rudra sampradāya. So Mahādeva, Lakṣmī Devī, Brahmā, and Catuḥsana. The original flow of four types of devotion coming from them. And in this middle age _____[?] Madhvācārya, Viṣṇusvāmī, Nimbarka and Rāmānuja.

But the Gauḍīya sampradāya has its speciality begun from Mādhavendra Purī and culminating in Mahāprabhu. And Mahāprabhu's feeling and sentiments have been fully expressed by the Six Goswāmīs, Rūpa, Sanātana, Jīva, etc. And we find that in that position by the Ṣaḍ Goswāmīs.

Their special value is that hitherto Kṛṣṇa līlā would have been considered that Kṛṣṇa is there, the God, Kṛṣṇa, a part of Nārāyaṇa He came in Vṛndāvana and showed His līlā with the human beings, to grace them. And it is one of the lines by which we can go to Nārāyaṇa.

But the Goswāmīs, according to the instructions of Mahāprabhu, they showed from Bhāgavata and other scriptures that Kṛṣṇa līlā is the supreme and it is on the highest position, and it is eternal, and it comes down. And Nārāyaṇaloka, that of Nārāyaṇa it is lower than this Vraja, Vṛndāvana. This all has been distributed by the Goswāmīs, followers of Mahāprabhu, according to His Own instructions.

So anyhow Madhvācārya, our respective Ācārya, we give respect to him from a little distance.

Because we find also in him that he told the outer side that, "The gopīs were prostitutes of the heaven. And they came in connection of Kṛṣṇa and their life was fulfilled."

Not that in the original they hold the highest position - not. Not human beings getting grace of Kṛṣṇa for the time being, in the beginning. They're eternally there in the līlā.

esab gosai jana braja karila vasa rādhā-kṛṣṇa nitya līlā koiliya prakāśa.

Their speciality was to clear, to show clearly that it is not a by-product in the course of time of Bhāgavata līlā, but it is the most original position they hold. And that has graciously come down here. We're to see in this way, the most original thing, not outcome, not product of any other divine pastimes, but this is the original. And how, why? In such way they proved it by the process, by the analysis of the rasa, the ecstasy, the ānandam, the joy. That is the most plenary substance in the world is joy. And by scientifically analysing the different types, and positions, and qualities of joy, they proved that it cannot but be that Kṛṣṇa līlā holds the highest position.

Gaura Hari bol. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol.

83.10.18.A_83.10.20.A

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...in the shape or some force it may come to the tongue and dance, in the form of sound. So there is distinction between nāmāparādha, offence against Name, and the Name proper. And in the middle nāmābhāsa also. We're to differentiate and to go on.

In the process in the formal we must begin from the big and go forward towards small. And when we come to the finish we shall again return from the small towards the big. Between big and small there's one giant bead, that is known as Sumeru, that must not be crossed.

And we must put in the bag and take the Name. This [index] finger should not touch the beads when we're counting, so this should be outside, and with the help of the thumb and the middle finger we shall count in this way.

At least, as Swāmī Mahārāja has recommended, sixteen rounds we shall try finish every day. If any special case of uneasiness, or too much engagement in the service, then at least four times we must take. We should not keep the mālikā fasting. This is the food of the mālikā. We shall think like that.

Now, this sound, this Name is found in Kali-santaraṇa Upaniṣad, which is the highest portion of the Veda, considered to be Upaniṣad. And also we find in Agni-Purāṇa, Brahmāṇḍa-Purāṇa these lines. And this has been also recommended in the general almanac of sanātana-dharma as purifying in the main, purifying the main ages, in Kali age. Kalau brahmanah kali yuga, every age has got its own kalau brahmanah. In Satya-yuga, nārāyana parāvedāḥ nārāyana parākṣarā, nārāyana parāmukti nārāyana parāgatiḥ

["O Nārāyaṇa, the Supreme Personality of Universal Truth, origin and worshippable object of all divine knowledge. O Nārāyaṇa, the fundamental, causal cosmic potency which is by nature unlimited, all pervading and omnipotent, that validates, maintains and sustains the whole universe. O Nārāyaṇa, the bestower of pure liberation, attained by achieving an eternal devotional relationship with You. O Nārāyaṇa, You the supreme ambrosial goal and shelter of life."] [Śrī Bhakti Rakṣaka Bhajana Madhuri, p 16-17]

This meant for Satya-yuga. In Tretā, rāma-nārāyanānanta-mukunda-madhusūdanaḥ, kṛṣṇa-keśava-kaṁsāri-hare-vaikuṇṭha-vamanā

["O Rāma, the splendid ocean of divine pleasure and enchanter of the heart. O Nārāyaṇa, the shelter of the universe and all life. O Ananta, the unlimited omnipotent reality. O Mukunda, the giver of pure liberation and perfection. O Madhusūdana, destroyer of the demon Madhu, the embodiment of all demonic forces and elements. O Kṛṣṇa, Keśava, all attractive personality of divine ambrosial beauty and ecstasy. O Kaṁsari, destroyer of Kaṁsa, the embodiment of sinister powers. O Hari, who takes away the devotees' hearts with His unparalleled superb super excellent attractiveness, unique loveliness, beauty and glory. O Vaikuṇṭha, the supreme reality, transcendental to all limits and doubts, invulnerability and unsteadiness. O Vāmana, possessor of unlimited range of ability. I worship You with all devotion, may You compassionately embrace me in Your shelter."] [Śrī Bhakti Rakṣaka Bhajana Madhuri, p 17]

For Dvāpara-yuga, the third, harer-murārenadhu-kaitabhāre-gopāla-govinda-mukunda-śaure yajñeśa-nārāyaṇa-kṛṣṇa-viṣṇu nirāṣrayaṁ māṁ jagadīsa rakṣa

["O Hari, captivator of heart by Your unique divine loveliness, beauty and glory. O Murārī Madhu Kaitavari, the destroyer of Mura, Madhu and Kaitava who represent demoniac consciousness of different patterns, inauspiciousness and evil. O Gopāla, the protector, nurturer and maintainer of the universal creation. O Govinda, giver of delight to the heart and senses. O Mukunda, giver of blissful liberation. O Śaure, the supreme almighty. O Yajñeśa, the exclusively worshippable object of all auspicious spiritual sacrifices and devotional endeavours. O Nārāyaṇa, the eternal shelter of the universe and all life. O Kṛṣṇa, the all attractive reservoir of pleasure and ecstasy. O Viṣṇu, the all pervading supreme personality. The preserver and maintainer of the whole creation. O Jagadīśa, the supreme creator, controller and enjoyer of the entire universe. I have no other shelter but You. Please protect me, maintain and nurture me in the ambrosial embrace of Your shelter."] [Śrī Bhakti Rakṣaka Bhajana Madhuri, p 17]

And for Kali, especially,

Hare Kṛṣṇa, Hare Kṛṣṇa, Kṛṣṇa Kṛṣṇa, Hare Hare. Hare Rāma, Hare Rāma, Rāma Rāma, Hare Hare.

Only address and no petition, 'I want this or that,' nothing, only main address. He will, 'I want to go nearby, or I want to invite Him towards me. And whatever is to be done He will do of His own accord.' That is the underlying purpose. So only the vocative case, address, Hare Kṛṣṇa, all.

Now, there are ten kinds of offences which are generally connected against the Vaikuṇṭha Name, transcendental Name. The Name, the meaning, and the sound, no different in Vaikuṇṭha. And here of course the sound and the object of the sound is different.

So when we shall take the Name, the first thing we're to reckon that, satam ninda namnah paramam aparadham vitanute. The first great offence is to abuse the devotees, the agents that are sent by the Supreme to uplift me. And if I blame them, abuse them, the Name is dissatisfied. The object of taking Name, to satisfy Him, that He may be gracious with me and deal me favourably and gradually attract me towards His service, Name, and the purpose of the Name, one and the same. Kṛṣṇa means Kṛṣṇa Himself. So in this way that satam ninda, if we blame the sādhus, the agents that are, yatah khyatim kathamu sahate tad-vigaraham, who have come here to chant the greatness, nobility of the Name, and I'm abusing them, committing suicide. So the Name is dissatisfied. We must not put blame to any sādhu who are devotees of this Nāma bhajana. At this time we're to understand that the worshippers of other demigods, they're not reckoned as sādhu. Satam ninda only Viṣṇu bhakta, Kṛṣṇa bhakta, because that is the universal truth, others are partial representation. So the sādhu only are those that are in Nārāyaṇa consciousness, or Kṛṣṇa consciousness, Vaikuṇṭha, transcendental mentality, they're sādhu. And we must not abuse them.

The second, śāstra ninda [fourth offence], to blame the scriptures, there also those scriptures that express to us, reveal to us Kṛṣṇa consciousness, Nārāyaṇa consciousness. Not other demigod consciousness, those scriptures are only meant for some purpose. Gradually they may be allowed to accustom in worshipping demigod, then they'll be given instalment for the further progress. In this way they've been provided in the śāstra for the lower classes.

Then the third is not to think the Gurudeva as mundane person. Though he may be seen with so many symptoms, eating, then sleeping, so many things common seen with other mortal animals. Still, he should not be considered. Because, if I'm true in my search of Kṛṣṇa, that Kṛṣṇa is there, He's also coming near to me to connect and help me. So if I'm sincere in my search, Kṛṣṇa is also approaching to respond. So there we should see His representation, the agent of Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa has sent him to deliver us, to guide us towards Him. In this way the Gurudeva should be seen as a representative of Kṛṣṇa. Not less.

Then, fourth, is not to blame the other demigods like Śiva, devotees and other śakti. We should be indifferent to them, and should not put blame, or should praise, neither, indifferent. Should not be very much busy to blame other gods in this way. My temperament should be I'm after the fulfilment of my own aim, no time to disturb others. Only in the positive direction I shall go. But when preaching is necessary that we should come to give the comparative study, then of course impartially we should say what is dealt in the śāstra.

Then fifth is the namni arthavada. We should not go to consult dictionary what is the meaning of the Name. Kṛṣṇa, Rāma, or Hari, what does dictionary, the root meaning, derivative meaning, no. If we can analyse everything scrutinizingly, the source of all potency is the main centre, Kṛṣṇa. Every potency has its source in Kṛṣṇa, starting from there. So all words, all meanings, in its fullest extent cannot but mean Kṛṣṇa, the main centre, where from all waves are getting birth. So ordinary dictionary meaning we should not hunt for.

Then sixth, nama bali aparādha. We should not try to compare the purity and efficacy of the Name with any other forms of worship, or holy activities.

'O, you are taking Name, it's well and good. But at the same time if one chants the scripture that is also good. If anyone makes gift to the poor, or to the sādhu, that is also good. Any pilgrimage to holy places, that is also good. Making penances, that is also good. All good.'

Not that way. There's no comparison of any auspicious activity with taking the Name. It is considered the foremost, this Hari-Nāma. No other functions, no other process of sādhana can be compared to this Nāma bhajana, direct sound transaction. That is the most subtle, does not depend on anything, not only sound which is one with Him, same with Him, but it is the highest form. But only this aparādha, offences should be eliminated.

We should not think that this Name is to purify, to cleanse me. 'I shall go on committing offence and take Name and Name will purify me.' This sort of trading, trade mentality, must not be there. That will be offensive. 'The Name is only to purify me like my servant. I shall go on doing such things that will make me dirty, and I shall take the Name and Name will purify me.' With this mentality if we take Name it is offence, and not the proper method of taking the Name.

Then, asraddha namni nama dhana. To give, to confer the Name to anyone and everyone without considering his position, his śraddhā, how much faithful he is, confidence he's got in the Name. Without considering, if I'm very eager to make disciple and give, distribute this Name to anyone and everyone, then knowing fully well that they're not fit for, then it will be committing offences against the Name.

Then the ninth [tenth offence] is if we make too much of any particular attraction, pull down, in any particular material achievement, and we go to take the Name it commits a sort of aparādha, because my mind is centred there only. Just as if a ship has got anchor, and rowing also at the starting, but it will move round the anchor. The anchor must be taken out, and then the ship should be allowed to go, and it will go to the destination. So if any particular attachment that should be uprooted. And we should allow the Name to take me wherever it likes to take me. Not so much prejudice that 'I won't budge and inch from my position.' With this determination then it will commit offences and not real Name.

And the last point is we must be with friendly relation with the Name. The Name will take me wherever it will, but that is that I'm going to my friend. This sort of internal conception I must have within. Back to God, back to home. A very sweet place, and my own inner satisfactions quest, I'm going there. The Name will take me to that place. Not only towards the place of absolute power and strict law that I may not find that very pleasant, it is not. It is friendly, it is very sweet, it is my home. Back to home I'm going. This Name will take me there. These are the ten kinds of aparādha we shall note.

[Padma-Purāṇa, Brahma-Khanda, 25.15-18, 22-23] & [Gauḍīya Kaṇṭhahāra, 17.69-75]

And nāmābhāsa also. Sānketyaṁ, parihāsya, stobha, helanam, four classes. And that can give us emancipation, liberation from this mundane bondage, but cannot give positive thing, Kṛṣṇa consciousness.

That is nāmābhāsa, sānketya, we begin one thing and are reminded of another thing. I may go to take the name of a person whose name is Kṛṣṇa, but my mind is attracted by the name, by Kṛṣṇa Himself. That is nāmābhāsa, may be nāmābhāsa. But no object of service, serving attitude, so it is ābhasa. It may effect liberation but thereby we cannot get the eternal service there of Kṛṣṇa.

Parihāsya. In a joke. 'O, you're taking Kṛṣṇa Kṛṣṇa. Very nice. You have become a very good devotee I see.' So in this way joking, in ridiculing temperament also one takes the Name of Kṛṣṇa, nāmābhāsa may come. 'It will come' there is no guarantee, but may come. But that can give only liberation and not the positive achievement.

Then third, stobha. Sometimes we use as symbol. When we're perhaps playing on the mṛdanga and 'Gaura-Nitāi, Gaura-Nitāi. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa,' we use as a sound symbol. Not regular Name taking from the Gurudeva and with that attention to go on taking Name. But only a chance coincidence while taking the Name as a symbol he's using. That may sometimes be the cause of our liberation, but not permanent attainment of the service.

Helanam. Sometimes neglectfully we may take the Name of the Lord, very neglectfully, even contemptibly. 'Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. You have become a very great devotee. Hare Kṛṣṇa will give you food. Hare Kṛṣṇa will give you clothing. Hare Kṛṣṇa, what it will do? Hare Kṛṣṇa.' In this way pronouncing the Name, still nāmābhāsa may come and give him, not always, but even it may come, nāmābhāsa.

So these four kinds of nāmābhāsa. Avoiding them with the object and earnestness of serving Kṛṣṇa and His devotees, with this temperament we shall go on taking the Name.

That is the positive direction we should try to follow, that we shall want the service. Service is not labour - labour of love. It is paying, the service is paying. And what will be the remuneration, the paying? That is love. They take, and the remuneration will be given to us in terms of love, so we shall make progress towards. So in this way we're to take Name.

Now, the dīkṣā. Dīkṣā will be _____ [?] One by one you'll come there, it will be private...

Vidagdha Mādhava: ...should not be spoken unless it's pleasing.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Not harsh truth. One should not be eager to speak the harsh truth to pain others.

Vidagdha Mādhava: That will cause pain.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja:

Satyam briyat priyam briyat, ma briyat satyam apriyam [?]
[Priyam ca namritam briyat, tesa dharmasya sanatana [?]

Which is not pleasing, such rough truth we won't be eager to force others to listen, something.

Vidagdha Mādhava: Yes. But...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ha, ha. Priyam ca namritam briyat. At the same time, whatever pleasing he'll speak that, that is also barred. No. Hitam manohari ca durlabha manava ca [?] True and pleasing, your aim should be always in this, that your manner to speak truth should always be pleasing. So Mahāprabhu says,

tṛṇād api sunīcena, taror api sahiṣṇunā / amāninā mānadena, kīrtanīyaḥ sadā hariḥ

["One who is humbler than a blade of grass, more forbearing than a tree, who gives due honour to others without desiring it for himself is qualified to always chant the Holy Name of Kṛṣṇa."] [Śikṣāṣṭakam, 3]

Your attitude to preach Kṛṣṇa devotion, Kṛṣṇa consciousness, must be very modest, honest, sincere...

Vidagdha Mādhava: I see. There are different ways of presenting the same.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Not like the Mohammedans, the sword in one hand, Koran in another hand. "Either accept or I shall behead." Not that policy accepted by the Vedas, or Mahāprabhu, Bhāgavatam. That does not stay for long, that forcing preaching, forceful preaching, that has got its reaction. Ha, ha. But soothing preaching, peaceful preaching, that will bring victory in the end. That will stay for long time. So clever preaching also not very recommended, by tactful preaching. That's got some effect but not permanent effect.

Vidagdha Mādhava: Tactful preaching - not recommended?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Tactful preaching.

Vidagdha Mādhava: Is recommended?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: May be accepted to certain extent. But in general, tactfully, real acceptance is necessary, heart's acceptance, inner heart's approval. But tact does not reach into the heart. It can play jugglery with the intellect. _____ ke? Ranga Devī?

Devotee: Ranga Devī.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ranga Devī, and Śyāmānanda. None else?

Devotees: Bon Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Bon Mahārāja. Heart should be conquered. Tact, diplomacy, cannot be successful to conquer anyone's heart.

Vidagdha Mādhava: Another question Guru Mahārāja. Ethical practice, if one does not practice...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Diplomacy can meet diplomacy. Diplomatic aspect may be defeated by another diplomatic aspect. Anything which is meant for the good, that will fetch some value in goodness.

[pārtha naiveha nāmutra, vināśas tasya vidyate] na hi kalyāṇa-kṛt kaścid, durgatiṁ tāta gacchati

["O Arjuna, son of Kuntī, the unsuccessful yogī does not suffer ruination either in this life or the next. He is not deprived of the pleasures of the heavenly planetary systems in this universe, nor is he denied the chance to personally see the Supersoul in the divine realm. This is so, O dear one, because a person who performs virtuous actions never becomes ill-fated."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 6.40]

Any sincere attempt cannot have any bad reaction. Sincere. So sometimes punishment also brings something. Mother sometimes punishes her child, but the affection in the back, that will also fetch something, but not so much.

Gandhi explained that why he came to take that ahiṁsā, non violence. He told that in his young age he was a very naughty child. And he used to take this smoking habit, and so many others, perhaps liquor also. And his father was a good soul, he used to chastise him for that. Then one night he came late. Father called him, he was just on the bed. He came late and went to meet his father.

Then father sat down in his bed and asked, "Why are you so late? Did you go to that club? And have your taken wine, or smoking, all these things?"

"Yes, I did."

Then other days he used to rebuke him, and also sometimes gave him punishment. But that day his father he sat on his bed, and out of despair, hopelessly cried for some time.

"I tried so much for your correction, but I failed, O Lord."

So did not say anything, again after crying he laid down on the bed.

The reaction came in the mind of Gandhi. "Father rebuked me other days so much. But today only he cried. And out of disappointment he took his bed. Did not utter a single harsh word to me, only simply cried and cried. But that came to me as reaction and I left that bad habit. And from there I could gather that non violence has got more power than violence. His violent treatment could not cure me, but his non violent attitude impressed me so much that I could give up my bad habits. From that day what wonderful strength there may be in non violence began to grow in my mind.

Then one day in England in a hotel, "then I promised that I won't" - when there was a proposal of going to England to be barrister, then in a hostel they lived. And he was pledged to, before going, his father or mother, anyone, he won't touch any more wine or any meat.

"If you promise then I shall help you to go to England for study."

He promised and he was doing accordingly. But one day in the company of his friends, perhaps in a feast or for some purpose, he was going to take wine and meat, all arrangements he was going to take. Suddenly his mother's request came to his mind.

"O. I promised to her I won't touch, and I'm going to." And he suddenly gave a jump from the position.

His friends were surprised. "What is this? You were just going to take the food and you jumped up."

"Yes. Something came to my mind suddenly. My mother's tearful face.

"Don't touch all these things, then I shall allow you to go to London."

"It came to my mind my friends. Forgive me, I won't touch them."

Vidagdha Mādhava: Guru Mahārāja. If one is not truthful, practically practising that quality, that virtue of truth...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Truth is not law, truth is person, and He's free, He's autocrat. That is in Kṛṣṇa conception. And in Rāmacandra we find more law abiding, truth is law. Kṛṣṇa says truth is not law. The highest truth is person, and He's free. Personal conception of truth, not abstract law. They're all subordinate. The highest truth is person, and He's sweet, He's love, and He's free, autocrat. That conception of truth given in Kṛṣṇa. So generally we think truth that is justice, that is law, that is given by the scripture, or sanctioned by the society, all these things. But highest truth is personal.

Vidagdha Mādhava: If, an example...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Sat, cit, ānanda. So Yudhiṣṭhira wanted to abide this law truth. But Kṛṣṇa asked, "No. You cross, you say lie. Because the object for you are lying that is more noble than this man made law abiding." Follow?

Vidagdha Mādhava: Yes. I do follow.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No, no. You'll ask the same question again. Ha, ha.

Vidagdha Mādhava: Well, ha, ha, ha... the siddhānta I understand. But Yudhiṣṭhira he's practising before Kṛṣṇa's saying that he's practising something...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Kṛṣṇa is stealing and He's speaking lie to mother. "I don't know anything." He's doing something and says "I do not know." What is that, that lie or truth?

Vidagdha Mādhava: That is truth.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: How? Ha, ha, ha, ha.

Vidagdha Mādhava: It is coming from the Personality, the Supreme Person.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The Lord is speaking for Itself. Reality is by Itself and for Itself. Whatever pleases Him that is true. And not a concocted law by a particular group for their local interest. That is not truth. A section is producing truth, law, according to their own local misconceived interest. That is not truth. Which satisfies the highest, that is true, which is in consonance with that. The satisfaction of Kṛṣṇa, that is true. And these are all false, all misconception, thrusting one's own interest into the absolute current. Follow?

Vidagdha Mādhava: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ha, ha. Not so easy. Ke?

Badrinārāyaṇa: _____ [?]

Vidagdha Mādhava: What is conscience?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Conscience, that is the principle of conception, conscience. Vivek, oh, that reason, in conception of reason in different planes, conscience.

Vidagdha Mādhava: That has nothing to do with Paramātmā?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Paramātmā in higher position, Paramātmā dictation. In the misconceived contest, I shall do this or that, you may ask your conscience.

Vidagdha Mādhava: How does one remove his conscience by misbehaviour? How does one weaken that conscience. In some people it is strong, in some people not strong.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: By opposite education, association, that conscience may be covered.

Vidagdha Mādhava: For misbehaviour?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Misbehaviour also. What is anti towards his real interest, that covers conscience. Ultimately when heart purified we can ultimately recognise that conscience is the dictation of Paramātmā when it reaches that zone. Just as light can help you in any misdeed, in worship also light can help, and in dacoiting also light can help. So according to the zone, according to the field, conscience works.

You are going to commit dacoiting and perhaps for this purpose it is necessary to kill a person. But conscience may say 'You don't kill the person. Only take money, rob money, don't kill." Conscience in that particular field, something.

Or, conscience to see ones self interest to the highest point, conscience may say, "If you don't kill it will go against your highest interest. You'll spoil your whole life, whole campaign. You'll be the evidence, witness, and so many things will come out, your whole life will spoil. Kill him and save yourself.

_____ [?] At every time one should save his own self, so kill him and save yourself."
That also may be conscience.

Vidagdha Mādhava: So, Guru Mahārāja. Can it be said that Yudhiṣṭhira Mahārāja he had a conflict of conscience and Kṛṣṇa gave him the order to lie, but then his conscience from his practice of truthfulness...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Did not allow him to speak the lie.

Vidagdha Mādhava: Yes. So what is that? That is reason faculty...?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So conscience is a relative position. For his own position, perhaps for his own jurisdiction, conscience gave dictation to go against Kṛṣṇa's order, Kṛṣṇa' will. So conscience is not dictation of Paramātmā, of Kṛṣṇa. Differs, according to the plane of our lives, conscience differs, faculty of highest judgement, suggestion. According to our plane of living the conscience varies. Even Yudhiṣṭhira, a devotee, he could not shake off the social influence, or śāstric understanding, could not. Though he knew that Kṛṣṇa is Bhagavān Himself, still.

Gaura Hari bol. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol.
Today our Rasācārya Mahārāja expected, but what should be the time?

Badrinārāyaṇa: We can't say.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: From Vṛndāvana generally one comes in the _____ [?]

Badrinārāyaṇa: _____ [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: _____ [?] does not come through Mathurā. Mathurā is the nearest. _____ [?] comes via _____ [?] Previously it was, I do not know the present table.

Badrinārāyaṇa: _____ [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: _____ [?] generally comes through Mathurā. So from Vṛndāvana the nearest position is Mathurā to catch the train. And when that _____ [?] reaches Calcutta?

Badrinārāyaṇa: I don't know.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You're to enquire from Subāla Sakhā, and accordingly this prasāda...

Vidagdha Mādhava: ...mention some of the other ones?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No. It is mentioned in Mahābhārata, such occasion, when Kṛṣṇa was saying from there. Eight kinds death, and one is to admire ones own good attributes.

"You accept that sort of death Arjuna. And don't go to behead your revered brother Yudhiṣṭhira for this simple cause. He abused your Gāṇḍīva in another spirit, not in a bad motive. And the formal thing you're going to consider, leaving away the spirit of it. What is this?"

Arjuna's conscience was there, that conscience rejected. Yudhiṣṭhira's conscience rejected, by the Absolute Truth. So conscience is not a part and parcel of the Absolute Truth. It depends according to its own position.

Vidagdha Mādhava: Mental system.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: A relative thing, a relative decision.
Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol.

Vidagdha Mādhava: Guru Mahārāja. Sometimes you mention guardians. Everyone has guardians. Is that like demigods, or Spiritual Masters? Or on the subtle plane everyone has...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That also is to be judged from the absolute consideration, who your guardian is. The comparison of the Absolute Truth, that will give valuation of the decision of the guardians. A dacoits guardian, he may try his son to learn how dacoiting should be committed. So guardians of different kinds.

Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari.

Vidagdha Mādhava: But by acting in certain ways does one gain the sympathy of certain higher beings?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: There was one disciple from London has written a letter to me yesterday...

83.10.20.B_21.A_22.A

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ... "we must come down to his level. So your men that are fond of intoxication, to canvass them we should come down to their level. And we ourselves will take intoxication and so many other objectionable things, and that is sanctioned in Gītā."

He has quoted one śloka. Vidvāṁs tathāsaktaś, cikīrṣur loka-saṅgraham.

[saktāḥ karmaṇy avidvāṁso, yathā kurvanti bhārata
kuryād vidvāṁs tathāsaktaś, cikīrṣur loka-saṅgraham]

["O Arjuna, as ignorant, attached persons work, the wise must also work, but without attachment, in order to protect the svadharma or religious principles of those who are competent to follow the path of action. The difference is not in the actions of these two classes of men, but in their respective attitudes of attachment and indifference."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 3.25]

"Only to capture people of a particular group, one preacher he may without internal attachment, he may accept that sort of external habit only to capture those classes that are fond of intoxication and others. And if one does that, Jayatīrtha Mahārāja, to capture the so called intoxication and other bad habits class, then where is the fault? Why do you abuse him? It is in Bhagavad-gītā, it is mentioned there. Vidvāṁs tathāsaktaś, cikīrṣur loka-saṅgraham. To capture the mob he has - though internally he does not want that, not addicted to that, but externally he's accepting those habits to mix with them and then to capture them."

It is sanctioned in Bhagavad-gītā he says. Tathāsaktaś, cikīrṣur loka-saṅgraham.

At the same time there is in Bhagavad-gītā.

yad yad ācarati śreṣṭhas, tad tad evetaro janaḥ / sa yat pramāṇaṁ kurute, lokas tad anuvartate

["The general masses imitate the ways of great men. They follow whatever the great personality accepts as the right conclusion."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 3.21]

The leader's life should be ideal so that men in general have respect for their high character. And if they do what is not admirable in the society then people will go to do that, opposite direction is also there. We're to adjust. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

ānukūlyasya saṅkalpaḥ, prātikūlya-vivarjjanam [rakṣiṣyatīti viśvāso, goptṛtve varaṇaṁ tathā.
ātma-nikṣepa kārpaṇye, ṣaḍ-vidhā śaraṇāgatiḥ

["The six limbs of surrender are as follows: 1 - To accept everything favourable for devotion to Kṛṣṇa. 2 - To reject everything unfavourable for devotion to Kṛṣṇa. 3 - To be confident that Kṛṣṇa will grant His protection. 4 - To embrace Kṛṣṇa's guardianship. 5 - To offer oneself unto Him. 6 - To consider oneself lowly and bereft."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 22.100] & [Śrī Śrī Prapanna-jīvanāmṛtam, p 9-10]

How much one should go forward to capture whom? What is his value? All these local things should be considered.

First went to America and began his independent life he had to eat many a time food which was in association with the meat and wine, all these things in the refrigerator. Here is meat and here is vegetable. And he had to take that, for the sake of Kṛṣṇa's service. But not in a normal position. Sometimes it may be necessary to go out of the way to do something. But that will depend upon the sincerity and the degree of the importance of the work, all these things. And he had not accepted that permanently for his general life. But for particular time he had to take the risk, of taking prasāda and to fulfil his body, which had such contamination there, and the scent also there, had to tolerate anyhow for the great work.

And we're told that once Brahmānanda and who? They imprisoned him for three days.

Vidagdha Mādhava: Yes. Rāmānuja Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And no food, or gave some food? Imprisoned him three days.

Vidagdha Mādhava: No food.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No food. So he had to tolerate that. That is not normal.
But that is not to acquire the habit. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol.

Vidagdha Mādhava: Guru Mahārāja. In Rāma līlā there's ethical culture? Some practice of virtue is there, some support for that.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: To certain extent. Rāmacandra took remnants of a caṇḍāla. That was not the lawful practice there for the kṣatriya. Did something uncommon, and mostly He abided by the moral law of the country, but not always.

Rāmacandra killed Bali, not in front to front fight, but as a thief, from behind the area, tree, threw an arrow to kill him. That is not moral.

Vidagdha Mādhava: No, that isn't even kṣatriya.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then one śūdra gentleman he engaged himself in penances. Rāmacandra, asked by His Guru Vasiṣṭha, beheaded him while he was engaged in penance, one Sambuka. That is also not allowed by the law of the country. These peculiar practices we find in Rāmacandra. But they're for their justification, perfect justification there is. But in general committing the moral activities, ostentatiously.

So moral laws they should be respected as long and they're in consonance with the higher. That should be the good thought about that. Our good will should be like that. They're not absolute, they've got their relative value. If they're in clash with the absolute good then they should be rejected. So, ānukūlyasya saṅkalpaḥ, prātikūlya-vivarjjanam. Amongst the devotees they accept what is favourable, what is unfavourable. Even sometimes truth may be unfavourable, so-called truth.

Vidagdha Mādhava: I ask these questions because I'm trying to trace out why in our Swāmī Mahārāja's Movement, why certain practices apparently seem to be missing. And there's ruthless dealings, harsh dealings. Instead of mercy, these positive qualities, we're finding some negative dealings, even amongst the Vaiṣṇavas. I'm trying to trace out how it is possible, these qualities are not being shown, in a more obvious way. Mercy, tolerance.

Devotees: _____ [?]

...

Devotee: ...in the spiritual world to merge and maintain individuality.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: _____ [?]

Vidagdha Mādhava: This is a tape recorder.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Akṣayānanda Mahārāja, do you hear, his question?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yeah.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: How do you feel?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: He's asking how is it possible...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I know what he's asking.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Adhokṣaja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Just as man is attacked with a spirit, with a witch, you know?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: With a witch, haunted by a ghost, or witch.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Or a ghost, man attacked by ghost. Have you heard this? No?

Devotee: Yes, I've heard.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: How do you feel?

Devotee: I feel...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: His mind is there, and again ghost has captured his mind. So also the one may be absorbed in another.

Devotee: Peacefully.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So these fellows, these śāveśa, to serve some purpose, and they have got some sukṛti for which they got the chance of living closely with the soul of Nanda, Yaśodā, and the gopīs.

You see, soul is like light, a candle. A candle's light, if you take another the light is mixed. You cannot differentiate this is the light of this candle, and this light is from that candle. Intermingled. So it is possible in soul also. A good light there, a meagre, bad light also comes and mix together in ray. Still, it has got its special individual characteristic. Unlike physical things. In Gītā [2.24], sarva-gataḥ sthāṇuḥsa. Sarva-gataḥ means like light, like a flame. Light, it spreads itself in a space. Light is not in a point, but the rays, another light comes and the ray of one mixes with another and makes it more intense. It may be removed and it may be rejoined. So soul is of that character, it can accommodate another soul within it, like light.

Devotee: Is this for training purposes for learning how to serve Kṛṣṇa that state may be there for some time?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. That sort of connection, suddenly good fortune they have got. From a particular group, particular section, they're allowed to keep such close connection with Yaśodā. And somewhat _____ [?] in the service Yaśodā also there. And they'll get a better chance in future.

Just as there is a bona fide group of officers, and someone from outside taken in by some arrangement and asked the bona fide group officer, 'accept this in your service. Incorporate him in your office.' And he gets a good chance of helping him and becoming more efficient. That is his good fortune takes him there and gives him a good association. A very closer and practical association to become good overnight.

Such similar, gets a good chance of having a closer connection, closer constant company of Yaśodā in doing her service to Kṛṣṇa. He gets that great chance.

The whole tenor of our Guru Mahārāja's preaching was this, that this should be kept always above. And we should never try to stare at Them carefully. The capital, we must reserve capital, which we must not dare to use. Standing capital overhead. Something like that. If we go to do that then we shall become sahajiyā. That is the highest quarter of the transcendental world.

Sometimes from far off we shall say whatever we hear through the Guru we want preach about them. But won't venture to make them in the objective line, being subject. So subtle, and so high, so respectful. So that is the be-all and end-all of our life, should be treated well. It is Infinite, the characteristic of the Infinite is like this. Don't dare to finish it, then we'll have to suffer from reaction if we attempt to finish the Infinite. Something like that.

Thereafter, one develops taste and then attachment. This is the way of sādhana-bhakti, the execution of devotional service according to the regulative principles. Gradually spiritual emotions manifest and intensify, then finally there is an awakening of divine love. This is the gradual development of love of Godhead for the devotee interested in Kṛṣṇa consciousness."] [Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, 1.4.15-16]

Steps we must not omit, then everything will be falsified.

[Śrīla Raghunātha Dāsa Goswāmī, the greatest exponent of the faith of servitude to Śrīmatī Rādhārāṇī, Rādhā-dāsyam, wrote: "I won't allow myself to become fascinated by the proposal of the higher level service as a friend, sākhya. Rather, I shall tend always to do the lower service, dāsya, the service of the servant. I shall not consider myself to be a high-class servitor and I shall always tend to go towards the lower class of service. But He may forcibly take me to a higher service - "No, you are no longer to serve there; now you must serve in this higher category."] [Vilāpa-kusamāñjali, 16]

That āśābharair-amṛta-sindhu [Vilāpa-kusamāñjali, 102], the author of that poem, he himself says, "We shall always try to tend towards dāsya rasa, and not sākhya rasa, not friendly rasa, or friendly relationship. But if we receive a force to come down to take us to that level, demand will come from there, from higher type. 'Take him here.' But our tendency will be always to go towards the lower aspect of service. That should be genuine. And demand will come from upper. So that sort of, that particular servant should be taken up to the family to this stage. Dāsyāya te mama raso 'stu raso 'stu satyam. Let my real attraction be towards the service. And sakhyāya te mama namo 'stu. The confidential stage I try to show my honour there." That Raghunātha Dāsa says, who is the author of āśābharair-amṛta-sindhu-mayaiḥ kathañcit, kālo.

"Without You I do not want the Vṛndāvana, nothing, not even Kṛṣṇa."

The author of that śloka he himself says. "Let my real internal sincere tendency be towards the service, and not there of friendship with Kṛṣṇa or the sakhīs."

That is the key to success. The selection must come from above, and the demand must come from above to take us to be used, inductive process. Descending method, their favour should come to take one up. So it is not a matter of trial in sādhana.

What about his coming here?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Did not mention an exact date.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But previously...

...

...He gave admission in His saṅkīrtana party, persons from the lower classes.

Then Advaita Prabhu one day remarked in a stern way that, "Nityānanda has come and His dealings are very generous. Anyone and everyone is getting admission into this saṅkīrtana party. Now it is difficult for Us and for Śrīvāsa to keep our connection with this mob party outside."

This taunting remark, of course on Mahāprabhu. Mahāprabhu ran away very abruptly, quickly, and jumped into the Ganges.

Devotee: _____ [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And Nityānanda Prabhu and Haridāsa Prabhu, They also followed Him with lightning speed. Mahāprabhu jumped, They also jumped. Nityānanda Prabhu caught by the hair, and Haridāsa Ṭhākura by the feet, and anyhow took Him up.

Then Mahāprabhu told, "Don't tell Advaita Ācārya that You have taken Me up from the Ganges. I shall hide in the compound of Nandan Ācārya. And You announce that I have entered Ganges."

Advaita Prabhu was informed accordingly, and He began fasting. Three days almost past, and information going to Mahāprabhu. "Advaita is fasting, and crying, wailing."

Then Mahāprabhu after three days perhaps He came away, came out of the Nandan Ācārya, from His hiding place, and met Advaita Ācārya, and told Him that, "The higher officer of a king, by whose order, so many men are hanged, even king has the power to hang that very officer." Ha, ha. "Who is the master, who is the dictator of allotting hanging, the highest capital punishment to all the subjects, even he may be allotted capital punishment by the king. So Kṛṣṇa is autocrat, and we're to mind that we're to abide by the decision of such autocratic order. Must be prepared. _____ [?] Ācārya. So you should not think otherwise. Give up Your old prejudices and come out."

So divine dispensation may be very cruel, even to the high officer. They're nominated Ācārya of Swāmī Mahārāja, but they have also to undergo such severe punishment from the high. We shall try to adjust ourselves accordingly. Amāninā mānadena. We have come to deal with infinite autocracy, so always careful about our position. No pride may enter into our heart.

tṛṇād api sunīcena, taror api sahiṣṇunā / amāninā mānadena, kīrtanīyaḥ sadā hariḥ

["One who is humbler than a blade of grass, more forbearing than a tree, who gives due honour to others without desiring it for himself is qualified to always chant the Holy Name of Kṛṣṇa."] [Śikṣāṣṭakam, 3]

Ultimately we must have that sort of ideal in our mind, whatever we do, in whatever field, in whatever engagement we are at present. The highest trial is always awaiting me, so we should not be allowed to be pumped up, in any way, at any position. At the same time we're to maintain that our Guru's position is not like that, they're still up. The Ācārya may be banished, but the mob, the lowest class event with the disciples. They came to their full, whole-hearted faith in one place, and now they're being robbed like so many properties _____ [?] That is more painful. So many articles, so many things. The men with his spiritual regard is being treated like that, so rashly, roughly, just be troublesome. How the faith is being... Of course those that are connected with false relationship their misfortune must be _____ [?] there, otherwise it _____ [?] But still it's painful scenery.

One country is defeated by another country, one nation by another nation. But the after effect when the victorious party come to loot the defeated that is a very painful scenery. When fighting mood they're fighting with one another, that does not matter. But innocent persons are sometimes...

But if we see, look at to the extreme, then of course nothing is bad. Tat te 'nukampāṁ susamīkṣamāṇo. The test comes to give us promotion. Examination only for next promotion, we're to take like that. That sort of encouragement is with us, examination means promotion in the background.

tat te 'nukampāṁ susamīkṣamāṇo, bhuñjāna evātma-kṛtaṁ vipākam
hṛd-vāg-vapurbhir vidhadhan namas te, jīveta yo mukti-pade sa dāya bhāk

["One who, in the hope of achieving Your grace, goes on enduring the inauspicious fruit of his own karma, and passes his days practising devotion unto You in every thought, word, and deed - such a person is heir to the land of freedom: he attains to the plane of positive immortality."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.14.8]

No error on the other side, with the highest authority. Highest authority is not erroneous, no faults, it is all perfect. We're to adjust with such an environment, and that will be very near to the highest plane, Vṛndāvana _____ [?] All cruelty that is shown, including whipping of the Lord Kṛṣṇa that is also service. Whipping of Yaśodā to Kṛṣṇa that is also service. Very peculiar thing. And that is Vṛndāvana.

Gaura Hari bol. So let us consider there must be some greater good on the back. Apparently it may be deplorable, it is all for the best. We're to adjust ourselves with that principle. That will be good for everyone.
Madhyama adhikāra, uttama adhikāra. We can't maintain our position in the plane of uttama adhikāra, highest position. But we shall always try to have our highest regard, and with that help we shall try to minimise our pains in the madhyama adhikāra. Para-duḥkha duḥkhī. There is one stage in the lower uttama adhikāra, they have got no pain for themselves, but they cannot tolerate the pain of others. There is such a stage in the soul. They do not care for their own pain, but they cannot but care for the pain of the others. That is a stage. After that madhyama adhikārī, after that they're above all feeling of pain of any type. It is all good. The depth of their vision is so much, that things which are very far is seen to them very near. So they cannot see any reaction, their deeper vision. And we cannot see, the length of our vision is small, so we cannot see the highest and the longest end, so we deplore.

Mother punishing the boy, in an abrupt vision mother is very cruel, but if the vision, the sight is little extended, 'O, to correct the boy then it's all right.' Something like that. All harmonising. Harmony is to be understood, to be read, and to be at ones nature earned, sundar, sundaram. Satyam, śivam, sundaram. Nothing bad can come from Absolute Good. Sundaram. To that extent our vision must be extended, must go. Sundaram. All harmony, all good, all love.

[03:30 - 04.30 silence]

Infinite is not Absolute. Infinite plus finite is Absolute. His opinion is also of this type. A provincial, partial consideration. So many parts and their own centred consideration cannot but be there. All not universal standpoint everywhere. But they have got their own world of interest. That should be merged in the world of Kṛṣṇa interest. It is there. Advaya, Absolute is advaya.

vadanti tat tattva-vidas, tattvaṁ yaj jñānam advayam
brahmeti paramātmeti, bhagavān iti śabdyate

["Learned transcendentalists who know the Absolute Truth call this non-dual substance Brahman, Paramātmā or Bhagavān."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.2.11]

Threefold conception of the Absolute generally we find here among the scholars of India. All-comprehensive, all-permeating, and all-controlling. Then again divided, creation, preservation, and destruction, here. And there also in the original. This is in the shadow. And in the original also that sort of movement. This is the shadow. That is līlā, dynamic character. The original world that is also dynamic, not static. All-comprehensive aspect is not static, all-permeating, all dynamic, līlā.

The clash is between province and centre, something like that. In the province also so many units, different sections, different families. Even in a family, the husband, wife, the son, some sort of different interest, and sometimes clash. That may be soft or little but it is there in any form or other.

So separate interest and universal interest, bigger and smaller. Reading, feeling, all these things cannot but be a little different. But here in the exploiting stage it is bitter, and in the dedication stage that is beautiful, the difference.

"I shall take it. I won't give it to you."

"No, no. You shall take it. I won't take it."

This is the difference. Dedicating unit, competition, but from that dynamic character what comes out that is nectar. The competition of dedication produces nectar. And competition of exploitation produces poison.

And the dedication is not between ordinary individuals. The highest form of dedication including the centre, the Absolute. Otherwise it will be only some moral value. The Absolute owner _____ [?]

The Absolute ownership must be present there. Otherwise not only moral things, they're not masters. Man and Master has got some difference, some categorical difference.

What is unnatural that is artificial, and what is artificial that is reactionary. And reaction also may come in both the planes. In one place it is, as I told before, nectar producing, another poison producing. Poison is there, it cannot be eliminated fully. This is the... Otherwise no poison, then no nectar. Relativity requires it for us to understand. To maintain the existence of the nectar the opposite conception cannot but be there. A relative consideration necessary.

Our Guru Mahārāja wrote a book, Relative Worlds. Two worlds almost parallel.

There was one Greek philosopher, perhaps Spinoza [?], [Spinoza was Dutch] his parallelism. Perhaps he took from India, that old Greek philosopher, his opinion was parallelism.

As is in the ontological plane, so we find in the material plane, just a shadow.

[na tatra sūryo bhāti candra-tārakaṁ, nema vidyuto bhānti kūto 'yam agniḥ]
tam eva bhāntam anubhāti sarvaṁ, tasya bhāsā sarvaṁ idaṁ vibhāti

["In the transcendental abode of the Lord there is no need of sun, moon, or stars for illumination, nor is there any need of electricity, what to speak of ignited lamps. On the other hand, it is because those planets are self-illuminating that all effulgence has become possible. Whatever there is that is dazzling is due to the reflection of the divine abode of the Lord. The Supreme Godhead is so brilliantly self-luminous that neither the sun, nor the moon, nor stars, nor lightning have any power of illumination in His transcendental abode, and what to speak of fire. It is a fact that all of them get their power of illumination from His effulgence alone. In fact, it is only because of His existence that the whole universe exists."]

[Muṇḍaka-Upaniṣad, 2.2.10-2] & [Kathā-Upaniṣad, 2.2.25 - part 5, mantra 15]

It has got no originality of its own, this world we're living in and struggling. Tam eva bhāntam anubhāti sarvaṁ. The original conception is there. This is only perversion.

In Bible also Satan has got in quality the next position to God, we're told. God has got Supreme Power. The next powerful is Satan, he's the opposition leader, enticing others away from śaraṇāgati. Influence them to - it is peculiar - to taste the fruit of the tree of knowledge.

Jñāna śūnya bhakti, Mahāprabhu says. As soon as they tasted the fruit of the tree of knowledge they fell down, calculation came, full surrender vanished. And then separate consciousness came out. For their maintenance and other things they had to come down in the world of calculation of self interest. As long as they were surrendered in that locality, they had no anxiety for anything else. Came down from that zone to understand their own interest, unsatisfied with the decision of the Supreme, entered the life of calculation.

Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Also to be traced, we're told that they were naked at that time, in that plane, no shyness. So having connection with the higher plane our shameful feeling also minimised, not to be found there. What is considered to be generally shameful, that may be viewed with higher purity. Just as in Indian socialism,

_____ Draupadi Kunti Tara Nanda _____ panca tan mitra maha bhaga _____ [?]

What is condemned here in social custom, that a lady may not have more than one husband. But in the case of these ladies it was so. But still they're connected in such a plane that these ordinarily sinful things was laudable. Not only blameable but it was laudable. And we're told that if you can follow their ideal your sin will disappear _____ [?] Great sins of adultery will disappear from you if you can understand the ways and character of those ladies of higher plane, what is chastity.

So Adam and Eve they had to take dress to their body when they came in the life of self calculation.

And there, not necessary, simple, plain, automatic, happy position. No meanness. Harmonious. Not even thought nor anxiety, nothing. In this way we're to think for higher divine life of surrender.

We're also living a type of surrendered life, but surrender to the lust, to the greed, to the anger, to the indriyavas, slave of senses.

kāmādīnāṁ kati na katidhā pālitā durnideśās [teṣāṁ jātā mayi na karuṇā na trapā nopaśāntiḥ utsṛjyaitān atha yadu-pate sāmprataṁ labdha-buddhis tvām āyātaḥ śaraṇam abhayaṁ māṁ niyuṅkṣv ātma-dāsye]

["O Lord, for so long I have obeyed the unending, wicked dictates of lust, anger, greed, madness, delusion, and hatred, but they never took pity on me, and I have felt neither shame nor the desire to abandon them. O Lord of the Yadus, after all this, I am leaving them behind. At last I have found my genuine sanity: I am surrendered wholly unto Your lotus feet, which are the abode of fearlessness. Please now engage me as Your personal servitor."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 22.16]

"I'm disgusted with the service of these my masters. I can't endure a minute more."

Perhaps Mādhavendra Purī's śloka. Teṣāṁ jātā mayi na karuṇā. "These masters their hunger won't be appeased. Exacting labour from me from time immemorial, and not given any reserve and any pension, retirement. No chance of retirement even have I got. Eternal time I'm serving and serving these fellows.

Kāmādīnāṁ kati na katidhā pālitā durnideśās, teṣāṁ jātā mayi na. We could not satisfy them with so much labour and service. Na trapā nopaśāntiḥ. And what about me? I'm a shameless man, na trapā, no shame. Nopaśāntiḥ, and no exhaustion that I won't be able to render service any more. No such temperament, no reaction comes to me.

Anyhow, for the time being I have got that sort of mentality. Some awakening of some light I find within me that there is only one way. If I can commit myself to some other higher authority then these fellows will back out, otherwise not. Utsṛjyaitān atha yadu-pate sāmprataṁ labdha-buddhis. Immediately I have some ray of hope and light, that if I can offer myself to a higher authority, then these fellows will leave their demand on me from this labour, otherwise not. So I have come to You my Lord, You allow to enter into Your boundary admission. Then these fellows will leave me, otherwise no end of their slavery. Utsṛjyaitān atha yadu-pate sāmprataṁ labdha-buddhis, tvām āyātaḥ śaraṇam abhayaṁ māṁ niyuṅkṣv ātma-dāsye. Please give some engagement, otherwise no hope."

So the negative will retire when we shall have any positive participation, and sādhu, śāstra. And sukṛti, that becomes faith and takes to sādhu, and by their cooperation we can have our entrance, may be slow or rapid, and then the negative side will withdraw. Otherwise, the renunciationists they're also failure, the Buddhists and Śaṅkarites. Ye 'nye 'ravindākṣa vimukta-māninas. Only withdrawal from the negative side is not a safe position, until and unless positive connection is there, only withdrawal from the negative.

āruhya kṛcchreṇa paraṁ [padaṁ tataḥ, patanty adho 'nādṛta-yuṣmad-aṅghrayaḥ]

[Someone may say that aside from Vaiṣṇavas, who always seek shelter at the Lord's lotus feet, there are those who are not Vaiṣṇavas but who have accepted different processes for attaining salvation. What happens to them? In answer to this question, Lord Brahmā and the other demigods said:]

["O lotus-eyed Lord, although non-devotees who accept severe austerities and penances to achieve the highest position may think themselves liberated, their intelligence is impure. Although they may rise to the level of impersonal Brahman realisation, they fall down from their position of imagined superiority because they neglect to worship Your lotus feet."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.2.32]

With great pain and trouble one may raise himself up to the highest position, and may think, 'I'm quite safe here.' Vimukta-mānina. Think themselves very, very safe. Very, very liberated, themselves. Tvayi asta- bhāvād aviśuddha-buddhayaḥ. They're not conscious of the higher region so there's error in their consideration. There is the higher plane, the positive. They have no conception of the positive in any way. Only withdrawal from the negative is not liberation proper, until and unless they get the connection of the positive. Aviśuddha-buddhayaḥ. Miscalculation still there in them, about the environment.

Environment has got a necessary demand in the mutual presence, existence. We can't avoid that, we can't avoid. 'That I'm quite independent of the environment,' this is mere speculation, this cannot be the fact. There must be influence from outside to us, it cannot be avoided. So withdrawal from a particular, and think there is nothing, others, but there is the thing and it has got it's claim and influence on me.

I do not understand that, a miscalculation, false calculation, and shall have to come down again. No other alternative. Because some sort of external influence must come and affect me. I cannot eliminate it fully. So that higher attraction I can't catch, so the lower attraction is sure to capture me again, seeing that this man is helpless, no guardian, he can be looted from this position.

Āruhya kṛcchreṇa paraṁ padaṁ tataḥ, patanty adho 'nādṛta-yuṣmad-aṅghrayaḥ. They cannot have respect for even Your lower aspect, Your padaṁ. And that is error, that is miscalculation, false calculation. So he's in māyā, misconception. And the next consequence is that the other, lower environment comes to capture him. That external influence is inevitable. None can say that 'I'm independent of my environment.' None can say. For the time being one may control his environment, but for the time being. Siddha, yogī, they can create their environment for the time being. That all finishes. Ultimately they'll have to come down. This lower aspect of environment does not allow him to be free for long time, it is inevitable.

But if he could catch the attraction of the positive and have any sort of entrance there, then that environment would have helped him, and they retire eternally. And so much so, that even dressed with that sort of positive influence he comes down here, with the help of Yogamāyā, he comes here to deliver other people, this māyā cannot have any influence on him. His soldiers dress, armour, the armour of Yogamāyā is there. He may go freely in the Mahāmāyā region, but Mahāmāyā cannot do anything, cannot pierce the weapon in his body, the Yogamāyā.

nāhaṁ prakāśaḥ sarvasya, yoga-māyā-samāvṛtaḥ
[mūḍho 'yaṁ nābhijānāti, loko mām ajam avyayam]

["By My own sweet will, remaining concealed by an illusory image, I am not manifest to anyone and everyone. Therefore, none of these foolish persons can ever really know Me as the son of Vasudeva, who am independent of mundane birth and ever-existent in My divine personal Śyāmasundara form of beautiful feature like a blackish rain-cloud."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 7.25]

Yogamāyā means like that armour.

[ajo 'pi sann avyayātmā, bhūtānām īśvaro 'pi san] prakṛtiṁ svām adhiṣṭhāya, sambhavāmy ātma-māyayā

["Although My eternal form is transcendental to birth and death, and I am the controller of all beings, I appear within the world in My original form, by My own sweet will, extending My internal potency of yoga- māyā."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 4.6]

When He comes here His higher potency is always around Him, and this lower potency of māyā cannot influence there. Not only Him and His followers also like that.

etad īśanam īśasya, prakṛti-stho 'pi tad-guṇaiḥ
na yujyate sadātma-sthair, yathā buddhis tad-āśrayā

["This is the divinity of the Personality of Godhead: He is not affected by the qualities of material nature, even though He is in contact with them. Similarly, the devotees who have taken shelter of the Lord do not become influenced by the material qualities."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.11.38]

Tad-āśrayā means His devotee. They're also similarly they can move and live here freely without being any way enforced or contaminated by the illusory energy.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. What's the time?

Badrinārāyaṇa: _____ [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: _____ [?] So I close here.
Bhaktisiddhānta Saraswatī Goswāmī Prabhupāda kī jaya!

Devotees: Jaya!

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Śrīpad A.C. Bhaktivedānta Swāmī Mahārāja kī jaya!

Devotees: Jaya!

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ... Balarāma out of throne. "You come down. Your age is passed. Now My fellow, and along with You Your Kṛṣṇa will have to come down. My Lord Gaurāṅga He will take His seat on the throne. It is Kali-yuga, bare it. Our age has come. You go to Vṛndāvana."

Ha, ha, ha. Such a dream Śacī Devī had, that Nityānanda Prabhu is forcibly taking down Balarāma.

"Why You Two occupy the throne? My Lord Gaurāṅga He's to occupy the throne. And You go to Vṛndāvana. Take Your throne there."

Ha, ha, ha, ha. And Balarāma is being defeated by Nityānanda taking Him out.

So something like that. Mahā-vadanyāya.

I had try to trace the highest conception of the Absolute in Mahāprabhu in this way. That He's always dancing mood. Dancing means self sufficiency, dancing. When a taste that 'I'm fulfilled' then the dancing, generally. And Absolute dancing is of that type. Dancing means self satisfaction, nothing more. And chanting means distributing the same to others. So Prema Dhāma Deva. Who is Gaura Sundar? He's dancing and chanting. Dancing that He's self sufficient He's the Absolute. And chanting He's distributing Himself to others. Kīrtanātma-vanṭanam [Prema Dhāma Deva Stotram, 66] He's inviting others to take share in the ecstasy what is stored in Him, ātma-vanṭanam. So this is the sign, symptom, of the Highest Entity that should be. Let us show our revered venerable respect to that type of Godhead of the Absolute.

Self sufficient in love. Power, knowledge, all of lower type. Love is the real criterion of satisfaction, and neither knowledge nor power. That is the key to understand what is devotion proper, why it should be the highest thing. Why Mahāprabhu's conception, Vraja Vṛndāvana conception is the highest? To understand that properly we must know the fact. Generally everyone is hunting after power. And then there is a section hunting after knowledge more and more. But that is incomplete in itself. Love is full thing. Possessor of love is satisfied. And these things cannot give any satisfaction. And a limit, every increasing, increasing, thirsting. But only love divine can give satisfaction. And that does not mean that is like ignorance. 'Ignorance is bliss.' Not that type, but just the opposite.

I used to say there is a part of the world where the Absolute takes the care as other mundane śaraṇāgata. A child in the mother's lap, how he gets help from the mother, affection? No power, no calculation, and no understanding, but automatic help comes to him. The highest quarter in the world is like that. The divine arrangement of nurturing, of maintaining, sustaining everything, take your abode in that quarter, and divine arrangement is there from the most skilled. Power is also immense, and no poverty, and no misunderstanding, want of justice. But including that the affection is there taking care in the divine area.

So jñāna śūnya bhakti Mahāprabhu says, "That is our goal, and nothing, no power, no knowledge. Our goal is to enter into the management administration of the automatic divinity, how affectionate with love. Our goal should be there, nowhere else. Eho bāhya āge kaha āra. [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 8.59] Yes, We admit that this is the goal."

Now there is also gradation points from lower to higher. We're to understand and try to get that, in this way. Gaura Hari bol.

Devotees: Jaya! Gaura Hari bol. Śrīla Guru Mahārāja kī jaya!

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Nitāi Gaura Hari bol.

brahmāṇḍa brhamite kona bhāgyavān jīva, guru-kṛṣṇa-prasāde pāya bhakti-latā-bīja

["Wandering throughout the material universe, the very fortunate living entity who receives the grace of Guru and Kṛṣṇa receives the seed of the creeper of devotional service."]
[Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 19.151]

So many agents that had got firm conviction in the existence and immortality of the soul, beginning from Socrates, not to speak of India.

Netaji Subash Bose told, I saw in a paper, "I love India because India is a favourite place of the Supreme Lord. He comes here every now and then as incarnation. But in other parts of the world His visit is rare. There also He comes or sends His own person, but not so much as in India. This is His choice place."

Ha, ha. So many gentlemen asked us, "Why India should be given prefer-ability about religion, and other countries neglected?"

Then I told, suppose you have got a hospital in your land, 'Why that is not located in your village?' Somewhere to be located, like school, hospital, somewhere to be located. And you're to take advantage of that. So here also you may consider like that. That some place is to be selected, and India was selected. And those that are nearer they get more facility. You may say it's chance coincidence.

Or as in Manu-saṁhitā we find mentioned. Manu says, "The type of religion what I'm preaching here, you will find it generally as brahmavārta, including the Badarikāśrama, including Kurukṣetra. Then brahmarsi desa next, up to Allahabad confluence. Generally you'll find that people they're fond of such practices and following such creed. Next, Harjarvata [?] the whole northern India."

Then he gave another remark. "There is a kind of cow by whose tail we make āratī."

You have seen, cāmara?

"The cāmara's tail is used in āratī. Wherever this type of cow moves freely, there you'll find this type of religion in vogue."

And Kulu Bhaṭṭa [?] in his commentary he has mentioned there, puna puna udvalanti [?] "Men of such practice and thought, they will be produced here, at small intervals, puna, again and again they will have their birth in such position." Ayavata punya bhumi madhye binday himalayo [?] Excluded the Dravidians.

But we find that generally the Vaiṣṇava Ācārya they have come from the south, the Rāmānuja, Madhvācārya, Viṣṇuswāmī. At least three Ācāryas of the Vaiṣṇava School they come from the south. And the Rāmānuja sampradāya whose origin they say dravida-bheda. Revealed scriptures of the first order has come from the pancama, the fifth class, that untouchable caste. Śaṭhakopa. Sathari. Sat means hypocrite, cheat. Who is the enemy of the cheaters, that was Nammālwāra. By different names that gentleman...

83.10.23.B

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...means Avatāra. Āveśa they consider as parṣada, the agents of Nārāyaṇa they're sent here to help the people. Āḷvārs. Twelve Āḷvārs came, so far, in the Dravida country. And the first Āḷvār is that gentleman Nammālwāra, or Sathari, Śaṭhakopa. What he has given in Tamil that is considered to be dravida-bheda. They consider that respect for his advices as we give respect to the Veda. Tamil Veda. And there, the exclusive devotion to Nārāyaṇa, that is given there, and smaraṇa, śaraṇāgati. Śaraṇāgati has got the highest adore, respect, commands the highest. And they classify śaraṇāgati into two classes, perhaps you know, as they say this mārjjāra-nyāya and this markaṭa-nyāya. Two kinds of śaraṇāgati.

In the monkey section we find that the child he catches his mother, its mother, and mother may take here, there, everywhere, but he holds fast to the mother, that child. That is a type of śaraṇāgati for the child. Very carefully and very strongly he catches the mother, and wherever mother goes he's carried there automatically.

And there is another, mārjjāra-nyāya, the cat. The cat's child, it does not care anything, but the whole thing left on the mother. The mother cat will catch the child, bite on the neck and take here and there anyhow. But he does not know, does not care to do anything, the wholesale dependence on mother. That's a class of śaraṇāgati. And they say that is the highest type of śaraṇāgati, the wholesale dependence on the Supreme. 'I won't take any step whatsoever.' Full, complete dependence.

That mārjjāra-nyāya, and that markaṭa-nyāya, two kinds of śaraṇāgati. But śaraṇāgati has been given much importance in the Rāmānuja section.

It has been decided in this way. Mere śaraṇāgati can give you everything. This śravaṇa, kīrtana, so many other forms of devotion unnecessary. It will come here on its own itself. Only your duty will be to increase the dependence on Him, and everything will come automatically. So śaraṇāgati is the foundation on which the bhajan, the service will go on, and śaraṇāgati is the foundation. After surrendering, whatever I shall do, otherwise only giving bond, I'll understand that I'm not person, I'm like property of the Supreme Lord.

Just as vikrita yatha pasu [?] a tamed animal. That animal has got no personality. The owner is the person, he can say, he can kill, he can adore, anything. His position is that of a property of the owner, pasu.

Our position should be like that. With this spirit, whatever I shall do it will go to my master. I'm not the owner, not the party person. This is śaraṇāgati. So śaraṇāgati is of two types. This mārjjāra-nyāya, that is considered to be the highest type, nothing to do.

But Mahāprabhu He did not prefer these two examples, we find from Him. No criticism, still find He was giving the example that, "One is dropped into the well, and some rope extended, and he's to climb. And other helpers _____ [?] but he must cooperate. Free will is there. We cannot demand. That jīva has got its free will. Otherwise the whole burden is on the Absolute, on the Absolute līlā. And why jīva is coming into this side, but he's enjoying or suffering the results of his karma? The responsibility is on him, not with the Absolute. So some sort of freedom must be admitted, of course mildest freedom, but still it is there, and the cooperation is necessary. It may be least, but still it has got its place. And with that least chance of cooperation jīva can be helped." So Mahāprabhu has given such example, that fallen in a well.

Otherwise the scriptures, the punishment and education has got no meaning. Everything is the outcome of the Absolute flow. That is of course in the region of Yogamāyā. But in Mahāmāyā something amiss, something wrong, and that is due to the vulnerability of the scanty freedom what the jīva soul has got. By misusing that we're in such deplorable condition. The responsibility with jīva, not with God, the saṁsāra.

Just as only misuse of the independence one is to go to prison house. Improper use of ones natural freedom. So prison houses are resting on the undesirable free action of the people. Otherwise no necessity. Something like that.

Anyhow, Ācāryas from the south with Vaiṣṇava faith have come, mostly, even Śaṅkara is also from the south. They're intellectual giants. Buddha is in this side, northern side. Vyāsadeva of course in northern, Parāśara, etc, big previous Ācāryas they're here. But the middle age Ācāryas they come from southern India, Vaiṣṇava Ācārya.

So we find that geography has got some position, but that is not to be followed very extreme, anywhere. Generally, Bengal is considered to be, this eastern side of India is considered to be out of the holy places in India. Pāṇḍava vagita [?] Pāṇḍavas did not go, Pāṇḍavas moved anywhere, everywhere, but They did not come to east Bengal. They say that's a symptom of impurity of the east Bengal. Just as Kali-yuga is the worst of the time, and Bengal is also standing by the side of the Āryan culture, but considered to be impure, this Kali and Bengal.

And Mahāprabhu came here, and He came here when the worst enemy of revealed truth is the logical thought, so called. The culture of logical development reached its acme during the time of Mahāprabhu, this _____ [?] nyāya. It is admitted by the whole of India, all the scholars of India, that logical culture reached its extreme point in Bengal at the time of Mahāprabhu. And just He appeared, and that is the worst enemy of revealed truth, of theistic thought. Everything they must examine and whether it is true or not, it is false or true, good or bad, they will come to judge everything, they'll examine.

At that time Mahāprabhu came and crushed their head, and announced that jñāna śūnya bhakti.

"You are all disqualified. Knowledge is disqualified. Only devotion can help you."

We're told that Mahāprabhu also He composed some outlines of nyāya śāstra. And the greatest scholar of the period he got that copy when Mahāprabhu and he were making a journey in a boat on the Ganges. When he found he began to weep, tears began to run down from his eyes.

"Why friend you are?"

"I have written a book. But if Your commentary ever stands, then none will come to read my book, my commentary of nyāya śāstra."

"O, is it so? So you're crying? Let Me see the book." He took and threw into the Ganges water.

"What do You do, what do You do?"

"Yes, I've done rightly. This is awful, that is unfruitful. This nyāya śāstra, this jñāna, this type of knowledge cannot help us to reach to the goal, awful, unfruitful. So this is not a valuable thing what I have thrown in the water."

That Nimāi Paṇḍita declared that jñāna śūnya bhakti, surrender. "Surrender to the high, that is really fruitful. And you go to challenge, and discuss, and want proof, He'll neglect you. He won't care to hear your clamour."

So if we really want to have our association with the higher, then this is not the way, the challenge. 'I shall with inspection, I shall take it in the laboratory and analyse. And from the seat of a judge I shall examine it.' All this is ludicrous to get a general conception of the higher. You're judging faculty is eliminated.

Our Guru Mahārāja used this expression generally. "Puppy brain." The brain of a little dog is puppy. Puppy means _____ [?] the small child of a dog, and puppy brain. We want to measure the infinite with our puppy brain, it is ludicrous."

So something else, and that is śaraṇāgati, surrender. Praṅipāta, paripraśna, sevā.

First praṅipāta, praṅipāta means surrender, that is the token, the symptom, the emblem of surrendering, praṅipāta means. To fall at the feet. 'I have finished, all my capacity proved fruitless. I'm disappointed. If there's any hope, any prospect, it is with You.' With this attitude to prostrate before the Guru. 'You can make or mar. You can save or kill. No other alternative. I fall at your feet. Be merciful. Save me, or I shall have to die.' Praṅipāta.

Then paripraśna, honest enquiry, not with the spirit of testing, or examination, or anything like that. Eager tendency to know higher things, whether that will accept me or not within its own circle. Paripraśna.

And the main thing is sevā, service. 'I'm disgusted with my present position, finished all prospect, no hope. Anyhow I may be accommodated with the help of some higher knowledge that prospect I may have to live further. No charm of living such life I've found there. Such a type of life has got no value. Only in the midst of inevitable mortal influence, every second I'm being killed. It is intolerable for me to remain, to continue my existence in this sphere. Save me, give some engagement here, sevā.'

Superior, it is natural and reasonable, that if we want any association of the superior, then that must be in the way of service. I should be utilised by you, not that I want to utilise you, in my play. That is the most important thing. I want to be utilised. I cannot utilise other things by my knowledge of interest. I want to be utilised. I want to be a queen _____ [?]

"It is better to reign in hell than to serve in heaven." That Satanic expression.

But just the opposite. "It is better to serve in heaven than to reign in hell."

So I'm eager to have recognition of my utilisation in the service of the higher. With this spirit only we can search for the real thing. For Him, not for myself, for Him. This is the most difficult criterion, to understand and also to practice, to follow. At every step, at every thought, every posture, we must keep it in our mind, that whether this criterion is invited to measure my activity at every step. Of course in its intrinsic value, not external value. Praṅipāta, paripraśna. In Veda also.

tad vijñānārthaṁ sa gurum evābhigacchet, samit paniḥ śrotriyaṁ brahma niṣṭham

["One who wants scientific knowledge about the Supreme Truth must approach a bona fide Guru and offer him everything required for sacrifice. The Guru must be fixed in the truth, having heard it from a genuine source."] [Muṇḍaka-Upaniṣad, 1.2.12]

Samit paniḥ. Samit means the wood which is necessary for the sacrifice, for the fire. _____ [?] The gross materials which are necessary for this function, that must be collected by me, gross side. And the other side will come from him, Ācārya. Śrotriyaṁ brahma niṣṭham. Not only theoretical but practical knowledge the Ācārya must have, this is his symptom. And the śiṣya he'll go in his own necessity, he'll collect the gross materials whatever necessary. Samit paniḥ means that, samit paniḥ. Samit, in other words, praṅipāta, paripraśna, sevā. It has been explained like that. Samit means what are necessary things for the fire sacrifice. And this fire is another type of fire, which can burn avidyā.

[yathaidhāṁsi samiddho 'gnir, bhasma-sāt kurute 'rjuna]
jñānāgniḥ sarva-karmāṇi, bhasma-sāt kurute tathā

["As a blazing fire reduces the wood and everything else within it to ashes, O Arjuna, so also does the fire of knowledge burn up all action."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 4.37]

Can reduce to ashes all our material impulses and aspirations, that may be reduced to ashes, that sort of fire. As light can disperse darkness, that sort of fire. The samit paniḥ śrotriyaṁ brahma niṣṭham.

And in Bhagavad-gītā, jñāninas tattva darśinaḥ.

[tad viddhi praṇipātena, paripraśnena sevayā / upadekṣyanti te jñānaṁ, jñāninas tattva darśinaḥ]

["You will be able to attain all this knowledge by satisfying the enlightened spiritual master with prostrate obeisances, relevant enquiry, and sincere service. Great souls who are most expert in scriptural knowledge and endowed with direct realisation of the Supreme Absolute Truth will teach you that divine knowledge."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 4.34]

Ācārya's qualification, and in Bhāgavatam also.

tasmād guruṁ prapadyeta, jijñāsuḥ śreyaḥ uttamam
śabde pare ca niṣṇātaṁ, brahmaṇy upaśamāśrayam

["Therefore any person who seriously desires real happiness must seek a bona fide Spiritual Master and take shelter of him by initiation. The qualification of the bona fide Guru is that he has realised the conclusions of the scriptures by deliberation and is able to convince others of those conclusions. Such great personalities, who have taken shelter of the Supreme Godhead, leaving aside all material considerations, should be understood to be bona fide Spiritual Masters."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.3.21]

Tasmād. When his prospect is finished, prospect and attraction for this world finished, he will see that everything is treacherous, the soil is treacherous. What I went there for, apparently it was supposed to give us some pleasure, but ultimately that is transformed into pain, reaction. So the soil is treacherous. Apparently proposes to give something, but ultimately it is proved that this is just the opposite, traitor, ādhiyātmika, ādhibhautika, ādhidaivika.

Tasmād guruṁ prapadyeta. Then one has to approach Guru, the heavy, that cannot be removed from his position. Who is so heavily posted there, none can remove him from his position. His principle is understanding Guru, prapadyeta. We'll take refuge under him, surrender to him.

Jijñāsuḥ śreyaḥ uttamam. And what is the best for us, please advise me. I'm nonplussed, puzzled, perplexed, to think out what is good and bad. Nothing I can ascertain, as if the whole taste and hope is crushed. Hopeless, disappointed, no good prospect in life there can be, disappointed. Jijñāsuḥ śreyaḥ uttamam. Is there any good life, fair life, higher life, that we should hope to live? Is there any such life possible in the whole world, of this pessimistic section? Jijñāsuḥ śreyaḥ uttamam.

Śabde pare ca niṣṇātaṁ. Who is well practised in two things. The revealed truth, revealed scriptures, the previous Gurus that have left their trace and knowledge about that. Pare. Not only the theoretical side, not only the intellectual side, but also has got practical experience, touch, he's established in such position. And he's experiencing the benefit of that plane. Not only abstract intellectualism, 'That yes, such is that, such is that,' but he's established properly, has got some basis, foundation, where from he can never be removed. Such position, such firm adjustment he has got, that no discord can canvass him to its own side.

["By knowing Him, everything is known - by getting Him, everything is gained."]

This type of position. Bhidyate hṛdaya-granthiś, chidyante sarva [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.2.21]. It may be, or may not be full, but that type, that quality position. Bhidyate hṛdaya-granthiś, chidyante. It is quite natural. Where we're wandering, we're roaming, it is artificial. But quite natural position is there. So slight taste of that plane, he'll firmly feel that this is a part of my home. Not the whole home he may capture, may be master of, but this is my home. This sort of firm conception he has got. Bhidyate hṛdaya-granthiś. How is it possible? Heart's inner flow can give the guarantee. The heart is sealed, hṛdaya, hṛdaya-granthiś, bhidyate. The tie in our heart, that is torn, and the natural flow, to know his own, that has sprung, the flow has come from there. And just going to the similar thing, 'O, this is my own.' Something like intuition, recognition will come like that. 'This is my own.' Bhidyate hṛdaya-granthiś. And the flow of devotion, ahaitukī and apratihatā, which is non checkable, irresistible, and causeless, natural, ever existing. That will know his own, recognise his own soil, whole friend quality. Bhidyate hṛdaya-granthiś, chidyante sarva-saṁśayāḥ. No doubt can enter in that plane. 'It is my home, I have got recognition. I won't like to hear argument from other quarter. Examine it, then, 'no, no.' My heart has recognised automatically. This is automatic relationship. Chidyante sarva-saṁśayāḥ. No room of any doubt, any suspicion, any calculation, sarva-saṁśayāḥ. And kṣīyante cāsya karmāṇi. The tendency to prejudice for other sorts of past life vanishes immediately. Dṛṣṭa evātmanīśvare. Coming in contact with that great infinite.

And in another place, this is in first chapter of Bhāgavatam. Parava [?] That infinite, no this side, that side, no limit connection with the finite merging in the infinite. And another place, mayi dṛṣṭe 'khilātmani [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.20.30]. When his own intimate friend is seen everywhere. "O. He's everywhere, my friend is there." In this way. Sympathetic element, friendly element. "I'm within them. I was wandering in enemies country, foreign country. Now quite at home." Something in this way, we get our position by surrendering, by approaching a real Ācārya, the agent that's sent by the Divine Lord. Mayi dṛṣṭe 'khilātmani.

Then, there the life proper begins. And Mahāprabhu said, "Yes. Eho bāhya āge kaha āra. [Caitanya- caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 8.59] Ha, ha, ha. The calculation, the zone of knowledge, suspicion, discussion, all finished. Now you are at home, and how to enjoy the home life? You begin, try to understand, gather from here. Infinite. Different departments, different groups different. Only to have a touch, brahmasam-sparśan, only to have a touch of that transcendental substance is not all. But there is gradation, there's group in services how to live there. Only mere entrance is not - of course that is revolutionary gain, but still there is not the finish. After coming home we're to get engagement in our culture cultivation there, family life.

martyo yadā tyakta-samasta-karmā, niveditātmā vicikīrṣito me
tadāmṛtatvaṁ pratipadyamāno, mayātma-bhūyāya ca kalpate vai

["One who is subjected to birth and death attains immortality when he gives up all material activities, dedicates his life to the execution of My order, and acts according to My directions. In this way, he becomes fit to enjoy the spiritual bliss derived from exchanging loving mellows with Me."]
[Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.29.34]

"They enter into My family."

[bhaktyā mām abhijānāti, yāvān yaś cāsmi tattvataḥ]
tato māṁ tattvato jñātvā, viśate tad-anantaram

["Only through love and devotion can I be understood as I am. Thereafter, fully understanding Me, you can merge into My entourage."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 18.55]

"After coming to know Me fully, then they enter into Me."

Me means, king means not a person only. King means his family, his army, his office administration, so many things, raja-cavati [?] So there is also these variegated things. One in many, many in one. But that is substantial, not artificial, not deceitful in nature. _____ [?] Vaikuṇṭha. To limit the relativity of infinite possibility, only with the dictation and help of the Ācārya, and regulations, law books, all these things. Thinking about the prospect. Some sort of intellectualism is there in that lower portion. But in the higher that is something like intuition. Intuition takes the charge. This automatic guidance, something like this computer, automatic guidance there. The response from the heart like that. And that is love, that is priti, that is attraction, which encourages us to serve. Unconsciously we can go on with that. But unconsciously, but still we receive the salary, we get the salary. That is prema-dhan, more increment in our earnestness to perform the duty. In this way. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

What's the time?

Devotee: _____ [?]

Devotee: Nine thirty.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. So many groups, classifications there. Śanta, dāsya, sākhya, vātsalya, mādhurya. It is not mere philosophy, mere ontology, but practical life we're to get. How? We must engage our energy in that point. It is reality. It is not poetry. But it is beautiful, more than poetic idea. But still, not imagination. We must translate it into action _____ [?]

yā niśā sarva-bhūtānāṁ, tasyāṁ jāgarti saṁyamī / yasyāṁ jāgrati bhūtāni, sā niśā paśyato muneḥ

["While spiritual awareness is like night for the living beings enchanted by materialism, the self-realised soul remains awake, directly relishing the divine ecstasy of his uninterrupted spiritual intelligence. On the contrary, the wakefulness of materialistic persons addicted to sense enjoyment is night for the self-realised person who is completely indifferent to such pursuits. The realised souls, indifferent to the mundane, are ever joyful in the divine ecstatic plane, while the general mass is infatuated by fleeting mundane fancies devoid of spiritual joy."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 2.69]

Day to one is night to another. And night to one is day to another.

One very busy about material achievement. And there are so many who are busy to get out of this material achievement. And with bitter experience as a reaction they want to have an eternal sleep in samādhi, disgusted with the ways and forms of this life.

But the fortunate school they get hope and connection with the divine life, by giving, by dedication. To have a faith in that, that is the first beginning, śraddhā. That there is a positive. As I tell that the seed of the revealed truth is the Veda, and Gāyatrī. By chanting which we can get emancipation. Gāyatrī. And the seed of that Gāyatrī is oṁkāra, oṁ. And what is the meaning of the oṁ in Sanskrit? Yes. Oṁ means yes. I learned from Teligu desa when I went in a preaching camp, preaching party in the south, I found that when we say something, "Oṁ, oṁ, oṁ." What is this oṁ? They're utilising 'yes, yes,' in this...

83.10.25.A_83.10.27.A

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Śṛṇvantu viśve amṛtasya putrāḥ. "Oh all you sons of the universe, please listen. You are the son of nectar, you are all drops of nectar within, and outside, this poisonous food. You think yourself like that and attempt to regain your own position eternal, inner position. It is with you but anyhow you have missed it. You are unconscious of your own wealth within."

So work for that, that what is within you.

kṛti-sādhyā bhavet sādhya-bhāva sā sādhanābhidhā [nitya-siddhasya bhāvasya prākaṭyaṁ hṛdi sādhyatā]

["The process of devotional service - beginning with chanting and hearing - is called sādhana-bhakti. This includes the regulative principles that are intended to awaken one to devotional service. Devotional service is always dormant in everyone's heart, and by the offence-less chanting of the Holy Names of the Kṛṣṇa, one's original dormant Kṛṣṇa consciousness is awakened, as the beginning of sādhana-bhakti. This can be divided into many different parts, such as, - faith, association with devotees, initiation by the spiritual master, engagement in devotional service under the instructions of a spiritual master, steadiness in devotional service and the awakening of a taste for devotional service. In this way, one can become attached to Kṛṣṇa and His service, and when this attachment is intensified, it results in ecstatic love for Kṛṣṇa."]
[Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, 1.2.2]

Sādhana, a means to end. What is the nature of the means to end means, kṛti-sādhyā bhavet sādhya- bhāva sā sādhanābhidhā. The sādhana, the means, this name has been given to a particular process, sādhya- bhāva, that is within you. You are to discover, to discover your own wealth.

Mahāprabhu has given an example. [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 20.127-136]
A poor man he has got some money underground, within his room, and some astrologer has told him: "Oh you are suffering from poverty, but you have got money underground, in your room. But don't approach from the southern side, there are the hornets. And never from the western side, there is a witch, wizard. And also not from the northern side approach, there is a python. But only try from the eastern side, easily you will get the jar, and by enjoying the property you'll be removed."

So He says: "From the southern side means by the help of karma, by the application of our energy. That means whatever we shall do, its particular conscience won't allow us to get leave. We must suffer or enjoy the consequence of that karma. Whatever energy we should spare for utilisation, or something like that, we must have to suffer the reaction. So every action, every reaction, and we will be bound down with that. So leave that ambitious life, that with my own energy I shall earn that highest grace, give up that life.

Then another is yoga. By controlling our own internal system we may direct our attention towards the high. By practising so many physical methods, and also internal, mental methods. By ascending methods on the whole, to raise ourselves up with our own attempt, own energy, own intellect. Yoga system, that is many siddhi, many mystic powers will come in your possession, and they will take your attention on different sides, and the right thing you won't be able to reach nearby. So many mystic powers will misguide you towards that wonderful results of that psychic power. That is yoga, searching by ourselves from the gross to subtle plane of things.

Then there is a third course, jñānam, by cultivating. 'Who am I? What is this world? The all comprehensive thing is what? I'm a part of that. In this way, I'm a point of spirit, a spark, ātmā, and there is that ocean of that light, or the eternal sky like thing. I'm a part of that, the whole conscious ocean, I'm a drop of that.' In this way if you go on cultivating, that oneness of consciousness, that will swallow you, and you will loose your individual consciousness. Individual enterprise will be merged in the whole, and you'll be nowhere. You'll enter into the ocean of knowledge without being able to keep up your individual consciousness. So die, like a python that will swallow you, devour you. So that is also not serving the real purpose.

So approach from the eastern side, that is devotion, that is the way of surrender. Don't utilise your own ability. You are finite, don't depend on your own ability to know the Infinite. But to come to the Infinite for a finite, the best process is to surrender to Him. 'Please accept me, please inform me who am I.' You are subject, He's Super-subject. Give Him to take initiative for your good, don't take it in your hand. Try to look at the environment as your guardian."

The first mantram of Ṛg-Veda asks us to, whenever we approach to do anything, it says: "Think who you are, you are approaching towards something, before that you have your own conception of what you are."

oṁ tad viṣṇo paramaṁ padaṁ sadā, paśyanti suraya divīva cakṣur ātatam
[tad viprāso vipanyavo jāgṛvāṁśāḥ, samindhate viṣṇor yat paramaṁ padam]

["As the sun and sunlight is continuous over the skies as light-giver to us (for that sunlight is the universal form of the Lord) similarly, the Divine Lotus Feet of the Lord Śrī Viṣṇu is always spread widely (like a canopy) over our head."] [Ṛg-Veda, 1.22.20]

You think of the environment, what relation that has on you. Tad viṣṇo paramaṁ padaṁ. The all pervading entity, His lowest portion nearest to you. Paramaṁ padaṁ. Sadā, paśyanti suraya divīva cakṣur ātatam. The spiritual scholars, experts, they see them, see it as, paśyanti suraya divīva cakṣur ātatam. Just like a big eye, like a sun. Like a sun, His big eye spread over your head, guardian's eye. With this consciousness you approach to anything and everything. The guardian's eye like the sun, so much concrete, He's looking after you, taking care of you. With this consciousness you approach to any and every action to perform any duty. The guardian's searching eye over your head. Then any misdeed will be impossible for you. If you approach anything and everything with this idea, 'the vigilant eye over me,' of the Supreme, then how should we be? We cannot conceal anything. So hypocrisy should be banished, straight working will come, plain thing. We cannot but make ourselves one with simple, plain, true things, cannot conceal anything within our cell. So the environment is not blind or matter, but it is conscious, and it is friendly, it is like guardian. Try to understand, read the environment in such way. Not only is it all knowing, but it is friendly, affectionate to you. Culture at every step, every moment, this consciousness, and easily, and in short time your transformation will be good and thorough.

Put yourself in the relativity of the highest consciousness as well as highest affection. Affection is better than knowledge, higher than knowledge, affection, love. That is the finding of the devotional section. Heart is higher than brain. We're more in the heart than in the brain. Our real existence is in the heart. So try to fulfil your heart's thirst, quench your heart's thirst, and approach in this way. Eliminating, neglecting, the prospect of energy, atomic energy, our brain behind the atomic energy, but come to the solution of the demand of your heart. They say that for humanity sake, give up search after knowledge of destruction. Now the general cry is like that, appealing to your heart, give up your brain design production, brain production, save us, appeal to your heart how it is greater. So solution of our heart, that is the highest achievement, we must try for that.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Prema, love divine. Dedication is wealth, not exploitation. One is not great by the capacity of his exploitation. But by the capacity of his dedication he should be given position whether good or bad, high or low, by dedication, how much he can dedicate. And dedication must not be misguided, dedication to the proper centre, to the truth. And truth is one with love. Truth, affection, beauty. Truth is not law, mere law, abstract law. But that is living thing, there is heart, truth is personal, truth is person. And the person, that guardian, friend, not only a commanding guardian but friend, heart to heart. And more than that. Sonhood of Godhead, consorthood of Godhead.

It has been found that how one lady during the time of Swāmī Mahārāja, about one hundred and fifty came here, in this hall and delivered a lecture, and one lady among them told.

"What has attracted us to Swāmī Mahārāja is this, that we were thinking where is God? God is at infinite distance, unapproachable. But when we heard that we can live with God, and as family man, we can serve with our affection the God Himself. Such prospect drew me here under his feet, that God can be so near, as we can serve Him as a family man, our Master. What more could we want? This has attracted us."

He's friend, not only father, but He's friend, He's consort, He's everything. He loves me more than I may hope to love me, caretaker, everything. We're to find out such plane of living where we can throw ourselves with the highest confidence, that Dhāma, Dhāma, where the slavery is unknown.

I think I read from history when Megasthenes [302-288 B.C.] came to visit India, he gave some description of the Indians at that time. There is one expression, 'slavery was unknown, and the stealing, and so many other dirty things were unknown to India.' Now also amongst the aborigines sometimes we find they do not know to steal, they do not know to lie, falsehood they do not know. So there is a soil, there is a plane, where all these deceptive mentalities, tendencies, unknown. Rather positive affection is flowing everywhere, and of higher to highest degree of confidence. We're to, with the help of our innermost plenary tendency, most fundamental tendency, with that help, śraddhā, we can find out that plane for our living.

svarūpe sabāra haya, golokete sthiti

["This is Vṛndāvana. Vṛndāvana is so friendly, so sweet, so near to us, and such a well-wisher of ours. We are quite at home there - sweet, sweet home. In our innate and innermost existence, we are members of that plane."] [Sermons Of The Guardian Of Devotion, 1, p 182] & [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.1.7, purport]

Our inner existence is meant to live in that soil, it is like that.

Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, the full-fledged theism of the ancient Indian Vedic culture, came to inform this act in the first chance. And Mahāprabhu Śrī Caitanyadeva took it from there. That this is the ripe fruit of the tree of knowledge, tree of Vedic, or revealed knowledge. The acme, the highest, the fruit which comes naturally and which is ripe, just in the form of the highest utilisation. And Śrī Caitanyadeva pointed out all other sources or alternatives or proposals, they're stale. Now the new thing has been discovered. Direct transaction with the Divine Love. And the shortest route is this with help of Divine Sound.

Try to go to Kṛṣṇa conception of Godhead, Reality the Beautiful. He's commanding everything, the power is not commanding, but love is all commanding, that is commanding. The highest controller is not power, nor justice even. Justice is present there where there many partners, many demanders play the part, various parts, but where is one authority, there mercy, land of mercy. Everything belongs to Him, He's not to come under law in His behaviour to others. Everything is for Itself. Dr Hegel says: "Everything is for Itself, Reality is for Itself." Everything belongs to Him, He's the Master Absolute, everything meant for Him. So no law, no justice, only favour, only favour can show surrender and get favour. That is the simple transaction and there is ample, no possibility, He's not bankrupt, so no possibility of being dealt with any despair.

This human birth is valuable and fit for such search. There are other hopeless alternatives of our existence. In Christianity, or in Muslim theory, it is not accepted generally that any animal and the trees, creepers, they have souls, this is person below, under, within. They're of equal position, equal status with us, but by karma now reduced to such inert section. Internally they hold the same status with us. But this human birth has been said to be very precious, very, very, valuable, because here with the help of the Divine Agent, we can help us to the greatest degree possible. So such valuable time, don't waste with any other thing, any other engagement than this attempt, this search of your Lord of heart. Try, after a few days, you may loose this chance, you may have to go to some other species, it is not impossible.

Ball coming near the goal, if we miss, then we repent. But ball is moving freely in the field, no repentance, no disturbance or disappointment. But if coming to the goal, if we miss, then we repent very much that I have lost the chance. So our birth has come to the human species, near the goal, from here working faithfully, properly, we can go out of this life of bondage. Not only in the positive attainment.

So in any way we may, to help us and to help others. To help others, Mahāprabhu told, Bhāgavat told: "Go to help others and you are automatically helped. When you go to help others in that direction, you are to energise to your best ability, and that influence comes within to work." So kīrtananta tarovaran [?] When you go to preach, at the same time you preach automatically in yourself, in your heart. The greatest command of that energy you will have to acquire when you go to preach. So offensive for offensive. The environment aggressive, they're trying to influence you from all sides, māyā, misconception.

īśāvāsyam idaṁ sarvaṁ, [yat kiñca jagatyāṁ jagat
tena tyaktena bhuñjīthā, mā gṛdhaḥ kasya svid dhanam]

["Everything animate or inanimate that is within the universe is controlled and owned by the Lord. One should therefore accept only those things necessary for himself, which are set aside as his quota, and one should not accept other things, knowing well to whom they belong."] [Śrī Īśopaniṣad, 1]

Everything belongs, or working on behalf of the Lord. That is the real thing. But we consider that everything is moving how far to satisfy myself in bondage. Or so many other selfishness, extended selfishness, national selfishness, extended selfishness. Humanity, nation, country, that is extended. Fight between greater bigger unit, while being, small unit and bigger unit. To Infinite, that bigger or smaller has got no value. So try to preach to break all sorts of separate interest, and try to find in harmony with the one interest. Īśāvāsyam. Everything for Himself. I am for Himself. He has got every right over me, over anything. He can make or mar. Whole right concentrated with the centre, and the centre Absolute Good. When centre is Absolute Good, as much power is concentrated there, it is so much better for everyone. So that shows it is so, and you try to read it. Everything for Himself. I am for Him, and there lies my best chance and prospect, that I am for Him. He's so good that to become for Him it is the highest reward in ones life. He's so good, infinite goodness.

So pure optimistic in the fullest extent become. Try to read the world in that way, no enemy. At present of course you're to find some sort as long as you're weak you'll have to consider something. That sort of warning is also given. But the object, our destination is such. Everything good. Tat te 'nukampāṁ susamīkṣamāṇo [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.14.8]. No apathy on the other side. You are responsible for your own past, present, future. You are responsible, because you have detached yourself from the environment, from the whole.

State management when it is given to the - from particular party to the government _____ [?] When a party, a company cannot conduct the institution, it gives to the government. Like that. You give up your state management to the Supreme Authority, to the best, highest authority, and live under Him, surrendered.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. This is the general background of devotion that is the highest prospect of all. Please try to be centralised, and the centre is such and such. In all respects it is the most desirable. Centre is this, so don't be afraid of being robbed, or being deceived. Be good, and cannot but come in the association of the good. Because the goodness, good environment is conscious and judicious and affectionate, loving.

It is told that when the soul after emancipation joins the līlā of Kṛṣṇa, Kṛṣṇa accepts him, welcomes him like a madman, mad friend. He's suffering so long, his absence, separation. God receives a newcomer there.

"So long I am suffering your separation My friend, how could you live in the foreign land, neglecting Me, My friend, how could you do it? I remember everything. When you began your journey to this side you were insulted by so many, in so many variegated ways. You did such and such things as austerity, this thing, that thing, I am conscious. You begged door to door thinking of Me, taking My Name. I am fully awake to all those facts. But it was necessary, now you have come."

Following that Lord. He embraces him and gets fainted. Sanātana Goswāmī has given this expression in Bṛhat-Bhāgavatāmṛta. When first man, when he enters the līlā of Kṛṣṇa, he sees in such a way.

To the servant class He extends His feet. To the friendly He touches by the hand. To the motherly friend section He's kissing. And to the, as a consorthood, He embraces the newcomers, and with divine affection to the highest intensity. So much so He forgets Himself for the time being. So kind, so benevolent, so affectionate.

Anyhow we are to take ourselves to that plane of living, plane of living, there it's different, it cannot be ignored. In the human section also classification, atheist, pure atheist, but atheist and moralist, moralist but not theist. Then imaginary theist and moralist, human section, the particular section. _____ [?]

Then really theistic and moralist, there begins varṇāśrama dhārma. Then approaches further, towards Godhead. But the highest stage, no question of morality, everything comes out from Him. Everything belongs to Him. This consciousness eliminates morality even. But that has got morality in their own land, that is another thing. The decisions here, that cannot go there, not go there.

There also is motherly affection, friendly affection, consort affection, that rasa. They have got their adjustment, but that is another thing. Everything in connection with the satisfaction of Kṛṣṇa, rasābhāsa, that clash between different rasa is not desirable there also. There of course it is all right, automatically, like computer, everything is automatically done. But when we approach towards that, these things to be considered for us in the way.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol.

So you have to come out to help such sort of understanding, preach to the people. We do not know any greater benefit for the society, or for mankind, or even more. The best help to the society is to give God consciousness, Kṛṣṇa consciousness. God consciousness in the highest position is Kṛṣṇa consciousness.

Attracting everything towards Him, Kṛṣ means attraction. So many atoms disorganised, only attraction keeps them together and gives a thread from chaos to cosmos. So attraction when living it is love. Attraction, gravitation, attraction. All the planets, everything exists in some ratio of attraction. But attraction endowed with life, that is love, attracting. Conscious attracting another consciousness, that is love, ceta.

Kṛṣ, everything, the attraction of all, the centre of all attraction. Kṛṣ, and ṇa, and the giving pleasure, distributing joy. Attracting and giving joy, pleasing, that is Kṛṣṇa, in outer sense. And He's person, He's loving, love personified, and also distributes love to outside. And when distributes love in a scientific way He becomes Caitanyadeva, Mahāprabhu, most magnanimous. The highest form, love also there is gradation, the highest degree of love when organised way is distributed to the public, Rādhā-Govinda combined, He becomes Śrī Caitanya. Not by history, by any other ancient characteristic, or any theory, but in fact in the reality we can understand, see things, tattva dvesti [?], by the vision, eye of our knowledge and love we can have recognition of things outside.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol.
Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol.

I had to talk much with those Ramakrishnaites, ha ha, so little tired.
Further we shall again meet and I invite some questions from you also.
What's the time now? Nine?

Devotees: Ten past nine.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ten past nine.
Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol. Hare Kṛṣṇa.
Aranya Mahārāja and others they're doing well there?

Devotee: They're keeping very well.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: _____ [?] But when Mahāprabhu was going to Vṛndāvana via Rāmakeli, after that time He had to come back from Rāmakeli. Again He had to go from Purī direct to Vṛndāvana. When going to Rāmakeli He called aloud, "Narottama, Narottama", while passing by the side of the birthplace of Narottama Ṭhākura. Narottama Ṭhākura was not born at that time, but very shortly he came in this family.

We're to understand, internally, internal aspect, characteristic of the līlā, līlā means eternally. That is in the most fundamental plane, subtle most plane. It is causeless and it is irresistible, ahaitukī apratihatā, the layer of bhakti, pure devotion, is such, it is eternal, not within the factor of time...

83.10.27.B

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Time and space. The idea of time and space we're acquainted with. That comes from mind, a form of thought, production of mind, as we may say. Universal mind and then from there the personal mind.

The plane of līlā, that is no beginning, no end, and nothing can oppose it, irresistible. It is there and who have got that eye, that particular special eye to trace it, then you can find it. It is there, to be read by the experts of that department.

So Narottama Ṭhākura's coming and going, that is there and his activities and it was known to that quarter. So Mahāprabhu before Narottama Ṭhākura's appearance He took the name of Narottama.

Anyhow, Narottama was born in Malda [?] District, Kheturi is the place. And he was the son of a rich family. In his childhood he was indifferent to the worldly life. His elder brother, Krishnananda, Krishna, he was a big zamīndār, so much so that they're called the kings of the locality, Raja Krishnananda.

Narottama Ṭhākura he was a bachelor. Younger days, about fourteen or so we find Śrīnivāsa Ācārya and Narottama they came to Navadwīpa. Inner attraction, hearing the Name of Śrī Caitanyadeva they surrendered. So that type of devotion to Kṛṣṇa, that was inborn in them, they could appreciate.

"That this is our own soil, our own friends, our own relatives, our own destination."

Their internal heart could have recognition of the plane Śrī Caitanyadeva came to give us, or show us.

So Śrī Caitanyadeva He was at that time in Purī, Puruṣottama Kṣetra, Jagannātha Kṣetra.

They came and the second circumambulation of the Dhāma took place. First Nityānanda Prabhu along with Jīva Goswāmī, He began Dhāma parikramā, Navadwīpa Dhāma parikramā, _____ [?] The different parts of līlā, to see and to show, to appreciate, understand, every part of Mahāprabhu's līlā. First Nityānanda Prabhu began with Jīva Goswāmī, and the second with Narottama and Śrīnivāsa. One old brāhmaṇa, he took them, travelled through the different parts of līlā of Mahāprabhu.

Young then, and Narottama was grown up by this time Mahāprabhu disappeared. Anyhow he managed to got to Vṛndāvana accompanied by Śrīnivāsa Ācārya. And Śyāmānanda Prabhu he went to Vṛndāvana. When going on the way they heard Sanātana Goswāmī disappeared. Broken-hearted they wandered on towards Vṛndāvana. When they reached Mathurā they heard 'Rūpa Goswāmī disappeared yesterday.' They considered themselves to be very unfortunate, and anyhow reached Vṛndāvana in the evening. At that time with great pomp and splendour the ārati of Govindaji temple of Rūpa Goswāmī continuing at that time. And specially because Rūpa Goswāmī disappeared, so great gathering.

And if you have visited Vṛndāvana, that old temple of Rūpa Goswāmī is a grand structure. The upper part broken by Aurangzeb. Still, we can guess how grand and beautiful a temple. Beautiful and grand, such combination is very rare. Grand is in the Vaikuṇṭha grandness, and beauty is Goloka, specially. Beauty harmonising the aiśvarya, grandeur, or controlled by beauty, that is very specially found.

There they first met the Goswāmīns. Jīva Goswāmī took care of them and they remained nearly a year in Vṛndāvana. At that time without Rūpa and Sanātana, other Goswāmīns they were still appeared there. And gradually Śrīnivāsa took initiation from Gopāla Bhaṭṭa, Śyāmānanda from Jīva Goswāmī and Narottama Ṭhākura took initiation from Lokanātha Goswāmī.

And there is also a tale, story. Lokanātha Goswāmī, he was very friendly and also devoted to Śrī Caitanyadeva from his early life. He was born in Yashohara, next to Nadia District, of the east, a brāhmaṇa. And he went to Vṛndāvana to live with the Goswāmīns there. Very strict man, his abnegation, his vairāgya, indifference to the world was so much conspicuous.

It is told he did not keep a glass of water within his quarter. Because if anyone comes and begs for some water it cannot be avoided, so he did not store any water. If anyone comes and seeks for some water, begs, then it cannot be avoided. So in order to avoid any outsider to enter his compound he behaved in such a way, no obligation, cut off from the society. Always taking the Name, and some mādhukarī going on. Won't make any disciples, that was his determination.

But anyhow Narottama Ṭhākura's heart was captured by his personality, and he determined that, "I must take initiation from him." He thought, "All the wealth is reserved here, in his store, that store of grace is here, that must be looted, anyhow."

But he was so strict, no door to enter. What did he do? He planed, and found out where he goes in the jungle to pass stools, he began to cleanse that place.

After few days it attracted the attention of Lokanātha Goswāmī. "I come here to pass stools, but nowadays I find that this place is being cleansed by somebody." So after detecting he tried to watch. "Who is the man? How it is so?" One day he caught Narottama, in the later part of the night he caught him red-handed. "Why do you do so?"

Narottama fell flat on his feet. "I want your grace, your blessings. Please forgive me. No other alternative I have got. I can't give my heart anywhere else accept yourself."

Anyhow Lokanātha Goswāmī was moved and accepted him as his only disciple.

After a year or so they thought, and they were requested by the Goswāmīns, "You go back to Bengal and there preach the doctrine of Mahāprabhu. These are the scriptures ready for that. Sanātana, Rūpa, they have left many things in book form. Though that should be preached to every nook and corner of the world, but now suitably you'll have to try in Bengal, because the influence of Śrī Caitanyadeva, and also Advaita Prabhu, Gadādhara. The group, that is more fitting there in Gauda desa. So first you try to make Them accepted there, and gradually from there it will grow."

So all the books at that time, no printing press, so all hand written. Those books very carefully put in a big box, two or three maybe. And Jīva Goswāmī Prabhu went for bullock carts to carry them from Vṛndāvana to Bengal. And those three they were coming with the carts, all those śāstra.

Śyāmānanda Prabhu also took initiation from Jīva Goswāmī. That is also a story.

Anyhow, when they reached the district of Vanakara Kura [?] near Vishnupura, there was an ādivāsī chief, the zamīndār of the Santhal section, aborigines. Their occupation was somewhat looting, to live on looting.

We find when Sanātana Goswāmī was going to Vṛndāvana he also met a chief of those aborigines, the Santhal. He had an astrologer who found out that eight golden coins were with Sanātana and he will be killed and those coins will be taken off.

And here also we find they're taking each wooden box from bullock cart and their astrologer, they had also an astrologer, he foretold that 'there are many jewels and gems in those boxes.' That was his reading. And so the chief ordered them, "Take them in my house." And at night they're sleeping nearby, but anyhow, stealthily, they managed to take those boxes and carried to the house. Chief Birhambir was his name.

Then, early morning they found to their big disappointment the book box missing. They tried their best to enquire all around, but failed, no trace. Then what to do? Śyāmānanda went to his countryside to begin preaching. Narottama Ṭhākura also went away towards _____ [?] But Śrīnivāsa who was supposed to be the leader, he could not go. He began to wander in the locality half mad in search of those gems and diamonds.

Then anyhow one day, that Birhambir he was a type of Vaiṣṇava, he used to hear Bhāgavata kaṭha, Bhāgavata discourse from one of his guru, or priest, some brāhmaṇa whose name was Vyāsa.

And Śrīnivāsa Ācārya he also now and then joined the class. A young man, beautiful figure, half mad, indifferent, he used to join the class. And he tried his best to conceal himself, who is he. But anyhow unconsciously he was caught.

When the Vyāsa was explaining Bhāgavata he committed some mistake, and unconsciously Śrīnivāsa he interjected there. "Oh, this is not so, it should be this."

Then he attracted the notice, the attention of the whole audience. "What is this? This half mad boy he has got such deep knowledge in Bhāgavata. So much so that he's correcting our brāhmaṇa's explanation of Vyāsa." Then he was caught by the audience. "Who are you? You must speak out."

Then he had to give out the whole history _____ [?]

Then Birhambir he was present there, the local chief, and he confessed that, "I have taken, and that is all kept here, with all dignity."

Then Śrīnivāsa went there and saw, and he made some pūjā, ārati, all these things.

And Birhambir became his disciple, and that was a good centre for preaching there.

And Narottama Ṭhākura was informed that those books were regained, and they all rejoiced and began to preach. Narottama Ṭhākura anyhow influencing his elder brother, he made arrangement to install Deities in his home in a grand scale. Four or five Śrī Mūrtis were installed there. I forget the Names. And during that installation, a great festival took place. All the Vaiṣṇavas of the time were invited.

Jāhnavā Devī She Herself went there with all the paraphernalia of Nityānanda Prabhu.

And Śrīnivāsa Ācārya he was the leader of the function, this installation ceremony was conducted by Śrīnivāsa Ācārya. And other Vaiṣṇavas, Śrī Advaita family, so many others joined.

And such a big saṅkīrtana was performed there, that attracted Mahāprabhu and Nityānanda Prabhu Themselves. And it is told, something like impossible, that both, it is mentioned, both prakaṭa and aprakaṭa, different groups of saṅkīrtana parties took, participated there, participation. Mahāprabhu with His own group He was also seen singing and dancing. And the then living group also mixed with them, doing, it was seen sometimes like that. So intense invocation of the higher divinity was found there, that it has been described in this way. The original group cannot avoid this chance of saṅkīrtana as it was done in Śrīvāsa Aṅgan in the time of Mahāprabhu. So that was also taken down, drawn down by these devotees by their combined, the devotional efforts.

Then Narottama Ṭhākura began extensive preaching. And he was very lenient. Went up to Manipur and he was very successful there. Even the king and queen and most of their subjects they accepted Narottama Ṭhākura. But he had to be relative, lenient. In Manipur we see that two kinds of generations reckoned, ptri tantric and matri tantric. The Āryans here they're ptri tantric. The lineage is considered from the father's side. And in Manipur and southern India, some place there is matri tantric. The lineage is counted from mother, daughter, in this way, mother's side, this line. The Manipur more or less that was matri tantric, mother is the chief, mother's daughter she will keep there in the (body? gaudi?) and the husbands will come and go just like wife as in the Āryans section, from different parts.

So that custom was not taken into account. So he was very liberal in his preaching there, and was very much successful. The whole of northern Bengal extended far east, Manipur that was captured by Narottama Ṭhākura.

Of course he has written also many poems and they're considered as representing śuddha, pure devotion. Narottama Ṭhākura. Up to the point, and also too much fervour, sentiment, forceful, and also commenting on the social behaviour of the time. From the outer layer to the highest spiritual realisation we find in Narottama Ṭhākura, all in the form of song.

Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura and our Guru Mahārāja they accepted Narottama Ṭhākura's composition in sum as in toto, but could not accept many ancient literatures, even that Caitanya-Maṅgāla, and other things. So many other songs meaning connecting Śrī Caitanya, Nityānanda, could not be accepted. But Narottama Ṭhākura's production fully accepted, śuddha-bhakti. Elimination of the, as Rūpa Goswāmī told, anyābhilāṣa, karma, jñāna, will be eliminated. And also awakening of the acme of ones high realisation, realised life, we find that.

Narottama Ṭhākura. He has accepted Nityānanda as Balarāma, as in Kavirāja Goswāmī, and Sanātana also. And not, though this Samaj _____ [?] people claims they're descent from Narottama's line but they did not accept this.

Another thing we find in Narottama Ṭhākura, he accepted Lokanātha Goswāmī, in his strict following the path of śuddha-bhakti and faith, śraddhā. But still he expressed in his highest realised stage, kavi lokanatha hatiya buliya _____ rūpa samipe [?] A relative and absolute consideration.

"When the day will come my Gurudeva Lokanātha Goswāmī he will take me by my hand and put me, produce me near Rūpa Goswāmī, rūpānuga bhajan, who is the general director to sanction rūpānuga-bhajan, give admission. When my Gurudeva will put me there, rūpānuga ?" That also we find in him.

Forcefully he has made statement.

vidyā-kule ki koribe tār. sei paśu boro durācār
[Manaḥ-śikṣā 2] [Songs of the Vaiṣṇava Ācāryas, p 83]

Pleaded for Nityānanda Prabhu. Jñāna-sunya-bhakti, knowledge-less devotion, jñāna-sunya-bhakti.

Mahāprabhu told, "eho bāhya āge kaha āra, ["This is superficial; go further."]
[Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 8.59]

Nityānanda Prabhu was not a great scholar. It was easy for the society to accept Śrī Caitanyadeva for His high scholarly life, or expression. But Nityānanda Prabhu was not outwardly a very educated person. But He had His fervour, His deep sentiment for Kṛṣṇa, Vṛndāvana, Mahāprabhu especially.

Narottama Ṭhākura appreciated that very much.

I think some of the followers of Advaita School did not like Nityānanda at that time. So in that śloka, sei paśu boro durācār, nitāi nā bolilo mukhe, majilo saṁsāra-sukhe, vidyā-kule ki koribe tār [Manaḥ-śikṣā 2] [Songs of the Vaiṣṇava Ācāryas, p 83]

"He may have the noble lineage, full, and there may be sufficient education, scholarly life, but those are useless. Still if he should be considered as a member as aloof, nothing more than that." He's strongly pushing, Narottama Ṭhākura. "If they do not have any appreciation for Nityānanda, cannot understand what is love, what is faith, what is devotion. If they cannot appreciate Nityānanda then their scholarship, their lineage has got no value. They should be considered as brutes."

I think he meant a section of the followers of Advaita, they discouraged Nityānanda, did not like His preaching. Nityānanda Prabhu's preaching was to the masses. And so we're told that Mahāprabhu had some private talk in Puruṣottama. None knows what was the subject of the talk, of the private conversation. And Nityānanda Prabhu came and accepted married life. Because He had to move through the masses and He was guest in the ordinary family, used to be guest. So if not married people will say this thing, that thing against Him, so He accepted married life. After long time of renounced life He accepted married life. In order to mix with the ordinary masses He would be guest to any home and every home and began preaching about specially Gaurāṅga.

bhaja gaurāṅga, kaha gaurāṅga [laha gauranger nāma, / yei jana gaurāṅga bhaje sei amāra prāna]

["Worship Gaurāṅga, speak of Gaurāṅga, chant Gaurāṅga's Name. Whoever worships Śrī Gaurāṅga is My life and soul. Come straight to the campaign of Śrī Caitanya and you will safely attain Vṛndāvana."]

"You don't recognise who Gaurāṅga is. What type of highly valuable thing is passing through your door you can't estimate. Accept Gaurāṅga and you'll get the highest thing."

That was the tenor, the nature of the preaching of Nityānanda. "Anyhow you come to the feet of Gaurāṅga. Accept Him and you'll be taken to the highest position you can ever conceive as our highest destination." That was the tenor of His preaching. And going door to door He approached with fervent appeal. Sometimes He rolled on the door of the parties. thake bhuli nityananda dhumi bhedi jai [?] The appealing was so intense, but not violent, non violent approach, rolling on the outer door. "Accept Gaurāṅga. You can't know what a great thing, noble thing He has come down here to give you." In this way.

And Narottama Ṭhākura supported Him fully. Nitāi nā bolilo mukhe, majilo saṁsāra-sukhe, vidyā-kule ki koribe tār. "Your learning and your high lineage has no value if you can't, if you fail to appreciate what Nityānanda Prabhu has come to give you."

And also he says. Nitāiyer koruṇā habe, braje rādhā-kṛṣṇa pābe, dharo nitāi-caraṇa du 'khāni [Manaḥ-śikṣā] "Don't venture to approach direct to Vṛndāvana to have entrance into the group of Rādhā-Kṛṣṇa, that is very, very high. Go through Nityānanda. Nitāiyer koruṇā habe, braje rādhā-kṛṣṇa pābe. If you get the higher education, if you, the students, if they give not much attention in the primary education then they'll have to suffer in the higher education. So you try to get the blessing of Nityānanda, His grace. Get a good foundation, strong, an instant foundation from Nityānanda. Then you approach towards Vṛndāvana. You'll not have to come back, fall back, your progress will be solid and happy and non mistaken, infallible progress. So don't neglect Nityānanda Prabhu."

In this way Narottama Ṭhākura is trying his best to draw our attention towards Nityānanda Prabhu, the very foundation. Nityānanda is Balarāma, and the vātsalya, sākhya, dāsya, śanta under His command, only with the exception of mādhurya-rasa. But Narottama Ṭhākura says if you can have a good foundation in these rasas that will be highest. And in comparison that is complete, but don't neglect all this service. Service is the first thing necessary, otherwise if you cross them, neglect them and take a jump, you'll have to fall, or you'll have to earn something which is not gaining, constantly you'll have to acquire.

83.10.27.C_83.10.28.A

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So, pure devotion. Karma-kāṇḍa, jñāna-kāṇḍa, kevala viṣera bhāṇḍa.

[Śrī Narottama dāsa Ṭhākura has sung, karma-kāṇḍa, jñāna-kāṇḍa, kevala viṣera bhāṇḍa. "The path of karma-kāṇḍa [fruitive activities] and the path of jñāna-kāṇḍa [speculation] are just like strong pots of poison." Amṛta baliyā yebā khāya, nānā yoni sadā phire. "A person who mistakes this poison to be nectar and drinks it travels in different species of life." Kadarya bhakṣaṇa kare. "And, according to his body, he eats all types of abominable things."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 4.25.11. Purport]

The karma-kāṇḍa, that energy and power, will help us in our highest realisation. Jñāna-kāṇḍa, that knowledge will satisfy, quench our highest inner thirst. Kevala viṣera bhāṇḍa. But they're all poisonous. Who accepts them as nectar, he will have to die. So śuddha bhakti. Karma, jñāna, anāvṛtam.

[anyābhilāṣitā-śūnyaṁ, jñāna-karmādy-anāvṛtam / ānukūlyena-kṛṣṇānu-śīlanaṁ bhaktir uttamā]

["One should render transcendental loving service to the Supreme Lord Kṛṣṇa favourably and without desire for material profit or gain through fruitive activities or philosophical speculation. That is called pure devotional service."] [Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, 1.1.11] & [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 19-167]
& [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.21.11, purport]

The pure bhakti proper, devotion proper, is above knowledge, above calculation. It is something else, it is automatic, it is innate, it is intuitive line. Through faith we can, śraddhā, we can be lead towards that. Neither our calculation, calculative knowledge, or our energy can give that position in us. Only through faith, with the help of the sādhus of that type, and the śāstra also of that type, we can go. The natural course, the natural way we're to pass, not by the logical path, nyāya, logical, yukti, reason.

Our Guru Mahārāja used one line, "Puppy-brain, cannot give you any help to your progress towards infinite. Your puppy brain how much it can understand? And your energy, how much you can depend on your energy? Your own position is not stable, in any moment you may be removed from this life. You boast of your command over energy, that is all futile."

Only take the way of surrender, "I have nothing." Going towards infinite, the real qualification which is necessary in you, that you finite, you have no position in the infinite. That is the truth. As much as you can realise that in the relativity in the infinite, you finite, you have no position. Come to realise this fact. That is the first thing necessary for your negotiation about the infinite, that you have no position. No position, this is true, this is the fact, and your attempt must be based on this real fact that you have nothing, no position. Surrender. Come to this sort of realisation, and begin from there. Then you will find that there is ample arrangement around you, to help you. To help you, there is divine arrangement. Come to realise your own helpless position for what you are. Then you'll be able to come in connection with the agents that are wandering about to take you to that high domain.

Narottama Thakura, his advices, his life and advices, are pure devotional writings. Great resources in the Vaiṣṇava, Gauḍīya Vaiṣṇava literature. Truthfully, that is to its full meaning. That full truth, whole truth is there. Not tampered, naked truth, he has given in his writings.

There are so many stories also in connection with his divine life.

One day, he's coming to take his bath in the Ganges, just come out, Padma. And two brāhmaṇa sons they're taking two he goats to be sacrificed to Durgā Devī. Suddenly they met Narottama Ṭhākura. They knew that Narottama Ṭhākura is a great sādhu, though in kāyastha-kula [?] Narottama Ṭhākura came in the kāyastha-kula. Kāyastha, that are generally told, that kṣatriya male and __ brāhmaṇa male and kṣatriya girl; that combination produced kāyastha. _____ [?] That production was known as kāyastha, they demand; but there is some controversy. Anyhow he came in the kāyastha-kula. Their, they may have some of their customs, practices, may be near to those of the brāhmaṇas. But these two brāhmaṇas they knew that Narottama Ṭhākura is a, has come from the kāyastha-kula, but they are rich, and he has got much vairāgya, this apathy to the worldly life. Some respect for him was created in that locality.

And there was a talk.

"What are you doing?"

"We're taking these two, these child he goats to be sacrifice to the deity."

"Why you are engaged in such heinous action? To kill an animal is it helpful, can be helpful for any worship of the deity?" In this way began. "You are brāhmaṇas. Who are really to be worshipped by the brāhmaṇa school, the Nārāyaṇa, you know; Viṣṇu, Nārāyaṇa, everything. But it is only meant for those that cannot be niṣkāma, free of worldly aspiration. Why you lose your life, especially brāhmaṇa life?"

In this talk they were converted. One Ramakrishna Bhaṭṭācārya, and Gaṅgā-Nārāyaṇa Cakravartī, converted.

Then, "Yes, we heard of your name, and now by our fortune anyhow we have met you. What you say that is very appealing, and we're convinced, and we'd like to follow your creed. But we shall take them, these goats to the party and coming back."

"No, no. Why you will be party to the killing of those innocent animals?"

"Then what should we do? We have taken money from them, we have purchased them, and we must deliver them to the party."

"No, no. That is not necessary. You unloose them, let them go anywhere."

They did so, and came to his feet and accepted they were disciples of Narottama Ṭhākura.

And one from there, that line came Viśvanātha Cakravartī, as a great commentator of the Gauḍīya School. Gītā, Bhāgavatam, and many other books we get from Viśvanātha Cakravartī, a great scholar, came in the line of Narottama.

Then, from that time, many brāhmaṇa paṇḍits, scholars, they used to attack Narottama. "What you are doing, you are spoiling the society. You say the Vaiṣṇava they're above brāhmaṇas; they have no caste distinction, you do not observe strictly. You are destroying the social structure." In this way many brāhmaṇa scholars came to discuss with him about the scriptural advices. And they came and generally they were defeated and went away.

Then, one day, this Gaṅgā-Nārāyaṇa and Rāmakrishna, they have also learned something, and generally when the brāhmaṇas came they faced them. But when they can't then Narottama Ṭhākura is approached, in this way, during their life passing. Now Narottama Ṭhākura has disappeared.

And one brāhmaṇa party has come to discuss. "We want to discuss with you. That you are breaking the Āryan society, Vedic society. You are enemies to the Vedic culture."

But Narottama Ṭhākura disappeared.

It is told that a miracle came. Narottama Ṭhākura he's on the funeral pyre, and that will be lit with fire and will be burnt to ashes.

They're crying, and Gaṅgā-Nārāyaṇa Cakravartī, and Rāmakrishna said, "Prabhu, our Lord, you are disappearing, but those brāhmaṇa paṇḍits have come to challenge us. But we're not so fit that we can face them successfully. But if you, it is your pleasure, you are going away it is your pleasure. If you like you can again come into life and do anything you like."

But these paṇḍits also followed them to that funeral place.

And Narottama Ṭhākura he sat, he was lying in dead body, then he sat on that funeral structure.

Then all the brāhmaṇas were scared. "What is this? A dead body is again enlivened and sitting. Then of course a man of miracles. We should not disturb him." And they went away, without coming in the face to face discussion. They were frightened and went away.

And then again he took his posing of a dead man and went away.

And some also say that after his body was taken into water, that became milk, the body transformed into milk. Everything is possible, that is to deceive our fleshy eye, or brain.

Narottama Ṭhākura was on the other side of the Padma river, and on this side there was one Govinda dāsa and Rāmacandra, disciple of Śrīnivāsa Ācārya. Two brothers, Rāmacandra, younger, and Govinda dāsa elder. They were kavirāja. They had some property on the banks of Padma, perhaps inherited from maternal, or some other line. They used to live there for some time, specially Govinda dāsa. Rāmacandra and Narottama they had some intimate connection.

[doyā koro śrī-ācārya prabhu śrīnivāsa] rāmacandra-saṅga māge narottama dāsa.

["Please grant Your blessings O Lord Śrī Śrīnivāsa Ācārya; for the company of Śrī Rāmacandra Cakravartī Narottama dāsa does pray."] [Sāvaraṇa-śrī-gaura-pāda-padme Prārthanā, 6]
[A Prayer to the Lotus Feet of Śrī Gaurāṅga, by Śrīla Narottama dāsa Ṭhākura]

Rāmacandra was a disciple of Śrīnivāsa Ācārya, who is friendly to Narottama. So just like nephew, like a friend's son, Rāmacandra. Very beautiful, exceptionally beautiful figure, and he was bachelor, and fully given to this Vaiṣṇava faith, Rāmacandra. And his elder brother was Govinda dāsa. He was a devotee of Śakti, Kālī. Sometimes between two brothers there was some discussion, but Rāmacandra could not influence him. Stealthily some progress was there. Anyhow he did not leave his Kālī worship, Śakti worship. But Govinda dāsa in his last time he was attacked by dysentery, though he himself was a kavirāja, physician. Dysentery, and he was about to die, at that time, he fervently prayed to Devī, Kālī.

"Please release me, give me salvation, emancipation from this world."

But Kālī appeared anyhow _____ [?] "I cannot do that. It is Nārāyaṇa can give that, Kṛṣṇa can give. I'm not empowered to give you emancipation. I can supply worldly things."

Then he woke up. "What my brother says that is then true. So I falsely went on to argue with him, but he's in the right side." Then he began, he left this Kālī worship, and came to Kṛṣṇa upāsanā, and lived for some time.

bhajahū re mana śrī-nanda-nandana-abhaya-caraṇāravinda re [dūrlabha mānava-janama sat-saṅge taroho e bhava-sindhu re]

["O mind, just worship the lotus feet of the son of Nanda, which make one fearless. Having obtained this rare human birth, cross over this ocean of worldly existence through the association of saintly persons."]
[Bhajahū Re Mana Śrī Nanda-nandana, 1. By Śrī Govinda dāsa Kavirāja]

This is his song, that Govinda dāsa, the elder brother of Rāmacandra, his song is this. Bhajahū re mana śrī-nanda-nandana-abhaya-caraṇāravinda re. This song, a very good song, educating, that Govinda dāsa. Had some influence through Rāmacandra from Narottama Ṭhākura.

So Narottama Ṭhākura's life was a great life, we can learn many things from him. He preached very liberally Mahāprabhu's creed, most extensively, though his Guru did not do so. Just as if he was going against his Guru apparently. His Gurudeva was strictly - not to preach, not to initiate. But coming from him, he initiated in a large number, very liberal. Very liberal disciple of a very strict miser Guru, we find. We find in preaching, the essence of his teachings is pure devotion. No tampering in his judgements, or in his descriptions, in his writings, poems.

Then, we find another thing, that though so much faithful to his own Guru, he has expressed and he did in his practice, but still he has recognition that his Gurudeva will take him to a proper place, the central office, to Rūpa Goswāmī, rūpānuga. We should be ultimately accepted by Rūpa, and to join his group, that will be our highest aspiration of life.

All these things. So Narottama Ṭhākura's day of departure. Anyhow coming in contact with them we can have their influence and blessings, thereby. And we can alleviate our own position in the line of pure devotion. So we ask for his blessings on us.

One gentleman from Sthilet, he was not a follower of Gauḍīya Maṭha, but he wrote one poem about our Guru Mahārāja. He mentioned there, thakura sei narottama tomate tahara guna dekhi [?] "We have heard about the preaching of Narottama Ṭhākura with pure devotion, and we find his inspiration in you." He composed.

Narottama Ṭhākura, he found Narottama Ṭhākura in Bhaktisiddhānta Saraswatī, extensive attempt to give everyone, distribute the pure devotion.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol.
So we all invoke blessings of Narottama Ṭhākura today.
Gaura Hari bol. Nitāi Caitanya. We close here.

...reading Bhāgavatam from the higher seat, and Swāmī Mahārāja sitting by he used to play the mṛdaṅga. In that house specially, where Mr. Karnani _____ [?] in that house there was one coal merchant. Karnani has purchased that house, where some coal merchant was there, _____ Banergee.

When perhaps his father or his mother passed away, invited me to deliver this Bhāgavata and kīrtana there, that occasion. I could not go, I sent Govinda Mahārāja. And Govinda Mahārāja - Swāmī Mahārāja was in charge of the party. Swāmī Mahārāja took them, Govinda Mahārāja began to explain Bhāgavatam, and Swāmī Mahārāja with the party playing the mṛdaṅga and chanting in the beginning and the end. And it was successfully finished. I went to see that gentleman, he was a good, big coal merchant. _____ [?]

Then he told me that, "I thought that you did not give much attention to this occasion, to this sitting; that you sent only a boy to explain Bhāgavatam. There were at least eight Doctors here present in the assembly, audience. But that boy has explained Bhāgavatam. We are much satisfied. They could not think he will be able to explain Bhāgavatam in such scholarly and beautifully way." That gentleman told.

And Karnani living in that house now. The old one, father Karnani.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. So Swāmī Mahārāja had much affection for him, like a child he used to treat him. As a guardian he took him there, and he was from the lower seat playing mṛdaṅga, and Govinda Mahārāja on the higher seat to explain Bhāgavatam.

At that time we were staying next door, in the laboratory. He was living in a house, and the next house is on the ground, that is ground floor laboratory, and the top floor, four rooms we occupied and lived there, in the next house.

Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol.

Śrīla Govinda Mahārāja: _____ [?]

[25:56 - 27:20 silent]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...What to speak of the whole of Bhāgavatam. Every constituent part is infinite. So such is the thing we are going to deal, we must be conscious of the fact. That whatever we say, we try to touch, something of that. But the reality is beyond our jurisdiction, only we try to touch, but it's immeasurable. So full conception of anything can never be given by anyone, only they're touching the infinite. That is enough.

Any amount of sin, or misconception may be cleared by the touch of one drop of that sound, revolutionary change comes. So, it is evergreen, ever new. And it is His will, He's working...

...

...then I could try, tried my best, would have tried. If it's possible that he may see me. Because by whose influence Sundarānanda went astray, he also tried to take me out of this line. He questioned me, he called for me. I had some reverence for him, for my previous life; I learned many things from him, so I had some respect. Vasudeva Prabhu. And I went.

And he put to me, "Where is your name Śrīdhara found in the scripture? Only ten names, or twelve: Purī, Giri, Bharati, all these things are mentioned in the scripture we find."

But I told that, "You have published a book, Gauḍīya Kaṇṭhahāra, before I joined the Maṭha. And there it is mentioned hundred and eight names, and one is Śrīdhara amongst them. The reference you have given to Ānanta-saṁhitā."

He told, "All this is concoction. We have suggested these names, and paṇḍit he has composed the śloka. As we suggested the name of a fictitious book Ānanta-saṁhitā."

Then I told him that, "The ṛṣis of the ancient time they saw, they felt what they have recorded. What they felt in their heart they recorded. And that is Veda, Upaniṣad, all these things. And if I think that Bhāgavata is the full fledged theism, it is the real natural fruit of the Veda, Purāṇa, everything. The full-fledged conception of theism is Bhāgavatam. Then one who is earnestly preaching about the truth of Bhāgavatam, that is the highest conception of theism, whatever comes in his mind for the sake of the service of the preaching of that truth, that is more valuable to me than any of the so called ṛṣis, who felt this Brahman hazy conception of the theism. And highest conception of theism is in Bhāgavatam, and who is preaching earnestly that, and anything coming in his inspiration: 'that this is necessary, this is necessary,' then that has got more value in me than those previous ṛṣis.

The śruti we find in Bhāgavatam, they are repenting, they are praying for forgiveness to Kṛṣṇa that, "We could not express You fully. What we have expressed, that is going to that hazy conception of Brahman, not Your conception of such type: the fulfilment Parambrahman, the highest type of Parambrahman, Svayaṁ-Bhagavān. We could not express that. So we beg Your forgiveness for this."

I told him, Vasudeva Prabhu, by whose influence Sundarānanda did all these things.

Then Vasudeva Prabhu answered. "If, what you say it is true, but if the man is svarūpa siddha, he has got fullest realisation, then of course, whatever he feels inspiration in him that must be, have highest value."

And that means he does not accept our Guru Mahārāja as svarūpa siddha. But he uttered this word, and he was silenced. He thought that he has told the extreme thing. And I also thought he has gone to the extreme point that Guru is not svarūpa siddha. So conversation stopped, cut off.

That was my answer to that. That one who is in the service of the full-fledged theism, whatever inspiration comes in him, for the service of that, to preaching that truth, that is more valuable than that ordinary Upaniṣad, Veda, and other revealed scripture. And I still hold that. And it cannot but be so. If you are to accept the Svayaṁ-Bhagavān, akhila-rasāmṛta-murtiḥ [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 8.142], that the full-fledged theism in Bhāgavatam, then, those that are earnestly, whole heartedly trying for the service for the preaching of that truth, whatever comes within, inspiration, that cannot but be.

I went further, that Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura wrote Jaiva-dharma like a novel style, novel; as if that is imaginary conversation. He, through the conversation of the imaginary persons he has dealt that Jaiva- dharma. One is asking, another is answering; in this way. But I think that this is not fictitious, fiction. In some kalpa or other such things really happened. May not be this kalpa, but there are so many kalpas, there is so many days of Brahmā. And things are repeated with little modification. In some kalpa Varāha Avatāra is śyāma varṇa, in some kalpa cheta-varṇa. With little difference the repetition we find.

So, Jīva Goswāmī when there is any difference, anomaly in the scripture, Purāṇa description, he has written kalpa Veda. In particular kalpa it was in this way, in another kalpa it came. One kalpa means Brahmā's one day.

sahasra-yuga-paryantam, ahar yad brahmaṇo viduḥ
[rātriṁ yuga-sahasrāntāṁ, te 'ho-rātra-vido janāḥ]

["A day of Lord Brahmā lasts for one thousand caturyugas and his night is of the same duration. Persons who know this have the true conception of day and night."] [One yuga (age) in the time calculation of the demigods = the four yugas or one caturyuga in the time calculation of mankind, or 4,320,000 years.]

[Bhagavad-gītā, 8.17]

Just as we, our days are also, generally goes on similar, not same. In the morning I wake, I wash my head and take something and went to the work. The next day similar, not exactly the same but similar with little difference. So, also Brahmā's every day repetition with some difference. So, Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura what he wrote that was transcendental thing, and that must have happened in any of the kalpa. It is moving, moving somewhere. All the thoughts, especially transcendental thoughts they're not mortal, so no death for them. No beginning, no end, that is eternal. Such thoughts floating in the thought world, so many.

Mahāprabhu also coming repeatedly every Kali-yuga, Yuga-Avatāra.

aṣṭāviṁśa catur-yuge [dvāparera śeṣe, vrajera sahite haya kṛṣṇera prakāśe]

["At the end of the Dvāpara-yuga of the twenty-eighth divya-yuga, Lord Kṛṣṇa appears on earth with the full paraphernalia of His eternal Vraja-dhāma."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Ādi-līlā, 3.10]

That Rādhā-Kṛṣṇa-Milita-Tanu, Mahāprabhu absorbed in this Kali-yuga Avatāra. In this way, eternally moving.

So, we're to understand things by quality, by ruci, and not by yukti. Yukti, the reason fails to understand. But it is more _____ [?] yajña reliable; our heart's taste, inner taste of our heart more reliable to understand soothing things for us, ruci, and not yukti. So, jñāna eliminated, the knowledge eliminated from the epistemology as pramāṇa, the prove, evidence to the existence of the transcendental, higher transcendental. Knowledge eliminated, power and knowledge both eliminated. Third thing, śraddhā, faith, that has got recognition to understand things of the highest type. Automatic, God given things something like intuition, to know, 'This is my own.'

So, bhidyate hṛdaya-granthiś, chidyante sarva-saṁśayāḥ. [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.2.21 & 11.20.30]

To be out of all doubts and suspicion, that is a result, a consequence, consequence of which? Bhidyate hṛdaya-granthiś. When the tie of the heart - the heart is sealed, that ahaṅkāra, the bhada-jīva, the ego of the fallen soul, that means their heart is sealed. And the sealed is broken, bhidyate, untied, and the natural flow comes out, and it can recognise its own plane, own thing, own friend. And that is faith, and faith is reliable, never reason, or the faculty of judgement, nor any power or position, to understand this truth.

So Sundarānanda and so many other scholars they, Śaṅkarācārya and other scholars, they're scholarly, they're not of less position, so many scholars in the existence. But still we can take, the first consideration faith, and reason may help them to certain extent. That sort of service we can get from the reason, but it cannot produce, it cannot deduce the faith. It is only in faith, and reason can help to certain extent, in some cases, not always. But it is not a bona fide proof that the reason, that faculty of judgement, that will give me God, never. So, it is told that sukṛti, then above sukṛti there is śraddhā. From śraddhā then sādhu-saṅga, coming in the association of the similar persons. And from there something comes and goes and conversion begins. That is the way.

And who will - Hari-bhakti-vilāsa - who will study?

yāha, bhāgavata paḍa vaiṣṇavera sthāne [ekānta āśraya kara caitanya-caraṇe]

["If you want to understand Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam," he said, "you must approach a self-realised Vaiṣṇava and hear from him. You can do this when you have completely taken shelter of the lotus feet of Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Antya-līlā, 5.131]

If one goes to study the scriptures himself he won't understand it. Only ācāryavān puruṣo veda. ["Only one who has a Guru can know the truth."] [Chāndogya-Upaniṣad, 6.18.2] & [Gauḍīya Kaṇṭhahāra, 1.2]

One who has got Ācārya, ācāryavān, has gurun ca vidya [?], you must have to go to a bona fide person, and by his connection, he can understand the meaning, real purport. Otherwise it...

83.10.28.B_83.10.29.A

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Only those who have in previous life attained some position in the scripture, he can know in the next birth. But that is acquired by faith and sādhu-saṅga. He can only understand that life. Otherwise it is sealed. Transcendental means adhokṣaja. Yato bhaktir adhokṣaje.

[sa vai puṁsāṁ paro dharmo, yato bhaktir adhokṣaje / ahaituky apratihatā, yayātmā suprasīdati]

["The supreme occupation (dharma) for all humanity is that by which men can attain to loving devotional service unto the transcendental Lord. Such devotional service must be unmotivated and uninterrupted to completely satisfy the self."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.2.6]

Adhokṣaja means that won't come within the jurisdiction of our reason. Transcendental. Our reason is applied to certain extent, within certain boundary reason may work. Transcendental means beyond the conception of our reason, our understanding. Only when He comes to make Him understood, we can know, that is the only way. Higher truth, when He wants to make Him known to me, I can know, otherwise not. So that is a separate way; always the deductive method, and never in the ascending, always in the descending method. Higher truth is known only in the descending method always. He will come down, He will select me to make Him known, then I shall. All Rights Reserved. This is a very favourite expression with our Guru Mahārāja. All Rights Reserved there. Without His sweet will you can't enter into His area. Yam evaiṣa vṛnute tena labhyas.

[nāyam ātmā pravacanena labhyo, na medhayā na bahunā śrutena
yam evaiṣa vṛnute tena labhyas, tasyaiṣa ātmā vivṛnute tanūṁ svām]

["One cannot understand the substance of the Paramātmā, the Super-soul residing within everyone's heart, by means of expertise in logic, intelligence or learning. When the living entity begs the Lord for His mercy, being desirous of His transcendental loving service, then the Supreme Lord reveals His self-manifest form directly before him."] [Kaṭha-Upaniṣad, 1.2.23] & [Muṇḍaka-Upaniṣad, 2.3.2]

Whomever He will select to make Him known, only he will. So many there, so many scholars and others, but,

Just as in the Kuru sabhā, Dhṛtarāṣṭra told when Kṛṣṇa showed Himself in variegated ways, the Bhīṣma, Droṇa, and other ṛṣis that are present there they began to chant hymns in praising Him, to satisfy Him. Dhṛtarāṣṭra was present, he was blind, and Dhṛtarāṣṭra hearing that they're pronouncing so many hymns for Kṛṣṇa, He's showing Himself in a very noble, and unreasonable way. They're shown something wonderful, and they're all engaged in chanting for His satisfaction.

Then Dhṛtarāṣṭra prayed, "Kṛṣṇa, You are showing, so many present in the assembly they're praising You, You are showing them a very beautiful, and some wonderful presentation. For the time being, You can do anything and everything, for the time being You remove my blindness, let me see Your beautiful figure. And afterwards You will make me blind again."

Then Kṛṣṇa told, "No necessity of removing your blindness. I say you see Me, and you will see."

He was blind, blindness was kept, and Kṛṣṇa told, "No necessity to removing blindness to see Me, what these persons are seeing. I only, I order that you see Me, and you will see Me. It is My will."

And without removing blindness Dhṛtarāṣṭra could see. Then, what sort of sight? Not this eye sight, eye experience is there. The physical eye experience is not there.

Only Kṛṣṇa told, "Yes, you see Me." And clearly told there that, "No necessity of removing your blindness. Only I say you see Me, and you'll be able to see Me." And he saw.

What does it mean? That that experience is not physical. So that experience does not depend on any material achievement, only His sweet will.

"I'm Yours, I'm Yours in such way." Only, "Let there be water." There was water. "Let there be light." There was light."

So that is at the backing of everything, the whole transcendental world is like that. What should we speak? If you have courage enough to come and study, and engage yourself in the service of such wonderful existence, aspect; then come. Otherwise you entangle with this material mud, you are independent, none is going to disturb you. Plod in the mud. But if you want to have experience with the highest thing you'll have to come out of the mud, and the law of mud. And you're to understand the laws of the country where you want to enter in. The laws of the country you have to enter in, you must have experience, and you must accept the law. Then you may be eligible. And that is His sweet will. Bhāgyavān. So,

brahmāṇḍa brhamite kona bhāgyavān jīva, guru-kṛṣṇa-prasāde pāya [bhakti-latā-bīja]

["Wandering throughout the material universe, the very fortunate living entity who receives the grace of Guru and Kṛṣṇa receives the seed of the creeper of devotional service."]

[Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 19.151]

The truth is autocrat, only to make Him known is within His fist. If you want to surrender, to give everything: all your knowledge, experience, your pride, everything mundane you're to leave it here hatefully. And clean, naked if you want to go there, with surrendering everything, then you maybe admitted. This is clear, always we're told in such a way.

Bhakti Sudhīra Goswāmī: So what is the place of sukṛti?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Sukṛti means first unconscious, ajñāta-sukṛti, and then jñāta-sukṛti. Ajñāta- sukṛti, he does not know, his energy is used by the sādhus for the service of Kṛṣṇa. One has a garden, one sādhu took the flower from there and offered it to the Lord. And because his energy was used by the sādhu he got something, by the free will of the sādhu, by the grace.

Ahaitukī apratihatā, causeless. Generally His agents, they're distributing sukṛti unknowingly to so many persons. Utilising their energy unknowingly, independent of their knowledge, for their sukṛti.

And that is being accumulated, that reaction accumulated to certain extent, then jñāta-sukṛti, conscious help. "O sādhuji, take some flower, or come to my home and take prasāda." He does not know so much, but anyhow his inclination came to the right sādhu, the Vaiṣṇava, and he helped him, gave some bhikṣā, help. But he does not know who is Kṛṣṇa, what is that, nothing. That is jñāta-sukṛti, subconscious. And in the beginning, unconscious. Then subconscious, something within, intuition, "O, sādhuji, take some help." In this way. This accumulated will produce what is śraddhā, faith. What is the definition of the faith, characteristic? That if we know the centre everything is known.

yasmin vijñāte sarvam evam vijñātam bhavati, yasmin prāpte sarvam idam prāptam bhavati

By getting one, we can get everything. By pouring water into the root, the whole tree is fed. By putting food into the stomach, whole body is fed. It is possible, it is not impossible. But that negotiating with one, we can negotiate the whole. This wonderful possibility is there. This is faith. The centre can produce everything, can control everything, the master of everything; it is all His vaibhava. To have faith in such entity, that is theism, begins, and then gradually develops. And full-fledged development is Bhāgavatam. Absolute good, absolute beauty, absolute love, controlling everything, Master of everything. And service, that is the highest realisation, and the highest satisfaction, happiness, all there, distributed in Bhāgavatam full-fledged theism. In this way it grows, and also those that realise they also explain in different ways, and also through reasons try to understand there, those reasonable. _____ [?]

Devotee: _____ [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: _____ [?] Then I shall go to take bath.

...
[12:00 - 12:40 silent]

...this transcendental sound, not ordinary mundane sound, transcendental sound. Just as in homoeopathic globule, the globule is not the medicine, globule is almost the same, but the potency is within, that is medicine, of different type. So the sound which comes out of our lips, that is not real; within there is potency, that is all in all.

[sādhu saṅga kṛṣṇa nāma ei matta jai] vaikuṇṭha nāma grahaṇam aśeṣāgham haraṁ vidhur

["The Holy Name must be taken with the attitude of service to the saints. Serving means die to live; to throw oneself wholesale for the higher existence."]

If that transcendental sound we can, by service tendency invite within us, then all the past misdeeds will be burnt into ashes. And that is the negative side, and the positive side we have progress towards transcendental world. Transcendental world means which is not within the jurisdiction of our eyes, or ear, or tongue, or touch, even not the mental impulse. But crossing that we have got our faculty of judgement, then above that there is our own soul. And then above that, there is Supersoul. In this way, the land is progressing, the plane is progressing towards high, high from high. In this way, in the subjective conception.

Subjective conception, we can feel so many things, we're the feeler. And there are things who can feel us but we cannot feel them. I can touch the chair, but chair cannot touch without my cooperation; cannot have any touch, but I can touch, I'm independent _____ [?] So there are higher existence, if they will they can come down in our consciousness, and if they withdraw we cannot follow them up. But if they take us in, then we may remain there. In this way we're to go from this phenomenal towards transcendental world. That is valuable, that is real, that is blissful, that is pure. In this way they belong.

So, how we're to take this Name? There is a particular process recommended by the scriptures. In Padma-Purāṇa [Brahma-Khanda, 25.15-18, 22-23] we find there are ten kind of offences against chanting the Name. I shall enumerated one by one.

The first is satam ninda namnah paramam aparadham vitanute. [Gauḍīya Kaṇṭhahāra, 17.69-75]

If we abuse, if speak ill about the sādhus, bona fide sādhus; then, we commit offence against the Name of Hari. Because those sādhus they're agents to preach the Name, they're all well-doer, they want to do good to us. And if I oppose him, I abuse him, I speak ill of him, then it is committing suicide. He has come to benefit me, and I'm attacking him. So we must not abuse the sādhu. But sādhu only Vaiṣṇava they're sādhu; not the worshippers of other demigods are considered as sādhu. The demigods they deal about mortal things, not sat. Sat-sādhus, sat means eternal. Eternal thing is only transcendental thing. Mundane thing cannot be consider as eternal, it is always flickering, changing its position. So, those are sādhu, that are hankering or trying to realise, trying to come nearby the transcendental eternal thing. Sādhu.

And then next, śāstra-ninda. That is also the same case, those scriptures that are preaching about this eternal truth, we should never abuse them, even disregard them. But the other śāstras that pleads for this mortal achievement, they may be discarded when necessary. Not unnecessarily indulging only in blame.

Then third, guruten nitya buddhi guroravajna guru matya buddhir [?]

To think that Gurudeva he's an ordinary man like others. If my aspiration after the truth is genuine, then the all pervading omniscient truth that is approaching towards me. If I'm sincere, in search then He'll also be eager to come to me. Then when He meets me in any person, any sādhu, we're to consider him as His agent. He, in His agent has come to deliver me, to take me up in His place. Back to God, back to home. The Lord of my home He has come take me there, if I'm sincerely eager to meet Him. So, the Guru where he comes, he descends, we should consider him as His representative. And we should give him such honour. Otherwise if you take as ordinary person, then I'll be, I'll have to incur some _____ [?] and I'll be the looser.

Then fourth, the Mahādeva and other devatas. Mahādeva means the Lord of this mortal universe, generally. And other gods, Brahmā the creator, or even we should not dishonour them unnecessarily. If necessary to prove, to make someone understand who is the supreme-most deity, authority, if comparison is necessary then we can talk. Otherwise unnecessarily we must not indulge in wasting our time in abusing these gods or any other.

Then the fifth is to consult the dictionary to find the meaning of the taking the Name. The Kṛṣṇa, what is the derivative meaning, Kṛṣṇa, or in the ordinary way? Because the worldly persons they have no experience of the transcendental sound, so we may not expect to have meaning of that order, in these worldly scriptures.

So we must not try, waste our time to consult ordinary dictionary, and so many books to find out what is the meaning of the sound I have got from my Gurudeva.

Then another offence is, nama bala papa buddhir. We're told in the scriptures and by the sādhus also, that one Name is sufficient, is able to remove so much sin as much as none can commit.

eka kṛṣṇa-nāme yata pāpa hare, pātakī sādhya nāhi tata pāpa kare nāmno 'sya yāvatī śaktiḥ pāpa-nirharaṇe hareḥ tāvat karttuṁ na śaknoti pātakaṁ pātakī janaḥ [Kūrma-Purāṇa]

"No one has got to commit any amount of sin that cannot be removed by one Name."

So let me commit any sin and I shall take Name once, and it will all be cleared. If with this mentality, to cleanse my mind, my sin, with this attitude if I take the Name, then I commit offence and not the Vaikuṇṭha, not the real Name, nama bala papa buddhir.

Then ana-subha-kriya, there are so many things purificatory: to wander the tīrtha, and to give something to the poor, and to worship other deities, so many alternatives. Or to read the scripture, so many other purificatory things there may be. But if we think that they're equal, or bigger than taking Hari Nāma then we commit offence. Because the Lord is within with this Name, and it is special arrangement that the sound and the purpose of the sound in Vaikuṇṭha Name, is one and the same. And it is very gracious, especially in the age of Kali, very, very gracious, and it takes us direct to Him. So no other methods of sound have so efficacy as the chanting of the Name Divine. So other auspicious activity there may be many, but they can't be compared with taking the Name of the Lord.

Then another, asraddha dhano dhamah nama. If we're very eager to give this Name to anyone and everyone without considering the possibility of his following in the true sense. Being very eager to become a guru, and to accept anyone and everyone and give away this Name. Then without considering, measuring how much śraddhā, faith he has got in this path, then we commit aparādha, we commit offence. That is possible only when we're very eager to become a seeker of fame and name to become guru. So that should be avoided.

Then another thing, that where in this mundane world my attraction is very acute, that should be avoided. The centre of my main attraction in this world we must hate it and try to take it. Just as a ship or a boat has anchor, the anchor must be taken up, and then the rowing will take the boat towards some direction. So, wherever my attraction is in the highest degree, I shall try to find it out, and to uproot it by - with all attention, any possible method under my command. And then it will take me to my good, this Name will take me to its own course.

And another, that we must not think that I'm being, if we take the Name there will be some change, some transformation in my system within, and that change will, from my present position it will try to take to some other stage of mind direction, surely. And I must be open, and think that I'm not going to any place which may be apathetic, or very rude, or very strict, or very coercive, or very grave. But we shall have such idea that I'm going to a friendly place, guardian, sympathetic, affectionate home I'm going. So with affection, with love, with confidence, we shall go on taken the Name, that "I'm going home, to my friend after long separation, I'm going to meet my own Lord of my heart." With this idea we shall go on taking.

So these are the offences, we must take care.

And another four, nāmābhāsa, which can give mukti, liberation, that is, may take us to the abscissa from the negative side, but cannot give any positive attainment. That is nāmābhāsa, four kinds, sānketyaṁ, parihāsya, stobha, helanam.

Sānketyaṁ means when I'm outwardly saying something, or pointing something, but in my mind another thing comes in connection. Just as in the case of Ajāmila, in Bhāgavatam, that story. Ajāmila afraid by the dreadful appearance of the Yāmadūtas, he in his coma stage he could remember that his young son Nārāyaṇa was playing nearby. With that faint memory he wanted to take the name, calling Nārāyaṇa. But in the meantime a change came in his mind. "That what this little boy Nārāyaṇa can do against those fearful figures, the agents of Yāmarāja?" Then that Lord Nārāyaṇa's Name came. Began with the name of the child, but in the meantime it changed into the name of the Lord, the memory came to Lord Nārāyaṇa. And at once four agents came down, and he saw. And there was a serious talk with the Yāmadūtas, and they were defeated and sent back.

There the points, Yāmadūtas said, "We have come to take him, we have not done anything wrong."

"What do you, if you curse, you do not know the śāstra? Have you not heard that this gentleman took the Name of Nārāyaṇa now?"

"Yes we have heard, but what of that? The whole life he committed great offences without no bounds. And now only taking the Name of Nārāyaṇa, and all finished?"

Then they argued that, "Your master has not educated you, giving instruction to you in the right direction, that he has taken the Name of Nārāyaṇa, still you are, his jurisdiction has change. Whenever he has taken the Name of Nārāyaṇa he's no longer in the jurisdiction of your master. Now whatever should be that will be in Vaikuṇṭha. You go and ask your master, your Lord?"

Then anyhow, they went away, and Ajāmila also attained liberation. All his previous attraction towards the family at once vanished, and he woke up from the bed and moved direct towards Haridwar. And there he began to take the Name of Nārāyaṇa, what wonderful experience he had in the previous moment. And after sometime he attained Vaikuṇṭha. But immediate liberation was affected by taking the Name of Nārāyaṇa. Sānketyaṁ.

Parihāsya. One may say jokingly, "O, you are taking the Name of Kṛṣṇa, Kṛṣṇa, eh? Kṛṣṇa you are taking." In that case also, nāmābhāsa may come. Not that always it will be nāmābhāsa but it may be possible.

And stobha, when playing on the mṛdaṅga or any other, taking the Name. Or sometimes one in mood of ridicule cuts jokes with another. In that mood also take the Name, that may be nāmābhāsa. And sometimes neglectfully we pronounce the Name of the Lord, and then in that case also, sometimes that nāmābhāsa can come and give us relief. But not positive attainment, but the negative saving is there.

So we're asked that avoiding this Nāma aparādha, offences against the Name, and the abhāsa, that indifferent way of taking, nāmābhāsa; avoiding these two with the earnestness of getting the service of the Lord, as well as His servitors. Hankering for the service, the positive thing, must be in our hankering; the service of the Lord or His paraphernalia. With this idea as far as possible, we should go on taking the Name. So that will be śuddha Nāma.

This Nāma is found in Kali-santaraṇa-Upaniṣad, and also found in Agni-Purāṇa, Brahmāṇḍa-Purāṇa, half-half. Where it is full found in Kali-santaraṇa-Upaniṣad, there we find Hare Rāma in the beginning, and Hare Kṛṣṇa that is in the last line. First line Hare Rāma. Generally people know and chant like that. But Mahāprabhu Śrī Caitanyadeva, He gave us this, the Hare Kṛṣṇa in the beginning, first line, and last line Hare Rāma. Generally, the smārta section that has got reverence for Caitanyadeva, they say, generally the conception may come in this way. They take Hare Rāma as Dāsarāthi Rāma, son of Dāsarātha. So that is Tretā-yuga in the beginning, and then Dvāpara-yuga Kṛṣṇa later on. So Rāma, Hare Rāma that will be in the beginning in the historical order. They may be contention.

And some other scholars they say that, "This is a Vedic mantra. Kali-santaraṇa-Upaniṣad, that is within the boundary of the Veda. And it is also mentioned in many places, that Veda should not be given to anyone and everyone. Only the brāhmaṇa, kṣatriya, vaiśya, they have got their right to try to know what is in the Veda. Not all should be given admission, because they will not be able to understand, and mutilate the meaning; misunderstand and it will spread in an objectionable way. So the Vedic knowledge should be imparted to particular, limited section, who has got śraddhā and some sort of realisation about the Veda. So Śrī Caitanyadeva, He has just made some modification, introduced some modification in the Vedic mantra, and then He order distribution freely to anyone and everyone. Even including the mleccha, yavana, any type of man it may be. So, some modification was introduce by Śrī Caitanyadeva with this idea." Some say like that.

But in other contention also from this point that, "Rāma Nāma and Kṛṣṇa Nāma, if we consider it different then Kṛṣṇa Nāma is superior to Rāma Nāma." It is mentioned in Purāṇa, ordinary Name of the Lord, the Rāma Nāma is thousand times higher than ordinary Name of the Lord. And Kṛṣṇa Nāma has been mentioned three thousand. Three Rāma Nama is equal to one Kṛṣṇa Nāma. In this way for the ordinary people so much calculation and mention we find."

But what Mahāprabhu told, Mahāprabhu gave to us, it is all towards Kṛṣṇa līlā. So, in Rāma also we understand, we're given to understand that it is also rāmana, pleasing, the pleasing in its highest degree can come only from Kṛṣṇa conception, Svayaṁ-Bhagavān, Kṛṣṇa conception of Godhead. So, everything meaning towards Kṛṣṇa. And also, what is - Kṛṣṇa Nāma if it is more powerful and so venerable, then it may come in the beginning, there is also a point. But what really it is from the highest stand point, it is Hara. Hara Kṛṣṇa, Hara means Rādhā, hariyate hara. Hara means Rādhā, or Kṛṣṇa, or Rāma; that is also Rādhā and Kṛṣṇa, Hare Rāma. Hara, Rādhā, is Rāma in the sense Rādhā-rāmana-Rāma. To the furthest extremity if anything is extended it cannot but meet in Kṛṣṇa conception, Svayaṁ-Bhagavān, the absolute source of everything, akhila-rasāmṛta-murtiḥ. So all the meanings of all the words if its pushed in the true sense to the highest degree, then it cannot but reach Kṛṣṇa conception. That is the most original and source of all rasa, everything which we can hope to have in this world. In this way it has been explained.

So, you have got, and now you show your obeisances to the Vaiṣṇava and go to the temple, and at least once you count the bead and then take prasādam. _____ [?] Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol.
